China-Jap War Appears Inevitable

One Fatally Injured, Another Hurt In Wreck Here

Balked by Police

The last romance of Mrs. Nancy Hoyt Curtis (above) struck a very rocky road. Balked from marrying James Baker, 27-year-old taxi driver at Bar Harbor, Me., by Maine's 5-day law, the twice divorced society author set out with him for Canada. They were turned back at the border, then police detained Baker "for his own good" while Mrs. Curtis wept.

REPORT PROGRESS ON LEASING SPACE IN BUILDING HERE

Most of Ground Floor in Structure Is Leased

Progress was reported Saturday in leasing store, office and apartment space in the proposed twelve-story McClintic-Marion building, to be located at the corner of Texas and Colorado streets. E. T. Marion, oil operator of Midland and Dallas, said all of the ground floor has been leased except the coffee shop and one store space.

Leasing of apartments has been especially active, with steady progress on leasing offices. Two large companies will have representatives here within the next week to confer with Mr. Marion on the probable leasing of several offices each. Almost thirty per cent of the building already is contracted, Mr. Marion said.

As soon as the required portion of the edifice is definitely leased, bids will be advertised by the architects, Lang and Wittich of Dallas, with plans for completion as early as possible in 1938. The building's ground floor will be devoted to stores and mercantile establishments, the next five to offices and the top six floors to modern furnished apartments.

RETURNING HOME

Enroute to Coahoma For Week End Visit

One man was fatally injured and another seriously hurt at midnight Friday when the motorcycle they were riding crashed into the rear of an automobile a mile west of Midland on highway No. 1.

J. L. Hopper, 20, of the Fairview community near Big Spring, was killed outright in the crash. Ray Prather, 22, of Coahoma, sustained a broken left leg, the bone being badly fractured and the flesh severely lacerated below the knee. Both had been employed in the oil fields at Eunice, N. M., and were en route home to visit their parents.

Reports said that the youths, en route east at high speed, struck the rear fender of an automobile driven by Harold Voight, Midland oil man, who was driving westward. He stopped immediately, assisting passing motorists who halted at the scene in rendering aid and summoning ambulances. His car was not overturned.

Officers said the motorcycle speedometer was locked on 82 miles per hour. Hopper, who apparently was killed instantly, was taken to the Ellis funeral home and early Saturday was taken to Big Spring. Prather, in a Barrow ambulance, was taken to a Midland hospital and moved Saturday to a hospital at Big Spring. Although he had been unconscious during the night, he had rallied early Saturday.

Hopper survived by his mother Mrs. John Hopper of Fairview, by one sister and seven brothers. Funeral services will be held at Coahoma, today at 2 o'clock.

Wright said that many of the reptiles that were common to residents of Texas were considered as "freaks" by the thousands of sightseers at the Cincinnati zoo, fifth largest in the world, third largest in the United States.

68 TRANSFERS IN CITY PROPERTY RECORDED IN THE LAST 45 DAYS

An indication of the rapid transference of lots in Midland is shown in a release from the county clerk's office showing a total of 68 transfers in property since June 1.

Most of the lots purchased, where no residence has yet been built, were gained for the purpose of building residences and other buildings. Few of the tracts traded hands because of speculative purposes. The June transfer record list was one of the heaviest compiled here in several months, but July records show no falling off from the mark registered last month.

Transfers since June 1 include: Frank A. Smith sells to Alf Reese Jr. South 50 feet of the Northwest quarter of block 40, Homestead. J. B. Pliska buys lots 2 and 3 block 53 Original town from Margaret Calloway Rinehart. C. A. and J. W. Vilbig Jr. sells to Dorothy Bodkins lot six and West half of lot 5, Block 40 West End. S. E. #### Good Weather Is Bad For Juvenile Delinquency

MILWAUKEE (U.P.)—A study by probation officers revealed that when the weather is bad children are good. John J. Kennedy, chief probation officer of the juvenile court, said that juvenile delinquency increased 25 per cent in the first five months of 1937 over the same period of 1936. In 1936, Kennedy said, snowdrifts and zero weather kept children indoors, but in 1937 the winter was so mild that the youths were outdoors much of the time and more of them got into trouble. Kennedy said there always is an inverse relationship between the weather and child delinquency.

Barkley and Harrison Wait for Burial of Robinson

ABOARD ROBINSON FUNERAL TRAIN, July 17 (AP)—The Special train carrying the body of Senator Joseph Robinson to Little Rock home for burial today hummed with a thinly veiled struggle for democratic leadership in the senate which his death left vacant. #### Final Details Will Be Perfected in Near Future

Plans for the annual Midland Cowboy Contest, to be held at Midland Fair Arena September 4, 5 and 6, had been developed to the extent that committeemen were waiting principally for the time to come nearer before perfecting final details, a check-up showed late in the week.

Much of the stock has already been arranged for and inquiries have been sent out for the remainder. The big rodeo, for which $3,500 in purses and prizes will be paid, will include the most spectacular cowboy contest and will be open to the world with no ropers or riders barred from competition.

Invitations had been sent out by the chamber of commerce to towns and cities throughout the southwest to have entries in the cowgirls sponsor contest, with favorable replies coming in steadily.

Possibility that labor organizations will have some sort of celebration on Labor Day, September 6, which is the final day of the rodeo, was expressed by W. E. Johnson, head of the carpenters' local union.

Invitation to a high state official to attend had been delivered, with his verbal promise to be on hand for the opening day. His official acceptance was expected to arrive shortly. It was expected that several Texas and New Mexico notables will meet here for the occasion.

Members of the Midland Cowboy Contest committee are Roy Parks, John Dublin, Leonard Proctor and Donald Hutt.

CONTINENTAL 1 JONES FAILS TO SHOW FOR PRODUCTION ON FIRST SWAB TEST

Only Circulating Oil Recovered From Well In Northwestern Gaines County

By FRANK GARDNER First swabbing test of Continental Oil Company No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, made at the week's close, failed to indicate that the well would be a producer at its present depth of 4,959 feet. Swabbing through 2 1/2-inch tubing was begun at 5 o'clock Friday evening. At the time, the well had a hole full of oil used as circulating fluid to drill in with, amounting to approximately 177 barrels. Operators estimated that an additional 100 barrels of oil had been lost in formation while drilling a soft streak from 4,906-50.

Swab was run for three and one-half hours Friday night, and 66 barrels of drilling oil recovered. The well was then shut in until 6 o'clock Saturday morning, at which time swab was run and fluid level found at 2,900 feet from the top, having risen only 100 feet overnight. Two hours of swabbing yielded 20 barrels of drilling fluid, and the well was shut in again. No. 1 Jones is located in section 22, block A-7, public school land, nine miles west and three miles south of the Carter-Conoco No. 1 A. L. Wasson, discovery producer.

Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 Jones, in the center of the northeast quarter of section 2, block A-7, four miles north of the Continental well, is drilling at 4,065 feet in red sand. New Wasson Area Test

Another location was made in the Wasson area at the week-end. It is Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 R. A. Cox estate et al, 440 feet from the north and west lines of section 380, block G, C. C. S. D. barrels. Operators estimated that a quarter of a mile south of the Wasson discovery.

No. 1 Wasson, in section 48, block AX, public school land, late in the week flowed 103 barrels in 24 hours through 27/64-inch choke on tubing. Production is natural, and total depth is 4,959 feet in lime. Farthest advanced of the tests in the area, Carter-Continental No. 1 Moore-Langdon, in the southwest quarter of section 44, block AX, three miles northeast of the discovery, had drilled to 4,837 feet in lime. Phillips No. 1 A. G. Carter, west offset to the discovery in section 53, is drilling at 60 feet in calciche. Phillips and I. T. I. O. No. 1 E. C.

Simultaneously, the military attaché at the Nanking embassy warned the Chinese minister of war that "Japan will not tolerate entry of military or aviation units into the Hopeh province." Dispatches indicated that the vanguard of central Chinese troops had reached the southern edge of the Hopeh province, 200 miles south of Peiping, where Japanese and Chinese troops clashed repeatedly.

VOTERS PAY AND PAY UNDER MACHINE RULE

From out Chicago way come rumblings indicating that that high-spirited city is, once more, about to demonstrate the price that can be paid for government of, by and for the politicians.

Chicago's new tax rate, announced recently, touched an all-time high with a figure of $9.52 for each of $100 of assessed valuation. But a high tax rate, in itself, is nothing particularly new for any American city. What makes the Chicago case interesting is its background.

Eight or nine years ago Chicago landed itself in the headlines with a taxpayers' strike. Taxes went uncollected, city services languished, city employes went on skimpy rations—and, all the while, the city was blithely going ahead on borrowed money, supporting one of the most malodorous political rings in America.

That got itself settled, finally. The politicians were chased out, the city began to pay its way once more, and it looked as if everything was to be lovely. But one of the unnoticed little axioms of American politics is that if you resign the worries of government to politicians you are going to pay for the privilege; and before long this old saw began to prove its truth anew.

The old gang was chased out, but a new gang came gaily in. The Kelly-Nash machine took Chicago over as its private fief, and the tax rate began to soar. In 1933 it stood at $6.49. It has gone up every year since then. In addition, new gas, vehicle and liquor taxes have been created in recent years, each collecting its mite from the taxpayer in addition to his real property levies.

With all of this money being collected, you would suppose that Chicago was at least getting some excellent government for its money, and that all of the city employes were being paid regularly. But it isn't quite working out that way. Most of the city employes have been getting along under a 10½ per cent pay cut for two years.

Fast as the city's income mounts, it does not seem to mount fast enough to enable the city to pay its workers their full wages and salaries.

As a result, loud murmurs of discontent are being heard. The head of an electricians' union talks ominously about turning all the street lights off and leaving the river bridges open. School teachers talk of forming a "united front." And on top of everything else, a taxpayers' strike is freely predicted.

A picture like this is eminently worth the study of the inhabitants of other cities. For it is perfectly obvious that what is happening in Chicago is nothing more than the inevitable result of giving a political machine its head. If you permit a machine to fasten itself upon you, you are going to pay for it. The plight of the Chicago taxpayer is an object lesson for all taxpayers.

Maybe now Perry Craddock will begin to read the paper, now that he's heard I have been talking about him. Of course I could claim that I didn't know Perry could read, having known for a long time that he and Red used to chase off the men school teachers up at Andrews.

I've heard the expression that what a rich man wastes would keep a poor man from starving. The other day I heard that what a busy man neglects would keep a lazy man employed.

I read all of this, under the head of "college information and jokes." An attractive young college man toured the country to obtain data on kissing and since he has written an article about it. He says that the girls that kiss the easiest and the longest and put the most warmth and fire into it are the girls in the wheat belt. The hardest girls to kiss are the eastern girls and the coldest are the girls who live on the Pacific Coast. The young man consumed a year sampling kisses in almost every state in the union. He did his kissing among college girls almost exclusively and he says that he absorbed sufficient lipstick to start a paint factory. . . All in all he finds that this is a grand country. . . College girls say that the right age for a girl when she marries is half the age of her husband plus seven years. . . "From what kind of animals do we get milk?" "Female. . . "You don't believe what they've been saying about me, do you?" she asked him. "What do you think I'm here for?" he asked back.

Shortcomings in Public Schools Of Texas Cited in Address by Professor

AUSTIN, Texas. — In speaking before the general session of the Texas School Administrators' Conference and the Texas Association of County Superintendents on the subject "What Is a Reasonable Adequate State Program of Education in Texas," T. H. Shelby, dean of the Division of Extension of the University of Texas, called attention to shortcomings in our public schools and made several concrete proposals for their improvement.

He stated that approximately one third of all children enrolled in public schools for white were enrolled in schools of common school districts, and that approximately 10 per cent of these children were enrolled in one teacher schools, of which there were 1,815 in 1935-36. He stated that 82 per cent of all districts, both common and independent, had five or fewer teachers and in these districts were 26 per cent of all the enrolled pupils. Ninety per cent of all schools in common school districts, to the number of 6,197, had one to four teachers.

Dean Shelby said that there were 4,354 school enrolling a quarter of a million children which ran eight months or less. More than eleven hundred schools, enrolling nearly fifty thousand pupils, ran seven months or less. Two hundred eleven schools ran six months or less. If negro schools are considered, these figures are greatly increased. He advocated at least nine months of school per year for all pupils. Assessed valuations, he went on, range from $250 or less per scholastic enumerated on the census rolls to over $18,000 per scholastic in 71 districts of the State. Seventy-four per cent of the scholastics in common school districts live in administrative units in which the property valuation for taxation averages $2,000 or less per scholastic. A State plan for the better equalization of values for school support was advocated.

There are nearly five hundred school districts in the State with no local tax. Dean Shelby took the position that increased State support should be based on a minimum tax required of each local unit.

Salaries of administrators, supervisors and teachers, that is, the instructional staff, were reported as follows: Average annual salaries of the instructional staff in white schools in common school districts were reported as $725, while in independent districts, it was $1,125. The average for the entire State for white teachers was $899. When negro schools are considered, these figures are greatly reduced.

Teacher qualifications were discussed as one of the most vital factors in school improvement. Nearly half the white teachers, administrators and supervisors, when taken together, have had college degrees. Seven per cent however have less than two years of college training. Dean Shelby advocated four years of college training as a prerequisite for new teachers just entering upon teaching. He made several concrete suggestions for improvement. He advocated legislation that would unify the program of State administration of education. He proposed the election of the members of the State Board of Education. Whether elected by popular vote, or appointed as provided by the present law, he stated that the trend throughout the nation was for the board to appoint the State superintendent of public instruction and to look to him for all administrative and executive duties and for professional advice. The board should perform legislative functions and adopt general policies and look to the superintendent to carry out the policies adopted. He stated that county and local school administration should be similarly organized. By this plan, with all politics eliminated and the interest and welfare of the children the paramount concern, there would be greater unity of purpose and action and increased efficiency.

He expressed the belief that a better State-wide system of taxation that would render the tax burden more equal and uniform, perhaps by the creation of a State tax commission with greater authority over taxable values, would benefit school support. He advocated greater State support for the individual child. Teacher training institutions should adapt their teacher-training program to the new purposes and should, in cooperation with administrators and supervisors, work out an in-service training program. "Texas has abundant resources and, if the proper set-up can be had and a unified program evolved, we can take front rank among our sister states. "We should present a united front to our legislature and work together for the children of our great State."

Courage and Size Found Not Related

TORONTO, Ont. (U.P.)—A man's courage cannot be measured by his size, Dr. Craig Kightlinger, president of the Eastern College of Chiropractic, New York, told the Associated Chiropractors at a meeting here.

Dr. Kightlinger said that he has treated many circus people and has discovered that while a dwarf will lie on a table for examination without fear, he has never been able to get a giant or a "strong man" to take a treatment.

Bus Driver for 14 Years Never Bumps a Fender

CAMDEN, N. J. (U.P.)—A local man shares with only one other driver in the country the honor of being the safest city bus driver. George Metz has a record of nearly 14 years' driving for a distance of 372,120 miles without an accident. He never has scratched or bumped a fender.

He recently received a gold watch in a national bus drivers' competition, tying with an Indianapolis driver.

basis as are stenographers in our State departments. No white teacher should receive less than $1,200 per year.

He favored county administrative units for all schools. If this is not feasible, larger administrative units within the county with natural attendance areas should be worked out. Such a plan would give larger units and would make possible better organization and administration and more effective teaching.

"Commendable progress is being made in Texas in the new curriculum revision program," Dean Shelby said. "The progress being made puts Texas in the forefront of states. Success of the program, however, will rest ultimately upon the teacher in the classroom, who, in the last analysis makes the curriculum for the individual child. Teacher training institutions should adapt their teacher-training program to the new purposes and should, in cooperation with administrators and supervisors, work out an in-service training program.

Bishop Says Christian Requires $12.50 Weekly

LONDON (U.P.)—It takes at least 50 shillings (about $12.50) a week to be a Christian, the Bishop of Chelmsford, Dr. Henry Wilson, whose income is $300 a month, believes.

Writing in the Diocesan Chronicle, he says that "if a man has less than 50 shillings a week life is so anxious that he has no time for much thought concerning high things; the strain of looking after his body absorbs all his time and interests."

On the other hand, Dr. Wilson believes the man with an income of more than $5,000 a year is in danger of becoming "the rich man who cannot enter into the Kingdom."

Female Rats Too Smart To Catch, Says Expert

LORAIN, O. (U.P.)—E. L. Strawsburg of Hagerstown, Md., 17 years a rat-catcher extraordinary and a de-mouser of some reputation, arrived here to practice his trade—de-ratting public buildings.

Strawsburg has his own formulas for poisoning rodents and his 17-year experience has taught him a thing or two about them. "The female rat is too smart to be trapped," he said. "Ninety per cent of the rats caught in traps are males." The only way to "de-life" the female rat is to poison her, said Strawsburg.

Young Divinity Student Says Old Fashioned Christianity Is Answer To Church Problem

NEW YORK, July 17.—The Protestant church today has lost a large portion of its former strength and support in the United States because it no longer has anything vital, gripping or enlightening to offer, according to a consensus of former church-goers published by the American Magazine.

The conclusion that the serious decline in attendance at services was the fault of the church itself was expressed by thousands who are now spending their Sunday mornings playing golf, listening to the radio, or snoozing quietly in bed.

The first reaction of those questioned was to offer the first excuse for non-attendance that came into their heads, of which the following five examples are typical:

"Sunday morning is my only chance to catch up on sleep."

"I think I can worship better by going to the countryside."

"Church buildings are so gloomy and depressing."

"Ministers are always after your money."

"Church pews are so uncomfortable."

Further questioning, however, revealed a practical unanimity on the basic reason for non-attendance at church. Stated in many different ways, it boiled down to the following five points, which may be summed up in the statement that the Protestant church has nothing to offer its members:

1. The church, as a center of charity, has been replaced by secular, civic and county chest funds, administered by businessmen and social workers. And a vast part of relief has been taken over by the government.

2. The church, as a fountain of healing, which once offered miraculous cures through faith and the "laying on of hands," has been replaced as physician by the science of medicine.

3. The church, which once exercised devils from the mind of man and restored tranquility of soul, is being replaced by gland specialists, dietitians, psychiatrists and psychologists, who hold that crime and abnormality are the result of disordered glands, improper nourishment, disease, poverty, ignorance.

4. The church, once the cradle of education and the founder of many colleges, is no longer the keeper of knowledge and the source of education. Modern science springs from the laboratory. Knowledge is mined and pieced together through countless agencies, most of them secular. Newspapers, magazines, radio, books, motion pictures and non-sectarian schools disseminate education.

5. Great art and music, once inspired by the church are now secular and, for the most part, have nothing to do with organized religion.

Most of the people questioned said they believed in God, believed in prayer, but having this belief, felt that the church had nothing further to offer them. In an effort to widen the inquiry, the editors of the magazine have invited their readers to comment on the findings.

Children attending were Louis Aubyn Griffith, Mary Lou Hudson, Frankie Lou Drake, Lila Gene and Mozelle Ballew, Wayne Ballew, Irma Tunnel, Paul Tunnel, Harold and Lewis Johnson, Coy Bishop, Jimmy Watson, Billy Pate, Laura Beth Lancaster, Johnny and Mary Ann Grace of Wilburton, Okla., Audie and Geneva Merrill, Betty Jo Greene, Gary Dale and Margaret Nichols, Betty Ruth and Eloise Pickering, and Dianne Debnam.

BOOK REVIEW

By A. W.

What is Ahead of Us? The Macmillan Company, New York.

In this little volume six eminent British thinkers discuss six problems which seem to them to have a vital relationship upon the future of civilization.

G. D. H. Cole, in his chapter "Can Capitalism Survive?" argues that capitalism, if it falls, will be overcome by war and not by internal economic collapse.

In "Dictatorships: What Next?" Wickham Steed voices the opinion that only by England's making clear to Hitler that the United Kingdom, cost what it may, will not stand calmly by while the attempts to overthrow all that Great Britain holds dear on the Continent; then, and only then, will Hitler hesitate.

Professor P. M. S. Blackett in "The Next War: Can It Be Avoided?" agrees with Mr. Steed that only force will stop Hitler from dominating Europe.

These three Britishers agree that Great Britain must stop its acceptance of Hitler's actions on the Continent if it wishes to avoid another war. They believe that the destruction of Ethiopia and the invasion of and wars in Spain will be repeated on a much larger scale in other countries if the democratic countries do not band together to keep peace in Europe. Hitler must be told and made to understand that if he goes beyond certain limits the banded democracies must act.

The future of the Soviet Communism is discussed by Mr. Sidney Webb. He believes that within the next ten years the citizens of the U. S. S. R. will be better off than the average citizen in England or the United States. He looks upon the country as a Land of Hope.

In his discussion, Sir Arthur Salter is concerned with a means of enlarging international trade. He believes that this can be brought about first, by conditional stabilization of currencies; second, lowering tariffs by group agreements with low tariff countries and a modification of the principle, "most favored nation"; and third, the creation of equal opportunities in the colonial possessions.

The last chapter in this provocative little book is a speculation by Professor Lancelot Hogben on racial extinction. If civilized countries do not wake up to the fact that they must increase their birth rate, races will become extinct, war or no war. He says that when civilized countries realize this danger women

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, July 18.

The Golden Text is: "Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed at the bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living; for all live unto him" (Luke 20:37, 39).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O death where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" (I Corinthians 15: 55).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The relinquishment of all faith in death and also of the fear of its sting would raise the standard of health and morals far beyond its present elevation, and would enable us to hold the banner of Christianity aloft with unflinching faith in God, in Life eternal" (Page 426).

Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray, the romantic team of "Hands Across the Table" and "A Princess Comes Across," are together again in "Swing High, Swing Low," a brilliant romance with music, which opened at the Yucca Theatre last night.

"Swing High, Swing Low," is the story of Carole Lombard, as the girl whose love and faith in a never-do-well trumpet player lifts him to the pinnacle of success but robs her of his love. He discovers that he cannot succeed without her and returns to bet her forgiveness.

The story is set in Panama and New York City, and there are many gorgeous settings. Dorothy Lamour, girl who became famous after her

Registered Houses In France Lobby Against Proposed Suppression Bill

PARIS (U.P.)—Just as industrialists support lobbies in law-making houses, a class of enterprises which the present government threaten with extinction is building up a war chest.

A bill to suppress houses of prostitution in France is ready for presentation to parliament—if the government decides to present it—and the operators of houses are banding together to prevent its passage.

A circular sent to all registered houses in France asks each to contribute $50 for each $5,000 of the inventory value of the establishment "to constitute a fund destined to defend the interests of our corporation, menaced by a pending bill."

By a complicated bit of mathematics, the weekly Vendredis figures the annual turnover of France's houses of prostitution at $250,000,000, of which $50,000,000 is profit, and calculates that the fund should amount to $1,000,000. Lobbying is not so lavish in France as in many countries, therefore this should represent a formidable war chest.

Brothels have a particular interest in saving their business just now. Many of them have increased their capital investment by making improvements and redecorating for the exposition. This is not one of the attractions exposition authorities are featuring, however. A few days ago a big wireless antenna appeared on the roof of one of Montmartre's discreeter palaces, indicating the passing of the mechanical piano.

Entering into the spirit of exposition profit-making is not the first instance of solidarity with society that these institutions have shown. A dignified looking establishment of the Palace Saint-Georges last year posted at the same time as business establishments a notice of brief summer closing.

Operating a house of prostitution is not exactly respectable in France, but it is not surreptitious. One of the most renowned houses in Paris belongs to a charitable society for the blind. A provincial French city has a row of similar establishments which are property of the cathedral. They happen to face the cathedral, and that annoyed the bishop, so he bought them with the intention of closing them. Then the war occurred, and with it the legislation protecting tenants which, among other things, makes it impossible to put a tenant out as long as he pays his rent. The houses pay their rent all right, so all the cathedral can do is to collect it.

FORMATION OF SOFT BALL LEAGUE HERE IS MADE SATURDAY

LEAGUE SEASON TO OPEN FRIDAY AND END SEPTEMBER 10

Formation of a soft ball league in Midland was completed yesterday afternoon when representatives of eight clubs gave assurance they would enter a team in the league. Tentative schedule calls for the league opening next Friday night, July 23, with the season to end September 10. Each club will play a total of 28 games during the regular season, the play-off for the championship to be held at the conclusion of the scheduled season.

The Shaughnessy play-off plan was adopted, the top four clubs in the league at the end of the season to meet in series of two out of three and three out of five to decide what team is the champion.

Firms signifying their readiness for the start of the league were the KRLH radio station, Scharbauer Hotel, Gulf Refining Co., Midland Hardware and Furniture Co., Driskell-Freeman, Ford Motor company, the eighth club to be chosen either from the Phillips Petroleum company or from the Baptist church.

The Phillips Co. and the church both had representatives at the meeting, and it was agreed that if the oil company did not enter a club (their decision is to be announced Monday) the church would sponsor an entry.

A schedule is to be drawn Monday just as soon as it is known what clubs will enter.

Practice games will be held at the diamond on South Main Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights this week, the first official game to be played Friday.

Banding of Swallows May Unravel Mystery

GULFPORT, Miss. (U.P.)—Banding of barn swallows inhabiting Ship Island, near here in the Gulf of Mexico, may solve a "mystery," according to Thomas J. Bureleigh, associate biologist of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey.

Why it is that these birds nest on Ship Island and other outlying islands, but do not live on the mainland along the Mississippi Gulf coast, is what puzzles Bureleigh.

He pointed out that they might be the same type that nest in Northern Arkansas, nearest known winter nesting place of barn swallows. The barn swallows in Arkansas are known to go north to Labrador, where they have definite breeding places.

Banding of the birds was decided on to determine whether the Ship Island barn swallows also join the others in their northward flight.

Vegetation which grew millions of years ago on this earth is almost as important to us as our modern food vegetation. The coal supply of the earth is formed from the ancient plants.

Rattlesnake venom sells for $25 an ounce and is used in the treatment of typhoid fever.

The PAYOFF

"Put up enough money at the start so the league will be assured of a full season—don't try to operate on nothing."

Even if that statement was made by this department, it was the smartest one made at the soft ball meeting Friday night. Proof of it was shown by the unanimous support that greeted it.

Most of the persons interested in the formation of the league here were baseball fans and saw just what trying to operate on a "shoe string" could amount to.

As this is being written (Saturday morning) five clubs have already announced they would be ready for the first game and either one or three more will be added.

When someone said that Tommie Betzel would "high pressure" you they didn't lie. He worked so cockeyed fast and furious at the meeting that he had games scheduled for Monday night, committee, and managers appointed before most of them then knew what it was all about.

But more power to him. He realizes that it is useless to keep on calling meetings and that the thing to do is to jump and then stop to argue. A rules committee was appointed to formulate playing regulations for the start, committeemen were named to see that the diamond is placed in playing shape, lights turned on as it was agreed to play the first two games Monday night.

The Midland Hardware and the Gulf clubs are to start the season against overparking. Judge Knowles says "You here again, Jess?—well, I'll be d—" So will I, judge," says I as I pays him the buck. . . Sam McClure, who last year coached football at Reagan, near Waco, school, has been named head coach at Pecos. . . And that just about places a coach at each of the four schools in the district where the head men quit this year—Midland, Pecos, Wink and Monahans—Assistant coaches were elevated at all the school except Pecos. . .

From the Sporting News: Charity Begins at Home A rather delicate point of policy has been raised by some members of the Association of Professional Ball Players of America, baseball's charitable organization, who also participated in the All-Star game, as to the desirability of allowing any men who refused to join the association to play in a game staged for its benefit. They would have non-member performers ostracized from the mid-summer event.

While it might seem incongruous to have players in the line-up doing their public bit for charity, while they refuse to make their private contributions, there is no way of forcing them to become members, except through public scorn. Maybe the purpose would be served by announcing that certain men chosen for the All-Star game would be ineligible to participate because they were not members of the charitable organization.

Some players profess that they do not care to play in the game, or to be named to the squads, but what a howl goes up for those who fail to be chosen! It is considered an honor and distinction to be a member of the All-Star contingent and there are few who really want to be left off. If it should be announced that the reason they are not chosen is because they are not in sympathy with the players' charity movement, there probably would be a wild scramble for membership. After all, the cost of membership is only $10 a year, which not only assures care for those in want and need, but also protects the member of today against the future necessity of calling for assistance.

The late Russ Hall was able to persuade Commissioner K. M. Landis that the association should receive the support of Organized Ball only after he had rounded up enough members to prove that the players themselves were in sympathy with the movement by paying their membership dues. Though that objective has been attained, it can still be lost by any indifference shown by the players themselves, now or in the future.

The New York Yankees and some other clubs are represented 100 per cent in the benevolent organization. But it is interesting to note that the 1937 membership list, as of May 5, shows that no fewer than ten of the 48 men—46 players and two managers—originally picked for the All-Star game do not belong and do not care to contribute their mite for the old, sick and indigent players of older years. The ten non-members represented the National League, and included some of the brightest stars in the senior circuit.

There is no logical reason why men enjoying major league salaries should not make their contributions to such a worthy cause, nor why the legends should enjoy the prestige that goes with participating in the game staged for that benefit. They should be lauded for what they are—and the public will do the labeling, if their names were made known.

Among those who participated in the All-Star game this year who do not belong to the association were Carl Hubbell, Bill Terry, Mel Ott, Joe Moore of the Giants; Dean and Joe Medwick of the Cards; Vaughan and Blanton of the Pirates; Collins of the Cubs and Gene Moore of the Bees.

Tallest Fishing Story: Dolphins Herd Sardines

PRAGUE (U.P.)—"Set a fish to catch a fish" would appear to be the motto of Adriatic fishermen—if the world's tallest fishing story, printed in a Yugoslav periodical, may be believed.

According to this, two fishers in the Adriatic village of Novigrad have succeeded in training a couple of dolphins to act as fish-hounds. When a large school of sardines appears, the faithful dolphins, according to the newspaper, go out to set and drive them into the fishermen's nets. The men have nothing to do but sit smoking comfortably till the nets are full.

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

"What does 'liquid' mean in banking?"

THE term "liquid" in banking, is used to denote assets in the form of cash or readily convertible into cash.

A bank does not keep all of its depositors' money in currency and coins, for such money would stand idle. Some is used to buy Government or other bonds and commercial paper, and some to make short-term loans. These are liquid, because they may be quickly converted into cash. Long-term investments, such as mortgages, are not considered as liquid because they cannot always be turned into cash promptly and without sacrifice—even though they represent sound value.

One of the banker's problems is to keep his bank liquid enough to satisfy all probable demands of depositors for funds, and yet participate, by sound loans, in the constructive development of the community.

Louis Plays Soft Ball and Sings 'That Old Gang of Mine'

World Champion Pays for Equipment and performs at First Base to Help Neighborhood Team in Detroit

"Call 'em right, you big bum!" Owner-Coach-Player Louis of the Joe Louis Bombers questions Umpire Willie Chandler's sight.

A closeup of Owner-Coach-Player Louis of Detroit's crack soft ballers, the Joe Louis Bombers. The champ grew up with his men.

A boot! Joe Louis is no George Sieler at first base, but he certainly can pickle that onion. Hollie Larkin backs up the boss.

Joe Louis is a switch hitter, but swings from the right side of the plate when playing for keeps. The heavy king hits a long ball.

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

STEVENSVILLE, Mich., July 15.—Joe Louis has returned to the summer home of Julian Black at Stevensville to get his mind back on beak busting.

The heavyweight champion will do three weeks of light work before moving on to Dr. Joe Bier's famous camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J., where he will sharpen and polish up for his first defense of the title in a 15-round engagement with Tommy Farr of Wales at Yankee Stadium, Aug. 26.

Louis has been playing soft ball, or at least appearing with his neighborhood team in Detroit, since he dropped Jim Braddock like a broken airplane in Chicago, June 22.

Louis, just a big kid, is a softy for soft ball—would rather play it at 10 cents than box Braddocks and Schmelings at $27.50 a throw. "Especially Smelin's," he beams, "although it is the German's fault that he is not meeting me this fall."

Louis prefers to watch baseball, particularly his pet Detroit Tigers, but the opportunity to get into games of soft ball appeals to him. He plays first base and goes to bat at least once for his Joe Louis Bombers, after which he either coaches at first base or directs the play from the bench.

Louis has just completed a three-day trip with his club, appearing in Cleveland, Toledo, and Cincinnati. The players made the trip in automobiles, and the champion rode with them. The Bombers drew capacity crowds everywhere.

Louis Hasn't Forgotten

This is the third year that Louis has equipped the boys with whom he was raised and for some of whom he formerly caught in school. Outfitting the team costs Louis $1200, and this particular hobby sets him back considerably more than that annually.

"But he's the same old Joe," says Thurston McKinney, who started the Dark Angel fighting and who still is his closest pal. And the reverence in which his chums hold him is reward enough for Smoky Joe. "I'm not good enough to play with these fellows now," asserts Louis, "but my getting into uniform helps them make a few dollars. I take out nothing more than their traveling expenses."

"Another thing about this soft ball is that it gives me something to think about besides fighting, which is about all I hear most of the time." "Most of the boys work in automobile factories, but Joe helps those who haven't jobs," explains McKinney.

Louis now is not an accomplished soft ball infielder, and he throws with a jerky three-quarter move. He is a switch hitter, but usually hits from the right side of the plate, and is not a bad hitter.

No Set Plan for Farr Fight

Naturally, Louis never has seen Farr, and declares that he has no one set plan for fighting the British Empire's head man. He would battle Max Schmeling differently in a second edition, however. "Smelin' fought me sideways," repeats Louis, which is his way of describing the crouch to the right which the Black Uhlan employed so successfully.

"Next time I'll straighten him up with left uppercuts." Louis wishes to forever dispel all doubt about being ready for his scrap with Schmeling.

"My marriage didn't soften me in the ring, as some claimed," explains the Alabama-born negro. "I made other fights after being married."

"The heat at Lakewood, N. J., where I trained for Smelin' might have taken something out of me, but I was good enough. I just got hit and licked, that's all." Louis is eager to get the Farr show out of the way, so that he can return and finish the campaign with his soft ball squad. Property acquired in Chicago really demands his presence there, but Louis will continue to make his home in Detroit during the soft ball season.

White Robin Discovered; One of Rarest Sights

CHESTER, Pa. (U.P.)—A white robin was discovered on a lawn in uptown Chester. The albino fledgling had been born in a wisteria vine overhanging a driveway. Ornithologists called the bird "one of the rarest sights in nature."

Texas Guinan's Idea Still Works; Cafe Builds Business on Insults

TOLEDO, O. (U.P.)—"Hello, Sucker!" That brazen greeting is just a memory in the night clubs today, at Texas Guinan, its originator, left a theory that is still used to prospective advantage—the customer loves to be insulted.

Eugene and Glenn Fowler, automobile salesman, opened a restaurant as a sideline to their regular business. They found later that they didn't have the time to do a good job of waiting on their customers. Hence, they resorted to studied insults to cover their deficiencies.

It worked. That was 11 years ago. Today, the brothers have two larger, centrally-located restaurants.

A customer enters a "Bud and Luke's," sits at a table covered with oilcloth. A waiter tosses a pile of silver on the table and snarls: "Help yourself. What'll you have?"

A new customer usually is somewhat taken aback by such bold talk, whereupon the waiter will roar back to the kitchen:

"Hey, guys this rube won't order!" This cry brings platoons of waiters marching in, mumbling and shouting at the confused diner. Famous characters have been picked up and carried out the door. The latter treatment is usually prearranged, however.

The waiters wear hats at all times, and are paid for their "ad-libbing" ability, his hair, looks and if he wears a lodge badge of any type; they pounce at the opportunity to mangle wisecracks about the organization.

Silver is sometimes "planted" in a diner's coat pockets. When he attempts to leave, waiters seize him and the luckless victim is highly embarrassed.

The kitchen crew joins in the bedlam. Shrieks, moans, breaking dishes, falling pots, bells and whistles add to the customer's dilemma.

Unless the new customer has a strong mental constitution he is likely to leave "Bud and Luke's" babbling something incoherent.

New Tone Train Toots Center of Controversy

STONINGTON, Conn. (U.P.)—While scores of residents were signing a petition against the "loud and prolonged" screeching of the New Haven railroad's 10 new stream-lined locomotives, William Hill was shouting praises for the "new toned whistles."

He threatened to circulate a petition asking that the present tone of the whistles be preserved—and he lives close to the tracks. The majority of the town's folk, however, feel that Hill's "sleep is more sound than his opinion on whistles."

City Meeting Never Missed

LORAIN, O. (U.P.)—Ben N. Harris, beginning his 24th year as head of the board of health of the City of Lorain, never has missed a monthly meeting of the board and never has been tardy.

 PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (U.P.) — It was a bullet from the gun of an Indian, Red Tomahawk, and not that of a white man, which killed Sitting Bull, a militant chieftain, according to Albert Bloomer, 72, a member of a troop sent to relieve a detail of Indian police embroiled in skirmish.
 They had attempted to kidnap Sitting Bull while his camp slept, but the sachem aroused his supporters to battle. Bloomer was with Troop F, 8th U. S. Cavalry, stationed at Fort Yates in the Standing Rock Indian Reservation.

LAWS URGED TO PROTECT BRITISH CHILD ACTRESSES

CARDIFF, Eng. (U.P.)—New laws to save child actresses from "ex-lsling dangers" are demanded in a resolution adopted by a conference of head-teachers here.

"They grow up too quickly and therefore badly," Miss I. Pavn, Cardiff headmistress, declared in describing the lives of children behind the footlights. "They become physically and mentally older. They suddenly lose the freshness of their girlhood and budding womanhood."

"Most of us are acquainted with these little nomads who have attended three or four schools in almost as many months. The child naturally tends to put her stage work first and school second. With their permed hair—some of them need to take half a day from school to have it permed—with their use of rouge, lipstick and powder, they are to be pitied."

Mrs. Mary S. Ray had as her guests Saturday Mrs. J. H. Kelly and daughter of El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson and daughter of Tucson, Ariz., Carl Aber of Hayden, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Dee Ethridge and Mrs. E. Dewhurst of Royalty.

Standing in his 16-cylinder Auto Union, the laurel wreath of victory tossed over one shoulder, and one arm resting on the trophy, Bernd Rosemeyer beams and raises his hand in response to the roar of 70,000 spectators who saw him win the 300-mile George Vanderbilt Cup race at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, L. I. The blond German's time over the pretzel-shaped track was 3 hours and 38 minutes, his average speed 82.564, and he roared down the straightaway at nearly 160 miles an hour, the fastest speed ever attained on an American track. First prize money was $20,000.
