Ulmer, who is local director in the organization; Marion Flynt, president of the Midland chamber; Bill Collins, manager, and Marvin Park, high school youth who will enter the "My Home Town" speakers' contest.

Ulmer is a member of the convention works committee which will have charge of the principal activities to be brought to the convention floor.

The local chamber has entered the chamber of commerce activities contest, to be judged on 1936 accomplishments and on plans for 1937 work.

Invitation to Envoy Of Selassie Is Said Reason

Gaited Horses, In Training at Fair Park, Point to Possibility of Horse Shows, Use of Saddle Bred Stock Here

Headed by a handsome four year old stallion owned by C. T. McLaughlin, Midland drilling contractor and owner of the Diamond M ranch near Snyder, a stable of saddle horses has been opened at the Midland Fair plant, with "Red" Eagle, veteran horse trainer from Abilene, in charge.

The McLaughlin horse is named Anacacho Reuben, and is a son of the $40,000 horse, Edna Mae's King, owned by R. W. Morrison of San Antonio. The latter was three times grand champion saddle horse of America, in annual competition at Kentucky horse shows. The horse Anacacho Reuben is out of an equally high-bred mare, Francis Arstis.

Eagle is training the horse to a gait, with daily workouts, and will begin later at working him in his saddle gait.

McLaughlin also owns Tennessee's Choice, the only registered walking saddle stallion in Texas, and will bring him to the local stables in a few days.

Eagle and his wife, who are living at the Fair plant, own several saddle bred horses and are training others for various fanciers over the state. They have some horses of this type for sale and later may add a string for hire, conducting a regular riding stable business.

Included in their stable at present are Govanti Denmark, a five gaited gelding half brother to Tennessee's Choice; Queen of Texas, a five year old five gaited mare; Almighty, one of the foremost five-gaited horses in the state; a two year old colt, Clarendon Chief, owned by Frank Kelly of Colorado; also a three year old mare of Kelly's which is sired by Thornton Star. They will receive in a few days a three gaited mare owned by Mrs. Walt Donnelly of Fort Worth, the animal being named Joyce Hooper. Eagle also is training the five year old gray gelding, Silver Rex, owned by Chapple Davis of Midland.

Eagle sold last week a brown walking gelding to Clarence Scharbauer Jr., the pony being of Welsh breeding.

McLaughlin, whose horses have been seen in shows throughout the country, is ambitious to see saddle bred horses in use in this section and is advocating a horse show to be held at Midland Fair sometime during the year.

The board's study was to include a report of the number injured, property damage, responsibility for the crash, and a report to the Secretary of the Navy upon the cause, responsibility for the disaster, Captain Gordon Haines a member of the board, said.

Halsey reported the plane fell from a low altitude 200 miles west of the island of Oahu, sinking. The bodies are unrecovered.

Flynt and Manager Bill Collins are leaving today for Brownwood to attend the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

BY FRANK GARDNER

Opening of a new area in south-west Upton county several miles north and east of the old McCamey pool appeared assured at the week's end as R. H. Henderson (Basin Oil Properties, Inc.) No. 1 Harrington, a rank wildcat, encountered oil from 2,815 to 2,825 which rose 300 feet in 30 minutes and had reached 700 feet at the end of two hours. Operators halted drilling at 2,825 and are running a string of 5 3/16-inch casing which they will cement at around 2,780. Seven-inch has already been set, but water leaks have forced setting the small string.

The pay section from 2,815-25 was described as very porous limestone sand dolomite, coarsely oolitic. Although it occurred at a lower point, it probably corresponds to one of the McCamey pool pay horizons. With elevation of 3,111, the No. 1 Harrington topped brown lime at 2,685, datum of plus 426. It will be carried deeper into the pay section after pipe has been set.

Location of the discovery is 1,550

A DAY FOR REVERENCE

By W. I. PRATT

There is one word in the English language around which are clustered all the beauties of high and noble living. No other word used in relation to human affairs embodies more riches of lasting worth than the name "Mother." Often times I have taken other words and separating them from their correlated associations, have been able to view them in their abstract and thus meaningless form, but not so with that of "mother". It is practically impossible to separate this word and set it apart from all the elevating and noble characteristic qualities of human life. Truly it is symbolic of all that is pure and good. It has a charm that touches a responsive chord, whether from the lisping tongue of babyhood or the feeble voice of ripe maturity.

We honor Mother today by designating it as "Mothers' Day". And, of all special occasions this should be the dearest and best. To those whose lives are blessed by her living presence it offers an opportunity to make Her heart happy by our giving expression to our love and affection in any of the many ways that only a mother understands best. Every day should be "Mothers Days", and we can best honor her by striving each day to live up to her dreams, ideals and standards. And for those to whom mother is only a cherished memory, the day offers privileges of sacred reflections that will tend to elevate and at the same time strengthen you to carry on to the completion of the task in a way that you know she would have had you do.

"God could not be everywhere so He made mothers."

MORE TROUBLE

The statesmen who are pushing huge armament programs are having their headaches these days. Not only must they contend with militant, noisy minority opposition, but they must wring from an already heavily taxed people the money to build the sinews of war.

And now the Espana incident adds a new worry. When one of a fleet of five Spanish government planes loosed a bomb that crashed into the deck of the insurgent battleship, Espana, it accomplished what many believed impossible—it sank a ship.

Since the Espana's deck was not protected by the great armor plating carried on modern warships, no definite conclusion can be drawn from the incident, but it does hint at the possibility that billions of dollars being lavished by nations on battleships are being wasted. And brings just one more pang to the throbbing temples of rearmament interests.

Loyalist success in blowing up the Spanish Rebel cruiser off Bilbao suggests that sometimes it is wisdom to put all your eggs in one funnel.

The laundry workers' strike at Des Moines was comparatively mild because, it seems, everyone involved had to keep his shirt on.

With grade school graduations again at hand, it would be interesting to know which topped the list, diplomas or marriage licenses.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.) "I traded it in on a Buick," he replied.

Newspapers are keeping abreast of the times. Although most of them prefer not to use slang expressions too freely in their news columns, many of them resort to ingenuity in their head writing. For instance, one paper records births, marriages, deaths and divorces under the following caption: Hatched, Matched, Dispatched, Detached.

Many a man is broadminded enough that he forgives the enemies he cannot whip. After reading an advertisement about halitosis, a local man said: "None of us can smell ourselves as others smell us."

A newspaper says that the white collar class, including clergymen, doctors, lawyers, engineers, and other professionals are the least protected. They suffer from rises in prices, increased taxes, and other living costs. All I have to say in rebuttal that they are saved a lot of worries such as corporation taxes, undistributed profits taxes, employers' social security taxes and reports. Many a man at the head of a corporation would like to swap places with an enterprising doctor who is making a good living without labor costs and complexities.

A Midland man is proud of his iron constitution. But he should be reminded that iron usually rusts out, sooner or later. Once on an elevator, a man failed to remove his hat when a lady got on, and another man asked where was his chivalry.

Oil News--

Continued From Page One feet from the south and 1,650 feet from the east line of section 4, block 3 1/2, C. S. S. D. & R. G. N. G. survey. All of section 4, with the exception of the west half of the southwest quarter, which is held by L. H. Choate and Fred F. Hogan, was obtained by Henderson on a contract from the Standard Oil Company of Texas and carries a 1/16th straight override. The other major holder of acreage in the area is the Texas Company, which has several sections sold on practically all sides of the well.

In the Hogan area on the Crane county side of the McCamey field, Ennisserane Production Corporation has staked location for a short west extension test. Its No. 2-C Southland-Hughes, in section 4, block R, C. & S. F. survey. Choate & Hogan, contractors, are moving in material to the test, which is 660 feet northwest of the No. 1-C and 330 feet from the southwest line of the section.

Plan Andrews Test It was reported Saturday that Blanchard & Porter plan spudding of a wildcat test in extreme northwest Andrews county, practically on the Gaines county line, by May 23rd. Location will be the center of the southwest of the southwest of section 4, block A-30, public school land. Allan Hargrave and Lem Peters No. 1 Jerold Rloridan, wildcat southeast of the town of Andrews, resumed drilling at 1,525 in red rock after a shut-down for replacement of boiler. The test is 1,980 feet from the north and 860 feet from the west line of section 10, block A-44, public school land. Elevation is 2,163 feet.

Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Gray, semi-wildcat west of the Fuhrman pool in Andrews, was testing, bottomed at 4,309 feet in lime. Formation from 4,235-51 drilled soft. The well is in section 21, block A-42, public school land. Crockett Wildcat It was revealed Saturday that R. H. Henderson had assumed drilling obligation on the Fred T. Hogan block in western Crockett county several miles north of Tippet production in the Yates field of Peecos. The test, which will be designated as R. H. Henderson No. 1 Carl B. Hain, has been located 330 feet north and west of the southeast corner of the north half of the south half of the north half of section 88, block 1, I. & G. N. survey. It will be carried to 2,500 feet unless oil or gas in commercial quantity or sulphur water in the lime is encountered at lesser depth. Upon fulfillment of the contract, Henderson will receive seven 80-acre tracts out of the Hogan block, which consists of sections 85, 86, 87 and 88, all in block 1, I. & G. N. survey, and sections 1949 and 1950, C. L. Stuesser grantee, a total of 2,880 acres. Drilling must be started by May 15th.

In Reeves county, west of the town of Toyah, Grisham-Hunter Corporation No. 1 Montgomery, a Delaware test, is drilling at 4,033 feet in sand, shale and lime, showing one-half to a barrel of oil, basic sediment and water hourly. It had slight oil and gas shows above 3,971, where gas blew tools up and stuck them. The test is in section 1, W. B. King survey.

L. F. White and Eppenauer Drilling Company No. 1 Rector-Monroe, Delaware wildcat north of Barstow in western Ward, is drilling gray lime at 4,515, with no shows reported. It is in the east corner of section 3, block 1, W. & N. W. survey.

Pay Increase A big increase in pay was topped at 2,747 feet by Moore Brothers Corporation No. 1 TXL, eastern Howard wildcat between the Denman and Chalk pools, and oil rapidly rose 1,800 feet as drilling progressed to 2,770, still in the pay section. When bottomed at 2,725 feet, the well had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and pumped 50 barrels net oil in 24 hours. Operators will carry it down to the main Denman pay horizon, expected between 2,800 and 2,850. Location of the well is 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 33, block 30, township 1 south, T. & P. survey.

In the Goldsmith pool of Ector, Landreth No. 1-H Scharbauer was completed for initial potential of 1-348 barrels after acidizing pay between 4,137 and 4,210 with 3,500 gallons. Atlantic No. 3 Cowden flowed at the rate of 673 barrels a day following shot with 300 quarts, bottomed at 4,250.

Phillips No. 2 Jesse Cowden, wildcat southeast of production in the Goldsmith pool, is drilling at 4,264 in hard lime, showing a slight amount of oil coming from 4,230-35.

To Set Casing In Gaines county, Shell No. 1 S. F. Mann, Seminole structure test in section 220, block G, W. T. R. R. survey, is conditioning hole preparatory to setting 7-inch casing. Total depth is 5,002, corrected from 5,009 by steel line.

Magnolia No. 1 Taylor, northeast Yoakum wildcat, is standing after cementing 9 5/8-inch casing on bottom at 4,025 with 300 sacks. Standard tools will be rigged up. Location is in the northeast corner of section 201, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Steel line measurement corrected 5,133 to equal 5,134 in Hugh Corrigan et al No. 1 Lewright, southeastern Terry wildcat in section 1, block C-37, public school land. It is still shut down for orders pending decision to run pipe to shut off upper water. The well has shown a small amount of gas through a hole full of sulphur water and samples have borne saturation and odor of oil.

Northern Wildcat The intensive search for oil production in the northern counties of the West Texas Permian Basin has focused interest upon a wildcat test in Deaf Smith county 30 miles west of Hereford and 40 miles northeast of Clovis, N. M. It is the Western Union Oil Company of Amarillo No. 1 Farwell, located in the center of the northwest quarter of section 18, township 3 north, range 2 east.

At present, the well is shut down at 4,518 feet in salt and red beds pending arrival of 5,150 feet of 7-inch casing shipped out of Chattanooga, Tenn., early this week. Operators will resume drilling and carry the well to 6,000 feet, water or production. Jeffers Oil Company and L. H. Choate, formerly co-operators of the well with Western Union Oil Company, turned part of their acreage to Charles Flaherty of Cisco and George F. McCamey of Crane for deepening it after original contract of 4,500 feet had been satisfied. Flaherty & McCamey had been sub-contractors to L. H. Choate, the contractor. They are using a standard rig.

The geological background of the No. 1 Farwell is of interest. It is on what is known as the Garcia Lake structure, mapped and checked by many prominent geologists. The well went into the San Andres brown limestone at 2,615 feet, 1,611 feet above sea level. The San Andres is the producing "big lime" of the pools in Lea County, N. M., nearly 150 miles to the south. From 3,225 to 3,420 was solid lime section, and a showing of oil was logged at 3,375 feet in saturated brown lime. According to some geologists, there is a strong possibility of the well's finding production in the Pennsylvanian.

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

"Why are Banking hours so short?"

THE hours during which a bank is open to the public for the transaction of business are usually called, "Banking Hours." They are only a part of the working day for bank employees.

A bank is very much like an efficient housewife who has work to do before a dinner party and work to do after the guests leave. There is much work for employees to do before the bank opens to the public. At the close of "banking hours" window tellers count and balance their cash; bookkeepers prove accounts and tally ledgers; checks are arranged for clearance to other banks and to other cities; conferences are held; officers dictate and sign correspondence, go over reports and tend to many other duties.

Our bank does much of its work before and after "banking hours."

A CAREER? CERTAINLY SHE HAS ONE—MOTHERHOOD!

Mrs. Carl Gray Made Success of It

Mrs. Carl R. Gray, "the American Mother of 1937," happily scans the high roofs of Manhattan.

By NEA Service

NEW YORK, May 8.—The "American Mother of 1937" is a career woman.

She is Mrs. Carl R. Gray of Omaha, Neb., and her career has been that of a wife and mother and a church and community leader. Named the "American Mother of 1937" by the Golden Rule Foundation in New York, the clear-eyed gray haired wife of the president of the Union Pacific Railroad, was married when she was 17.

"Mr. Gray was only 19, and, at that time, his salary as a telegrapher was $15 a week," Mrs. Gray recalls. "However, we managed to get along and to raise three sons. Then, as now, my engagements always came second to my husband's comfort."

"Three precepts have guided my life," Mrs. Gray continued. "They are: Make a home for your family; practice the Golden Rule as well as teach it; never swerve from what you believe to be right."

Mrs. Gray's philosophy guided her to success in her chosen career. One son, Carl R. Gray, Jr., is vice president and general manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railroad. Another, Dr. Howard D. Gray, is with the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn. The third, Russell D., of Boston, is a member of the traffic organization staff of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Their father will retire from the position of president of the Union Pacific next fall, move to New York and become vice chairman of the railroad's board of directors.

Piano Students Win Honors At Big Spring Tournament

Nine Midland Youths Apply For Honors

Raymond Mann, twelve year old son of Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Mann was awarded national honors in the National Piano Playing tournament in Big Spring last week. Awards were made by Dr. Elliott Griffis of New York City, who judged the tournament and gave national, state or district honors to each of those who applied for them in the respective groups.

Those from Midland receiving state honors were Nell Ruth Bedford and Billy Noble.

District honors went to Doris Lynn Pemberton, Lou Nell Hudman, Dolores Barron, Joan Proctor, Payton Anderson, and Charlotte Kimsey.

Musical Situation Promising
"The musical situation in America is very promising at this time, with better instruction available to students of all classes and wider public interest in all phases of music," Dr. Griffis stated.

He is a musician, composer and teacher and before coming to Big Spring for the tournament there, officiated at Fort Worth and Longview for three days each and now is in San Angelo for the fourth annual tournament. He listened to 66 piano students play at Big Spring, and after leaving San Angelo will visit in ten other cities in Texas.

His compositions won a Juilliard Foundation scholarship and also a Pulitzer traveling scholarship, permitting study in Berlin, Paris, London and—most recently—in Vienna. This in addition to four years at Eastman School of Music in Rochester and two more at Yale.

But, it isn't necessary for anyone to go to Europe to study music, he told.
"I was only an observer of their method in Vienna rather than a pupil. Nothing in Europe rates ahead of the Juilliard School in New York, the Curtis in Philadelphia, Eastman in Rochester, or the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston."

Find Promising Pupils
His work, he said, was to help and advise both teachers and pupils in any way that he could and give them the benefit of his training and experience in their work. While not looking for genius, he admitted running across several students of promise—these he tried to give more to if at all possible. He admitted also he liked the idea of making the trip to Texas—his first incidentally.

Believer in Melody
However, Dr. Griffis considers composing his main interest, said that he favored a middle course between those who write dissonances for their own sake on the one hand and the so called "sweet" or cheap sentimental type on the other. "I am a believer in melody today, tomorrow and forever," he said.

Those who attend his concerts have a clearer exposition of his ideas along this line. They hear the "Rousseau Variations," a set of 11 variations on a melody credited to the French philosopher perhaps more familiar as the foundation of the nursery tune "Go Tell Aunt Rhoda." He also plays the "Set of Eight" poems and studies in contrasting moods such as "North Wind" as it whistled down the Hudson one winter around his 72nd Street apartment; "Child Asleep," a lullaby; "Willow Tree," etc. Then there's some dance music: A Spanish "Tango" and a waltz, "Memories of Vienna." The latter is still in manuscript form—to be published this year.

Among modern composers Dr. Griffis favors Deems Taylor for his "Looking Glass Suite" and opera, "Peter Ibbetson." He considers Stravinski a barbarian and dislikes Shostakovich exceedingly. Favored among music makers of an earlier day are Bach, Mozart, Brahms, Tschakowsky.

The second, the general spring presentation of pupils was enthusiastically received by parents and friends in attendance. # CARDS BEAT HOBBS 12-7; TWO TEAMS MEET TODAY AT 3:30

'LEFTY' NOOK PACES 15-HIT ATTACK WITH THREE HOME RUNS TO DRIVE IN 5 RUNS; 'RANDY' AND 'ERNIE' GET 3

Manager Davis Expected to Make Initial Appearance on Mound for The Red Birds in Today's Battle

The Midland Cardinals stretched their average to an even .300 yesterday afternoon when they defeated the Hobbs club here 12-7. The same two clubs will meet this afternoon at 3:30.

It was simply a matter of too much Nook and Dais for the New Mexicans. The powerful left fielder hit three home runs, two of them coming with one runner on base, and Dais struck out 11 batters while allowing only seven safeties.

The Red Birds went after the game in the first inning when Orr reached first on an error by Wham and Nook crashed his first four-ply of the day. They made another in the second, five in the third when Nook again hit one for four bases with one man aboard, three in the fourth and one in the sixth on the last homer by Nook. The big left-hander came up again in the eighth and the crowd yelled loudly for another homer but the best he could do was a weak infield fly to third base.

Orr and Schiffner shared batting honors with Nook, Orr coming through with a single and two doubles, Schiffner getting one double and two singles. Everybody on the club got at least one safe hit with the exception of Stein and Frost.

The PAYOFF

It's the "Cardinals Gas House Gang!" Showing all the characteristics that have made their parent club, the St. Louis Cardinals, famous, the Midland boys have been in there fighting for every point, charging the umpires en masse on questionable decisions, going into bases with spikes high and in general making themselves thoroughly disagreeable as far as Odessa at least is concerned.

Manager Joe Davis has already been chased from one game and drawn a reprimand from League President Price and more than one of the boys have narrowly escaped being tossed from the park. But where the youngsters have shown their true "Gas House Gang" spirit has been in the way they won their games. In every one of their three victories registered in the first four days of play they had to come from behind.

In the first game they spotted Odessa four runs in the first inning but kept plugging away until they had blasted out of the box the starting Odessa hurler and won the game 12-3. In the second game they managed to take an early lead but lost it later. But their showing was plenty complimentary as they made 8 runs on seven hits while the best Odessa could do was 9 runs on 14 hits.

They capped the third game after giving Odessa two runs while going scoreless themselves in the first three frames. But it was the third game in which they really registered the Payoff in the kind of team we have. Going into the eighth inning the score was 7-4 in favor of Odessa. By dint of some heady base running they managed to make two tallies in the eighth on one hit and a couple of walks. And the ninth was really a nightmare for Odessa. They blasted Woodyard, Odessa hurler in the first game, out of the box when Orr, leading off, rapped one for three bases, and continued an attack on Woods, the only Odessa pitcher to beat them, that netted them six runs before they were finally halted. Orr, besides his triple, got a single during the spurge.

Their fighting spirit has been all the more evident in each game after they suffered some adverse decision by officials. They have received decisions, plainly wrong, in each game that has cost them runs. The umpiring during the Odessa series has evidently been the sorriest that has ever been seen in league play. Not discounting the honesty of the officials, we believe they are as honest as the players, they have called them just as sorry for one club as the other. Both have had rallies choked off by some of the rottenest officiating it has ever been seen. They have to watch our misfortune to have to watch. The umpiring during the Odessa series has evidently been the sorriest that has ever been seen in league play. Not discounting the honesty of the officials, we believe they are as honest as the players, they have called them just as sorry for one club as the other. Both have had rallies choked off by some of the rottenest officiating it has ever been seen. They have to watch our misfortune to have to watch.

Odds and ends: The home run hit by Potocar in Odessa was one of the hardest hit balls we have ever seen. The fence is said to be 390 feet from home plate; the ball went over it on a line and kept traveling. It never got higher than 10 feet from the time it left the bat. If any club in the league folds up this year it will probably be Odessa. Attendance was poor the first two days and is likely to get worse unless improvements are made in the team. Charley Bryan has assembled a bunch of oldtimers who are past the stage when they can and will get out and attempt to out-hustle their opponents. The other day Dorley, the third baseman, hit one down to third base on the ground and wouldn't even run it out; Serafine picked it up, tagged a runner coming to third and then lobbed it over to first for a double play. Try to imagine one of the local youngsters pulling that on Joe Davis. "Al" Thomas really had hard luck in the final Odessa game—he only gave up five hits in seven innings but the team was behind when he went out so Noren got credit for the win. Johnny Smith, the Monahans one, picks Midland to finish fifth. He'd better not bet that way. "Rabbit" Stein, Card shortstop, served as a prop boy in Hollywood. And learned some Payoff on some of the movie stars. The Cards have a new left-hand hurler named Sick. Will it be him or the other clubs that get Sick when he tosses? When Davis was tossed out of the game the other day it was the second time in five years. Incidentally, it was the first time we ever heard a local manager be given the razz by home town fans when he was in the right. It was ignorance on the part of the fans. The pitcher had no right to throw the ball with the batter out of the box and that was what Davis was telling the ump. We'll leave off the name of the writer of the rest of this column—but we will admit that one sports writer here has a lot to teach his wife about the National Pastime: My Conception of Baseball Dear Sue: I had the most exciting time, nothing quite so thrilling has happened to me since I was married nearly six months ago—I went to a BASEBALL GAME. You know my husband is simply mad about baseball but I never was very enthusiastic about that kind of sport. I remember once before we were married, he sent me a special delivery invitation to meet him that afternoon to see the Cubs play the Tigers—Well—he never showed up. I waited for him all afternoon at the Lincoln Park Zoo—now can you imagine that? Well yesterday was

Red Herefords Meet Shepherders In San Angelo Today at 3:30

The Midland Red Herefords, negro baseball team, will journey to San Angelo today for a game with that town's Black Shepherders.

The local club won here last Sunday to maintain a perfect record for the season. San Angelo was defeated until they met the Herefords.

The Herefords roundly outplayed the visitors last week, making 16 hits while Left, their pitcher, gave up only four bingles. A large number of Midland fans are expected to follow the team to San Angelo for the game today.

Pioneer Resident Victim of Death

Gus Mattson, about 75, a resident of Midland for approximately 23 years, succumbed to a three-weeks illness last night at the home of Woody Strader, his residence for a long period.

"Uncle Gus", as he was commonly known to local residents, came to the United States from Sweden when he was a youth of 15, and so far as friends know never corresponded with any relatives. He was a railroad employe for 38 years and for the last nine years had been on a pension. He was with bridge gangs and water service crews, spending his first fifteen years here as pump-er for the Texas and Pacific.

Funeral services are pending the arrival of friends from Baird, where he formerly worked.

War Admiral Leads All The Way to Win Derby

Pompoon Is Second, Reaping Reward Is Third

CHURCHILL DOWNS, LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 8. (AP)—War Admiral, son of Man O' War and the favorite, raced to a smashing victory in the sixty-third running of the Kentucky Derby today, before a crowd of 63,000.

War Admiral led from start to finish, beating J. H. Louchheim's Pompoon by two lengths, and Mrs. Ethel Mars' Reaping Reward by five. Charles Kurtsinger, Louisville boy who rode Twenty Grand to his record breaking triumph in the 1931 Derby, gained his second victory in the good time of 2:03 1-5. The distance was a mile and a quarter.

War Admiral after behaving badly at the post, broke in front and was never headed.

The winner was the second son of Man O' War to capture the classic. The time was the second fastest in the history of the race, only Twenty Grand's 2:01 4-5 exceeding the remarkably fast performance.

The rest of the field was well beaten on Fairy Hill and Heedily, hope of the Texas contingent, followed War Admiral's pace for the first three quarters but were beaten off on the last turn.

The winner rewarded his owner, Samuel C. Riddle, with the bulk of the prize money, $52,575, with $6,000 to Pompoon, $3,000 to Reaping Reward and $1,000 to Melodist which ran fourth.

Girls Interested In Something Else, Beauty Contest Off

Due to the lack of interest on the part of the young ladies of Midland, the Frontier Fiesta contest, scheduled to be held at the Yucca Theatre May 12, under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, for selection of a Midland representative to take part in the final Texas Sweetheart No. 1 contest at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta the latter part of May, has been cancelled according to J. Howard Hodge theatre manager and a member of the entry selection committee of the chamber of commerce.

Merchants of the city cooperated to the fullest extent in regard to the contest, 31 local merchants signing up to enter sponsors in the local contest. Enough girls could not be secured, however, to make the contest interesting and successful, so the contest is being dropped.

160 Acres of Land Lost

GOLD BEACH, Ore. (U.P.) — A half section of land purchased by Charles G. Johnson, Milaca, Minn., in 1902 and on which he has paid yearly taxes of $35 is missing. Johnson decided to take a trip west and look at his land, supposedly rich in timber. Arriving here, he made a trip up the Rogue River, but returned without finding his property.

Law Flaunted in Courthouse

PORTLAND, Ore. (U.P.) — Multnomah County courthouse, supposedly the building in which all acts are done in the name of the law, is facing a serious problem. Nine hats, several overcoats and other articles of clothing have been reported stolen by jurors and county employees. The sheriff's office and numerous amateur detectives are working on the case.

Building Morale Through P. T. A.

A portion of the talk by Mrs. J. W. Jordan at the last meeting of Junior High P. T. A.

In considering this topic of "Building Morale Through Parent-Teachers' Organization," we are bringing up a two-fold subject—that spirit of progress promoted by the united effort of parent and teacher which gives them confidence in each other; and, its necessary reaction on the child, an attitude of respect and reverence for home and school. The first we may call morale, that intangible mental state which makes any group action succeed or fail. The other becomes the simple word, morals, upon which the foundation of character rests. Both are derived from the same source and have to do with the establishment of the principles of right and wrong in human behavior.

The bewildering changes of the past twenty years which have affected so radically the home and school have revolutionized attitudes of parents and teachers, and in too many instances have left them only futilely perplexed in their attempts to adapt home training and formal education to meet the demands of modern complex life. This very complexity, however, has its merits for it is making imperative an essential quality too long regarded by both home and school with indifference and many times with opposition. That quality is cooperation—the keystone of all Parent-Teacher organizations. If we are going to succeed in our efforts to equip our children with the character and culture necessary for complete living, we must recognize the critical trend of our present situation, and direct our work accordingly.

When you and I were spending our school days, life was comparatively a simple affair. The center of our world was always home, and other attractions were only incidental. Attitudes were frequently inherited without question, for society and government were comfortably stabilized. We created most of our own amusements; we drifted gradually into the long-standing social codes, and we looked forward to our own future homes that would be largely replicas of those in which we lived. Then came the World War. It left in its wake, social and domestic problems more overwhelming than the massed sum of the war debts. It let down barriers of social and moral convention, and there has continued to surge in on the flood tide a torrent of new ideas, new attitudes and new standards, until the world today is truly at sea and groping desperately for anchorage. Much of the new is good, much is doubtful, and much is definitely bad. And this is the problem that home and school are facing today. We, parents and teachers, who influence so vitally the formative years of our children must build firmly the foundation upon which they are to erect the superstructure of their lives.

Realizing the enormity of the task before us, we parents and teachers, must be prepared to submerge our personal differences and prejudices and lend ourselves whole-heartedly to the united service it will require. It is difficult for parents to study their children impersonally, even occasionally, and see them as others do. It calls for infinite patience on the teacher's part to temper her justice with the sympathetic understanding that each individual personality deserves. We are encouraged and warned when we remember that if two forces are pulling together there is progress; if they are pulling apart there is destruction.

Three nations, England, Italy, and France, are entered in the New York-to-Paris Lindbergh race. In addition, a syndicate of British sportsmen are entered also.

The king and queen of England have ordered a plane with a seating capacity of six persons, and a speed of 180 miles an hour.

BOOK REVIEW

By A. W.

Suns Go Down—Flannery Lewis; Macmillan Company, New York City.

Grandmother, in her New England hoopskirts, eloped with Grandfather Flannery in 1862 to Virginia City, Nevada. Though she has been living in this western mining town for over seventy years she still considers New England the only civilized spot on the earth. Grandmother, as portrayed by her grandson, Flannery Lewis, has become one of the most interesting characters in American literature. Suns Go Down is half portrait and half memoir of an independent old lady of ninety.

Grandmother arrived in Virginia City when it was inhabited only by men, prostitutes, and Piute women. But in spite of her social position she never pretended not to see the things that took place, she let nothing escape her. From her memories her grandson has reconstructed the history of an interesting city and the past of an interesting old lady.

She remembers the shocking behavior of the pall-bearers at Sugar Foot Jack's funeral. While the corage was passing the Silver Dollar Saloon the whistle of the approaching train was heard. Mourners and pallbearers left the dead in the street in front of the saloon and ran to the depot to help pull in the train. She remembers the food when the town was on a boom: four-bit meals with ten kinds of meat and four kinds of pie; and two-bit meals with only two kinds of meat, no pie.

Miss Bryan and Glenn Jones Married Here

Miss Ruth Bryan and Mr. Glenn Jones were married Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Rev. W. J. Coleman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, with Rev. Coleman officiating.

Mrs. Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bryan of Brownfield, and she is secretary for Stubbenman, McRae and Sealy, attorneys.

Mr. Jones is formerly of Sweetwater and is an employee of Gulf Pipe Line Company.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico the couple will be at home in Midland.

Miss Ernestine Bryan, sister of the bride, was present at the ceremony.

Special Mother's Day Services Here Today

Midland is observing the 5th anniversary of Mother's Day by special services in all of the churches. Mrs. M. A. Parks will sing a special song for the Naomi Class this morning and Miss Frances Eamham will play a Mother's Day selection for offertory. This is an inter-denominational class for women which meets each Sunday morning in the Private Dining room of Hotel Scharbauer. Mrs. J. Howard Hodge is teacher.

At the First Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. W. J. Coleman, will preach on the subject "That Godly Mother: Hannah." The choir will sing "Mother" composed by Mrs. Emma Allen Bailey, and O. M. Hurst of Straun will play a violin solo, accompanied at the organ by his daughter, Mrs. Lem Peters.

Rev. Cliff M. Epps, pastor of the First Methodist church, will preach this morning on the subject "Religion and Motherhood." There will be special music.

The Baptist church worships with the First Christian church today. Rev. J. E. Pickering will preach at the morning hour. His sermon subject is "Mother of Mine! Mother of Mine!" The Christian church will have a special Bible school program, all classes meeting together in the main auditorium. Rev. Winston F. Borum will preach at the evening service. At 6:45 tonight the N. S. Q. of B. T. U. of the First Baptist church, having a special Mother's Day program, with parents of members as guests.

According to local florists, the most popular floral gifts for Mothers this year are azalia and hydranga plants. Red carnations and roses are sent as Mother's Day gifts more than any other cut flowers.

The origin of Mother's Day is in dispute. The first tribute to Mother on record is when a red-haired school teacher, Miss Mary Towles Sasseen invited mothers of her pupils to visit the school and participate in a ceremonial organized in their honor and to honor motherhood. A program of songs and recitations about mother, motherhood and the home was presented, and the event was so successful that Miss Sasseen held a Mother's Day ceremony each year thereafter while she remained in school work. Also she quietly promoted a Mother's Day observance in other communities.

It was the dream of Miss Sasseen to have April 20, become nationally recognized as Mother's Day, because that was the birthday of her mother, to whom she was intensely devoted.

While this account of the origin of an annual tribute to mothers is amply supported by historical data, a controversy over the allocation of the honor of founding Mother's Day has developed in recent years. Friends of Miss Anna Jarvis, an elderly Philadelphia woman, maintain that she is responsible for this annual memorial to motherhood, and that any honor or recognition attached to it should rightfully go to her.

They base their claim on the fact that in 1907 (a year after Miss Sasseen's death), when there was as yet no general recognition of a Mother's Day and no day set aside by the public to honor motherhood, Miss Jarvis began actively to work toward that end. She was apparently very energetic in the matter and among other things is credited with having prompted the movement in Congress which resulted in the adoption in 1914 of a Congressional resolution, signed by President Wilson, which officially designated the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day. While the chronology of events clearly records that Miss Sasseen initiated the annual tribute to Mothers, it would also seem to justify the Jarvis claim that she really placed it on an established basis.

It is red coral that is and always has been prized, not solely for jewelry and buttons, but as a charm to bring safety, health and secrets not revealed to the ordinary person. As ancient Gauls rushed headlong into battle, they trusted their safety to their swords, strength and the "magic" coral imbedded in their shields or helmets. Many Italians and Indians regard coral as protection against the "evil eye." The world's red coral comes from the reefs off the Mediterranean coast of Africa, says the Washington Post, and is obtained chiefly by Italians.

Last Pictures of Ill-Fated Zeppelin

As the Hindenburg exploded at Lakehurst, N. J., Thursday night, an Acme Telephoto photographer—his camera focused on the mammoth dirigible—snapped the above picture, one of the most remarkable news shots ever taken.

The airship was dropping her lines to be hauled into the navy mooring mast, and photographers were following a routine assignment. Suddenly the explosion demolished an entire section of the dirigible's structure and the "Flying Hotel" burst into a mass of flame.

Rushed to New York, this picture was sped across the continent by Telephoto to appear here with news of the disaster.

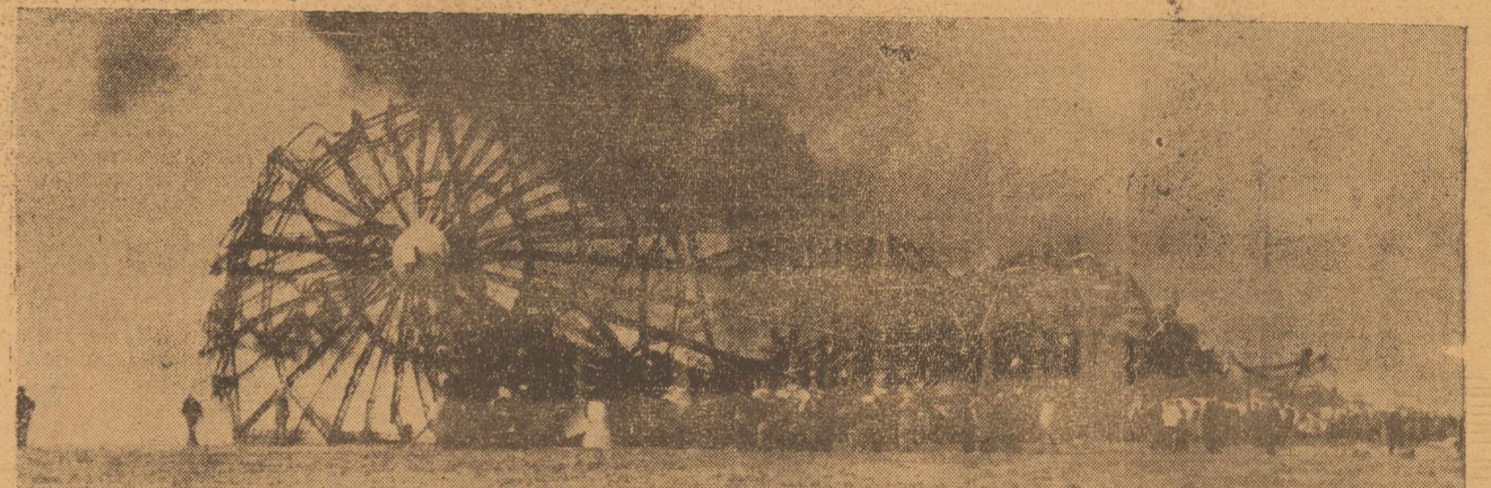

Wrapped in flames, the Hindenburg crashed to earth at Lakehurst Thursday night. This picture shows the giant dirigible as it settled to the ground.

Allan Kirby, Meteoric New Ruler of "Railroad Empire," Is Rich "Boy" Out to Make Good With Fabulous Fortune

So Shy All Strangers Consider Him As Stand-Off-Ish

Here's a new name to file away in your memory—Allan P. Kirby. It's a name you are sure to see in headlines in months to come, for Allan P. Kirby is the new ruler of the $3,000,000,000 Van Sweringen railroad "empire," America's newest railroad magnate. One by the meagerest information about him was obtainable even in Wall Street, but in a flying trip to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Morris Gilbert, Reporter-Telegram-NEA Service staff correspondent, dug out the amazing story of the Kirby fortune, the man who has made financial history. He paints the fascinating word picture of America's newest phenomenon in two colorful articles, of which this is the first.

By MORRIS GILBERT
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 7.—The rich man's little boy who always played with the biggest and fanciest toy trains in town, has grown up now to become master of a real railroad 28,000 miles long—with more locomotives and cars than he ever could have dreamed of in his nursery forty years ago. Allan P. Kirby, son of Wilkes-Barre's wealthiest and most benevolent citizen, is the most important member of the young triumvirate which bought control of the gigantic but comatose Van Sweringen rail "empire" the other day. For it was mostly Kirby money, people in a position to know here say, that figured in the deal that created a new royal house in the railroad world.

Son of Fred Morgan Kirby, a founder of the great P. W. Woolworth Company, Allan Kirby is actually closer than even Countess Barbara Hutton Von Haugwitz to that inexhaustible, gigantic fountain-head of nickel-and-dime millions which is an American merchandising miracle. He probably has or controls more money than the famous Barbara herself, since he recently took over most of his father's affairs because of the latter's ill health. The elderly Kirby's Woolworth interests have never been split up, and it is understood here that he is the largest or next-to-largest shareholder in the vast enterprise.

LOCAL RICH BOY OUT TO MAKE GOOD
Wilkes-Barre out to few days ago, called Allan P. Kirby "Allan." The name was not uttered with familiarity, because Allan Kirby is not an easy man to know. He has the reputation of being stand-offish. Actually he is shy, like his father, friends say. The name was spoken in a tone of amused indulgence, as less fortunate people often speak of a typical rich man's son. Now the conquest of the Van Sweringen realm shows "Allan" in a new light to his fellow-townsmen. He is no longer the diffident child in a Fauntleroy suit of earlier days, no longer the mere reflection of his philanthropic father. Gone are the days when "Allan" was principally known as a merry alumnus of Lafayette College over in Easton, filling his "chateau" up on the mountain there with classmates at reunion-time. (The "chateau" was a replica of one of General Lafayette's, the chairs and other furniture so cheerily smashed for love of the old college were genuine Lafayette heirlooms garnered expensively in France.) Gone are the days of "Allan's" minor and one too successful business ventures in Wilkes-Barre, including a major distributing agency and a packing company. "Allan" is out on his own now, serious in his own right.

In size, the ex-Van Sweringen complex is the biggest unified privately-owned system in the world. Only the Russian and German unified networks are bigger, but they are state-owned. The controlled real estate and industrial offshoots bulk mighty large. Allan Kirby is biting off a big mouthful. But Wilkes-Barre points out what most news reports have hitherto ignored: that Kirby is not entirely a novice in railroads. His father was until recently a director and member of the executive board of the Lehigh Valley for many years. Although the son has not succeeded him, it is probable that he has been aware of rail problems and technique for a long time.

Wilkes-Barre boasts of ranking second in per capita wealth among American cities according to census figures. It is peppered with anthracite millionaires luxuriating in big four-square mid-Victorian homes along South River Street, whence they can gaze across shady lawns to the Susquehanna and bosky

The head that wears the late Van Sweringen brothers' crown—it's the head of Allan P. Kirby, son of a Woolworth magnate—looks mighty uneasy as the young man in his Wilkes-Barre, Pa., office plunges into the new and staggering job of ruling the biggest "rail empire" in America. So much to do, so little time to do it in! is Kirby's attitude as he browses sharply up from his papers and grants the camera-man "two minutes—not more!" Below the Woolworth store in Wilkes-Barre which still bears the name of Allan Kirby's father, F. M. Kirby, who opened his first five-and-ten cent store in September, 1884.

Kirby park on the other bank. By local calculation there are, besides the Kirbys, at least nine other Woolworth millionaires in town, their fortunes spawned by that first little dingy gimcrack Kirby five-and-tenner which opened its modest doors at 172 East Market Street on Sept. 10, 1884. Now there are prospects of a new fortune coming to town, if "Allan" and his young associates, Robert R. Young and Frank F. Kolbe, New York brokers, can succeed where the Van Sweringen brothers failed.

SHAKING EMPIRE INTO PRODUCTION

"It's a constructive step and it looks like a good investment," Allan Kirby said. He was chin-deep in documents at his desk on the sixth floor of the Second National Bank building, of which he is a director. He had come from New York the night before, spent the morning on a local business trip, was taking a hurried hour in his office before starting back to New York.

He went on to explain the constructive value, from the point of view of shareholders, of reorganizing the top-heavy Van Sweringen financial structure and simplifying the system, keeping the good, discarding the bad. In the course of time, he said, investors should benefit considerably. Such was one of the main purposes of the purchasers of control. He told the correspondent that he hoped outside money would be attracted. Later from a source close to the New York headquarters, it appeared that this expectation is being borne out. "There's lots of money available, when and if needed," it was said.

"Constructive and—a good investment," Allan Kirby's mind, revealed in that phrase, is a replica of his father's. It was the constructive idea of supplying articles at the cheapest possible price to the largest possible number of people thus providing a good investment, which inspired the two Woolworths and their boyhood friend, Fred Kirby, to organize their first stores.

WILKES-BARRE WONDERS ABOUT FAMILY CHARITIES

In other ways, the minds of the Kirbys' father and son, work alike. Both are sticklers for detail. A fortune founded on infinitesimal profits derived from incalculable nickles needs that. That is why the elder Kirby, according to friend's affectionately humorous account, takes the trouble, when going on vacation, to write personally to the newspapers he takes and cancel subscriptions for six weeks. That is why his son remarks five minute's delay in keeping an appointment.

In Wilkes-Barre they worry somewhat about Allan's charitable inclinations. That's understandable. His father, it was calculated by a man who had access to Fred M. Kirby's letter files for a period of many years, has given away a blanket total of $50,000,000. In the Wyoming Valley alone, site of Wilkes-Barre, his benefactions have amounted to $20,000,000, according to a close associate.

Allan Kirby and his father in recent years have organized several private corporations to handle the family wealth. One is "Fremkir," another "Defender." With Allan controlling these, will the charitable at-

Floydada Girl At Head Tech Studies

LUBBOCK, May 8—Climaxing the most heated student political campaign at Texas Technological college in five years, Maxine Fry, junior journalism student from Floydada, was elected president of Texas Tech student association this week. She defeated Ray Stiff of Beaumont, senior engineer, by a wide margin. Miss Fry is the first woman ever to hold the position.

Hugh McCullough of Waco was named vice president without opposition. Mary Howell of Knox City won a 2 to 1 majority over Anne Williams of Chillicothe for secretary-treasurer of the association. Other officers elected for the 1937-38 long session were: Fred Byrd of Ardmore, Okla., student representative to the athletic council; and James Forbis of Whitesboro, yell leader.

Miss Jewell Bishop of Wingate was elected "Miss Texasita" to represent Texas Tech at the opening of the Greater Texas and Pan-American exposition in Dallas June 12.

Cotton Carnival At Tech May 14

LUBBOCK, May 8—Texas Tech amateur models will parade in cottons when the college textile engineering department sponsors Cotton Carnival May 14.

The queen, to be selected Monday from nominees of Texas Tech organizations, and duchesses and escorts will dress in cotton for coronation ceremonies in a Lubbock theatre. Candidates for queen of the carnival are: Wynetred Warren of Lubbock, Harriet Ann Robb of Pampa, Frances Elaine Price of Colorado, Martha Vernon Smith of Fort Worth, Lena Belle Brown of Megargel; Alberta Barnett of Lubbock, and Geraldine Slider of Comanche.

title assumed by the father be continued? Will Allan sustain the many private donations which Fred M. Kirby annually makes? "Allan Kirby is just like his father was 35 years ago," said an old friend. "He hasn't yet got the picture of the possibilities of his wealth. But he will. Give him time. He's a good son."

It is possible, Wilkes-Barre thinks, that sooner or later one of the family corporations, perhaps "Defender," will be transformed into a charitable trust, and then the great Kirby benefactions, lavish and widespread, would be fused into a single foundation which could rank with the greatest American benevolent units. That's entirely up to Allan. "Give him time," they say. "After all he's only 44, and he's got his way to make."

Tomorrow—The Kirby family and fortune.

Tech Judgers To Try Dairy Events

LUBBOCK, May 8—Dairy products judging teams from Texas Technological college will enter national contests of the American Dairy Science association for the first time next fall, announced K. M. Renner, Texas Tech head professor of dairy manufacturing, after receipt of a letter from William White, general superintendent of the contests.

The letter said the association committee on national student dairy products judging contests unanimously had voted that Texas Tech's department of dairy manufacturing complies with eligibility requirements for the contests. Renner explained work in the department must be on a par with that in land grant colleges, to which competition usually is restricted. Texas Tech is the only American school besides land grant colleges that offers complete work in dairy manufacturing, Renner added.

Carolinian, 94, Looks Back on Life As Pioneer, Soldier, Postman, Farmer

SUGAR GROVE, N. C., May 8 (U.P.)—Wautauga county's oldest resident, 94-year-old New Banner, divides his life into five sections—all filled with excitement, he says:

1. Pioneering.
2. Fighting with the Union army during the Civil War.
3. Farming and carrying the U. S. Mail.
4. Living in the Far West.
5. Farming again at Banner's Elk, where he has resided nearly 60 years.

Father of six children, Banner has 27 living grand children and 17 great grand children.

Born at Germantown on Oct. 8, 1842, Banner helped his family pioneer the Banner's Elk section of the state, which derived its name from his family and the great number of elk roaming the neighboring woods in those days.

Banner served during the Civil War near Nashville, Tenn., and in Louisiana and Alabama.

"I weighed only 74 pounds when I asked to join the Union Army. They refused me, but I got in by telling them I would go back and join the rebels if they refused me," he said.

"The soldiers on both sides," Banner related, "were good friends nevertheless when the armies were close to each other and swap yarns."

After the war he returned to farming for two years, then took a mail job which lasted six years.

He returned to farming a short time, then sold his Banner's Elk home and headed west, arriving finally in Oregon with 50 cents.

There he lived six years "cutting down trees." He returned to Banner's Elk, settled down to steady farming.

In 1879 the west again called and Banner tried farming in Washington. But, he says, the "hot winds" ruined his crops, so he returned to North Carolina.

Dean Leidigh On Planning Board

LUBBOCK, May 8—Dean A. H. Leidigh of the Texas Technological college agriculture division has been appointed to succeed R. C. Hopping of Lubbock on the Texas Planning board.

Member of the board's land use committee for two years, Dean Leidigh will serve a two-year term in his new capacity. Land economics a hobby. For twelve years he was with the state experiment station, doing agronomic work relative to soil improvement.

Hopping had resigned from the board because of the pressure of private business.

Corrective Therapy Vital Part in Work

EL PASO, May 8. — Corrective therapy has become such a vital part of the physical education program in colleges that Dr. B. F. Jennings, health officer for the College of Mines and Metallurgy here, a branch of the University of Texas, was recently asked to prepare a paper on various aspects of physical training in the College of Mines for the benefit of the medical doctors of El Paso.

"The athlete is seeking physical supremacy," Dr. Jennings pointed out. "His development, therefore, is directed along lines which will perfect him in the particular field chosen, for few men are all-round athletes. His development is for the duration of college life, and his physical welfare beyond that time is not the issue.

"Physical education on the contrary is purely a welfare proposition. Its purpose is to fit the student, handicapped by hereditary or acquired disabilities, for the exacting demands of a college course. And to help him overcome his difficulties with the broader view to becoming a more useful and happier citizen after leaving college. The treatment of a student in the two fields is, therefore, decidedly different. Every exercise given the physical education student has a purpose.

"Physical prowess should be forgotten, and competitive games prescribed mainly for the exhilarating mental effect they produce. The corrective sections in physical education classes require the most careful attention and strict supervision. The physical examination brings out students' defects, and the cards prescribe their treatment. Such serious defects are hernia, heart lesions and kidney affections may be irreparably damaged by wrong or excessive exercises. Under the modern system of physical education no student is excused from taking the course but the class hour may have extremes in kinds of treatment. The anemic, undernourished, asthenic type of student may need complete relaxation, while the nervous individual may do better under exercise sufficient to tire him.

"Freshman students of both sexes registering for physical training are given a complete physical examination in the health office. The record of this examination together with the history of the student becomes a part of the permanent files of the college. Students requiring corrective exercises are assigned to the

This card is in addition to the card sent to parents notifying them of corrective exercises prescribed for their son or daughter.

"A record of all serious accidents occurring on the campus are kept as permanent files and a copy of the record is sent to the president of the College.

"Students in the corrective class are restricted to exercises prescribed, and such defects as depressed metatarsal arches, spinal curvatures—postural—stooped or depressed shoulders, poor posture, underweight, and asthenic conditions are given special attention."

McGraw, Jennings Speakers at Tech

LUBBOCK, May 8. —Attorney-General William McGraw and the Rev. Walter P. Jennings of Plainview will be speakers at Texas Technological college graduation exercises late this month.

Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church at Plainview, will preach the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning, May 30. McGraw will deliver the commencement address the following morning.

Candidates for degrees from Texas Tech this spring total 277, 33 more than the 1936 figure, announced President Bradford Knapp.

Infantile Reversion Called Not Uncommon

CLEVELAND, (U.P.) — Dr. Guy H. Williams, superintendent of the Cleveland State hospital for the insane, says cases of infantile reversion are not uncommon among patients at the institution.

Dr. Williams commented on an article in the Virginia Medical Monthly, which told the story recently of a 61-year-old woman who assumed the mannerisms of a child and died four years later, babbling like an infant.
"This," says Dr. Williams, "was evidently a case of schizophrenia, which means 'a splitting of the mind.'"

"Of course, what is commonly known as senile dementia in very old people is usual," he said. "But a condition such as that reported in the Virginia case may sometimes be a kind of dementia praecox such cases are not of the senile group."

Device to Measure Noise Is Simplified

BOSTON (U.P.) — An electrical noise detective has been perfected. Measuring noise has been elaborate and expensive, but the new device, made by a Cambridge firm, is compact, easily portable and the operator needs only to push a button, turn a knob and read the dial.

The electrical Sherlock Holmes, which measures different factory noises, consists of a high quality microphone, a wide-range, high-gain amplifier, a rectifier and indicating meter. The sounds picked up by the microphone are changed into electrical impulses, which are magnified many times by the amplifier and then rectified and indicated on the meter.

British Marriages Rise While Divorces Drop

LONDON, (U.P.) — The popular belief that the marriage and birth rates of Great Britain are falling off and that the population is declining is disproved by the latest statistics issued by the Registrar-General.

The figures show that there were in 1935, the last period of calculation, more marriage, more babies and fewer divorces.

The marriage rate was 17.2 persons per 1,000 population, compared with 16.9 in 1934 and 15.3 in 1932. There were 598,756 births, an increase on the 1933 total. The population of England and Wales is now estimated at 46,654,000. At the 1931 census it was 39,952,337.

The number of decrees nisi made absolute in respect to dissolution of annulment of marriages was 4,069—a decrease of 218 from the high record of 1934.

Here's the DRUM-MAJOR of the motor car parade

IF you know a leader when you meet one, you'll see the moment you try this sparkling Buick why it's called the out-in-front car of the year.

You'll go for the way it goes for you — serene, steady, gallant as the figurehead on a buoyant ship — you're in for a thrill every time you put it into action.

You handle a wheel that turns as easy as the pages of a book. You press the treadle — and sink inches deep back in the soft cushions with the swoop of its take-off.

You click off miles by the score, the hundred — and no matter how far you range or what gait you travel, you can't get a whine out of that softly whispering engine!

The answer is you've got a car that was born to go places the way you want to go — smoother, safer, steadier than any car you've known.

Power in this flashing Buick is the power of eight straight valve-in-head cylinders. Its gait is the level gait of a car built close to earth with enough bulk to hold it there. Its maneuverability is the quick mobility of a charger.

Yet the crowning touch of its creators was none of these but the figures they succeeded in writing on its price tag. The hard-to-realize fact is that this great straight eight can be bought for less than some of today's sixes!

There's just one way to get the true picture of Buick's standout value, and that's to drive it yourself. See your authorized Buick dealer soon and get your order in, and you'll enjoy a summer like you've dreamed of!

ONE-ACT PLAYS PRESENTED BY FACULTY MEMBERS
 The annual faculty dramatic performance was given last Wednesday evening to a large and appreciative audience.

"The Bishop's Candlesticks," an adaptation from a scene in Hugo's "Les Miserables" was presented by H. D. Bearden as the Bishop, Miss Ella Lunday as his sister, Mrs. De Lo Douglas as Marie, Mr. M. A. Armstrong as Jean Valjean, the convict, and Mr. L. W. Taylor as the gardener. The scene was the bishop's home on a stormy night. Each player gave an excellent rendition of his part. Especial credit should be given to Mr. Armstrong's portrayal of the convict.

The other one-act play, "Forty-four," was a comedy which took place in a fashionable New York apartment. Mrs. Pingle, a lady of fashion was having difficulty with her dinner party. Guests declined, others wished to bring guests, but finally the party promised to be a success as the blizzard had caused the Prince of Wales to be stranded at Mrs. Pingle's doorstep. The characters were Mrs. Horace Pingle, played by Miss Mary Kennington, Elaine, her debutante daughter, played by Miss Ruth Anderson, and Janette, the maid, Miss Mary Wilson.

TYPING PINS PRESENTED
 Christine Pate, Claud Thompson, and Virginia Ann Hilliard were presented typing pins by Mr. Shiffert in assembly last week.
 Christine Pate received a bronze pin given for typing forty to fifty net words a minute with fewer than 6 errors on three or more fifteen minute tests.
 Claud Thompson and Virginia Ann Hilliard both received silver pins for making a net speed of fifty to sixty words a minute with the specified accuracy.
 According to Mrs. Scruggs, typing instructor, the typing students are especially capable and enthusiastic.

The pages of the 1937 "Catoica" have been proof-read and returned to the Hill Printing Company according to Miss Vera Helfner, the sponsor.

PIGNIC PLANNED FOR FOOD GIRLS

The first year food girls have been studying the planning and preparation of a girls school lunch. They have recently completed this study and are planning to go on a picnic Monday, May 10, 1937, at 4:00. Two girls are to pack their lunches together. They will meet at high school immediately after school and motor to Cloverdale.

THE LITTLE PARK

Patsy O'Donnell
 Little park that I pass through,
 I give so many thoughts to you,
 You always seem to talk to me and say
 "I hope you have a pleasant day."
 I think of you when I'm at home
 And the things you seem to say can lead me on.
 Your shrubs, your flowers, your lake—
 From them, a lesson I always take.

ALL IN FUN

Spring is here at last! The mesquites have leafed out and Mr. Shiffert has donned a beautiful new grey suit. Rather it looks new.
 John, are you mad at Joyce B. just because she broke a date with you? Can't you take it?
 Tommy has been rushing Jessa Lynn lately. Guess Kitty Jean finally got rid of him.
 Woodie, you are really a ladies' man. There is one Junior who dreams about you, another turns red and her heart skips a beat when she helps you with geometry, and a third breaks classes every time you go into the drug store. These are just the cases that I know of.
 Frank, are you enjoying the company of those girls who come to see you?
 Wayne: "Where did you get the black eye, Billy?"
 Billy Nobles: "I was chasing Billy Simpson."
 Wayne: "What happened?"
 Billy N.: "I caught up with him!"
 Rebecca, why did you run off with Louise's picture of John Turner?
 Dorothy Conner has on her notebook "Paul or Bust". My, my! What could she mean by that?
 David Holster, what is Eleanor Hoffman doing with your picture?
 Frederick, what is there about these Big Spring girls that makes you leave a shoe?
 Well, there was a lot of going on at a picnic that some "FAT" had. Here's some dope:
 Why were Bobbie and Wendel late to it?
 How did Billy Morrison feel when Tad Crane was with Minnie Louise?

DEMONSTRATION ON MAKE-UP GIVEN BY MISS AGATHA BRUNE

Miss Agatha Bruner, Midland High School public speaking teacher, gave a demonstration on the art of make-up to her seventh period public speaking class and to Mrs. De Lo Douglas' third year music class, who were visiting the public speaking class, on Thursday, May 6. The characters made up were Patsy O'Donnell, made up to represent a gypsy girl, and Velma Johnson, made up for a straight character part.
 Everyone enjoyed this demonstration and received some good lesson in the make-up art.

On the hill sandaled friars plodded about their tasks in the barren cells of the Holy Hill Catholic shrine, while a quarter of a mile below at Hartford, Wis., 400 union carpenters paraded in picket lines, protesting labor practices of a Fond du Lac construction company. Union carpenters charged employment of non-union men on a monastery being built for the priests. The friars' shrine was, legend says, dedicated 300 years ago by Jacques Marquette. In the sanctuary, a famed refuge for the afflicted, the priests converse only on absolute necessity.

 It appears as though Ralph has at last won his darling back! (Poor ol' E. B. is out in the cold again!)

 We wonder if Pinkie is really going to see the girl in Austin.
 We wonder who Buttton's new flame is. He says she isn't—that he's just in the dark. (We wonder if this is so.)

Meat Appetite Of Europeans Growing
 VIENNA, May 8 (U.P.)—Meat consumption by Europeans has increased enormously in the last century, but preference is given now to younger and leaner meat, according to investigations made by the Biochemical Institute.
 The average annual per capita beef consumption in Europe rose from five pounds in 1840 to 22 in 1880 and increased to 30 in the last pre-war years. In connection with the economic crisis of the last decade, however, it fell to about 25 in 1935.
 Pork consumption was 20 times higher in 1919 than in 1817, while Europeans ate 225 per cent more mutton in 1934 than in 1820.
 In the first part of last century, in general 8 year old oxen and 10 year old cows were fattened and slaughtered because people liked compact and fat meats.
 In connection with modern industrialization by which the physical strain of work has been reduced greatly, the taste of the public in the last half century has turned to the more tender, leaner and more easily digested meat of young animals.

Midland Competes In Varied Projects

BROWNWOOD, May 8—Fourteen towns have entered the Chamber of Commerce Activities Contest to be held for the first time at the 19th annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention May 10-12.
 Chambers of Commerce will be judged on reports for the past year's work and on program outlined for the coming year.
 Outstanding reports submitted will be published in West Texas Today, official magazine of the WTCC, in order to pass on to other towns worthwhile suggestions for community activities.
 Towns entered and names of the secretaries who submitted the reports are: Sweetwater, George D. Barber; Shamrock, Bedford Harrison; Kerrville, Wm. O. Harwell; Floydada, R. W. Cothorn; Haskell, Ralph E. Duncan; Roswell, N. M., Claude Simpson; Vernon, W. H. Wright; Slaton, A. J. Payne; Midland, Bill Collyns; Coleman, S. W. Cooper; Sudan, Forrest Weimhold; Pampa, Garnet Reeves; Ranger, J. E. Meroney; and Comanche, Hill-ton Burks.
 William A. Wilson, secretary of Olney chamber of commerce, was the first to suggest that such a contest be held. Olney is not entering the contest this year because its outstanding report of past year's activities already has been published in West Texas Today.

Coach Indorses Net To Catch Pole Vaulters

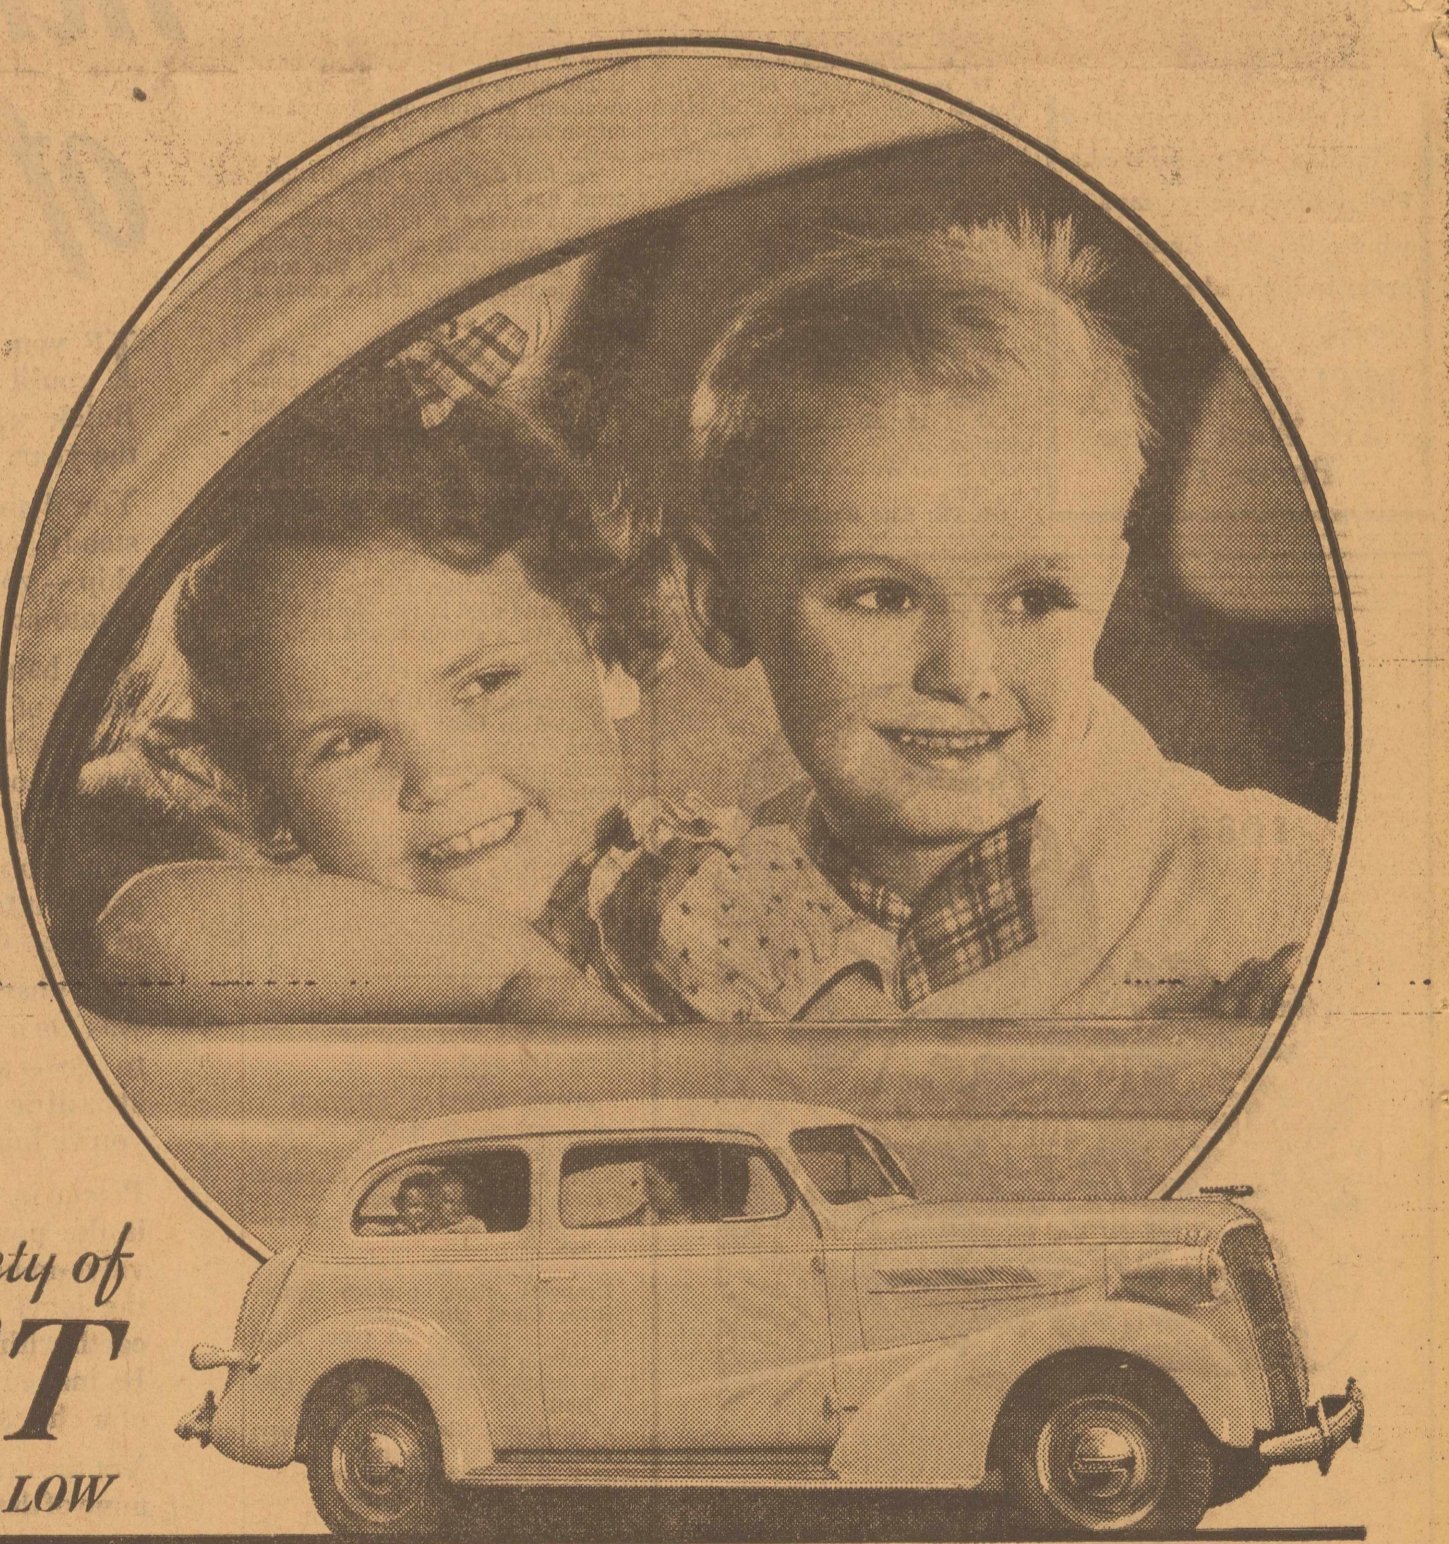

PHILADELPHIA, May 8 (U.P.)—Pole vaulters will fall into a net instead of "farring their nervous system when they land on the ground" if a plan by Ben Ogden, track coach of Temple University, succeeds.
 Ogden suggests that a net similar to those used by trapeze performers be erected on the far side of the uprights about 7 feet from the ground. A ladder on the side of the net would enable the vaulters to step down to the ground.
 "Pole vaulters suffer a shock to their nervous system every time they land," Ogden said, "and the net would eliminate a considerable shock and leave the vaulter much fresher for the next attempt."
 The net also would aid in teaching beginners, because it would prevent their becoming "fall shy," according to the coach.

COUNTIES IN DISTRICT SIX OF WTCC REPORT PROSPEROUS CONDITIONS, IN BUSINESS SURVEY OF MAY MAGAZINE

Conservative reports of substantial business throughout West Texas were given in the annual survey of West Texas Today, official magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, for May, with especial emphasis on the prosperous conditions of district six, in which Midland is located.

The survey of this district follows: The eyes of North America have been focussed on district six of the West Texas chamber of commerce within the past few months, due largely to the remarkable activity in the petroleum industry which has attracted millions of dollars of outside capital, simultaneously accounting for a heavy population increase.

However, along with growth from the oil business, the country has witnessed prosperous conditions in its other resources, cattle, sheep and agriculture. Although rainfall during the winter and early spring was not excessive, it was timely. A good season prevails under practically all counties included in the district, and recent general precipitation has made the moisture meet sufficiently to stimulate growth of grass and weeds and to make possible early spring planting.

Cattle prices have been steady for several months, with recent sales finding cows at $60, steer yearlings at $53 and prospect for fall calves correspondingly strong. Demand for pasture, as well as for farms for rent, has been too heavy to be filled.

Principal towns of the district are feeling the effects most strongly. Newer citizens, for the most part, are those with money to invest or those on substantial salaries, the representatives of large corporations which are developing the area. With large sums of new money turned loose, bank deposits have soared to new levels, business houses have experienced greater volume and new business concerns have filled such store buildings as were available.

Building permits likewise have taken a jump. The shortage of homes is acute in every town in the district. Oil field representatives in many instances are making long drives each day, to and from their work, in order to find living accommodations for their families. There is yet a demand for investments in apartment houses, duplexes, rent houses and small homes.

Even the new citizens have accounted for large investments in substantial homes, ranging in cost from $5,000 to more than $100,000.

Office buildings, hotels and rooming houses report over-flow business. And still, business leaders contend that a boom does not exist. The development is natural and is expected to continue over a period of at least from three to ten years. New oil pools are discovered from month to month and deals are made for orderly development of proven acreage. Lease and royalty trading has become one of the largest industries.

District six, this year, is "out in front."

Girl of 6 Rates Mentally As 15-Year-Old Child

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., May 6 (U.P.)—Child psychologists and doctors are puzzled by the brain of 6-year-old Gillian Cooper, of Woolston, Southampton.

She could read a newspaper at 4, wrote poetry at 5, and now dips into the Encyclopedia Britannica for recreation. She is far ahead of every pupil in the school she attends—though she is one of the youngest. Her work is set as an example to girls of 15.

In one month, she mastered a whole year's school work. "Busy" beavers have to keep busy. If not kept short by gnawing, the teeth would grow so long that the animals could not close their mouths.

Tickets Grow Scarce

More than 150,000 advance ticket coupon books to the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition were sold during the first two weeks of the sale. They have been sold in every section of Texas. Frank N. Watson, in charge of advance ticket sales, predicts that by the end of May the entire issue of 250,000 books will have been taken. Coupon books have a face value of $3.60 and retail for $2.20.

Medical Society Tells Compensation Law Joke

ALBANY, N. Y. (U.P.)—The state medical society usually injects humor into its weekly bulletins on advice to citizens. For example, a bulletin said:

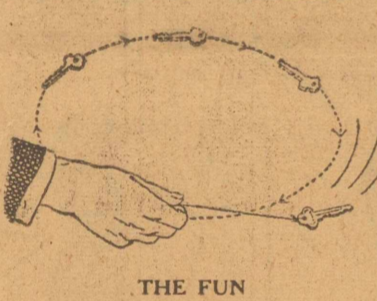

Foreman (to small son of workman who has met with an accident): When will your dad be fit to work again?

Boy: Can't say for certain, but it won't be for a long time.

Foreman: What makes you think that?

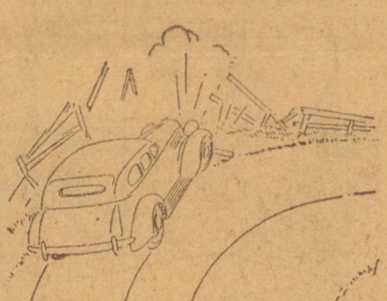

Boy: 'Cause compensation's set in. New York State has a workmen's compensation law.

FUN with FACTS

THE FUN

Fasten one end of a three or four inch piece of elastic or string to a key or other object of similar size and weight. Taking the other end of the elastic, draw the key slowly across a desk or table. Draw it across rapidly. Now draw it slowly in a direction following the circumference of a circle a foot or so in diameter. Draw it around this arc rapidly. In this last case you will see that the weight goes tumbling out of the circle. Try it at various speeds, and over the imaginary circumference of circles of varying widths.

THE FACTS

Inertia is the tendency of bodies in motion to remain in motion in a straight line. On a curve, the car, tending to continue in a straight line, exerts considerable force in the direction of the outer edge. At low speeds there is more time in which to change gradually the direction of the car. At high speeds the car continues in a straight line and goes off the road at the curve. There is no way of evading the laws of inertia.

Sweden, the Land and the People, by Agnes Rothery: Probably no country in the world is being so intensively studied by other nations today as Sweden. The country's accomplishments appear here in a new light—its successful revival of handicrafts in art-glass, pewter-ware, textiles, etc., its famed architecture and other fine arts—its theatre which has drawn experts to Stockholm from all over the world—its government, which is a smoothly functioning combination of monarchy, democracy and socialism—the enlightened relations between its capital and its labor—its fruitful experiments with liquor control and managed currency. The reader will make a pleasant acquaintance with a singular and enviable nation.

It is the dramatic presentation of the life of the wilderness, past and present, in all its moods, heroic, tragic, and humorous.
