

One Killed, Damage Is Heavy Over State After Storms Hit

Negro Man at Terrell Dies Of Injuries

All Residences at Tupelo Damaged By Windstorm

By Associated Press

One person was killed and thousands of dollars worth of damage was done to buildings and crops by capricious wind, rain, hail and electrical storms that hit a half dozen communities in the state last night.

Roy Hendrick, negro, was killed at Terrell when an awning collapsed during a rain and wind storm.

Corsicana reports said that all houses at Tupelo, 12 miles northeast, had been wrecked or damaged. Lightning started fires at Rice and Dawson, and an oil well at Laird Hill, near Kilgore. The well was brought under control several hours after it ran wild when wind blew over the derrick.

A freak twister unroofed a school building and shattered windows at Falls City, 45 miles south of San Antonio. The storm, which was accompanied by more than an inch of rainfall, affected an area of about four blocks square. Loss to the school was estimated at $5,000. Telephone lines were cut down.

Forty-two telephone toll lines were knocked out of order in the vicinity of Corsicana by strong winds, isolating the communities of Roane, Rice, Barry, and Emhouse. Temperatures dropped rapidly from the 100-degree mark. Buildings and crops were damaged in that section.

The Kilgore baseball park was wrecked by a windstorm which blew down three oil derricks and damaged telephone and electric service.

A high wind tore down billboards and uprooted trees in the northern part of Dallas about 7 p. m. after a new seasonal heat record of 103 had been set earlier in the day. Three persons were prostrated by heat there.

Getting Movie Job CMTC Camp at Fort Bullis Has Ended

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Aug. 6.—The thirty-day training of approximately 100 CMTC students at Camp Bullis has now been completed. The training schedule has been very successfully carried out this year as in the past.

On visitors' day, Friday, July 30, the blue students took complete charge of the day's activities. A. V. Blalock, Company B, from Stephenville, Tex., acted as regimental commander during the regimental parade. C. L. Cavanaugh and T. O. Blakney acted as battalion commanders. Visitors' day attracted the attention of more than 600 citizens of Texas, who were entertained throughout the day by CMTC students, and were given the opportunity to eat a well-prepared turkey dinner.

During the last two weeks of camp activities the blue students (4th year men) have been given training in commanding troops by taking complete charge of several guard mounts and regimental parades. These boys have given excellent exhibitions of alertness in learning to give commands, and execute them.

There has been quite a lot of rivalry among the blue students to win the Major Becker trophy. The trophy was won by Thomas O'Connor, Blakney, Company A, from Stephenville, who was considered the best all round student of this year's CMTC training. Blakney was also given the nomination for the Scabbard and Blade scholarship—the Women's Overseas Service League medal and the Military Training Camp Association medal.

The nomination for the CMTC guest trip to Washington, D. C., and General J. J. Pershing's Gold medal from the 8th Corps Area was given to A. V. Blalock, of Company A, from Stephenville.

The overnight hike has just been completed. This year's hike consisted of marching on foot with full packs about five miles from Camp Bullis to Sasse Ranch, pitching tents for the night and then returning to camp early the next morning. These annual hikes signal the close of the training period, and the CMTC students turn in their uniforms and return to their homes.

Students who satisfactorily complete the four-year CMTC course are subject to be recommended for commissions as second lieutenants in the Officers' Reserve Corps, and those who are seeking a military career are advised as to the best course to follow. Wade M. Anderson, Company D, from Barksdale, Tex., and Frank Cavanaugh, Company D, from Houston, Tex., were recommended by a board of officers for certificates of qualification for appointment as second lieutenants in the Infantry Reserve Corps.

Pioneer Passes On

One of the early residents of Midland, Mrs. W. F. Scarborough, was buried Tuesday afternoon, after her sudden death from heart failure at Rudico Sunday morning. She and her husband, cattleman and oil man of Midland, had resided here for 35 years and would have been married 52 years next March 28. She was born November 4, 1866 in Graves County, Ky., but had lived in Texas since girlhood. Although in ill health for the past ten years, Mrs. Scarborough, with her husband, had championed religious, charitable and educational causes and had contributed substantial financial aid to various institutions.

Roosevelt Third Term Is Advocated By Gov. Allred

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6 (P).—Governor James V. Allred of Texas came out Wednesday for a third term for President Roosevelt.

"If he is available for office and wants it, then I am for him," the Texan said. He is vacationing in the Mexican capital as an official guest of the government.

"I am for him because of what he has done, because he has not a single heartbeat but for the people and because he commands the respect not only of the people of the United States but also of the entire world," Allred said.

He hedged at questions as to how widespread sentiment was for a Roosevelt third term but expressed the belief that Texas and other southwestern states would back him.

Allred was the second governor in recent weeks to espouse a Roosevelt third term. Previously Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania had advocated the president's reelection.

Parrying questions regarding rumors about having presidential ambitions of his own, Governor Allred said "they need a big man for that job and I am very small potatoes."

"There is more talk about a third term for President Roosevelt than a third term for me," he added. "The president may not approve of my talking about this but since the question was raised—"

Allred expressed approval of the Texas highway department's appointment of Julian Montgomery as highway engineer.

"He is a wonderful gentleman and engineer," Allred said.

Expect 300 Oil Men At Meeting Here Tomorrow Night

Oil men from over the entire Permian Basin oil fields of West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico will gather here tomorrow afternoon and evening for the regular quarterly meeting of the Permian Basin Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute, an attendance of over 300 being anticipated by the headquarters office of the Chapter in Midland.

A full program for the afternoon and evening sessions has been announced by G. A. Poole of Odessa, program chairman. An afternoon meeting with a banquet and dance in the evening will feature the gathering. All sessions will be held in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer, the general public being cordially invited to attend all sessions.

The Saturday afternoon meeting, which will get underway promptly at one o'clock, will be devoted to chapter business, the presentation of three papers on subjects of vital importance and interest to the oil fraternity, prepared and extemporaneous discussion of the subjects under consideration, and a motion picture which will last about 30 minutes. The papers will be sponsored by the Shell Petroleum Corp., Amerada Petroleum Corp. and Standard Oil Company of Texas.

Dr. E. H. Wells, president of the New Mexico School of Mines at Socorro, will be the principal speaker at the Saturday evening banquet which is scheduled for 7:00 o'clock. The subject of Dr. Wells' address has not been announced this afternoon. K. L. Seppington of Midland, chapter chairman, will preside.

Following the banquet, an informal dance, to which the general public is cordially invited, will be held in the Crystal Ballroom, the music to be furnished by Joe Buzze and his orchestra. The dance is expected to be a high light in the social activities of the season for the Permian Basin.

'Zero Hour' Said Near In Far East War

Hostilities Over Widespread Area Expected Soon

By Associated Press

The Chinese-Japanese undeclared war approached what military observers called the "zero hour" today before expected widespread hostilities.

Chinese predicted the Japanese north and southward offensive would range with Peiping as the hub after present Japanese "preparations" are completed.

Clashes appeared along the Peiping-Hankow railroad and north of Peiping at China's great wall.

Japan poured more men and munitions into the trouble zone as their minister declared they might be forced to abandon their "non-aggravation" policy, and the Japanese foreign minister assured parliament that the United States is "carefully guarding" against reported attempts to enlist American aviators in the Chinese army.

Big Spring Is Chosen Site For Asylum

AUSTIN, Aug. 6 (P).—The board of control announced today that Big Spring had been selected as the site for the new $817,000 hospital for the insane. The hospital had been sought by 14 other West Texas cities.

Claude Teer, board chairman, said that Big Spring had been definitely selected with the only condition it complete certain proposals contained in its bid. The board said it expected to start construction of buildings immediately.

Midland, Odessa and Kermit all had made offers to the board of control in an effort to land the institution, members of the board having spent one night and day here while hearing the offer of Midland persons who were making the bid for the asylum.

Other West Texas towns asking for the location were Sweetwater, Lubbock, Amarillo, Colorado, San Angelo and a half-dozen others.

Neutrality Dead As Germany-Italy Unwilling to Aid

LONDON, Aug. 6 (P).—Another non-intervention bubble evidently had burst Thursday on the eve of a neutrality committee vacation.

Despite earlier indications that new compromises had been reached for reviving the supposedly dying hope of isolating the Spanish civil war, the irreconcilable of the hands-off Spain committee had made no concessions.

The Earl of Plymouth, British chairman of the Twenty-Seventh-Power Committee, announced what had been heralded hopefully as a mystery meeting to break the deadlock merely would be a session to clarify the issues and vote adjournment for a holiday. Lord Plymouth called the meeting for Friday.

The new spurt of neutrality hopes was based on reports that Russia had modified its opposition to the British compromise plan—simultaneous withdrawal of foreign troops from Spain and recognition of the Spanish insurgents as belligerents. However, spokesmen indicated Russia still is insistent that the recall of foreign fighters must be effected before belligerent rights can be considered.

Germany and Italy still are unwilling to abandon their opposition to prior troop withdrawals. Thus, the committee can engage only in general discussions as a basis for further attempts to arrive at a solution.

Eleven passengers and the crew of three aboard the Pan American-Grace Airways air liner were believed to have been killed after the wreckage of the amphibian, of the Sikorsky S-43 type, shown in top photo, was found submerged a short distance west of Cristobal, C. Z. Army and navy planes joined ships, including the destroyer Taylor, lower right, in the search for the missing plane. It was forced down at sea on its regular flight from Santiago, Chile, soon after Pilot Stephen S. Dunn had radioed he was approaching the air base at Cristobal. Among the passengers was Rex Martin, lower left, aeronautical adviser for Latin America of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Physicians Fight To Save Baby Born After Mother Dies

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6 (P).—Physicians today fought for the life of a newborn baby girl, delivered in a post-mortem operation. Doctors had waited for the mother, Mrs. Mary Bocassini, to die of tubercular meningitis, and performed the operation early today.

Physicians had stood by the mother, whose death was attributed to the incurable disease, waiting for her to die in order to operate in an effort to have the life of the child.

The operation was performed within eight minutes after the death of the mother, the usual life period of an unborn baby in a dead mother.

British Tanker Bombed by Plane Near Algiers

Warplanes of an untested nationality bombed a British tanker and Italian steamer off the coast of Algeria today, near war-torn Spain. The tanker reached Algiers safely and one Algiers report, unconfirmed, said that the Italian vessel was attempting to aid the Britisher, its commander wounded.

Insurgent commanders admitted a powerful government siege force had virtually encircled their upper Aragon strong hold at Huesca. Insurgents pumped more explosives into Madrid, killing several.

Mahres Delaware Discovery Makes 100-Barrel Oil Head

By Frank Gardner

The new Delaware pool opener in western Ward county, Clayton H. Mahres, Kenneth Slack et al No. 1 Pat Wilson, strengthened indications of sizeable production yesterday afternoon when it flowed over the crown-block for 12 minutes, making an estimated 100 barrels of high-gravity oil. Flow came at 1:50 o'clock, nearly 23 hours after shot with 100 quarts of solidified nitro from 5,053-90. At two o'clock yesterday morning, No. 1 Wilson had headed 32 barrels. Operators were cleaning out 40 feet off bottom this morning, and the hole was reported full of oil. The well is making small heads while agitating. Total depth is 5,092, and a two-foot lead wool cushion was placed at bottom prior to shooting. No. 1 Wilson is located 1,650 feet from the southeast and 330 feet from the southwest line of section 133, block 34, H. & T. C. survey, on the Bankhead Highway and T. & P. Railroad between Quito and Pyote.

In northeastern Reeves, another Delaware producer, General Crude Oil Company No. 1 TXL was scheduled to shoot with 200 quarts this morning. It had 310 feet of oil in the hole which could not be lowered by bailing. A small amount of water which came in with the oil had completely exhausted. No. 1 TXL topped the Delaware sand at 3,276 and drilled pay in it from 3,288-94, the total depth. It is in the center of the northeast quarter of section 15, block 56, township 2, T. & P. survey, eight and one-half miles southwest of the Mason Delaware pool in Loving. Drilling block of about 5,000 acres was assembled by Bruce C. McKague and J. N. Gregory, Midland operators, who turned most of it to General Crude, of Houston.

Completes Gauge.

Official 24-hour potential gauge on Carter-Continental No. 1 Moore-Langdon, three mile northeast extension of the Wasson area in northwest Gaines, was 419.4 barrels, flowing through 2-inch tubing with 200,000 cubic feet of gas. Bottomed at 4,995, the well was treated with a total of 6,000 gallons of acid, given in three stages. It had pay from 4,095-38 and from 4,943-90. Location is 75 feet from the south and 2,185 feet from the west line of section 44, block AX, public school land.

Phillips & I. T. I. O. No. 1 Brand is coring at 4,864 in lime; Amerada No. 1 Matthews is preparing to run tubing for test after deepening to 5,018; Amerada No. 1 Armstrong is drilling at 4,934 in lime.

Continental No. 1 Jones, northwest Gaines test, is pulling tubing to drill deeper after swabbing 7 1/2 barrels of fluid hourly 75 per cent water, when bottomed at 5,940. Argo No. 1 Jones is drilling lime, unchanged at 4,898 feet.

Finds New Pay.

A new pay horizon for the Harper pool in Ector was apparently uncovered by Broderick & Calvert, No. 1 B. E. F. Cowden, south edge well when it began swabbing 50 barrels of oil daily after drilling plug from 7-inch casing cemented on bottom at 3,989. Some gas was showing with the oil. Circulating water coming in with oil is exhausting. Prior to cementing the casing, operators had lost returns, using two pits full of mud, 150 barrels of water, and baroid and aquagel before restoring circulation. Returns were evidently lost in a crevice, from which the pay is originating. Wells to the west and northwest failed to show in the horizon found productive by the Broderick & Calvert well. It is located 330 feet from the north and 1,650 feet from the west line of section 36, block 44, township 2 south, T. & P. survey.

A wildcat two miles northwest of the pool, L. H. Wentz No. 1 Paul Moss topped anhydrite at 1,400 and is drilling at 2,615. Elevation is 3,088 feet. Carter No. 1 Parker, erroneously reported as having logged oil show from 4,080-90, is standardizing at 4,000 feet.

Legislation For Farmers Is Demanded

Solons Hoping for Adjournment by 21st of August

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (P).—President Roosevelt, refusing to take a public stand today on a suggested special session of congress in the fall to pass farm legislation, told a press conference today that it is "up to the senate" when asked if he is in sympathy with a move that 40 senators have signed a petition favoring a October session.

Simultaneously at the capitol, Speaker Bankhead, majority leader Rayburn and chairman Jones of the house agriculture committee told a caucus of about 60 farm state representatives that they saw no necessity for a special session; that congress would make such legislation the first order of business in January.

Leaders had arranged schedules for prospective adjournment Aug. 21 and had hoped the farm legislation demand would not interfere.

The senate voted, after warm debate, to put the housing act administration under the department of Interior.

Delay Final Vote On Housing Bill Among Senators

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (P).—Tumultuous objections to the distribution of "propaganda" in the senate chamber delayed a final vote Thursday on the Wagner low-cost housing bill.

Senator Clark (D-Mo) made the charge of propaganda when page boys placed on each senator's desk a printed statement opposing an amendment which would restrict the cost of such housing unit to $4,000. The amendment was adopted yesterday at the urging of Senator Byrd (D-Va).

The statement was issued by the American Federation of Housing Authorities, the Housing Legislation Information office, the Labor Housing Conference and the National Association of Housing Officials. It was marked "Concurred in by the American Federation of Labor and the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor."

Clark asked if there was a senate rule to prohibit "senate emplots" from passing out propaganda from private sources regarding legislation pending before the senate.

Senator Pittman (D-NeV), president pro tempore, ruled that the senate pages could not be blamed for the distribution if a senator had ordered them to undertake it.

Senator Wagner (D-NY), author of the housing bill, quickly assumed "full responsibility." He said he had not believed there was anything "improper" in the procedure.

Minority Leader McNary (R-Ore) said the incident could not be closed by Wagner's statement. He denounced it as "the boldest attempt to influence legislation I have seen in 20 years in the senate."

Courtney School to Open August 16

Opening of the Courtney school in Martin county has been set for August 16, it was announced today by W. E. Kelly, president of the board of trustees, who was here making arrangements with Midland county school officials for handling pupils from certain districts in the high school there.

Both Prairie Lee and Stokes school pupils of high school grades will attend the Courtney school, by bus. A total enrollment at the school of about 190 is expected, Kelly said. Other schools sending their high school pupils there are Adgett, Tarzan and Wolcott, in Martin county.

The Courtney district last year erected a new gymnasium, with class rooms for agriculture and home economics, and also remodeled the large class room building which houses all of the grades. The high school is affiliated, having sixteen credits. Riggs Shepherd is superintendent.

Prices Stabilized In Cloth Markets

Prices of staple dry goods have reached the peak, apparently, and were bought at a better advantage than in the past few marketing seasons, according to Addison Wadley who, with Mrs. Wadley, Mrs. Alf Reese and Mrs. Aldredge Estes, returned last night from a buying trip at Dallas, St. Louis and Chicago.

Buyers from throughout the country are optimistic and are making heavy purchases this season, Wadley said.

"We bought all we thought we could sell," he added.

The cotton crop, which preliminary estimates predict will be more than 15,000,000 bales, has caused prices of cotton goods to stop their steady rise, Wadley said.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Tight-rope walking, cart-wheeling and the double backward-forward flipflop have now become essential qualifications for ambitious governors of large industrial states.

This sad situation has come about because:

1. Most such governors would like to be president in 1941 and must run for re-election or the senate to keep in the national picture.
2. The labor vote was better organized last year than previously, and none of these governors care to lose it.
3. Industrialists usually contribute to campaign funds. This and the fact that much of the middle class public lately has turned against militant labor, tends to counterbalance the labor vote.

Let's look at a few states and relate their political situations with the efforts of governors to woo the labor vote without alienating too much of the rest of the vote:

Indiana.

HERE ex-Gov. Paul McNutt, platinum blond presidential candidate, incurred labor dislike by calling state troops into the Terre Haute strike and declaring martial law. Few expected his successor, M. Clifford Townsend, hand-picked by McNutt, would be pro-labor. Yet Townsend has made bold effort to get

Hitler Shushes Romance Rumors

That gesture of Chancellor Hitler's isn't a salute. To cameramen at the Beyreuth festival, eager to record his meeting with Frau Winifred Wagner (advancing with hand extended) he is saying something like: "Now, boys, none of that! Pictures are verboten." Thus he tries to shush recurrent rumors of a romantic connection with the great composer's relative.

certain steel strike settlements which would save C. I. O.'s face.

He covets labor support four years hence, and apparently seeks to wreck the machine left behind by McNutt when he became high commissioner to the Philippines. Jim Farley is reported to have told Townsend he was fine vice presidential timber and vice presidential timber always thinks it's better than that. Farley's knife is out for McNutt because Farley frowns on all would-be 1940 nominees.

Michigan.

GOV. FRANK MURPHY, who hopes to be the first Catholic president, was elected by solid labor support and subsequently did as much as any man or organization to help C. I. O. win the General Motors and Chrysler strikes. Conservative pressure, reaction against C. I. O. in Michigan, and a veto of "wild-cat" strikes led Murphy to support but later to veto a state labor relations bill which scared labor. Murphy is expected to run for the Senate in 1938.

Ohio.

GOV. MARTIN L. DAVEY hopes to be re-elected in 1938 and nominated for president in 1940. Labor support saved his political skin last November but Labor's Non-Partisan League now plans to support a Republican if he is renominated—although Davey hopes for some A. F. of L. support. League leaders claim they had his promise not to use troops against strikers.

Davey actually called out troops on the plea of Roosevelt and John Lewis that only by keeping steel plants closed could massacre be avoided. Then, under pressure from PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—Shoe-shine boys here have reported "doubled earnings" since the formation of the Boothlacks' Union, latest C. I. O. organization.

And it's the result of the originality of 13-year-old Elder Lake, quick-thinking negro.

Elder visited C. I. O. headquarters one day and was told he could not shine shoes there unless he belonged to a union.

"Bring on your union," said Elder, "and I'll join it!"

Since then hundreds of boys have signed up with the organization which Elder formed on the spot.

mitted the plants to reopen under protection of troops and local officers. Undersecretary of Interior Charles West may run for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination next year against Davey, with administration backing.

Pennsylvania.

GOV. GEORGE EARLE appears to have decided that the best way to be elected senator in 1938 and nominated by the Democrats for president in 1940 is to demonstrate passionate devotion to Roosevelt and go as far with the C. I. O. as he dares, which is pretty far. Earle helped steel strikers temporarily by declaring martial law in Johnstown, but as the pressure of employers, newspaper editorials, citizens' groups, and "back to work" elements bore down upon him, he hastily decided it wasn't his job to keep the Cambria plant closed and his troopers helped stand guard as it reopened.

Earle's appearance in Washington before the Southern Society as a budding presidential candidate was a frost, largely because he had supported laws giving Negroes certain equal rights. He has since had better advice—perhaps including some from Farley—and insists his only candidate is Roosevelt, apparently realizing that only suckers campaign openly for 1940 at this early date.

Your face is never "off duty." At the end of August, we wager, you'll be feeling marvelous, but—look closely—mirrors don't lie, yours will show all the ravages of the healthy country life. Parched skin, new "squint" and "laugh" lines, large pores, fading tan—we'll deal expertly with them all. Your hair, too, needs special care right now!

With most of the school teachers out of town, maybe I'll be safe in reprinting three jokes clipped from the Texas Outlook. Be sure and stay with them until you read the last brain twister.

There was an old man who had a grouch and a pretty daughter. The daughter attracted young men to his home, but the grouch sometimes drove them away. Besides, the old man was not in any hurry to have his daughter marry and leave him.

One afternoon, as the old man sat on the porch of his home, a young man called. While waiting for the daughter to come down, he sat on the porch near the father. To start a conversation, the young man said:
"Looks like rain, Mr. Brown."
"Rain? goin' to rain," said the old man.
There was a silence for a few moments, then the old man said,

A printer got slightly peeved at a letterhead from a doctor who wanted bids on several thousand letter-heads, different sizes, different grades, and different colors, and wanted the printing form held standing. So the printer took his typewriter in hand and wrote:

If appendix is found to be sound, want quotations to include putting back same and canceling order. If removed, successful bidder is expected to hold incision open for about sixty days as I expect to be in the market for an operation for gallstones at that time and want to save the extra cost of cutting."

A man killed a dog belonging to another man. The son of the man whose dog was killed proceeded to whip the man who killed the dog to start a conversation, the young man who was the son of the man whose dog was killed was arrested on complaint of the man who was assaulted by the son of the man whose dog the man who was assaulted had killed.

"Bone Surgery" Fatal To Limping 'Hopper

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—Nurses at St. Joseph's hospital here had no success in their first attempt to "save" a grasshopper with a broken leg that scrambled through a window at the hospital. The grasshopper, Tommy, was one of the horde that have infested Tarrant county farms recently. Many of his brothers have died from poison spread in farmers' fields or beneath the tires of automobiles as they sought to cross the highways.

Sympathetic nurses, however, were attracted by Tommy's broken leg and they undertook to save its life surgically. Splints were prepared from toothpicks. Then the "hopper was laid upon a table and administered a small dose of ether. Tommy wriggled twice—then went to sleep, but never woke up.

Engagement of Miss Tolle And Ray Trammell Announced

Wedding Date Set For Last of August

RANGER, Aug. 6.—The lovely garden carpeted with its cloak of grass, and attractively surrounded with blooming flowers bid welcome to guests who gathered at the home of Mrs. R. C. Carwile, Pershing street, Wednesday evening for a miscellaneous shower tendered bride-elect Miss Ruby Tolle, and given by her hostess, Mrs. C. H. Suits, daughter of the house hostess Mrs. Carwile. To enhance the beauty of the garden huge beach umbrellas in gay colors cast their rays from lighted bulbs arranged to form a circle in the tops.

Chairs in the more sombre tones of wicker were comfortably grouped about the spacious garden.

After games a colorfully garbed gypsy made her appearance and chose the honoree from the circle, leading her to a table, and unfolded a bright and happy future. A complete change in her life was near and the change would take her to her new home some three hundred miles west. At the end of the fortune the gypsy was revealed to be none other than Mrs. Fred Drienhofer. The name in the palm read proved to be Mr. Ray Trammell, formerly of Ranger and now of Midland, who will return to Ranger during the month of August immediately after which he and Miss Tolle are to be married.

Suddenly a fire siren was heard and a car came into the driveway. Mr. Rupert Murphy announced he had been told one of the guests present at the party might be interested in the contents saved from a house which had burned, since it had been rumored she was contemplating matrimony. When Mr. Murphy, assisted by Mrs. Suits unloaded the "savings" an array of beautifully wrapped gifts were revealed. A well selected assortment of both useful and pretty gifts expressed congratulations from some thirty friends who were served a delicious course of ice cream and cookies. A toast to the bride was given by Mrs. L. E. White.

Among guests from out-of-town were Mrs. Charles Suits, of Kansas, who is visiting her son, C. H. Suits and wife; Miss Freddie Tolle and mother of Breckenridge, the sister and mother of the bride-elect.

She has been on the list of campers at Deerwoode for the past eight years, and is an instructor in archery, and a member of the camp's polo team, which is one of the few teams in the entire east composed entirely of girls. She expects to return to Midland sometime near the early part of September.

New Hats Fashioned From the Indians

CHICAGO, Aug. 6 (AP).—Whoopie! The American Indian's war bonnet is a new feminine millinery fashion.

Off-the-face fall hats influenced by colorful redskin headgear were on display here today, attracting considerable attention from the young set.

Attributed to the Mohawk Indian influence was a black and brown model with a wide front turn back brim.

Entitled "Pocahonta" was a skull cap of black felt with an inch and a half wide band of russet felt on which was embroidered cutouts of gay colorful felts in Indian designs.

The Sioux tribe was credited with inspiring a black felt model, the wide turnback brim of which was fluted. From the Iroquois came a hat that looked like a head-on wind had blown the wide brim, edged with ostrich feathers, backwards.

Much color was injected into a hat attributed to Algonquin influence. On the wide turn-back brim of russet felt were stitched four colorful quills about six inches long.

As far as purity is concerned, rice paper is regarded as the highest achievement in the paper industry.

Wally and Barbara Meet on Lido Sands

VENICE, Aug. 6 (AP).—The former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore and the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress—two American girls who achieved world-wide renown—were cordial neighbors of the Lido sands this week.

One is now the Duchess of Windsor and the other Countess Von Hogwitz-Reventlow. With their husbands, they are sojourning at the beach.

Their first meeting, which occurred Monday, was casual but inevitable, since their bathing cabins are less than five feet apart.

The Duke and Duchess returned from the tennis courts just as the Count and Countess arrived. They recognized each other. The Duke and Duchess rose from their deck chairs and took a few paces forward. Both couples were smiling.

The Duke and the Count bowed formally and the two women warmly clasped hands.

With the first exchange over, both couples sat at the tea table, the Windsors acting as hosts. The meeting lasted about an hour.

The next morning the quartet met again under similar circumstances and were joined by the Princess San Faustino.

Here's a Hint for Summer Sandwiches

When there are young folk in the family, there are likely to be constant raids on the refrigerator, after an afternoon of tennis or hiking, or an evening of dancing. And if you would be the most popular mother in the crowd, see to it that the refrigerator is well-stocked.

Pressed corned beef is a favorite in many circles for such occasions, says Inez S. Willson, home economist. A good-sized piece of corned beef can be cooked at once, then pressed and stored in the refrigerator until the occasion demands that it be sliced for sandwiches.

To cook corned beef, cover it with water and allow it to cook slowly until it is done. The water should never be allowed to boil, for a temperature as high as boiling water toughens meat. Instead, it should be cooked at a simmering temperature. If the water is very salty, pour it off and cover with fresh water. When the corned beef is tender, remove it from the heat and cool until lukewarm in its own liquid, then place it in a loaf pan or any other utensil suitable for molding. Place a lid smaller than the pan over it, and a weight on this. Store it in a cold place several hours before slicing.

Mrs. Hollingsworth Gives Demonstration For Sewing Club

Mrs. Pearl Parrott, 310 South Pecos, was hostess yesterday to the Thursday Sewing Club. Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth, county home demonstration agent, gave a talk and demonstration on hooked rugs. She discussed colors, design and all phases of the rugs.

Next Thursday the club will meet with Mrs. W. L. Pickett, 905 West Missouri.

Guests were Mrs. Hollingsworth, Miss Charline Parrott, Mrs. C. C. Carden, and club members were Mrs. H. H. Nicholson, Mrs. Herbert King, Mrs. John King, Jr., Mrs. W. L. Stewart, Mrs. W. L. Sutton, Mrs. W. L. Pickett, Mrs. C. O. Fredregill, Mrs. B. L. Crites, Mrs. J. A. Mead, Mrs. J. B. Vivian, C. E. Strawn, Mrs. W. G. she said. The buildings were joined together but the vine remains, growing through a hole in the 30-foot ceiling. The partnership of the families has never been dissolved.

Vine Still Flourishes.

Mme. Esparbe is dead, but back in a crowded, truck-jammed wholesale district, the vine produces a burst of green over the roof and wrought iron balconies of the buildings. In the summer its lavender blossoms cover the buildings. Its 30-inch trunk, a phenomenon for so delicate a specie of vine, is watered with wine left over from the tables and a bucket of water each day.

Until the coming of prohibition Maylie's was for men only. Two women were known, however, to have crashed the gate. One was Ruth Law, aviatrix, who with a mannish haircut had almost completed a meal before a blonde lock was seen hanging from beneath her helmet. She was permitted to remain. The other was Amelia Bingham, British actress, smuggled in by Maylie himself.

Famous for Bouillie.

Though now renowned for its cuisine, Maylie's gained its fame through "Bouillie," or boiled beef. No seasoning is used in cooking this delicacy. The beef is brisquet, boiled to tenderness, and served guests as a special course. The guest does his own seasoning from a maze of condiments placed before him.

Patrons take what they are served at Maylie's and like it. There is no ordering. After nine courses a polite waiter in a black alpaca coat presents the bill. As the patron leaves he stops at the bar for coffee or cognac "on the house" with the proprietor.

William Maylie, who with his brother John, and son, Louis, operate the establishment, denies he is a chef.

"I never fried an egg in my life," he said, "but I know good food. I plan the meals and the guests eat what I give them just like the butcher's did."

"People come here because everything is 'comme il faut.'"

"See that wood stove in the kitchen? Mme. Esparbe lit that more than 60 years ago. It's never gone out."

NEW ORLEANS, (AP).—If William Maylie could cash in his restaurateur's licenses he could live well on the proceeds the rest of his life. Not that he can't retire anyway, but Bill Maylie proudly displays what he calls the largest collection of restaurant licenses in the United States.

"These are $50,000 worth of city licenses and that doesn't include internal revenue," he said tossing out time-yellowed documents.

Maylie's place had a humble origin 61 years ago, yet through its doors have walked such connoisseurs as Otis Skinner, Theodore Roosevelt, Gifford Pinchot, Will Rogers, Richard Mansfield, Mary Cobb and hosts of others. The fire in the cook stove has never been extinguished.

In the late '70s back on the crowded Canal street side of the Poydras market lived the Maylie and Esparbe families. Mme. Esparbe was famous for her informal dinners.

Catered to Butchers.

Butchers in the Poydras market wanted a good mid-day meal when the old bronze market bell rang the curfew for cessation of activities. Mme. Esparbe agreed to prepare it.

Only men were allowed in the new restaurant. There were only the butchers at first. But word spread of the sumptuous food served for only a few cents and soon business men, actors and politicians had crowded out the butchers.

The restaurant expanded to include the adjoining Maylie home but, Mme. Esparbe refused to have the century-old wisteria vine growing between the two homes cut down. It was a bond of friendship

Miniature Spanish War Of Boys Meets Waterloo

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP).—The Spanish Civil War was fought in Thrall Park here by boy armies—with firecrackers for ammunition.

SINCLAIR-FORD CLUBS RETAIN SECOND PLACE WITH VICTORIES

Both Clubs Win Tough Contests Wednesday Nite

The Sinclair and Ford clubs retained their second place positions in the Industrial League when they managed to win out over the Gulf and KRLH teams.

The Ford-Gulf game was the best game of the season to date, the V-8 crew finally eked out a 5-4 win even though outbit 5-8. The winners made three errors to two for the Gulfers but they managed to come through with hits when they meant runs. Wright, one of the leading hurlers of the league a couple of years ago, made his first appearance of the year on the mound for the Ford club and got credit for the win.

The Sinclair club had a somewhat easier time defeating the KRLH club, making 13 hits good for 13 runs to cop 13-9. Eight errors by the radio gang aided in their downfall, while four errors by the Sinclair aided the losers. The KRLH team could get only six hits off the delivery of Hart, Sinclair hurler, as he rang up his third victory.

The Hotel Scharbauer and Sinclair clubs will meet in the first game tonight and the KRLH and Ford clubs will tangle in the second affair. A victory by the Hotel team can place them in a tie with the Sinclair while a loss would drop them down into a tie with the Gulf.

U. S. "Nazis" Are Not in Hitler's Pay, Says "American Fuehrer"

By MORRIS GILBERT
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 5. — "A hundred percent American." Such is the basic principle of the Amerika-deutscher Volksbund as proclaimed by its Fuehrer, Fritz Kuhn.

Fritz Kuhn, a ringer in physique for General Hermann Goering, explained himself and his movement in his national headquarters here. The walls of his office aren't quite so hundred percent. An American flag takes up about thirty percent of one wall. A Nazi flag takes up an equal 30 per cent. Between them hangs a large chromo (20 per cent) showing Adolf Hitler taking over power in the Reichstag from the late President Von Hindenburg. Below this hangs a framed portrait (10 per cent) of Adolf Hitler himself.

"Our principles," the American Fuehrer—"Bundesruhrer," he says is his full title—"are to fight communism or any other Marxist movement. We want to create better understanding between Germany and the United States. We don't believe any country or the leader of any country should be attacked and blackguarded."

German War Veteran
KUHNS himself is a German Protestant. He was born in Bavaria, lived in Munich, and served in the World War as Oberleutnant of the Bavarian King's Guards, he explains. He saw service on several fronts, was wounded twice, and won the Iron Cross and Verdun.

Coming to the United States in 1924, he spent eight years in the Ford plant in Detroit as a chemical engineer, was naturalized, and became Fuehrer of the Amerika-deutscher Volksbund on January 1, 1936.

Describing the uniform he now wears, he called it "typically American." It is composed of grey shirt, black trousers, grey coat, and overseas cap.

Americanized "Hell"
SECRETARIES entering the room at New York headquarters during the interview came up with the Nazi salute and a "Hell!" The Fuehrer responded, "Hell!"

"I notice you give the Nazi salute," the correspondent observed. "We give it when the German national anthem is played," the Fuehrer explained. "When the American national anthem is played, we salute American-style, fingers at the tip of the cap."

"Isn't it a little unusual for a 100 per cent American organization to give a foreign salute?" the correspondent asked.

"Oh, no," the Fuehrer answered. "In Germany when the American anthem is sung, they give the American salute."

"Who does?"
"The Germans."
"Germans in uniforms?"
"Yes," said the Fuehrer unblushingly. "I saw them at the Olympic games."

Swastika Nationality
ON a bookcase opposite the American and Nazi flags stood a row of desk-size Nazi banners, gonfalons, and pennants. On a cabinet near the window stood the emblem of the Amerika-deutscher Volksbund. It is a Nazi swastika elevated above a semicircular base on which appears the initials A. V.

"It's a purely American symbol," Herr Kuhn explained. "It is the rising sun with the swastika above it."

"The swastika," he continued explaining, "is not a symbol of National Socialist ideas. It is a symbol of social ideas combined with nationalistic ideas."

"Parlor?" said the correspondent.
"It's pretty hard to explain," said the Fuehrer. "What it really means is: America for the Americans—the real Americans. Just as it means Germany for the Germans. A Communist, for instance can never be a real American."

How It's Organized
ABOUT those camps, the Fuehrer explained that his organization has divided America up into three 100 percent American districts. Each "Gau" or district has a Gauleiter, or district leader, just as each Nazi Gau, which has supplanted old German political divisions, has a Gauleiter. The three districts have no more than 20,000 members enrolled in 82 city locals or Ortsgruppe, Kuhn said, and the numbers are growing fast. "We're absolutely 100 per cent American," he repeated.

"We have no connection with Hitler or the Nazis, and we get no pay from Hitler."

Twenty-one recreational camps have now been established, such as Camp Siegfried at Yaphank, L. I., and Camp Nordland at Andover, N. J. As many as 10,000 visitors have been to them on weekends, Kuhn declared. He denied the campers were uniformed or the children drilled. Of course, "we have the Ordnungsdienst, the Order-Keeping Service. They wear uniforms. They have to keep order. Why, last Sunday, for instance, at Camp Nordland there were some girls dancing in bathing suits. That wouldn't do, so they took the girls right off the floor."

"But it's foolish to say we're teaching children the goosestep. We have responsibility for those boys, of course, and we must keep order." The word "order" apparently meant regimentation. The Fuehrer also denied that anyone in his organization is armed.

Note of Mystery
THE telephone rang. After a

moment's conversation, the Fuehrer seemed to grow choleric. "I tell you," he cried, "you must take the 8:14 and go down there and see what you can do."

There was further conversation about a code misunderstanding. Then the Fuehrer spoke again. "There are fourteen airplanes for Spain," he said. "They are not going. . . You can take the motorboat. . ." He hung up.

"You haven't any political activities, have you?" the correspondent asked.

"What do you mean?"
"I couldn't help overhearing your conversation on the telephone about fourteen airplanes for Spain," the correspondent explained. "Would you care to tell me about that?"

"Is it off the record?" the Fuehrer demanded.
"No," said the correspondent.
"Then I've nothing to say," said the Fuehrer.

At that point the interview ended.

Texas Newspapers Laud Exposition For Honoring Man

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—The Texas newspaper profession today lauded the Greater Texas & Pan American Exposition at Dallas for its recognition of Henry Tritschler of Chattanooga, Tenn., in his selection of "Ambassador Extraordinary" of the world's fair.

Mr. Tritschler, president and secretary of the Nelson-Chessman Company, Chattanooga, advertising agency for The Chattanooga Medicine Company, makers of Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black Draught and other accounts, today received a formally engraved commission of appointment from Director General Frank L. McNenny of the exposition.

The appointment, it was explained, is being accorded for outstanding efforts of a quarter of century in the advertising profession. The title "Dean of Media Supervisors" is inscribed on the scroll, translated in Spanish in carrying out the exposition theme.

"Mr. Tritschler for 25 years has evidenced his faith in Texas by his continuous advertising schedules in newspapers of this state," it was explained at exposition headquarters.

With the appointment, Mr. Tritschler becomes a member of that select group which is limited to United States senators, governors, industrial leaders and Latin-American dignitaries of the 26 nations of the western hemisphere participating in the exposition.

Mr. Tritschler's eligibility was sponsored by daily newspapers of Texas for distinctive services he has rendered the advertising profession and for his outstanding recognition in this field. Newspaper publishers

Penthouse Party Led To Francis Langford

The scene was a penthouse party on the swankest part of New York's swank Park Avenue.

It wasn't an ordinary party; the guests were people like Gladys Swarthout, Ethel Merman, George Jean Nathan, Victor Moore and other Broadway celebrities.

The guest of honor was Cole Porter, suavest of cosmopolites, whose sophisticated songs had been acclaimed on two continents.

The entertainer was a dark-haired girl, tiny and a bit terrified, but with a cleft in her upturned chin that spelled determination. Francis Langford was her name, and she hailed from a small town in Florida. She'd never been to the city before, but Rudy Vallee had heard her sing, and believed in her.

The light, sophisticated chatter stopped as the man at the grand piano deftly struck off the vamp chords, and the girl began singing the first low, throbbing, plaintively beautiful notes of Cole Porter's own song, "Night and Day."

In another moment she had finished and the glamorous torch singer was once again the tiny and just a bit terrified girl from Florida.

Then the applause broke. "Bravo!" cried Cole Porter. The rest were loud in their praise. But most eloquent of all was a Hollywood producer, who said nothing at all but lost no time in signing this new sensation to a film contract.

That's how Francis Langford got her start in Hollywood. Since that auspicious penthouse party she's forged steadily to the top, taking important film roles in her stride as well as top honors on the Hollywood Hotel radio program. Republic chose her for the lead in their elaborate new musical "The Hit Parade" which is now at the Yucca Theatre.

blushingly. "I saw them at the Olympic games."

Swastika Nationality
ON a bookcase opposite the American and Nazi flags stood a row of desk-size Nazi banners, gonfalons, and pennants. On a cabinet near the window stood the emblem of the Amerika-deutscher Volksbund. It is a Nazi swastika elevated above a semicircular base on which appears the initials A. V.

"It's a purely American symbol," Herr Kuhn explained. "It is the rising sun with the swastika above it."

"The swastika," he continued explaining, "is not a symbol of National Socialist ideas. It is a symbol of social ideas combined with nationalistic ideas."

"Parlor?" said the correspondent.
"It's pretty hard to explain," said the Fuehrer. "What it really means is: America for the Americans—the real Americans. Just as it means Germany for the Germans. A Communist, for instance can never be a real American."

How It's Organized
ABOUT those camps, the Fuehrer explained that his organization has divided America up into three 100 percent American districts. Each "Gau" or district has a Gauleiter, or district leader, just as each Nazi Gau, which has supplanted old German political divisions, has a Gauleiter. The three districts have no more than 20,000 members enrolled in 82 city locals or Ortsgruppe, Kuhn said, and the numbers are growing fast. "We're absolutely 100 per cent American," he repeated.

"We have no connection with Hitler or the Nazis, and we get no pay from Hitler."

Twenty-one recreational camps have now been established, such as Camp Siegfried at Yaphank, L. I., and Camp Nordland at Andover, N. J. As many as 10,000 visitors have been to them on weekends, Kuhn declared. He denied the campers were uniformed or the children drilled. Of course, "we have the Ordnungsdienst, the Order-Keeping Service. They wear uniforms. They have to keep order. Why, last Sunday, for instance, at Camp Nordland there were some girls dancing in bathing suits. That wouldn't do, so they took the girls right off the floor."

"But it's foolish to say we're teaching children the goosestep. We have responsibility for those boys, of course, and we must keep order." The word "order" apparently meant regimentation. The Fuehrer also denied that anyone in his organization is armed.

Note of Mystery
THE telephone rang. After a

moment's conversation, the Fuehrer seemed to grow choleric. "I tell you," he cried, "you must take the 8:14 and go down there and see what you can do."

There was further conversation about a code misunderstanding. Then the Fuehrer spoke again. "There are fourteen airplanes for Spain," he said. "They are not going. . . You can take the motorboat. . ." He hung up.

"You haven't any political activities, have you?" the correspondent asked.

"What do you mean?"
"I couldn't help overhearing your conversation on the telephone about fourteen airplanes for Spain," the correspondent explained. "Would you care to tell me about that?"

"Is it off the record?" the Fuehrer demanded.
"No," said the correspondent.
"Then I've nothing to say," said the Fuehrer.

At that point the interview ended.

Texas Newspapers Laud Exposition For Honoring Man

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—The Texas newspaper profession today lauded the Greater Texas & Pan American Exposition at Dallas for its recognition of Henry Tritschler of Chattanooga, Tenn., in his selection of "Ambassador Extraordinary" of the world's fair.

Mr. Tritschler, president and secretary of the Nelson-Chessman Company, Chattanooga, advertising agency for The Chattanooga Medicine Company, makers of Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black Draught and other accounts, today received a formally engraved commission of appointment from Director General Frank L. McNenny of the exposition.

The appointment, it was explained, is being accorded for outstanding efforts of a quarter of century in the advertising profession. The title "Dean of Media Supervisors"

After a thorough survey and investigation I selected this well-known Texas beer because of its outstanding reputation. Today's Southern Select is exactly the same beer that was the favorite of the South in pre-Prohibition days—it is made by exactly the same formula—aged in exactly the same way. The great popularity of this famous beer since its return has kept the demand constantly ahead of the supply. Now that it is available I am proud to be able to introduce to West Texas—that inimitable favorite—SOUTHERN SELECT BEER.

Gasoline Cost Vexes French

PARIS (U.P.)—The excessive price of gasoline in France removes more than two and a half million potential buyers out of the automobile market, a survey indicates.

Investigators reported on how many persons of each town and village they passed through would be able to buy an automobile if they could afford to keep it.

The reports revealed that 50,000 persons would be willing to buy an automobile costing around $1,500 or more and a further 375,000 would invest $1,000 in the purchase of a car.

This makes an approximate total of 2,500,000 inhabitants of France who wish and can afford to buy an automobile if they were not held back by the question of the upkeep.

The cost of upkeep, however, is not much higher than what the average buyer would be willing to spend, and a reduction on tariffs on gasoline would just about bring the level down to what many would consent to withdraw from their annual budget for that use, the survey indicated.

For a small car, in figuring $40 insurance and $30 for repairs, the annual cost would not be excessive. All people having listed their names in the report would be willing and able to spend that amount. But reckoning on 15,000 kilometers as the distance over which the car is taken during the year, the price of gasoline consumed would be $190. Including oil, the annual expenditure would be $240, and this is more than the hesitant buyer can allot from his yearly budget.

Passengers Offered Tip If Driver Is Reckless

LINCOLN, Neb. (U.P.)—Don't cross your legs if you are riding in the front seat of an automobile with a reckless driver.

That is the advice of Dr. Robert Funsten, professor of orthopedic surgery at the University of Virginia. He read a paper on "Dashboard Dislocations of the Hip" at the 50th annual convention of the American Orthopaedic Association here.

This type injury is a frequent result of automobile collisions and presents a serious surgical problem, he said. The passenger in the front seat can avoid it by planting both feet on the floor boards and leaning well back in the seat.

If he crosses his legs, he is apt to dislocate his hip as well as injure his knee. That means confinement in a hospital for eight or ten weeks, Dr. Funsten said.
