Evacuation of All Civilians Asked in Third Ultimatum

By Associated Press.
Japan warned the United States and other foreign powers today for the third time to evacuate citizens in China's battle areas as she prepared for continuation of the drive against Hankow.

The United States rejected the first warning and has not answered the second. Ten American Methodist and Seventh Day Adventist missionaries remain at Kiating. Japanese are reported to be heavily bombing the city but the Chinese still hold it.

In Spain, the government rushed all available reinforcements into the Ebro mountains today to form a natural barrier against the insurgent advance on Sagunto and Valencia.

Insurgent planes continued spraying government troops and bombing government towns with bombs, inflicting heavy damage.

Baptist church members, in business conference Sunday morning, called as pastor the Rev. H. D. Bruce who is pastor of the First Baptist church of Huntsville. The names of nine preachers who had filled the local pulpit, since the resignation of the Rev. Winston F. Borum, were placed on a blackboard, the members turning in written ballots on them or on others of their choice. It was voted that if no man received a majority over all others on the first ballot, the names of the two highest would be voted on. Second in the voting was the Rev. M. E. Cole of Warren, Ark., who preached here a week earlier.

The committee named to extend the invitation to the Rev. Bruce, following the voting, immediately conferred with him by telephone, the Huntsville pastor advising that he would prefer one week in which to give his definite answer. It was voted that if he did not accept, the selection of a pastor would be referred to the church for a second balloting.

On the invitation committee were W. R. Upham, J. C. Hudman, M. D. Johnson and R. L. Denham. The business session was presided over yesterday by E. H. Barron, chairman of the board of deacons, with D. H. Bonner conducting the service and preaching at the evening hour. He will preach at both services next Sunday, it was announced by the pulpit committee. Ballots were counted yesterday by committee composed of R. V. Hyatt, W. C. Myrich and Upham.

94 Per Cent of All County Taxes Paid

Tax Collector-Assessor A. C. Francis today reported 94 per cent of the state taxes, 93 per cent of the county taxes and 92 per cent of the common school taxes assessed for the fiscal year ending June 30 had been paid into his office here.

Steady reductions in the tax rates during the past seven years were credited with greatly aiding in those assessed making their payments regularly.

Held in Shooting

Chris Patterson, above, a government witness in the "bloody Harlan" labor trial, is being held in the Laurel county, Ky., jail for questioning in the shooting of Frank White, former sheriff's deputy, one of those on trial for an anti-union conspiracy indictment. The killing of White, found shot in the head in a tourist camp near Corbin, Ky., was the third shooting since the trial began eight weeks ago.

Old Water Tank Built in 1910, Is Sold to Andrews

The old Midland water tank, a landmark northeast of the city since 1910, has been sold to the city of Andrews and will be torn down and removed to that town soon, city officials announced today.

Erected in 1910 at an estimated cost of $6,000—it was a part of a $50,000 water works improvement—the tank brought $500 in its twenty-eighth year here. Since 1928, when the tank back of the city hall was built, the old tank had not been in use.

Triplet's Milk Fund Nears $100 Mark as Individuals, Organizations Contribute

Contributions to the "triplet's milk fund" approached the hundred dollar mark early this afternoon, with $90.76 in the hands of W. T. Walsh, who volunteered to assist in taking care of the needy case, and several individuals and organizations unreported.

Walsh and W. H. Sloan were making solicitations from individuals, but one oil company office took the situation in hand today and raised $28.55 among its employees. Others were reported to be working on similar solicitations.

Money collected will go toward providing milk for the triplet babies of Julio Suriv and wife. Although donations were made soon after birth of the babies, these funds had been exhausted and a bill of $12 was outstanding. Acting on a call from Mrs. E. A. Cubertson, who had learned of the needy family, Walsh and Sloan took up the campaign late Saturday, reporting today the

Speculation Is Rife Over Court Choice

Expect New Jurist To Come from East Or from Far West

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP).—As the funeral of Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Cardozo was held at Port Chester, New York, this afternoon, speculation as to who his successor would be centered on two possible courses.

President Roosevelt might select Senator Robert F. Wagner or some other man from New York, or he might appoint a resident of the far west since that region is not now represented on the bench.

Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.) said he would recommend Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson Jr. of the fifth circuit court of appeals for the vacancy.

WASHINGTON, July 11. (AP).—Senator Wagner (D-NY) was mentioned increasingly last night in capital speculation about a successor to Supreme Court Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo, but many other names also were discussed.

One of the men suggested for the appointment was Governor Henry Horner of Illinois. Representatives Parsons (D-Ill.) disclosed he had telegraphed President Roosevelt, urging that Horner be chosen. Parsons said the governor would bring the court the "dignity of a Hughes and the liberalism of a Holmes."

Some speculated that the President might be urged—and be inclined—to name a far westerner. At present there is no representation on the court from the vast expanse of states west of Minnesota.

Speculation among congressmen and observers centered largely about Wagner, however. The New Yorker has been a close friend of the President for many years and an active supporter of his policies in the Senate.

Intimates of Wagner expressed the opinion that, if the President offers it to him, he will accept appointment to fill the vacancy caused by Cardozo's death last night.

His friends have represented him as cherishing an ambition to top off his long career of public life by serving on the highest tribunal.

Wagner is understood to have been considered when Roosevelt made his two previous appointments to the court—those of Justices Hugo L. Black of Alabama and Stanley P. Reed of Kentucky.

On those occasions, however, there was the factor that his appointment would bring to four the number of New Yorkers on the court, Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, Justices Harlan F. Stone and Cardozo all were appointed from New York.

College Teaches Candymaking

BERKELEY, Cal. (AP).—With the United States consuming more than 1,500,000,000 pounds of candy annually, or about 13 3/4 pounds per capita, the University of California has deemed it expedient to add a course to its curriculum in candy making.

Mae West and Mae West

By NEA Service.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 11.—Ever since Will Rogers, a politically unknown small-town educator, found his well-known name a great asset in getting elected congressman-at-large (salary $10,000), a few years ago, practically everyone in Oklahoma with a famous name is trying to duplicate the feat.

So voters who scan primary ballots in Oklahoma tomorrow will scarcely know whether they are reading the Motion Picture Almanac, Lecky's European History, or Who's Who.

There will be three Will Rogerses and three more Rogereses on the ballot. School Teacher Rogers is trying to keep Draughtsman Rogers' name off the ballot, but Will No. 2 says he has as much right to it as the present congressman whose name he says is William Calhoun Rogers, anyway.

Will Rogers No. 3 seeks only the job of corporation commissioner at $6,000. William Rogers is running against both the other Will Rogereses for Congress. T. J. Rogers wants to be state treasurer, and John Rogers seeks to keep his job as state examiner and inspector.

NAMESAKE OF FAMOUS DICTATOR.
Oliver Cromwell wants to be U. S. senator. His political strength seems to fall somewhat short of that of the one-time British dictator, because two years ago he got 99 votes out of about 600,000. But he is still trying. Robert Burns, though he writes no poetry, wouldn't mind being lieutenant-governor.

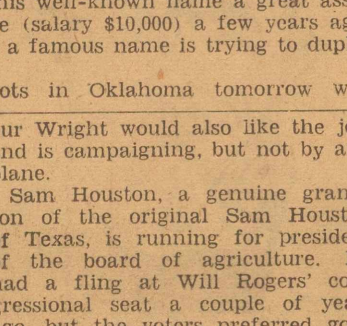

Too switch over into American history. Patrick Henry, Daniel Boone, Brigham Young, Huey Long, and Sam Houston will all stare the Oklahoma voters in the face this fall. Patrick wants to be state auditor.

Dan'l Boone never came closer to scalping an Indian than applying hair tonic to their skulls, for he is a barber. But he would love to tomahawk Huey Long out of the job as supreme court clerk.

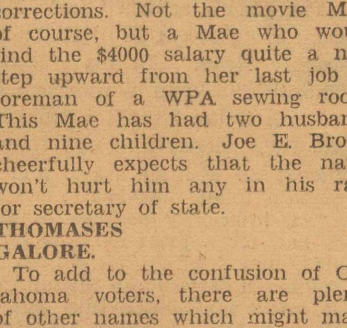

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
Brigham Young, who admits the first name was merely wished on him by early schoolmates, is out against the whole clan of Rogers for the seat in congress. And Wil-

Bennett South Edge Well Flows 280 Barrels Hour After Shot

By FRANK GARDNER.

Flow of 280 barrels of oil through casing the first hour after shot was reported today for Allison Producing Company No. 1 Bennett, south edge test in the Bennett pool, southeastern Yoakum county. An unconfirmed later report said the well had flowed over 1,500 barrels on full 24-hour gauge. Potentials of Bennett wells are arrived at by multiplying by four production during the second six hours of a 12-hour test, and the well's daily rating will probably exceed the 1,500-barrel figure. It is bot-tomed at 5,230 feet in lime and was shot with 680 quarts from 5,050 to total depth. T. P. No. 8 Bennett cased 7-inch casing at 4,640 feet with 200 sacks and is now standing.

R. H. Gill No. 1 Gulf-S. J. Dixon, wildcat two and a half miles northwest of Bennett production, had drilled to 3,810 feet in anhydrite. Top of Yates sand had not been capped.

It was reported that Phillips Drilling Company will drill a test on O'Brien land just south of the town of Plains. Location was reported staked 1,980 feet from the north, 660 from the east line of section 442, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

Another interesting wildcat scheduled to be staked soon will be Magellan No. 1 J. H. Lynn, in the north half of section 770, block D, Gibson survey. It is about a mile and a

To Continue Hop Around The World

Record Time of 16 Hours, 38 Minutes Made on the Trip

PARIS, July 11. (AP).—Howard Hughes was delayed tonight on his around the world trip by bad weather and slight damage to the tail of his plane. He estimated repairs would require three hours before he could start to Moscow.

PARIS, July 11 (AP).—Howard Hughes landed at the Lebourget airport at 4:58 a. m. (10:58 EST) today on his trans-Atlantic flight from New York. The hop to Paris was the first leg of a projected round the world flight.

Hughes and the others aboard the plane expected to remain in Paris only to refuel, then take off for Moscow in the hope of completing their round the world Odyssey in six days.

"We had a fine trip," Hughes said after setting the plane down this morning. The trip was made in 16 hours, 38 minutes.

NEW YORK, July 11. (AP).—Howard Hughes, millionaire sportsman, and four companions took off from Floyd Bennett Field at 5:20 p. m. (C. S. T.) last night on a projected 3,600-mile non-stop flight to Paris.

Sixty-six minutes after that, the aviators reported by radio to their flight headquarters at the World Fair grounds at Flushing that they were passing over Boston and were climbing to gain altitude.

The flight, if completed would be the first non-stop hop from New York to Paris since Lindbergh's epochal trip in 1927. It is the first leg of a planned round-the-world flight via Moscow, Siberia, Fairbanks, Alaska and Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Hughes hoped to break the globe-girdling record of seven days, 18 hours and 49 minutes set by the late Wiley Post in 1931.

The heavily loaded plane grazed tree tops on the edge of the Brooklyn airport as it lifted into the air for a 45-second spin down a short 3,500-foot runway.

5,000 At Airport.
About 5,000 people crowded the field to watch the takeoff.

Hughes was in the pilot's seat with Ed Lund, alternate engineering mechanic, beside him. The three other fliers, Harry Connor, navigator, T. L. Thurlow, navigator, and Richard Stoddard, radio engineer, were at tables in the cabin behind.

On his Paris hop, Hughes planned to fly the great circle route that would take him over Boston, the Maine coast line, Shediac, New Brunswick, and New England before tackling the 1,700-mile stretch of open sea to the Irish coast, Hughes expected to reach Paris in 22 hours.

The five fliers walked out from their hangar after more than 24 hours of mechanical delays only a minute or two before they took to the air.

They waved a cheery good-bye to friends and to the field crowd and climbed into the plane. "The three other fliers, Harry Connor, navigator, T. L. Thurlow, navigator, and Richard Stoddard, radio engineer, were at tables in the cabin behind.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON.—The new federal communications commission regulations covering equal treatment for political candidates by broadcasting stations are little more than a clarification and restatement of the Communications Act, which says in effect that any candidate for office who has the money shall be allowed equal opportunity to buy broadcasting time.

But the regulations emphasize some curious possibilities. For instance, a candidate who feels he can't afford as much radio time as his opponent can afford or who fears his opponent has a superior radio voice might, with a modicum of ingenuity, keep both the opponent and himself off the air. This possibility grows out of the provision that no station shall have power of censorship over material broadcast of any candidate.

HOW "FINESSE" COULD BE MADE.
Broadcasting stations have been held to be jointly liable with speakers for libel damages. No law prevents a candidate from walking into a station with a libelous speech manuscript and demanding the right to broadcast it. A station's only way of protecting itself, according to radio experts, would be to refuse radio time to such a candidate. But the law and the new FCC rules demand that in that case it must also bar his opponent or opponents in order to insure equal treatment.

On the other hand, most broadcasters are pleased by FCC's insistence on uniform political rates and its ban on rebates. No longer will victorious candidates be able to suggest that their radio bills be charged off by stations or their owners as "campaign contributions." That's against the law.

EFFICIENCY—MINUS!
David Cushman Coyle, New Deal brain trust and engineer attached to the National Resources Committee: "We Americans have had a childlike pride in our efficiency, but of late, under the heavy blows of circumstance, a few simple minds are beginning to wonder what efficiency is for. Certainly we aren't efficient at the job of making ourselves prosperous and happy."

THAT MOUNTING PUBLIC DEBT
The gross public debt at the close of the recently ended 1937-38 fiscal year was about ten and a half billion dollars above its war period peak—$37,165,000,000 as compared with $26,596,000,000 in August, 1919. In one sense the present debt is less burdensome than the previous peak debt, since the annual interest charge was $1,054,000,000 in 1919 and only about $850,000,000 in 1938. That's because the annual interest rate in 1919 was 4.178 per cent and in 1938 only 2.576.

But with the new spending-lending program for 1938-39, the total interest charge will gradually approach the 1919 figure and it is being widely predicted that the total debt will reach $40,000,000,000 before the end of this fiscal year.

HOW RECOVERABLE ARE RECOVERABLES?
The federal debt per capita is about $286 now as compared with about $253 in 1919. You can get the former figure much lower than that if you go into the controversial field of "recoverables," loans which the treasury expects to be repaid. Secretary Morgenthau says the government's interest in the "net assets represented by loans and other investments of governmental corporations and credit agencies" amounted to $4,014,000,000, as of May 31. Anyone who wants to subtract that sum from the gross public debt will find that this method of figuring brings the present per capita debt down to around $255.

On the other hand, all the money repaid on these loans so far has gone into the treasury funds and been applied against deficits, instead of being set aside for the direct purpose of debt reduction. It is also sometimes contended that contingent liabilities amounting to nearly five billion dollars, not covered in the public debt figure but guaranteed wholly or in part by the government, are likely not to be recoverable at face value even though the treasury now so classifies them.

Keeping Foot on the Ground While Up in Air Easy on Mount

McKINLEY PARK, Alaska. — Keeping your feet on the ground while you're up in the air is easy enough in Mt. McKinley National Park, whose highest point, the nation's attic—pierces the clouds at an elevation of 20,300 feet above sea level.

Loftiest of all North American peaks, McKinley, whose southern summit has been climbed by only 8 people, rises 17,000 feet above timber line. No other mountain in the world rises so far above its own base. The Indians called it Denali—home of the sun. Its upper two-thirds is enveloped in snow throughout the year. Enormous glaciers flow down its southern and eastern slopes, while north and west sides drop abruptly to grassy valleys only 2,500 to 3,000 feet in altitude.

Other peaks range from 11,000 to 17,000 feet. The Mount McKinley region, much of which is now tapped with roads and trails, was made a National Park primarily to protect its magnificent herds of game animals. Outstanding are the caribou, a species related to the Old World domesticated reindeer of Santa Claus fame. Caribou and reindeer are the only members of the deer family in which both sexes have horns. Owing to their poor eyesight and almost stupid curiosity, the caribou are easy to approach, even in an automobile, providing the wind does not carry the human scent to their keen nostrils.

STORIES IN STAMPS

How Well Was George Washington Educated?

EXTENSIVE estates and a large income provided handsomely for the youth George Washington, except in the field of education. So meager were the facilities of the Colonies during these early 1700's that even children of the richest were forced to depend on the poor common schools, which offered only the rudimentary branches.

So it was that such education as Washington had was completed before he was 16. As a growing lad, he was not remarkable as a scholar; was reserved, sedate. At the age of 13 he wrote out for his own use 110 maxims of civility and good behavior.

His chief inclination seemed toward mathematics. Hence his last two years of formal study were devoted to engineering, geometry, trigonometry and surveying. It was probably because surveying promised advantages, in view of the wild state of the country and the increasing demand for accurate surveys, that Washington entered it professionally. It was to lead him, indirectly, toward the Presidency, for his success early established a solid reputation for him among the leading men of Virginia.

Washington is shown above on the 3-cent green of the issue of 1870, enlarged more than two times actual size.

250 Projects to Aid Youths Are Approved

AUSTIN. — More than 250 NYA Work Projects on which 9,500 Texas youths will be employed part-time have already been approved for the 1938-39 fiscal year by J. C. Kellam, State Director of the National Youth Administration. The projects approved include those already in operation which are to be continued and some new projects too.

Mr. Kellam said that the projects approved were selected for the job training value they will provide for the youths assigned to them as well as for the beneficial results which will accrue to each sponsor. The number of youth assigned to NYA Work Projects in Texas has been rising steadily since January 1, and the program will be extended until the job-training and employment it offers is available to every eligible youth possible. Young people who have passed their 18th birthday but have not yet reached their 25th birthday, are eligible for the Work

Program if they are out of school and unemployed, and are members of families eligible for public assistance. Any youth who believes he is eligible for and wants to receive the job-training and part-time employment available under this program may communicate with the NYA representative nearest him, either personally or through the county case worker, Kellam said. No official announcement has yet been received regarding the NYA Student Aid program for 1938-39. Feminine Fancies

Planning for compactness and comfort in a house and for the needs of the people who are inhabit it has been developed to the point of an art in these days.

A certain clever woman with two small sons who likes to entertain planned her whole house with that in mind.

The large living room or playroom which is the heart of the house opens on one side toward the street and on the other to a screened cement-floored porch where there is an outdoor oven with paraphernalia for outdoor meals. This porch opens in turn onto a small yard leading to the swimming pool and the tennis courts.

But it is the room itself which is the scene of efficient planning. Wooden paneling at one end of the long room lets down to form a table. Beside it is space for the built-in ice box. Leading from the same end of the room is the shower compartment so that guests may have their shower after their swim and come into the living room to eat without having to traipse wetly through other parts of the house.

Nor are these all the unusual features of this surprising room. At the opposite end of the apartment more paneling conceals a bed on one hand and storage space on the other. The room was planned to suit the owner's design for living.

Cutouts for wall decorations are still new enough to be unusual but in good taste. A room for two small boys, noticed recently, had about halfway up on the solid, light-colored walls a frieze of cutout designs of boats and other articles which strike the fancy of youngsters. Their mother had cut out the designs and pasted them flat on the walls, like a piece of applique work.

The idea should be especially welcomed by those who like pictured papers but must live in rooms where the walls are painted or plastered in solid colors.

Come to think of it, there is no reason why the children or the adolescent boys and girls should not do this part of the room decoration themselves. What if the pictures do get a bit uptilted? The ones you put them there will like them—and be the better off for having had a hand in the actual work of making over their rooms.

The Quints thought the original version of this old Mother Goose rhyme was a bit complicated. "Too many characters and a lot more rhyme than reason to the plot. Consequently, when it came time for the Dionne theatrical troupe to go into another one of their acts, they rewrote the last act of the play, in the approved manner followed by all dramatists in Hollywood. And what came out was this: "Hey, Diddle Diddle! The cat and the fiddle! The cow jumped over the moon." SIX-RUN RALLY IN NINTH GIVES CARDS WIN OVER CLOVIS PIONEERS

SECOND PLACE IS AGAIN TAKEN OVER BY THE RED BIRDS

CLOVIS, July 11 (Special). — Blowing up in a ninth inning explosion that shook them out of second place again, Clovis Pioneers lost to Midland Cardinals 6-9 today before 752 fans.

Franklin, Cardinal pitcher, hit a double with the bases loaded to drive in three of the six Midland runs scored in the ninth after a walk, hit batsman and an error had put the three on base. After another error, Barnhill and Battle hit successive doubles to complete the rout.

The Cardinals got off to a one run lead in the first inning but Clovis came back with two in the second, one in the fifth and one in the sixth to give left-hander Bill Nelson a three run lead. The Cardinals made a couple in the eighth but the Pioneers bounced back with one in their half of the frame to hold a two run lead going in to the last inning. The home club made one more run in their half of the ninth but it was of no avail.

The Midland team left here today for Wink where they will play tonight and tomorrow night, returning home Wednesday.

George O'Brien to Visit Sweetwater For Beauty Revue

HOLLYWOOD, July 11. — George O'Brien, Hollywood's leading outdoor star, is just as eager to see Sweetwater and its populace as they are to welcome him when he arrives July 15 to crown the winner of the Goddess of West Texas beauty revue.

Not only does he look forward to enjoying some of the hospitality extended to RKO Radio officials last year when Sweetwater "raided" their special train to stage a barbecue and rodeo, but the famous Western star plans to mix business with pleasure.

In his next RKO picture, as yet untitled, O'Brien will portray a Texas Ranger, and George hopes to pick up some local color for his characterization during his stay in Sweetwater.

O'Brien, noted for his virile outdoor roles, has already done a number of pictures with Texas locales, most recent of which is "Border G-man," preceded by "Lone Star Ranger," "Last of the Dunes," and "Border Patrolman," in all of which the star played southwestern characters.

The star will hold up production of his latest feature, "Painted Desert," to catch a plane in Hollywood Friday morning, July 15, arriving at Sweetwater in time to enjoy and participate in the celebration marking the crowning of the Goddess of West Texas.

Pirates' Victory March Unmatched in Leagues

By HARRY GRAYSON Sports Editor, NEA Service.

Because they are getting the pitching they dreamed of all season, the Pittsburgh Pirates now are the biggest threat to the New York Giants in the National League.

The stretch the Corsairs closed by taking two tight games from the Reds in Cincinnati, July 4, hasn't been matched by any club in either major wheel this year.

It brought their string of consecutive victories to seven—gave them 23 victories in their last 31 games. They have won 20 games by one run.

They now are the only outfit within easy striking distance of the Giants, who once more are sailing easily now that Carl Hubbell has regained his form.

The Buccaneers are getting gilt-edge hurling from Jim Tobin, Russ Bauers, Cy Blanton, Bob Klinger, and Bill Swift, and have the matchless Mace Brown on hand for relief.

They are where they are without the normal batting strength of Paul Waner and Arky Vaughan, who are batting .257 and .283, respectively.

MIDLAND SAND BELT GOLFERS DEFEAT LEAGUE-LEADING BIG SPRING TEAM

BIG SPRING, July 11 (Special). — The Midland Sand Belt Golf Team Sunday became the first league club ever to defeat the Big Spring team on the home links when a 22-18 win was recorded.

Every match was closely contested, but the visitors managed to capture five of the eight matches and won ball in two flights.

The fact that several of the "regulars" of the local team were left out of the line-up and replaced by younger men was credited by Midland players with giving them a win.

The victory by Midland left that club in second place in the league standings, 26 points behind the Big Spring team. The home club has only one game remaining, with Stanton, while Midland must play Crane and Odessa.

In the first flight matches Sunday, Forgeron of Midland beat Jake

Morgan, 1 up in 19 holes; and Frank Stases of Big Spring won low ball.

Jim Smith defeated Shirley Robbins, 1 up, and Frank Johnson defeated Sam Sain to give Midland a clean sweep in the second flight matches. Midland won low ball.

In the third flight, Pat Riey of Midland shot a 70, the lowest score of the day to defeat Shipman, 5-3; Prescott of Big Spring defeated Black of Midland 1 up, 19 holes. Midland won low ball.

In the fourth flight, Barker defeated Paul Oles of Midland 2-1; Sivals of Midland beat Black of Big Spring, 2-1. Big Spring won low ball.

Architects Irk Mural Painter

NEW YORK (UP)—Thomas Hart Benton, Missouri-born muralist and author, never lets slip an opportunity to add his voice to whatever artistic controversy is currently raging.

In an interview the small-statured but dynamic painter said he would do no more murals until he found an "architecturally perfect setting."

"There's no use working your head off adapting yourself to spaces that have no value as frames for an expression in the life," he said.

Amplifying his statement, Benton plunged into the discussion between architects, artists and writers as to the proper relationship between architecture and decoration.

"Everybody recognizes," he said, "that a better relationship between the architecture of a building and the pictures that go into it is necessary to get a completely satisfactory effect."

"The architects say they must act as conductors, as of a symphony orchestra, and that the artists must subject themselves to the architect's conception as to what is fit.

"My conception is that so far as has been seen to date, the architect only wants what amounts to a piece of wallpaper on the wall, something so devoid of striking content, so devoid of genuinely stimulating esthetic properties, that it will not disturb his predetermined concept of the proper formal relations in his building."

In view of the conventional trend of the conditioned nature of the architect's esthetic views, most mural decorations under the direction of the architect must be stale and flat, pastel and, for all practical purposes, invisible.

"The architect has got to realize that the artist also is a living, creative being."

SUMMER FAG?

No summer fag for me! Here's my trick. When Old Sol forgets to pull his punches and pep begins to lag, I make a bee-line to the nearest bottle of SOUTHERN SELECT—call "time out" and relax. I take at least ten glorious minutes to enjoy the invigorating coolness of my favorite brew... to sip slowly its fragrant goodness and forget heat and fatigue. Surprising what this little "time out" with SOUTHERN SELECT can do to give you a fresh start for work or play. Try it and see!

Heat exhaustion is caused by loss of salts and water through abnormal perspiration. Workers in industrial plants are given salt tablets and extra water to protect them in hot weather. SOUTHERN SELECT beer, because it contains the necessary salts and abundant fluid, helps you similarly.

He's Last Man. In Ghost Town

PITHOLE, Pa. (UP).—The days way back in the 1850s, when the magic cry, "black gold," echoed throughout Northwestern Pennsylvania, were recalled when Charles Birtzell, 86, last surviving resident of this once-thriving town of 18,000 persons, was bitten by his Spitz dog.

Bitten 20 times on both hands, Birtzell was taken to a doctor in Pleasantville, not far from Titusville, where Col. William Drake discovered oil in 1857.

Like the old "ghost" towns of the West—towns which rose up from the desert during the gold rush days of '49 only to be deserted when the yellow dust was exhausted, Pithole once was the headquarters for fortune hunters at the height of the oil boom.

The town was the scene of feverish activity for several years. Fortunes were made and lost. Then the flow of the wealth-producing fluid diminished and finally dwindled to a point where it was no longer profitable.

With nothing to lure people into the town, the population gradually decreased through the years until Birtzell and his dog were the only ones left.

The aged man is one of the few persons alive today who can recall any detail of Pithole. He can point out in the meadows the location of once thriving streets and the sites of famous buildings that were frequented by hundreds when "black gold" flowed from hastily-erected wells. Outside of Birtzell's humble abode, not one structure of the forgotten town now remains. The last building, a church, was demolished two years ago.

When Birtzell dies, the name of Pithole will die with him—unless the cry, "black gold," again reaches the feverish pitch it did in the days of Drake and other pioneers.

CAIRO (UP).—The football has replaced the rifle and spear for settling tribal warfare among some Bedouin tribes. Visitors returning from Tarim, southern Arabia, report that many Bedouins have become enthusiastic soccer fans and now fight out their battles on football pitches. The practice is being officially encouraged.

Receipts 100 Years Old. PAINESVILLE, O. (UP).—Six receipts, almost 100 years old were discovered in some old furniture by E. L. Cunningham. One of them dated Feb. 1840, is for a load of wood valued at 75 cents to be exchanged for a subscription to the Painesville Telegraph from Feb. 10 to July 25, 1840.

PHILADELPHIA, (U.P.).—An oil painting of the late President Coolidge has been hung in the Philadelphia Union League here. The portrait by William McGregor Paxton of Newton Center, Mass., will be added to the league's collection of Presidents' portraits.

Toledo Shows Way to Industrial Peace

Board Created to End Labor Strife And It Is Doing Just Exactly That

By NEA Service.
TOLEDO, O.—The Toledo Industrial Peace board, formed here three years ago in an effort to see whether cities might not themselves keep their own industrial peace, has handled 181 disputes involving 30,481 employes up to June 15, 1938.

In July of 1935 two strikes which brought bloodshed and death joined Toledo. The town was frightened. Responsible leaders of all kinds decided that there must be a better way. They tried to find it.

CO-OPERATION—NOT COMPULSION.
Edward McGrady, then assistant secretary of labor, who had helped settle the two violent strikes, proposed the plan. Local opinion was mobilized behind creation of "a composite forum, representing the community, to which either side can bring its grievances, and which shall be of such repute and dignity that much trouble can be avoided."

Ten members of the new board, five named by organized labor, five by employers, began testing out the plan June 5, 1935. The principles laid down then have been guiding the board ever since:

1. The board's work is co-operative and voluntary; it has no power to order anyone to do anything.

2. Members try to think of themselves as representing the whole community and its interest in orderly industrial relations.

3. While the board offers its services in mediating disputes, it does not arbitrate, that is, make final decisions binding on both parties.

4. It does not vote on the "right" and "wrong" of disputes, does not interfere with or assist in unionization campaigns, takes no position on questions like the "open shop" or "closed shop."

Edmund Ruffin, above, former newspaperman and labor expert, now does outstanding work as an employee of the city of Toledo. He is charged with seeing that no hasty or ill-considered dispute interrupts the city's industrial peace.

What Toledo Peace Board Has Done

	1935	1936	1937	*1938	Total
Strikes averted by settlement	3	3	23	2	31
Disputes settled without strikes	4	13	41	29	87
Elections	0	0	2	0	2
Lockouts settled	0	0	1	0	1
Strikes settled	5	12	14	3	34
Disputes handled but not settled (most settled directly by parties involved)	0	3	14	9	26

The figures above show why the city of Toledo is proud of the three-year record of its Industrial Peace board in preventing employer-employee strife and settling industrial disputes.

REPUTATION STILL GROWING.

The first head of the board was Ralph A. Lind, borrowed from the NRA administration. Then a department of labor official took over for another temporary period. So much had been accomplished that the city government decided to carry on the work at its own expense.

Edmund Ruffin, newspaperman with wide experience in covering labor disputes, was then selected to head the board, and the city made an appropriation for his salary and the expenses of conducting the office. The director, of course, does most of the work, calling in members of the board only when his own efforts have failed to get results. Now expanded to 18 members—to include representatives of the general community—the full board never yet has met on a case. It operates more like a panel from which the director selects, say, two or three to work on a specific case—a labor member, an employer member, and a member representing the public generally.

Though there is no compulsion, only one person has thus far flatly rejected the services of the board. On its growing reputation for being genuinely helpful to both parties of disputes, and especially to that ever-present third party, the community itself, the board's obvious usefulness is firmly based.

MONEY WELL SPENT, SAYS CITY.

Toledo is rapidly being convinced that very little of its annual municipal budget is better spent than the $7000 a year with which it provided a road to industrial peace. For instance, 19 new industries have come to Toledo since the board began its work, and 27 local plants have expanded their activities.

Nobody knows how many times that $7000 Toledo saves in a year through orders gained instead of lost, extra police and deputy sheriffs the city did not have to hire, and the general benefit of a reputation for peace and sensible procedure rather than for interrupted production and violence.

Price Bolstering Will Be Kept Down By the Government

WASHINGTON, July 11, (P).—Administration farm leaders said Sunday that, if present prices of cotton and wheat were maintained for the season, government price-bolstering efforts would be held to a minimum in order to encourage exports of these commodities.

During recent years the government often has stepped in to halt farm price declines by providing loans to producers desiring to withhold price-depressing surpluses from markets. The loan rate usually set the market price.

Officials said that in some instances the loans had held American prices above world levels and thereby had retarded exports.

Confronted with huge surpluses of cotton and wheat, agriculture department officials have expressed a desire to avoid loans that would tend to set artificial prices.

They disclosed that if the price of cotton—the nation's No. 1 farm export—is at the present level on August 1, it is possible that government loans will not be provided.

Cotton loans are mandatory under the new farm law when the August 1 price of cotton is 52 per cent or less than what congress has declared to be a "fair" price. Such a price now is about 16 cents a pound. Thus the price which would require loans would be about 8.32 cents a pound or less. Spot cotton closed yesterday at about 9 cents.

The law also makes loans mandatory when crop prospects indicate a yield of 13,000,000 bales or more. Under this year's restricted planting program, a crop of less than 12,000,000 bales is indicated.

The government now holds more than 7,000,000 bales of cotton accumulated under previous loan programs, for which there is no ready market.

Although loans probably will be provided for wheat, the loan rate is expected to be close to the minimum permitted under the farm act. Such a rate—about 60 cents a bushel—would be below current wheat prices.

However, a rather sharp decline in wheat prices might create a situation, officials explained, in which American prices would be pegged above world prices. In that event, competitive wheat producing countries would have a price advantage in world markets.

Urged Make School Transfers Early

Citizens of Midland county who wish to transfer their children from one school district to another are reminded by County Judge Elliott H. Barron that such transfers must be made sometime during the month of July, July 31 being the last day on which transfers are accepted.

In order to avoid a rush or possible neglect of the date, those wishing to transfer are urged to do so before the final day.

At least 16 persons were injured today and the death of one person on the northern frontier last night was reported.

The new casualties gave Palestine a toll of 59 dead and more than 200 wounded since rioting broke out July 5 following the hanging June 29 of Benjamin Joseph, 19-year-old Jew.
