Quarrels Subside As Leaders Work For Settlement

DAVEY HOPEFUL

Believes Peace Will Be Made Between Factions

8—Minor outbreaks sa
By Associated Press
Sporadic outbreaks of violence in New Jersey and Ohio subsided quickly today as leaders of both sides of the labor controversies in the states conferred upon new peace moves.
Pickets surrounded a Little Falls, N. J., laundry and stoned delivery trucks. Steve Young, picket, was wounded in a skirmish at the strike bound Republic steel corporation plant in Warren, Ohio.
Governor Martin Davey of Ohio said he was hopeful of an early settlement of the steel strike.
Republic Steel Corp., largest of the three strike-affected firms, asserted it was running at 40 per cent of capacity. Union leaders scoffed at the claim.
Developments grew in the committee for industrial organization drive, through its affiliated United Automobile Workers, to force the Ford Motor Company into a bargaining agreement.
Homer Martin, U. A. W. president announced at Washington charges of unfair labor practices had been filed against Ford.
Meanwhile subpoenas were issued for Edsel Ford, son of the manufacturer, and others for appearance at a one-man grand jury investigation of the disturbance which met union efforts to distribute propaganda at the Ford Motor plant in Dearborn, Mich., last week.
Police and pickets clashed near a Little Falls, N. J., laundry when some employees attempted to return to work. Fifteen persons were injured. The Little Falls mayor asked for state police aid.

RAINS BRINGING HIGH WATER INTO ALL PARTS STATE

Abilene Area Hit By 6-Inch Downpour Last Night

DALLAS, June 3. (AP)—Rains today were bringing high water to the Panhandle, central and West Texas, falling on produce and regions which needed the moisture badly.
Hard rains fell at Palestine, Tyler and Corsicana today, while rains Wednesday night dumped from five to six and one-half inches in the Abilene area.
A near waterspout drenched Stonewall county in the vicinity of Aspermont, Swenson and Peacock. The downpour was estimated variously at from five to six and one-half inches.
It sent tiny Stinking creek on the rampage, and for a time Wednesday afternoon all traffic between Swenson and Peacock was halted by water which overflowed a bridge spanning the stream. Two bridges were reported carried away in the Swenson neighborhood.
As far south as Abilene as the Stonewall deluge was to the north, another miniature cloudburst fell at Ballinger. There, three and a half inches of rain poured down in little more than two hours.
Both storms were hard, driving downpours, but no hail fell and there was little wind.

TWO CEREMONIES READ AT WEDDING OF NOTED COUPLE

Married Six Months After Abdicating His Throne

DUKE IS HAPPY

Honeymoon Started After Marriage In France

CHATEAU DE CANDE, MONTS, France, June 3. (AP)—A radiant Duke of Windsor took Wallis Warfield for his bride and duchess today in two serene and dignified ceremonies.
Twenty-five weeks ago he relinquished the crown of England and the British empire because she could not be his queen.
"I will," the Duke, supremely happy, answered firmly to the Anglican "poor man's parson," Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, who gave unsanctioned blessing from the Church of England. He raised his voice so high in his eagerness to "take the woman I love" that he startled the 34 guests in the music room. Wallis, voice also firm, was more hushed. The religious service followed Dr. Charles Mercier's civil service as Mayor.
With the Duke as he entered for the service was his best man and equerry, Major Edward Dudley Metcalfe, both in cutaway and striped trousers.
Then came the bride, a prayer book clasped in her hand instead of the usual bride's bouquet, dressed in an ensemble of white crepe dress with flowers printed in black and very full sleeves of elbow length.
The rotund, bespectacled doctor-major Charles Mercier stepped forward and began the civil service, which lasted 20 minutes.
Then, according to the tradition of France, Mayor Mercier gave his lecture on marriage, previously submitted to the Duke for approval.
The religious ceremony followed, complete and including the bride's promise to obey.
No member of Edward's family was present. His brothers, his sister and mother are in England, prevented from attending, it was believed, by the British government's desire to concentrate empire attention upon King George VI and to withdraw it from the abdicated Edward.
Britain maintained an official silence while the Duke and Duchess of Windsor voiced a hope for a "happy, useful private life" after the "trying time" of Edward's abdication.
At nightfall they departed for the honeymoon castle at Wasserleonburg, near Neetsch, Austria.

Labor Relations Treated in Talk At Rotary Club

Speaking on the general topic of "Labor Relations," E. A. Crites of the Gulf Oil Corporation, with headquarters at Crane, addressed the Rotary club here today.
He traced the history of the present trends of labor conditions and their effect on the general public.
He urged citizens to study labor problems and to "keep their feet on the ground," pointing out the constitutionality of legislation. He summarized his talk in declaring that two things are necessary to maintain safety in labor problems, (1) there must be maintained a system of representative government, and (2) the judiciary must be kept out of reach of politics.
Mr. Crites who is an outpost member of the Midland Rotary club, represented the vocational service committee of which A. O. Thomas is chairman. He traced the history of labor organizations, bringing out their good effects and also those which have led to strikes and disorder. He recounted conditions which have transpired in other nations and told of their effect on social conditions. The trend of labor relations was traced to the present recently passed social laws in America. Deal-

Chronology of Courtship, Kingship, Exile of Edward and Mrs. Simpson

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

1931—At the suggestion of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, the Prince of Wales invited Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Simpson to Fort Belvedere, his country home. This was the first of many similar invitations.

1934—Mrs. Simpson was the prince's frequent dancing companion in the Riviera, where both were sojourning.

1935—Mrs. Simpson was in Budapest when the Prince was there. They danced the rumba a number of times in the hotels of the Hungarian capital. In England they were together at the Ascot races. Upon his return to London, the Prince was seen frequently with Mrs. Simpson at his favorite restaurants and dancing clubs.

Jan. 22, 1936—Mrs. Simpson was at Edward's side as he stood in St. James's Palace listening to the proclamation that made him King.

May 27, 1936—By order of King Edward, the Court Circular stated the sovereign gave a dinner party at St. James's Palace. The guest list included not only Prime Minister Baldwin and his wife, but also Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, and Colonel and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh.

July 9, 1936—The Court Circular spoke of a dinner party the King gave at York House. The Duke and Duchess of York (later King and Queen) were present and so was Mrs. Ernest Simpson, without her husband this time.

July 14, 1936—It was announced that King Edward had chartered Lady Yale's 1500-ton sea-going yacht Nahlin for a cruise under sealed orders.

Aug. 3, 1936—Mrs. Simpson's name did not appear on the newspapers' guest list for the cruise, which was routed through Adriatic waters.

Aug. 11, 1936—London papers printed that Mrs. Simpson was in the yacht party. The English press censured itself and refused to print pictures of the couple, although the photos were being used extensively in America. After the yachting cruise ended, King Edward, accompanied by Mrs. Simpson and others of his party, visited Athens and Istanbul. Pictures showed him driving with Mrs. Simpson in Athens, and with Mrs. Simpson and Kemal Pasha in Istanbul.

Sept. 19, 1936—The Court Circular announced King Edward had arrived at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

Sept. 23, 1936—The Court Circular announced Mrs. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers had arrived at Balmoral. The circular did not include the news that the King had driven all the way to Aberdeen to meet his three guests and drive them back to Balmoral.

Sept. 30, 1936—The Court Circular announced that the King had left Balmoral for London. It also gave a list of other guests who left on the same day. Among them were the Duke and Duchess of Kent and Mrs. Simpson.

Oct. 13, 1936—It was revealed that Mrs. Simpson had filed suit for divorce.

Oct. 27, 1936—In 19 minutes, the divorce suit was heard at Ipswich and Mrs. Simpson was granted a decree nisi from her husband.

Early November, 1936—Knowing that American newspapers and periodicals were full of the Simpson case, while the English press had breathed barely a word of it, members in the House of Commons asked why pages were being torn out of American publications.

Nov. 16, 1936—The king sent for Prime Minister Baldwin, who frankly told Edward he did not think the country would approve marriage with Mrs. Simpson as that would involve her being Queen. The King said: "I am going to tell you something that I have long wanted to go." "I am going to marry Mrs. Simpson. And I am prepared to go." That night Edward told Queen Mary of his decision and the next day he told his brothers.

Nov. 25, 1936—The King again sent for Baldwin, asking his opinion of a compromise, whereby Parliament would pass an act enabling Mrs. Simpson to be the King's wife without being Queen. Baldwin said he would put the matter before the cabinet and the Prime Ministers of the Dominions.

Nov. 27, 1936—Baldwin put the matter before his cabinet and the decision was against Edward's proposal.

Dec. 1, 1936—Dr. Alfred Blunt, Bishop of Bradford, in an address to the diocesan conference at Bradford, made critical comments upon the King and the coming coronation. This, printed in all British papers on Dec. 2, brought the situation into the open.

Dec. 2, 1936—Four great north England newspapers, the Yorkshire Post, Birmingham Gazette, Northern Echo and Nottingham Journal, referred, in editorials, to the gossip which had been printed in America about the King, and spoke of a grave constitutional crisis. That night the Premier told the King that the proposal for him to marry Mrs. Simpson without her becoming Queen had been rejected by the cabinet.

Dec. 3, 1936—For the first time, the London press told of the friendship between the King and Mrs. Simpson and published many of the pictures they had hitherto suppressed. The King received the Prime Minister and later the Archbishop of Canterbury at Buckingham Palace. That night Mrs. Simpson left for the Riviera residence of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers at Cannes, France.

Dec. 4, 1936—The London Times said editorially that the King's proposed marriage with Mrs. Simpson was objectionable because she already had obtained divorce from two husbands. In the House of Commons, Baldwin said there was no such thing as morganatic marriage in English law, that the government would not propose such a law and that the Dominions would not assent to such a law.

Week-End Rec. 5-6, 1936—Winston Churchill, many times cabinet minister, saw the King and Sunday night issued an appeal for time and patience.

Dec. 7, 1936—Premier Baldwin announced that with the exception of objecting to morganatic marriage, the cabinet had tendered no advice to the King. Churchill asked that no irrevocable steps be taken, but was shouted down. Mrs. Simpson issued a statement saying she had invariably wished to avoid any action or proposal which would hurt or damage the King. She said she was willing to withdraw from a situation which had been rendered unhappy and untenable.

Dec. 9, 1936—Baldwin received from the King a message saying that he was unable to alter his decision to abdicate.

Dec. 10, 1936—Premier Baldwin, announcing that the King had abdicated, presented the King's act of renunciation and his formal abdication.

Dec. 11, 1936—The House of Commons passed the abdication bill. That afternoon Queen Mary issued a statement expressing the distress that filled her heart and commending to the people the Duke of York, now succeeding to the throne, and his wife. That night at 10 o'clock, the King, now simply Prince Edward, broadcast a farewell address which was heard around the world. In this he said he could not, to his own satisfaction, serve as King without the help and support of the woman he loved. He said that the decision to abdicate was his and his alone, and that the other person most concerned had tried to persuade him to take a different course. He commended his brother to the people and closed with "God Save the King!" At Portsmouth, a short time later, he boarded a destroyer and went out into exile.

Dec. 12, 1936—The former King, now made Duke of Windsor by his brother, landed at Boulogne and embarked for Castle Enzelsfeld, near Vienna, where he was the guest of Baron and Baroness Eugene de Rothschild. The new King took the accession oath as King George VI.

Sunday, Dec. 13, 1936—The Archbishop of Canterbury, who had been silent when Edward was King, broadcast a criticism of Edward and his friends.

March, 1937—Mrs. Simpson having moved to Monts, France, south of Paris, the Duke of Windsor left Enzelsfeld for a villa at St. Wolfgang, Austria.

May, 1937—Mrs. Simpson's divorce decree became final and the Duke of Windsor hurriedly left Austria for Monts, France to make plans for their wedding, announced after his arrival as June 3. King George refused to allow the Duke's bride to be accorded the title of "Her Royal Highness."

June 3, 1937—The bachelor ex-king and the twice-married American were wed in Monts, France; no members of the English royal family attended.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON June 3. — The administration's minimum wage-maximum hour-child labor bill is the measure Roosevelt has had most in mind during his war on the Supreme court.

If the court can swallow this one it will have removed the most effective barriers which once were up against the New Deal program. And federal regulation will have taken its longest stride.

Many of the barriers have been knocked down in the past few months. The big one remaining, legal experts say, is the Hammer vs. Dagenhart 5-to-4 decision, which in 1918 knocked out a law prohibiting products made by child labor from moving in interstate commerce.

You could hear the boys whispering repeatedly about Hammer vs. Dagenhart as they hammered and sawed on the Black-Connelly bill. Roosevelt, in his message to Congress, quoted the dissenting opinion of the late Justice Holmes in the Hammer case. But he didn't quote the deciding majority opinion. And that's what the court must reverse if the New Deal is to have its wage-hour-child labor law. The present proposal would bar from interstate commerce products manufactured by children under 16 and by workers subjected to "oppressive" wages and hour conditions as defined by Congress.

"The goods shipped are in themselves harmless," said Mr. Justice Day in the majority opinion, thereby distinguishing them from such items as liquor, whose shipment into dry states was barred by the Webb-Kenyon act.

Production was not subject to federal control, Day insisted, and "the making of goods and the

In 1867, the United States bought Alaska from Russia, for $7,200,000. It was a bargain, and we often wonder that the government had sense enough to make the deal. Very seldom does a government show sense when it comes to the expenditure of money.

Speaking about Alaska, it lies farther west than we supposed. Its easternmost point is 700 miles west of San Francisco. Serious study of any map reveals ignorance on our part.

Alaska is not the desolate country we often imagine. It has regions lovely with flowers, gardens and fields. But the interior of Alaska properly is called, "The Great White Silence."

Today Alaska produces more copper than gold. One year the copper shipments totaled $57,000,000. And we paid only $7,200,000 for the country!

Farming is the oldest of occupations, but yet the people who make most of the suggestions about farming are not farmers. I think I'll let the farmers farm their own way.

mining of coal are not commerce." Con sequently, he held, the production of articles intended for interstate commerce was "an invasion by the federal power of the control of a matter purely local in character." And that reasoning still stands, although the child labor law applied only to the welfare of exploited children, and the proposed legislation is based on the claim that federal regulation of business is necessary for protection of the entire economic system.

Getting Close to Line

The court has been sliding close to Hammer vs. Dagenhart in recent decisions, however, and it would seem to require no great stretch of reasoning to get around it if five justices were so minded.

In the recent Kentucky Whip and Collar case, wherein the court upheld by unanimous decision the Ashurst-Sumners act prohibiting shipment of convict-made goods into states having laws against such goods, Chief Justice Hughes opined:

"The Congress in exercising the power confided to it by the Constitution is as free as the states to recognize the fundamental interests of free labor."

Roosevelt cribbed the line when he said in his message to Congress that "Congress may exercise that power (to regulate commerce among the states) to recognize and protect the fundamental interests of free labor."

Anyway, the New Deal legalists say that ought to help upset Hammer vs. Dagenhart. They also cite the majority reasoning in decisions validating the Wagner labor act. Hughes in the Jones & Laughlin opinion recognized denial of collective bargaining as a possible means of obstructing interstate commerce but carefully avoided reference to wages and working conditions.

Hughes did say, however: "The fact that employees here concerned were engaged in production is not determinative."

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

HE SOUGHT THE SOUL OF MAN.

SON of a professor of law, Gottfried Wilhelm von Leibnitz only naturally directed his studies in that profession. He was born in Leipzig, Germany, in 1646, and qualified for his law degree a year before he could get it legally. Immediately he set out to reform the "Corpus Juris," or body of the law.

But his interest quickly veered toward a search for the source of man's soul, and an effort to explain God's trust in man. Out of this came Leibnitz's basic philosophy, that the soul, like all the senses of man, was born with a person, and that it is the consciousness of its presence that is acquired later by education and experience.

In mathematics, as in philosophy and law, Leibnitz became world famous. He improved and added to the study of calculus, or the mathematics of reasoning, and to analytical geometry. In 1700, he became chief organizer and first president of the Berlin Academy of Sciences. He died, in 1716, at the age of 70 years.

Germany, in 1926, included his portrait on one of a series of stamps honoring its famous sons. It is shown here. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

12,000 More Acres Purchased by RA For Farm Projects

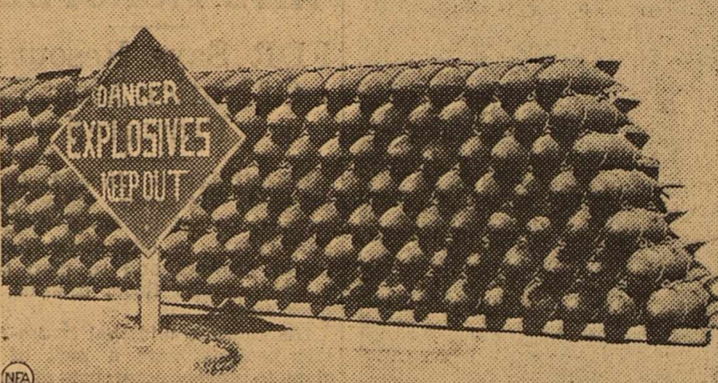

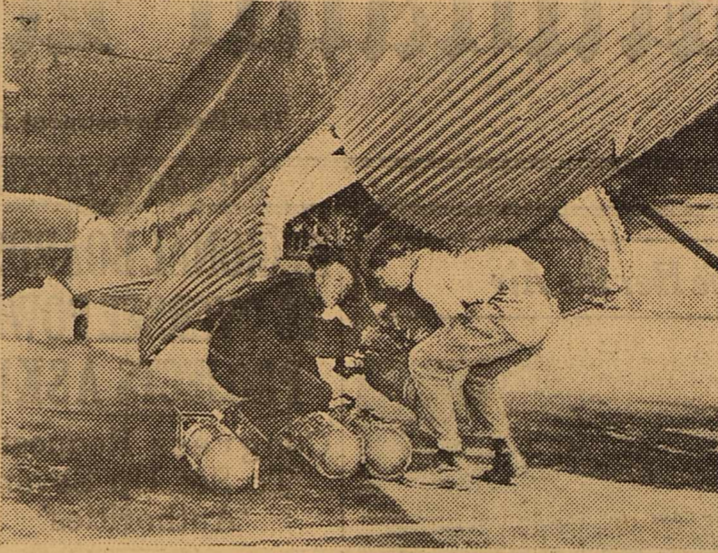

AMARILLO, Texa. Purchase of slightly more than 12,000 acres of land in Hookley county, Texas, as an addition to the Texas Rural Communities, community type farmsteads project at Ropesville, Texas, was announced today by Regional Director L. H. Hauter of the Resettlement Administration, through Ralph R. Will, head of the insisted that it was.

Not Certain to Pass
IF the bill passes, the makeup of the court when the act comes up for the final judicial test may determine the fate of this drastic proposal.

There is no real assurance that the three liberal justices—Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo—would uphold it. There is plenty of doubt about Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Roberts. Justices McReynolds, Butler and Sutherland almost certainly will vote against it if they are still on the court when it comes up, although it is probable that whatever man Roosevelt picks to succeed Justice Van Devanter would vote to declare it valid.

The New Army Game—Bombing

When 11 big army planes landed on the sand of Murdoc Dry Lake, Mojave Desert, Calif., they carried everything from bombs to pup tents for extensive war games. Below is shown a stack of the deadly "eggs." In the upper picture two army mechanics load the bombs, complete with detonator, into rack of one of the planes.

Resettlement Division in Region Twelve.

The new acreage when divided into farm units will comprise approximately 95 farmsteads, including the present 33 units. Present plans for the new units provide for farmsteads of about 180 acres each.

Moreover the additional units will include pasture lands. A field crew is now on the project to study the ability of setting up a community and cooperative service for the farms.

Farmers selected to resettle on the new additions, Mr. Will announced, will be taken principally from the Flandreau-Plains area of Texas, and those with a thorough knowledge of dry land farming practices. They will be compelled to pass a rigid inspection as to character, ability and stability.

"We shall emphasize a careful selection of families for these new farm units," said Mr. Will. "We intend to use a method similar to that used in selecting families on the first 33 units. We will demand a good class of people because the people already living at Ropesville are that kind."

The initial units at Ropesville were completed in 1935 and were taken over by Region Twelve of the Resettlement Administration with headquarters in Amarillo, in September, 1936. The project has been branded as one of the finest of its kind in the United States. The farmers living there apparently are headed for economic security in spite of shortened crops in 1936.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Mrs. John R. Crump Honored at Party

Mesdames L. B. Pemberton, Rawlins Clark, J. E. Pickering, George Ratliff, and S. P. Hall entertained Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 with a surprise party, honoring Mrs. John R. Crump at the home of Mrs. Hall on West Tennessee. The rooms were colorfully decorated with cut flowers and potted ivy.

The honoree was unsuspectingly ushered into the room where a table heaped with miscellaneous gifts awaited her. Mrs. Pickering made the presentation by means of a cleverly worded poem expressing gratitude and appreciation of Mrs. Crump as an associate and friend.

After the opening of the gifts, a dessert plate was served. Those attending and sending gifts were:

Mesdames M. A. Park, Clint Myrick, J. R. Jones, L. A. Arrington, Clark Perkins, G. L. Wright, F. C. Cummings, B. W. Stevens, John Casselman, Opal Rankin, E. H. Powers.

Mesdames Zack Reader, S. M. Laughlin, W. R. Varner, J. K. Graves, Lee Cornelius, Bill Blevins, Charles Klapproth, Charles Sherwood, Susie Graves Noble, H. G. Bedford, S. E. Mickey, Charles Brown, B. W. Reecer, Glenn Brunson, Miss Elma Graves, the honoree, and the hostesses.

Hobbs Visitor Is Honoree at Dance

Miss Lou Annice Reeves entertained Tuesday night at Midland Country Club with an informal dance for Miss Marguerite Williams of Hobbs who is visiting here.

Garden flowers decorated the club room. Punch and cake were served to fifty guests present.

Golfers Will Play Friday Morning

The Ladies Golf Association meets at 8:30 in the morning at the Country Club and all members who are interested in going to San Angelo for the West Texas Ladies Golf Association Tournament which will be from June 8-13, are urged to be present to make definite arrangements.

Beginners are given free instructions each Friday morning. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, and those desiring reservations are to call Mrs. Howe.

A Young Carpenter

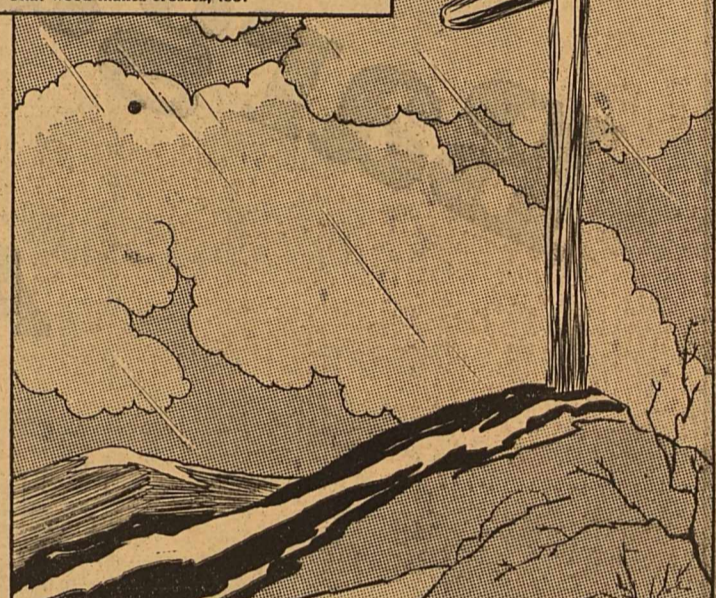

By Helen Welshimer

HE hewed the wood so carefully
With end to even end;
Now these would be door-slopes, he thought,
Where one could greet a friend.

THESE timbers were more galling, so
He'd fashion them to form
Strong gates and walls and sloping roofs
To shut away the storm.

AND this, oh this small, funny piece
Would make a wooden ox,
A Roman soldier with a sword,
A set of building blocks.

THERE were no calls for two crossed beams,
And so he never knew
Until he had become a man
That wood makes crosses, too!

Former Resident Announces Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hankins, 1721 Twenty-seventh street in Lubbock, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alma Lee, to Cecil L. Wolfe of Spur, which took place April 25, at the home of the bride's mother.

The ceremony was at 6 p. m. and was read by the Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church. Miss Elizabeth Stokes and Sam Roach, students at Texas Technological college, were attendants. Mr. Wolfe received a bachelor of business administration degree from Tech Monday morning.

Mrs. Wolfe plans to continue her education at Tech where she is a sophomore student. She is secretary in the assistant county agent's office in Lubbock, and was formerly secretary to the agent in Midland, where she and her family resided for a number of years.

Mrs. Schneider Reads At Club Meeting

Mrs. Wallace Irwin was hostess yesterday to the Play Readers Club at her home, 215 W. Tennessee. Mrs. W. T. Schneider read two one-act plays, "Hands Across the Sea" and "The Astonished Hand," from Noel Coward's book of plays, "Tonight At 8:30."

"The Astonished Hand" is the most pretentious of the group of plays. It is the story of an eminent psychiatrist, 12 years married to a woman he loves deeply, truly, and forever, who suddenly falls into something "which is not love" with a flirtatious friend of his wife, and who goes down to defeat and death under the stress of the experience.

Edith J. R. Isaacs said of "Hands Across the Table" in Theatre Arts Monthly that the slight comedy was amusing and was full of Coward's familiar epigrammatic dialogue, and was well supported by Gertrude Lawrence's spirited playing.

It was voted by the club to meet each Wednesday morning at 10 a. m. until each member has read a play.

There has never been a round-the-world airplane flight in that such a flight would require girdling the globe at its greatest circumference, either along the equator or along a single degree of longitude.

School Teachers Are Getting Smarter

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—Texas school teachers are getting smarter, department of education statistics prove teachers, with all their duties, find time to improve their own education.

A checkup after a teacher training conference showed that in a six-year period up to the present, the number of elementary teachers with B. O. degrees or higher increased from 14 to 36 per cent with the group's size remaining practically unchanged.

Over the same period some 9,000 high school teachers raised their percentage of degree-holders from 65 to 87 and only slightly over one percent had less than two years' college training.

Of 42,000 teachers and administrative officers, 31 held doctor of philosophy degrees, 2,000 masters degrees, and nearly 20,000 bachelor's degrees.

DEMONSTRATION CLUB NEWS

At the home of Mrs. G. C. Brunson on Tuesday, June 1, the Valley View Home Demonstration club met for further demonstrations on the baking of yeast-breads given by Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth, county home demonstration agent.

The demonstration being on judging of yeast breads, following which the members each judged the different loaves brought for that purpose. Mrs. Lois Lewis getting highest score. Mrs. G. C. Brunson, second, and Mrs. H. L. Matteson and W. S. Hudson, third.

There were eight members and one visitor present as follows: Mmes. Lura Hollingsworth, county home demonstration agent, G. C. Brunson, B. L. Mason, N. P. Blanton, W. S. Hudson, H. L. Matteson, E. D. Sanders, Lois Lewis, and J. D. Bartlett, members and Miss Dorothy Brunson, visitor.

It is estimated that more than a hundred humans are born every minute.

It cost approximately $25,000 to kill each soldier during the World War. The direct cost of the war was $200,000,000,000; the killed totaled 8,000,000.

Do The Co-Eds Spend Less Than the Eds?

Figures are said not to lie—but a comparison of the average annual and monthly expenditures of 82,472 students in 19 major colleges reveals the unbelievable fact that the average college man spends $1.78 to the woman's 78c monthly on beauty and barber work. The same survey declares that the girls spend $34.33 each year on fishing tackle to the boys' average of $29.53—which may account for the difference in the 1.78 and 78c in the feminine classification of "fishing tackle."

The comparisons were made by the Major College Publications, University of Washington, Seattle, and from them have been gleaned astonishing data—such as the fact that college women spend less on tooth paste and more on soap, less on ink and more on books than men.

Other than the upset in the accepted theory that girls spend more on their appearance than boys, there comes the fact that the college man's tooth paste bill is 41c to the woman's 37c, and he spends 51c to the woman's 44c on tooth brushes. The woman's bill for razors and soap surpasses his, as she spends $3.75 on the former each year to his $1.79 and 45c each month on the latter to his 27c.

Slightly more than $9 more is paid by the girls in average board bills, their being $39.84 per month.

The masculine element evidently read the ads more seriously, for they spend considerably more on mouth wash. Naturally, their entertainment bill is higher, despite the share-expense date agitation, for dining and dancing, motion pictures and vaudeville, taxicabs, cigarets, and tennis requisites. Another addity in the expense lists is the fact that while the men's golf bags cost more their annual expenditure on golf clubs is $92.11 to the woman's $81.84.

Approximately twice as much is the figure on picture taking for the boys, but the girls' bill for radio tubes is double that of the boys.

Vacation Breakfast Honors Girls' Class

Naming the members of her Sunday school class of the First Presbyterian church as honorees, Mrs. W. L. Miller, 1004 W. Kentucky, entertained with a vacation breakfast on Wednesday morning.

The flowers for the house were verbenas, pinks and larkspurs, and these spring flower colors were used in the appointments for the tables, with dainty wrist corsages laid to form the centerpiece for each table.

Tallies in the shape of Texas marked Midland as the starting point to the vacation spots named by the girls as their destinations for the summer. High score in the vacation game went to Miss Fredda Faye Turner.

Places were laid for Misses Mary Sue Cowden, Helen Armstrong, Jeanne Davis, Geraldine Griffith, Barbra Jean Tanner, Fredda Faye Turner, Jessa Lynn Tuttle, Eleanor Wood, Dorothy Sue Miles, Melba Schlosser, Jane Doran, Merle Scott, Marguerite Lee, Jeanette Hays, and Mary Adelia Kendrick.

Misses Mary Jane Harper, Lois May Lynch, Janie McMillan, and Marie Thompson are members of the class who were unable to be present at the breakfast.

The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. F. R. Schenck and Mrs. Karl Ratliff.

Richard Arkwright's invention started the cotton spinning industry. In 1770, his wife destroyed his spinning machine models in the belief that he was wasting time he could better employ at barbering.

The PAYOFF

BY MAX RIDDLE
NEA Service Turf Writer

NEW YORK, June 3.— War Admiral should continue his triumphal parade in the $50,000 Belmont Stakes, June 5—win the great fixture just as his daddy, Man o' War, did before him, and just as those other sons of Big Red, American Flag and Crusader, did in 1925 and '26.

Back of War Admiral, it is anybody's guess, perhaps Pompoon, perhaps Sceneshifter, or Flying Scot.

The big number at Belmont Park should be the most interesting of all the races War Admiral has been in this year.

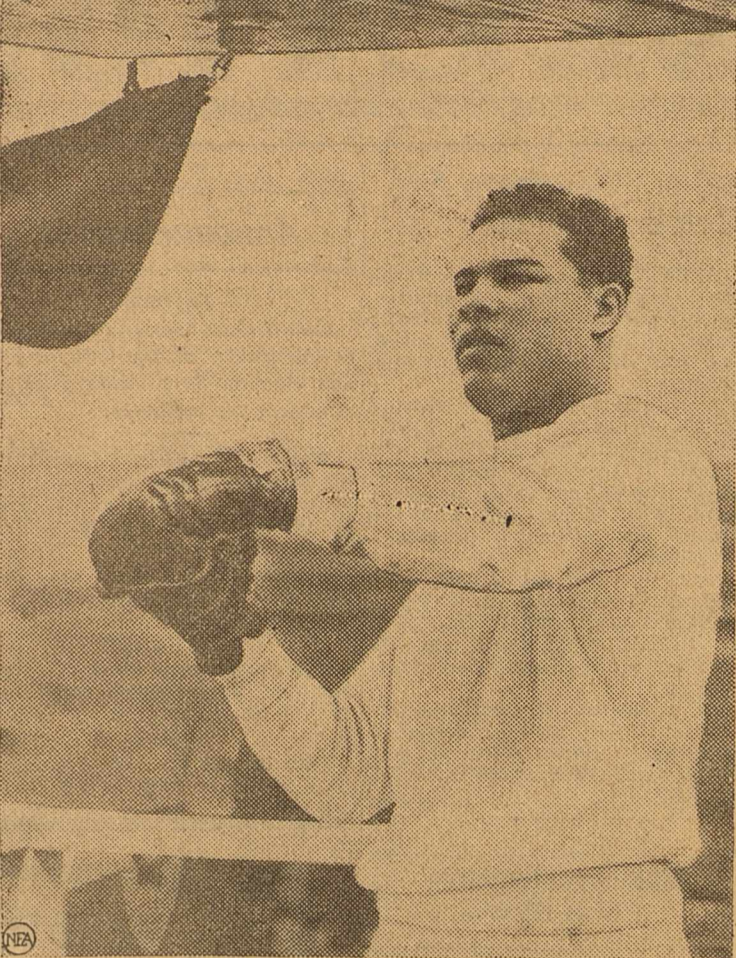

The distance is a mile and a half and neither War Admiral nor Pompoon can be as fresh as he should be for such a race.

A mile and a half is too far for a sprinter.

Remember how Peace Chance slaughtered the extremely high class High Quest in the Belmont after the latter had nosed out his stablemate, Cavalcade, in the Preakness?

Other high class sprinters which failed in the Belmont Stakes were

BOMBER BATTERS BAG

Joe Louis, Detroit's Brown Bomber, batters the small bag to strengthen his shoulder and arm muscles and sharpen his timing at his Kenosha, Wis., training camp where he is hard at work preparing for his 15-round bout with Jimmy Braddock, world heavyweight champion, June 22 at Comiskey Park, Chicago.

Whichone and Jamestown. Gallant Fox whipped the former, and Twenty Grand ran away from the latter.

Jerry H. Loucheim, who owns Pompoon, and Danny Clark, who trains the son of Pompey, still are convinced that he will beat War Admiral.

Loucheim and Clark still believe that the way to do it is to take the little brown flyer by the throat at the start and run the legs out from under him.

Mile and a Half Too Far for Pompoon

POMPOON is the worthiest son of Pompey, so far, and perhaps the finest of the tribe of Sun Beirar excepting only the iron horse, Sun Beau. He has wonderful speed and can go farther than most of his blood. Yet I believe a mile and a half is too long a distance for him.

Suppose Pompoon, knowing War Admiral's love for running on top, should elect to force him all out for the first mile, running it, say in 1:37? It would be suicide for Pompoon, and the two should be 10 lengths ahead of the field. But a half mile is a long way to go, and one of those horses which had been off the pace might come on to take War Admiral.

That is only a possibility, of course.

War Admiral has so far shown a class indicating that he will not be beaten under ordinary circumstances.

That is the principal reason why I pick him to score just as four straight generations of his ancestors have scored before him.

Neither Flying Scot nor Sceneshifter, which have qualified most handsomely in pre-Belmont races, is better bred for distance than Pompoon.

War Admiral Seeks Coveted Triple Crown

THIS Belmont is expected to break all attendance records since the international special between Zev and Papyrus.

There is a possibility of 12 going to the post for a spectacle that truly will determine the 3-year-old champion of 1937, for the winner must possess every attribute of a champion to negotiate successfully the gruelling mile and a half.

In the Kentucky Derby at a mile and a quarter, War Admiral out-footed Pompoon to the wire by one and three-quarter lengths.

In the Preakness at a mile and a sixteenth, the Riddle colt again took the decision but the margin of victory was but a scant head.

Melodist, Mosawtre, and Charing Cross are almost certain starters in the Belmont.

Possible starters are Brooklyn, Black Look, Gurka, Vamoose, and Beau Parade.

Should the favored War Admiral be successful, he will be the fourth horse in history to win the coveted triple crown, which consists of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, and Belmont. Sir Barton, Gallant Fox, and Omaha were the others.

Barring an accident, it would appear that War Admiral was headed for a lofty position among the greats.

Job Possibilities Are Said Improving

EL PASO.—Reports that there are too many college graduates going on the labor market are absolutely false, Prof. T. E. Morris, head of the department of economics and business administration of the College of Mines and Metallurgy, a branch of the University of Texas, asserted recently.

"Job possibilities are more than double the number of graduates in the economics and business administration department at the College of Mines this year," Professor Morris said. "Every one of our June and August graduates in these courses have been offered at least one position, and one senior is being sought after by five business firms."

All of the 1936 business graduates of the college are employed and conditions for obtaining positions for students this year and next are even better than they were in '29, Professor Morris said.

All of the graduates in the mining and engineering division of the College of Mines have already obtained positions for next year, according to Dean John W. Kidd.

Several of the seniors will leave following graduation for posts in South America and Montana.

Mines Professor Is Given Short Leave

EL PASO.—T. E. Morris, professor of economics and business administration at the College of Mines and Metallurgy, a branch of the University of Texas, has been granted a year's leave of absence to teach and to complete work on a doctor of philosophy degree at the University of California in Berkeley.

Notice of the teaching appointment, to become effective August 20, was received by Morris from Robert D. Calkin, chairman of the department of economics at the University of California. Morris will serve on the summer session staff at the College of Mines and Metallurgy.

Social Security Made Simple

Question No. 5
QUESTION: What is the difference between old-age assistance and old-age benefits, as provided by the Social Security Act?
ANSWER: Old-age assistance provides for a monthly grant to those needy aged who are new 65 or older. Old-age assistance is administered entirely by the State agencies, and they alone determine the needs of the individuals and the amount of monthly grants. The Federal Government contributes one-half of the amount given by the State to a needy individual up to a maximum Federal contribution of $15 a month to one person. All inquiries regarding old-age assistance should be directed to the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, Austin Texas, or its agencies.

 Old-age benefits is a plan for the future whereby every qualified wage earner in covered occupations will, as a matter of right, be given an income upon retirement from regular employment at the age of 65.
 The old-age benefit plan is administered entirely by the Federal Government. Benefits are not based upon need, but upon the wages paid to workers in covered employment after the year 1936 and prior to death or the attainment of age 65.

Staged Her Own Climb to Fame

It's girls like Peggy Conklin, above, who keep fresh the old story of a chorus girl's rise to stardom. With a leading role in the New York play, "Yes, My Darling Daughter," Miss Conklin proves that talent and beauty together are a good success recipe. And she doesn't have to look back so far to the day when she defied family objections to start her career as an unknown in the "line."

Slipping Shadows of Sky in Army Air Games

Like sliding shadows against the light sky background, these army pursuit planes slipped out of the air and landed at March Field, Murdoc Dry Lake, Calif. There they took part in the army's extensive war games with other government-manned planes from every air base in the United States. The group above flew from Barksdale, La., under the command of Maj.-Gen. F. M. Andrews. The war maneuvers were scheduled all along the Pacific coast.

School of Mines Professor to Start Search for Gold Left by Pancho Villa

EL PASO.—Dr. C. L. Sonnichsen, head of the department of English at the College of Mines and Metallurgy here, a branch of the University of Texas, plans to begin a search for the buried treasure of Pancho Villa, Mexican rebel general, within a short time.

The treasure is believed to be in the vicinity of El Paso near the Rio Grande, Dr. Sonnichsen said, but he refuses to name the spot where he will search or the time for the exploration, fearing that the hundreds who have been searching for years for the treasure will follow him.
 "There are thousands of stories and legends concerning the late Pancho Villa and his treasure," Dr. Sonnichsen said. "One of the most logical tales was related by two men who were riding horseback in the sand hills near Zaragosa about dark."
 "They carried picks and shovels and saddle packs, and both they and their mounts showed signs of weariness. The men had ridden since early morning and were dusty and tired. Few miles had been covered, however, as they were looking for a treasure they felt was buried somewhere in the vicinity of where they were riding. The treasure had been buried by Pancho Villa, who in order to keep the place secret, had supposedly killed the men who had done the work so that they would not return at a later date and dig it up.

"Friends of the riders, however, who had been members of Villa's army, claimed to have seen the general ride into the sand hills with a chest and two men and return without the chest or men. One of the soldiers marked the burying place of the treasure with a cross made of white stones.
 "Amigo, I am tired, yo tengo mucho hambre," said Pedro, one of the riders.
 "Si, yo tambien," said Jesus, the other. "Villa he hide de treasure pretty good."
 "They jogged along a little further in silence. It was growing dark. Suddenly Pedro said, pointing, 'Mira, aqui una Cruz.'
 "They left their horses and rushed to the place where a group of white stones made a cross about a foot in length. 'Con mucho gusto' the comrades unpacked their picks and shovels and started digging. But it was growing late. The men were tired and afraid that the noise of their digging would attract the attention of passers-by who would want to share in the treasure—so they decided to complete their work in the morning.
 "They rolled into their blankets on the ground and dreamed of castles in Spain, silks and laces, and other things which would be purchased with the treasure. But they got no further than dreaming, for when they arose in the morning, the cross was gone. They found only a scabbard on a stunted tree nearby.
 "Many people have gone to this spot to dig and have seen a light coming up from the place where the stone cross was found and disappeared. Natives believe it to be the ghost of Villa returned with a light to look for his treasure. When the searcher nears the light, it goes out and can be seen only from a distance."
 At or near this same spot, Dr. Sonnichsen expects to carry on his diggings in the near future.

years Allison has started out with what was considered the best material in the Conference, but the teams fell apart along the way. Last season he tinkered with the lateral pass, and this year intends to further streamline the Bear attack, letting power take care of itself.
 Howard Jones was the next to take up the torch. After a famine of four years, Southern California alumni are becoming fidgety, and Jones issued a statement that the power system — on which he built his reputation — is a bit shopporn and will be modified with variations of the single and double wing-back. These formations, devised by Glenn Warner, long have been used at Stanford. But Jones will go on from there, and the few laterals executed by his teams last season are expected to blossom into dozens this September.
Thornhill Plans Changes
 A Palo Alto Tiny Thornhill has 18 returning lettermen, the best record on the coast for a four-year period, and the least incentive to shift an attack that for three successive years carried him to the Pacific Coast championship. But there is no Bobby Grayson to crunch lines this year, and the Cardinals clicked best last season when they loosened their attack. More laterals and forwards are expected, but much of this depends on Bill Paulman, regular back in 1935, who returns to the line-up after a year of illness.
 Bill Spaulding is faced with the toughest year he has had at U. C. L. A. Overstocked with backs, the Bruin squad has only one out-standing returning lineman—center John Ryland. The main asset boasted by Spaulding coached teams has been a rough, tough forward wall, but that defense will need more than

Session Opens On Circulation Work June 15

MILWAUKEE (U.P.)—Possible increase in the price of newspapers because of mounting production costs will be discussed when about 800 newspaper circulation managers of the United States and Canada meet in annual convention here June 15, 16 and 17.

The Social Security Act, other "welfare" legislation affecting circulation employees, and the rising cost of newsprint are foremost topics listed for discussion.

Although Great Britain, New Zealand, South Africa and Australia are represented in the International Circulation Managers' Association, Canada is the only foreign country expected to send a delegation. A contest among four teams of carrier boys—each champions in their own section of the United States—in the art of selling a newspaper will be held. The teams are composed of two boys each, one being the salesman, the other the buyer.

GIANT TEXAS LAKE TAKES FORM WHEN BUCHANAN DAM RECEIVES FLOOD WATER

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—A baby that will be a giant some day was bubbling and stretching today in the joy of new life.

It was Lake Buchanan, now about 20 feet deep, three or four miles long and perhaps half a mile wide. In the future, it will be 23 miles long, eight miles wide and 142 feet deep.

Davis; Harry H. Wilkinson, John H. Erikson, Ft. Worth; Rev. L. A. Webb of Dallas, C. M. Caldwell, Abilene; Peter Tom, Lubbock; M. S. Doss, Seminole; Henry Currie, Steve Calvery, Garden City.

It came into being when flood waters from the hills, rushing to the Colorado river, after heavy rains, reached Buchanan Dam, which had been closed except for valves to permit normal flow. The newly-formed lake was rising at the rate of a foot an hour.

Final touches were being put on the top of the dam, one of the longest of its type in the world, slightly more than two miles. Engineers said the big pond would save property and lives on the Colorado from the dam to the Gulf of Mexico. The river, frequently whipped into fury from huge overloads of water, has taken a property toll of about $4,000,000 annually and four to five lives.

The lake is but one of several links in the Colorado river authority's $20,000,000 flood control program. Three miles below it lies the Roy Inks dam, 65 feet high and nearly completed. Another check on the river's wanton force will be Marshall Ford dam, a $10,000,000 structure 190 feet high and 4,000 feet long. It will form another placid lake with an irregular shoreline equal in length to that of the Texas Gulf coast. Workmen are speeding construction on the span located 18 miles above Austin.

In Northern Ward, east of the O'Brien pool, Culbertson & Irwin No. 1 Sealey is drilling at 1,850 feet in anhydrite, while Fullerton Oil Company No. 1 Sealey is drilling lime and anhydrite at 2,770.

Cochran Failure
Bond & Harrison et al No. 1 Cameron, indicated failure in eastern Cochran, is drilling lime at 4,880 feet, carrying between 500 and 600 feet of sulphur water. It had first sulphur water at 4,810, with gradual increases. Odor of oil was reported present in samples from 4,860-70. The wildcat is located in league 1, league 85, Breer county school land.

In northwestern Gaines, Carter-Conoco No. 1 A. L. Wasson, interesting wildcat in section 48, block AX, public school land, shortly before noon was coming out with drill pipe, bottomed at 4,757 feet in lime. Formation has softened considerably the last 500 feet, and some reported oil stains in samples. Samples from 4,665-70 bore odor of gas. Three miles to the northeast, in section 44, block AX, Carter-Conoco No. 1 Langdon was drilling ahead, depth and formation unrevealed. Bahan & Rhodes and Fitzpatrick No. 1 Shook; Yoakum wildcat, topped brown lime at 4,570, operators reported, practically flat with their No. 11 Henard, test three miles to the northeast, which showed oil and gas last summer in drilling to water.

PASSENGERS ON TRAIN RESCUED

36 Persons Are Taken By Wagons and Tractors To Safety

DALHART, June 3. (AP)—Thirty-six passengers on a Fort Worth and Denver train marooned for nearly 24 hours between two flooded streams near Perico, 22 miles northwest of Dalhart, were rescued late Wednesday.

The passengers, who had picnicked on supplies made available by farmers in the vicinity, were placed in wagons and hauled to safety by tractors. They later were carried to Clayton, N. M., on buses where they caught a regular train for Denver.

Of interest is the fact that the No. 1 Shook is logging an entirely different type of section from No. 1 Henard. It is said to be similar to the section in T. P. No. 1 Bennett, producer in the Bennett pool about ten miles to the southeast. Location of No. 1 Shook is the center of the northeast quarter of section 420, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.
