Youth Center & Christmas in April present plans to Council

The Youth Center was one among many topics of discussion at this month's City Council meeting.

The Youth Center Committee presented the City Council members with a list of names that had been elected by the committee, to serve on a Interim Board and wanted the City Council approval on the officers that had been chosen. The Interim Board members will be responsible for all the money that is being raised or donated. The board members are: President; Barbra Stroud, Vice-President; Mary Lou Hudman, and Secretary/ Treasurer; Sylvia Ponce.

A number of fund raisers are in the works to benefit the Youth Center. A dance with a D.J. from KIXY is being planned and Dreamers is going to hold a dance with all the proceeds going to benefit the Youth Center. Bob Brockman is working on a roping that is to be set sometime in September and a golf scramble is also in the works to benefit the Youth Center project.

The Youth Center Committee members want to raise as much money as possible so that when and if the City Council decides to help fund this project the line items will not be as high, therefore as much money would not be needed by the City Council.

The Youth Center Committee also wanted to thank Jim Garrett and John Pape for all the help that they have done in helping the committee to find alternative funding in the form of grants.

The discussion of the Christmas in April project was also on the agenda and Lewis Allen, on behalf of the Christmas in April Project, made three requests of the City Council members. The first request was to have available dump trucks on site as needed for hauling materials to the landfill, provided by the City. The second request was that the landfill be opened at 8:00 a.m. on April 24. The third request was asked of the Mayor to decalre April 24th, Christmas in April Day. All of these request were approved.

Allen explained that there would be some "shuffling around" since this year their is only 16 or 17 teams of workers, where as last year there was about 22.

There will be around 30 homes that will be helped this year through the project according to Allen and out of these 30 homes there were about 11 home owners willing to do their own labor if materials were furnished.

Carol Thorp, representing Christmas in April, stated that she had received verbal approval from the Governors Committee for a grant request that would benefit the Christmas in April Project. The grant will be at or around the $10,000 requested.

Carol Thorp also gave a small report in the line of soliciting funds and donations. Jalepeno Sam's of San Angelo, will donate caps to all the volunteers. This will be matched by a gift from Location Builders. Coca Cola will provide drinks to the workers and Busy Bees Day Care will also provide free child care to the volunteer workers.

GREEN THUMB WORKERS - County Judge Carla Garner (second from the left) signed a proclamation declaring March 14-20 as Older Workers Week. Individuals and host agencies utilizing the Green Thumb Program in Sonora are Joyce Shedrick at the Sutton County Library, and Leonor Dominguez and Victoria Romera at the Sonora Senior Citizen Center.

Older Workers Week to be observed March 14-20

WACO - Texas Farmers Union, sponsor of the Senior Community Service Employment Program, Green Thumb, Inc., and its President, Joe Rankin, encourages local communities to celebrate Older Worker Week, March 14 through 20. "Employers who look to the future and focus on maintaining a competitive edge are discovering the value of experienced workers," according to Mr. Rankin.

"Let us recognize and highlight the contributions of our senior workforce as we strengthen our commitment to investing in their talents and resourcefulness," he added.

Operating primarily in the rural areas of 132 Texas counties, the Green Thumb program provides over 1,000 older workers the opportunity of sharing their years of experience, hard work, and dedication through community service training and employment projects. Funded through the Department of Labor, Green Thumb emphasizes the transition of its senior workforce back into private sector employment.

According to Green Thumb State Director, Diane Cowan, "Green Thumb's Experience Works! training program matches employer needs with participant skills, abilities, and interest. At no cost to the employer, Green Thumb provides recruitment, screening, and referral of qualified applicants. We tailor the training to the job and share in the training costs."

"Not only during Older Worker Week but every other week, employers should utilize the skills and abilities of our senior jobseekers; hiring experience, dependability, reliability, and dedication is just good business," concludes Mr. Rankin.

For more information regarding senior employment and training opportunities, contact Green Thumb, Inc., P. O. Box 7898, Waco, Texas 76714, 817/776-4081.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sonora,

I thought I should liven up this weeks paper with another Adam Youngblood article. (Yeah Right) I know it has been quite a while since my last letter. I should go ahead and let the town know that I am still alive, and that I am doing pretty good up here at the Academy Prep school. This year has flown by! I can't believe we only have three months left until graduation. It is going to be on June 4th (just in case anyone is interested). I'm not exactly sure how invitations are going to work here, so I thought I would go ahead and invite everybody that wants to come. "So how is Adam doing?" This seems to be a popular question. There aren't very many people who know the answer to that. I have been bad about keeping in touch for the last few months. I apologize. I suppose I am doing great and getting better every day. School is going at its normal pace. It is getting to a part of the year that I am learning some new things. Calculus, physics and English are my challenging courses this term. Basically the same ol' routine, get up at 5:30 clean the dorm, breakfast and be at class at 7:00. Of course the military part of it tells you when to be up, when to eat, when to clean, when to shower, when to study, when to sleep. I guess it keeps me going, but it seems like they should put a diaper around our waists and give us a bottle. I'm not dogging the military, I just thought it was called the Prep school not the Pre-school. Don't take me seriously on that. I am really enjoying myself here. School is not that hard, and the military is great for the discipline that I need. I will admit, I live for weekends.

Weekends are great. The weather up here is gorgeous almost all the time. My usual weekend consists of hiking in the mountains around here, or going snow skiing. I wouldn't have thought going down a snow covered hill with boards on your feet could be so much fun. I have been 6 times already and I am planning at least 1 more ski trip for the year. I have been to Breckenridge and Vail already and I must say, "They are awesome!"

Congratulations to the sports teams this year: Bronco Football had an awesome year, Girls B-ball kicked some butt too. Keep up the good work in track, tennis and golf. Go for it 100%, because I will guarantee you will miss it when it is gone. High school athletics is a great place to excel and be what you want to be. When you get up into the college level, you go from an all-state athlete to a Joe nobody. I am at that point right now. Starting at the bottom and working my way up and it's not fun. Oh well, it should pay off in a few years.

Well, that about raps up this edition. I would like to hear from some Sonora people sooner or later. It does get lonely here. Actually that is one of the hardest parts of being away. Jumping from a town where people were friendly and caring to a place where everyone would rather be grumpy. I think that is about the only way to explain it. Just in case anybody decides to write, my address is PSC Box 7657, USAF Academy CO, 80840.

Have a great year, take care and may God bless you.
Adam Youngblood

Dear Editor,

The Board of Directors of the Sutton County Unit of the American Cancer Society want to again thank the Devil's River News for all of the support that you have given us over the years.

You have been one of the most effective communication sources that we have had in the effort to avoid, treat, and cure cancer.

The Sutton County Unit has had a long history of supporting the War Against Cancer, and the Devil's River News has been with us all of the way.

Recently, there have been some "look alike" organization soliciting donations by mail for cancer research and education. These solicitations are by mail or by phone and have sometimes confused people into thinking that they were donating to The American Cancer Society.

The American Cancer Society does not solicit in Sonora by mail or by phone. Our fund raisers are always operated by local residents that you know. So if you will always give your donation to your local volunteer, you can be sure that it goes to your local unit of the American Cancer Society.

The local Sutton County Unit has two fund raisers coming up this Spring.

We have a golf tournament coming up on April 24th and our regular door to door campaign also in April.

We are looking for another good year in Sonora, and another year of progress in the War Against Cancer.

Yours truly,
Charlie Graves, President
Sutton Unit

Plan now for severe weather: Tornadoes

Although tornadoes, can strike virtually any part of Texas at any time, spring seems to bring an increase in this type of violent weather activity.

You can take precautions to protect yourself and your family in the event of a tornado.

Periodically hold a tornado drill so that family members know what to do and where to go if you see a tornado or the National Weather Service issues a tornado warning. The safest part of a house during a tornado traditionally is the basement, but be aware of the potential for flooding if there is a heavy rain in the area. Interior bathrooms, hallways, and closets on the ground floor also offer protection from tornadic winds. Avoid windows and outside walls. Take along blankets or sleeping bags to protect yourself from falling debris and shattering glass, which are frequently the cause of death and injury during a tornado.

Prepare a 72-hour disaster supplies kit and first aid kit should you need to evacuate your home. Make certain you have a portable radio and several flashlights (and fresh batteries for both) as well as plenty of bottled water (1 gallon per person per day), food and extra prescription medications in your disaster supplies kit.

Remember, if a tornado strikes, electricity, gas, water and sewer service may be disrupted for several days. It may become necessary for you to turn off your utilities; know where your electric fuse box, water service main and natural gas main are located. Learn how to turn off your utilities. Turn off your utilities only if you know how to detect damage to the lines or if you are instructed to do so. If you turn the gas off, you will need a professional to turn it back on.

Mobile homes and automobiles are dangerous places to be during a tornado. If you live in a mobile home, make sure all family members know where the nearest substantial shelter is. If you are in your mobile home or car and can't get to a better shelter: go outside, lie down in the nearest ravine, ditch or culvert and cover your head with your hands. Be aware of the possibility of flooding in low-lying areas. Do not hide under your mobile home or car because both can easily be picked up and carried away by a tornado.

Had your veggies today?

Submitted by Kelly Lewis, Extension Agent-Home Economics

The United States Department of Agriculture Food Guide Pyramid recommends eating three to five servings of vegetables daily. Yet, despite these recommendations, vegetables seem to have disappeared from the daily diets of many people. For some unknown reason, they think vegetables are boring and yucky.

This misperception, and that's exactly what it is, is beginning to change. Vegetables are becoming an important part of a balanced diet. Vegetables come in many colors, shapes, sizes, forms, flavors and textures. They contribute interest and variety to meals in countless ways. They are fun to cook and to eat. Their versatility makes them an asset in most meals.

Vegetables can be eaten in many forms—raw, canned, frozen, or dried. They can be eaten in sandwiches, salads, soups and main dishes. Our enjoyment of vegetables is limited only to our ability to serve them in interesting ways. We can pick and choose from an endless number of different and unusual vegetables.

Vegetables score very high nutritionally. They contain a variety of vitamins, minerals and fiber. For example, the dark leafy vegetables are a good source of iron and calcium. Minerals such as sodium, magnesium, potassium, iodine, calcium, copper, molybdenum and manganese are also present in varying amounts in many vegetables.

A number of vegetables contain significant amounts of vitamin C. Examples include broccoli, sweet green and red peppers, and green leafy vegetables (like kale and collards) and tomatoes. Others include asparagus tips, Brussels sprouts, raw cabbage, garden cress, kale, kohlrabi, mustard greens, Irish and sweet potatoes (cooked in their jackets), spinach, tomato juice and turnip greens. Since we get vegetables from all over the world, we are almost certain to get the necessary amounts of these minerals if we eat the recommended number of servings, which is 3-5 per day. Vitamin C is needed for healthy gums and body tissues. Our diet should provide about 60 milligrams of vitamin C per day.

Deep green and deep yellow vegetables are good sources of vitamin A and beta carotene. Examples include broccoli, carrots, chard, collards, cress, kale, pumpkin, spinach, sweet potatoes, winter squash, turnip greens and other dark greens. Vitamin A helps you maintain good vision and is essential for the proper functioning of many body organs.

Remember, vegetables are an important part of a balanced diet and can be a delicious way to get the nutrients you need without adding a lot of extra calories— unless, of course, you add fat or other high-calorie seasonings during cooking.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
SPECIAL ELECTION
MAY 1, 1993

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Section 1 of Senate Joint Resolution 7 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to redistribute among other school districts ad valorem taxes levied and collected by a school district. The amendment would also allow the legislature to create county education districts with the taxable property of existing school districts in one or more counties combined. County education districts may levy, collect, and distribute ad valorem taxes as authorized by general law. The legislature would be allowed to set the rate of the ad valorem tax to be imposed in a school district or county education district or it may authorize the board of trustees of each school district or county education district to set the rate, provided that the rate of county education district ad valorem taxes may not exceed $1.00 per $100 valuation of taxable property, unless a higher rate is approved by the voters of the district. The amendment also provides that the amount of ad valorem taxes redistributed among school districts by the legislature and effectively redistributed within a county through county education districts may not exceed 2.75 percent of the sum of the state revenue appropriated for public schools and the revenue from local ad valorem taxes levied and collected for public schools. The term "state revenue" does not include revenue from ad valorem taxes, revenue for the provision of free textbooks, or contributions to a retirement system. Finally, the amendment provides that it does not affect the distribution of the available school fund under article VII, section 5, of the Texas Constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment allowing limited redistribution of ad valorem taxes for schools, authorizing the legislature or local districts to set a minimum tax rate in county education districts, and placing a cap on the ad valorem tax levied by county education districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Section 2 of Senate Joint Resolution 7 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide that, except for state educational mandates imposed in compliance with the Texas Constitution or federal law, or unless enacted by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature, a school district may not be required to comply with an obligation requiring expenditure of school district funds unless the obligation is fully funded. The amendment also requires the legislature to provide by law a procedure for determining whether an obligation is fully funded. In the absence of such a procedure, and at the request of a school district's board of trustees, the comptroller of public accounts shall determine whether or not an obligation is fully funded. This amendment applies only to state educational mandates enacted after December 31, 1993.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment exempting a school district from the obligation to comply with unfunded state educational mandates."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes an amendment to article VII, section 5(b), of the constitution, which currently authorizes the legislature to provide for using the permanent school fund to guarantee bonds issued by school districts and certain education-related revenue bonds issued by the state. The amendment would repeal the provision authorizing the use of the permanent school fund to guarantee state revenue bonds, but would permit the legislature to provide by law for the issuance of general obligation bonds or revenue bonds of the state for the purpose of making loans to, or purchasing bonds of, school districts for the purpose of acquisition, construction, or improvement of instructional facilities, including all furnishings. The amendment also provides that the state, pursuant to general law, may forgive the payment of principal and interest on all or part of a loan made to a school district under the amendment to partially finance an instructional facility. The cap of $750 million on the amount of bonds that could be issued under article VII, section 5(b), as amended, would be retained. The amendment would repeal the current provision of the constitution permitting the legislature to authorize bonds in excess of $750 million by two-thirds record vote of both houses of the legislature. While any of the general obligation bonds issued under the amendment or any of the interest on those bonds is outstanding and unpaid, there would be appropriated out of the first money coming into the state treasury in each fiscal year, not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, the amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds that matured or became due that fiscal year.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $750 million in state general obligation or revenue bonds to assist school districts in partially financing facilities, authorizing the state to forgive payments of loans made to a school district for partially financing facilities, and repealing the authorization for $750 million in state revenue bonds guaranteed by the permanent school fund."

Este es el informe explicatorio sobre la enmienda propuesta a la constitución que aparecerá en la boleta el día 1 de mayo de 1993. EAT SMART pamphlet highlighted for March

The pamphlet we want to highlight for March is EAT SMART, code 912, Recipes For

READ LABELS: Fat: Select foods in which no more than 30% of the calories from fat. A product Healthier Living. With your health in mind these recipes were designed to meet the American Cancer Society Nutrition Guidelines. They are consistent with current recommendations for lowering fat, cholesterol, sodium and sugar in the diet. For a copy contact a local member of ACS or call 387-3269.

REDUCE YOUR RISK - Some things you eat may increase or decrease your risks for certain types of cancer. Based on available evidence reduce your chances by following these simple rules. 1. Avoid obesity. 2. Cut down on total fat intake. 3. Eat more high fiber foods. 4. Include foods rich in vitamins A & C in your daily diet. 5. Include cruciferous vegetables in your diet. 6. Eat moderately of salt-cured, smoked and nitrite-cured foods. 7. Keep alcohol consumption moderate, if you do drink.

OTHER RISK FACTORS - 1. Stop cigarette smoking. Smoking is the biggest cancer risk factor of all. 2. Respect the sun's rays. Too much sun causes skin cancer and damage to your skin.

MODIFY YOUR OWN RECIPES FOR A HEALTHIER VERSION - Use skim milk instead of whole milk. Reduce the amount of oil in baked products by one-fourth to one-third. Limit or omit nuts in recipes, they increase fat and calories. Use dried fruits or raisins to increase fiber. Substitute whole wheat flour for half of the white flour to increase fiber. Reduce the amount of sugar by one-fourth or one-half of what is called for. Use non-stick cooking pans or non-stick cooking spray to reduce fat intake. Substitute lowfat plain yogurt for sour cream in dip or salad dressing recipes. Use lowfat bases for sauces and dressings (vinegars, mustard, tomato juice and fat free broth). Add herb/spice mixtures instead of butter, margarine or meat fats to vegetables. Buy lean meats and remove skin from poultry. Buy water-packed canned fish and fruits or fruits packed in their own juices. Remember not to fry anything--bake, broil, roast, steam or poach.

that has 300 calories should have no more than 10 grams of fat per serving. FIBER: Choose fiber-rich foods. Fiber is found in the skin and pulp of fruits and vegetables and in the outer coating of grains, nuts and seeds. Fiber-rich foods provide roughage to help the digestive tract function more efficiently and may also reduce the risk of colon cancer. Recommend 20-30 grams a day of dietary fiber.

EATING OUT - Select a restaurant that offers healthy food choices. Ask how your selections are to be prepared. Sit in the non-smoking area. Limit fried foods. Order salads with dressings on the side--preferably oil and vinegar or diet dressing. Ask that nuts, buttery crackers and chips be removed from the table. Avoid spreads on bread. Look for simply prepared main courses--poultry, fish and vegetable dishes that have been baked, broiled, roasted, steamed or stir fried without heavy sauces. Beware of high-fat side dishes such as fried veggies, coleslaw or potato salad. Some specialty and fast food restaurants serve more high fat foods so be careful to order appropriately. Share an entree with a friend or family member. Use alcohol moderately because it increases calories and appetite. Opt for fresh fruit, fruit ices, sherbets, gelatines, angel food cake or low fat yogurt. There are 15 recipes in this pamphlet, each recipe contains nutrition information--Calories--Carbohydrates--Protein--Cholesterol--Sodium--Vitamins A and C and Dietary Fiber.

Local cancer society unit offers many services

Your American Cancer Society is active right here in Sutton County. The Sutton Unit has a 15 member volunteer board of directors who oversee the activities of many other volunteers. These volunteers assist cancer patients, provide the latest information on early detection and prevention programs, and raise funds to support these programs as well as our nationwide research projects.

EDUCATION PROGRAMS - Free videos, pamphlets, posters, and other materials on the early detection and prevention of cancer are available for businesses, churches, schools, and other organizations. During our last fiscal year (September 1, 1991 - August 31, 1992) we reached more than 661 adults and 185 students with lifesaving information at an estimated dollar value of $2,260.

CANCER PATIENT SERVICES - We offer hospital equipment, a rehabilitation program for breast cancer patients, lodging at out of town treatment facilities and more, all at no cost to the patient's family. We also have information on resources offered by other local organizations. In our last fiscal year, we helped 8 patients, providing them with $3,245 in services.

Cards of thanks

I would like to thank all the people who showed concern about my illness and operation. Especially the Hospital Staff, Ambulance personnel and Dr. Rogers, St. Ann's Prayer Group and all the people that came by to ask about me.

Thank you all very much and may God bless you all.

THE NEED FOR FUNDS - The American Cancer Society nationwide provides more money for cancer research than any other organization outside the federal government. Yet, due to a lack of funds, we were only able to fund 11% of the research grants submitted to us during the 1991-92 fiscal year. A portion of the money we raise helps support our research projects. Last year, we raised $8,067 in the Sutton County Unit.

If you need assistance from your American Cancer Society, want to make a contribution, or if you would like to volunteer, please call Charlie Graves, President at (915) 387-5380. We also have a toll-free number, 1-800-ACS-2345, for information on cancer related topics.

Manager John Pape represented Sonora and Sutton County.

TxDOT officials noted that the adopted trunk system plan involves the upgrading of approximately 10,500 miles of non-interstate highways throughout Texas in the next ten years. However, at current funding levels, it would take at least thirty years to achieve all upgrading goals. If that situation does not improve, state planners may be forced to eliminate some of the highways from the plan.

"Our concern is the possible elimination of US 277 between Sonora and Del Rio from the plan,"

Pape explained. "It's been proven time and again that if you provide accessibility, growth and prosperity follow. Improvements to this highway are critical to Sonora's economic future, as well as to Del Rio's port of entry when the Free-Trade Agreement is enacted."

Pape noted that the Del Rio highway was not included when the initial plan was developed, and this raises fears that it may be one of the first to be eliminated should cuts occur. As things now stand, US 277 remains a part of the plan, but the $110 million needed to fund the project has not been allocated.

In addressing the conference, Pape urged all community leaders throughout the areas involved to consider regional benefits over individual interests. If cities present a united front in requesting funding for the system, there is a far greater likelihood that the plan will remain intact.

It was also noted at the conference that some widening work on US 277 in Val Verde County is already under way. The project had twice been halted by environment groups obtaining injunctions in federal court. Both issues have been successfully resolved, and the work is now proceeding.

There is more SONORA in the Devil's River News than any paper in the World!

A Tribute to Granny

(Author Unknown)

God looked around His garden and found an empty space. He then looked down upon this earth and saw your tired face. He put his arms around you, and lifted you to rest. God's garden must be beautiful, He only takes the best. He knew that you were suffering. He knew you were in pain. He knew that you would never get well upon this earth again. He saw the roads getting rough, and the hills were hard to climb, so he closed your weary eyelids, and whispered, "Peace, be thine." It broke our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone. For part of us went with you, the night God called you Home.

We miss you - we love you

Junior High taped for "Spotlight on the Middle"

Representatives from the Texas Education Agency visited Sonora Junior High School on Wednesday, March 3, 1993. The purpose of the visit was to video tape innovative programs for a Texas series of video tapes, "Spotlight on the Middle."

As a result of intense investigation into the status of adolescents, Carnegie Corporation has focused national attention on the need to address the unique problems of students at this critical stage of life. The study found that "middle school offers the last best chance to turn a child around personally, socially and academically."

Texas is one of 15 states, and Sonora Junior High is one of 37 mentor schools, working with Carnegie to structure all middle and junior high schools in order to offer a nurturing, caring environment and a quality education that prepares them to be a productive citizen in the 21st century.

Highlighted programs will include academic team planning, Accelerated Reading Program, authentic learning activities, content mastery, History Research projects, Student Council Associate members and Writing Reading Workshop.

Following the visit, Sonora Junior High Principal Janet Patton received the following letter:

Dear Mrs. Patton:
It was a pleasure to be at Sonora Junior High this week. Thank you so much for making it possible for us to videotape in your halls and classrooms. What a great place to go to school! We really appreciate the special help given us by you, the librarian, the teachers, and students. Please convey our thanks to them and especially to the teachers and classes we filmed: Martha Smith and Mona Simpler, Fernie Emiliano, Tracy Escamilla, Johnna Adams, Andy Mirike, Greg Hughes, Kimberly Bustamante, Michelle Cramer, Pam Jones, Mark Cooper, Daniel Ozuna, Cara Jackson, Ashley Browning and Sarah Marrs.

Even though we were there only a short time, we were impressed by the positive contribution Sonora Junior High is making to improve the quality of education for adolescents. Thank you again for your help in making our visit so successful. We look forward to sharing our videotaped series with you in the future.
Sincerely yours,
Lanny van Allen, Ph. D.
Associate Director of Middle Level Education

The troop set up camp in the Chisos Basin on Monday night. The full moon rising over Casa Grande was magnificent, rendering the javelinas and skunk which roamed through camp quite visible.

By daybreak the next morning, the Scouts were on the trail to the South Rim. Oak and pine forests mingled all along the way with classic Chihuahuan Desert species - ocotillo, century plant, madrona and lecheguilla. From the Rim, the eye could see 107 miles of the Rio Grande as it flowed out of the mouth of Santa Elena Canyon eastward to the park boundary at Boquillas. The round trip hike of 14 miles was worth every step for such a view.

Four of the more energetic Scouts added another four miles to their day's walk, hiking from camp to the Window later that afternoon.

On the return trip, the Scouts ate lunch at the historic Post south of Marathon. Some even tested the crystal clear waters of the spring there - but not for long.

Scouts who made this trek were Eddie Maskill, Jon Jon Zook, Casey Fitzgerald, Chris Clifton, Will Allen, Tommy Tiffie, Curtis Sanders, Paul Thompson, Steven Dalton, Jesse Crawford and Alan Nicholas. Adult leaders who accompanied the troop were Lewis Allen, Wade Fitzgerald and Melissa Clifton.

A hug is a roundabout way of expressing affection.

COMMUNICATE BEFORE YOU EXCAVATE.

Before you dig, drill, blast, shovel, tunnel or backhoe, look out below! For buried natural gas pipelines, that is.

To provide your community with a clean, efficient source of fuel, natural gas pipelines are buried underground in many areas. Although these pipelines are built to meet the highest safety standards, an unknowing person who is excavating can cause accidental rupture.

In many areas, especially road crossings, our company has posted warning signs to indicate the presence of an underground natural gas pipeline.

But you can always confirm the safety of your excavation site by calling us at one of the numbers below at least 48 hours before breaking ground. This way we can determine for sure whether you are in any danger of rupturing one of our lines.

Everyone—not just those involved with excavation—should be alert to signs of a ruptured natural gas pipeline. These telltale signs include dying vegetation, blowing dust, persistent bubbles through water, a distinctive smell, high-pitched noises, and, in severe cases, fire or explosion.

So before you drive anything underground, get on the horn! In fact, call us collect to report any conditions that concern you in the vicinity of our pipelines.

Movie Review

by Roy Ivy
Howard's End
Rated PG
3 and 1/2 stars

It's nominated for every Oscar in the world (Best Picture, Best Actress, Best Director), but it doesn't deliver what it promises. The photography is beautiful. The music is lovely. The performances are perfect. Still, something is missing. This film contains a beautiful shell, but inside it seems hollow. Emma Thompson delivers an Oscar worthy performance, as does Anthony Hopkins, but something about the storytelling lags when it should excite. To tell the story of the film would require more space than you have time to read, or would want to. It simply lacks dynamics, and doesn't deliver a satisfying climax. It left myself and the sophisticated audience I watched it with saying, "That was it?" It entertains and dazzles the eyes, but like expensive candy, it doesn't fill you up.

Untamed Heart

Rated PG-13 for language and violence
4 stars

This is a film that exists to just jerk the tears out of your eyes. I nearly slipped and broke my neck because a group of girls had flooded the floor of the theater with tears. I got quite a bit choked up myself. Christian Slater, giving the absolute best performance of his life, is stunning and heartbreaking as Adam, a quiet dishwasher with a weak heart condition. For the first time, Slater is actually acting and not imitating Jack Nicholson. The love story that develops between him and Marisa Tomei (who is the most beautiful actress in the world and if she reads this - marry me, please) is better than anything you'll see all year. He rescues her from being raped in a truly frightening scene perfectly staged by director Tony Bill. From there, the film will sweep you away, and you'll say, "Why doesn't this every happen to me, huh?" Though it suffers from becoming overly sentimental in the end, it's one of the finest American romances every filmed.

Lorenzo's Oil

Rated PG-13 for language and scenes too intense for younger viewers
4 stars

This is a gut-wrenching true life story of a couple obsessed with saving the life of their son. Diagnosed with ALD, Lorenzo has possibly two years left to live, and there is no known treatment. His parents, powerfully played by Nick Nolte and Oscar-nominated Susan Sarandon, become self-taught biotechnicians, tearing themselves apart in search of a cure. This film is a dazzler, inspiring and heartbreaking. Many of the scenes of Lorenzo's suffering might possibly disturb the weak at heart. Nick Nolte, working with a thick Italian accent, manages to deliver a heartbreaking performance. Watch the scene where he discovers the symptoms and deadly phases of ALD, and see if his reaction doesn't chill your bones. Susan Sarandon, Oscar's best contender, dazzles as a mother so obsessed with bringing her son back to life that she completely neglects her own.

Falling Down

Rated R for violence and language
3 and 1/2 stars

Michael Douglas is stuck in traffic. Cars are honking. The air conditioner won't work. People are yelling. A fly just keeps buzzing and buzzing, louder and louder. Finally, he snaps, and takes off on a revenge spree against our corrupt America. Watching Douglas in his nerdy outfit (he looks like a math teacher from 1956) pulling an automatic weapon in a fast food joint, complaining about how the burgers in the ads are plump and juicy, but the actual burgers are lumpy and dry, is an experience that makes an average Joe go, "Yeah, you tell'em Mikey!" That's where the movie grabs your attention and rattles your American brains. It constantly tells us what a screwed up country this is, and gives us a joy ride watching him downspiral. It's fun to see the bums, the punks, and the snotty-upper-class getting what's coming to them. Where the films falters though is in its terribly narrow view of life. Really, it's not that bad, folks. Still, the performances are great. Michael Douglas gives his best performance since Wall Street, and Robert Duvall, playing the cop who must bring Douglas down, is perfect as always. The movie is an intense piece of entertainment that tries to make a statement about these modern times. Unfortunately, it tells it the wrong way. Yes, I'll admit, the world is full of racism, corruption, and injustice, but taking a bazooka into Dairy Queen won't solve anything.

Mad Dog and Glory

Rated R for violence, language, and nudity
3 and 1/2 stars

Normally, imagining Bill Murray playing a bad guy would be like trying to imagine Metallica playing on Hee-Haw. Well, break out the heavy metal banjos, because Bill Murray is absolutely menacing as Robert DeNiro's nemesis in Mad Dog and Glory. The romance between Robert DeNiro and Uma Thurman isn't the real focus of the film - it's the relationship between DeNiro and Murray. When they finally duke it out, mano y mano in the street, you'll find yourself rooting out loud.

CB4

Rated R for language and nudity
2 and 1/2 stars

The laughs are scattered throughout CB4, which means you have to suffer through some dull scenes before something really funny can hit you. Chris Rock, of Saturday Night Live, has managed to perfectly parody some of raps biggest stars, but the film fails when it tries to infuse values into a film that sours when it is at its crudest and rauchiest. The message delivered is, don't pretend to be anything you aren't, but a sappy value can't be taught in a film with foul language. That stuff belongs on Leave It To Beaver. In this case, Leave it to #&!@% Beaver!

It's a movie filled with missed opportunities and jokes that aren't developed long enough to be funny. Still, any film to have a cameo appearance by The Butthole Surfers can't be that bad.

Industry leaders warn that radical changes in wool, mohair support program could cost U. S. treasury money

SAN ANGELO, TEXAS - Any radical change in the existing federal price support program for wool and mohair could end up costing the U. S. Treasury money, industry leaders are saying.

"This is a classic case applying simplistic answers to a very complex trade issue," says Mohair Council of American President Jeffrey Sutton.

"The wool and mohair industry has been the subject of political and media sensationalism which ignore the real facts," Sutton continued. "Anyone interested enough to learn those facts will conclude that the program has served this nation and its sheep and goat ranchers well in assuring stable production in the face of subsidized foreign competition."

Sutton warned that without the program, an entire rural industry could be wiped out and the nation would lose one of its profitable exports.

The Clinton administration has left the wool and mohair support intact and, through spokesman

Leon Panetta, has stated that programs left in the budget are efficient, workable and needed.

Robert Pfluger, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, criticized urban lawmakers and the media for seizing on the payments to a handful of large producers.

"Critics of the system fail to point out that the average payment to American wool and mohair producers is only $1,300," he said. "And such payments have been made to mohair producers in only 17 of the past 35 years."

Pfluger points out that payments to farmers are taken out of revenues from tariffs paid by subsidized foreign producers and that the federal treasury realizes a substantial income even after the payments are dedicated. The end of such payments are dedicated. The end of such payments probably would lead to the end of the tariff system, Pfluger argues, thus ending up costing the federal treasury the share of the tariffs that it now receives.

Other points stressed by Pfluger:

- The mohair industry represents more than 15,000 direct jobs, and is virtually the sole economy of tens of thousands of acres of sparsely settled western rangeland.

- More than 90 percent of U. S. - produced mohair goes into the export market and contributes to the nation's balance of payments.

- U. S. mohair producers have received the federal payments in less than half the calendar years of the 35-year program (17 out of 35 years). In other years, they have received no federal payments.

- None of the wool and mohair incentives come out of U. S. taxpayer pockets. They are taken from import tariffs paid by foreign competitors as compensation for the subsidies they receive from their governments.

- Payments to wool and mohair growers traditionally have been less than to growers of other farm commodities such as dairy products, corn, wheat and cotton.

- More than 5,000 Navaho Indians are among the U. S. producers of wool and mohair.

- Since the duty was imposed in 1954, the U. S. Treasury has taken in $7.4 billion and paid out $2.3 billion in incentive payments.

Pfluger said he believes that any full consideration of the facts will lead to the judgement that America's wool and mohair producers have been unfairly portrayed. He also is confident that when armed with the facts, lawmakers will resist any radical change that would destroy a rural industry and turn it over wholly to subsidized foreign competitors.

HONORABLE MENTION- Crystal Clark and Dustin Dillard were recognized at the San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo art exhibit last week. Jordan Cattle Auction

Results of the Special Cow & Heifer Replacement Sale
Saturday • March 13, 1993

A good crowd was on hand which made for a fairly active market on the 3273 head offered. Some replacement cattle were purchased to go to parts in New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma, and Louisiana beside a good demand being local and in North, South, and East Texas. The strongest demand is still on the choice of young pairs, longbred cows and heifers along with a lot in demand on the short bred cows and heifers. The open heifers continued steady compared to our last special depending on size and quality.
