OIL WORKERS GET WAGE INCREASES OVER THE STATE

Thousands of Extra
Dollars Fatten
Payrolls

CIO HEADED OFF Lewis Campaign Due To Be Started In 30 Days

HOUSTON, March 17. (AP)—Thousands of extra dollars in fattened weekly payrolls headed for the pockets of a vast number of Texas oil field and refinery workers today as major companies continued to post wage hikes.

Announcement of the wage increases came less than a month before the date set by John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization to start a campaign designed to recruit the some of 1,000,000 workmen in the oil industry. The C. I. O. drive had been set to start April 5.

Joining the Magnolia and Gulf companies in raising hourly wages was the Pure Oil company. The Humble company, one of the largest producers in the Gulf coast area, announced it would "study the new rates and give consideration to the matter and adjustments in hour rates." Reports from several sources indicate the wages of some 3,000 employees in its big refinery at Port Arthur were not given immediate confirmation.

The Magnolia company announced employees of the company earning less than $5,000 a year would receive wage increases retroactive to March 15.

The new rates included a raise of seven cents an hour for drillers, pipe line workers and others.

Six hundred employees at Pure company's Smith Bluff plant, near Nederland, will be affected by a general wage increase, effective April 1, said a bulletin signed by C. B. Watson, vice president of the company.

Amount of the increase was not revealed but it will be the second general raise for the employees at the Smith Bluff plant since January 1.

Gulf Oil corporation had announced a four to nine cent hourly increase in the field and pipe line departments and the Gulf Refining company gave a similar increase for refinery workmen at Port Arthur.

A spokesman for the oil workers union hailed the salary raises as a victory for the union. He declined to permit use of his name but said plans of the C. I. O. for unionization in the Gulf coast area was responsible for the pay increases.

Band Students On Rotary Program

Four members of the Midland high school band were entertainers on the Rotary club program today, with Director M. A. Armstrong, as master of ceremonies. James Mims and Diane Anderson, junior high school boys, played a saxophone duet, with Armstrong, playing the piano accompaniment. George Walker played a flute solo, the piano accompaniment being played by Frank Nixon.

Announcement was made that next Thursday's program will be brought by members of the Big Spring Kiwanis club. Announcement also was made of the approaching charter night program of the new Lamesa Rotary club and invitation was extended to local Rotarians to attend.

B. Reagan of Big Spring made a brief talk at the luncheon, declaring that the existence of the two Rotary clubs had cemented the relations of the two neighboring cities.

Atlas H. Thompson and Guy E. Brenneman were introduced as the newest members of the Rotary club. Visitors included Rotarians Austin Young of Abilene, Reagan of Big Spring and R. Randerson of Abilene; also R. G. Curran of Dallas, O. C. Armstrong of Fort Worth, Francis Dunagan of Wyoming, Jim Simpson of San Angelo and Bill Collyns of Midland.

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 18. (AP)—Pope Pius XI, calling communism the "ruin of family and society," asked employers of world labor today in a historic encyclical to "meet great duties as justice imposes."

"The wage earner is not to receive as aims what is due in justice; communists play upon the susceptibility of the working classes, promising alleviation of many undeniable abuses," the pope declared.

GLASSCOCK WELL AWAITING ORDERS

BY FRANK GARDNER
After logging an oil showing estimated at from three to five barrels a day from 2,694 to 2,731, Fleetborn Oil Company No. 1 Black Arrow, Glasscock county, wildcat a mile west of the Dodson & Duffey No. 1, J. C. Gerten & Heirs, recent discovery producer, is shut down at that depth pending orders to deepen or complete. Pay in the discovery well was found from 2,626-32 and from 2,658-67, and it was plugged back to 2,664 for water shut-off. Production recently was gauged at 85 barrels of oil and 85 of water in 24 hours on pump. The No. 1 Black Arrow is located in the northeast corner of section 13, block 34, township 3 south, T. & P. survey.

The Superior Oil Company No. 1 Todd (Massey Units), scheduled Ordovician wildcat 15 miles northwest of Ozona in Crockett county, is moving in rotary after drilling with spudder to 545 feet in shale. It encountered water from 435-74. The test is a mile and a quarter southeast of Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Todd, which showed oil in the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, but was abandoned at 8,042 feet, where a hole full of sulphur water was encountered. The Superior test, is located in the center of the southeast of the northeast of section 55, block UV, G. C. & S. F. survey.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, Continental Group 1 No. 26-S Set-les rated 24-hour potential of 545 barrels, based upon the second hour of a natural pumping test. It topped pay at 1,200 and is bottomed at 1,240. Location is in section 159, block 29, W. & N. W. survey.

Here's Record for Other Schools to Shoot At--All Mines Grads Employed

EL PASO, Mar. 18.—No graduate of the College of Mines and Metallurgy, branch of The University of Texas, is unemployed. It is interesting to investigate the reason for this very desirable situation. When a boy decides to become an engineer, the first reaction he should feel is one of security and peace. No longer is he in doubt as to his purpose in life, and from that time on all things tend to bind him more strongly to the attainment of his purpose. His studies in high school are all planned with the idea that he shall be prepared to take up in college his professional studies.

He takes advantage of every opportunity to visit industrial plants. He reads popularized articles on engineering projects and inventions. And he begins to recognize, without realizing it, that he is joining a real fraternity, a fraternity whose password is "engineer" and in which the words "civil," "mechanical," "mining," etc., are used as explanatory rather than as divisional terms.

When, however, the would-be engineer enters college, he begins to run up against the fact that he can't be just an engineer, but must narrow his field of endeavor and become some kind of an engineer. At the end of his first year of college he has to make his major decision as to what type of engineer he is to become. At the end of his second year he again faces that time is working against him and that he must make another choice with regard to the branch of his chosen profession. The student must find a major subject.

If the boy selects mining engineering, he now finds that he is still far from having chosen a career. He has to choose between courses leading to railroad engineering, highway engineering, tunnel and subway engineering, and others of the branches of civil engineering. This is the case also with mechanical, electrical, and chemical engineering.

If the boy selects mining engineering, he has the same experience. He finds options in mining, milling, smelting, geology, petroleum,

Amelia Earhart And Crew Land Big Plane In Honolulu With Record Breaking Flight Behind

Amelia and Aides Make First Leg of 27,000 Mile Flight

Amelia Earhart pointed the nose of her big two-motored Electra westward from Oakland, California, and soared out over the Pacific as this picture was taken. It was a last minute test flight to make sure that radio and technical apparatus were working correctly, and it was a rehearsal, too, for her delayed takeoff on the 27,000-mile flight around the world's waistline.

25,000 MILES YET Famous Aviatrix To Continue Flight Around World

HONOLULU, Mar. 18. (AP)—Amelia Earhart landed her big plane here at 8:39 a. m. Pacific Coast time today after flying the 2,400 miles from Oakland, California, in 15 hours and 51 1/2 minutes. The hop was the first leg of a proposed globe-circling flight.

The flight was the fastest ever made in the westerly direction. Accompanied by three men aides, she made the hop at an average speed of 150 miles an hour.

Her three greatest were Captain Harry Manning, 40, a New York sea captain who will act as navigator on the Transpacific phase of the flight; Fred Noonan, 43, a veteran Pan-American Airways navigator who will assist as far as Honolulu; and Paul Mentz, 32, of Los Angeles, one-time stunt flier who is Miss Earhart's technical adviser. He will go only as far as Honolulu or Howland Island.

The wheels of the twin-motored silver and red Lockheed Electra flying laboratory, built to Miss Earhart's specifications, left the ground at 4:38 p. m.

As the heavily loaded plane rose from the runway, a crowd of 10,000 spectators, soaked to the skin, watched the start of the former social worker's greatest adventure.

The rain that had been falling all day stopped temporarily as the plane shot down the runway, splashing water in all directions and rose. There was a breath-taking moment for the watchers as the plane approached the line of automobiles parked along Midland drive.

The plane dipped, as if to dive into the machines. Then it rose sharply, and cleared the machines with plenty of room to spare.

No attempt will be made on this flight to break Wiley Post's record of seven days, eighteen hours, forty nine and one-half minutes for the round-the-world solo flight.

NEW REGULATIONS ON PARKING NEAR POSTOFFICE MADE

20-Minute Order Is To Take Effect
Immediately

Parking of automobiles around the postoffice will be restricted to twenty minutes, the order going into effect immediately, it was announced this morning. Several important amendments to the present traffic ordinance, passed at a special meeting of the city council, will be published in Friday's issue of The Reporter-Telegram, and motorists have been asked to study them carefully.

"Twenty Minute Parking" signs will be stenciled on the curb along the west side of the postoffice site, also along the north to the alley. Strict enforcement will be made, the new amendments providing penalties for violations. Center parking, or double parking, in the streets also will be prohibited.

"The schools have 41 1/2 units of affiliation and will secure four additional units this year, a rating not equalled by any other school in Texas two or three times the size of the Midland system.

"The present board has sponsored an application for a PWA grant for a physical education building and this week received notice that it is receiving favorable consideration under the new set-up."

The petitioners also quoted a large tax payer here as saying: "We pay taxes in every county in Texas, but the Midland school is the best managed I have ever seen."

They mentioned the fact that the recent $75,000 issue of bonds for a new north ward building had sold at 3 1/2 per cent interest and quoted a member of the state board of education as saying: "The Midland school in financial condition and in wise business management is one of the three best in Texas."

Announcement of the three board members for re-election created, in effect, two tickets for the April 3 election, joint announcement having been made Sunday of the candidacy of J. L. Greene, Chas. Vertrees and J. R. Martin.

Board members whose terms do not expire this year are W. A. Yeager, Roy Parks, C. M. Goldsmith and Foy Proctor.

Uniformity In Laws Governing Building, Loan Assn. Needed

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 18.—Uniformity of state laws governing building and loan associations is "an immediate and major necessity if the construction and financing of new homes is to keep pace with the demand in this country," the Federal Home Loan Bank Board declared in a statement today.

Coupled with this public appeal to the 48 states was an announcement that the Legal Department of the Board has drafted proposed legislation and amendments to existing legislation for use in many of the states and is ready to cooperate with state officials and others in improving their legislative situation. The Board itself has not approved any particular uniform state legislation on the subject, but is willing to cooperate with state officials in the improvement of the legislative situation in any state.

Reports indicate that much progress is being made in several states, but much remains to be done to complete the rehabilitation necessary to attain complete public confidence in savings and loan associations in some areas.

"A complete revamping of state laws along standard lines must take place if thrift and home-financing institutions are to play their part in the new national swing toward more and better homes for the American people," the statement said.

The suggested uniformity, generally viewed, "would provide for better organization, reorganization, operation, and supervision of savings and loan associations which would benefit the associations, their investors, and their borrowers," it was stated.

"New funds would be attracted to state-chartered associations if state laws were improved. This would make possible a greater volume of thrift funds available for home financing.

"Rehabilitation of State - chartered associations in many states is urgently needed but such reorganization along modern lines cannot proceed as long as antiquated laws are in force."

"Reference can be made to the work being done in several states including Indiana and Kansas, where savings and loan institutions have been rehabilitated and made more helpful to the progress of the state and its citizens through better state laws and methods of financing."

Interest in the contest was high throughout its duration, and scores of names and slogans were turned in by persons seeking to capture the $50 prize for a name and slogan for the new station.

A grand total of 13 prizes were given, first prize for a name and slogan being $50, second prize for name and slogan amounting to $25, third prize for name and slogan being $15 and 10 prizes of $1 each.

Second prize was won by Don Silvals with his "The Friendly Station"—"You Don't wait on us—we wait on you."

Third prize was won by Rev. W. J. Coleman who submitted "New Era Auto Service"—"Beauty and Courtesy Greet You—Science and Skill Serve You."

The other ten winners, in order, were as follows: Hazel F. Hutchman, R. C. Fagg, Mrs. Mattie Mitchell, J. R. Ashley, John D. Hamilton, Mrs. Roy Parks, J. E. Smith, Mrs. Annie C. Holt, J. E. Turner, Leo McCann.

Mrs. Faye Howe, who submitted "The Servicenter"—"A Preview of Modern Travel Service," received a box of candy as a consolation prize, after the name and slogan had been chosen by the judges as one deserving of prize, it was disqualified because her husband, John P. Howe, was an employee of the station during its construction. Howe served as architect and foreman of construction.

Judges who made the decision were: Jno. P. Butler, Leslie Stevens, Bill Collyns.

Annual Clean-Up, Fire Prevention Week April 4-11

AUSTIN, March 17.—The Annual Clean-up and Fire Prevention week will be held April 4 to 11, according to word just received from Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. In observance of this week there will be a joint effort between the State Fire Insurance Department and the State Department of Health.

The warm days of spring will soon be here and everyone is urged to see that their property is cleaned of the accumulation of trash. It is only through individual responsibility and effort that one can have a clean and neat appearing city.

In planning your spring cleaning start with the house itself in the attic and work down, not forgetting the basement. Attics and basements are the greatest collectors of refuse and therefore of dust and dirt that the house possesses, and their neglect often constitutes a serious fire hazard. Do not forget to screen against flies and mosquitoes. The better the job of cleaning, and with a garbage pail kept tightly covered, the fewer flies there will be, because flies love dirt and filth and breed in garbage and other filth.

We are prone to judge people in no small measure by the kind of yard keepers we think they are. Many times you have heard some one say, "No, I don't know the people next door but they can't amount to much because their yard is cluttered with tin cans and papers and their garbage can is always open." Do not let your neighbors be able to pass judgment on you on such grounds.

U. S. MAY TRY TO HALT EUROPE'S 'DEATH DANCE'

Unless a number of Washington correspondents are mistaken, Mr. Roosevelt is already groping about in the depths of his official hat for the long ears of another rabbit.

This rabbit, when he pulls it out, is expected to take the shape of a spectacular summons to the great nations of the earth to attend a great peace and disarmament conference.

The president has been under a good deal of pressure to "do something," ever since the current war scare came over the horizon. He has not moved so far, it is said, because no one has been able to suggest anything he could do which might be of any particular use.

We have a tradition in this country that no American statesman ever goes to a weighty European conference without coming back wearing a barrel in place of his pants. Woodrow Wilson's sad experience at Versailles has not yet been forgotten—and no politician is apt to forget what the American electorate did to Mr. Wilson after he came back from Versailles.

An American president who sets out to lead Europe to the way of peace faces one grave danger: he has to succeed, once he starts.

To begin with, a peace and disarmament conference which fails is worse than no conference at all. It leaves the world in a sadder fix than it was in the first place. It increases the animosities and suspicions it was designed to quell. It reduces the world's hopes, and increases that public resignation to war which is the best guarantee that war will eventually come.

On top of that, the American who summons such a conference breaks his country's tradition of aloofness. If the conference fails, America is in European politics up to its neck. By taking the lead in an effort to head off a war, it assumes a certain amount of responsibility for the war when it finally comes.

All these things can be counted on to restrain the president's hand. And yet, when they are all added up and studied, they may not be enough to prevent him from pulling out that rabbit, after all.

For Europe today is all too clearly whirling around in a dance of death. It is no more figure of speech to say that European civilization is on the verge of committing suicide; it is sober, demonstrable fact. If there is anything on earth America can do to stop the dance and stay the suicide, America can hardly avoid doing it.

And so, in spite of tradition and precedent, we may yet see an American president drawing cards in the perilous, unpredictable European game of poker.

'Well, Well—This Is Like Old Times!'

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18—It's one thing to have a sitdown strike a thousand miles away from here and, as many Washingtonians found out, quite another to have one in this non-industrial capital city.

When the strike involves John L. Lewis and other celebrated labor leaders, and is settled by Assistant Labor Secretary Edward F. McGrady, maestro of mediators, and it all happens right in the heart of this strange city—well, sir, you have something such as a Washington correspondent is seldom privileged to observe.

The first surprise you get is when you go to the hotel to check up on labor's Non-Partisan League's convention and find a dozen waiters, cooks and waitresses picketing with standards which proclaim, "The Willard Hotel Residence of President, Is on Strike!"

Down in the kitchen, 20 cooks and helpers have put the food away and stopped production at the source. Union men prepare to bring them sandwiches. A hundred employes are sitting down.

HER MAMA THERE, TOO Ask how come and you hear accusations of coercion and intimidation of union members, plus discharge of a coffee shop waitress, allegedly for union activity. The girl is on the picket line, carrying a placard and accompanied by her mama. She's good looking. Reporters and photographers are rushing to the scene. The management refuses to make a statement. Guests are checking out, especially labor leaders there for the convention.

Down on the sidewalk you meet a favorite waiter from another hotel and a chef from still another. They and many associates have come to encourage the pickets. Women toss objects at screens on windows of the great main dining room, attracting attention of their men folk inside. The management is telling waiters they're fired.

SIT ON UNMADE BEDS This sort of things goes on all next day. The hotel gets warrants. Union bellboys who appear for work are denied their uniforms. They promptly sit down on a main lounge and tell all who ask that their wages are "only 3 cents a day" and that they have a seven-day week. Unorganized chambermaids at the Mayflower Hotel, meanwhile, sit down on unmade beds and within 20 minutes are given a 15 per cent increase.

out he has contractual relations with the hotel. He says: "In my 29 years as a delegate to A. F. of L. conventions, there's never been one without a cooks' and waiters' incident in which delegates are urged not to eat or sleep somewhere." He says that is an exclusive statement which he will give to nobody else.

MEETING IS RUINED Berry's meeting goes on, but the strike downstairs has ruined it. Lewis, scheduled as the big speaker of the evening, hears of the picket line, knows photographers are waiting to shoot him as he enters the hotel and announces he doesn't pass through picket lines. Strike leaders offer to call off the pickets two hours while he enters and speaks. Lewis declines with thanks.

Strike leaders and waiters from other hotels come up to propagandize and ask for the floor. Berry refuses them, but eventually a committee of five important labor leaders is appointed to settle the strike. It tries vainly, that night and next morning.

Century Old Hearse Is Discovered by Wrecker

WARE, Mass. (U.P.)—After Stanley Staradaj began razing the 200-year-old Congregational church which he had purchased from the Metropolitan Water Supply commission last year he found many surprises.

Besides getting fine lumber, rare paneling and a well-preserved 92-year-old bell which he sold for more than he paid for the building, he found a century-old horse-drawn hearse.

The hearse was stored in a large carriage shed in the rear of the church.

The hearse has full-sized glass windows on both sides and in the rear.

Wrong Home Flooded; Firemen Embarrassed

MONSON, Mass. (U.P.)—"What's going on up there?" inquired Mrs. Florence Pease of 235 Main Street when firemen began pouring water down the chimney of her home.

Firemen informed her she had a chimney fire, but when she told them she used an electric range and had no fire in the house, they apologized and left—for 258 Main street, where Elmer Pease had reported a chimney fire.

IMPORTANCE OF TEMPTING TOURISTS TO VISIT TEXAS IS POINTED OUT BY DALLAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CHIEF

Editor's Note—The following article was delivered by H. W. Stanley, director of the trade extension division of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, before the Texas Planning Commission Tuesday morning:

"Tourism" is today a world wide industry of major importance. In Switzerland it is of prime significance. In Canada it ranks in importance with forestry and construction work and in income exceeds the value of the output of the mining industry. In Cuba it is said to be out ranked in value only by the sugar and tobacco crops. France, Germany, England, Italy and most other European countries derive large sums annually from foreign visitors. Tourist advertising is today highly organized. Many countries maintain special tourist bureaus, some with branches abroad. At least fifty national governments have participated in encouraging the visits of foreigners. The study of the tourist industry abroad reveals a high degree of organization and government sponsored cooperation. From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand, the tourist now finds official welcome. He encounters national tourist offices and information bureaus to expedite his travels and to make his stay as pleasant as possible. He finds available maps and literature, officially licensed guides, government regulated hotels, and a variety of facilities not formerly available.

The promotional activities of foreign countries are not limited to newspaper and magazine advertising, and the distribution of maps and pamphlets. Lantern slides, motion pictures, and photographs are distributed, lectures are given, travel books are published, photographic and other contests are encouraged. Not to be overlooked as tourist lures are the International Fairs, expositions, exhibits, and conventions officially sponsored or aided. It is interesting to note how our neighbor, The Dominion of Canada attracts our tourist dollars. American Trade Commissioner, A. H. Theilmann, in Ottawa, estimates the tourist promotional expenditures of the Canadian government, including the Canadian National Railways, in one year at $2,500,000.

In 1935, 3,605,086 cars from the United States entered Canada and spent $131,806,000 while there. By rail and steamer, 872,641 citizens of the United States entered Canada and spent $9,104,000, or a total of $139,810,000. In the same year Canadian cars entering the United States numbered 659,259 and spent in the States $50,206,000. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics further states that 392,844 persons entered the States by rail and steamer spending the sum of $24,592,000, or a total of $74,798,000. . . giving Canada a favorable trade balance in tourist traffic of $116,012,000.

While cities and towns throughout the country are clamoring for new industries, to boost their local payrolls, it is fitting to call to the attention of our public spirited citizens, the advantages of The Tourist Business. . . A new industry, which will if properly cultivated leave in every city and town a payroll often exceeding that of any industry that could now be secured.

Prior to the depression, American Tourists spent annually in Europe, Asia and Africa approximately $850,000,000, in Canada $200,000,000, in Mexico $45,000,000, and in the West Indies, Central America and the Philippines $98,000,000.

With the Far East, Europe and a portion of Africa torn by war and rumors of war, we may expect much of this flow of foreign travel to be diverted to domestic travel.

It is estimated that the tourist business in 1933 (in the trough of the depression) amounted to three billion dollars, which was:

- 11 per cent greater than the clothing business.
- 45 per cent greater than the printing and publishing business.
- 60 per cent greater than the lumber industry.
- 185 per cent greater than the baking industry. 518 per cent greater than the cotton crop of 1933.

And equal to the steel and iron industry. In 1936 the American motoring public spent $4,250,000,000 . . . enough to pay the entire national debt in nine years. They traveled in 12,600,000 cars. It has been estimated that 47,250,000 motorists in 13,500,000 cars will take vacation trips in 1937, spending $4,750,000,000.

California is one of the "big three" states in oil production, an industry which naturally runs into big money. Yet according to the magazine Nation's Business, California's oil industry is now hard pressed to keep ahead of the state's tourist business. California's four ranking industries, in their order of dollars volume are: oil, tourists, motion pictures, and citrus fruit. Their two most publicized industries are running third and fourth.

The nation's top leading industries in 1936 were: 1. Agriculture; 2. Textiles; 3. Tourists; and 4. Steel and iron.

Emphasis for F.D.R.'s Radio 'Chat'

Behind the words which President Roosevelt spoke in his radio "fireside chat" from the White House was this determined expression, which seemed to add emphasis to his fight for revamping the U. S. Supreme Court. The President defended himself against charges of seeking dictatorial control, and accused the judiciary of upsetting the balance of the three branches of federal government.

ver, Colorado, estimates that in 1936 the state of Texas entertained 11,565,400 visitors who spent $446,000,000.

Texas' four outstanding industries in 1936 were: Oil, $450,000,000—A. Tourists, $446,000,000—B. All Agricultural crops, $385,000,000—C.

Cotton, $210,000,000—D. Many retail merchants in lines other than those that cater directly to the tourist are of the opinion that they do not get any of the tourist business. Nothing could be farther from the truth. A study recently made by the United States Department of Commerce reveals the fact that the retailer gets the lion's share of the tourist dollar. They divide it as follows:

- Retail merchant 26 cents.
- Restaurant and cafes 21 cents.
- Hotels and camps 17 cents.
- Gasoline and oil 12 cents.
- Amusements 9 cents.
- Other forms of transportation 7 cents.
- Incidentals 8 cents.

The retail merchant may not get his twenty six cents from the first spender, but it will reach him through the second and third spender. For example: A west Texas cafe operator told me that at least half of his volume came to him from tourists. He employed 30 people, 15 of whom depend upon the tourist for their livelihood. A service station operator in Arkansas, reports that 25 per cent of his business is with out of state cars; and here three people out of twelve depend upon the traveler for their living. This same ratio could be duplicated on every lane the tourists follow.

A study of the "Hotel Dollar," which is an important part of the total spent by tourists, reveals that the retailer stands to get a good share of this sum. Thirty one cents of every dollar the hotel takes in is spent for salary and wages. This will find its way to the retailer through the second and third spender. Twenty four cents of the hotel dollar goes for sundry expenses. Twenty cents for food and beverages. Ten cents for interest and return on capital invested. Six cents for insurance, and nine cents for depreciation. Much of this entire amount will be spent through retail channels.

Texas is most fortunate in a natural geographic location that leads millions of tourists through Texas. Federal highways 80 and 90 through Texas east and west connect us with both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. U. S. 87 leads north into the heavy population centers of the country. While U. S. 75, 77, and 81 tap at three important points the heavy flow of traffic from the mid-west. U. S. 81 at Laredo connects with the great Pan American Highway leading to Mexico City. In the opinion of many touring bureaus, Mexico City will be the greatest tourist lure on this hemisphere for the next decade. It is estimated that this year, 300,000 cars will pass through the Laredo gate way to the Southern Republic.

Texas, is a magic world to millions. Manteled in historic lore, clothed in a culture and romance unexcelled in any section of the nation, it is truly a "Tourist Mecca." Texas has more to sell the tourist than any other state in the union, but . . . is doing less about it than many less favored areas. Somewhere in Texas can be found an attraction or a climate to meet

Daughter's Traffic Fine Pleases Former Mayor

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—When 18-year-old Betty Townes was arrested for speeding she gave her father the ticket.

Clayton C. Townes, former mayor of Cleveland and for many years member of the city council, put the ticket in his pocket and left town on a business trip. When he returned, he took the blame before an irate judge for Betty's failure to appear in court on the proper date.

Then as his daughter's attorney he entered a plea of guilty, stating he believed she needed a lesson. Betty was fined $5 and her license revoked for 30 days.

Pheasant Fascinated By Red Motor Truck

LITTLETON, Mass. (U.P.)—A beautiful cock pheasant has a strange fascination for a big red oil truck that passes a certain section of woods here every day.

Vernon Wood says the pheasant comes out of the woods and runs along beside the truck's front wheel, jumping and spurring at it as it moves. After the truck has gone about an eighth of a mile, the bird returns to the woods.

It seems that Pete, the name given the bird by Wood, likes only this truck because it doesn't bother with any of the other trucks of the same color and size that use the same road.

the demand of every type of tourist customer.

For the tourist who would enjoy water sports, we offer the Gulf of Mexico from Sabine Pass to Boca Chica, and numberless fresh water streams and lakes. The mountain climber will find abundant opportunity throughout the Trans-Pecos area for this sport, the hunter will find game in abundance throughout the Hill Country.

For those who seek a delightful haven, far from the cold blasts of sub-zero weather, Texas offers every known variety of winter climate.

The health seeker, too will find Texas a haven of refuge, regardless of the climatic prescription his doctor may write. Our winter places are a constant delight to thousands each year, who find in our waters new energy and happiness. The sun shine, dry air and medium altitude of West Texas has long been noted for its therapeutic value in the treatment of diseases of the chest.

To those who seek historic lore, Texas is indeed a rich store house. Our commodity to tempt the tourist is present in a wide and interesting variety. Our job is to sell it to the millions who travel.

The Texas State Highway System, is in itself a temptation to the tourist. In my work, I drive through ten states from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic Coast, and no state that I visit has a system of highways that will compare with Texas, in beauty, safety and comfort. The engineering and building of highways has brought a hearty applause from thousands of visitors. The sloping shoulders add much to the safety of the road.

The hundreds of beautiful Wayside parks afford a delightful rendezvous for the weary traveler.

While other states, especially western states are establishing "ports of entry," retarding in a measure the free flow of inter-state traffic across their borders, the Texas Highway Department has established at all important gateways, a veritable Hospitality House, to welcome the visitor and furnish detailed information about the highways of Texas and points of interest.

The Texas State Parks Board, has completed 33 tempting spots for the tourist to visit, and have secured title to 20 additional sites, which will soon be developed. The present system is composed of 104,717 acres in 53 selected areas of Texas.

These spots of historic interest or rare natural beauty should be a lure to Texans as well as our out of state visitors. Texans owe it to their state to visit its points of interest.

I have set for myself the goal of visiting every State Park, and I am happy to report that I am about half way through the program. Last year 155,000 guests visited Carlsbad National Park, and viewed that great wonder of nature. Of that number 55,000 or 35.4 percent were Texans. During the same time only 21,000 people saw Longhorn Caverns, the third largest cave of its kind yet discovered.

Too long have we in Texas been spending the tourist across the state and returning to California. U. S. 80, The Broadway of America, from Dallas west, has been a race track for California bound tourists, and all we secured was what they spent in passing through the state. The time has arrived for us to halt a part of this business in Texas.

We now know its value. . . for example in Dallas last year, we created in the Central Centennial Exposition, a tourist appeal that brought one hundred million fresh dollars to Dallas. With the hundreds of natural appeals that Texas has we can make the tourist business the states leading industry.

Tourists come in two varieties; those who wish to participate in sports and other recreational events and those who wish to be merely spectators.

Those communities who wish to attract the visitor must therefore provide for his needs. My attention was called to an incident that happened in a Rio Grande Valley town some time ago. A doctor from Detroit came to town with his family to spend a month in the delightful surroundings afforded in the Rio Grande Valley. He visited the citrus groves, drove the length of the Valley, visited Old Mexico, and then returned to the Chamber of Commerce office with the question

SOUTH'S HERO IN DEFEAT COL. ROBERT EDWARD LEE, in 1861, had already gained renown as a military leader, when President Lincoln asked him to command the Union army against the Confederacy. Lee, however, was a Virginian, of proud and renowned heritage, and he declined the offer. Instead, at the age of 55, he took command of the army of Virginia, and later became general at the head of the entire Confederate army.

Lee was a soldier from the age of 18, when he entered West Point, until his defeat in 1865. He moved upward quickly after his heroic work during the Mexican War. Despite several outstanding victories in the war between the states, he failed because of the overwhelming odds against him.

After the war, he became president of Washington College, now Washington and Lee University, and remained at that post until his death in 1870. His portrait appears with that of "Stonewall" Jackson on the new 4-cent army stamp.

CADETS ENTERING RANDOLPH FIELD ON MARCH 1 TO BE GRADUATED SEPTEMBER 1

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Texas.—When the 125 new flying cadets who entered the Army's "West Point of the Air" on March 1 have completed an eight month's course at the Primary Flying School, Randolph Field, they will be "finished" products—men who know how airplanes operate; how to repair motors, how to fly airplanes, read weather maps, and to do a host of other things which makes the military aviator more than just a "pilot."

Many of these cadets who have specialized in plane designing during the course of instruction will take their places in commercial aviation fields as aeronautical designers; others will become aeronautical engineers, some commercial transport pilots and others will find the field of radio open to them by reason of their training and experience with aviation short-wave radio during the cadet course.

The use of the two-way radio system of communication between the airplane and ground station is almost universal now in the field of commercial aviation. But the "military" pilot is taught the use of codes in short-wave radio. The obvious disadvantages of lack of secrecy, susceptibility to interference and interference with other services are overcome by the use of the code system.

The flying cadet is not required to have a knowledge of the Morse Code when he enters the flying school.

Beginning with the alphabet and progressing steadily, the code course is designed to equip the student in a very short time to send and receive at the rate of 17 words per minute.

When the new cadets at Randolph have completed the first four months of their training on next July 1, they will be graduated from the Basic Stage into the Primary class. Here the principles of flying and the actual flying itself are expanded. During the first four months the student has learned all about the function of the plane and its instruments and has gone through preliminary flying instruction.

During the second four months the cadet gets his instruction in the most modern and well equipped airplane it is possible to provide, the basic trainer, which is equipped with all essential and proved types of instruments for navigation and instrument pilot. The new training as the student has mastered the transition period of basic training and is oriented in the Primary stage his instruction in instrument flying begins. The training is gradual, but at the end of the four months' course the student is an adept instrument pilot. The new training planes qualify the cadet in radio beam flying, radio orientation and the preliminary instrument landings.

As a part of the basic course is the all-important diversified flying experience which includes flights away from the training center fields. The course includes formation flying, strange field landings, night flying and cross country flying, both day and night over a territory of approximately 360,000 square miles.

The cross-country flights provides the requisite training and experience to fit the pilot for military service in tactical units of the air corps when at the end of the year he is commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air Corps-Reserve and placed on extended active duty with regular units of the U. S. Army Air Corps.

Here in the Primary stage the cadets put to practical use all of the intricate flying maneuvers they have learned in the Basic Stage, including forced landings, figure 8's, chandelles, advanced spirals, hurdlies, spins, loops, half rolls, rolls, slow rolls, vertical reverses and Immelmann turns.

There also will be extensive practice in the use of the aircraft armament, the machine gun. The Air Corps uses seven different kinds of machine guns, all of the same general type, but differing enough mechanically to require separate instruction for each. The flying cadet, when he has completed the machine gun course, will be able to strip and assemble each gun, will know the name and function of each part and will be able to operate the guns as intelligently as he flies an airplane.

The Air Corps Training Center has gained the enviable reputation of training the finest pilots for all phases of flying, and the new cadets at Randolph Field will be nearing the standard of perfection required for graduation as "military pilots" when at the end of eight months' training at Randolph Field they are transferred to Kelly Field, near San Antonio, for the final four months, intensive training in the Air

New York's Fair To Be "Pivoted" on 200 Foot Sphere

NEW YORK, Mar. 18 (Special).—The New York World's Fair of 1939 will be "pivoted" architecturally on a great white sphere, 200 feet high, flanked by a slender 700-foot triangular obelisk, according to plans for the Exposition's Theme Center made public today by Grover Whalen, president.

The sphere, containing a dramatic interpretation of the Theme of the fair—Building the World Tomorrow—will appear to visitors to be poised on a cluster of fountains above a circular reflecting pool. By night it will be spotted in colored patterns of moving light, creating the illusion that it is revolving slowly on its axis.

The obelisk rising from the bank of the pool and linked to the sphere by a bridge, will be the fair's beacon. It will also be the Exposition's sound tower. Long range projectors are being developed which will throw in beams and make possible the broadcasting of announcements from the tower to any section of the fair without overlapping or unpleasant variations in volume.

Although both sphere and triangle are among geometry's simplest forms, neither has ever before been employed in formal architecture. Fair experts are still searching for a word which adequately describes the tower.

The design of the Theme Center is the work of Wallace K. Harrison, and J. Andre Foulhoux, New York architects. It represents the final distillation of more than 1,000 preliminary sketches of every conceivable type of structure ranging from a great tower 1,500 feet high to a huge ball surmounted by an even larger hoop around which an observation car would travel.

The center will be located in the middle of the exhibit section of the Exposition. Avenues will radiate out from it to all of the great exhibit zones in which the various phases of modern life—such as Shelter, Food, Welfare, Production, etc.—will be depicted. Great elms, fifty feet high, now being transplanted to the fair grounds in Flushing Meadow Park, will form a shaded promenade around the center.

Corps Advanced Flying School. Here the cadet becomes a part of a great team, the Army Air Corps, and as such is given the final touches which will label him an expert aviator and technician.

The sphere and obelisk, estimated to cost $1,200,000, will both consist of steel frames covered with some light substance. The 5,760,000 pound weight of the sphere will be carried on eight steel columns twelve feet high. Its only entrance (in fact the only opening other than air vents) will be high up on the side fifty feet off the ground. This entrance will be reached by an escalator sixty five feet long, which will be the longest in the world.

Within the sphere visitors will step onto a slowly moving platform, according to present plans, which will be like a great washer revolving in mid-air. From both sides they will gaze down on a panorama presenting in simple dramatic fashion the complicated relationships of man to his fellow men and demonstrating the ever-increasing need for cooperation of all elements in society.

The movement of life and materials from city to country, from port to port, will be shown by the use of models, pictures, etc. One scene will fade away to give place to another. They will stretch far off to the horizon, while overhead interpretive patterns of light and clouds will move across the vast dome.

The platform will hold about 1,500 spectators and make a complete revolution every fifteen minutes. The exit will open onto the bridge to the tower, from which stairs and a ramp will lead to the ground.

The ramp, circular in shape will curve three quarters of the way around the pool, forming part of the architectural background of the Center. It will be 900 feet long and will serve on occasion as a great runway for the staging of pageants and parades. From it visitors will be able to survey the entire grounds.

In announcing the plans Mr. Whalen said: "We promised the world something new in fair architecture and here it is—something radically different and yet fundamentally as old as man's experience; something simple as to form, beautiful and structurally sound. We believe that in these plans the architects have expressed not only the festive quality inherent in an exposition but also a suggestion of what we may expect in the architecture of tomorrow."

Work on the Theme Center is expected to get under way in May. Construction of the Fair's Administration Building already is in progress, and plans are now being drawn for seven other buildings. It is expected that the design of a new building will be begun every ten days. Total cost of the entire exposition, including related city improvements, is expected to exceed $125,000,000. More than 300 structures will be erected on the 1,216-acre site, and it is estimated that the attendance in 1939 will total 50,000,000 persons.

Tourists--

"What next?", to which there was no answer. The next day he advised the secretary of the chamber of commerce that he had made a mistake, and asked that his mail be forwarded to the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

If you want to know how to entertain the tourist, visit Florida and California... they get them and hold them. One of the outstanding attractions Texas has had for the past few years, has been our racing meets in various sections of the State. It seems that Gov. Allred and the present legislature are determined to remove this attraction. May I say here, that I have never attended a horse race in Texas and I have never bet a penny on a race, but I would be the last one to deny you that pleasure. I hope that they do not outlaw horsemanship, for when they do that they will deprive many of us of our favorite form of "bending exercise". In passing if you doubt the pulling power of racing events, take a look at what is happening at Santa Anita, Hialeah, Tropical Park or Oak Lawn.

The first step in luring the tourist is to provide for his "vacation needs" and the next step is to tell the world about what we have to offer. The old theory of building a better mouse trap and having the world make a beaten path to your door, has long since been exploded. Advertising is blazing the trails of modern commerce.

New Mexico with an appropriation of $50,000 last year harvested $80,000,000 tourist dollars. Thirty three and seven tenths per cent of the out of state cars entering New Mexico last year bore a Texas license. Mississippi is now spending $100,000 appropriated by the last legislature, to attract industry and visitors.

Louisiana has appropriated a somewhat larger sum, and Arkansas has set aside a sum reported to be in the neighborhood of $200,000 for advertising the wonders of the "Wonder State."

Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul has crystallized a sentiment that has pervaded Texas for a number of years, in his very fine suggestion that advantages gained by our Centennial Advertising be carried on in a continuous campaign.

To many the subject is not new, and I am sure that we are all delighted to have it brought to the attention of the citizenship of the State in the forceful manner in which Mr. Woodul has presented it. Local communities were the first to see that Community advertising could be made to pay dividends. This was followed by the advertising of sections of the country, and then by states, and now the New England States join in a great campaign directed to the nation, and calling attention to the many delightful vacation spots in New England. The All Year Club of Southern California and of course to the hundreds of delightful spots in be both practical and workable. First: We do not need a million dollars a year to advertise Texas. The Texas Centennial Commission did the outstanding job of travel advertising for the year 1936 with just half that amount, hence the suggestion that the fund be limited to $500,000.

We have in Texas the finest highway department of any state in the Southwest. They have also demonstrated their ability in the field of advertising by publishing last year the nation's most attractive State

Following the suggestion of Lieut. Gov. Woodul many organizations have come forward with suggestions. This was to be expected since no suggestion was made as to how the program could be financed. One has suggested that a small tax be levied. But... with the tax payer now bent double with his tax burden, and even more in the offing, this idea seems to have died aborning. Another suggestion was that it should be financed by "private subscription" and handled by the Texas Manufacturers Association. This suggestion at once met with the opposition of "private" individuals who did not feel that they should be called upon to advertise the entire state program.

Highway map. They have also given their endorsement to "Texas Parade", a most attractive travel magazine.

My confidence in their ability, prompts me to suggest that such legislative action be taken as will be necessary to establish within the Highway Department a division of advertising and publicity; that they be authorized to spend from their funds not more than $500,000 annually in national advertising, maps and follow-up booklets.

We have enough departments and bureaus of an independent nature... the suggestion just made will not create any new bureaus, will not set up any new tax supported agencies, and will not divert the highway funds from the use of the Highway Department, but will reinvest a part of the $5,830,404.07 increase in gasoline tax for the year 1936 over 1935 in the creation of more revenue for both the school and road funds, from the increase in tourist travel in and through the State of Texas.

We have built one of the finest systems of highways in the Union, it is now time to utilize it in the development of the tourist industry.

The campaign I would propose would be four fold in its appeal:
1—The scenic attractions of the State.
2—Texas, a land for the vacationist, fishing, hunting, etc.
3—Texas' industrial opportunities.
4—Colonization.

Southern California reports that one out of every ten who have visited there return to make their home. This will create markets for the consumption of the products of industry.

In closing may I quote a statement made by my friend Charles A. Horroth, of the All Year Club of Southern California, when he said, "California gets a return of $39.84 on every dollar invested in National advertising."

Beware The Cough

From a common cold
That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cassara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv)

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge or correct social usages by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. When a woman who is wearing street clothes in the evening goes to a hotel to dance, does she wear a hat?
2. Is it poor taste for a girl to put on make-up while she is on the dance floor?
3. Must the men who have attended a dinner before going to a dance ask the hostess and other girls present at the dinner for a dance?
4. Is it polite to insist that another person drink when he once refuses?
5. It is courteous for a hostess to offer cigarettes to both men and women when she herself is not smoking?

What would you do if—
You are at a dance where there is a stag line and you are having a miserable time being a wall-flower—
(a) Leave?
(b) Try to grin and stick it out?
(c) Go to the dressing room and wait until the dance is over?

- ANSWERS
1. Yes, a woman always wears a hat with street clothes.
 2. Yes, she should go to the dressing room.
 3. Yes, they are even spoken of as "duty dances."
 4. No, it is rude and inexcusable.
 5. Yes.
- Best "What Would You Do" solution—(a). This is one time when it is wisest to admit defeat.

Simple Home Treatment For Varicose Veins

Swollen veins may become dangerous and sometimes break. Sufferers are advised to get an original bottle of Emerald Oil at Palace Drug Co. or any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once. A small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush or the finger tips as directed until the swelling is reduced.

So effective is Emerald Oil that it is highly useful in reducing troublesome simple swellings due to strain and hastens their disappearance. (Adv.)

Leslie Howard says Luckies are "tops" with his throat

"Years ago, as an ambitious young actor, I was impressed how well my throat liked Luckies and how well they suited my idea of a perfect cigarette. That impression still stands. In my recent tour of 'Hamlet', with its many performances each week and the attendant tax on my throat, I have been convinced anew that this light smoke is both delightful to my taste and the 'top' cigarette for an actor's throat."

Leslie Howard

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Howard verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

600 STUDENTS DIE PRINCIPAL SAYS

Attention Called to Number Incendiary Fires In The State

AUSTIN, Texas, Mar. 18.—Marvin Hall, Fire Insurance Commissioner of Texas, called attention today to the astounding number of incendiary fires which are costing the people of the State an enormous sum of money yearly. Sixty-eight indictments and 23 convictions for the offense of arson were obtained in 1936 Hall pointed out.

"Behind all incendiary fires there is a motive," said Hall, "and as a general rule such fires are considered profit fires brought about by financial distress, and there always is sufficient insurance coverage, and many times more than sufficient, to lend encouragement to the crime, which latter condition has long been referred to as over-insurance." The Fire Commissioner asserted that over-insurance to a large extent can be averted by a close inspection of the physical and moral hazards surrounding the risks in question by the insurance underwriters and their representatives. Such inspection feature is one of the fundamental requirements of good underwriting, enunciated the Commissioner.

"Arson is a very dangerous thing and can never be carried out with any degree of safety although records disclose that it is being attempted continually."

Hall further declared: "It was through the efforts of City Fire Marshals and Fire Departments of Texas, cooperating with District and County Attorneys, Peace Officers, and three Assistant State Fire Marshals, that 68 indictments and 23 convictions for the offense of arson were secured during 1936, and during the same year on indictments secured there were 3 acquittals for arson, 12 individual arson cases dismissed and 22 individual arson cases pending trial at the end of the year many of the cases which should be disposed of during 1937. Since 1931 to 1936, inclusive, there have been 635 indictments and 294 convictions for the offense of arson."

"The fire loss ratio in Texas dropped from 75 per cent in 1931 to 27 per cent in 1935, that is, the fire loss dropped from $17,565,457 to $6,008,363 in 1935, which decline was due no doubt to a gradual improvement in economic conditions, better underwriting, vigorous investigation of incendiary fires, the general improvement in fire prevention and fire protection activities of local fire departments, and last but not least, to a general awakening on the part of the public that fire is taking a staggering toll each year in loss of life and the destruction of property."

"Much effective work in behalf of fire prevention has been accomplished in several Texas cities and towns through organized Fire Prevention Committees, and it is sincerely hoped that all cities and towns will follow the constructive idea of fire prevention through duly organized Fire Prevention Committees, for it is only through such organizations that an effective procedure of holding down the annual fire loss in Texas to a low figure will materialize," he said in his final summation.

Church Service Brought to Sitdown Strikers

Church services had come to the sitdown strikers of the Kercheval plant of the Chrysler Motor Corporation in Detroit when this picture was made as strikers sang in prayer and listened to the Rev. O. J. Nease in what probably was the first sitdown strike church service. The pastor took his church orchestra and a small choir into the plant for the service.

Rebel Cruiser Sinks Spanish Loyalist Arms Ship

When the history of the Spanish civil war is written, the Nationalist cruiser Canarias, above, may get credit for one of the war's decisive acts—the sinking of the blockade-running steamer Mar Cantabrico, loaded with a $2,700,000 cargo of munitions for the Loyalists. Airplanes, machine guns and ammunition the ship was transporting from the U. S. were desperately needed in the defense of Madrid. The Mar Cantabrico was sunk in the Bay of Biscay, off Gijon, near Bilbao, after trying for days to run the rebel blockade disguised as a British steamer. The crew was taken aboard the Canarias, wireless reports said.

Waterspout Kills Two Divers

DARWIN (UP)—Two young Malay divers were killed by a giant waterspout while pearl fishing off the Aru Islands, in the Malay Archipelago. The great spout flooded the boat in which the divers sat, sending it straight to the bottom.

SACO, Minn. (UP)—Fred Keither didn't catch his fish—he sawed it out. It happened when Keither was cutting ice on the Nelson reservoir. As he lifted out a block of ice, he discovered a four pound pike frozen solidly in the center.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED BY GOVERNOR ALLRED

(10:30 P. M. BULLETIN)

NEW LONDON, March 18 (AP)—Principal Troy Duran of the illfated high school, estimated the dead at near 670. His figure is considerably higher than other estimates given.

AUSTIN, Mar. 18 (AP)—Governor Jas. V. Allred declared martial law tonight in the New London district, calling out national guards from Tyler, Longview and Marshall. A military court to investigate the explosion is being set up for fast action.

NEW LONDON, Mar. 18 (AP)—An army of 1,500 civilians, composed of fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, oil field workers and others are frantically searching the ruins of the $1,000,000 consolidated high school building for dead students and teachers, together with those wounded, after the terrific explosion that blew the building to bits this afternoon about 3:20 o'clock.

Giant searchlights are throwing their mighty beams on the ruins tonight as thousands swarm the area looking for their children. Grief stricken mothers are pressing close to the lines of the rescue workers in an attempt to ascertain if their children are dead, injured or rescued without injury.

Superintendent E. C. Shaw dashed into the building soon after the explosion occurred and picked up a dead child, which happened to be his own. Thousands of frantic telephone calls to morgues, churches, the gymnasium and other places where the dead were taken, had to be refused because of the chaotic and congested conditions of the lines.

Automobiles parked near the scene at the time of the explosion were crushed as if large boulders had been rolled on them.

A Parent Teachers meeting was in session at the gymnasium when the death-dealing explosion occurred. Those at the meeting were the first to rush to the falling building.

Identification in many cases is almost impossible. Many of the children's clothes are ripped and torn and their faces blackened by the explosion and falling brick.

Churches, schools and hotels throughout this entire district have been turned into morgues and hospitals.

Superintendent Shaw said that undoubtedly a gas accumulation was the cause of the explosion. The entire building was heated by gas-steam radiators, with no boilers.

Raymond Bonner, Tidewater employee and an eye witness, said that the building went up like a dynamited tree stump.

R. K. Carr was one of the first to reach the scene. He dashed in to look for the body of his girl, but returned with other bodies and could not find that of his own. His clothes were smoldering when he emerged from the ruins.

One oil field worker said that he had counted more than 300 dead bodies and estimated that there were many more.

None of the 40 teachers in the building at the time of the impact had been accounted for alive.

FORTY TEACHERS DIE IN BLAST

NEW LONDON, Mar. 18 (AP)—It was at first estimated that from 200 to 500 students had been killed this afternoon when the explosion which shattered the large consolidated school here.

Jerry Sitton, city editor of the Kilgore Daily News, counted the bodies of 36 children who were trapped in the auditorium of the school and said rescue workers told him that there were between 200 and 500 dead, and 300 injured.

There were approximately 700 children in the building when it collapsed. Forty teachers also were in the building, and ten bodies of teachers had been accounted for.
