ORGANIZING IN FORD PLANTS TO BE GIVEN BOOST

4 Detroit Offices To Be Opened During Week By UAW

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 17. (P)—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers Union, said here Sunday the pace to organize workers of the Ford Motor Company would be accelerated this week with the opening of four offices in the Detroit area.

Martin said the union, affiliated with the C. I. O., now has some 10,000 Ford workers, who have been admitted without any special Ford designation. With the opening of the new offices, he said, a definite Ford union will be formed.

Martin said he did not anticipate any trouble, and that he expected a tide of applicants from the workers. Asked about the attitude of Henry Ford toward unionization, Martin said:

"I think Ford wants to make automobiles, and that's what we want him to do."

Martin was here to address what he termed a combination organization and protest meeting in Kansas City, Kan., in connection with a disturbance a month ago in the Columbus, Kan., mining area between rival unions.

HOWARD STRIKE PUMPS 154 BBLs. FIRST 15 HOURS

Moore Bros. Well To Get Pipe-Line Connection

BY FRANK GARDNER Moore Brothers Corporation No. 1 TXL, new discovery in southeastern Howard county, pumped 154 barrels of oil the first 15 hours of test ending at 9 o'clock this morning. At that time, the well was still pumping steadily at the rate of seven barrels per hour. It will be pumped until 4 o'clock this afternoon, at which time it will be shut down while pipe-line connection is made by Shell. Total depth of No. 1 TXL is 2,900 feet in lime, with the main Delaware pay topped at 2,025. It is located 330 feet off the northeast corner of section 33, block 30, township 1 south, T. & P. survey. The well will probably be designated as in the Snyder-O'Daniel pool, since a well of that name drilled by Moore Brothers and Eastland in 1935 produced for a while and was classed as the pool opener.

Iron Mountain Oil Company and M. K. Clover are digging cellar and pits for their No. 1 Snyder, a direct north offset to the Moore well. It has been staked 330 feet from the south and east lines of section 28, block 30, township 1 south, T. & P. survey. Moore Brothers No. 1 Harding, wildcat in the Harding area of southwestern Howard, is drilling at 1,225 feet in red rock.

New Hogan Location Fred T. Hogan, Midland operator, announced today location for his No. 1 Harris, 2310 feet from the west and 330 feet from the south line of section 3, block W. G. C. & S. P. survey, in southern Upton county close to the Crockett county line. He plans to spud the test before May 30. It is over five miles southeast of McCamey production and three-quarters of a mile south-west of Hogan's No. 1 Harris, one of the highest well structurally ever drilled in the county, which was abandoned when it hit sulphur water at 1,675. Simms Oil Company also drilled a high dry hole on the Clark lease in section 5, a mile northwest of the new location.

R. H. Henderson (Basin Oil Properties, Inc.) No. 1 Harrington, new pool opener over two miles north and east of McCamey production in Upton, is swabbing at the rate of an estimated 250 to 300 barrels per day, natural. After plug was drilled from 5 3/16-inch casing cemented at 2,701, oil rose 2,650 feet in the hole. Total depth is 2,825 feet in porous lime, ten feet in the pay. The operator does not plan drilling deeper, and will probably acidize the discovery late in the week. It is located 1,650 feet from the south and east lines of section 4, block 3 1/2, C. C. S. D. & R. G. N. G. survey.

Wasson Area The Wasson area of northwestern Gaines county has captured the interest of oil men since it was reported that the Carter-Continental No. 1 A. L. Wasson, now drilling at 4,240 feet in anhydrite and lime, is running 426 feet higher than the old Wahlenmaier, York and Harper No. 1 Jones, a dry hole five miles to the southwest. Location of No. 1 Wasson is 2,310 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west line of section 48, block AX, public school land, 16 miles west of Seagraves. It developed high gas and air flow in the Yates horizon which caused setting a string of 7-inch casing at 3,093.

It was announced today that Carter and Continental are staking a new location 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 47, a little over a mile northeast of the No. 1 Wasson. Reports said that the 330 location will fall on the porch of a dwelling house, and it will probably be changed slightly.

Despite the vast throng assembled in the Lustgarten in Berlin to hear Chancellor Hitler, the scene resembles a carefully groomed lawn more than the popular conception of a milling mob.

BROCKELHURST IS PLACED IN HANDS OF ILL. OFFICERS

Texas and Arkansas Lose in Claims For Killer

ALBANY, N. Y., May 17. (P)—Governor Lehman announced he will preside at an arbitration conference this afternoon seeking a settlement of rival claims of Texas, Arkansas and Illinois for the custody of ex-convict Lester William Brockelhurst, wanted in Texas for the recent fatal shooting of a Fort Worth cafe man.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 17. (P)—Illinois last night won a three-state race to obtain custody of Lester Brockelhurst, 23, alleged "crime tourist" wanted for murders in Illinois, Arkansas and Texas.

Assistant District Attorney E. J. Geller of Dutchess county announced that air minded Sheriff Paul Johnson of Rockford, Ill., who used an airplane to bring a warrant to Poughkeepsie would get first claim to Brockelhurst.

He added, however, that New York state charges of illegal possession of firearms must be disposed of first.

Johnson flew here from Brockelhurst's home town with a warrant charging the youth with the murder of Albin Theander, 47, a tailor. Geller said the prisoner also admitted killing Jack Griffith, a Fort Worth, Texas, tavern owner and Victor Gates of Little Rock, Ark.

Arrested with the former Sunday School teacher at Brewster late Thursday and held in another cell in the jail here was Bernice Felton, 18, also of Rockford who, Lieutenant H. A. Gay of the State police said, "was in love" with her companion.

Gay added, however that the youth insisted the girl "had no part" in his confessed illegal activities.

He was reported to have said that the train whistled for approximately one-fourth of a mile before reaching the crossing and that he was unable to account for the tragedy unless it was because the truck was making so much noise the men were unable to hear it.

The bodies of the two men were taken to a mortuary in Hobbs. Funeral arrangements are pending.

WORKING AT MARRIAGE WILL END DIVORCE EVIL

The papers printed a nice big picture, the other day, of a mildly good-looking American heiress who had posed, grinning broadly, with a newly acquired husband—her third.

Two previous marriages had gone to pot, but the lady was undiscouraged. "This time it's for keeps," she remarked as the cameras clicked. Hope springs eternal in the human breast, and two failures do not necessarily prove that a third venture cannot succeed.

A good deal has been written lately about the "divorce evil," and people who change husbands (or wives) the way ordinary folk change their autos have come in for stern condemnation by press and pulpit. Yet when you reflect on the light-hearted confidence of this girlish sprig of America's nobility you can see that what is wrong with these divorce-addicts is not original sin so much as plain, old-fashioned flightiness.

Maybe we see too many movies and read too many romances. At any rate, we seem to have nourished a legend that if you once get in front of the marriage altar and have the knot duly tied, a life of serene, unbroken happiness follows automatically. If it doesn't—if you find that you and the idol of your youthful dreams have divergent tastes, if you quarrel now and then, if you occasionally wish one another in Timbuctoo—then something is wrong. Not with you—heavens, no!—but with the other person.

Now the one thing that ought to be perfectly obvious is that everyone who approaches marriage in that frame of mind is due to get bumped—hard. The wedding doesn't inaugurate an effortless, lived-happily-ever-after idyll; it begins a venture which calls for all the unselfishness, tact, forbearance and plain, old-fashioned courage that the two parties can muster. The thing the romantics never quite grasp is that you have to work at marriage to make it succeed.

So, when the storm clouds gather, these romantics fly to the divorce court. Being romantics, they learn nothing by their experience; and in the course of time we find them coming back for more a second and a third time—blithely confident, each time, that this one is going to be different.

Is it? The chances are all against it. It isn't marriage that has failed, but the individual. This eternal effort to find the dreamed-of happiness by a change of partners faces highly unfavorable odds. You get out of marriage, in the long run, just what you are willing to put into it. If you have tried it twice and failed each time, what earthly reason have you to hope that the third venture will be any different?

The first step toward ending this "divorce evil" is to grow up. As long as people approach marriage with starry-eyed faith in the automatic magic of the wedding rite, the divorce courts will continue to be jammed.

Adults who spend all their spare time building railroads have nothing to thank for it but their nearly training.

Woman's off the pedestal all right, but she's taken herself off. She wanted to be man's equal and in order to do so she had to go down, not up.—Mrs. C. L. Gray, "American Mother of 1937."

CHAPTER SIX

When Kenneth entered the living room Nina was walking up and down, fuming. "Why weren't you invited to the birthday party?" she demanded crossly.

Kenneth grinned sheepishly. "Well," he explained, "it's this way. Virginia has some silly notion that you don't like her."

"Kenneth, darling, that's ridiculous."

"Really. That's fine. Then we all like her." He sat down beside the brandy decanter. "You know, I've changed, Nina."

"Changed?" Nina made a desperate effort to conceal her alarm.

"Uh-huh. I've found out that liquor doesn't make me want to buy things."

"Have some brandy," suggested Nina. "It's delicious."

"Yes," chimed in Henri. "That's the idea."

A spot of brandy, Kenneth assured himself, couldn't hurt him on top of Champagne. He had some then he had a little more. Nina shot a significant look at Henri, who rose quickly and said goodnight.

"Wait!" said Kenneth. "Nice tie you've got on, Henri. Want to sell it?"

"Sell it? I could not part with it. It is a family heirloom."

"Give you ten snackers for it," Kenneth offered. "Got anything

Peasant to Read Vows for Duke

Charles Mercier, above, the peasant mayor of Monts, France, who believes in big families, has been requested to marry the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield, he revealed. The Chateau de Cande, where the ceremony is expected to be performed, is near Monts, in the Tours valley.

window with a pail of water. "Father!" exclaimed Kenneth. "Where did you come from?" "I — I just got back," said B. J. breathlessly. "Who gets the water?" Nina was frantically trying to explain to Kenneth. If that amorous fool, Henri, would only let go, she might still save the situation. Then Henri did a surprising thing. He slapped Nina, and she fainted again. He shouldered her and strode proudly into the house. Everyone laughed and shouted bravos. "Where were we?" said Kenneth. "Now I can sign the contract in peace." Virginia put a restraining hand on his. "No, Kenneth. You mustn't sign, you don't know what you're doing."

B. J. Hunk and Judy thought Virginia had gone crazy. Everyone talked at once. "But I thought we were going to carve a new and majestic empire out of the wilderness," Kenneth said plaintively, puzzled by her change of attitude. Virginia grabbed the pail of water from B. J. and dashed its contents full into Kenneth's face. For a moment he was dazed and dripping, but quite sober. "What," he inquired in bewilderment, "are we doing here — in a tree?" Virginia wailed, "Oh, Kenneth! Don't you remember anything?" "All I remember is —" and he looked at her tenderly and smiled. "We're going to carve a new and majestic empire out of the wilderness!"

And I'll love you for it — forever and the day after. Gimme a pen, quick!"

"Pen?" Her face fell. "I forgot the pen."

They yelled to Hunk to bring a blotter. Hunk and Judy came running. Nina, hearing the commotion, stuck her head out the window. Henri stuck his head out of another window. Nina demanded to know what they were doing in the tree.

"Guess what, Nina!" said Kenneth jubilantly. "I'm putting all my money in Nolan Heights!"

"Kenneth, wait!" pleaded Nina. "You don't know what you're doing!"

There was no time to wait, Kenneth told her. He was a man of action.

"Kenneth," cried Nina desperately. "You're not being sensible. Think!"

"Think, Kenneth! She's after your money! You don't know what you're doing!"

"Course I know what I'm doing," Kenneth returned indignantly. "I'm carving a new and majestic empire out of the wilderness! Hunk! Hunk — a pen!"

Below on the ground there was a general scramble for the pen. Henri tried to pry it from Hunk. Judy bit and scratched Henri. A police car drove up.

"What are you doing up there, Mr. Nolan?" one of the cops inquired.

"Hello, boys," chirped Kenneth. "We're having a tree party."

The two policemen smiled indulgently. "We just came from the Hitchcock's house. They're having a party, too, only everybody's dressed like babies! Well, take it easy, folks!" They waved and the car drove off.

Nina had found time to do some fast thinking. She must stop Kenneth somehow. Gingerly feeling her way, she climbed out into the tree. It swayed precariously and to everyone's horror, she fell to the ground—with a thud.

"Nina!" Henri yelled. "Oh, my darling! Water, somebody — water!"

"What kinda Uncle talk is that?" inquired Judy suspiciously.

Henri was beside himself. "I am not her uncle! I love her!"

Nina opened her eyes. "You fool! Kenneth, I can explain everything—"

Play Readers Club to Have Annual Guest Day Tea

Mrs. Hawkins to Read Pulitzer Prize Play

The fourth annual Play Readers Club Guest Day will be Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. W. Anguish, 601 N. Big Spring. Mrs. Jack Hawkins will read the Pulitzer prize winner, "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman. The play is a delightfully gay comedy, bordering on farce. It was produced at the Booth Theatre, New York City, December, 14, 1936, by Sam H. Harris and featured Josephine Hull, Henry Travers, Margot Stevenson and Geo. Tobias. It is the story of a family who follows their own whims, hobbies, and fancies to the exclusion of what any one cares or thinks. Hart and Kaufman prove that something important can be said with laughter.

During the tea hour Mrs. Holt Jewell will play a group of piano selections. Mrs. Fred Wilcox is president of the Play Readers Club. Other members are Mesdames E. W. Anguish, Elliott H. Barron, Ralph Barron, De Lo Douglas, R. W. Hamilton, Wade Heath, J. Howard Hodge, Charles L. Klapproth, W. Bryant, W. L. Miller, W. T. Schneider, Jack Hawkins, R. D. Scruggs, A. O. Thomas, E. Hazen Woods, Wallace Irwin, and Miss Stella Maye Latham.

Three Fort Worth chapters were hosts to 125 delegates from chapters in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Mrs. Johnston was honored by being selected as Convention Parliamentarian.

Election of district officers at a breakfast Sunday morning, given by the Beta, Alpha Omega and Phi Chapters as a compliment to the visitors, was the highlight of the conference.

It was brought to a close yesterday with a tour of the city, following the breakfast at the Fort Worth Club.

Miss Eloise Clappitt, San Antonio, district president, presided at the breakfast and was in charge of the election of officers and selection of the next convention city.

Other district officers are: Mrs. Cecile Clark, Fort Worth, vice president; Miss Edna Pickle, Elkinsville, Okla., recording secretary; Miss Douthett McLarty, Dallas, corresponding secretary, and Miss Eulalia Dipple, Houston, treasurer.

Talisman roses, the sorority flower, were used as a centerpiece in the breakfast table decorations. Favors were in black and gold, the sorority colors.

Miss Esther Lyons, Kansas City, national field secretary, was in Fort Worth last week, arranging for the convention. She met with committee chairman and their committee Saturday afternoon to work out plans for the coming year.

The conference opened Saturday morning with registration and reception for visitors at the Blackstone Hotel, convention headquarters. In the receiving line to welcome visitors were: Miss Martha Myers, president-elect of Beta Chapter; Miss Sybil Boulton, Beta Chapter president; Mrs. H. C. Burke, Jr., Alpha Omega sponsor; Miss Clappitt and Miss Lyons.

Tea and Reception

The first compliment to the delegates was a musical tea and reception from 3 to 5 p. m. Saturday at the Junior Woman's Club, with Miss Myers in charge. She was assisted by Miss Virginia Holt, Miss Ramona Brown and Mrs. Margaret Ballard.

A corsage of mixed Spring flowers was presented to each guest. Yellow roses and gaisies decorated the reception hall.

In the receiving line were Misses Boulton, Myers and Lyons and Meses. Tucker and Burke.

The entertainment program included a violin duet by Mrs. Ballard and Miss Aline Meyer, accompanied by Miss Fay Parsons; dance numbers from the Burgess School of Dancing, and a skit by the Dockery School of Expression.

A Western theme featured decorations for the formal dinner at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the Venetian Ballroom of the Blackstone.

Ranch Scene Centers Table

In the center of the speaker's table was a miniature corral and ranch house scene. Around this scene were banked Spring flowers on mirror reflectors. Miniature cowboys marked each guest's place.

Miss Lyons gave a short speech of welcome, followed by a program of musical and dance numbers. Those appearing on this program were Miss Claudette Graves, dancer; Miss Maria Koska, accordionist; William Barclay, organist; Vardaman Cockrell, T. C. U. band whistler, accompanied by Miss La Verda Sessions; Miss Dorothy Bryant and Ted Norman, dancers and Miss Abdel Reich, pianist, playing her own composition, "Black Night."

The local committee in charge of the dinner was headed by Mrs. Clark and included Miss Betty Vinson and Miss Odessa Hilton.

sands of dollars by Mr. Andrew Carnegie in supplying library buildings to many cities and towns in Texas. It earned for Mrs. Terrell herself the title of "Mother of Texas Libraries," and an enduring place in the annals of great women who have given impetus to the advancement of the State.

Another Fort Worth clubwoman, the late Mrs. Annie McLean Moore, also of the Wednesday Club, won distinction at that first convention, according to history.

"The brilliant address of Mrs. Moores on this topic, 'Public Libraries,' the Proposed Work of the Federation," delivered on the opening evening of the convention, had sown the seed in the receptive hearts of all who had heard her. That she referring to notes or manuscript was so unusual for a woman at that time that it added to the close attention her subject elicited from her auditors," the contemporary report declares.

Banquet Was Climax

That first convention also had its social features, and the climax was a banquet, with gentlemen as guests to listen to "sparkling toasts and witty speeches." Friends of Mrs. Terrell still laugh at the story she told, which is repeated in the federation history. "There were many speakers among the 200 ladies and gentlemen present at the banquet. How the speakers were regardless of any time limit! How president's evening ran into president's morning! Finally Mrs. Terrell, the last speaker on the program, was introduced at 4 a. m., and she said: 'Ladies and gentlemen, I have prepared a speech. It is a good one. You can read it in the morning paper. Goodnight.'

Mrs. Terrell was elected president at the second annual convention, in Galveston in 1899. Both she and Mrs. Edward Rotan continued active in federation affairs until their deaths several years ago.

New Objectives

Many new objectives for the advancement of education and improvement of living conditions, many civic ventures have received federation sponsorship and have been propelled toward a consummation by the energies of the clubwomen of Texas in the 40 years that have elapsed since the 36 women from 18 "literary and cultural clubs" met in Waco May 14, 1897. The federation joined the General Federation of Women's Clubs and organized working departments along the outline of the general federation.

But in studying the record of the years, as supplied in the history, one finds that the objectives set forth by the leaders in the move for federation, "Better education for everyone and a better chance for a fuller life," still just about covers everything that is contained in the tremendous organization which is the 1937 Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Connery and Mrs. R. E. Buchanan represent Fort Worth clubwomen on the state federation's honor roll of citation for distinguished service over a long period. Both have been "Life Members" of the board for many years. Mrs. Buchanan served as state parliamentarian for 16 years, representing a total of eight administrations.

There are numerous other Fort Worth clubwomen whose names appear frequently, and with distinction, on the pages of the history of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs' first 40 years.

CARDS BEAT HOBBS 2 GAMES; GET MONAHANS HERE TOMORROW

10 HOMERS HIT BY RED BIRDS DURING DOUBLE HEADER

With League President Milton Price looking on, the Midland Cardinals Sunday demonstrated conclusively the reason they are way out in front in the West Texas-New Mexico League when they annihilated Hobbs in a double-header to the tune of 15-8 and 20-3.

The Red Birds took full advantage of the Hobbs "cracker box" park and knocked out a total of 10 home runs, four in the first game and six in the seven inning night-cap. The heaviest hitting of the day came in the fourth inning of the second game when Serafine, Stein and Schiffer hit home runs in succession.

The Cardinals got off four runs behind in the second inning of the first game when Hobbs used two home runs to total four runs but they "went to town" in their next time up with eight tallies and were out in front of the outclassed Hobbs boys for the rest of the afternoon.

They took a six run lead in the first inning of the second game and Davis merely lobbed the ball over to the Hobbs batters as the Cards made three more in the second, one in the third, six in the fourth, one in the fifth and three in the seventh.

Home runs were divided as follows:

Randell 2, Serafine 2, Schiffer 2, Nook, Dais, Stein, Murphy.

The Cardinals will play at home for the next four days, beginning Tuesday. The Monahans Trojans, the only club that the Cardinals have not faced yet, will provide the opposition Tuesday and Wednesday and the Roswell Sunshiners, generally conceded to have the next best club in the league to Midland, will be here Thursday and Friday.

The Monahans team is leading the league in hitting and have made at least a half-dozen runs in each engagement to date. Pitching has held them back but their flinging staff is reported to be finally rounding into shape and they are confident they will be the first club to take a series from the high-flying Red Birds.

When Workers Turn Out Parts After Quitting Time

They say clothes make the man, but add grease paint, footlights and fine feathers and your steel pudler becomes a minstrel, your stenographer a prima donna just that quick! The magic of the transformation is strikingly shown in this group of pictures snapped as employees of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company deserted roaring furnaces, ledgers and typewriters to stage their annual minstrel show. C. T. (Rip) Kyle, shipping clerk at left, and the 330-pound song and dance man in striped costume just below him are one and the same. In the center pretty Glenore Orris leaves her typewriter and steps into silk and lace to be the show's charming herald. George F. Arm, Jr., right, can stoke his furnace or serve as interlocutor with equal ease.

Tomorrow's game will start at 4:30. Smith will probably be on the mound for Midland with Potocar behind the plate.

SAND BELT CLUB DEFEATS ODESSA

The Midland Sand Belt golf club yesterday took the Odessa eight into camp out at the country club course, winning out by a score of 26-14.

In the first foursome Elton Dozier lost to Morgan Neil but Frank Johnson came through with a win; Odessa won low ball. In the second foursome Paul Oles and Don Sivalls won all the way, taking both matches and low ball. An eagle three on the first hole by Pat Riley gave him and F. A. Stacey low ball in their match, although Stacy was beaten. Doc Doherty managed an eagle on number three to win low ball for the team composed of himself and E. B. Dozier. Dozier also won his match.

WEST TEXAS-NEW MEXICO RECORDS

Top-sided scores enabled West Texas-New Mexico batters to get away to a flying start in the first five days of the 1937 campaign. Reinhardt of Roswell was the real leader with an average of .524. However Roswell was far down in club batting with Monahans leading all clubs with a combined average of .287.

The following averages include all players in the West Texas-New Mexico League making one or more safe hits through the game of May 8, and all pitchers credited with a victory or charged with a defeat.

'Marked Woman' At The Ritz Tomorrow

Noteworthy in several respects is the first National melodrama "Marked Woman," starring Bette Davis and featuring Humphrey Bogart and Eduardo Ciannelli in addition to a number of other prominent players, which will have its local premiere at the Ritz Theatre tomorrow.

For one thing, it brings back to the screen, after a rather extended holiday, the slim blonde emotional actress who last year won the coveted gold statuette of Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for the best performance by any feminine player.

For another, it has a strong and vivid story dealing fearlessly with the plight of a group of night-club hostesses who are the unwilling tools of a big-time racketeer and his ruthless gang.

Miss Davis is shown as one of a group of hostesses who are under the domination of the boss racketeer. The other girls are Isabel Jewell, Jane Bryan, Lola Lane, Rosalind Marquis and Mayo Methot. Ciannelli, the menacing villain of

Scouts to Publish Jamboree Daily

JAMBOREE JOURNAL

12 ISSUES PUBLISHED IN WASHINGTON, D. C. JUNE 29th THROUGH JULY 9th 1937

THE JAMBOREE WELCOMES YOU

NEARLY every American community has its own newspapers and the 350-acre National Jamboree Camp of 25,000 Boy Scouts at Washington, D. C., this summer will be no exception. Boy Scouts editors, photographers and cartoonists will publish a 16-page illustrated tabloid-sized newspaper every morning from June 2 to July 9, to record in permanent form the many events of what will be the largest gathering of youth ever held in the western hemisphere. Because the newspaper will be mailed daily to subscribers throughout the world, as well as distributed each morning at the 20 or more sections camps along the historic Potomac River, this unique publication is expected to have a daily circulation of more than 50,000 copies. Scouts of this community who have journalistic ambitions have been invited to serve on the staff. In addition, many Scouts will report their Jamboree for their home town newspapers.

A new kind of brakes SAFEST STOPPING ANY CAR EVER HAD... ANOTHER No. 1 FEATURE OF AMERICA'S No. 1 CARS

1 "Best hydraulics I ever saw!" Zipping along at 40, Bill Burgess steps lightly on the brake pedal as the No. 1 Car crosses a line on the pavement. Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes by Hudson bring the car to a stop in record time. "Measure it," says the dealer. "Wow! Only 69 feet, 7 inches... less than half the distance legally allowed!"

2 "Now disconnect those hydraulics!" And back they go over the same route, for a special test with hydraulics purposely cut off. What! No brakes at all? Wait and see! Again, as they come to the line, Bill puts his foot down... and again, a quick, smooth stop. The same foot pedal did the trick. No fumbling for the emergency brake!

3 "Three separate braking systems!" Only Hudson and Terraplane have brakes like these. Big, powerful hydraulics... with a safety reserve braking system operating from the same foot pedal if ever needed. Plus a third system in the handy parking brake up at the instrument board... with extra easy finger-touch release.
