Thrust Rapier

The duel is ended, but the rancor lingers on. In Paris Edouard Bourdet, lower photo, director of the Comedie Francaise, nurses an arm wound and a grudge after encountering the rapier of Henry Bernstein, top, leading French playwright. The men quarreled when Bernstein withdrew his play, "Judith," from rehearsal at the Comedie. They refused to be reconciled after the duel.

Mexico Uprising Is Taken Lightly By the President

MEXICO CITY, May 24 (AP).—A competent neutral military observer said today the Cardenas government apparently is not taking very seriously General Saturnino Cedillo's uprising in San Luis Potosi.

Defense ministry officials showed only a desultory interest in dispatches from the war zone, this source said, and were described as feeling President Cardenas is merely playing safe in concentrating troops in the troubled area.

Dispatches from the front said the situation rapidly was becoming normal, with federal troops controlling most points of strategic importance. It was stated they were not meeting resistance in the mountain villages through which they marched in seeking to rout Cedillistas who took to the hills.

The country's internal difficulties caused the peso to dip sharply in trading in the capital, hitting 4.90 to the dollar in street sales after closing of the banks where quotations had ranged from 4.50 to 4.75.

The oil workers union offered to aid federal troops in protecting oil fields against the rebels.

Tension High As Germans On the Move

Concentrations on Czech Border Are Reported Today

PRAHA, May 24 (AP).—Reports of new troop movements on the German side of Czechoslovakia's southern frontier combined with the interruption of Hodza-Henlein peace talks here today to discourage such optimism as had developed after central Europe's critical week-end.

In official quarters reports were circulated declaring yesterday's withdrawal of German troops from border took place only in Saxony.

On Czechoslovakia's frontier with Austria it was said concentration of German troops had actually increased.

The sudden departure from Praha of Konrad Henlein caused suspension of his negotiations with Premier Hodza on the dangerous issues between the Sudeten German party and the Czechoslovak government.

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, May 24 (AP).—Dangerous turmoil over the self-government demands of Czechoslovakia's Germanic minority last night simmered down to a face-to-face argument between Premier Milan Hodza and Konrad Henlein, chief of the nazi-supported 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans.

The political opponents met for a two-hour conference which a government communique said was of an "informative" character designed for "clarification and pacification of the political situation."

Their meeting visibly brightened peace prospects in Central Europe where troop mobilizations over the week-end raised the war spectre during Czechoslovak municipal elections.

Indications were that foreign troops were edging away from Czechoslovakia's twisting frontiers 1,399 miles of the facing mighty Germany. This little post-war republic sighed with relief.

Credit for bringing Hodza and Henlein together was attributed variously to the British talent for mediation, to French-Soviet loyalty to the ally, and also to the stubborn Czech determination to be independent or die.

Even the pro-nazi press hailed achievement of a breathing spell, but they attributed it largely to "the admirable self-discipline of the Sudeten Germans."

There still remained the sober realization all danger had not passed yet since only a beginning was made in the negotiations and more municipal elections are scheduled next Sunday.

Unconfirmed reports said Henlein demanded that Premier Hodza immediately cancel the mobilization order which brought out 70,000 reserves and additional thousands of technical troops Saturday to bolster Czechoslovakia's 190,000 army during gravest tension.

Representative Ramspeck, democratic Georgia, offered an alternative proposal as the "legal and safe way" to provide regulation of wages and hours.

His bill would create an independent administrative board with power to grant exemptions from provisions for a graduated minimum wage based on the weighted average for individual occupations.

Geologists Make Field Trip Outlines

Outline of probable field trips for members of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists meeting at El Paso Sept. 27-Oct. 2 in mid-year convention was made last night by members of the West Texas Geological Society, which is sponsoring the session.

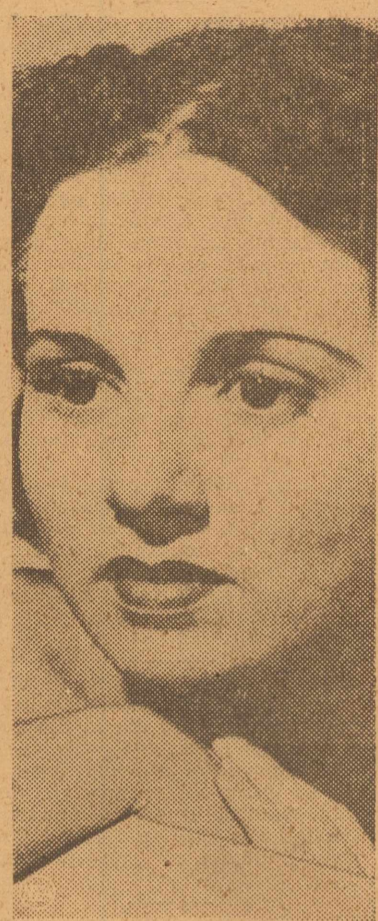

Present were Berte Haigh, general chairman, and members of the field trips committee, including V. C. Maley, who is also chairman of the transportation committee, and Georges Verbe who is also chairman of the hotel committee. John E. Adams, chairman of the field trips committee, presided.

The meeting was held in the chamber of commerce office.

Shell Stakes Test North of Yoakum Roberts Pool Opener

By FRANK GARDNER.

Second test for the new Roberts pool of southwestern Yoakum, opened recently by Shell Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Mrs. Dora Roberts, was staked today by Shell at its No. 2 Roberts, 1,650 feet from the north, 2,310 feet from the east line of section 792, block D, John H. Gibson survey. It is one-quarter mile due north of the No. 1 Roberts discovery, completed May 10th for flow of 566 barrels a day after acidizing with 8,000 gallons, bottomed at 5,100. The new area is approximately four miles west of the Denver field.

A Denver well, Humble No. 1 Wooten, is drilling at 4,920 feet in gray lime.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 J. D. Webb, prospective discovery two miles southwest of Plains in central Yoakum, yesterday swabbed 100 barrels of new oil in 18 hours after recovering all oil load used in acid treatments of 1,000 and 2,000 gallons. Last night, however, production slumped to 19 barrels in 10 hours, giving rise to belief that tubing had become partially plugged.

Only a little gas was showing. Plans were to pull tubing. Fluid level remained constant at 2,000 feet from bottom during swabbing, and dilution was only four per cent basic sediment and acid water. The well is bottomed at 5,380 feet, plugged back from 5,639, where sulphur water developed. Location is 2,200 feet from the north and east lines of section 477, block D, Gibson survey. The well had been shot with 285 quarts from 5,304-80 before acidizing.

Frick to Acidize.

L. Frick and Osage Drilling Company, T. S. Riley, in central Gaines four miles northwest of producers in the Seminole pool, is preparing to acidize with 1,000 gallons. Yesterday, after swabbing out drilling fluid through tubing 2,500 feet from surface, it had started to show a little free oil. Hoping to kick it off, operators turned in brackish gas from the Yates sand horizon from 12:30 to 7 p. m., but tubing became plugged. Last night, the well was swabbed dry through tubing, recovering chiefly sand and mud at bottom. This morning, fluid had risen 150 feet after an all-night shutdown. Some cut oil was present. Total depth of the Frick well is 5,098 feet in lime, and 2-inch tubing is set at 5,093. Samples showed gas from 5,000-65, and first saturation was logged at 5,068, continuing to total depth. At total depth of 5,073, coring (See OIL NEWS, page 2)

2 Shutdowns Per Week to Be Continued

Saturday Closings Through June Are Said Necessary

AUSTIN, May 24 (AP).—Continuation of the Texas oil field shutdown on Saturdays and Sundays in June was ordered Monday by the state railroad commission.

Sunday closings had been in effect several months but those on Saturdays only in May. The commission said that although the industry had made gains, conditions did not justify lifting the restrictions.

The allowable production for June 1, start of the new monthly prorating period, was set at 1,578,726 barrels, which compared with 1,543,268 on May 1, but was estimated that due to the shutdowns production in June would approximate 1,159,713 barrels daily.

Commission officials said production would not increase during the month as formerly because top allowables were set for the various fields. With completion of each new well, output of the old wells will be reduced to give that well a share of the field's output. In the past, new wells have been given the same output as the old ones and the latter have not been cut until issuance of a new prorating order.

The federal bureau of mines estimated 1,329,300 barrels would be needed daily from Texas in June to meet market demand.

The Rodessa field, because of its tri-state character again was exempted from the two-day closing, but received a 10,177 barrel cut in daily allowable. This, the commission explained, was because pipelines could take no more. The Rodessa allowable June 1 was fixed at 30,531 barrels.

The Goldsmith field was granted a 5,000 barrel increase to 20,104 barrels because of past inequalities.

325 Million to Be Asked for Control Of Floods, Rivers

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP).—Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, said today he would ask the senate to earmark $325,000,000 of the administration's pump priming funds for rivers, harbors and flood control projects. He said these projects had already been approved by army engineers and could be initiated promptly.

"The water is a national problem," he said.

Warden James A. Johnston said the attempted break occurred shortly after noon in the factory building.

Those injured were: R. C. Cline, senior custodial officer, who was slugged and seriously hurt.

Convicts Thomas R. Limerick and Rufus Franklin, both shot by a guard.

Warden Johnston said Cline and Limerick were in serious condition.

The third convict, James C. Lucas, whom Warden Johnston said was convicted of robbing an Albany, Texas, bank and who once stabbed Al Capone, former Chicago gangster, was overpowered.

The attempted escape was the first since last December when two convicts disappeared from the island during a blinding fog.

Although officially listed as still missing, the pair, Ralph Roe and Theodore Cole, are believed by prison officials to have drowned in cold, swirling currents which flood past the island.

Leaving their victim on the floor, they climbed through the window to the roof, apparently to seize an armed guard there.

The guard opened fire and wounded Franklin in the shoulder. Limerick threw an iron weight at the guard, the warden reported, and was also shot down. Lucas ran for cover and was captured.

Warden Johnston, in a press statement, said Lucas was serving 30 years for National Bank robbery and Dyer act violation.

The stabbing of Capone, who was not seriously injured, occurred June 23, 1936, and as a result Lucas was placed in solitary confinement.

Johnston said Lucas accused Capone of "informing" on him.

Farmers Are Armed and Always Ready to Fight

Representative of the great class of Mexican communal farmers who shoulder rifles as they go about each day's work are these ejidatarios of San Luis Potosi state, seat of the newest plotting against the Cardenas regime in Mexico. Fighting between "bandits" and government air forces occurred in San Luis Potosi after President Cardenas moved to suppress recent uprisings. Reports to Mexico City said the "bandits" were armed by Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, head of this central Mexican state.

Two Convicts Shot In Attempted Break From Alcatraz Mon.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24 (AP).—Thomas R. Limerick, midwest bank robber, died last night of a bullet wound in the head suffered in an attempt to escape Alcatraz prison.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24 (AP).—A guard was seriously injured and two long-term convicts wounded by rifle fire Monday in a desperate attempt by three prisoners to escape from Alcatraz island penitentiary, the federal government's prison for incorrigibles in San Francisco bay.

Warden James A. Johnston said the attempted break occurred shortly after noon in the factory building.

Those injured were: R. C. Cline, senior custodial officer, who was slugged and seriously hurt.

Focal Point of Latest Rebellion

Here is the scene of Mexico's latest unrest, San Luis Potosi state, only a few hours ride north from Mexico City. War lord of the state and denounced by President Lazaro Cardenas for plotting a revolution is Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, inset. As Cardenas moved 10,000 troops into the state to restore "tranquility," members of Cedillo's family fled across the U. S. border to Laredo, Texas. Cedillo was reported ready to follow, possibly to confer in San Diego with Plutarco Elias Calles, former Mexican "strong man."

Large Crowd Hears Final Band Concert

Before and attentive audience estimated at approximately 300 persons, the Midland high school band, under direction of M. A. Armstrong, presented the organization's eighth annual concert at the high school auditorium Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

"Gloria" March by Losey opened the program, followed by the popular "Safari" overture by Holmes, depicting in musical terms the adventure of hunting parties in the wilds of Africa.

The intermezzo scene, "In a Persian Market," was another outstanding selection, as was "On the Trail" from the "Grand Canyon Suite" by Grofe, which presented the sounds of a trip down into the great canyon.

A French horn duet, a clarinet trio, a cornet quartet, a cornet solo, two tuba solos, and a saxophone quartet were presented in addition to the full band numbers.

Three-County Requests Are Given Favor

Connections From Midland, Odessa To Kermit Likely

Informal order was issued by the Texas Highway Commission Monday afternoon for extension of highway 158 (Midland cut-off) from its intersection with highway 51 to Kermit, also for the highway from the Ector-Winkler line 7 1/2 miles east to meet the road from Odessa to the northwest.

Delegations, including Gene Cody and T. B. Tripp of Ector county, S. M. Halley and F. W. Estill of Winkler county and Percy J. Mims, Clarence Scharbauer, Fred Wemple and Judge E. H. Barron of Midland county, appeared jointly before the commission, requesting the projects.

The extension of highway 158 would connect Midland and Kermit, through Scharbauer City and Goldsmith, and the extension from the Ector-Winkler line to the new Odessa road would connect Odessa and Kermit, both projects using the same right of way west of Goldsmith to Kermit.

The delegations requested the highway commission to take over and designate the road from Odessa to the point of intersection with highway 158, seven and a half miles east of the Ector-Winkler line. Ector county already has constructed twelve miles of the seventeen mile stretch, building grade, drainage and caliche base under the supervision of Ector County Engineer O. G. Lee, formerly with the state highway department.

Request also was made by representatives of the three counties for the commission to top the road northwest from Odessa, also the present 8.3 miles of caliche base road leading west from the Midland county line to the intersection of highway 51 at Scharbauer City, and to designate and, upon grading and laying of caliche base, to top the road from Scharbauer City west to the Ector-Winkler line, also to top the road from that point on to Kermit, a distance of 40 miles westward from Scharbauer City.

Under a three-county agreement on which the above requests were made to the highway commission, Winkler county will have to abandon a recently constructed segment and build a new five mile stretch just west of the Ector county line. For that purpose, funds are being raised from business interests in the three counties affected to reimburse Winkler county for the segment abandoned and for construction of the new five miles.

Midland representatives, who returned here last night, expressed appreciation today to the members of the highway commission for the reception accorded at Austin and for the favorable action given in the informal order for the new road projects.

Six-Year-Old Boy Starts to Denver, Found in Plainview

Notified this morning that their six-year-old son had been located at Plainview, Pat Adams, Midland barber, and wife felt their first relief in almost twenty-four hours. Six-year-old Don Adams, talking seriously a game in which his parents prepared him to "walk to see his grandmother" yesterday, was given a ride by a traveling man as far as Lubbock and then gained another ride to Plainview where officers took care of him until information sent out by the police radio at Big Spring identified him this morning. The child, apparently, was on his way to visit his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Fennell, at Denver, expecting him to relent at any moment and turn back or stop.

But the six-year-old boy evidently meant business about visiting his grandmother, and continued eastward. He said he wanted to walk and visit her. Adams, to carry out his play, agreed to let him and tied up a pair of coveralls, and apple and an orange, all in a handkerchief which he tied on the end of stick.

He walked with the child to Wall street where the youngster told him he wanted to visit his grandmother. Adams had occasion to appear in sight, he was seen to get in a car with someone driving eastward. Adams could not make himself heard and the car drove away.

Grandparents of the child, Mr. and Mrs. Toby Adams, live at Stanton, so, at first, the Adams were not greatly alarmed, thinking he would ask the motorist to let him out there. The car in which the child was picked up, Adams said, was a grayish two-door Chevrolet, believed to be a 1937 model, with white license plate. Adams also has a brother, Vergil C. Adams, living at Big Spring. The child's other grandmother lives at Denver, Colo.

The Adams, later in the afternoon, drove to Stanton and Big Spring, only to find that the child had not been seen by relatives there. They returned to Midland and notified officers and a search was inaugurated.

Adams said the child often spoke of Denver, Colorado, where his other grandmother lives, having no idea as to the location of the city. He thought possibly the child had told the motorist he was en route there.

Don, when he left home, was clad in a light weight, short white suit, consisting of shirt with trousers buttoned at the waist, trimmed in blue.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

Editor's Note: The opinions expressed in this article are those of Mr. Dutcher, NEA-Reporter-Telegram Washington correspondent, and are not to be construed as expressing the editorial policy of The Reporter-Telegram.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Radio commentators are likely to be an early target of Roosevelt and the New Dealers, who lately have been taking the warpath again on various fronts.

White House resentment against certain newspaper columnists, accused in very high places of misrepresentation, has been extended to include persons who appear on hired radio time to attack the administration and its policies.

The guard against hostile radio speakers has been growing steadily and more than one federal agency is now engaged in studying the "problem" on the theory that the ether belongs to the people, as represented by the government, should not be attacked except through regular political channels.

No specific plan of censorship appears to have been evolved. But threats are being made that "paid propaganda" on sponsored programs "has got to stop."

What, Already?

A recurrent Washington rumor insists that the Government Printing Office has been secretly printing conscription questionnaire blanks for a draft army to fight the next war. This may possibly be true, but in the opinion of many who have tried to confirm the yarn, it isn't.

Those who circulate the rumor cite the fact that such blanks certainly would be printed ahead of time without legal authorization or declaration of war — as they were before the United States entered the World War.

Meanwhile, England, although her newspapers are silent about it, is being disturbed by even weirder rumors. One of these says "German agents preparing for a bacteriological war" have been experimenting around and infecting British cattle with hoof and mouth disease. In vestigation of the story this

When Is a Mule Old?

Should army horses and mules, becoming crippled or unfit for service, be sold to end their careers in harness with some junk dealer or other person under conditions likely to be less than humane? That was the issue in a bill by Congressman Han-lan of Kentucky, introduced with the support of humane societies and temporarily blocked by Crawford of Michigan, which would require that such animals be shot or put to pasture.

"I want to see these mules and horses properly taken care of in their old age just as members of Congress should be taken care of in their old age," argued Congressman Wolkoff of Michigan.

Maverick of Texas argued that to retire a mule "because of military service" would "retire half of us soldiers here in Congress."

Citing evidence that army mules were retired at an average age of 11, he declared:

"The gentleman states that an age of 11 years in a mule's life is comparable to 70 years in a man. We have put Justice Van Devanter to work since he passed that age and quit the Supreme Court. He does light work in lower courts. The army has a right to use its discretion now and I see no reason for this bill."

Second acid treatment, probably with 3,000 gallons, is scheduled for this evening. After first 1,000-gallon acid job, the well had been swabbed down to within 1,500 feet of bottom and had begun to show a little gas when swab was lost. Humble No. 1-B Tubb, three-quarter mile southeast extension of the Tubb deep Permian pool in western Crane, flowed 120-barrels on 12-hour test following initial treatment with 1,000 gallons. It was reacidized with 2,000 gallons, and gauged 12 barrels of oil the first hour of test, with 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. Testing continued. The well is bottomed at 4,430 feet in lime and topped the deep pay at 4,330.

Water Carnival to Be Held at Fort Stockton June 17-19

FORT STOCKTON, May 24.—To round out its program of entertainment for the three-day Fort Stockton water carnival on June 17, 18 and 19, the executive committee has added a fireman's contest and hose race, as well as a mammoth water fight, to the Saturday, 18th program. This feature, to be staged as a free attraction, is expected to attract the crack teams from fire departments of this entire section.

The first morning will be featured by a parade, in which many out-of-town organizations and business concerns are expected to enter floats. There is no limit to the number which may be entered, and those desiring information as to prizes and rules may secure such information by addressing the chairman of the parade committee, Mrs. H. L. Winfield, wife of the 29th district State Senator.

The Fort Stockton school band and a group of business men visited the McCamey snake derby last Saturday to advertise the water carnival, and similar visits are planned in other towns of the region before the time for the water carnival.

Outstanding water attractions are to be exhibitions of the University of Texas teams, both afternoon and evening on the 17th and 18th. The bathing revue will be in two sections—climaxed for local entrants on the night of the 17th, and

Feminine Fancies

Time was when colors were eschewed for ceilings of rooms so far as wall paper was concerned and only white and its various shadings were considered appropriate. But those days are gone.

During the last few months, according to a dealer in wallpaper and paints, a new fashion has sprung up. This is to have the walls of the room papered in some color, such as blue, on which appears a flower design, and to have the ceiling in another color, such as salmon pink.

The style should bring cheers from those color-loving souls who are happiest when dabbling in hues of assorted brilliance.

Another trend in papering has to do with an unusual placement of the border. Instead of being used at the top of the wall, just below the ceiling, a wide border is placed at a height of about four feet from the floor, immediately above a wainscoting or a width of washable paper. The ceiling paper is then extended down the walls to the border, giving a novel effect. One example of the border to be used in this kind of treatment shows a marsh scene in autumnal colors.

Since we are on the subject of wall paper, mention should be made of some of the designs which are replacing the conventional flower designs that have been favorites for years.

A design featuring an arrangement of fruit, is posed against a background which in color and grain is created to resemble the texture of a wood-panel.

Kitchen papers repeat a series of figures of kitchenware as well as garden gates.

Display cases of packets of flower and vegetable seeds give us a yen to go out and dig in the good (and dirty) earth.

No amount of sad experience in having plants wither away and drop down dead under our so-called cultivation can keep us from having annual attacks of spring-planting-fever.

Wonderings: Why are colored marshmallows? The white ones look just as good and sometimes taste better. Why do the prettiest and smartest-looking shoes always fall to fit our feet? The new wedge-heels, for example. Why do rows and rows of fresh vegetables, displayed in grocery stores, make a girl want to rush right into a kitchen, even on a warm spring afternoon? Why do men have such a funny sense of humor?

Personal idea of temptation to budget-breaking when doing the family marketing: The alluring array of cakes, packaged in cellophane so all their attractiveness is apparent. Small round ones topped by pink and white fluffiness; little rectangular ones filled with fruit; wafer-shaped ones with creamy fillings that melt in the mouth; and a dozen other variations on the same theme.

Sometimes there are compensations in being the kind of person who can eat three huge meals a day and two helpings of dessert, without gaining an ounce.

Officers, tossing tear gas bombs, dispersed a crowd estimated at 500 near the Duluth News-Herald building. Publication of papers, suspended during a strike started April 3 by the American Newspaper Guild, was resumed. The management said 215 of 289 employees returned to their jobs.

Police charged a force of several hundred pickets massed by the CIO-affiliated United Automobile Workers union in a narrow bridge leading to the J. L. Case farm implement factory in Rockford.

A riot ensued. Four officers and several pickets were injured. Twelve pickets were arrested. Deputy Sheriff Carl Palmgren, his skull fractured by a brick, was in serious condition.

A representative of the company, closed four weeks ago because of a dispute between U. A. W. and American Federation of Labor adherents, said 400 of the normal crew of 1,500 workers had returned the plant.

Operations were not renewed, however. Seven men-workers, pickets, and officers—were injured in a hand-to-hand encounter near the Walworth Valve and Fitting manufacturing plant in Kewanee.

Observers estimated 300 workers entered the factory despite the efforts of the CIO-affiliated steel workers organizing committee to block the gates.

Meanwhile, rioting brought out British troops in Kingston, Jamaica, in the Caribbean. Soldiers patrolled the streets after several men were injured.

Street car workers joined some 5,000 waterfront laborers, street cleaners and others in a strike.

Bearded faces became so fashionable in 14th century Spain that many men wore false beards of various shapes and colors to match their clothes or moods.

Weekend Wardrobe That Is Too Light May Give Hostess Dark Moments

BY MARIAN YOUNG,
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK—Smart little girls who turn out to be the kind of week-end guests that hostesses invite again and again have learned not to take too literally all the suggestions they've heard about the importance of "traveling light."

They don't arrive with several bags, or worse yet, a trunk as they used to before the "always travel light" school of thought came into the limelight. But they certainly don't arrive minus a good many items necessary to a happy week-end—as they did a few years ago when that school of thought reached its peak of popularity. Those were the unhappy days—unhappy for the hostess, at least—when guests borrowed everything from sweaters to dance dresses all week-end long.

Always Take Plenty.

Nowadays, if a thoughtful guest doesn't know anything about the customs in the house or cottage she's been invited to for the first time, she manages to get in one large bag, or, at the most, two little bags, enough clothes to see her through a variety of events from Friday until Monday morning.

For instance, she may take a wardrobe ensemble, like the one sketched here today. It includes slacks, a gored skirt and two jackets in matching flannel, and a neatly tailored blouse which looks well with both slacks and skirt. With this type of outfit and a sweater, she's prepared for any number of occasions.

The slacks are beautifully cut to make hips look slender, legs long and trim. The skirt, with the blouse and the short jacket which ties at the waistline in front, is good for lounging about the house in case it turns out that your hostess and the other guests appear in dresses instead of slacks. Wear it with a sweater for golf on cool days.

Double-duty Swagger.

The swagger coat is just as nice over an evening dress as it is over a sports frock or a bathing suit. Indeed, it is the all-purpose wrap de luxe, and all the other items in this flannel ensemble, were designed by Tille Schanzer, an American designer who specializes in sports clothes with an air about them.

The flannel wardrobe plus an evening dress with a jacket or over-blouse (perhaps one of chiffon), a sweater, bathing suit and the dress you arrive in, ought to be adequate for any week-end. Add a washable shirtwaist dress if you like. And don't forget your own bottle of suntan oil!

(From Foremost Sportswear, New York)

An adequate wardrobe for any summer weekend in the country or at the beach consists of man-tailored slacks, a swagger coat that will go over anything, including an evening dress, a beautifully cut, gored skirt, a cardigan jacket and a neat sports blouse. The blouse is washable, of course. Slacks, skirt and jackets are of fine, soft flannel and come in white, yellow, light blue, shell pink and aqua.

Miss Spencer Is Elected President Of Business Women

Miss Maria Spencer was chosen president of the Business and Professional Women's club for 1938-39 at the annual election of officers held at a dinner meeting in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer Monday evening.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. Susie G. Noble; recording secretary, Miss Ophelia Greene; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Iris N. Bounds; treasurer, Miss Fannie Bess Taylor.

Officials were elected as a slate upon recommendations of Miss Taylor, spokesman for the nominating committee.

Recommendations of the committee that the by-laws and constitution of the club be so revised as to include a president-elect as a regularly elective office and that they be revised in other respects to meet the needs of the club were taken under consideration to be voted upon at a later meeting.

Program for the evening was in charge of Miss Drue Lord who introduced Mrs. John P. Butler, speaker for the dinner.

Mrs. Butler, who last winter made an extensive trip through the East and north visiting relatives in New York and Woodstock, Ontario, Canada, as well as stopping in Washington, D. C., St. Louis, and Chicago, told of her interesting experiences.

With quiet humor she described her feelings and enjoyment of her initial visit to the metropolises where she met relatives whom she had never seen. In addition to seeing notable sights, she also attended such important stage productions as "The Women," "I'd Rather Be Right," and "Tovarich" while away.

Following her talk, a roundtable discussion was held and questions were asked by club members.

Butler, Mrs. Jerry Phillips, and Present were three guests, Mrs.

Mrs. J. E. Baker and the following club members: Mrs. Iris N. Bounds, Misses Clara Jesse, Laura Jesse, Norene Kirby, Drue Lord, Maria Spencer, Fannie Bess Taylor, Ophelia Greene, Merle Smith, Jo Hestand, Kathleen Elland, Mrs. Iva M. Noyes, Mrs. Frances Stallworth

Dictatorships--South American Style

By NEA Service.

South America is making it clear that if she must have dictatorships, the local variety is still preferred to the imported, it is shown in a survey of political conditions south of the Rio Grande.

The dramatic stand of President Getulio Vargas of Brazil in squelching a Fascist uprising in precisely the same way he squelched a Communist rising a year ago seems to underline South America's determination to stay clear of foreign domination of any kind.

When President Vargas late last year dissolved the legislative bodies and proclaimed a new constitution, anxious commentators predicted a Fascist regime to follow. But it didn't follow, and Vargas has given proof that he means business when he says that no foreign-backed movement will be allowed to get a grip on Brazilian politics.

The Vargas government in Brazil is like many others south of the Rio Grande—it falls short of the democratic ideal. Vargas, provisional president since 1930, was elected by a Constituent Assembly in 1934 rather than by direct popular vote. He confirmed his position by the coup of last fall, but whatever his present position lacks in pure democratic theory it makes up in determination that it shall be Brazilian.

Nationalism Fanned. The rise of nationalistic spirit in many South American countries is evident, and tends to assure that even dictatorships will have to stay clear of outside influences.

For instance, Argentina, one of the best-governed of the republics, has a law pending which would restrict suffrage to the native-born. This would cut off from the polls both active Fascists and Communists, most of whom are more or less recent immigrants. President Roberto M. Ortiz, who became president in 1937, received a majority of the electoral college vote, though a more radical rival had a larger popular vote.

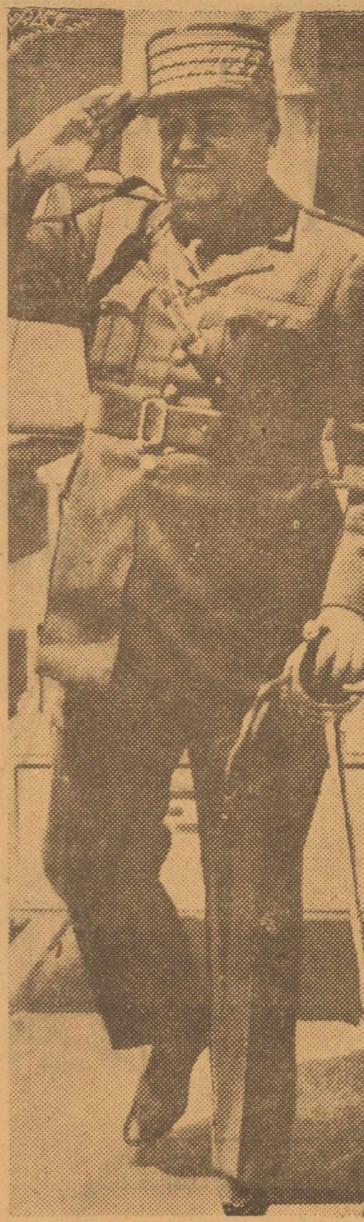

Both Bolivia and Paraguay, stricken by their grueling Chaco War, are now ruled by virtual military dictators. Efforts to establish socialistically inclined regimes after the war found both too exhausted to carry on, and

President Tiburcio Carias of Honduras

President Don Arturo Alessandri of Chile

President Oscar Benavides of Peru

Bolivia sank into the arms of Lieut. Col. German Busch, one of her foreign military advisers, while in Paraguay a provisional president, Felix Paiva, was put in office by a military junta to liquidate socialist experiments. "Bosses" Rule.

In Peru, in Venezuela, and in Uruguay, presidential terms have been prolonged by congressional action rather than by direct appeal to the voters. Generals Oscar R. Benavides and Eleazar Lopez Contreras and Dr. Gabriel Terra are safely in the seats of power in the traditional Latin-American manner. Dictatorships, perhaps, but with the South American rather than the European flavor. In Cuba, Fulgencio Batista, that remarkable army non-com who became dictator, is planning to suspend democratic procedure to insure himself the presidential title as well as its prerogatives.

In Chile, one of the two South American countries with genuine Communist strength, President Don Arturo Alessandri sits firmly on the lid. In Ecuador, the other "Supreme Chief" Gen. Alberto Enriquez recently freed political prisoners, but announced a "national political purge," which falls short of the height of democracy. Democracy Carries On.

Probably the nearest to the American ideal of democracy is Colombia, where President Dr. Alfonso Lopez is definitely the free choice of the people. Guarantees of individual liberty are more clearly established than in most neighboring countries, but even in Colombia the government has prohibited mass demonstrations as a result of recent student riots. The smaller countries like Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, and El Salvador, once so turbulent politically, are now under orderly rule by Presidents Jorge Ubico, Tiburcio Carias, Anastasio Somoza, Demostenes Arosemena, and Maximiliano Martinez, all of whom come far closer to being the popular choice than has been the case in their countries in the recent past. This democracy in South America is far from being as dead as it might seem, for many of the dictatorial regimes are admittedly without a permanent philosophy or plan, but are simply expedients to meet present conditions. Such regimes may always progress slowly toward democratic methods as people fit themselves for the task.

CARDS TAKE IT ON THE CHIN AGAIN: MOVE TO BIG SPRING TODAY FOR GAME

WINK, May 24. (Special).—The Wink Spudders regained top place in the West Texas-New Mexico League again last night when they defeated the Midland Cardinals for the third time in three days 13-10. The win put the Spudders one-half game ahead of Lubbock, defeated yesterday by Big Spring.

The Midland club took a one run lead in the second inning but held it only one inning as the Wink boys came back with three runs in the last of the third. The Cardinals went ahead again in the fourth when they pushed across four runs but Wink came back with three in the fifth and one in the sixth to gain a two run lead. The Cards made five runs in the eighth but the Spudders bounced back and knocked neighbors out of the box and continued their attack on Warren, making six runs in their half of the eighth to sew up the game.

The Cardinals outthrew the Spudders, 9-7, and made fewer errors but the Wink boys bunched their hits to make them count more. The Cardinals move to Big Spring today for a two game series and return to Midland Thursday.

Scorned Girls Take Revenge, Bewilder Boy

TAUNTON, Mass. (UP).—Three scorned girls "went to town" when a high school student refused to talk to them on the telephone.

The number he gave them to call later proved to be that of an undertaker. Incensed at the "run-around," the girls sent the undertaker to the boy's home. Then in rapid succession came four taxicabs, a bouquet of mixed flowers, two grocery orders and four cases of ale.

Police came to the bewildered boy's rescue just in time.

An investigation disclosed that the girls had listed for future action a plumber, photographer, automobile salesman, painter, wrecker and paperhanger. Already ordered but not delivered were a chartered bus, floral piece, two bags of scratch feed and an electric refrigerator.

Girl Has Camera Eye.

BERKELEY, Cal. (UP).—Miss Lena Gaus, 25, creamery clerk, has earned from the police the sobriquet of "the girl with the photographic eye." When a holdup man ordered her to pass over the cash receipts, she held him in conversation long enough to be able to telephone the police such a minute, detailed description of him that they were able to find him eight minutes after the holdup.

About 4 per cent of the men and 15 per cent of the women comprising the brides and grooms of England are under 21 years of age.

WHAT!
A FIRESTONE TIRE AT 25% LESS?
I'LL TAKE A SET RIGHT NOW!

FIRESTONE Gives You This High Quality Tire at This New Low Price

Because Firestone saves money by controlling and securing rubber and cotton at the sources and by efficient manufacturing and distributing. These savings make possible extra values at lower prices. You get:

High Quality—First choice rubber and selected cotton that conform to Firestone's high standards and rigid specifications.

Long Mileage—Safe, silent tread design made of tough, slow wearing rubber that assures long mileage. Sturdy bars and rugged notches give protection against skidding.

Blowout Protection—Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. Every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber which counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Puncture Protection—Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread protects against punctures.

New Low Prices—Never before have all these safety and economy features been combined in a tire priced so low.

Don't take chances on your holiday trip. Come in today. Let us put a set of these large size, rugged, long wearing tires on your car—remember, you save 25%.

Carrier Pigeons Are Used by Merchant

WEATHERFORD (AP).—A. W. Stell, who operates a rural general store 28 miles west of Weatherford, uses a primitive, but efficient, method of ordering supplies. Carrier pigeons carry his orders.

The rural merchant keeps several pigeons, which belong to the wholesalers and some friends at Weatherford, in a coop. When he needs groceries or other goods, he writes an order, places it in a capsule attached to the bird's leg and releases it. Once a week the delivery truck takes out a fresh supply of pigeons.

Old Textbooks Collected for Survey of Past

PITTSBURGH (UP).—A strange hobby is that followed by Dr. John A. Nietz, associate professor of education at the University of Pittsburgh. He collects old school textbooks.

Nietz started his collection back in 1925. He now has 1,500 textbooks—the largest private collection in the country. He does not consider a textbook "old" until it has been published at least 50 years.

"The philosophy behind this hobby," explains Dr. Nietz, "is that by looking into the textbooks of the past I can reconstruct the educational system of early American schools; and thus get a more correct view of how our educational methods started."

He plans soon to write a book

Wins Airmail Week Contest

Thousands of high school and grade school students all over the United States submitted posters in the National Airmail Week contest, but there was only one first prize and that went to Rosemary Nierderle, 13, of Portland, Ore. Rosemary is pictured above with her poster, a map of the U. S. on a blue background with an airmail plane overhead.

about old school texts. Among his collection are 30 McGuffey elementary readers and one of the first Latin textbooks used in America—a copy of Lily's "Latin Grammar" dated 1721. The first edition of this publication appeared in 1527 and, according to Dr. Nietz, was the book which Henry VIII ordered made the official Latin for England.
