U. S. To Move Embassy Out Of Nanking

Japanese Threaten To Lay the City to Waste Tomorrow

SHANGHAI, Sept. 20. (P) — The American embassy decided tonight to leave Nanking after a Japanese threat to lay waste to the Chinese capital was emphasized by a morning aerial raid in which 40 civilians were killed and as many homes destroyed.

Ambassador Nelson Johnson, with his aides, will board the American battleship, the USS Albatross, which will sail up the Yangtze river. The Japanese navy warned foreigners they would face the danger of death from the air beginning noon Tuesday.

The ambassador said "I am too unhappy to speak; this is the first time in 30 years." He has been forced to leave Nanking because of the German and Italian embassies decided to remain for the moment.

British and French naval commanders warned Japanese they would be held responsible for any loss of life or damage to property.

The embassy withdrawal paved the way for withdrawal of American troops, as the Japanese had requested.

CHOLERA PRONOUNCED OF 'EPIDEMIC' VOLUME.

Health service agents advised General Parran that strict surveillance is being maintained in Honolulu and Manila to prevent spread of the disease in America, and that all vessels are being inspected.

Midland Oil Men Planning to Attend Meeting in Dallas

Oil operators, bankers, and supply men of the West Texas area are planning to meet in Dallas this afternoon for the annual convention of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association at Dallas Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29 and 30, according to R. R. Porterfield of Midland, director of that association.

This year's annual meeting at Dallas is of unusual importance to the oil men of the West Texas area. Texas' said Porterfield "because it will afford opportunity for collective discussion of ways and means to solve taxation and other economic problems directly affecting the welfare of every operator in the state. The growing tax bill keeps the oil man on the jump to find ways to meet it."

Association is the nucleus through which we can do our organized work toward relief from this impossible tax load."

In order that oil representatives from the area will be fully represented, Porterfield is appointing the following committees on attendance and membership: W. T. Doherty, W. T. Walsh, Harvey Sloan, William Simpson, Frank Schneider, J. J. Kelly, O. C. Harper, A. W. Cherry, Harry Adams, Fred Fuhrman, Harry Black, and C. C. Durrain.

He stated that business sessions will be held promptly at 8 o'clock Friday and Saturday morning, and will be presided over by Jake Hamon president of the association. Features of the business meeting, which will adjourn at 12:30, will be important addresses, committee activity reports, election officers, and presentation of distinguished service awards to men in the industry who have rendered outstanding service to the Texas oil industry.

The annual oil men's golf tournament will be staged Friday afternoon, in which teams from 10 cities of the state are participating, as well as individual players. Valuable prizes are being awarded and the coveted H. H. H. trophy will be given to the best score holder.

This cup was won last year by George O'Leary of Houston.

The annual banquet and stag party, in charge of the Dallas Wildcats, will be held Friday night and Saturday morning at the Hotel Dallas. The Dallas hosts are already busy preparing for the visitors' entertainment.

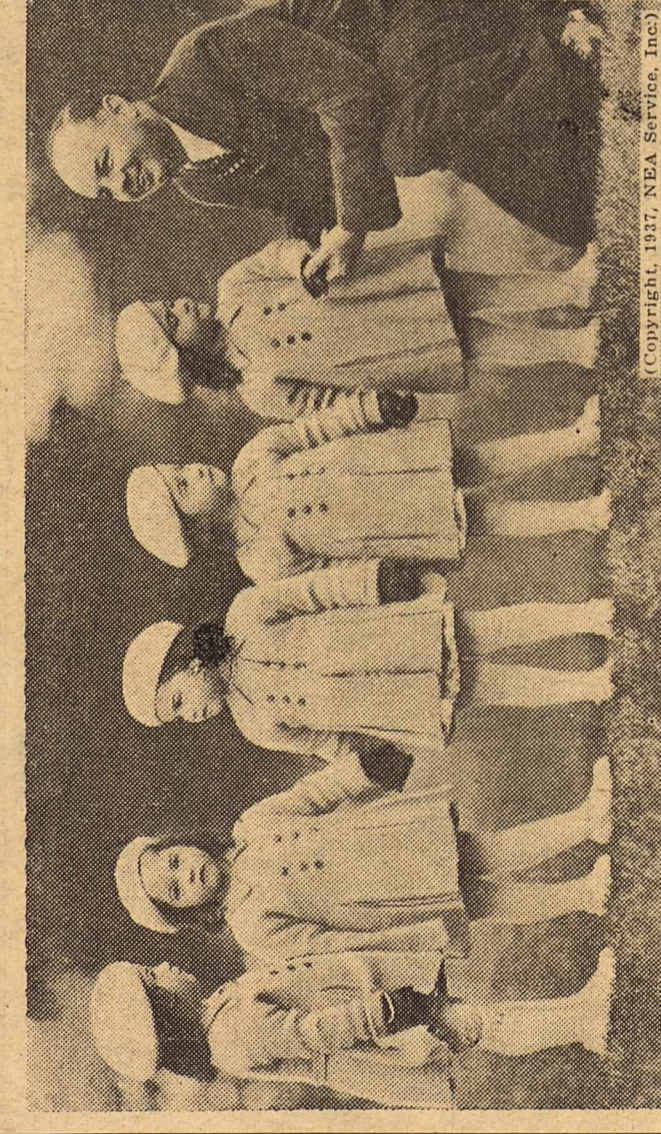

Directors will hold their annual meeting Saturday and it is expected that the majority of the visitors will remain for the annual football game in the afternoon, for which 500 tickets have been reserved by the association.

Waging Hot Election Fight Over C. I. O., Canada's Premier Stops to Call on Quints

The receiving line that Cecile, Annette, Marie, Yvonne, and Emilie formed to meet their premier.

By NEA Service.

TORONTO, Sept. 20. — Although he was elected for a five-year term, the Canadian premier, Mackenzie King, stopped today to call on the quintessence of Ontario's industry in a hot election campaign right now—with his famous fight against the C. I. O. as the principal issue.

The campaign is a spirited one and Premier Heppburn is keeping busy. But he has found time to visit his wards, the most famous sisters in the world—the Dionne quintuplets.

Stopping off at Callander recently, Premier Heppburn renewed his acquaintance with Annette, Marie, Yvonne, Emilie and Cecile, admiring none of their all anyone knows to the contrary, exchanged comments with them on the problems which confront a premier seeking re-election.

Premier Heppburn revived the Liberal Party in Ontario when a sweeping majority put him in power in 1924 after nearly 30 years of Conservative rule.

He was to have received a five-year term, but this much discussion aroused so much provincial election for Oct. 6.

Last spring when a series of sl-down strikes hit Ontario, Heppburn was in C. O. vehemently. He is now campaigning a law which would permit unions to operate in the province only with the approval of the government.

Wallace Declares Farm Benefit Program Better

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (P) — Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, outlining the food provisions of his program, described it today as an improvement over earlier plans.

The new program, worked out under the soil conservation act, classes most major crops, such as corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco and other grains, fruits and vegetables as soil-depleting. It attempts to hold down their acreage. It also encourages planting of grass and clover by classing these as "soil conserving and building."

"Goals" or "limits," established as a group, will then be split up into acres, acres and counties, and individual farmers will be notified to receive their "soil depletion" status, within their "soil depletion goal."

Congress is due to consider the act the first thing during the next session.

Prized Fly Rod Ruined But Swimmer Is Saved

HOLLAND, Mich. (UP) — Claude Vander Molen of Grand Rapids broke his prized fly rod, but he didn't mind greatly, for he managed to save a drowning swimmer.

Vander Molen was on a Lake Michigan pier when he saw James Meyer, 20, pulled under water by a heavy undertow. Vander Molen was willing to swim out to rescue Meyer, but as he leaped over the pier edge with his fly rod extended, Meyer grabbed it. A favorable wave and his brother-in-law, George Rooney, brought Meyer to safety.

36th Division Vets Will Hold Reunion

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20. — The 36th Division (Texas-Oklahoma) will be held in Fort Worth, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 9 and 10.

The 36th Division (war-time) composed of Texas and Oklahoma men was mobilized at Camp Bowie, Fort Worth, on October 15, 1917, under command of Major General B. H. Lueder.

It trained at Camp Bowie until July, 1918, when it sailed for France under command of Major General William R. Smith and upon arrival in France was billeted the Bar-sur-Aube area until Sept. 26, 1918, when it was moved to the vicinity of Chateau and where the Second Division, A. E. F., then fighting with the French 4th Army at Mont Blanc. The 36th drove the Alsace Wildcats to the Alsace River and stayed in the lines until Oct. 29, 1918, when it was relieved and returned to the Army Reserve, A. E. F., at Camp Meigs, near Meigs, Okla.

The reunion will be held at 9:00 a. m. at the Hotel Dallas. It will be held in the afternoon, for which 500 tickets have been reserved by the association.

Three Slain In Attempted Prison Break

Warden Critically Injured in Fight At Folsom Prison

FOLSOM, Calif., Sept. 20. (P) — A guard and two convicts were slain, the warden critically injured, and at least seven other persons wounded Sunday in savage fighting with knives and clubs that followed an abortive attempt by seven convicts to escape Folsom prison.

Fifteen minutes of bitter fighting in the prison's big yard left six surviving convicts unconscious and bloody on the ground along with the bodies of Guard R. E. Martin and Convict Clyde Stevens, planner of the escape. Folsom warden, Benny Kucharski was fatally injured.

Warden Clarence Larkin, in whose office the plot was sprung, received dangerous stab wounds in the abdomen. Prison doctors expressed fear he would die.

Guard Captain W. J. Ryan and Guard James Kerns, likewise, received serious stab wounds, and were hospitalized in a critical condition from the battle, finally halted by reserve guards.

For several hours after the rioting, which began about 11:45 a. m., prison officials believed the dead convict was Ray Budway. Then it was learned that Stevens, convicted once of snuggling guns into San Quentin prison, was wearing the official number of Budway.

Shortly before the noon hour Warden Larkin with Ryan and Kerns, was following his Sunday custom of interviewing prisoners in his office. The prisoners are allowed to ask questions and talk over parole applications.

Officials' state, without warden, seven lunged forward, barring the knives and a dummy pistol. The prisoners were named Stevens, Albert Kessell, Wesley Eddy, Robert Cannon, Fred Barnes, Benny Kucharski and Ed Davis. All were long-term prisoners in Folsom, under the institution, for reid-visits.

The knives, apparently fashioned inside the prison, were made from files and other pieces of metal and all had sharpened blade five inches and up in length.

2 Speeches Listed For President on His Western Tour

HYDE PARK, N. Y. Sept. 20. (P) — Speeches in Chicago and at Bonaventure Dan, the new visitor for Chicago, will be given by President Roosevelt last night as he carries on his fight for a liberal interpretation of the constitution.

The summer White House announced an address will be made by the President on the afternoon of the outer drive link bridge at Chicago, a major speech at Bonnevill Dam, now nearing completion on the Columbia River.

Possibly several other major addresses will be made on the tour, but they are not definite at this time. It is possible that he will end his Western journey Oct. 6.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly called the President's home by telephone to invite him to lunch during the day in Chicago. The bridge to be dedicated there, will be the first of its kind affording a direct route about Chicago's entire Lake Michigan lake front.

It has been announced only that the President will visit Yellowstone National Park, Fort Peck, Bonnevill and Grand Coulee Dams, and on Piaget, Sand, and the latter almost certain to be enlarged, officials say.

Defense Bases Improved For North Pacific; Millions Have Been Spent

SEATTLE, Sept. 20. — The summer and operated from the hundreds of dollars into frontier defenses in the Pacific Northwest and Alaska during the last few years, a survey showed today.

All three basic defense arms—the army, navy and air force—have shared in the modernization of military reservations in the nation, the navy being the largest beneficiary.

Thousands of troops were concentrated there last summer for war games. Other forts to be improved during the summer are Forts Baker, Flager, Warden and Casey. They are on the coast.

The garrison at Fort Lewis has been reduced to 1,000 men since the passage of the National Defense Act of 1935. The army's enlisted men are being reduced to 450,000. Almost 2,000 more men were allotted to the fort, which covers approximately 70,000 acres.

The War Department recently announced that one of the fort's planes will fly long distances in the future. They include the eight-engine flight from San Diego in eight hours.

Six other patrol planes from Alaskan Base Station, Sand Point went to Sitka later in the month.

Midland Man Jailed After Trio Injured

Three Struck Down By Hit, Run Driver Who Is Taken Later

J. C. Hood, Jr., 28, of Huntington Park, Calif., is in a local hospital near death, two other men were slightly injured and a Midland man, F. C. Stubbe, is in jail as the result of an accident in West Midland about 12:30 this afternoon.

Hood's injuries had not been completely diagnosed but an examination showed he was paralyzed from the shoulders down, and an attending physician gave him only a bare chance to live.

The other two men, William Burke of Elko, Ill., and Jack Parmelee of Los Angeles, Calif., suffered bruises and lacerations but neither was thought seriously injured. The three were taken to a group of convicts cars to California and at the time of the accident had just finished repairing a flat tire. Parmelee told officers that the car was at least three feet from pavement and that the car driven by Stubbe struck them without any warning. The driver of the car was hit by the car with Hood getting the brunt of the impact.

John Dublin, Midland cattleman, reached the scene of the accident soon after it occurred and said that one of the injured told him to catch the car that hit them and get the license numbers. Dublin told officers they had checked the car with a license plate number and the driver who he identified as Stubbe, to stop. He said he told Stubbe he had injured the men and that Stubbe replied he "honked his horn and they wouldn't get out of the way." Dublin then wrote down the license plate numbers and returned to Sheriff Fisher Police Station.

Stubbe's town and returned him and placed him in jail.

Officers indicated they would charge Stubbe with murder in the event Hood dies. In case he recovers, lesser charges will be preferred.

YANKEE MOVIE RESCUE RULED OUT IN CHINA

There is always a big thrill in a movie which shows the United States navy arriving in the nick of time to rescue hardpressed American citizens in some war-torn port on the other side of the world.

You know the kind—the refugees huddled in some compound or concession, with villainous foreigners laying it on them with machine guns, bombs and the threat of a fate worse than death for the heroine.

Then, just as human flesh can stand no more, a lean gray shape appears on the horizon, trailing a plume of smoke. It draws nearer, a bit of hunting flutters brightly at the main truck—and behold! it is the United States cruiser Neversink, her decks stripped for action, healthy tars standing at the guns, bronzed officers scanning the scene through field glasses. And all is well.

This sort of thing puts a thrill down the spine of the most pacific of citizens. And because we are all familiar with such drama, it came as an unpleasant shock to learn that the United States navy was not going to do much defending, as far as American refugees in China are concerned. On the contrary, the State Department has warned all such refugees to stay in China at their own risk, and has intimated that the most the navy can do is take them away if they want to leave.

This reverses all of our most romantic traditions, and also leaves the luckless Americans in China with the feeling that their government has deserted them in time of peril. But before we get too indignant about it, it might pay us to examine the situation a little more closely.

It is no mere riot or sporadic uprising that menace the lives and property of foreigners in China today. It is a first-class, full-dress war, carried on with the utmost determination by well-armed, well-trained troops. It is not in the least like the sort of thing that used to draw American cruisers to lonely Central American ports in days gone by.

In those cases, a handful of ragged insurrectionists would be fighting a handful of equally ragged federalists on some sun-burnt sand hill, spraying the port with machine gun bullets while they struggled to see whether Generalissimo This or a Field Marshal That would be the next president. It was a simple matter for an American warship to steam into harbor, train her guns on the contending parties, and warn all hands to stop fighting before someone got hurt.

What is going on in China has not the faintest resemblance to that. If this government set out to protect American lives and property there in the old-style way, it would need the entire United States fleet and several divisions of soldiers. The result almost certainly would be war with a first-class power—bloody and ruinously expensive.

It simply can't be done. And since half-way measures are so dangerous, it is hard to see how our government can do anything except just what it is doing. The plight of American citizens in China is tragic—but the tragedy would be infinitely greater if we went to war to defend them.

The college performs a great service in spreading its groaning table of intellectual fare before the freshman. And the 18-year-old contributes his part, in most cases, with ambition and determination to make good at something or other.

Failure to pin down that "something or other" is the gap on the production line in mass education. The job is only half done when the physician's staff weighs and measures the newcomer and the college prexy welcomes him at the orientation assembly.

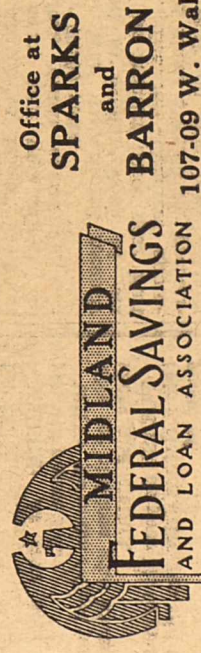

The wheel of progress will turn over more swiftly and more efficiently when institutions of higher education seriously attempt to learn what's above a prospective freshman's neck as well as what's below it.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

Editor's Note: This is the fourth of five articles on the rapidly growing "big business" of the federal government. These special columns are to substitute for the Scenes in Washington while Dutcher is in Washington.

By WILLIS THORNTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—There is in the United States a certain publisher who sold 10,351,203 copies of the last fiscal year's "Chase" and "Growth Record" and "Tran-Care" were the best sellers.

Few people realize what a tremendous publishing business there is running down here. Yet much less than 100 years ago the government's printing business was a modest private enterprise—its best farm-to-market road to binding private printers.

Will Get New Plant. Today, about 5500 people work for the GPO, a fabulously efficient production machine that is about to get a new plant, costing $10,000,000.

A little matter of 7,000,000 copies of a Baby Bond booklet for the Treasury Department. Printing nearly two billion postal cards—$70,100 worth of the Congressional Record for the year. (This runs up to a million some years.)

Printing 17,000,000 copies of various documents for the Agriculture Department, and 27,000,000 more for the AAA. And another 8 1/2 millions for the FEA, and 9 1/2 millions for the Treasury.

Produce the Words, Too. It would be hard to duplicate such a printing and publishing establishment in this country, or in the world. The GPO also manufactures a great many of its own supplies, like printers' rollers, and hundreds of thousands of pounds of ink, paste, glue, and similar supplies to other government departments.

But the government's activities in the publishing field are not confined to mechanical reproduction.

Letters To Editor

Should Midland have a park and swimming pool? (Fifth article.) A very prominent man of national importance passed through Midland a few months ago. He made the statement that the eyes of three cities in Texas are having the greatest chance in this state for growth and progress. These three cities were Houston, Corpus Christi and Midland. Our present fine condition had to have a beginning. It is our opinion, after talking with phetis optimists, that this project should be undertaken with courage and foresight of at least two men i. e.—The man responsible for our largest hotel and the man responsible for our largest office building. Both structures were far too large and pretentious for the needs of the city at the time. Both of them were built at a cost of having "eyes bigger than their stomachs." It is so turned out, however, that the eyes of one of these men were slightly larger than his stomach.

"Hogan's folly" has turned out to be Midland's delight. Midland, if not Hogan, has seen to it thoroughly and loudly clamoring for more sustenance in the form of additional office buildings.

It is also our opinion that there is another man in Midland who will be responsible to a large extent for Midland's future growth and glory. "All roads lead to Rome" (Midland.) The above party does most of his looting (question mark) not very far from our "Temple of Justice."

When all of these folks get to "home-see-see" are they going to have some place to sleep with a path be-

COVOTES ARE NOT STRICTLY FLESH EATERS! THEY HAVE BEEN KNOWN TO RAID FRUIT ORCHARDS AND WATERMELON PATCHES.

ATTEMPTS to measure ocean waves during severe storms have been unsatisfactory and inaccurate and, therefore, the slightest waves go unrecorded. The wave mentioned above was encountered by the British, S. S. Majestic.

The system used by "witchers" in locating a water well, I would explain it here, but he has a physical demonstration which makes it more clear than my worded explanation would be.

The Midland race horses have gone to California and the Texas legalized racing law becomes officially dead September 24. What I mean like to see in the way of horse racing would be a matched race for 150 yards between Clarence Schaubauer's gray horse he got from Seasey Duncan and just any hide you can find to run at him.

That word, shouted like "Gold!" was shouted in 1849, electrified a horde of humanity the "Wildcat." The picture tells the story of an oil strike and the adventures of Scott Colton, playing the leading role. One of the spectacular scenes shows an oil gusher coming in, spouting one hundred feet in the air.

Jean Rogers portrays Colton's wife, Karen, in the jealousy when she lures Scott into the tricky oil scheme of her father, played by Russell Hicks. The climax of the story is reached when other wildcat operators threaten to lynch Colton.

CAN PEOPLE REALLY TELL THE DIFFERENCE IN CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS?

The Best Answer is This...

Camels are the Largest-Selling Cigarette in America

Year in and year out, Camel pays millions more for finer tobaccos. And smokers do appreciate the added pleasure this means to them!

CAMEL'S use of choice, costlier tobacco has been the subject of much discussion. The question has often been raised as to whether or not people could tell the difference.

The way smokers feel gives the answer! Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in America... or the world.

If you are not a Camel smoker, perhaps you, too, would enjoy a cigarette with a richer, cooler taste. Turn, then, to Camels.

Costlier Tobaccos in a Matchless Blend

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic. Skillful blending brings out the full flavor of these choice tobaccos.

How Il Duce's Air and Sea Fleets Could Cut Britain's Mediterranean "Life Line"

England's Route to the East No Longer Secure as Italian Strength Increased

This is the second of four articles explaining the background to the present tense situation in the Mediterranean Sea.

BY MILTON BRONNER,

NEA Service Column Staff Manager, LONDON, Sept. 20.—The British navy is the mightiest in the world. The Italian navy ranks fourth or fifth. Why, then, should Italian sea power be looked on as such a threat to England's famous "life line" through the Mediterranean Sea?

The answer is rather involved, but it can be summarized brief in three words:

- 1—Mussolini.
- 2—Geography.
- 3—Airplanes.

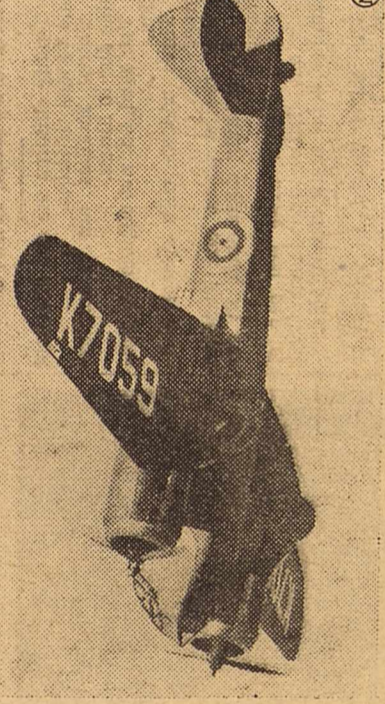

First, Mussolini. The Italian dictator has memories of ancient Rome and its glories in his hard head. The Mediterranean was once a Roman lake; he dreams of the day when it shall be so again. His conquest of Ethiopia marks fourth or fifth. Why, then, should Italian sea power be looked on as such a threat to England's famous "life line" through the Mediterranean Sea?

His conquest of Ethiopia marks fourth or fifth. Why, then, should Italian sea power be looked on as such a threat to England's famous "life line" through the Mediterranean Sea?

British Bomber

Britain will be the world's strongest air power, say experts, when her arms program is completed. Here is a unit of the great new air fleet—a Bristol Blenheim bomber, which cruises at 289 miles an hour.

Europe's War Strength—by Sea and by Air

ALREADY BUILT	BEING BUILT OR APPROPRIATED FOR
GERMANY 125,458 TONS	RUSSIA 11,500 TONS
ITALY 406,331 TONS	GREAT BRITAIN 1,150,000 TONS
FRANCE 546,178 TONS	FRANCE 1,078,767 TONS
GREAT BRITAIN 1,232,854 TONS	GREAT BRITAIN 1,808,116 TONS
	GREAT BRITAIN 3,821,15 TONS

Italian Battleship

One of the mightiest battleships afloat, the new Italian dreadnought Littorio is shown here in her launching at Genoa recently. Another battleship of equal size, the Vittorio Veneto, was launched a month previous. Building of these two battleships, equal in size and power to anything possessed by any other navy, was part of Mussolini's program to dominate the Mediterranean.

Has Huge Air Force

Real figures as to the size of Italy's air force are never published, but it is reliably estimated that the nation today possesses 2,000 fighters, 1,000 bombers, and 1,000 transport planes, the total reached by 1934. Among these planes...

Britain Is Stronger

A detailed comparison of British and Italian navies is interesting, and shows the following strengths: In battleships, Britain, 12 built and five being built; Italy, four built and two being built.

16-Year Old Officer Self As Slave To Work Out U. S. Plane Damages

CLEVELAND (UP)—Julius Balmuth, 16, whose recent ground-hopping flight and then headed for the two other ships. There was a landing crash and the three army pilots found their planes—wreckage that had been two army observation planes, was offered Balmuth as a "slave" to the government to repay the damage he did.

Defense Bases—

Balmuth's offer was refused. Instead, Judge Harry L. Eastman of the juvenile court decided Balmuth should spend at least a few months at a boys' farm—not that Balmuth had criminal tendencies but to keep his imaginative mind from the ground planned to make a "flight" to Washington to interest the Secretary of War in his plan for an airplane wing that would fold back while the plane was in flight, thus increasing speed. Authorities said Balmuth's theory on the folding wing was sound, but not his idea on how to get to Washington.

Balmuth had waited around hangars at Cleveland airport until he found three unattended Army observation planes, standing with idling motors. Borrowing goggles, Balmuth got into one of the ships and opened up the throttle. He did not know how to get the plane off the ground. It scurried about the

AN ACE flyer descends to see how earthy airfares are moving along along the West Coast and may be glimpsed among the flocks of gulls. The condor is a giant bird, black—except for light coloring edging the wings—with a long bare neck, circled round with a ruff of white feathers. With a wing spread of ten or fifteen feet, he is the king of all birds which fly over land just as the albatross is tops among the sea birds.

Condors are found in great numbers in Chile, Peru and Ecuador—in the latter country they prefer the mountain regions, seldom putting in a winter season in the altitude of 10,000 feet. They frequently wing
