Eulojia Favela Flores Celebrates 100 Years of Life

by Melinda (Deda) Garza

Eulojia Favela Flores is one of Sonora's longest surviving residents, putting down roots here during the mid 1940's. She always looks forward to a fami-ly celebration, and this year she will be celebrating her 100th birthday on Saturday, March 9 with about 300 of her family and friends at the Sutton County 4-H Civic Center. Her family is dear to her heart and has always come first in her life. She enjoys visits all through the year from her many family members. She also has never forgotten those who have gone before her.

She was born in 1902 the first of nine children, to humble sharecroppers, Mexican Valentino and Paula Favela, in a small Mexican village named La Colonia, Durango. Her growing up years were spent working in the fields with her family, and she proudly learned to read and write at the age of 11. She has vivid memories of the days of the revolutionary Pancho Villa, and that her parents would often same year their eldest daughter, hide her during the Mexican war Gloria, died of cancer at the age looking for a good time. She shares her experience of having been "stolen" at a young age by a man she did not love. When Eulojia found herself single again after an eighteen-month marriage, her true love, Antonio Flores, entered her life.

Antonio Flores, from Eagle Pass, Texas, and Eulojia were married against his strong family objections. They began raising their ten children in 1926 in Texas during many good and hard years. Eulojia and Antonio loved to dance and were active members of the community, when they weren't working hard in the potato and cotton fields during the early years, and washing, cooking, farming, and caring for their children with help from an extended family here in Sonora. Eulojia's parents eventually lived and worked in Sonora for a long time. Antonio worked many years at the Sonora Wool and Mohair Company before he died in November 1965. Earlier that from the soldiers who were of 36 in Houston. All the remaining nine children now live in Texas and California. Eulojia now has 38 grandchildren and 63 great-grandchildren and 15 great-great grand children. Eulojia and Antonio eventually became U.S. citizens.

A few months ago Eulojia suffered a broken shoulder and it curtailed her daily activities she has enjoyed for many years at the Senior Citizen Center. She loves to play bingo and can play many cards at one time. One year she won the fastest walk contest in her age group. Everyone at the Center calls her "Grandma."

During her adult years she developed a beautiful handwrit-ing style. She always enjoyed writing letters all her life, as well as receiving them, especially when they included recent family pictures.

Her friends are amazed and wonder where she gets her strength and will to do all the things she is able to do. She attributes her many blessings to

Sutton County Community Audit Demonstration Project

Sutton County Judge Carla Garner and Director of the Sonora Industrial Development Corporation Justin McGeath would like to introduce Kelly Barraza, a community auditor of the Concho Valley Workforce Development Board, to the citizens of Sutton County.

Concho The Valley Workforce Development Board is implementing a Community Audit Demonstration Project grant by conducting strategic research to determine workforce development needs in Sutton County. Ms. Barraza will be conducting the mapping of the community assets and the community audit for Sutton County. The purpose of mapping community assets and the community audit are to identify existing services now available to meet workforce development needs and to identify training needs and skills needed in Sutton County.

The community audit will begin with an employer survey followed by worker interviews. The employer survey will determine what type of skills employers need for their current employees to continue the growth of their businesses and local economy. The worker interviews will determine the type of training needed by current employees to develop career paths or ladders in the company. In addition, the audit

Following the bond election in November, Sonora ISD gathered information that brought out concerns which contributed to the failure of the first Elementary Bond Election. The three major issues were: (1) cost of the project; (2) the destruction of the Old High School (Intermediate Building); and (3) purchasing the house on 1st Street across from the school. Since that time, all three of these issues have been addressed in the new proposal. The cost of the new proposal is $7,500,000. This is a reduction in cost of $1,450,000 from the first project proposal. In our new proposal, the Old High School (Intermediate Building) will be renovated and used as the 4th Grade facility. The third issue dealing with the house on 1st Street is no longer an issue at all. It will not be any part of the 2nd project proposal.

The need for elementary renovations is still great. Our facility just keeps getting older and our problems still exist. Please make a point to come to the Administration Office or any of the schools and ask questions. The staff will be glad to show you around, explain the new proposal, and spend as much time as it takes to help you understand the problems the children and teachers of Sonora ISD deal with on a daily basis.

We hope that the diagrams of the new proposals will give you a better understanding of what the school district is trying to accomplish with your tax dollars. If you have any questions, please call the Administration Office at 387-2220 and our staff will do their best to explain the project or answer any questions you might have.

her faith in God, which is evident all through her home and in her prayer life. She lived in her home alone until she broke her arm. She enjoys many evenings watching her Spanish soap operas on television, or visiting on her front porch with neighbors and friends who come to check on her. During most of her life until recently, you would find her with a crochet needle in her hand working on her many projects. Caring for her numerous indoor plants is another love she enjoys, and Sunday is always her "watering" day. During past years she was always in her outdoor gardens, and colorful flowers in bloom always give her so much joy. Eulojia has only one surviving brother, Pablo Favela, age 98, who was the only one in her family to acquire a college education in Mexico to teach, and he also resides in Sonora. She talks about the world she has seen change so drastically this past century. She thinks living life today is much easier than the days of her youth because of modern technology and medical advances. It saddens her to hear and see all the violence and drug usage that she hears is going on today. You can sit for hours around her 1950's vellow studded chrome dining table; there she loves to tell stories about her past and people she has known. She will try anytime anyone seems to be interested, and sometimes even when they're not. She has a wonderful sense of humor, and up until last year she would tell you she was still looking to marry a "Cubano" but today she talks about buying a new living room suite. When asked if she could have done something different in her life, she answers: To have gotten higher schooling for a better education...but the schooling just wasn't there for me. But I have no regrets about my life." Her wish for all her grandchildren and their children is that they get the best education they can.

Region 2 of the Texas High School Rodeo Association started its spring rodeo season last weekend in Ft. Stockton. The weather did not dampen the competition as it did many sports. This event was held in an in-door arena. Stetson held on to 9th place in the Calf Roping with a time of 14.3. Stetson and his brother Laramie placed 5th in the Team Roping with a time of 13.8 in the Saturday performance. The Steer Wrestling was not a good event for the boys as neither placed for the Saturday rodeo. On Sunday, Stetson took 2nd place in the Steer Wrestling with a time of 11.6 and Laramie split 3rd and 4th due to a tie with a time of 13.4. Stetson had a no-time in the Calf Roping and the brothers also came home with a no-time in the Team Roping.

Stetson is sitting in 2nd place position and Laramie in

Affordable Rural Power - Endangered Species?

Electric deregulation is supposed to benefit Texas consumers all consumers, urban and rural. But the legislature recently allowed the Panhandle five extra years to deregulate. Why? Because deregulation could backfire for that region's farms and ranches. What does that foretell for farms and ranches elsewhere? Sixty years ago rural electric cooperatives were formed because private power companies found rural dwellers "unprofitable." Will they again? Will they want to compete for your business? Portions of East Texas are seeking exemption from deregulation because nobody has signed up to compete for their business. At Southwest Texas Electric Co-op, we intend to wait and see if this industry experiment will work. That's the smart choice. For more information on deregulation, visit us at our web site, or call your local Smart Choice Cooperative. www.smartchoicecoops.com

Oil & Agribusiness The Glory of Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Rep. Henry Bonilla (R-TX) Last Saturday marked a special occasion for our great state. It was the anniversary of our great state's independence from Mexico. On March 2, 1836 a convention of 54 men met in the small settlement of Washington-on-the-Brazos to sign the Texas Declaration of Independence.

The Texas Declaration of Independence was produced, literally, overnight. Its urgency was paramount. While the founding fathers of Texas prepared the document, the Alamo in San Antonio was under siege by Santa Anna's army of Mexico. In near-freezing weather, in an unfinished building, the convention voted in the early morning hours of March 2nd to unanimously accept the resolution. Ultimately, fifty-eight members signed the document. And thus was born the Republic of Texas.

The declaration sent a sign to Mexico that Texans would no longer live under what many of them regarded as a tyrannical rule from a distant source. It was testimony that Texans were ready and willing to fight for their freedom. And fight they did.

Four days after signing the document, William Barret Travis and 184 brave men concluded their gruesome battle against more than five thousand Mexican troops. The odds were against the Texas volunteers, but they were determined to stay the course and fight until the end. When the battle was over, only 15 people - mostly women and children - were spared. Familiar names like Davey Crockett, James Bowie and Juan Badillo lost their lives that fateful day. These brave souls did not give their lives in vain. The casualties that the Texas forces mounted against Mexico, and the time lost in reducing the Alamo cut short Mexico's campaign. It gave Sam Houston just enough time to perfect his plans for the defense of Texas and enabled him to win the Battle of San Jacinto on April 21, 1836. This victory spelled a final freedom for Texas.

In the saga of Texas history, there is no period as distinctive as Texas' struggle for independence. The period's heros are remembered in the names of cities and towns, streets, plazas and public buildings. The Lone Star flag, inherited from the original Texas Republic, still flies proudly throughout our state.

I'd like to leave you with a quote by Sam Houston just before the Battle of San Jacinto.

We view ourselves on the eve of battle. We are nerved for the contest, and must conquer or perish. It is vain to look for present aid: none is at hand. We must now act or abandon all hope!

Rally to the standard, and be no longer the scoff of mercenary tongues! Be men, be free men, that your children may bless their father's name.

Texas Independence Day is an occasion for all Texans to stand proud and remember the men who stood up for their rights and fought for their freedom.

God Bless Texas!

DALLAS - Wanted: topnotch quilters with an eye for design and a passion for Texas.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has announced the start of its 2002 quilt block competition. The theme for the contest, "Texas Blooming Florals: Blending the Best of Texas Naturals - Fiber and Flora," will feature Texas natural fibers and Texas Superstars™, colorful landscape plants specifically selected to thrive in Texas.

"The quilt will be a wonderful way to display the beauty of these plants, which are so easy to grow and protective of the Texas environment," said Steve George, Extension horticulture specialist at Texas A&M Dallas. "Texas Superstars™ just take your breath away."

Each contest participant will use Texas natural fibers cotton, wool, mohair and leather - to create a single quilt block design that will be submitted to TDA. A panel of judges will select the winning entries, which will be combined into a single quilt. The finished quilt will be unveiled at the 2002 State Fair of Texas and from there will become a traveling exhibit. All of the quilt blocks will feature Texas Superstar<sup>TM</sup> plants as the unifying theme.

Plants earning the Texas Superstar™ title are those that have undergone rigorous testing by Texas A&M University and have proven to be superior for Texas conditions.

Each plant undergoes threeto five-year field trials at 40 test Jennifer Regar, (979)-952sites across the state, the largest system of horticultural field trial of any university in the nation. The packet will contain the natural fiber fabrics to be used in the design along with tips and techniques for developing the block and a Texas Superstar™ booklet.

Quilt block entries will be accepted until late May, and the winning submissions will be combined into the final quilt over the summer, ready for unveiling in September. "Texas Blooming Florals" is TDA's third natural fiber quilt competition. # Why Do We Have To Stay All Night?

"Cancer does not stop for nighttime."

Relay for Life starts at dusk and ends at the next day's morning. The light and darkness of the day and night parallel the physical effects, emotion, and mental state of a cancer patient while undergoing treatment.

The Relay begins when the sun is setting. This symbolizes the time that the person has been diagnosed as having cancer. The day is getting darker and this represents the cancer patient's state of mind as they feel that their life is coming to an end.

As the evening goes on it gets colder and darker, just as the emotions of the cancer patient does. Around 1:00 a.m to 2:00 a.m. represents the time when the cancer patient starts treatment. They become exhausted, some sick, not wanting to go on, possibly wanting to give up. As a participant, you have been walking and feel much the same way. You are tired, want to sleep, maybe even want to ho home, but you cannot stop or give up.

Around 4:00 a.m. to 5:00 a.m. symbolizes the coming of the end of treatment for the cancer patient. Once again they are tied, but they know they will make it.

The sun rising represents the end of treatment for the cancer ient. They see the light at the end of the tunnel and know that life will go on. The morning light brings on a new day full of life and excitement for new beginnings for the cancer patient. As a participant, you will feel the brightness of the morning and know that the end of the RELAY is close at hand.
