ACE Class Begins Clown Program

Members of the high school drama class and the ACE class have begun a clown troop this year. The students are studying how to be clowns and will be designing their own costumes, as well as their own personal clown face and name.

They are learning techniques of drama, make-up and costuming.

The troop will be participating in several local activities this year. They also are planning some clowning experiences outside the community.

Mrs. Velma Grisham presented a special class on clowning to members of the troop last week. The co-sponsors for the clowns are Margaret Durben and Brenda Wilson. Brenda said, "If anyone in the community has clothing items or other items which would be appropriate props for our clowns, please call me at the school and I will be happy to pick them up. In particular, we could use hats, brightly colored material, used men's suits, large work overalls, feathers, large ties, old umbrellas, ribbon, rickrack, etc."

Dear Scooter,

We congratulate you for doing a great job reporting the news, your being enthusiastic and cheerful helps so much in getting the news. You seem to know what local people like to read as everyone enjoys the Scoops especially.

Tammie is also good for reporting and keeping us, although a small town, informed.

You did so well of writing about our Nashville trip with the notes I gave you, condensing it into an interesting article.

We thank you,

Scooter's Scoops

By Scooter Russell

We express our sympathies to Joe Jones and Dorothy Luttrall, whose father, J.T. Jones of Bovina, passed away Friday at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital. J.T. underwent heart surgery a few hours before his death.

He was survived by two children, seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Services were held Tuesday of this week in Bovina. J.T. was a fine man and had many friends in Bovina.

Gene Scott is getting along real well after suffering injuries after he fell when the ladder slipped that he was climbing on. He suffered three broken ribs, a hip broken in two places and a bad cut on his arm.

He is in room 766 at the High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo. Jim and I visited with him Sunday and he is across the hall from P.O. Dixon who had surgery on a broken hip in recent weeks.

We also visited with P.O. and he is getting along fine, too. Also enjoyed visiting with P.O.'s son, Robert and his wife from Brazil.

Irma Jo Englant and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kelley, drove to Ulysses, Kansas and visited with Irma Jo's daughter and family, Carissa and Don Caillouet and children, Donnie and JaQue. Said they had a good visit and the weather was perfect.

Ola Lee Jones has flown to Lakeland, Florida and spent time with her son, Dr. Randy Jones and son Austin. Ola Lee had to have dental work done and also had a good time visiting. She said the weather was beautiful while there.

Barbara Cockerham's mother, Clarisa Henderson of Lamesa, celebrated a birthday with several members of her family present. Going from Bovina were Jimmie and Barbara Cockerham, and their sons and families, Wes and Charolette and Steve and Sandra.

Opal Bowen has returned home on Tuesday of last week from Washington, D.C. where she visited in Burke, Virginia, with her niece and family, Glenda and Stan Letcher and children, Scott, Adam, Jamin and Megan.

She celebrated her 83rd birthday while there and said it was the first birthday cake she's ever had. While there, they shopped and toured the Marjorie Mary Weather Post's museum. It was the lady's home and she had collected artifacts from 55 different countries. The three story home included lots of rooms and grounds. The guests were entertained with slides and a tour. Opal enjoyed her trip to beautiful Virginia and said the weather was so nice.

W.E. and Ernestine Lovell of Ft. Worth visited Ernestine's brother and his wife, Arnold and Amy Hromas. While here they brought Arnold and Ernestine's mother, Sophia, from the rest home to Bovina for the day. They enjoyed a good visit.

Don Lloyd of Washington, D.C. flew to Texas and he and his mother, Sid Lloyd, drove to Santa Fe, New Mexico and spent a few days with Sid's daughter and son-in-law, Julia and Reyes Olona.

They spent time in the pretty mountains, also saw a little snow. They had a nice visit and Don spent all week with Sid after they came back home. Sid expressed appreciation for some of the jobs Don did around her place in Bovina.

Buck and Dorothy Ellison attended the Oktoberfest, held at the 4-H Center in Brownwood recently. Said about 65 attended this time and this was the fifth group to go.

While there, they visited with Buck's brother, Aubrey and his wife, Ruby, who had been hospitalized. They enjoyed the Oktoberfest and said they had workshops, needlework, paintings and they spent lots of time playing games and eating.

From The Chief's Desk

This week's topic will be on the general types of lighting sources. The lighting sources that we will be talking about are: incandescent, mercury vapor, fluorescent and sodium vapor.

Incandescent lights are your normal everyday light bulbs. Incandescent lamps are relatively short in rated life, and low in lamp efficiency when compared to other lighting sources.

Mercury vapor lamps are generally considered more efficient than incandescent and are used extensively outdoors. Because mercury vapor lamps have a long life and good lumen maintenance characteristics, they are widely used in applications where long burning hours are customary.

Fluorescent lamps are temperature sensitive and low ambient temperatures can decrease their efficiency. Fluorescent lights cannot project light over long distances and thus are not desirable as floodlights.

High pressure sodium vapor lamps provide high lumen efficiency and the lamp life expected is up to 24,000 hours. The maintenance of light output is good and averages about 90 per cent throughout its rated life.

Low pressure sodium vapor lamps have about 95 per cent lumen maintenance throughout their rated life. The average lamp life is 18,000 hours.

Maintenance of the lighting system can be just as important as choosing the systems. If maintenance is neglected there will be a loss in money and energy, both of which were possibly the considerations given to selecting the system in the first place.

Consideration should also be given to the possibility of incorporating vandal resistant materials into the lighting system.

If I can assist you in choosing or if you want to talk about lighting please feel free to call me. Next week we will discuss "Securing Your Home."
