Rioters Egg Socialist Thomas

Expropriation of Oil Properties Upheld By Mexican Judge

MEXICO CITY, June 8. (AP).—District Judge Manuel Bartlett, late Texas Judge, upheld the constitutionality of President Lázaro Cárdenas' expropriation of the $400,000,000 foreign-owned oil industry.

His decision denied an injunction asked by the British and American companies whose property was taken over March 18 in dramatic move that resulted in severance of diplomatic relations with Great Britain.

The judge ruled, however, that the Mexican government was at fault in seizing bank deposits, archives and correspondence of the companies and ordered that the cash and records be returned.

The constitutionality of the expropriation law, invoked by Cardenas, was upheld, Bartlett said, "insofar as it affected the properties actually appertaining to production, exploitation and distribution of oil."

The oil companies mapped an immediate appeal to the Mexican supreme court.

B. T. W. Van Hasselt, of Agulla (Royal Dutch Shell), one of the largest oil property owners, said the second district court's decision was not unexpected and an appeal would be made.

The oil companies' attack on expropriation, alleging 22 violations of the constitution, had centered principally on the assertion it was counter to the constitutional ban on monopolies.

They argued that taking over 95 per cent of the nation's oil production sources gave the government a virtual monopoly, an argument which Judge Bartlett overruled.

Refusal of the oil companies to abide by an arbitral award raising wages for their 18,000 employees and otherwise increasing production costs was the immediate reason President Cardenas gave for expropriation.

Iowa Election Results Seen As Rebuff to Administration

WASHINGTON, June 8. (AP).—For some students of political trends, the Iowa primaries had a deeper meaning than the regurgitated administration leadership by democratic voters who renominated Senator Gillette in preference to Representative Wearin.

That rebuff was unmistakable. Its echoes are destined to ring in administration ears down to the November elections.

Of possible greater significance, however, is the hint the Iowa result gives as to farm state sentiment on the liberal versus conservative issue that is shaping up for the 1940 presidential campaign. It was that aspect which prompted some presidential lieutenants to dip into the Iowa senatorial row, picking Wearin as more liberal, more of a New Deal loyalist, than Gillette.

If Iowa democratic voters recognize that as the issue, they picked the candidate challenged by the New Dealers as the less liberal of the two. If Republican voters were moved to a similar decision, they made the same answer. They renominated former Senator Dickinson against Representative Thurston, rated as the more liberal of the two.

But that issue was not sharply drawn in the democratic senatorial primary. It rested only on the assumption that Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins, James Roosevelt, and many other Washington New Dealers, who backed Wearin against Gillette, were not merely attempting to discipline Gillette for his anti-cumulative stand last year, but endeavoring to make over the party out of a popular drift toward the conservative side and the certain fact that candidates backed by a state party organization often have a distinct advantage even against interference from Washington.

In Iowa, as in Pennsylvania, both parties picked the more conservative candidates. The drift appears to be the same in the farm belt as in the industrial east. It is a factor the administration strategists will have to consider in any effort to purge the party of anti-New Dealers in coming primaries.

Bullet Wound Fatal To Local Man Today

S. P. Park, 82, a resident of Midland for approximately 10 years, died in a hospital this morning, a reported victim of suicide.

Park, who was said to have been dependent over recent ill health, was reported to have shot himself in the head with a small calibre pistol while in his home at 1609 West Illinois street. Park, before coming to Midland, made his home in Arkansas and at one time owned a wholesale grocery firm in that state. Prior to that time he was a bookkeeper and accountant. His health had kept him inactive most of the time during recent years.

In following a request made by him several years ago, survivors planned to formal funeral services. Interment rites were to be held this afternoon at four o'clock at Fairview cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his wife and one step-daughter, Miss Marguerite Bivens.

Floral Business Is Discussed at Lions Club Lunch Today

"The Floral Business in the United States" was the subject of an address delivered by Fred Fromhold, local florist, at the regular weekly luncheon of the Midland Lions club today noon. The address being one of a series of classification talks recently inaugurated by the club.

With over $5,000,000,000 invested in the United States, the floral industry is one of the major industries of the nation, the speaker said, adding that the industry buys something from nearly every country of the world and from every state in the union. Organized nearly 20 years ago, the floral industry was the first to form an association to transact business the world over, he said. According to the speaker, the floral organization was also the first to adopt a world-wide slogan, "Say It With Flowers."

Chicago is the largest flower market in the world, he said. Denver, Los Angeles and San Francisco being the principal exporting cities. El Paso, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio are the principal flower or distribution points in Texas, he stated. Methods of shipping flowers over the United States were discussed briefly in order to show why the orchid is so expensive. Fromhold was introduced by Lion W. C. Hinds.

Three vocal numbers by Miss Peggy Matthews featured the musical part of the program. Miss Matthews playing her own accompaniment. She was presented by Lion Tom Betzel.

Guests present were: Clyde Thomas and Martelle McDonald, Big Spring; Maburn Harris, McCaney; and Berte Haigh, Paul Smith and F. R. Wallace, Midland. The luncheon was served by the women of the First Christian church.

Canton Is Again Hit By Raiders

Hundreds Slain in Twelfth Raid in a Row by Japanese

CANTON, June 8. (AP).—Two new bombardments today raised the civilian casualties to 3,000 killed and 5,000 wounded in 12 successive days of Japanese raids.

The American-owned Lingnam University and Standard Oil company tanks were struck today.

CANTON, June 8. (AP).—Japanese warplanes early today returned to attack this terror-stricken city for the twelfth successive day. Canton and its South China environs have been subjected to the horrors of bombardments.

Japanese bombs apparently struck the city's power station. Lights failed throughout Canton and in Shamien island, the international quarter.

Extent of damage and casualties could not be determined immediately.

The aerial onslaught came as apprehensive Chinese crowded railway stations and the water front attempting to escape the expected new raids.

WARN MORE RAIDS.
Japanese planes struck at the city three times yesterday. Adding to the toll of dead and wounded which already had reached 6,000 in 11 days of bombardment.

(From the Japanese navy came a warning that the raids would continue with "even greater vigor." Rear Admiral Mikuni Nomura, chief of the navy special service station, declared at Shanghai that loss of civilian life was to be "deeply regretted" but added that the air raids would go on until Chinese authorities realized the futility of their anti-Japanese attitude.)

In the first raid yesterday, shortly after daybreak, Japanese planes bombed the crowded Tungshan and Saichuen districts. In the second foray, in midafternoon, the raiders attacked government offices and utility plants.

Canton was without lights when the third attack, a moonlight raid, was made. Incendiary bombs were dropped in the northern section of the city.

Rescue workers delved into wreckage to recover bodies of victims in the most recent attack on this South China metropolis, which has been the gateway for shipments of foreign munitions to Chinese armies on the central front.

Proposals for establishing refugee zones where residents would be free from bombardment were being discussed. It was understood, however, that Japan would insist upon guarantees by neutrals that such zones would not be used for military purposes before pledging to respect them.

By FRANK GARDNER.

After partially swabbing down yesterday, Frank S. Perkins et al. No. 1 E. P. Cowden, southwest from Andrews deep wildcard, was shut down at 11 o'clock last night, and at 5 this morning it was found that fluid had risen 500 feet during the six hours. Fluid was described as being mostly water, but with a small amount of new, high-gravity oil also present. It was reported that operators plan to run a squeeze job to shut off this water. Today, a 50-minute drillstem test from 4,378 to 4,430 in Atlantic Refining Company No. 1 Texaco-University, southwest Andrews test, north of the Goldsmith field of Ector, showed rise of only 10 feet of drilling mud, with no oil or gas present. Rathole is now being reamed down in preparation to drill ahead. The well is in section 26, block 11, University survey.

Traffic Safety Committeemen to Meet on June 15

FORT WORTH, June 8.—Along with a blanket invitation to every Texas to attend the second annual convention of the governor's traffic safety committee in this city June 15, came the announcement that business strictly will be the order of the day.

Anything even remotely related to politics will be strictly taboo, those shaping the convention plans point out. A limited program of addresses by outstanding safety leaders of the nation, each with a definite time limit, has been arranged in order that a large volume of highly important business may be disposed of with the least loss of time.

The arrangements committee has ruled further that political banners, floats or circuses will be strictly out of order in the parade and likewise at the convention hall.

"This convention has been called specifically for the purpose of making our highways and public thoroughfares and the communities of who is always alert to thumb a ride with the unwary motorist. The plan of attack which we hope to work out and have functioning with the close of the convention are multi-fold; therefore every minute will be utilized in the consideration of urgent traffic subjects looking toward the one great goal of this organization—conservation of human life and elimination of unnecessary suffering." Dr. Bradford Knapp of Lubbock, one of the convention leaders, asserted.

Even the most enthusiastic committee workers expressed open amazement over the spontaneous adoption of the program objectives and the unanimous response of large delegations and motorcades to attend from the far flung corners of the state, each anxious to grid for a concerted attack on traffic accidents.

Halifax Seeks Way to Halt Bombing of British Ships

U. S. Seizes Alien Fishing Boats

LONDON, June 8. (AP).—Foreign Secretary Halifax today sought a way to stop bombardments of British shipping in the government of Spain's waters.

He took the action as word was received of the bombing of the ship Gandia, British operated in a Spanish port.

The attack by insurgent airplanes raised to 12 the number of foreign ships sunk or damaged with the past two weeks. A British dredger was hit in London's bombings.

Premier Edouard Daladier of France completed an inspection of French defenses on the Spanish frontier Tuesday and ordered artillery and air forces to shoot down any planes which again threatened French territory.

The strength of France's land and air forces at southern centers like Tarbes and Montpellier within a few hours of the border is estimated at about 60,000 men.

Of these troops only a few thousand anti-aircraft and aviation units are actually within sight of the frontier where reinforcements were rushed after bombers of unknown nationality from Spain thrice attacked French communities.

To prevent repetitions the Premier declared squadrons of French piston suit planes will guard the Spanish border region day and night.

WASHINGTON, June 8. (AP).—Chairman Adams, Colorado, of the senate appropriations sub-committee predicted today $50,000 would be appropriated "as a matter of course" for hunting the kidnapers of five-year-old James Bailey Cash.

PRINCETON, Fla., June 8. (AP).—A request by President Roosevelt to congress for $50,000 to aid in solving the Jimmy Cash kidnaping case gave new impetus last night to the 10-day search for the child's abductors.

The unprecedented presidential action followed reported recovery of one of the $5 bills paid a week ago by the boy's father as part of $100,000 ransom demanded by the kidnapers.

They failed to return the five-year-old lad and no trace of him has been found since he was stolen from his bed the night of May 28.

The president suggested in a letter to Chairman Glass (D-Va) of the senate appropriations committee that the $50,000 fund be inserted in a deficiency bill now before the house.

The Miami Daily News said the $5 bill was spotted Saturday by a Jacksonville filling station attendant who notified the FBI. Agents picked up the men who passed it on the highway between there and Tallahassee, the paper said.

It developed, however, that they were two Tennessee policemen returning from a vacation and they were released.

Officers Ordered To Shoot to Kill On All Kidnapers

HOUSTON, June 8. (AP).—Warfare on kidnapers, if there are any in Texas, was declared Tuesday by state law enforcement agencies.

A police road blockade system, worked out secretly, was discussed and Col. H. C. Carmichael, state director of public safety, indicated a shoot to kill order may be given officers in the event of a kidnaping.

"It is my idea," said Colonel Carmichael, "not to take kidnapers alive but to shoot them on sight after making sure the victim of the kidnaping is protected."

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON.—So much of the new tax law is argumentative, or not generally understood, that few laymen knew just who was right when Senator Pat Harrison blasted President Roosevelt's criticisms of the act as made in his Arthurdale speech.

As far as his generalizations went, a case might be made for Roosevelt. But in his one specific illustration of the new capital gains tax, where he said that "if you or I" sold stocks at a profit of $5000 after holding them a few years "you and I" would have to pay 15 per cent on the profit whereas a man who made a profit of $500,000 on stocks would only have to pay a 15 per cent tax on it, the President was off base.

Actually, tax experts point out with amusement, F. D. R. would have been correct only if he had been speaking to folks whose individual ordinary incomes ran to $50,000 a year or more. He probably was the only one in Arthurdale at the time.

Half of capital gains may be figured for tax purposes as ordinary income at normal and surtax rates and until his ordinary income reaches about $50,000 a taxpayer can save money by doing that, and paying the 15 per cent on only part of his capital gains. Above $50,000 the surtax rates make such saving impossible.

Roosevelt neglected, however, to point out that the tax revision saves the small gains taxpayer 50 per cent and the biggest gains taxpayer a minimum of 30 per cent, since the latter would pay maximum normal and surtax of 79 per cent if his profits were figured as ordinary income.

Top Treasury experts, most of them experienced as private tax lawyers in aiding big taxpayers to pay as little as legally possible, wish Roosevelt had vetoed the bill. They fear the deflationary effect of big new corporate savings. And they wonder why Roosevelt waited until the tax bill passed both Houses before publicly expressing himself.

POLITICS AND INSURANCE

A FEATURED article about James Roosevelt's spectacular success as an insurance salesman will appear in a national weekly magazine around the end of this month.

SENATOR ALBEN BARKLEY of Kentucky, after a full session as majority leader, has made a discovery and an admission.

"We went along with practically no attendance," he said during debate on the recovery-relief bill. "There is no way of keeping senators here either in the daytime or the nighttime."

It will be revealed that President Roosevelt, when governor of New York, once entangled "political insurance men" and rela-

Returning Congressman

Texas enroll fewer than one hundred pupils. At the same time, one-third of the freshmen are graduates of high schools in districts in which one thousand or more are enrolled at the high school level.

"Students are now reaching college at the median age of approximately 18 years. Seventeen and 18 are the most frequent ages represented. Most of the freshmen have completed an eleven-grade school system instead of a twelve-grade system such as is found in many of the states. At the present time, however, Texas seems to be on the point of changing to a twelve-grade system. Previous to 1930 only 55 or 60 per cent of the six-year-olds were enrolled in the schools, but since 1930, when six became the legal age of entrance, the percentage of six-year-olds enrolled has been much greater. When the effect of this change is fully felt, the median age of college entrance will probably be about 17 1/2 with 16, 17, and 18 as the most frequent ages if an eleven-grade system is retained; similarly, if a twelve-grade system is adopted, the median age will probably be about 18 1/2 with 17, 18, and 19 as the most frequent ages.

"According to our 1937 figures, at college entrance about 9 per cent of the men and 15 per cent of the women are undecided relative to their vocational objectives. The vocational choices of the remainder are scattered over a wide range. In the case of men, however, nearly two in five will be to engineers and one in eight to enter business or secretarial pursuits. In the case of the women nearly one-third want to be teachers, and about one in five expresses a preference for business or secretarial positions.

"Differences among individuals present a major problem of education at every level, including the college. In any case education is and must be an individual process, but this fact is emphasized when one recalls that each has his own unique personality, background, and needs. At every level from the nursery school to the graduate school there are significant differences in age, in health, in physical and social development, in general mental ability, in specific abilities—which differ from each other even within the same person, in the mastery of languages, in home and cultural background, in economic status, in academic history and future, in occupational objectives, in interests, in attitudes, in habits of thought, in emotional stability, and in other traits.

"Differences in the ability of college freshmen are amazing. In achievement it is not unusual to find within the same group of freshmen differences as great as the difference between the ninth grade and the senior year of college. In general mental ability, the range is from that of the average adult to genius.

"Although on the whole the average ability of students from the larger schools is higher than the average ability of students from the smaller high schools, high schools of every size send good, average, and poor students to college. The lower averages in the smaller high schools probably reflect in part the inferior cultural opportunities of the rural child.

"The average ability of freshmen expressing different vocational interests shows considerable variation, but the range of abilities in any one group is enormous. It is evident that many at the lower end of some of the professional groups will never attain their objectives. Take the medical group as an illustration. It is not at all likely that those who become physicians will be drawn equally from all levels of ability represented.

"In all occupational groups there will be shifts in objectives for various reasons. This fact directs attention to the urgent need of guidance in the first year or two of college.

"It should be recalled that measures such as those provided by comparable tests are a much better indication of the level at which a student can work than is the particular pattern of high school units offered for admission to college. The present method of admission on the basis of units completed in the high school needs reexamination.

"What can be done to adapt education to individual needs? The first need is a philosophy of education in which education is conceived as the individual process which it must be if it is most effective. The emphasis must shift

The Town Quack

I thought for a while this morning I wouldn't have to write this column today, but looks like I am going to have to—so here goes.

Henderson Shuffler, pinch hitting for Ralph while the latter is attending a press convention in South Texas, has the following to say about writing a column:

Columnists are supposed to be full of bright chatter and quips, although most of the boys find light matter and clips a fair substitute, particularly when they try columning day by day. If you have a typewriter with a sufficient number of dots . . . a few super-super adjectives and a joke either new or so old it has been forgotten, you are supposed to have the makings of a real column. If that fails, a home-grown epigram or a pit of real low-down gossip is a fair substitute.

I kinda' think he has got something there.

I heard a farmer say yesterday that he could still raise a cotton crop this year if it rained within the next 30 minutes.

It hasn't rained yet but I'll bet there will still be a lot of cotton planted in the county if it rains during the next week. If it doesn't, our benevolent Uncle Sam is going to have to come to the aid of the farmers of this area.

er detailed self-help outlines and syllabi. It is clear that such a program will cost time, money, and effort, but it will yield rich returns in increasing individual efficiency and happiness and in advancing the common good. It will yield rich returns in increasing individual efficiency and happiness and in advancing the common good. It will give both the student of limited ability and the genius a better chance than they now have.

Duet of Parties Add to Courtesies for Miss Miles

Quickening the tempo of pre-nuptial gaieties honoring Miss Margaret Miles who will become the bride of Johnny Starr on Friday of this week was a duet of parties given for her Tuesday, including a bridge-luncheon and a Mexican pie supper.

TWO ARE HOSTESSES FOR BRIDGE-LUNCHEON.

Miss Miles was named honor guest at the morning affair for which Mrs. John M. Speed Sr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Speed were hostesses at the home of the former, 301 North F street, Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

Blue and white flowers were used in the party rooms and the same color scheme was emphasized in the blue and white tallies and prize wrappings for the morning's bridge games.

Mrs. W. M. Blevins was awarded prize for high score and Miss Lay Freeman prize for cut, both presenting the packages to the honoree. Miss Miles also was presented with a gift from the hostesses.

Following the morning's play, a two-course luncheon was served at quartet tables.

The invitation list included: The honoree, Mmes. Hayden Miles, Ben Black, Blevins, Donald M. Oliver, Ralph Geisler, Johnson Phillips, Miss Georgia Goss, Mmes. H. L. Straughan Jr., W. M. Holmes, Barton Kidd, Frank Miller, All Reese, Miss Mary Maude Sparks, Mmes. John M. Speed Jr., Nancy Stevens, Louis Thomas, Tom Sealy, Hugh West, Jack Wilkinson, Mmes. Lucile Thomas, Evelyn Phillips, Jean Bodkins, Anabel Youngblood, Edna Mae Elkin, Lily Freeman, Helen Fasken

MEXICAN SUPPER HONORS COUPLE.

Miss Miles and her fiance, Johnny Starr, were jointly honored at a Mexican hot tamale pie supper given by Mrs. W. M. Blevins and Mrs. Louis Thomas at the home of the former, 807 W. Kansas, Tuesday evening.

Daisies centered the dining table and covers for ten people were marked by plain white place cards in white holders.

A Mexican menu was served after which the group repaired to the lawn of the Blevins home where the evening was spent in guessing games and conversation.

Present were the honored couple, Miss Miles and Mr. Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Al Cowden, Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Oliver, the hostesses and their husbands.

Buffet Supper Is Compliment to Oklahoma Visitors

Mrs. Chas. Skinner entertained with a buffet supper at her home Tuesday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Joe Percy and their two children of Chelsea, Okla., who are houseguests of Mrs. Percy's brother, H. A. Sheldon, and Mrs. Sheldon. Zinnias and petunias were house flowers, while the supper service table bore an arrangement of roses.

After supper, games of pick-up-sticks and star-checkers furnished diversion for the evening.

Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Percy, and children Betty Jo and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon, and the host and hostess.

Streamlined For Evening

As an alternative to his romantic crinoline gowns, Molyneux suggests the most daring modern streamlined creations. This particular model is fashioned of heavy white crepe marocain. Note the soft draped effect at the waistline and the long, wide, sweeping train which is cut in one with the bodice front, leaving the back entirely nude.

Palette Club Elects Officers At Business Session

In its last official business meeting of the year, Palette club elected officers at the home of Mrs. N. W. Bigham, 605 N. Big Spring, Monday evening.

Those elected were: President, Mrs. R. M. Barron; vice president, Mrs. Bigham; secretary, Mrs. Mary S. Ray; reporter, Miss Nell Shaw.

Following the naming of the officers, the club inspected a display of jewelry handmade by Mrs. Rochan and also sketches made by Mrs. L. B. Lancaster on a trip to Santa Fe.

A refreshment plate was served to fourteen club members including: Mmes. Clarence Hale, Ray, Lancaster, John W. Hix, Ben Golladay, Ben W. Smith, F. H. Lanham, D. B. Snider, J. M. Gilmore, Jas. R. Day, Berle R. Haigh, J. G. Gossett, Miss Shaw, and the hostess.

Members of the club will continue to meet each Thursday to paint but program meetings will be discontinued until next September.

Baby Learns Three Tongues.

FAIRPORT, O. (U.P.) — Peter Ores, 17 months old, speaks three languages—English, Hungarian and Slavonic. His one grandmother is teaching him her native language, Hungarian; and his other grandmother is teaching his Slavonic, her native tongue.

Feminine Fancies

Sea shells which used to stand in the place of honor on Grandmother's parlor table are returning to favor after a period of banishment. Only now their mission, as shown in fashionable magazines is to hold flowers or candies, or serve as cigarette and ash containers. Quite attractive they are, when supported on a slender metal footing or set flat upon the table.

The tired business man or his equally tired wife will rise to do honor to the man who thought up the clever thing we noticed in a new chair the other day. It was a chair of the wingback type where ordinarily there is no place to rest the elbow if one leans back in the seat. But this chair solved the problem of where to put your arms and put them in comfort by placing the armrest INSIDE the upholstered wings.

Such small things often mean the difference between complete relaxation and comfort and a vaguely uncomfortable position. So simple a solution of the problem, too, that we wonder how mankind overlooked it, for these many generations.

A certain dining room suite noticed recently apparently believes in being faithful to detail. Made to represent the early California furniture, it features fiber wrappings at joints of the table and chairs, in imitation of the rope bindings used in crude pioneer days. Needless to say, this fiber is for decorative purposes only and the joints are made fast in the usual way.

Handblocked linen towels are now found with scenes of cowboys roping steers as the decorative motif. These should thrill any visitor from the effete East.

The same towel with a forest scene, is also an attractive item for the shopping bag.

Colors are soft pastels against a white background and the single large design is printed on one end of the towel only.

Decorative large white silk handkerchiefs show an outline map of Texas filled in with names of the more important towns of the state and pictures to indicate their chief industries. Midland for example has a design of oil derricks and oil tanks.

The same handkerchiefs may be purchased with designs printed on solid red, brown, or black backgrounds and flaunt other patriotic pictures beside those described.

What could be nicer to take along on a trip "back east" than some of these vivid souvenirs of the Lone Star state?

Wishes we sometimes wish: That rainstorms would not have a tendency to come just before the time planned for a picnic; that men would be as lenient in judging the women of their own family as they are in judging their best girls; that the biggest sales wouldn't come just when we're broke; that the best-looking shoes wouldn't always be the high-heeled ones we can't wear; that the custards we make would never be soggy nor the mergues grow sticky and melt; that we could, just for one year, be as beautiful as every woman longs to be.

Mrs. Warren Is Hostess to Party For Bridgettes

Mrs. S. M. Warren entertained for the Bridgette club and a trio of guests at her home, 517 W. Wall, Tuesday with an afternoon party at 2:30 o'clock.

Three tables were appointed for the bridge games which occupied the playing hours, with high score going to Mrs. Bert Ross and second high to Mrs. J. J. Kelly.

Guests were Mrs. Ross, Mrs. W. H. Street, and Mrs. Joe Rush. A party plate was served at tea time to guests and the following club members: Mmes. K. S. Blackford, A. E. Horst, Bill Van Huss, E. D. Richardson, L. A. Tullos, M. A. Spry, A. H. Riley, Kelly, R. R. Cowan, and the hostess.

The Arctic tern is the world's champion migrant. It nests as far north as 7 1/2 degrees from the North Pole. Around August 25, when the young are fully grown, they are found in the Antarctic, 11,000 miles away.

Harem Setting Is Reproduced for Screen Comedy

The first authentic harem reproduced in the motion pictures for more than five years serves as the setting for an important sequence in the new Gladys Swarthout-John Boles-John Barrymore comedy, "Romance in the Dark," which has its first local showing today at the Yucca theatre.

Copied from the ruins of a magnificent Persian temple, the set occupied more than half of Paramount's largest sound stage. In line with Producer Harlan Thompson's insistence upon accuracy, mosaic windows, fluted ceilings, minarets and oriental balustrades were reproduced down to the smallest detail.

Miss Swarthout appears in the scene as one of the troupe of harem dancing girls. It is the most lavish sequence in this story, set to music, of a Budapest singer who masquerades as a Persian princess in order to get her big chance on the stage.

The Story of the Octogenarian Who Spent a Fortune to Perpetuate His Own Memory

Neither Criticism Nor Praise Affects Kansas Man Who Built Huge Memorial To His Long and Happy Married Life

By NEA Service.
HIAWATHA, Kans. — John Milburn Davis is 83, and he probably hasn't many years to live.

But he will not be forgotten when he has gone. He has made sure of that by sinking most of his tidy fortune into a memorial that nobody can forget.

And what a memorial! Grouped beneath a 19 by 12 square granite pavilion, standing and sitting stiffly like distant relatives at a family reunion, are six marble figures of Davis, and five of his dead wife. They represent the couple at various stages of their long married life.

Davis, who is believed to have put $200,000 into the strange monument, likes it. To local civic leaders who tried to get him to turn the money into a park or other public work, Davis answers only that it is his money and his memories that are being frozen into white marble.

The body of Mrs. Davis, who died in 1930, lies beneath the granite pavilion. A place waits for Davis himself.

GOT STARTED; COULDN'T STOP.

HE began building a year after his wife's death. His first idea was for two statues of himself and his wife facing each other across her grave. Photographs and measurements were sent to Italy, where sculptors produced the first figures. Davis liked them so well he soon sent for more.

In one group, figures of Davis and his wife are shown facing each other on their 10th anniversary, not long after they had settled in Hiawatha as a young farm couple. The 18th anniversary group shows Davis without a beard, as this facial adornment was burned off in a brush fire in 1898.

Later figures of Davis show him with only one hand, as he lost one in 1908 from a sythe-cut. But the beard returned to the later sculptures, and is evident today on the living Davis. The same progressive changes mark the figures of Mrs. Davis, including one which represents her as a kneeling angel with wings. Davis, hat in hand, stands regarding his wife on their Golden Wedding day. Davis, deserted, sits alone beside a vacant chair to portray his desolation and loneliness after his wife's death.

PAYS NO HEED TO CRITICISM.

THOUSANDS of people visit the unique memorial, and it has been necessary to add a granite barrier directly in front of the figures to discourage vandalism. Visitors have worn a deep path along the edge of the memorial, often tramping over adjoining graves in their curiosity.

Many of the visitors call on Davis. Some praise, some abuse him. He gets hundreds of letters, to which he pays no attention. He knows he is criticised locally for failure to devote his money to public purposes. He doesn't care. "I've learned the futility of trying to please everyone," he says. "I'm trying to please myself and honor the memory of my wife, who was my helpmate for more than half a century."

And so, no doubt, for many half-centuries, the ghostly figures of Davis and his wife will sit and stand beneath the granite colonnade into which has been finally distilled the savings of their long life together.

Library Science Accepted at Univ.

AUSTIN — Acceptance of library science as a minor for the degree of master of arts in literature, social sciences, or education has been adopted by the University of Texas. Library science is being offered this summer at the university for the first time in several years.

Twelve semester hours of work are being offered the first term, primarily to enable school teachers having charge of libraries in schools not accredited by the Southern Library association to secure some formal instruction in library work, according to Donald Coney, librarian at the university, who is directing the summer work in this field.

Courses in adolescent literature, reference work, children's literature, function and use of secondary school libraries, and using library materials in secondary schools will be offered during the first term, from June 7 to July 18. Those in adolescent literature and reference work will be repeated in the second term, from July 18 to August 29.

These courses are offered with the approval of the state department of education but are not accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, nor by the American Library association, Coney said. These courses do not lead to a degree in library science.

Three visiting teachers and Miss Mary Kirkpatrick, education librarian of the university library, will have charge of the seven courses. Visiting teachers will be Dr. Carter Alexander of the Columbia University Teachers college, Miss Lola Rivers Thompson of Our Lady of the Lake college of San Antonio, and Miss Dottie Hoop of the Dallas public school system.

Bar Cat Lends Paw to Mirror Polishing

NEW ORLEANS (UP). — A cat may be able to look at a king without losing his aplomb but there's a cat in New Orleans that can't look at his reflection in a dirty bar mirror of a saloon or in a window without being discomfited.

This cat Tom belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Nick Gentlich, who operate a restaurant and bar in the Vieux Carre section.

Mrs. Gentlich discovered the cat's affliction one day quite by accident. And also by accident, she found the cure.

"I was washing the dust off the bar one day," she explained, "and Tom sat over in a corner which I hadn't reached. He was looking at his reflection in the dirty section of the bar mirror and seemed so sad I got him a shrimp to cheer him up."

"While he was eating the shrimp I turned back to my work and when I got over to the section where Tom was, I found him busily brushing off the dirty section of bar with the pads of his right paw. Now whenever he gets a shrimp between meals, he is always careful to wash a little section of bar. Sometimes he even practices on the windows."

AUSTIN — Thirty-nine geology students have been chosen to attend the 1938 summer geology camp conducted by the University of Texas. The county is on the northwest flank of an uplift known as the Central Mineral Region, or the Llano mountains, and from a geologic standpoint the area is one of the most interesting in the whole Southwest, Dr. Bullard said.

The center of the uplift contains large areas of intrusive granites, a thick succession of pre-Cambrian gneisses and schists, and a good sedimentary record of the Cambrian and Ordovician. Forming a rim around the uplift is a thick series of Pennsylvanian and Permian rocks.

There are numerous mineral localities in the Central Mineral Region, including the famous Baringer Hill Pegmatite with its rare earth minerals. Other minerals found in this region are ores of copper, lead, zinc, manganese, silver, iron, graphite, steatite and others.

Mathis has been working in the cotton fields at Central State prison at Sugar Land since his conviction in September, 1934. Sutherland has been working in the prison print shop here since October of that year.

Chapman was a road contractor and suffered financial reverses during 1932. He tried to recoup his fortunes by robbing a bank at Camden, Ark. After several more robberies, he was captured in Mississippi on Oct. 20, 1934, and sent to Arkansas prison.

Fled Arkansas Prison Farm. He escaped on Aug. 25, 1936, from Tucker prison farm, Ark., and six days later was shot and captured after robbing the bank at Atlanta. He was given a 60-year sentence for the robbery.

After being sent to Eastham, Chapman called officers and told them that Mathis and Sutherland were innocent.

"I robbed the Atlanta bank both times," Chapman said. "I heard they had convicted some other guys in the first case, and I went back to see if they would recognize me."

"THE SHADOW STRIKES"

Chief of Detective John L. Sullivan said Nixon had confessed killing Mrs. Florence Thompson Castel and Anne Kuchta of Chicago and Mrs. Edna Worden and her 12-year-old daughter, Marguerite, of Los Angeles, in similar fashion.

Husband of Slain Woman Hits Slayer

CHICAGO, June 8. (P).— Elmer Johnson, slender city fireman whose wife was killed in a savage attack, was called to the witness stand at the inquest into her death Tuesday.

Spectators lapsed into quiet. Robert Nixon, negro, accused of slaying Mrs. Johnson, three other women and a young girl in brutal assaults, lounged in a chair near the front of the crowded room in the county morgue.

Johnson, grim but calm, stepped forward. Suddenly, he lunged at the negro. He whipped a smashing left hook to the prisoner's nose.

Men in the throng started from their chairs and cheered. Women shrieked. Nixon aroused, his upper lip glistening with blood, leaped toward Johnson. But 20 policemen separated the combatants and quieted the crowd.

While Johnson was led from the chamber, Earl Hicks, another negro, told the coroner's jury he accompanied Nixon to the Johnson's apartment at dawn on May 27. He told how they crept through a window. He testified he saw Nixon crush the skull of Mrs. Florence Johnson, mother of two children, with a brick.

The jury decided Nixon struck the fatal blow but recommended that both he and Hicks be held on mur-

Two Hillsboro Men Die in Plane Crash

HILLSBORO, June 8. (P).— Two Hillsboro business men, returning from a pleasure hop late Tuesday, died when their plane crashed near a landing field four miles east of here.

The dead were Jim Tom Moody, 35, and Raymond Taylor, 24. Eye witnesses were of the opinion the men burned to death because the ship, after going into a spin from an altitude of about 125 feet, burst into flames as it hit.

With Moody, wholesale gasoline and oil dealer who owned the ship, at the controls, the flyers overshoot the landing field, then regained altitude in another attempt at landing when the single motor ship crashed.

Moody and his employe, Taylor, had gone for short hops frequently in the afternoons. Moody had been flying about eight months. Moody is survived by his widow and two children. Taylor is survived by his widow and one child, all residents of Hillsboro.

Safety Program Is Started by Boys

The Mustang Boys Club recently organized at the Old North Ward Building is commencing its summer safety program this week. Combined with the safety project will be that of first aid. For achievement in these features the boys will be awarded points which will apply toward qualifying for a three-day trip to the mountains later in the summer. Points may also be earned in other ways which will be explained at a later date.

A class in water-safety and life saving will begin at the Pagoda pool at 9:00 o'clock tomorrow morning. Working with Mr. Kendrick the director, will be Robert Flison, James Egan and several boys who are already life-savers. Points will be given to all Mustangs who take the course, for their effort, whether successful or not. Additional points will be awarded to those who successfully pass the tests. Those successful will also receive the coveted Red Cross emblem to wear on their swimming trunks.

This will also be "Bicycle Safety" week for the Mustang boys. Points will be given to boys whose bicycles are properly equipped with all safety devices such as lights, horns and good brakes. Special points will be given those boys who design and attach to their bicycle small first aid kits. Some of these kits are now being made.

Body of Pecos Man Discovered in Lake

PECOS, June 8.— The body of Albert Alexander, drowned in Red Bluff lake when his fishing boat capsized early Sunday, was recovered last night by searchers. The body had risen to the surface and was reported to have been found by a couple of youths. High winds yesterday blocked plans of an airplane pilot to fly over the lake in an attempt to spot the body. Volunteer divers were on hand to search for the body when it was finally found.

NYA Project Is Started in State

AUSTIN.—Another NYA resident project for youths interested in farming has been organized at Texas College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville, J. C. Kellam, state director for the National Youth Administration, has announced. Twenty-five boys, selected chiefly in Southwest Texas, have been assigned to the project, which began operating on June 6.

President J. O. Loftin has announced that the youths will assist in building a dormitory unit of adobe blocks, which will be used after completion to house other groups of NYA youths assigned to the projects. The NYA youths will work for the college about half-time, for which the National Youth Administration will pay them a wage sufficient to enable them to pay for their room, board, and medical service, and have about $8 a month for their own use. During the other half of their time, the youths will be given instruction in farming practices calculated to improve their home life. Members of the college teaching staff will conduct the training courses.

Joe Rob Gardner, past president of the student council at A. & I., has been selected for project superintendent. The dormitory unit was designed by Ben P. Bailey Jr., head of the art department of the college. This resident project is the eighth in operation in Texas, Kellam said. One project offering pre-apprentice training in woodwork and the metal trades is operating at Southwest Texas State Teachers college; other projects in agriculture are operating at Texas Technological college, Luling foundation, Center Point Training school, and

British Yards Build Warships For Argentina

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, Eng. (UP).—A training cruiser and three destroyers which are being built here for the Argentine government are nearing completion.

The training cruiser La Argentina has left Barrow for Birkenhead for dry docking, preparatory to undergoing sea trials. This ship which was built by Vickers Armstrong Ltd., was launched on March 26, 1937. It carries a total complement of 600 officers and men, with special arrangements for training of cadets. It is 510 feet long, and has an extreme breadth of 56 feet, 8 inches. Displacement is 6,500 tons and it is expected to develop 30 knots speed.

Of the three destroyers, the Buenos Aires has completed successful trials; the Entre Rios is undergoing trials, and the Corrientes soon will make a trial run.

Ex-Count Likes Gardener's Job

PITTSBURGH (UP).—Fritz Bernstorff, 31, a Danish count by birth whose great-grandfather freed the farmers of Denmark from peonage, feels that he has finally found a congenial job in America. He's the gardener at an Oakmont home.

Bernstorff came to America in 1931 and to Oakmont last May. While in this country, he has been employed as a steelworker and as a salesman for an engraving concern in eastern cities.

With his wife, Hedwig, an American girl of Norwegian ancestry, and their 16-month-old son, Fritz Jr., the former count lives in modest quarters above a residential garage in the Oakmont district.

Bernstorff doesn't look upon his job of trimming hedges and digging in the soil for a living as a menial task. He recalls the work of his ancestors in behalf of downtrodden farm tenants in Denmark many years ago. That was before the World War stripped the family of most of its money and prestige. Furthermore, Bernstorff points with pride to his own training as a horticulturist during the days of pre-war Europe.

Only in the kindly reception given him upon his arrival in America did the count find his major problem. He came to this country with introductions to several prominent New York families. "They were all very nice," he relates, "but I couldn't accept their hospitality one day and ask them for a job the next."

Advertisement for TO THE TAXPAYERS OF THE Midland Independent School District. Text: "IN ORDER THAT BOND REQUIREMENTS and increased expenses made necessary by a larger enrollment in our schools, may be properly cared for, it will be necessary that several thousand dollars more revenue from tax payments be obtained for 1938 than have been paid during the past school year. Voluntary tax payments during the past years have been sufficient to enable the school program to be carried on with a high standard of efficiency, but due to the building program of the past two years, made necessary by a larger enrollment, increased revenue must be obtained this year to care for the increased cost of maintaining a larger school. Examination of the delinquent roll shows that there are sufficient delinquencies when collected, to take care of the added cost of operation without materially altering last year's assessments. In fairness to those who have kept their taxes paid up values should not be raised as long as there are collectable delinquencies. Estimated revenues for budget requirements are being made accordingly and it is hoped that this initial step in a determined delinquent tax collection program will receive the prompt attention of those owing taxes to the School District. It is urgent that those owing delinquent taxes of either large or small amounts, go to the tax collector's office located in the City Hall, and indicate just what co-operation can be expected.
