HOPES AND PRAYERS - Saint Ann's Catholic Church had a vigil until midnight Monday evening in hopes of having those stationed in the Middle East return home safely. These women silently pray before the santisimo, the symbol of the body of Christ. The candles represent God shining his light upon the soldiers in Saudi Arabia.

Chances for peace falter... Vigil held at Saint Ann's Church

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

As the possibilities for peace in the Middle East deminish, relatives of those serving in the armed forces look for solace the best way they know how.

For many that meant extended periods of time at church.

At Saint Ann's Catholic Church a vigil was held from Monday morning through midnight. During the vigil the santisimo, the symbol of the body of Christ, was exposed. This reflected the serious nature of the Middle East as the santisimo is only exposed on very special occasions.

As long as the santisimo is exposed somebody must be in the church.

Below the santisimo candles burned brightly representing God shining his light upon the soldiers. And around the resting place through out the evening sat relatives and friends of the soldiers, silently praying for peace.

Near the altar stood an easel, draped over it an American flag, on it pictures of at least 18 soldiers overseas with relatives in Sonora. Pictures of Connie Herrera, Eddie Virgen, Javier and Angie Galvan, Santiago Faz, Victor Lira, Rene Porras, Alfredo Gonzales, Robert Gandar, Ricky Mesa, Lee Gandar, Chris Chavarria, Salvador Castilleja, Paul Rodriguez and more posted for their loved ones to hope by.

The list of Sonora residents in the Middle East only grows. Others in Saudi Arabia include David McDonald, Chad Stewart and Drake Shurley.

During the 7 p.m. service candles representing the soldiers were lit by a relative followed by a prayer and a moment of silence.

In the later part of the evening Oscar Perez, DeAnn San Miguel, Jorge Reyes and Arturo Gandar Jr. sang hymns to a softly played guitar. For most of the evening the only sounds heard were the singers and sniffles of those praying for peace.

Somebody wailing in grief over the crisis would break the quietness now and then.

At midnight the santisimo was closed up and the day dreaded by so many had struck.

City manager Pete Gildon proposed a June 1 kickoff date for this year's sealcoat public works project during the city council meeting Tuesday morning.

"We will have a much larger (public works) program this year," said Gildon.

The city is coming off a year in which poor weather and other projects limited sealcoating to just two streets. Gildon said June, July and August are the best months for the project.

"We never really had an opportunity to get cranked up," said Gildon concerning the sealcoating.

Gildon said while the weather was good in June, after July 1 it was difficult to get any consistent work due to heavy rains. Further problems to the project last year was workers getting taken off the sealcoating to work on other things and not having the equipment and supplies ready to go said Gildon.

As a result, Gildon said he would like better planning this year.

"I want to recommend we get into scheduling," said Gildon.

Changes would include making sure supplies and equipment were ready and not having employees miss work during that period due

Public officials face civil rights charges in Midland

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

MIDLAND - A verdict is expected this week on a civil rights suit in Federal Court at Midland involving 112th Judicial District Attorney J.W. Johnson Jr.

Johnson, along with former Upton County Sheriff Glenn Willeford, former deputy Larry Jackson, informant Walter Woolf and the County of Upton have been charged by plaintiff Mary Turner Hines with violations of her civil rights.

These charges are in connection with the Aug. 7, 1985 arrest of Hines on drug-related charges.

In a telephone interview Tuesday night Hines' attorney John Gunter of Midland, said Hines' original trial on those drug-related charges was dismissed after five days.

Cindy Weir, law clerk in Midland, said the jury was selected Monday and opening statements began Tuesday morning. As of press time evidence was still being presented on both sides.

County gets grant for Loma Alta area

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

Sutton County has received a grant from the Texas Department of Commerce to help complete sewer and water system hookups in the Loma Alta subdivision.

County Judge Carla Fields released the information during the county commissioner's meeting Jan. 14.

Fields said the grant, which totals $100,000, will be used to hook up those homes in the subdivision which were inadvertently missed in prior work.

According to Fields, Sinaloa and Loma Alta subdivisions did not have a sewer system or water meters until 1984. Two grants in each of 1985-87 allowed for the tie-in.

The grant will total $100,000 which includes a small percentage of cash and in-kind service from the county. In-kind service includes the fixing of roads after being torn up and the like.

The Texas Department of Commerce awards from five to 10 such grants each year on a competitive basis.

Fields said the grant is based on what the project is and the number of low-income families involved among other criteria.

Work on the sewer tie-in should begin in the next couple of months said Fields.

In another county issue; Sutton County is continuing its' search for a juvenile and adult probation officer. The spot opened last September when Kathy Shurley resigned to move to San Angelo. Since Shurley's resignation Stephanie Chapman of Crockett County has been fulfilling the role.

Fields said the search for a replacement has hit a stumbling block.

There is an apparent question as to whether Jerry Jimenez of Sonora can be hired due to being related to Juan Hernandez who is the director of the Concho Valley Community Supervision and

A strong showing by 4-Hers and FFA members wrapped up the 1991 Junior Livestock Show at the 4-H Center Saturday.

Following the goat show the previous Saturday, the lamb show provided quality animals providing difficult decisions for judge Sam Kuykendall, county extension agent in Menard.

Preston Faris, Sutton County Extension Agent, said Kuykendall's decisions on winners for the lamb classes is based quite a bit more on eye contact qualities. The muscling on the top of the animal and down the leg are the most important said Faris, "You want a lean, wholesome animal."

Amy Patton's lambs had no problem fulfilling those qualities. Patton placed first in five classes and had the reserve champions in the finewool and crossbred classes. First place finishes for Patton included Light Finewool Market, Light-Medium Finewool Market, Medium Finewool Market, Heavy Finewool Market lambs and Ewe lamb market class.

The Jacoby family had a bonus day as Tom picked up the champion finewool lamb and Jason raised the crossbred champion. Jason also added the reserve champion in the crossbreds and finewools in the carcass classes to his list.

Jason also held the top spot in the Light-Heavy Crossbred and Heavy Crossbred market lambs. Tom placed first in the Light-Heavyweight Finewool market lambs.

Brad Mogford finished with the champion in Finewools and Scott Garrett the champion in Crossbreds for the carcass classes.

Other class winners included Bobby Mogford, Light Crossbred Market; Cody Renfro, Medium Crossbred Market and Jason Bounds, Novice Lamb class.

The showmanship honors were also handed out Saturday evening during the awards ceremony. In the goat showmanship, April Spiller

Different kind of days

These past few weeks have been a lot different from anything I have gone through before. It has created a new feeling and I don't like it.

I down right scares me. Thinking about it carefully, this is the first time I have lived in true war-like conditions. Granted, I was 12-years-old when the United States pulled out of Vietnam in 1975.

I wasn't really old enough to comprehend what was happening then. It was a care-free time of youth with no major worries except that all my friends might be out of town and I would have nobody to play with.

Not realizing the depth of the Vietnam war wasn't due to not being political or watching current events. My first political memory is walking around the playground in fourth-grade with two or three buddies chanting "McGovern, McGovern, McGovern."

That would have been 1972 when I was just 9-years-old. Not bad if I say so, even if I couldn't pick a winner.

Still, the point is I have grown up watching what was happening on this earth and the Vietnam war escaped me.

Now war is a real possibility (It looks like I was right when I talked to the man at the Town and Country last week.) and I have nothing to compare the feeling with.

Maybe that is why I abhor the thought of war so much. I haven't been exposed to it.

If that is the case, I preferred it that way.

One time I was riding in a truck with a couple of friends and we got to talking about the possibility of a nuclear war. I took the stand that I would rather speak Russian than have a nuclear war. My stand was based on the thought that the human species would be virtually wiped out by nuclear weapons.

I never got the chance to explain my view because they were so aghast.

My mind cannot accept we could hate somebody so much we would prefer to not exist than live under domination. Shoot, there is always a way to get out from under somebody. That's what we did in the Revolutionary War.

These friends are about the same age I am, so they have not been exposed to war either. Maybe they remember Vietnam better.

If that were the case, I would believe if anybody would be anti-war it would be them.

I do not suggest that the Middle East war would be another Vietnam, merely that the war would be just as bad because lives of kids will be lost.

Corrections Department. Sutton County hires CVCS CD for their probation officers.

Jimenez is a second-cousin of Hernandez.

"The answer is real slow in coming," said Fields.

Hernandez said he is doing what Fields asked him to do.

"I'm waiting on the juvenile board to tell me who to hire," said Hernandez, just as he was asked to do by Fields.

Only Hernandez said he doesn't expect an answer from the Texas Juvenile Probational Commission because it is not a question of probation, but of hiring procedures.

Hernandez said if he does not get an answer from the board, he was told by Fields the question would be put before the Attorney General.

That would mean more than likely another six months or so before an answer.

Healthcare

By M. Scott Gilmore
Hospital Administrator

The healthcare paradox

In the past weeks we have addressed several issues in the paradox of trying to deliver and maintain quality health care for ourselves and our nation. In conclusion, a few issues seem clear:

* The efficient delivery of health care is a basic activity in society; it is essential to the ongoing success of our nation.

* The system is in an acute state of crisis -- its aggregate costs are consuming more of the national income than society wants, and if left unattended, will grow like cancer cells.

* Further, the cost crisis is contributing to a decline in quality of care and a limitation on access to care for many citizens. The cost problems have root systems which reach into many discrete parts of society: the legal system, the religious, moral and ethical complex, the business community, and social service groups. But now it is increasingly clear that health care is a national problem and needs a working consensus for support. Fundamental to the understanding of the problem is that each of the discrete elements of the problem (the research technology interests, the medical establishment, the legal rights system, the local hospitals) are acting in their own self-interests which is consistent with America's political philosophy of individual freedoms. However, no presently existing rightful authority has the power to unravel this knot of interests, or to be a driving force for national consensus. If limits on self-interest must be established as a matter of national interest, then this is a matter of importance to all citizens, not just those with economic or jurisdictional involvement.

It's a shame that we don't have the tradition of study circles which I recently read are popular in the Scandinavian countries. These groups are formed by citizens who discuss topics of current national interest. In an embryonic way, three of our State Humanities Councils have funded health study programs -- Illinois sponsored a day-long Seminar on the Future that dealt with health issues and both Iowa and Pennsylvania funded programs dealing with medical ethics. These illustrations are a start, but hardly a national debate. However, they do provide a model for expanding the base to include more people in the discussions.

The resolution is important nationally because it deals with how a mature society can adjust and limit views on basic rights as a more complex society evolves. How we address the problem of health care in the 21st century will profoundly affect how this country and democracy will evolve in its third century.

Just to limit health care is not enough. Raw political force can be used in a fashion that abuses all parties. A human consensus, and we are talking about humanity in health care, requires a meaningful national discourse. Individual rights and the needs of society must be balanced against the realities of present day conditions. If limits are to be accepted by the parties who have to live and die with them, then a public debate with an informed citizenry is the only way a meaningful result can follow. A narrow discourse limited to members of the academy, the scientific establishment, or the business community will not work. The challenge I present to you today, the public, the taxpayers, the nation, is to frame this debate so that all of us can be on with the task.

Want to know what it's like?

Nothing can prepare a person for what they may encounter at war. They deal with their fear in bits and pieces until they leave or become comfortable with the situation, if it is possible.

Seeing the enemy in human form for the first time is an experience in fear one never forgets. The stealth at which he maneuvers closer and closer toward the immediate area heightens the state of fright.

Suddenly, reality takes on surrealistic proportions and information conveyed by the senses is obscured by clouds of doubt. Frantically searching the memory for past instructions and experiences, one hastily examines his list of options. Which one is right for this situation?

Untried and unproved instructions are all that can be found to dictate what should be done. Nevertheless, it is the only information available. The object of anxiety is at hand and must be dealt with accordingly. Action must occur, NOW!

When the source of fear is eliminated, a tremendous surge of accomplishment is felt and the adrenalin which is already present in the system, suddenly increases. The thought processes accelerate, confidence is heightened and reaction time is decreased as all actions occur with the first impulses from the senses. This state of alertness subsides only when immediate threat is diminished.

The negative psychological effects will invade a rational state of mind for a period, depending on the individual in question. Most are successful and emerge stronger, emotionally.

When curiosity follows and questions arise, answers are examined and fitted into a perspective that should help in the future. However, some are slow to achieve an healthy overview of the experience, or fail miserably.

In retrospect, they become embittered and continually rehash the past event until they are consumed with guilt, or another destructive emotion. They are seemingly obsessed with self-destruction.

If you want to help, just be there; and listen.

Recycling household products

Many household items, garbage and trash can be recycled with the separation process beginning in the home.

What can be recycled? The number one recyclable product is paper, including newspaper, office paper, cardboard, junk-mail, cereal boxes and grocery bags.

Newspaper and other paper products can be tied and bundled. Paper bags can be reused. Magazines can be donated to doctor's offices, given to a friend or better yet, check them out at the library instead of subscribing.

Aluminum cans make up five percent of the total solid waste stream. Cans are the most common form of recycled aluminum. Aluminum siding, gutters, down spouts, storm doors and window frames and aluminum lawn furniture frames are all recyclable.

Iron and steel are the most recycled material used today. Scrap metal dealers were the most recycling recyclers in business long before comprehensive recycling programs were established.

Glass makes up eight percent of our waste. All container glass is recyclable. More than 12 million tons of glass containers are collected annually and remelted with raw materials to create new glass bottles and jars or Fiberglass. The Glass Packaging Institute reports that 25 percent of any given glass container is made from recycled glass.

There are three basic types of glass: Clear, green and brown. Not all recycling centers accept all three types. Most recycling centers will not accept light bulbs, ceramic glass, dishes or plate glass, because they contain different materials than bottles and jars. BASED ON INFORMATION FROM THE TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY

Plastics make up seven percent of the total waste--most of which is packaging. The most common recycling products are soft drink and milk containers. Recycled plastics are used in flower pots, drainage pipes, toys, traffic barrier cones, carpet backing and fiber fill for pillows, ski jackets and sleeping bags. Only about two percent of plastic waste is recycled.

Recyclable materials include wood waste, yard waste and kitchen waste. These wastes comprise 18 to 25 percent of solid waste and offer an excellent opportunity for recycling, especially composting.

Automobile tires, motor oil, and bulk household items can be recycled. Usually items like old clothing, furniture and appliances are sold at garage sales or donated to charity.

Recycling reduces the amount of waste that is buried in landfills or incinerated. Recycling cuts down on litter and conserves natural resources.

Sonora Independent Schools and the City of Sonora have begun a coordinated effort to help us effectively recycle certain home containers. The collection site is located on the corner of Water and NE 3rd Street. Be sure to separate the materials as the containers are marked.

man hours taken up has been tremendous.

Gildon said another part of the problem is the landfill itself is located in the draw. Jim Garrett, public works coordinator, said the landfill is now almost completely out of the draw. To finish the job the city needs to regrade the old pits and put the draw where it is at natural grade. Garrett said that would prevent the water from tearing down the built up portion.

Adding to the projects of public works is improving the lighting at the city ballpark, further development of the sewer and more curbing.

"We must rig up whatever it takes to get these projects done this year," said Gildon.

Currently the city is understaffed by two positions in the public works department.

to vacations.

Gildon said the other major project facing the public works department is the landfill.

Work cleaning up the landfill after last year's rains will continue for another two weeks at least said James McLaughlin, public works supervisor.

The main trouble was debris which flooded into private property. McLaughlin said the

Christmas-in-April project meeting to be held Jan. 22

An information-sharing meeting concerning the possibility of having a Christmas-in-April project in Sonora will be held in Room C of First National Bank on Tuesday evening, January 22, beginning at 7:00 p. m.

Christmas-in-April is a community action project begun in Midland, Texas over 15 years ago. Since that time, it has been a means for communities large and small to work together to make dwellings more livable for persons unable to do so themselves.

In Sonora, the Committee on Aging has received reports of several dwellings being damaged by last spring's hailstorm and summer's heavy rains. Thus, the idea of a Christmas-in-April project has come up locally.

During the meeting Nelda Mayfield will review how and why the idea for Christmas-in-April has developed in Sonora, Carole Thorp will discuss the conditions of certain dwellings which might be considered for repairs in the project and Lewis Allen will discuss the steps to be considered in completing a Christmas-in-April project.

Anyone who has an interest in developing a Christmas-in-April project in Sonora is invited to attend the meeting.

An ambulance is needed, you grab the phone and dial 387-2288. When the Sheriff's Office answers, you give the dispatcher all the information and within approximately 4 minutes the ambulance is speeding your way.

Let's back up and see what takes place during those first few minutes. When you hang up, the Sheriff's Office Dispatcher sets the pagers off and the ambulance volunteers are alerted to the call. The two or three people on call drop whatever they are doing and quickly respond to the EMS building.

Calling these people Volunteers can be misleading. Each ambulance personnel is a state licensed ECA or EMT. They have spent long hours studying and many more hours practicing their skills.

Each volunteer works shifts that are convenient to them in most cases. This enables personnel to hold other permanent jobs, still pursue the medical field, and provide Sutton County with an efficient emergency service 24 hours a day.

The ambulance crew is dedicated to helping others and working on the ambulance gives them that chance. There is always a need for more people in order to maintain a high level of service. If this article has caught your attention, talk to some of these people and get a closer view, it might be right up your alley.

Broncos, Lady Broncos split opening home district games

By Griffin B. Cole
DRN Editor

Inconsistent play continued to plague the Sonora Broncos and Lady Broncos basketball teams as both split district contests at home against Crane and Greenwood last week.

For the Lady Broncos it was a week of exciting finishes, a pair of one-point games, which should not have happened. In both contests the Lady Broncos gave up leads when their shooting touch disappeared.

Sonora edged Crane in the week's opener 52-51 when Monica Gonzalez scored inside the paint after grabbing an offensive rebound with 15 seconds remaining.

Crane turned the ball over on its next possession, but received a reprieve when Sonora returned the favor while trying to run out the clock. A full-court pass fell short though, and Crane was not able to get a last shot off.

The Lady Broncos were fortunate to reach overtime.

With the score tied at 50-50, Dana Evans was whistled for a foul sending Crane's Angela Cooper to the free throw line with no time remaining on the clock. Cooper was unable to make either shot leading to Gonzalez's heroics in overtime.

The two missed free throws were just a continuation of a nightmare fourth quarter for Cooper who made just one of seven free throw attempts.

Friday night's game provided as much excitement as the previous game, but this time Sonora came out on the short end of a 49-48 score against Greenwood.

Dana Wright came off the bench for the Lady Rangers to hit a bunny shot with five seconds remaining to register the winning points.

Three pointers - McCleery 3, Churchill, Wright.
Total fouls - Sonora 15, Greenwood 21.
Fouled out - CMyers, Donnell.

Wright came up with the shot after hesitation by most players on the floor when it appeared the ball went out of bounds. No whistle came from the referee and Wright picked up the ball and put it in.

Wright scored five points in the game. Along with the winning shot, Wright hit a three-pointer which pulled Greenwood with a point of Sonora.

Sonora had one last opportunity to win the game, but the players failed to see coach Clyde Dukes wanting a time out and a last second desperation shot was wide of the mark by Amy Reston.

The Lady Broncos came out of the blocks strong building an 18-8 first quarter lead thanks mostly to a 12-0 run which included a pair of long three-pointers by Susen McCleery.

Defense also played a big part for the Lady Broncos. Greenwood was unable to figure out what to do against the rotating zone defense Sonora played. As a result they could not get inside and passed up a lot of outside shots.

Sonora also turned the ball over just twice in the first quarter while forcing six Greenwood turnovers.

While the defense held up for Sonora, the offense went south for the next two quarters.

Coach Clyde Dukes was a bit perplexed as to what happened offensively, but felt his team may have relaxed a bit.

"We lost our intensity....(It hasn't) happened often, but it has happened," said Dukes.

Dukes also gave some credit to the Greenwood defense, "They weren't letting us inside."

Greenwood slowly climbed back into the game as they outscored the Lady Broncos 25-12 in the next two quarters to finally lead 33-30 after three quarters.

The fourth quarter was nip and tuck before Dana Wright came up with the winning points.

Sonora is now 2-1 in district and 12-7 overall as they take to the road for district contests against Reagan County and Kermit this week.

Broncos results

The Broncos split their opening district contests last week, opening with a 60-55 win over Crane and falling to Greenwood 62-42.

Sonora outscored Crane 17-10, including a 10-0 run, during a fourth quarter spree which the Golden Cranes were not able to overcome.

The Bronco outburst was led by Adam Richter who scored six points. While the points were important, perhaps the greatest achievement by Richter was getting Crane start Coury Jones out of the game on fouls.

Jones scored 15 points and was starting to exert his influence inside when coach Doyle Carter inserted Richter. The Broncos went right at Jones with Richter and drew two quick fouls to get Jones out of the game.

Carter said the move of bringing in Richter was natural since the Broncos needed somebody inside to match up with Jones.

"It was a brilliant move on my part or anything," said Carter.

For Richter it was just a chance to help the team, "I was the only tall guy (on Sonora)...I've been practicing getting the shot down to help the team."

Sonora started like they would blow Crane out of the gymnasium. The Broncos jumped to a 11-0 lead in the first three minutes. By the end of the quarter it was 18-11 Sonora.

David Mirike and Ramiro Luna teamed up for 17 of those 18 points.

Carter said Sonora played fantastic defense. His boast is backed up in that the Golden Cranes committed 12 turnovers in the first quarter, 20 in the first half and 32 in the game.

Three-pointers - Luna 2, Mirike 2, Perez 2.
Total fouls - Sonora 13, Greenwood 14.
Fouled out - None.

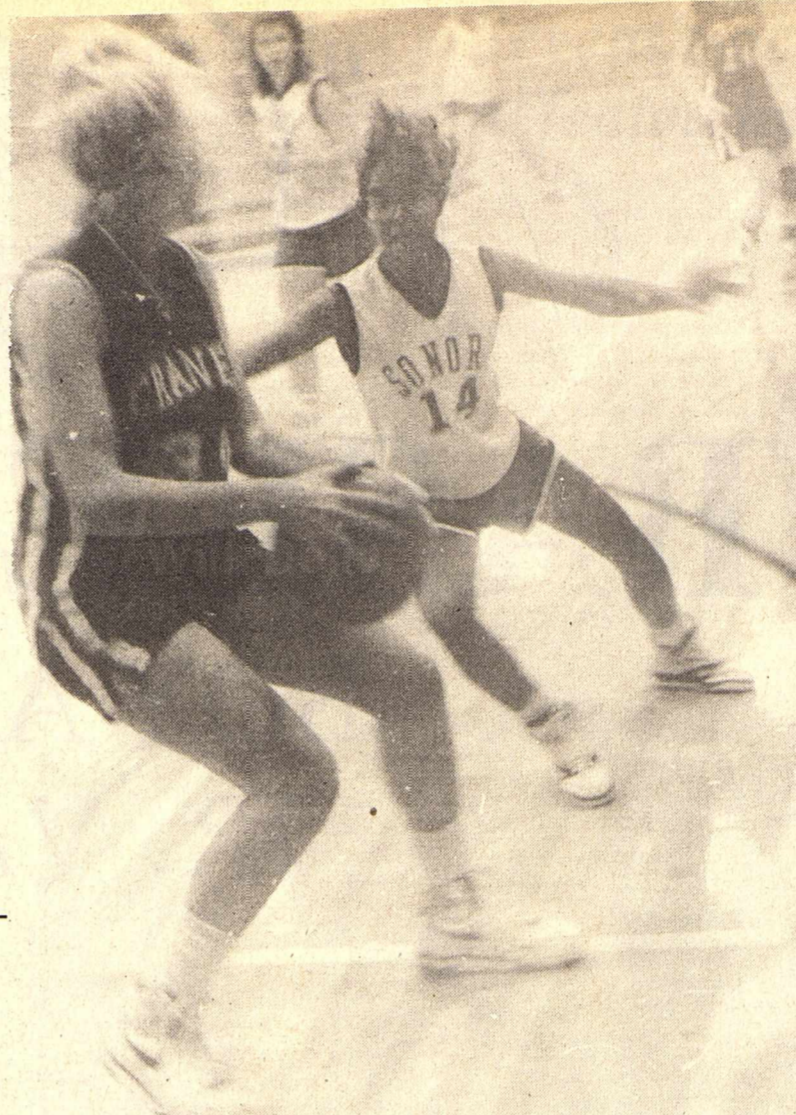

"I'm sure a lot of (turnovers) were bad passes," said Carter, "but that's what the press is for."

Sonora could not keep up the intensity of the first quarter and fell behind 32-31 at halftime when Jorge Martinez nailed a three-pointer at the buzzer.

The Broncos were able to stay in the game thanks to free throws. Sonora hit on 20 of 33 attempts contrasted to seven of 12 for Crane.

Friday night's game saw Sonora fall to Greenwood 62-42 thanks to cold shooting on their part and excellent execution on the part of the Rangers.

Unbelievably the Broncos failed to hit a two-point basket in the first half.

PRESSURE DEFENSE - Yvonne Mata (14) of Sonora closes in on a Crane opponent during last week's district game. The Lady Broncos came away with a 52-51 overtime victory.

Five three-pointers, two by Ramiro and Mirike and one by Oscar Perez, in the first quarter kept the Broncos close at 21-15. It was obvious though, that Greenwood could get inside on the smaller Broncos.

Seventh-grade Colts falter in second half

A 13-2 run in the fourth quarter helped Wall come back to defeat the seventh-grade Sonora Colts 26-17 Jan. 8.

"(Wall) is a team that we should have beaten, but we didn't play well enough to win," said Sonora coach Heryford. "Wall deserves the credit. They did what it took to win."

Sonora (0-8) was in the game for the first three quarters holding leads of 6-2 at the end of the first quarter and 15-13 at the end of three quarters.

The Colts were inconsistent offensively. While scoring six and eight points in the first and third quarters, the Colts managed just a free throw in the second quarter and one basket in the fourth.

Hale led Sonora scorers with six points. Levi Pool contributed four points, Josh Burnham, John Jones and Floyd each scored two points and Dempsey added a free throw.

Eighth-graders win

In a close, exciting game through out, the Sonora Lady Colts eighth-grade team defeated Wall 23-22 Jan. 8 to improve their record to 3-2.

Candie Sessom and Sara Reston led the Lady Colts in scoring with six points each.

Neither team was able to build a sizeable advantage during the

Eighth-grade Colts fall to Wall 39-30

The Sonora Colts eighth-grade team dropped a 39-30 decision to Wall Jan. 8.

Wall broke open a close game in the third quarter outscoring Sonora 13-8 to open a seven-point lead they never relinquished.

The Sonora offense was strong as they tallied at least eight points in each of the first three quarters. Cody Renfro headed the scoring list with 10 points. Chris Gutierrez added another eight points.

Other scorers for Sonora were Robert Trevino with four points, Hadley Smith three and Jesse Capuchina and Trini Banda two points each.

The eighth-grade Colts are 2-4 this season.

game. Sonora and Wall were tied at the end of the first quarter and halftime. Sonora held a 20-18 advantage after three quarters.

Sonora coach M.L. Martin said both teams played exceptional defense.

In addition to Sessom and Reston's six points, Vicky Richardson added four points, Beth Covington three and Katie Burge and Sara Gonzalez two points each.

Seventh-grade Lady Colts defeated by Wall 30-20

Cold shooting by the seventh-grade Lady Colts basketball team helped Wall come from behind to defeat Sonora 30-20 Jan. 8.

Sonora led 8-6 at halftime, but could buy a basket in the second half as Wall started to heat up. Wall outscored Sonora 14-6 in the third quarter to take a 20-14 lead. Sonora was not able to close the gap in the final quarter.

Sonora coach Carol Sessom said the team played well, but the shooting needs to improve.

Missy Hearn led Sonora in scoring with six points, Elaine Ortiz and Lilly Trevino added four points. Betty Samaniego, Becca Chalk and Megan Mayer each added a basket.

The seventh-graders are now 3-5 for the season.

Library news

IRS forms are available as a courtesy to our patrons and the community at the Sutton County Library as a public service.

Storyhour resumes starting January 9 and continues thru March 27. Storyhour is for pre-school children ages 3-5.

New books in the adult fiction section of the Library are: VITAL SIGNS by Robin Cook, JAGUAR by Loup Durand, WISH YOU WERE HERE by Rita Brown, LEAGUE OF TERROR by Bill Granger, SEARCH FOR MAGGIE WARD by Andrew Greeley, VICTORIES by George Higgins, DAZZLE by Judith Krantz, SYMPOSIUM by Muriel Spark, PUBLIC AFFAIRS by Letitia Baldrige, JURASSIC PARK by Michael Crichton, LIVE FREE OR DIE by Ernest Hebert, POTTER'S FIELD by Ellis Peters, LILITH by Jean Plaidly, WITCHING HOUR by Ann Rice, and TUCKER'S LAST STAND by William Buckley, Jr.

Review of THE FOURTH K by Mario Puzo: President Francis Xavier Kennedy is elected to office, in large part, thanks to the legacy of his forbears—good looks, privilege, wealth and is the very embodiment of youthful political optimism. Too soon, however, he is beaten down by the political process and, disabused of his ideals, he becomes a leader totally unlike what he has been before. As Puzo reminds us, evil often springs from man's desire to do good.

When his own daughter becomes a pawn in a brutal terrorist plot, Kennedy, who as obsessively kept alive the memory of the assassination of his uncles, activates all his power to retaliate in a series of bloody measures as the world and those closest to him look on with awe and horror.

THE FOURTH K is quintessential Puzo—a novel of explosive suspense and Machiavellian intrigue whose compelling action is as dramatic as today's headlines.

Review of LICORICE by Abby Frucht: Is set in a Midwestern town that is gradually and inexorably losing its population. Liz, a temporary mail carrier, is acutely aware of the town's mysteriously deserted homes, the vacancies, and sudden disappearances. These civic abandonments echo her friends' personal one-friendships that subtly and abruptly shift, marriages that crumble and cause Liz to doubt herself and her relationships with her husband and son.

ICA holds monthly meeting Jan. 7

Preston Faris was the guest speaker when the Independent Cattlemen's Association held its regular business meeting and Dutch-treat dinner, Monday evening, January 7 at the Sutton County Steakhouse.

Present were Preston Faris, Ben Epps, Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, Dr. Mike Keller, Mrs. Ruth Shurley, M. D. Shurley, Mrs. Adele Wilson and Ruth Espy, secretary-treasurer.

A very interesting and informative talk was given by Preston Faris to the ranchers present. Implants for growth stimulation in beef cattle was discussed. Faris said with the correct dosage, cattle will grow usually 10% faster than one not treated with the stimulant. He also discussed the nannograms of stimulant in the implants and it has been proved safe for human consumption. The former commissioner of the TDA was not familiar with the levels introduced into the cattle—thereby causing an unnecessary alarm in meat consumers.

Crossbreeding in cattle was discussed and many ranchers have been involved with crossbreeding for several years in this area. He also stated that if crossbreeding is to be of any practical importance, the total performance of the crosses must be better than that of the best parent.

A question and answer session followed the discussion. Everyone present felt he had learned more about the cattle industry, including the changes that are coming in the future.

The next monthly meeting will be held Monday, February 4 at 6:30 p. m. at the Sutton County Steakhouse.

All members and interested persons are urged and welcomed to attend.

The first successful electric elevator was installed in the Demarest Building in New York City in 1889.

SHAPING UP FACTS ON FIGURES by Fred Adkins

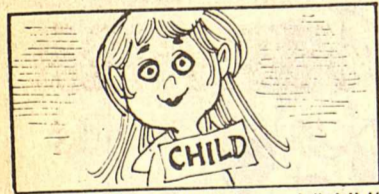

New exercise guidelines--including strength training along with aerobic exercise--have been announced by the American College of Sports Medicine. Resistance training at moderate intensity should be done at least twice a week.

Best time of life for weight control is the early 20s, when most people put on more weight than at any other time. That's the finding of a study by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

At-the-desk exercises help release tension in neck and upper back. Sitting upright in a chair, stomach muscles tightened, reach behind with both arms and interlace fingers. Rounding back, curve torso forward and down; arms will go up. Hold, then roll up slowly.
