4-H programs avoid drastic budget cuts

By Griffin B. Cole DRN Editor

Huge budget cuts at the state level for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service may have been avoided thanks to a strong negative response by County Extension Agents, Extension Directors and Extension Specialists.

"The indication we get, is the Senate Finance Committee has had a tremendous amount of contact," said Sutton County Extension Agent Preston Faris.

County Extension Agents became concerned when an analysis of Senate Bill 1 (SB1), the Appropriations Bill, recommended consolidating the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Forest Service.

The analysis showed the consolidation would have resulted

Among the casulties to the budget cuts would have been all 4-H programs, all home economics programs, all community and economic development programs and the Animal Damage Control Service.

Economically speaking, Faris said the dropping of the Animal Damage Control Service would be devastating to Sutton County.

Faris said Sutton County does not have a big predatory animal problem and that is due in part to the county trappers, "(Sutton County) would lose both of its county trappers. The sheep and goat industry would take a beating. We don't have a big predatory problem, but the trappers can be right there when a hot spot arises.'

Faris said the loss of the 4-H program in Sutton County is almost unthinkable. Written responses were asked for by the 4-H counties and Faris said the letters still have not stopped pouring into the legislators

"When you have a good program you don't have to tell them what to say ... " said Faris.

Still, Faris said the county agricultural services will not go untouched in the budget crunch, "We'll definitely feel cuts. Some of it can be absorbed...but we can only take so much cut in funding."

Faris said some of the state-wide spots open will just be phased out instead of filled.

The cuts in funding will seem minor compared to the almost complete destruction of services

Special election is baffling to many

By Griffin B. Cole

Sonora Schools superintendent Charles Russell says there is plenty of confusion concerning the

Aug. 10 special election. The election is actually two elections being held at one time.

Russell said there is a state-wide election at the county level which has two constitutional amendment questions and then a local election with three proposition questions.

The first proposed amendment basically asks whether the County Education District (CED) would have the right to consider tax exemptions.

Currently, CED boards can't make decisions about taxation options that individual school boards may adopt. As a result, the Legislature called a special election to let the voters decide.

Where some confusion occurs, is that the local propositions call for changes in the exemptions. In essence, the voter is being asked if the CED can have the right to consider tax exemptions. At the same time, the voter must decide on the exemption questions in the

There are two exemption questions at the local level. Russell said the first question is an exemption of 20 percent of market value of a persons homestead

A yes vote, Russell said, would add the 20 percent to the already set $5,000 exemption.

As an example, Russell said if the tax were at $1/$100 on a $40,000 homestead, the net tax total would be on $27,000. That is, the original $5,000 exemption plus another $8,000 with the 20 percent exemption.

For Kimble and Sutton County (CED 22) though, it would be based on 72 cents.

The second proposition calls for a $10,000 exemption for those over 65-years-old and and additional $10,000 if they are disabled. The third proposition, calls for the possibility of taxing personal property.

This proposition has been opposed by school officials and tax appraisors around the state and Sonora is no different.

"I wouldn't tell people how to vote, but I would tell people how I will vote," said Russell. "I would yes on the first two and no on the last proposition. You would spend more money that would be brought in." Sutton County Tax Appraisor

RexAnn Friess was in agreement, "It would mean the taxation on the value of items, cars, boats, motor Please see Election, page 2

Emergency room can't take place of hospital By Alvis Johnson Jr.

DRN Contributing Writer

First, the constitution of Texas does not provide for a tax to operate an emergency room alone. It provides for the "creation, establishment, maintenance and operation of a hospital district." It states that a district can operate a hospital it acquires or builds "providing that every district so created shall assume full responsibility for providing medical and hospital care for its needy inhabitants." There is no mention of limiting the services to just emergency care. Since the "enabling act" that created our district was based on the constitution it does not provide for limited services.

That's the law but people get around the law everyday so let's go

To limit our facilities to just an emergency room would not save money. An adequate emergency room would have to be staffed 24 hours a day 7 days a week. It would be necessary to provide the services of a physician, a nurse and an LVN to be constantly available. It would also require the availability of an X-ray technician and a laboratory technician. Roughly this would involve a payroll of $662,680 not counting FICA, workman's compensation, insurance and pension contributions.

In addition we would still have to have administration costs. bookkeeping costs, insurance clerk, janitorial service, maintenance service, building repairs, supplies and liability insurance. These costs would not be appreciably less than they are a. present. The only real saving would be less utilities providing the building could be modified so Please see Hospital, page 2

Rain tires: fact or friction?

For the last three days of my vacation in the Pacific Northwest my parents and I hit the trail. We headed to the Olympic Peninsula of Washington state.

Though I was born in Washington state and spent many summers there while in my youth, I had never visited the Olympic Peninsula.

Waking up the morning of our departure, I quickly showered and then changed into my blue jeans, cowboy boots, western shirt and cowboy hat. Had to show the folks up in Yankee land that I was no longer one of them. When I wasn't wearing my cowboy hat I took to wearing a Texas Aggies

I stepped out onto the carport and saw my father changing the front tires on the automobile. He must have seen the question mark over my head because he soon answered, "It rains a lot up there." I replied, "So what?"

"Have to put on the rain tires so we get better traction. No need to take any unnecessary changes while on the road."

I was perplexed. I'm familiar with snow tires during the winter, putting chains on the tires for increased traction as well, but never had I heard of rain tires.

My dad went on to rattle off some statistics of just how safe these rain tires are.

The only problem: they are generally a pain. Something about having to change the tires quite often because dry roads can rip them up.

I was lost in thought so I didn't catch the whole thing.

Sure enough, it was raining for

No surprise, it rains a bunch up there. That's why the national forest there is called the Olympic National Rain Forest. No joke. I saw a rain chart which showed the Olympic National Rain Forest received an annual rainfall of between 139 and 145 inches. If you have heard it rains a lot in Seattle, think again.

Seattle and Chicago both get an average of 34 inches of rain, Phoenix gets seven inches. With a little use of math, the Olympic National Forest gets the same amount of rain in one year that Phoenix does in about 20 years.

I was talking with my dad about writing a column on this very fact. He thought it would be very good, but had one question, "Do you think anybody would really believe there is such a thing as rain tires?"

I haven't been able to get all the Yankee out of me yet.

While on my travels I saw a lot of things which reminded me of folks down here.

For a moment I thought I saw Lynn Simpler on a billboard advertising cigarettes. I was so stunned by the likeness I had to take a closer look and still believe it was him.

I noticed a Graves River as well. Automatically thought of Charles and wondered what the heck he had been doing up here.

Couldn't get myself to try Mexican food while up north. I just knew it couldn't match any of the fantastic food served by the restaurants in Sonora. Besides, I doubt if they served pigs feet or

Remembering Granny

Our family lost our "Granny" this week to a lingering illness, but it won't be the illness I will remember when I think of Alice Jones. I'll remember a tiny lady with a quiet manner who loved blue and who loved her grandchildren most of all. I'llremember a true West Texan who loved her church and her community and supported both with enthusiasm.

Granny never tired of attending school and church functions to see her grandchildren. I'll remember her picking the children up from school and treating them to lunch or running them to football practice or piano lessons. Granny somehow managed to convey an individual self-importance to each of her five grandchildren. Maybe it was the special treats she cooked for them, or maybe it was the countless times she read Blueberries for Sal to them when they vacationed in Maine. Maybe it was the tireless hours she sat and watched them show their 4-H lambs, or the times she kept bidding at the auctions, so she could buy those same lambs. I'll remember Granny defending the children when their behavior was less than desireable. She always claimed that they didn't feel well - if it would ward off a parental

I'll remember family dinners at Granny's house where roast beef and gravy could be sopped up with the world's best hot rolls, and when we swore we couldn't stuff in another bite, she would mention pecan or chocolate chiffon pie. Lots of love and laughter have been shared around the table with the Jones-Sawyer clan at those big meals.

I'll affectionately remember how once her mind was made up, we might as well forget trying to change it. (My, how interesting thing about us.) I'll remember a mother-in-law who was ever patient with a daughter-in-law who made a million mistakes. When I see peonies bloom in the spring, I'll remember Granny working in her beautiful back yard and telling me not to disturb the roots of my peonies. Angel food cake and German chocolate cake with 7-Minute Icing will bring her face to, my mind.

She's touched our lives in so! many ways, but probably Granny's greatest gift to us is an abiding strong family love and unity. When I remember Granny, I'll remember love.

Steady state employment rate indicates slow growth

AUSTIN - "About the best thing that can be said about this month's unemployment statistics is that the indicators are at least going in right direction," Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers said as the Texas Employment Commission announced a 6.1 percent jobless rate for the state.

"The problem lies in the fact that the indicators just don't go very far in the right direction," Nabers concluded.

The statistics remain almost unchanged both from a month carlier and a year ago. Contrary to some months past, however, the state is now showing a moderate gain in the total number of employed individuals and a slight decrease in the number of Texans out of work.

"We have all too often in the past seen a drop in the statewide rate without these two positive indicators being present, and we always have to be suspect when that happens," Nabers said.
"Perhaps we will see a larger swing next month in this same direction.":

Approximately 8,121,500 Texans were employed last month and 523,400 workers were jobless. The only sector that saw significant job growth or expansion in June was eating and drinking establishments.

Texas ranked at the very top of national figures last week; showing the sharpest oil rig count decline of all the states. "We don't deserve that," Nabers said, "and it is all happening at the same time oil prices are the highest since the Gulf War."

"With so many national economists predicting that the recession has either already ended or will end by August, we just have to hope that improvement in jobless rates and growth in personal income will happen soon," Nabers concluded.

Women are concerned about their husbands having heart attacks, but they are not usually concerned about themselves having one. Many women think their greatest health risk is breath cancer, but it may be heart disease. One in nine women 45-64 has heart disease - one in three over 65 have heart disease. After menopause, almost as many women have heart attacks as men. and it is the number one killer of women over 40. Four of the controllable factors that cause heart disease are drinking, smoking, diet and stress. The reason there is an increase in heart disease in women now is because women have joined the work force in mass numbers. Since women work they get stress from their jobs, eat fast food rather than healthy food, and they tend to Herman was born May 20, 1920, in Granbury, Texas. After graduating from Junction High School in 1940, Mr. Moore served in the Army Air Corps from 1942 to 1945.

Following his service years, he joined the Texas Department of Public Safety in 1948 and served until 1960. In 1961 he was elected sheriff of Sutton County and served in that capacity until 1973. He was in private business from 1973 until 1980, when he became Sutton County Justice of the Peace. He served in that office until his retirement in 1990.

He was a member of the Dee Ora Masonic Lodge No. 715, the Downtown Lions Club and First Baptist Church.

Mr. Moore married May Dell Stewart of London, Texas, in

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Herman Moore Jr. and his wife, Candy, of Pasadena, and Larry Bob Moore and his wife. Jan, of La Vernia; one brother, R. G. Moore and his wife, Jean of Crowley; and two grandchildren, John Carter Moore and Rachel

Alice Lucille Sawyer Jones

Alice Lucille Sawyer Jones. longtime Sutton County ranch woman and civic leader, died Sunday, July 28, 1991, in Hudspeth Memorial Hospital.

A memorial service was held Tuesday, July 30, 1991 at the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Clay Hall officiating. Burial followed in Sonora Cemetery, under the direction of Kerbow Funeral

She was born Oct, 14, 1916, in Bangor, Maine, to Mae B. and Edwin E. Sawyer, both native New Englanders. She attended Sonora schools and graduated from the University of Texas in 1937.

On Sept. 20, 1940, Alice married Cleveland T. Jones Jr. They ranched on their Headquarters Ranch, 12 miles northeast of Sonora and a six mile ranch south of town, until Cleve's death in 1952. Alice then moved into Sonora and operated the ranches

Texans have made their pride plain, to the point of making it the object of legislation," said Arnold Oliver, engineer-director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. "We obviously have a lot to be proud of, and our newest license plate, with its flag and 'The Lone Star State', couldn't trumpet that any more loudly."

The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission approved the new design in its July meeting. The new tags will begin appearing when all the current plates are issued, probably by early spring, said Lawrance Smith of the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Two years ago, the slogan surfaced as an alternative to using the proposed label "The Friendship State," rejected by the commission after Texans said they didn't like the idea. ("Friendship" is the state's official motto.) The commission opted not to mess with Texas plates except to add the Texas flag on the upper left.

This spring, the Texas Legislature passed a resolution suggesting the department consider adding "The Lone Star State" to the redesigned plates.

"Though the resolution conveyed a suggestion, we agreed it was time to put Texas' unofficial but best-loved label on the plates," Oliver said.

Real life to folklife: changing hats for Festival

SAN ANTONIO - Participants at the Texas Folklife Festival come from backgrounds as diverse as the landscape of the state itself.

It therefore may come as no surprise that when your doctor hangs up his white coat, your minister leaves the church, and your repairman closes shop for the day, you just might find them playing a banjo or plucking geese at the state's premier celebration of its rich cultural diversity.

For 20 years now, the Texas Folklife Festival has assembled the brightest jewels of ethnic expertise from around the state for this popular annual event.

This year's Festival, August 1-4, will be no exception. People will once again load up their costumes, crafts, or food and head for the Institute of Texan Cultures to exchange their real life for folklife.

The Festival has always prided itself on being a "people" event. It is not an arts and crafts show or a series of concerts; it focuses instead on the skill, talent and dedication of those who take pride in preserving the folkways of their ancestors. The fact that their regular occupations are not related at all to their folklife contributions just adds to the charm of this annual event.

On Sunday mornings in Sonora, Rev. Jim Stephens preaches from the pulpit of the First Baptist Church. For ten years, however, he has also demonstrated his craftsmanship as a muzzleloading gunsmith at the Festival. It's a skill he learned from his gunsmith father and one says was "very important in the settling of the Fifty-three participate in scramble

Fifty-three golfers played in the Thursday scramble on July 25. The top two teams both shot a 6 under with the team of Edward San Miguel, Harold Downs, Richard Gonzales, Harvey DuRussell, Mike Holley, and Tommy Holley winning the putt-off to take first place. Second place winners were Steve Tackel, Brad Brevard, Charlie Oren, Freddie Garza and Clyde Dukes.

There was also a tie for third place between two teams with 5 under. Primo Gonzalez sank his putt in the putt-off to win it for his teammates Todd Churchill, Ed Price, Harold Martinez, Benita Martinez and Jim Stephens. The other team at 5 under was Ray Roe, Oliver Wuest, John D. Casparis, Steve Short and Buddy

Other teams and their scores were as follows:

Joe Ramirez, Virgil Burge, Joe Casillas, Don Deel and Stan Smith at 4 under.

Jason Donaldson, Elaine Donaldson, Randy Sparks, Mike Moore and Lester Rainer at 4

Night golf scramble held July 19 The Sonora Golf Club held an 18 hole scramble on July 19, with 9 holes played in the afternoon and 9 holes played after dark, with a delicious fajita supper being served before the night play began. Special glow balls are used for night play, and glow sticks are placed on the pins on the greens so players can determine pin placements. The glow-in-the-dark balls don't go as far as a normal golf ball, so scores were higher than in the usual 18 hole scrambles.

At the end of play, there were two teams at 9 under. The team of Matt Davis, Kathy Davis, Phil Browning, Pam Browning, and Ed Price won the putt-off when Matt sank his putt to take first place. The other team at 9 under, and second place winners, was Erasmo Lumbreras, Allan Prather, Patti Prather, Jane Archer and Pete Maldanado.

All alone in third place was the team of Virgil Burge, Mike Percifull, Marla Percifull, Danny Weant, Martha Weant, and John N. Casparis with a 7 under.

There was a five way tie for fourth place at 6 under, with the team of Jason Donaldson, Alex Blocker, Melissa O'Harrow, Jerry Northcott, Kevin Snyder, and

Jimmy Crowder winning the puttoff. Other teams and their scores

Primo Gonzales, Preston Joy, Dingo Ortiz, Benita Martinez, and Harold Martinez at 6 under.

According to our Fiscal Notes comparison, the U.S. average of 4.9 percent is much lower than Texas' because most other states depend so heavily on income taxes," Sharp said.

"When local sales tax rates are added, Texas' ranking becomes more unfavorable. With a maximum rate of 8.25 percent, we tie with several other states for the third-highest sales tax rate," Sharp said. "The national average for maximum combined state and local tax rates is 6.4 percent."

"On the other hand, Texans pay a little below average tax on gasoline. At 15 cents per gallon, our tax is lower than 35 other states. The national average is more than 17 cents per gallon," the sale," he said.

Goat sale average deemed good

Sale organizers were pleased with the average at the annual Performance Tested Angora Billy Sale here even though it was not as high as other years. Fiftyseven head sold for an average of $572 for a total of $32,600 at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station here.

To date, this has been the highest average of any goat sale this season," said Dr. Frank Craddock, extension sheep and goat specialist and sale coordinator.

The sale averaged approximately $150 higher than other private treaty billy sales this year, Craddock said.

The high-selling goat was purchased for $2,200 by Joe David Ross of Sonora. It was consigned by Pat Jackson of Christoval.

Eugene and Pam McEntire of Sweetwater, Okla. consigned the high-indexing billy which sold for $1,900 to Nat-Read-of Ozona.

Two billies consigned by Pember and Son of Bandera were purchased for $1,550 and $1,050 by Haby and Haby of Uvalde. Groff and Groff of Kerrville consigned the second-highest indexing billy on the test. It sold for $1,400 to Jack David Wardlaw

Another Pat Jackson billy sold for $1,250 to Kroll and Son of Gwen Haberkamp of Miles City, Mont. purchased a billy consigned by Mike Probst of Brady for $1,200.

A billy consigned by Kaci and Kayla Kohls of Garden City was purchased for $1,050 by Jimmy Fontenot, Meador Ranch, Eldorado

Volume buyers of the sale were Ray Miles of Roswell, N. M. who purchased 5 head for $2,650; Bob Lovelace, San Angelo, 4 head for $2,375; Fabor Lay, Natasulag, Ala., 4 head for $1,175; and Inversiones Llimitadas, Kerrville, 4 head for $925.

ASCS employees awarded

COLLEGE STATION - Jerry D. Harris, Chairman of the Texas State ASC Committee, proudly announced that over 150 Texas employees of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) were in Washington receiving awards from the Administrator of ASCS for outstanding and meritorious service to ASCS and the farmers and ranchers of Texas.

The group met with members of Congress including Senator Phil Gramm and House Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza. Other congressmen addressing the group were Jim Chapman, Larry Combest, Chet Edwards, Greg Laughlin, Bill Sarpalius, and Charles Stenholm.

Senator Gramm said, "Each year, ASCS employees find their work made more difficult by the increasing complexity of our farm programs. It really says something that 150 of our Texas ASCS employees overcame every hurtle and served the public so efficiently that they received the highest honor ASCS can bestow for excellence in service.'

Kika de la Garza, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, also gave high praise to the award recipients. Chairman de la Garza stated, "We here in Washington have just honored one group of American heroes returning from the Persian Gulf. Now we honor a group of people who serve in agriculture, America's first line of defense. They have demonstrated superior qualities and as such are held in high esteem for their service to agriculture and their country."

In closing, Senator Gramm commented, "With the continued dedication and diligent effort of these employees, ASCS will continue to administer farm programs that all citizens can be very proud of."

Harris explained that the awards are presented annually by the Administrator of ASCS to recognize those employees whose exemplary performances of duties provided outstanding service to ASCS and American agriculture. The Administrator's Award for Service to Agriculture is the highest recognition that ASCS can give any individual or group of individuals.

In addition to other employees. the Texas State ASCS Committee is being recognized for its management effectiveness and improvements. Chairman Jerry D. Harris is a cotton and grain sorghum producer from Lamesa. Other members that make up the committee are Mrs. Hope Huffman of McGregor, Dale Hunt of Garwood, D. V. Guerra, Jr. of Edinburg, and Keith Spears of Vernon. The panel oversees activities of the ASCS organization throughout Texas.

Harris noted that ASCS provides service to all Americans by administering farm programs that ensure an adequate supply of food and fiber at a reasonable cost.

"Texas ASCS employees are among the best in the Nation. In 1990 over 100 Texas ASCS employees were recognized by the Administrator and here again in 1991, over 150 ASCS employees are being recognized for their outstanding service to the country," he said.

Harris added that "the Texas State ASC Committee is proud to be a part of such a dedicated and professional group and hopes that all Texans will share in the recognition of these employees."
