Local artists will show work at Theater

Local artists that will be showing their work during the performance of the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater on Saturday include Jeanne Davenport, Susie Schneider, Lucy Ward and Jo Ann Pape.

Jeanne Davenport enjoys learning about art and the ability of expression that painting affords her. She appreciates the "ordinary" and likes making ordinary subjects the point of interest.

Last September she began studying with local teacher Susie Schneider. Davenport paints under the pseudonym "Daven".

A charter member of the West Texas Art Guild, she serves as program chairperson for the new group.

Sonora art teacher, Susie Schneider, began painting in 1948. She attended the Texas School of Fine Art where she studied sculpture, drawing, oil and watercolor. Schneider attended numerous seminars and workshops and studied for 4 years with well-known acrylic artist, John McClusky of Connecticut.

Schneider's works have been shown in galleries and one person shows. She has been commissioned to paint for private collections and has completed a number of historical works.

Schneider, who paints under the pseudonym of "Sita", has maintained a teaching studio in Sonora for over 20 years. As a charter member of West Texas Art Guild, Schneider currently serves on the Board of Directors.

After studying the original works of the great masters throughout Europe and the United States, Lucy Ward decided to learn their techniques and began painting as a hobby. She likes the color schemes of the impressionists and the techniques of the old Italian and French masters.

She enjoys painting natural peaceful scenes, still life, and an occasional portrait.

She is a charter member of the West Texas Art Guild, and has studied with several well known local and European artists and is now studying with Susie Schneider of Sonora.

Artist Jo Ann Pape began painting 5 years ago, and works in oil, pen and ink, and mixed media. Her original works have been displayed in a number of one woman shows and won numerous awards in various fine art shows. Pape's paintings can be found in private collections throughout the United States and Mexico, including corporate headquarters of El Patio, Restaurants, A. G. Edwards, Inc. of Harlingen, and LaFeria State Bank.

JoAnn will be the feature artist during the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater, Saturday evening.

Pape has studied with Texas artists Billylyn Clark, Ruth McAlpin, and Connecticut artist, Diane Barbee. She has conducted mini-workshops in pen and ink for art leagues in the Rio Grande Valley.

As a faculty member at McNeese State University and Texas Southmost College in Brownsville, Pape taught speech and criminal justice. She is co-author, co-editor of Basic Law Enforcement Training Manual and Jailer Training Manual, both of which are used to train law enforcement officers in the state of Louisiana. Pape is illustrator of the book Hill Country Chronicles, a book written by her husband, John. She is currently working on illustrations for a Katy and Beth Mystery for Nel-Mar Publishing.

Pape, past president of Mid Valley Art League, Weslaco, organized the Western Art Show for the Rio Grande Livestock Association and has served as a judge for numerous shows. She is currently serving as secretary of West Texas Art Guild.

Rex Foster

Noted singer-songwriter Rex Foster is scheduled to appear at Covered Wagon Dinner Theater at the Caverns of Sonora on July 17, 1993.

Foster, who calls, Comfort, Texas home, has long enjoyed a cult following in the Hill Country/San Antonio area and, prior to a self-imposed hiatus from the road that lasted for six years, he toured extensively in Europe and from coast-to-coast in the U. S.

His first album, "Roads of Tomorrow", on the Barclay (RCA) label, was well received in France and western Europe and many of the original cuts remain in his performance repertoire.

However, his current tour has been launched, in part, to unveil several new songs from an (as yet) untitled, independently produced album recorded last fall in Nashville with producer/songwriter Rick Beresford.

During the late 1960s and early '70s, Rex was very much a part of the Austin "progressive" music scene. He shared stages--and remains close to--the likes of Jerry Jeff, Willie, Garry Nunn and Willis Allen Ramsey. His friend Townes Van Zandt calls him a "kindred spirit."

And, like many of his peers, Rex's music reflects the eclecticism of his time; he makes clever and ample use of virtually every style and genre he's been exposed to and the result is a rewarding evening for any audience.

His songwriting style is uniquely personal, yet highly accessible, and if he has a trademark as a performer, it's an innate ability to pull an audience into the mood of the moment.

Aside from being an accomplished musician, Rex's handcrafted bone, horn and claw jewelry adds measurably to his renown, both on Music Row and in posh southwestern galleries. Among a following of national personalities who wear his "power" pieces are Emmy Lou Harris, Roseanne and Johnny Cash and the Bellamy Brothers.

Sonora's fire insurance key rate improves

A recent inspection of Sonora's fire fighting capabilities should result in lower fire insurance rates for many home and business owners. The inspection, conducted last month by the Texas Commission on Fire Protection, thoroughly evaluated all aspects of the city's fire prevention and suppression practices.

As a result of the review, the Commission is recommending to the Texas Department of Insurance that Sonora's key rate be lowered from .31 to .28. A community's fire insurance rates are calculated from the key rate, and a lower key rate classification translates into reduced insurance rates.

"Obviously we are extremely pleased with this improved key rate," commented Sonora City Manager John Pape. "With this inspection, the people of Sonora will not only save money on their fire insurance, but they can feel comfortable in the knowledge that fire protection in this community is second to none."

Pape had high praise for the fire department, noting the tremendous dedication of the firefighters. He cited their many hours of training in addition to handling actual fire calls, and the Sonora Fire Department's outstanding record for saving lives and property.

The Commission on Fire Protection report echoed Pape's praise for the department's record, specifically noting the city's extremely low fire loss record. The inspection report also commended the waterworks system for the installation of additional water mains and fire hydrants. The review also noted that the water system is well-maintained, and has sufficient fire protection capacity for a city of Sonora's size.

Pape named Certified Government Manager

Sonora City Manager John L. Pape has been named as a Certified Government Manager by the International City Management Association (ICMA). Mr. Pape received the professional certification plaque from ICMA Executive Director William H. Hansell, Jr.

To be certified as a Professional Government

Manager, Pape was required to demonstrate continued superior competence in all phases of municipal management. As a candidate for professional certification, Pape was continuously evaluated over an extended period of time by a team of management professionals attached to the ICMA Training Institute in Washington, D. C. Fewer than ten percent of all local government managers ever receive the ICMA Certification in Management.

ICMA Training Institute "We are sure that what you have accomplished through the certification process will benefit not only you, but also the public you serve so well," Blackwell noted.

Reading solves summer boredom

As summer time approaches, parents will be faced with the age old "I'm bored!" statement from their children.

One suggestion is "Why don't you read something?" Although this is a good idea, it is usually not enough to produce results. Parents may have to do a little work to get children to read. The reward for the effort is more than just filling a few empty hours. Summer reading may introduce children to a new way of enjoying life and give a boost to their education. What are some ways parents can encourage their child to read?

Practice what you preach. Let your child see you reading. Children will see by your actions that reading is important. Remember that action speaks louder than words.

An enjoyable introduction to reading is reading aloud. Choose a "good time" to share a book. Extend the text by asking questions about how the story or characters make the child feel.

Establish a family custom of storytelling. Stories may be borrowed from any book the child has read. Storytelling allows the use of language and imagination.

Take a family trip to the supermarket for purchasing magazines of their choice. These could be used as rewards for some house or yard work. By making the trip a family outing, children are encouraged to browse the variety of magazines and may become interested in new and different topics.

Another family trip could be to the local library. Going together to get library cards and becoming familiar with the library encourages children to model their parent's behavior.

Make sure children have a special place in their bedroom for library and personal books. This gives added value to those "special books." It also helps keep track of those library books.

If the child is asking to stay up later at bedtime, be positive and say "Sue, you can stay up for awhile... if you read."

It is important that the bedroom or reading area has adequate lighting for reading. A 100 watt bulb is the most common recommendation.

Use children's questions and natural curiosity to encourage reading. Rather than answering questions like "what is a turbo charger," try to find the answer in print and let the child read the description.

Use television series or mini-series based on books as a spring board for reading. If the child enjoyed the show, suggest getting the book or one on the same subject.

If the family is planning a vacation, get pamphlets and tourist information about the location. Put the child in charge of being the tour guide. From reading the brochures, the child can tell the family about the vacation interest points.

Most of all, remember, summer reading is an adventure and escape the boredom. Share the adventure with your children.

Used oil collection program

submitted by Sutton County Underground Water District

The water district submitted a grant proposal application to the Texas Water Commission on July 9. The grant funds, if awarded, will enable the water district to provide the residents of Sutton county with a lawful means of disposal of their used motor oil.

The determined need for a used oil collection program is the preservation of our underground water, as well as the environmental damage to our land. The demand for a used oil collection program is magnified by the vast area to be served, the activities which occur over the area, and the complexity of agriculture.

Freelance Philosophy

by G.C. "Country" Smith

Several folks told me how much they liked the true insurance reports that I reprinted last week that I decided to share a few more with you.

I collided with a stationary streetcar coming in the opposite direction.

I misjudged a lady crossing the street.

The other car collided with mine without giving warning of its intentions.

My car was stolen, and I sent up a hue and cry but it has not been received.

I heard a horn blow and was struck in the back - a lady was evidently trying to pass me.

I thought my window was down, but found it was up when I put my hand through it.

I was on my way to the doctor's with rear end trouble when my universal joint gave way, causing me to have an accident.

The truck backed through my windshield into my wife's face.

A pedestrian hit me and went under my car.

The guy was all over the road. I had to swerve a number of times before I hit him.

If the other driver had stopped a few yards behind himself, the accident would not have happened.

I had been shopping for plants all day, and was on my way home. AS I reached an intersection, hedge sprang up, obscuring my vision.

I did not see the other car. I had been driving my car for forty years when I fell asleep and had an accident.

Until the next time,
May God Bless,

SHS football workouts to begin August 4

The 1993 Sonora Bronco football season is fast approaching. Fall workouts will begin August 4, 1993 for all high school football players. Junior high workouts will begin the first day of school, August 18, 1993.

High school players are asked to report to the fieldhouse at the following times to pick up equipment and then have a morning workout: Seniors, 8 a. m.; Juniors, 8:15 a. m.; Sophomores, 8:30 a. m.; and Freshmen, 8:45 a. m.

All high school players should have received a letter with some paperwork that should be filled out and turned in on August 4, 1993. If you plan on playing this year and did not get a letter, please contact Coach Bellard at the fieldhouse or at home.

All athletes that will be entering the 7th and 9th grades must take a physical in order to participate. Sonora ISD will pay for physicals for all athletes entering the 9th year.

Simply make an appointment with Dr. Rogers or Dr. Pajestka and tell them you are a 9th grade athlete. All seventh grade athletes are required to pay for their own physical. Physical forms may be obtained from either doctor or from Coach Bellard. It is important that you make your appointment soon so everyone can have opportunity to get in. It is important that all athletes prepare themselves for fall workouts. Athletes should get on a consistent running program that gradually increases in intensity up until fall workouts. The weight room will be open from 5:00 -7:30 Monday-Friday to the general public. There are quite a few people using the weight room now. It would be great to see more.

Taking it easy -- the safe way

Mrs. Mark Wootton

Best man was David Heath, friend of the groom, from San Angelo, Texas.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Sonora High School and is attending Angelo State University. He is employed by United Parcel Service.

The couple will reside in San Angelo.

Summertime is when the livin' is easy -- or so said a famous American composer. But when you take it easy with family and friends, it's wise to take precautions, too. If you don't, a Texas summer can leave you itching, burning or worse.

Here are some hazards to watch for, with tips from Texas Safety Association:

Food poisoning: A picnic is a great way to relax. But remember that food can spoil quickly on a hot day. Cold air flows downward, so put the most perishable items at the bottom of your cooler, with ice or gel packs on top. Frozen juice boxes can double duty as "ice blocks" to keep other foods chilled. Serve cold items at 40 degrees or less, and return them to the refrigerator or cooler as soon as possible after the meal.

If you're barbecuing, be sure your meats are thoroughly cooked. Don't put cooked meat on the same plate you used to carry the raw meat to the grill!

Bees and Wasps: A sting can ruin anyone's afternoon. For people with severe allergies, it can be life-threatening. Picnic away from garbage cans and fallen fruit, which can attract these insects.

Avoid perfume and heavily scented soap. If someone does get stung, an ice pack will reduce the swelling, and baking soda paste can relieve the pain. If the victim is known to be allergic, don't wait for a reaction -- get the person to a hospital right away!

Bites and Rashes: Lyme disease, transmitted by ticks, is a growing threat in eastern Texas. Bites from mosquitoes, chiggers, and fire ants are less serious, but they can make you miserable. Repellants will discourage some of these creatures, but it's best to wear protective clothing in places where they're known to be a problem. The same goes for poison oak and ivy. After being outdoors, wash your clothes and inspect your body for ticks. Remove them with tweezers, tugging gently but firmly until the tick lets go. The sooner you get it off, the less likely it is to transmit Lyme disease.

Water: Swimming and boating will help you beat the heat, but caution is in order. Make sure there's a life jacket for each person on your boat, and have children under 12 wear them at all times. Never leave small children unattended in swimming areas, and remember that alcohol and water don't mix.

Weather: Thunderstorms come up quickly in summer. If lightning starts while you are swimming or boating, get off the water immediately. Seek shelter away from trees, metal fencing, golf courses and other large open areas. If you're far from home, a closed metal vehicle may be the safest place. Its frame will deflect lightning charges to the ground.

When skies are fair, don't over do it. Texas heat is no laughing matter. Drink plenty of water and save strenuous activities for early morning or late evening.

Sunburn: Too much sun can cause short-term discomfort, premature aging, or even skin cancer. Children are especially vulnerable. When working or playing outdoors, wear a sunscreen with a protection factor of at least 15. Reapply after swimming. Use hats, long pants and long-sleeved shirts to block the rays.

Texas Safety Association is a statewide, not-for-profit educational association whose members work to promote safety in the workplace, at home, and in the community.

Kids should be taught natural gas safety

School's out for the summer, and kids can forget about studying for a few months. But they shouldn't forget to do their homework on natural gas safety.

During summer vacation many latch-key kids and others are responsible for looking after their own welfare. That's why Lone Star Gas Company believes it's important for school-age children to know what to do when they smell gas in their home or community.

"If children smell gas, there are certain things they absolutely have to know," said Howard Matson, director of communications at Lone Star Gas Company. "A few simple tips can make a big difference in ensuring safety and saving lives."

According to Lone Star Gas: *When gas is first noticed, do not strike a match or do anything that may cause a spark, and do not turn anything on or off that uses electricity.

*Since telephones use small amounts of electricity, do not use your own phone to call Lone Star Gas Company.

*Evacuate the house as quickly as possible, leaving doors and windows as they are, and go to the nearest telephone to make the call.

*Do not go back to your house until you have been told it's safe to return.

Also, Matson said the summer's higher temperatures may call for extra attention to flammability and fire hazards. Lone Star Gas recommends the following general safety tips to decrease the potential of fires:

*Never store or use gasoline or any flammable liquids (such as paint, paint thinner, cleaning fluids, etc.) in the same room with any gas appliance.

*Never store rags, paper or other combustibles near any appliance with a pilot light or open flame.

The Texas Supreme Court has brought an end to the legal wars waged between Enserch/Lone Star corporations and the Martha Mier family, local ranchers. In a June decision the Supreme Court of Texas denied the corporations' petition of a writ of error and refused to order a new hearing; thus ending the 3-1/2 year old civil suit. In an earlier decision, the Texas Supreme Court refused to hear the case. With this denial for a re-hearing, Lone Star Gas and Enserch Exploration, both under the corporate umbrella of Enserch, Inc. have exhausted all appeals.

This finished a long fought legal battle and upholds the decisions of the Sutton County jury, that heard the case in June of 1991 and of Judge Brock Jones of the 112th District Court.

The judgement awarded damages of $2.6 million plus interest to a Sutton County ranching family (Martha Miers, Jodie Finklea, Bill Finklea, Larry Finklea, and Marsha Finklea Cardwell).

The disposition of the case of Judge Jones affirmed the decision of the Sutton County Jury that found the corporations guilty of negligence (taking gas without paying for it) and of conversion (knowingly appropriating gas without the owner's permission). Only actual damages were assessed by the jury. The jury did not award any punitive damages.

The gas was taken by a bypass line and valve that had been in place on the Miers' leases in Edwards County. When the valve was open, estimates showed that approximately 40% of the gas from one of the leases went directly into the Lone Star pipes without passing the pay meter.

For almost seven weeks during June and part of July of 1991, Sonora was filled with attorneys, court officials, expert witnesses, and two appearances of David Biegler, the Chief Executive Officer of Lone Star Gas. Biegler is now the chief Operating Officer of Enserch, a giant conglomerate in the energy industry. At the time that the "by-pass" was installed, Biegler was the head of the engineering department of Lone Star Gas. Many citizens of Sonora stopped to watch every morning and afternoon as the "suits" paraded up Main Street. One local citizen commented, "This case has got to be big with this many 'suits' in town. Business at local restaurants and motels increased with all of the legal activity."

The case began when Noel Pautsky, the majority owner of Oakridge Energy began an investigation resulting from a "take or pay" dispute with Lone Star.

According to a witness for the Miers' family, "the numbers just didn't add up." Wallace family (George, Pautsky investigated and found the "by-pass" line that triggered the Sutton County civil suit.

Oakridge Energy sued in Wichita Falls, and Lone Star/Enserch settled for approximately $20 million and returned ownership of the field to Oakridge. With a jury in place in Wichita Falls in 1990, Lone Star agreed to the settlement just hours before the trial began.

In another suit, filed in Edward's County, concerning the same filed, the corporations settled for an undisclosed amount after the plaintiff's case had been presented. The Edward's County suit between the Martha and Jeri) and the Enserch/Lone Star corporations dealt with different issues, but maintained that the corporations had been guilty of gross mismanagement of the field.

In an interview with a Miers' family member, Larry Finklea, the following comment was made concerning the long ordeal of proving the theft of gas from their property: "When you face a giant like Enserch and Lone Star Gas, you wonder if justice will ever be done. We now feel a little like David plaintiff's case had been presented. The Edward's County suit between the

4-H Newsletter

The time is upon us to complete 4-H records for 1993. In order for records to be eligible to compete at the district level you must have them completed and in the local extension office by 5:00 p. m. on Friday, July 16, 1993. Records must be up to date and entered in an awards program area in which you are currently enrolled.

Overall awards program records will be accepted until Friday, August 13 at 5:00 p. m. for eligibility to receive a year pin at the Awards Banquet. The awards application form must be returned to the office by 5:00 p. m. on August 13th. While an overall record is not an absolute requirement to receive a county medal, it is highly encouraged. This deadline also applies to all special awards (Gold Star, Home Economics, Earwood and Glasscock.)

It is also time to have all spring born ewe lambs on feed for the show which will take place in October. These lambs will not be shorn at all until they are shorn at the show.

All Angora goats which will be exhibited in the 1993-94 year must be shorn on or after August 1, 1993. Goats can not be shorn any earlier and should be shorn slick over the entire body, legs and a normal tail. We will be checking on all projects as soon as possible near the August 1st deadline. Now is the time to begin thinking about swine projects. We will circulate a form in the August newsletter for you to complete if you plan to show pigs in January. There will only be one division in the show this year and you must get pigs in the draw to be eligible to compete in the county show.

4-H members are now purchasing market lambs to be shown this summer, fall and at major shows in January -March. If you plan to show lambs and need assistance with this project please contact the county extension office as soon as possible.

We will begin our 4-H Foods Project in August. Workshops this year will include a program sponsored by our local Pizza Hut and a tamale workshop. If anyone is interested in signing up for this project or if you know of a parent or friend who would be interested in being an adult or Jr. Leader, please contact the Extension Office.

On June 23-25 three local 4-Her's attended Leadership Lab in Brownwood. Bobby Joe Mogford, Wade Spain, and John Jones represented Sutton County. Activities included structured workshops such as self defense, a dance workshop, How to be a good leader and recreation, such as swimming, canoeing, basketball, horseshoes and nightly dances. Council Delegates were also elected and district bylaws amended.

Jamie Baskin, an attorney for the Miers' family, has made repeated visits to Sonora to hunt and visit friends since he tried the case here. He feels at home here and returns now for pleasure rather than battles in the courtroom. In an interview following the announcement of the Texas

Supreme Court Decision, Baskin said that his time in Sonora was an enjoyable experience. When asked if the corporations had any other avenue of appeal, he said, "All appeals are over unless God wants to hear the case. They have exhausted every possibility."

Those who attended the trial, served as jurors, or just followed the case in the papers and in local gossip will now know that the Sutton County jury and Judge Brock Jones have been affirmed at every level of appeal.

NATURAL GAS SAFETY

*Use a gas appliance only for its intended purpose. An oven, for example, should not be used to dry wet rags.

"You can enjoy the benefits of natural gas without having to worry about its dangers when you follow the safety guidelines," Matson said.

"Any energy source can be harmful, but if used correctly, natural gas is a safe, cost efficient and environmentally compatible energy choice."

Formed in 1909 as a gas transmission company, Lone Star Gas Company is one of the pioneers of America's natural gas industry. Today, Lone Star Gas Company ranks among the five largest transmission/distribution companies in the United States, serving 550 cities and towns in North Central Texas.

Ask the Historical Society

by the Sutton County Historical Society

I had a little poem called "Sonora" by Don Dunkin, that was published in The Devil's River News in the early fifties and lost it. Could you please print it again?

We found the poem you requested in The Devil's River News of February 8, 1952.

SONORA

by Don Dunkin

I don't feel so young today,
For, as I traveled on my way
I passed the "land of the Angora"
A West Texas town named Sonora.

I looked 'way back to '21
When my life had just begun,
For I was then a tot of four,
(Or maybe just a little more.)

We lived between the school and town
Near a foot bridge, now torn down.
To remember more I have to delve,
Because we moved when I was twelve.

Though I can't remember much,
I can recall a sheriff named "Hutch";
The school was run by Mr. Britt
Who gave the pranksters quite a fit.

Then I recall some other folks
Like Johnny Hamby and Buzzy Stokes;
And Mr. Lowrey, the County Official
Who, on every document put his initial.

Mrs. McDonald, who ran the hotel
Had a daughter named Estelle,
The theater man, I nearly forgot,
Was King Victor Emanuel Scott.

The driver of the bus to Angelo
Had a daughter named Martha Jo,
She was my first sweetie, so you see
I can easily remember his name—J. B. Lee.

Other people about whom I could tell
Were named Halbert, Sawyer, and Aldwell;
And there were the Trainers who ran the store,
And the Gilmore's and Hightowers, to name two more.

Recalling schoolmates, that's an easier story,
Three were Herbert Fields, V. J. Glasscock and Sarah Ory;
And two other girls who looked quite sharp
Were Nina Roueche and Ches Thorp.

A trip to Angelo in a Model T
Always meant flats—at least two or three;
And you found bumper gates by the score
If you went a hundred miles or more.

Around the Ford Garage we'd take a spin
To Allison and Wardlaw's Dew Drop Inn;
And if a car you wanted to buy,

You'd first try Eaton's Hill in high.

I worked part time at the Devil's River News Meltin' metal, foldin' papers or whatever the boss would choose,

And I couldn't had more fun with a million shekels
Than I had on the ranch of the Ben F. Meckels.

In some respects the town's changed a lot,
But in other ways it has not.

It's plain to see that the folks don't waver,
For the town's still got that western flavor.

I've always had a yen to return to the west,
For I'm sure as shootin' that the livin' there is the best!

People shake your hand and say, "How're things today?"
Shore makes a feller want to go back there to stay.

Local couple participates in golf tourney

Jack and Lauri Smith participated in the Brady Couples Golf Tournament held on Saturday and Sunday, July 10 and 11, 1993. They tied for first in the first flight with scores of 72 and 65 for a total of 137 for the two-day tournament. They placed second after losing the scorecard playoff, but represented Sonora well. Congratulations, Jack and Lauri.

In The Line of Fire

Rated R for language and violence

Four and a Half Stars

The story is not original. An aging Secret Service agent, still haunted by that fact that JFK was killed under his protection, becomes involved in a cat and mouse game with a clever assassin who plans on killing the current president. What makes In the Line of Fire such absolutely fantastic entertainment is the perfect performances of Clint Eastwood and John Malkovich as agent and assassin. Eastwood has played tough guy characters for decades, but never has he played a character both so tough, but yet so charming and vulnerable. You see a little boy side come out of Clint in many scenes, and it's the funniest thing you'll see all year. This is easily Clint Eastwood's best film performance ever. Yet, this film would not exist without the genius performance of John Malkovich. He plays his role with such gusto, such as his character would say, panache, that he seems to leap from the screen. His psychotic character is truly menacing, yet he is charming, and his voice makes you uncomfortable - you can practically feel him slithering on your neck. The love story between Eastwood and Rene Russo manages to elude the typical Hollywood dull sex scene. What they have together is more charming than that. With the old fashioned hard-to-get flirting, the sparks fly. In the Line of Fire has everything to make a perfect movie: perfect performances, a good love story, tense, nailbiting action, and even a great musical score. The ending didn't satisfy me as much as it did the audience, but it still works. All in all, In the Line of Fire is easily the best film of the summer.

Menace II Society

Rated R for raw language, drug use, and graphic violence.

Four Stars

To be honest, I had a lot of trouble sitting through the first ten minutes of Menace II Society. The opening scene, depicting a convenience store robbery, is filled with enough tension to endanger those with heart problems. From there, the film never lets up. This is a dark view of the madness that is tearing up the inner city. Set in the Watts district of L. A., this feature tells the story of urban crime through the eyes of Caine, the perfect anti-hero, and his crew of homeboys as they engage in a variety of felonies. What could have been another Boys In The Hood winds up having a stronger aftertaste. Menace II Society not only graphically shows us the crime that makes us fear the wrong sides of the big city, but it makes us understand how such violence exists. It's imbedded in our language, and in the souls of the lost. Menace II Society is surprising religious, showing the emptiness that fills lives that have no real meaning. This film is a powerhouse. It's not for the weak at heart.

Dennis the Menace

Rated PG for cartoon violence

2 Stars

John Hughes used to be such a great film maker. Remember Sixteen Candles? Trains Planes and Automobiles? Those were the good ol' days. Then Hughes made Home Alone, a very cute film that everyone enjoyed. Then he did Home Alone 2, very cute, but basically the same movie. Now from the Hughes factory comes Dennis the Menace, which can be easily called Home Alone 3.

For a long time, the movie is cute. Dennis, played by Mason Gamble, is a likable little guy. Gamble doesn't have Macaulay Culkin's charisma, but he does have that Culkin arrogance that made Home Alone 2 less enjoyable. Walter Matthau is fantastic as Mr. Wilson. He makes the man into a likable old codger, and he makes you laugh more at his miseries.

Then things really go downhill. In the last thirty minutes, Dennis battles an evil homeless man, played like Charles Manson with worse teeth, by Christopher Lloyd. Unlike the cute violence of Home Alone, this violence is just plain sick. Watching a cute little blond tyke setting a grown man on fire just isn't as funny as it used to be. Dennis the Menace has loads of charm, but Hughes has just lost sight of what is funny. If you're the kind who'd like to be killed by his own offspring, Dennis the Menace is for you.

The Last Action Hero

Rated PG-13 for violence and language

Three and 1/2 stars

It's a real shame that this film is being crushed under the big dinosaur foot of Jurassic Park, because it's just plain hilarious. The Last Action Hero is a clever, though often misguided parody of every element of the typical action film. It's problem lies in it's attempt to have a heart. A young movie fanatic is magically transported into a Schwarzenegger film in which he becomes the partner of Arnold's character, a tough guy named Jack Slater. Inside of the movie within a movie, The Last Action Hero is jam packed with laughs. Even a character known as "The Fart" made me laugh. Unfortunately, when Slater and the boy leave the screen and come into real life, the film becomes dull, despite a hilarious turn by Charles Dance as the British Bad Guy (Yep, another British Bad Guy. I keep fearing that the cast of Masterpiece Theater is going to rob Fort Knox any day now.) Until it's clunker ending, The Last Action Hero is a blast. If you're going to see it, hurry quickly, because it's flopping fast.

Local couples play in Ozona tournament

Several golfers from Sonora played in the Ozona Two Couple Golf Tournament held on Saturday and Sunday, July 10 and 11.

Mike and Juanita McBride and Steve and Frances Tackel teamed together in the Championship Flight with scores of 58 and 63 for a total of 121 but were up against some pretty tough competition and were not able to place.

Joe Bob and Paige Ragsdale of Sonora and Mark and Karen Self from Rankin placed first in the second flight with scores of 63 and 64 for a total of 127 for the two days.

Jerry Northcott, Mary Lou Hudman and Savell and Shelly Shannon placed second with scores of 66 and 64 for a total of 130.

Michael and Michelle Krieg and Steve and Michelle Anderson also played in the second flight, but had some bad luck and were unable to place. Congratulations, Sonora golfers!

USED OIL COLLECTION PROGRAM from pg. 2

our county want to recycle, however, most recycling is not available. The used oil collection program will give our district a chance to participate in a recycling program.

When, and if, we are awarded the funds for our project, there will be a public education program available. We want everyone to learn the details and become involved in the used oil collection program.
