Campbell Named 1995 Firefighter of the Year

Pat Campbell was presented the Firefighter of the Year Award at the association's annual Christmas party December 16, 1995.

School twice. He is also an EMT instructor and examiner for Sutton County's EMS organization.

When asked why he became a firefighter, Pat modestly said he enjoys helping people. "It's a way of life in my family." Pat is married to "Butch". They own The Video Store in Sonora.

DRN Moves To Previous Location of 40 Years

Editor's note: As of January 2nd, The Devil's River News office was relocated to the old location at 228 E Main. During the move, we came across the 75th anniversary commemorative issue of the DRN dated Thursday, August 19, 1965. It contains a picture of the first Devil's River News building, which was located at the present site of Westerman Drug. In the summer of 1955, the office was moved to Main Street, next door to the Mercantile Building.

The following column headlined "Devil Has Recorded News for 75 Years" is reprinted in part from this issue.

The Devil's River News came into existence in 1890 and has been in operation ever since. It is the oldest continuously operated business in Sutton County.

On October 18, 1890, Mike Murphy established the News and remained its editor until his death in 1922, when his brother Steve Murphy took over the ownership.

Steve remained the "Devil's" editor until his death in 1925, and he is said to be the most colorful of the paper's editors. Louie Trainer ... remembers working for the Devil in the middle 1920's. Actually, he says, almost every boy in town worked for the paper at one time or another, because the pay for setting type was a nickel a "stick".

The typesetter had to reach into the proper compartment in a large drawer for each letter, pick it up by hand, and put it in place in what was called a stick. This was such meticulous work that most boys worked only long enough to earn one nickel. But Trainer says he worked at the job regularly, and two others he remembers as being "printer's devils" were Joe Hull and John McClelland.

The press in those days was a George Washington hand press, and the more mature boys got the job of operating the ink roller and press puller. Trainer says he thinks they received 75 cents each for running three or four hundred papers - a job that required about three or four hours work. The boy who folded all the newspapers received a dime.

Lady Broncos Place Second

submitted

The Lady Broncos traveled to Reagan County on Wednesday, December 27, to attend the annual Reagan County Tournament. The ladies have struggled with inconsistency since the beginning of the season, possessing a losing record. The team finally showed their potential just in time for district play. The team made it to the championship game playing against a very tough Greenwood team.

The games leading to the finals were wins against two 4A schools from Fort Worth. The first game was against Trimble Tech. The Broncos trounced this team 53-36. The high point for the game was junior Kelly Harrelson with 16 points, and for Trimble Tech, Demarlyn Watkins with 13 points.

The second game, against North Side, proved slightly more difficult than the first. The North Side team showed much more speed and agility than the Lady Broncos were familiar with. It was a close game but the ladies showed their toughness and pulled the win away from North Side. The final score was Broncos-62, North Side 57. The high point for Sonora was sophomore Camille Marshall with 17 points and Pekesha Tubbs for North Side with 24.

In the championship finale, the Lady Broncos faced the only team standing in their way of getting the first place trophy, District 8-3A opponent, the Greenwood Rangerettes. In the first half, the ladies played their best this season and held right with the Rangerettes. As the game came to a close, the Broncos were down by ten. They fought but couldn't seem to close the margin. The final score was 56-45 in favor of Greenwood. High point for Greenwood was Hinkle with 33 points and for Sonora, Harrelson with 18 points.

The Lady Broncos had two players named to the All Tournament team, Camille Marshall and Kelly Harrelson. As district play begins, keep your eyes open and come support your Lady Broncos. The next home game is Friday, January 5, against Colorado City.

If you are wanting to remember a loved one--either living or gone--the Rena M. Elliott Music Scholarship Fund would be appreciative and grateful to receive your memorial donation. Only by this means can we continue to give a music scholarship to an interested and worthy Senior graduate each year.

Thank you,

Wash, dry and save the foam meat trays, they are perfect to feed your dog or cat. The foam boxes that some hamburgers come in work well also. Cut them in half and throw away after you use them.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

The Washington hand press that was used in the business was first used to publish early editions of the San Angelo Standard. It was used for many years in San Angelo by J.G. Murphy and W.A. Guthrie, founders of the Standard. In 1900, Murphy's brother, Steve and Mike, brought the press here where it was used to print the Devil's River News.

When the News bought a drum press about 1920, the press was stored. Later Sonora Wool and Mohair Co. used the press to print wool sacks.

Ask The Historical Society

by Jo-Ann E. Palmer, Secretary Sutton County Historical Society

Q. Do you have any information on the family that the hospital and nursing home are named after?

A. The Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital was the culmination of a desire of James Royal "Roy" Hudspeth. In the fall of 1947, he proposed that he would donate a sum of money to the establishment of a hospital, as a memorial to his deceased wife, Mrs. Lillian M. Hudspeth, provided the citizens of Sutton County would donate a like amount. When Mr. Hudspeth passed away in 1948, he left a large portion of his estate to the hospital. A contract was let in January 1950, and the hospital was completed and opened for operation on July 1, 1951.

The Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital Board of Directors started preliminary plans to build a 39 bed nursing home in October of 1968. In February of 1970 ground breaking was held, and the home was completed in September 1970.

James Royal Hudspeth was born October 25, 1875, in Monticello, Arkansas, and came to Texas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.S. Hudspeth, locating in Bandera County where the family ranched.

In 1888, the family moved to Crockett County where the livestock grazed on the open range. When the county was organized, H.S. Hudspeth was one of the leaders and became county clerk, serving for many years. When the senior Hudspeth retired from office in 1898, Roy Hudspeth was named clerk and served in that capacity for 10 years.

Previously he had worked as a ranch hand for C.C. Hammond, taking this job at the age of 15. He was employed there two years. He also did general ranch work for his uncle, J.B. Hudspeth, on the Swift & Hudspeth Ranch for three years before leaving there to take the county clerk's position. During four of the ten years he was county clerk, Hudspeth also ranched.

After leaving the clerk's office, Hudspeth moved to Sutton County where he purchased a small ranch. He kept adding to this place located 24 miles southwest of Sonora.

He soon became interested in the banking business and invested in the Del Rio National Bank at Del Rio, one of the strongest financial institutions along the border.

Always interested in the ranching industry, Mr. Hudspeth was instrumental in the organization of the Producer's Wool & Mohair Co. at Del Rio and served as president of the concern for several years.

Mr. Hudspeth was a director of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association and served in 1936-37 as the 10th president of the growers.

He was also one of the organizers of the old Texas Wool & Mohair Co. which was sold in the late 1930's to the Wool Growers' Central Storage Co. in San Angelo.

Mr. Hudspeth stood guard over the Guaranty State Bank on Saturday, October 3, 1931, the day the old San Angelo National Bank failed to open. He called the late Col. C. C. Walsh, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, and secured $200,000.00 in cash, which was flown to San Angelo in an airplane, an unusual procedure in those days.

Panicky depositors and the curious jammed San Angelo's banks that day withdrawing their money. Mr. Hudspeth stood in the lobby of the Guaranty Bank with other directors and in his booming voice told everyone that the bank had the cash to pay every depositor. It was a test for all banks, but a critical one for the Guaranty as it was the youngest and smallest of the city's banks. His assurance had not a little to do with the bank's ability to meet the storm.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, Mr. Hudspeth, Vic Peirce, a Guaranty director, John Y. Rust, a director of the San Angelo Nation, and Houston Harte met in Mr. Rust's office in the San Angelo Telephone Co. There an agreement was reached that San Angelo National Bank depositors would be encouraged to open accounts provided the directors of the Guaranty Bank would agree that after the San Angelo National had been reorganized, the Guaranty would consolidate with the San Angelo National. The meeting to reorganize the San Angelo National had been called for 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Green Room of the St. Angelus Hotel. The reorganization machinery started which resulted in its reopening for business on January 4, 1932. The Guaranty was consolidated with the San Angelo National about six months later. Mr. Hudspeth became an active vice-president and director and continued in that capacity until his death.

James Royal Hudspeth married Lillian Maddox in Sonora on May 15, 1912. She was a native Texan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox. Lillian M. Hudspeth died on May 21, 1946, in Dallas and was buried in Sonora Cemetery.

The Hudspeths maintained two homes, one in Del Rio and the other in Sonora until they moved to San Angelo in the late 1920's when the Hilton Hotel, now the Cactus, was opened.

Mr. Hudspeth was a member of the Ozona Blue Lodge, A.F. & A.M. He was also a member of the Royal Arch chapter there and a Knight Templar of the San Angelo Commandery.

Mr. Hudspeth's advanced schooling amounted to about eight months in a business college in San Antonio, but for years he was interested in facilities in West Texas particularly in Crockett, Sutton, and Val Verde counties. He contributed freely to improvement of school facilities.

Mr. Hudspeth owned and operated ranches in Brewster. The Brewster County ranch was sold a few months before his death for a reported cash price of $250,000. He worked hard all his life to improve his stock and firmly believed in Rambouillet sheep and whiteface cattle as they nearly always brought him good returns.

About four years before his death, he finally realized one of his life ambitions--to sell a cow and calf for $100. He sold the cows for $62.50 with their calves at 11 cents per pound and got $105.90 per pair, a very good price in 1947.

James Royal Hudspeth was a man who managed, even through some pretty turbulent times through good business sense and hard work, to amass a large amount of property and investments. Mr. Hudspeth never forgot his friends and neighbors and was a true philanthropist. He died on April 12, 1948, in San Angelo from a heart ailment. He was buried beside his wife, Lillian, in the Sonora Cemetery.

For the person who wanted to know if the Hudspeth Hospital was named after Dr. Leonidas and Dr. Kate Hudspeth of Bandera, the answer is no. The hospital was named after Lillian M. Hudspeth, one of the founders of the Collegii Texani et Nosocomii at Galveston, who at one time served for several years in the professor's chair in that institution. Also at one time, the City Hospital in Houston was owned by a relative of James Royal Hudspeth. It was interesting to note that Dr. Leonidas Hudspeth studied at Tulane University in New Orleans, graduated from there, but also held degrees from Galveston Medical College, the Collegii Medici es Mosonii and Bellvue Medical College in New York. It was found that when Dr. Leonidas Hudspeth died in 1884 his wife, Dr. Katherine Chambliss Hudspeth, successfully continued his practice for many years when women doctors were not well accepted by the general populace.

If you have any questions concerning Sutton County History, send them to "Ask the Historical Society," P.O. Box 885, Sonora, TX 76950-0885, drop them off at the Devil's River News, or give us a call at 915-387-5144 or 387-2855 after noon please.

Wentworth Files For Re-election

submitted State Senator Jeff Wentworth, R-San Antonio, filed for re-election at State Republican headquarters late Friday, December 29, citing favorable ratings of his voting record by numerous conservative groups.

Wentworth, who is completing his second two-year term in the Texas Senate, is now running for a regular, four-year term as provided for in the Texas Constitution.

"After the privilege of serving five years in the Texas House of Representatives," Wentworth said, "it has been a genuine honor to continue my legislative service in the Texas Senate where I have conscientiously maintained my practice of voting on issues the same way I believe the majority of the people I represent would have voted, had they been sitting in my chair in committee or on the floor of the Texas Senate."

Wentworth's conservative voting record is reflected in the ratings published by several organizations of each member of the Texas Legislature.

*Texas Farm Bureau gave Senator Jeff Wentworth an 88% rating for the 1995 session.

*The Texas State Rifle Association gave Wentworth the grade of "A" for his 1995 voting record.

*BACPAC, the political action committee for the Texas

Association of Business and Chambers of Commerce, voted to endorse Wentworth for re-election to the Texas Senate in 1996 based on his "proven record of working with business."

*Young Conservatives of Texas gave Wentworth an 87% rating for the 1995 legislative session.

Throughout the 1995 regular session, Senator Wentworth maintained both a 99% attendance record and a 99% voting record according to official records maintained by the Secretary of the Senate, who called Wentworth's record "unique and significant."

Citing the passage of nearly 40 bills this year under his sponsorship, some with far-reaching, statewide impact and others which addressed more local concerns of his constituents, Wentworth pledged to continue his practice of emphasizing his role as a "servant and representative of the people," rather than as an "elected official."

Wentworth gives substantial credit to the leadership of Governor George W. Bush, Lt. Governor Bob Bullock, and Speaker Pete Laney for the bipartisan approach to solving Texas problems with Texas solutions that resulted in the most productive session of the Legislature that most anybody can remember.

Loving Memories

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved as well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore.
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

We will meet you in heaven;
we love and miss you.

Valliant Effort

by Martha Valliant McLain

The year ends in Sonora, and I wonder why it seemed to go by so quickly. It was a complicated year for us rushing from one thing to another. Dean and I each did a play in San Antonio, and he had two major surgeries. When you add a trip to San Francisco to a daughter's graduation, it is easy to see how last year rushed by with little time for reflection. My new year's resolution is to slow down a bit in '96, and I hope that I manage to accomplish it.

Holiday parties this year included a tea for Sarah Layton Howie and her mother, Kathryn Parker Howie. Carol Parker had a beautiful holiday buffet with cranberry punch, hot wassail, finger sandwiches, a fresh fruit tray, empanadas, date pinwheels, pecan tassies, gingerbread men, and roasted seasoned pecans. It was a wonderful feast, but the real treat was to see Sarah, who will be a year old in February. Among the guests were Grace Wallace, and her mother Lisa (Mrs. Drew Wallace). Grace has just had her first birthday.

The Senior Center was the scene of a gumbo party Thursday with the Meior Que Nada boys playing and singing. The event was a benefit to raise money for Steve and Barbara Stroud. Steve is facing serious medical expenses without insurance. The event raised over $800 for his medical expenses. Buddy Rupe is a hunter, who spends time in Sonora organizing a hunting lease for hunters from Louisiana. He has become a wonderful part of our community. He volunteered to furnish the Cajun gumbo for the meal. He enlisted the help of his wife, Suzanne, their children and friends for the project. He has been coming to Sonora for the last three years. Music was furnished by the Better Than Nothing Band. Those playing were Milton Cavaness, John Henry and Patti Stroud, Oscar Galindo, Bill Savell, and Lee Roy Valliant. Guest vocalist was Melinda Valliant McLain, who sang and played guitar, and a young man from Lafayette, Louisiana, who played the spoons with the band. A.W. Bishop was receiving instruction from the young Cajun on spoon playing, so we may be seeing A.W. playing spoons at a later date. Robert and Walita Kelley were dancing at times, and Kelley was teaching his 13 year old granddaughter a few steps. Her brother, age 11, was not interested in the dancing. The children and grandchildren of Lucy Kelley, were here for a holiday visit. Tom and Cheryl West were also at the gumbo feast. Tom is the brother of Beverly Valliant. J.C. Surber, who usually plays with the group, was skiing with his grandchildren.

Barbara Savell was an enthusiastic listener at the party. Barbara's sister, Carolyn Yeary, and family were visitors with the Savells during the holiday. The Savell sons, Chip and Scott, and their families were at the ranch with their parents for a Christmas visit. Cody and family celebrated Thanksgiving at the ranch, but spent Christmas with Valerie's mother, who has been ill. The three Savell boys, wives, and children met on the 28th in Arlington for a Christmas celebration that included dinner and an evening at Six Flags.

Maydell Moore had family visiting during the holiday. Herman Moore Jr., Candy and Rachel from Pasadena were here during the holidays. Larry Bob Moore, Jan, and John Carter from LaVernia were also visiting.

Visitors to the Sugar Bowl game were David, Beth, Wilson, and Warren Wallace. It is not too early to begin teaching children to cheer for UT. Did you see them on television? The boys had a poster they had made, and they hoped to get filmed. Also attending the game were the Bishop sisters, Deborah and Cynthia and Cynthia's husband, Tracy.

Rachel Stephen arrived home from the Czech Republic, where she has been a Baptist missionary. Rachel brought two friends home with her. Her friends are a couple that she met in the Czech Republic. He is an orthopedic surgeon, and she is a nurse. They spent Christmas with the Stephen's family, and then were off to points west. Their plan had been to see the national parks, but it may not happen if the government doesn't open up again. They will see much of the western USA, and then return to Sonora for another visit. Rachel is scheduled to return to the Czech Republic for another semester of teaching, as a missionary. She will then return to the U.S. and may be headed to seminary by next year.

March Lane Milam has been visiting parents in Sonora, and she is back in school taking the prerequisites for a business degree. She is planning to begin a Masters of Business Administration degree program. She and her husband, Wes Milam, are living in New Orleans. Also visiting the Lanes for New Years are Flair Lane Shumard, her husband, Dennis, and son, Grayson.

Lonnie and Karen Pollard were in San Antonio for a holiday on the River Walk. The River Walk is always beautiful at Christmas with long strings of lights hanging from the trees and sack candles lining the river banks. Carolers are on boats, singing as they float up and down the river. The Pollards also came to the Josephine Theater for some laughs at Dean's play. We had a nice visit.

Nancy Neill Law, son, Jack Neill Law (Pepe), and wife, Rebecca, are off to Africa to view the mountain gorillas. We hope that they have a safe, but exciting trip. Nancy was with a group once when they were charged by a large male gorilla. The safe behavior is not to run, but hit the ground as quickly as possible. Nancy said that this was one time when you wanted to be on the bottom of the stack. Once the gorilla has made you fall down, he will not find a need to hurt anyone. I hope that the gorilla knows what is expected of him. It sounds scary to me.

Have you read the material in the new Texas Almanac? It is terrific this year. The Dallas Morning News has a new almanac out, and it really is interesting. One article that is especially good is the material about Menard and the "lost mission."

New Year's resolutions are an old tradition. Some of Sonora's citizens have made the following resolutions. Lucille McMillan resolves to give a little "kick in the pants" to those Cowboys if they don't settle down and do what they should. Last week was heartening, but earlier games were heartbreaking. March Lane Milam resolves to not make any resolution, so that she will not have to confront her imperfections. Anita Lane resolves to stop sneezing next year. Lisa Wallace (Mrs. Drew) resolves to be content in the only rent house that was available in San Angelo when they moved. Carol Pope is determined to exercise more in '96. She loves the exercise and is resolved to find time for it. Carol Parker is hoping to gain control of her life in the new year. Barbara Savell plans to clean closets in '96 and give or throw away things that she never uses and doesn't need. Our daughter, Melinda McLain, plans to sing more gospel and blues in '96, for the sheer joy of it. Joe Lane had resolved in '95 to walk again, and he has made it! He can't imagine anything that could top that. He just hopes to never be in that situation again. Leona Bishop had not planned to make a resolution this year, but A.W. hopes that she will resolve to be nicer to him next year. A.W. had not made his resolution by midnight New Year's Eve, so maybe his resolution is not to procrastinate. Martha Wallace resolves to keep smiling, and her friends want her to resolve to wear her glasses when selecting greeting cards next year.

"A Tuna Christmas" was a treat for the Albert Ward family during this holiday season. They treated children and grandchildren to this wonderful comedy at the Majestic in San Antonio. Last Thursday, A.W. and Leona Bishop and Jamie and Carol Parker were in San Antonio to see a performance of the show. "A Tuna Christmas" is a wonderful comedy written and performed by Jayston Williams and Joe Sears. They each play numerous parts of both men and women. They are a delightful, funny duo. The two began their careers in San Antonio, so they scheduled their last performance for San Antonio on Christmas Eve. They planned to spend Christmas with family and friends in Texas. Tragically, their Christmas was marred by the death of Jayston Williams' son. There was a terrible accident involving several cars on Christmas Day. We are sorry for the loss of Jayston Williams' son.

A New Year's Eve party at the home of Albert and Cynthia Ward was a wonderful treat and great fun. Our tradition is to have our bridge club party on New Year's Eve. The Wards hosted a terrific party. We were met with torches lighting our way to the party. At the door, Lord Albert and Lady Cynthia met us in costumes that might have been worn during the Crusades. Cynthia had on a gorgeous green gown trimmed with black lace and gold accents. Albert was in a red velvet tunic from the period. The party began with pewter tankards of tomato bisque, served by the "comely wenches," Cathy Ward Ball, DeLise Yeager, and Anna Samaniego. Pete Samaniego was filming the party. After the soup, we were seated at the dining table, with pewter plates, and no napkins, knives, or forks. Linda Love and Rita Hale served everyone with giant smoked turkey legs, a huge platter of fresh fruits, carrot and celery sticks, and a large platter containing a baked, suckling pig with an apple in its mouth. Delicious quail and potato latkes were served. Everything was eaten by hand. Hot rolls were served and French bread to be used as napkins was also passed. Pecan tassies were the dessert, and our drink was called "grog," but it tasted a lot like Pepsi. Following three rounds of bridge, the group toasted the new year with sparkling grape juice and champagne. A cheese ball, black-eyed peas, and fruit were served at midnight. It was an imaginative New Year's Eve. If '96 is as much fun as this party was, it will be a wonderful year.

What was your favorite Christmas present? Let me know if something very special happened during the holidays, and I will share it with our readers.

Tucker Announces Run For 112th DA Office

submitted

My name is Ori Tucker White. I've decided to run for the 112th District Attorney Office in the Democratic Primary because I want to devote my skills to the 112th District by prosecuting criminals. The citizens of Crockett, Pecos, Reagan, Sutton and Upton counties are entitled to have the services of a prosecutor who will give the enforcement of the laws of the State of Texas top priority. I live in this District 100 per cent of the time. Therefore, your concerns are my concerns. If elected, I will work hard to justly punish criminals and protect the rights of victims. I graduated from University of Tulsa Law School where I received my Juris Doctorate in law. My bachelor's degree is from Oral Roberts University in Spanish. I came to Ft. Stockton about three years ago to practice law. I am a member of First Baptist Church. I am grateful to have a loving wife, Marianne, and three wonderful, energetic boys, Tad, Matthew, and Mitchell.

I grew up in a ranching family in Sanderson and Marfa. I credit my mom and dad for having taught me the value of hard work which I have carried over to my law practice. It is that same work ethic which I will apply to serving the people of the 112th District.

Shearing Research On Cashmere

On Friday, January 12, the Texas A&M Experiment Station will begin conducting research on the shearing of Spanish (cashmere) goats. This research will be based on two control groups of goats. The focus will be on the stress effects to the animal due to handling, shearing, body condition, and to what effect this will have on spring kids.

The method of sorting angora goats prior to shearing will also be discussed. This practice will benefit the rancher in providing a more uniform original bag, therefore a higher price from the buyer.

Cattle Raisers Applaud Appointment

Jones, whose appointment is subject to Senate confirmation, replaces Judge Brad Rowland of Anson, Texas, whose term had expired.

Gill Presents Outlook For 1996

submitted

The Spartans of ancient Greece believed that a frugal life built a strong character. That being the case, Spartans would have made good cattlemen, because prices for feeder cattle and fed cattle alike have been frugal the past several years.

And the outlook for 1996 is no better, according to Jim Gill, market director for the Texas Cattle Feeders Association (TCFA) in Amarillo. "Feeder cattle supplies are still increasing," Gill said, "and with continued high grain prices, pressure will continue on feeder cattle prices."

However, for consumers, Gill says 1996 will be another year of beef bargains at the meat counter. "The overall price of retail beef is the lowest its been in five years," he said. "With record beef and poultry production predicted for 1996 and near record pork production, it is likely that retail prices will continue trending downward in 1996."

Consumers boon, however, has been cattlemen's bane. Grain prices in particular have hammered feeder cattle prices this year. Due to a 1995 corn crop that was 27% less than last year, corn in the Texas Panhandle area started the year at $4.70 per cwt. and ended the year at $7.15-- a 52% jump, Gill said. What's more, cattlemen can expect to see high corn prices through at least the first six months of 1996.

That translates to higher feedyard costs of gain and continued price pressure for feeder cattle. "A 650-lb. feeder steer in 1995 averaged near $68.50 per cwt., 15% below the 1994 average of $80.05," he said. "In 1996, prices will likely average in the low to mid $60s range."

With feeder cattle supplies still rising, overall beef production will continue to increase, putting continued pressure on the fed cattle market, Gill predicted. "Beef production in 1996 will be near 25.8 billion pounds, 2.5% above the record production of 25.1 billion pounds in 1995."

Add the effect of competitive meats, and fed cattle prices will remain under pressure. "Pork production for 1996 is expected to be near 17.9 billion pounds, 1% below 1995. Meanwhile, total poultry production in 1996 will be near 32.2 billion pounds on a ready-to-cook basis, 3% above 1995 and yet another record."

Concealed Weapons Law In Effect

submitted

Concealed handgun license holders who are stopped for traffic violations after January 1 should let law enforcement officers know if they are carrying their weapons.

Department of Public Safety troopers will begin asking motorists whether they have concealed handgun licenses, whether they have their weapons with them and, if so, where the guns are located. Troopers will have the discretion to disarm license holders if they feel safety is at risk.

At the first opportunity, licensees should let officers know where their weapons are located. If asked for identification while carrying their handguns, they always must present their concealed handgun licenses along with their driver licenses or I.D. cards.

During traffic stops, citizens carrying guns should keep their hands in plain sight and cooperate fully with law enforcement officers to ensure everyone's safety.

License holders may begin legally carrying their concealed guns Jan. 1. As of today, approximately 1,200 licenses have been issued by the DPS. More than 170,000 people have requested application forms, and more than 35,000 have returned their completed application packet to the DPS.

The Concealed Handgun Unit has reviewed all applications received in September and some of those received in October. All September applicants have been mailed their licenses or have been sent notices of problems such as smudged fingerprint cards, incomplete application packets, or questions about potential disqualifying factors.

"We've dedicated a lot of resources to initiating the licensing process, and it is running very smoothly," said

Frankie L. Waller, Chief of Administration for DPS. "The public response has been tremendous. However, due to the enormous response and the short startup period, we do anticipate taking the full 90 days to process applications."

"I know all applicants are eagerly awaiting their licenses and are tempted to call and ask for their status, but each time the phone rings it takes our personnel away from the license issuance process and slows things down," Waller said. "We ask your patience in giving us ample time to process your application before calling to check on its status."
