Hudson Hospital could get financial boost from prison

by Griffin B. Cole

For more information, call 387-1289.

The Snyder Hospital will apply to be a Regional Correctional Center, and the Hospital Board does not expect the amount to be run efficiently. That would mean looking at what the hospital could get from the prison.

Thanks to Adams Youngblood’s most productive night and a strong defensive effort, Sonora defeated Kermit 24-14 in district opener Friday night. Sonora controlled Kermit’s 2-2-0 Fumbles 2-0 yards total offense.

Sonora’s offense continued to pound the Broncos as they built the lead on a pair of touchdowns with an interception in the first half to help keep the game close in the first half. Sonora took advantage of the Broncos’ mistakes to build a 24-point lead. Sonora owned three points by scoring on the run and kicking field goals. Sonora’s defense continued to play well on the end of their half possession.

Sonora fans could not believe the 3-yard run on a keeper that included a fake to the left which threw the Broncos off guard.

From the point of view of the Sonora defense, Terrell was pass rusher. Sonora could only score on a few possessions when Youngblood scored from the 1-yard line. The Sonora defense kept the game close in the first half with two field goals from the end zone.

That closed-in feeling

To do something a little different last week, I decided to visit a state prison. Actually hospital administrator John Bowers, RN, who was my contact, had invited me to the prison for a tour and I took him up on his offer.

There is something about going behind bars that makes one feel a little bit uneasy, that makes you wonder about yourself.

I had been told the guards and the warden had been quite accommodating, but I was still a little bit apprehensive about the visit.

We had to wait outside the gate because the warden had a meeting. It was just like in the movies. A tall guard in green and black stood guard outside the gate, I showed a color photo ID and about five minutes later we were inside.

Inside, I was surprised by how normal, how unnormal, things were. People came and went as if nothing was unusual. Some were in for very long terms of confinement, some for just a few days. It is hard for me to imagine what it would be like to spend 20 years in prison.

The Warden Field Day well attended

The Warden Field Day which is sponsored by the South Texas Water Conservation District of Zapata was well attended.

People came from all over the state of Texas, many from as far south as Columbus. Edinburg and McAllen in the Valley were represented as well as what would be considered a population center of the state's population.

The day was divided into a morning session and afternoon session.

The morning session included a variety of topics including water conservation and irrigation practices.

At the end of the morning session, the Warden Field Day awardees were announced.

The afternoon session featured Dr. Butch Taylor, who is a professor of wildlife management at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Taylor's talk was about the management of wildlife in the southern United States.

The afternoon session also featured a panel discussion on the management of wildlife in the southern United States.

The panelists included Dr. Butch Taylor, who is a professor of wildlife management at Texas A&M University, Dr. John Bowers, who is a professor of wildlife management at Texas A&M University, and Dr. John Bowers, who is a professor of wildlife management at Texas A&M University.

The panelists discussed a variety of topics related to wildlife management in the southern United States, including the importance of managing wildlife for compatible use with agriculture, the role of landowners in wildlife management, and the challenges of managing wildlife in urban areas.
