Pick-A-Back Plane Lands At Montreal

First Such Ship Ever to Complete Hop Over Atlantic

MONTREAL, July 21. (AP)—The first trans-Atlantic flight in a pick-a-back plane ended here at 10:30 a. m. when the British seaplane Mercury alighted on the Saint Lawrence river 20 hours and 20 minutes after leaving Foynes, Ireland, 2,715 miles away.

It was the first of eight scheduled experimental flights. Crew members aboard the Mercury were Captain Donald Bennett, pilot, and Albert Coster, wireless operator.

The Mercury, upper half of a composite "two-in-one" aircraft, was designed by Major Robert Mayo, technical general manager of Imperial Airways.

Mayo designed the plane to eliminate dangers of heavily laden long distance craft taking off under their own power. Launched from its sister ship, the Maia, yesterday, the Mercury has a longer flying range than the Caledonia, flying boat which crossed the Atlantic on trial spins last summer. It also consumes less fuel.

The plane averaged about 145 miles an hour and flew at 7,000 feet during most of the trip across the ocean.

Investigation of Blast Fatal to 10 Ordered by Mayor

BALTIMORE, July 20. (AP)—Immediate investigation of a dynamite blast that killed ten men and injured six others working deep inside a new water tunnel—part of a $5,300,000 PWA project—was ordered last night by Mayor Howard W. Jackson.

Fourteen workmen were tamping down a charge of 450 pounds of dynamite when the detonation mushroomed out of the solid rock, blasting men and rocks to bits. All killed were negroes.

The investigation will be conducted by Acting Chief Engineer Frank Duncan and Leon Small, city water bureau head, and their technical staffs.

The blast, one of the worst in Baltimore history, was the first serious accident since construction of the tunnel from Gunpowder River to the pumping station, began early in 1937.

Candidates to Get "Last Chance" for Speeches at Rally

Candidates will be given a "last chance" tonight to appeal to voters in a political rally that will be held on the court house lawn. The first speaker will start talking at 8:15 and the rally will last until all have had a chance to talk. Candidates for precinct, county, district and state offices will be given an opportunity to make their talks.

In case of rain, the meeting will be moved to the district court room, sponsors said.

Meanwhile, workers in the county clerk's office were tabulating final absentee ballots that arrived through the mail this morning. A total of 443 ballots have been cast absentee, approximately 50 per cent more than were cast in 1936. Candidates pointed to this as a sure indication that the voting in the county this year would be far heavier than during that year.

U. S. Will Build Manila Offices

MANILA (UP)—Construction of a $441,000 residence-office building for the U. S. high commissioner of the Philippines will begin soon.

A call has also been issued for bids on construction of a commissioner's residence in Baguio, the Philippine "mountain capital" in north central Luzon island. This building is expected to cost $250,000.

The Manila building, three stories high, will be constructed on 17 acres of land reclaimed from Manila bay alongside the city's most beautiful thoroughfare, palm-lined Dewey boulevard.

High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt has been living in rented houses and working in a rented office in the Elks club. One of his successors will probably be the first to use the new buildings.

Congressional appropriation of $750,000 for the two buildings brought cries of "extravagance" from foes of Commissioner McNutt and the administration in spite of Sen. Sherman Minton's explanations. McNutt neither proposed nor will use the buildings.

Congressmen supporting the construction pointed out the Manila building will include 20 residential rooms and 27 rooms in which the commissioner and his staff will work.

When the Philippines become independent, presumably July 4, 1946, the building will become a legation for use by the United States minister to the insular republic.

It is expected to be completed about Jan. 1, 1940.

No More Chains for Chain Gang

Georgia convicts take shackles from their ankles for the last time, to mark the end of the "chain gang." Ankle chains have been banned in the state—and these prisoners apparently like the prospect of no more raw ankles.

Riddle-Warr Gains Wildcat Has Saturated and Porous Lime Core

By FRANK GARDNER.

Showing slight porosity and oil saturation in cores, Riddle and Warr No. 1, J. B. Brown, wildcat south-east of Seagraves in northeastern Gaines county, today drew oilmen's attention. Cored from 5,465-83, it recovered 17 1/2 feet of lime. The top seven feet showed broken saturation, slight porosity and were bleeding in spots. The bottom part of the core was hard gray lime, with no saturation evident. Entire core showed gas, and when match was struck to the corebarrel it burned for a short time. Coring was resumed, and the well had reached 5,490 feet at last reports, with another core slated to be pulled at around 5,500.

Farther southeast, J. T. Perryman, Jr. No. 1, C. H. Doak was still shut down while cement hardens after plugging back to 5,050 from 5,128 to shut off sulphur water. It will be acidized.

In southern Andrews, Olson Drilling Company (formerly H. S. Ferguson) No. 1 Lockhart & Brown is drilling at 4,587 feet with cable tool unit, having made three feet below old depth. It had failed to indicate commercial production after shooting and acidizing at that point. The test is five miles west of the south end of the Putnam pool.

Skelly Thomas Flow Large. Another large producer for the Denver-Wasson link area was in evidence today as Skelly No. 1, C. A. Thomas flowed 204 barrels in eight hours through 2-inch tubing, with 150,000 cubic feet of gas daily. Production is natural, and operators said here this morning that it would probably be completed without acidizing. Total depth is 5,035 feet in lime.

Skelly No. 1 R. M. Kendrick, south offset to the farthest east producer in the Denver pool, was re-acidized with 5,000 gallons and flowed seven barrels of oil hourly after recovering load. Following first treatment with 1,000 gallons it had flowed 105 barrels in 24 hours. The well is bottomed at 5,009 feet in lime.

Nearing completion depth, T. P. No. 8 Bennett, in the Bennett pool, southeastern Yoakum, is drilling lime at 5,210 feet, circulating oil. Skelly No. 1, W. L. Ellwood estate, southeast Hockley wildcat, had drilled to 4,465 feet in lime.

In eastern Cochran, Texaco No. 1 D. S. Wright cemented 13-inch surface pipe at 342 feet with 300 sacks and is standing while cement sets. It is bottomed at 385 in red beds.

Gulf No. 1 Moore, west of the Denver pool in Yoakum, is coring broken lime at 4,850 feet. Bartlett Hills Gas.

W. T. "Toll" Bartlett No. 1 Byrne, Pecos wildcat a mile northwest of the southwest extension to the Pecos Valley pool, encountered an estimated 100,000 cubic feet of gas daily in anhydrite at 918 feet. It is now shut down below 1,000 feet because of high water in the area.

Gulf No. 4 McKnight, western Crane Ordovician try, showed pinpoint porosity and oil staining in the six feet of cores recovered from 6,120-20. Next set of cores, from 6,120-40, were fully returned and showed virtually the same. Coring continued below 6,140.

In the Waddell-Jordan link area of northern Crane, Gulf No. 13 Henderson rated daily production of 3-344 barrels, with gas-oil ratio of 448-1. It had been acidized with 5,000 gallons at a total depth of 3,540 feet.

Key Accepts Vote As Final, Phillips Is Governor Choice

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 20. (AP)—Leon C. Phillips became the undisputed Democratic nominee for governor Wednesday when W. S. Key, runner-up in the July 12 primary, abandoned further attempts to obtain a recount of votes.

The state election board dismissed Key's recount petition because of failure to serve notice on all right of his opponents.

Phillips led Key by 3,105 votes in the official count.

"I accept the decision as final," said Key in a formal statement.

Attempt to Interest Rockefeller in Park

ALPINE (AP)—Attempts to interest Rockefeller Foundation officials in development of the Big Bend National Park as an agency for promotion of international good will are being made by Congressman R. E. Thomason of El Paso, he advised friends here.

The West Texas member went to New York after adjournment of the regular session of congress. Foundation officials, to whom he outlined the program, contributed $5,000,000 toward development of the Smoky Mountain Park in North Carolina and Tennessee.

"The Big Bend offers just as great possibilities for a park and, in addition, would promote international peace in which the foundation is so interested. I feel much encouraged about the situation," Thomason said.

War Might Paraded by The French

King George Shown Strength Country Has at Disposal

PARIS, July 21. (AP)—France paraded her newest war machines for the first time today to demonstrate to King George of England the strength the French can lend to a common cause.

For more than an hour the cream of the French army swung by a reviewing stand in Versailles as the king and President Lebrun reviewed the 50,000 marching men and countless newly-developed equipment. It was the highlight of the visit by the British ruler.

It was considered significant that Italian and German observers were given places in the reviewing stand. A royal luncheon in the "hall of mirrors," scene of the World War treaty, followed the review. France's greatest chefs worked all night preparing individual "best dishes."

PARIS, July 21. (AP)—Strengthened diplomatically by the state visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth, France yesterday sought a British pledge to resist Germany's campaign against Czechoslovakia as a way of keeping the general European peace.

While the British monarch decorated France's tomb of the unknown soldier in a second day of ceremonies, French political leaders attempted to convince British Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax of the need for definite Franco-British military guarantees to Czechoslovakia.

But if the French had any success, the official report on the talks failed to disclose it.

The communique merely said the French and their diplomat-guest had "an opportunity of examining the whole international situation" and reiterated their "common will to pursue their action of appeasement and conciliation."

Some persons took this to mean Halifax had made plain France might have to fulfill her commitment to defend Czechoslovakia without British aid.

Otherwise, the British and French representatives, appeared in full agreement.

A central factor was believed to be a plan offered by Reichsfuehrer Hitler for solution of the Czechoslovak problem, which was brought to Paris by Halifax.

The strain between Czechoslovakia and Germany is one of the most long-standing threats of general war—heightened last February 20 by Hitler's declaration he would "protect" German minorities, such as the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans within Czechoslovakia.

Mustang Club Work Outlined to Rotary Club at Luncheon

Rotarians, sponsoring a club the newly organized Mustang Club of Midland, were made acquainted with their pet hobby at noon today, holding the weekly luncheon in the Mustang hall at the old north ward school building.

H. H. Kendrick, leader and organizer of the Mustangs, was introduced by S. A. Debnam, program chairman, and outlined the purpose and functions of the Mustang organization. The club was started two months ago and now has 94 boys registered, with a unit of 12 others in the Mexican settlement.

An average attendance of 25 boys registered at the meetings which are held twice each week. No dues or charges of any kind are made against the boys enrolling.

Boys come and go at will and are under little restraint at the Mustang hall. A variety of games, both indoor and outdoor, have been provided along with equipment furnished by individual citizens, city and county and Midland firms.

Besides many hobbies, handicraft and kindred activities offered the boys, safety has been the major achievement, with bicycle safety, home safety, auto safety, mountain or camp safety and civic safety on the program. The first two have been covered, and auto safety will be next, with announcement that citizens will be approached to equip their cars with $1 first aid kits, of which the Mustangs receive 35 cents for camp expense and general incidentals.

A mountain trip is planned for boys meeting certain points, at no expense to the boys. Rotarians were asked for their personal interest in the Mustangs and for adult contact. A vote of thanks from the Rotary club was voted by the group.

Clinton Lackey, new president, was in the chair, a strong attendance being registered. Visitors included Rotarians Luther Neal, of D. Murphy and A. J. Hunt of Odessa; the Rev. H. D. McCutley of Odessa, Dr. I. Sellers Moore and L. A. Absher of Midland; F. C. Wilson of Sulphur, Okla.; Grant of Denver.

As Explosions and Fire Destroyed Refinery

Great columns of flame and smoke billow 200 feet into the air as a spectacular fire completes its work of destruction on the $15,000,000 Sinclair Oil company refinery at Wellsville, N. Y. This air view, taken while the blaze was at its height, shows the fire threatening the huge storage tanks in the lower right-hand corner of the photo. These tanks were saved, but many others were not. The fire resulted in the deaths of three men, injuries to about 75 more and damage estimated at between five and six million dollars.

Flying Governor Is Grouched After He Cracks Up in Fog

HARRISBURG, Pa. July 21. (AP)—George H. Earle became a "non-flying" governor last night when his chief of aeronautics lifted the chief executive's flying license for two weeks after a crack-up.

Colonel Camille Vinet, who taught the governor to fly and later became head of the state aeronautics bureau, grounded the governor.

A few hours earlier, Earle flying through fog, had to land on the campus of a college near Philadelphia. He climbed the top of a tree, hopped a fence, snacked a wing into another tree—and emerged with painful bruises.

He promptly called for another plane and flew back to Harrisburg. Excellent, but grinning, Earle, returned to the capital and heard the bad news from Vinet.

"He promised me faithfully, he wouldn't go up on a day as soupy as this," moaned Colonel Camille Vinet, the governor's personal pilot and chief of the state aeronautics bureau.

Earle, with 10 hours solo experience in a straight-winged plane and about 100 hours in the old autogyro he used in campaigning several years ago, started the flight as a practice spin this morning around the Harrisburg state airport.

He was forced down months ago in western Pennsylvania in a heavy storm.

His son, George the fourth, 21, also has been flying solo for some time. They think it's great. Mrs. Earle won't ride with either.

Filipinos Find Damage Slight From Volcano

MANILA (UP)—Mount Mayon, volcano near Legaspi, Albay, is gradually quieting down after its first big eruption in 10 years.

Many residents of Legaspi and a dozen surrounding barrios have returned to their homes, swept out the ashes and expressed thanks their homes were not buried in lava.

Within two weeks after the volcano's sudden eruption the excitement was all over. There had been no casualties and the damage caused by smoke and ashes to nearby crops was not large.

Excitement was momentarily renewed when smoke began coming from one side of the mountain, about one-third of the way up to the crater. However, this appeared to be only a "dying gasp" rather than the formation of a new crater as was at first believed.

"Occupants" of refuge camps were fairly good natured during the eruptions and among them spread the pleasant story that Mayon was merely an aging woman who was removing the wrinkles from her face. The "wrinkles" were gullies on the volcano's slopes and they were being filled with lava. The almost-perfect cone was even more symmetrical after the eruptions were finished.

Record Vote Is Forecast For the County Saturday

Election officials today were preparing for the heaviest number of votes ever cast in an election here. With 3,556 polls, minus "overs," eligible to vote, it was expected the vote this year would be approximately 60 per cent higher than it was two years ago.

In the 1936 elections, top vote of 2108 went to a candidate running without opposition for a county office. Almost 450 absentee votes cast this year indicates strong interest being taken in the county and state races and officials expect practically all who are eligible to cast a ballot Saturday.

Importance of having poll tax receipts at hand when preparing to vote was voiced by R. W. Hamilton, chairman of the county democratic

Allred Says Flour Salesman to Lead Ticket Saturday

AUSTIN, July 21. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he believed W. Lee O'Daniel would lead the ticket in the governor's race next Saturday.

He said persons with whom he had talked lately said it was "questionable" whether William McCraw would go into the run-off.

He termed the prediction of former Governor James Ferguson that McCraw would be the high man Saturday "funny."

Arkansas Zoo Has Its Own David Harum

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—W. R. Spott, curator of the Little Rock municipal zoo, has a reputation of being an excellent tradesman.

On a recent trip to zoos in the east, Spott managed to get 14 new animals and several rare birds in exchanges. He started out with four Bengal tiger cubs, quadruplets.

The result of Spott's bartering amounted to:
Two African porcupines.
Two South American llama.
Two Rheas, ostrich-like flightless birds from South America.
Two Kangaroos—Bennett Wallabies.
Two woolly-monkeys.
Two lemures—squirrel-like monkeys.
Three putty nose monkeys.
Two mona monkeys.
Two toucans—orange and white breasted South American birds.

DUBLIN, July 21. (AP)—"The Pride of the Corrigan"—Douglas G. —booked passage home today aboard the American liner Manhattan, next week. He planned a two day visit in London before sailing from Cobh, July 30.

"I am still holding off Hollywood contracts until I get home," he said. "Nix on night clubs, I'm no crooner," he added.

He said he was worried about what his home folks may do to him for making the flight. His plans was dismantled and started home aboard the steamship Lehigh.

Two Negroes Jailed After Store Here Is Burglarized

Two Odessa negroes, Frank Presley and Verdel Bowie, are being held in the county jail here following their arrest in Odessa yesterday on charge of burglarizing the Midland Hardware & Furniture store here Tuesday night. Ten rifles and four pistols were reported stolen.

The negroes were caught in the "flats" in Odessa by a party of officers composed of deputy sheriff Fisher Pollard of Midland, and Odessa county sheriff Reeder Webb and Odessa city marshal Hugh Ratliff.

Webb led the party to a house in the negro section and one negro escaped out a rear entrance. He was captured about two hours later. Under the bed and about the negro shack the officers found all the stolen goods.

The negroes were reported to have told the officers that one of them entered the store Tuesday afternoon and let the employes lock him in. Later, the second negro came by in a car and the guns were loaded into it and taken to Odessa. The negroes said they hailed from Amarillo and Memphis.

Feed Crops Assured After Downpour in County Wednesday

Driving rains that totaled 1.97 inches in slightly more than two hours Wednesday afternoon brought relief from the heat that has held the city in its grip and greatly benefitted ranches and farms.

The heavy rainfall which covered Midland did not extend far to the north and northwest, reports this morning said, although the close in farming territory in all directions got rains which were expected to boost rapidly the growing crops.

From two to four miles north and northwest of Midland, rainfall was estimated at a good two inches. South of town, crops also were greatly benefitted, the fall being similar to that at Midland. The sheep raising country along the Midland and Upton county lines got good rains the day before, with ranches lying nearer Midland being soaked Wednesday afternoon. South-east of about 10 miles, an estimated four inches fell.

Midland citizens driving in from the east said they were in rain all the way from Roscoe, with heavy rain reported all the way from Pecos, with heavy rains also in the Garisland and Artesia area.

Monday afternoon, when a heavy downpour covered the Tom Nance ranch and Scharbauer Cattle Co. north ranges, the moisture was said to have been good all the way from Fort Sumner, N. M. Other showers touched ranges northwest of Midland during the next two days.

Feed crops in the vicinity of Midland, well along since the rains three weeks ago, were expected to "make", with the scattered showers which followed, a few days of cool and cloudy weather and then the good rains Wednesday afternoon. Young cotton, planted late, was given fair chance to produce unless stopped by an early frost.

One Midland man whose ranch lies near Goldsmith, in North Ector county, was forced to sleep in his car last night when he drove into a low area and his motor was drowned out. Tourists reported several cars drowned out at an underpass near Abilene, with traffic temporarily halted. One man was forced to stand on the cab of his truck until the rush of water through the underpass subsided.

Guards Keep Order In Newton, Iowa

Insects Trapped by University Group

McALLEN (AP)—Four University of Kansas entomological students and their sponsors, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Beamer of Lawrence, Kans., recently spent a week trapping insects in the lower Rio Grande valley.

The valley specimens of bugs, worms and insects will be added to the entomological exhibit at the university, which the visitors said is one of the leading displays of its type in the United States.

The pride of the expedition was discovery of a group of three specimens of mantispidae, small insects which live in spiders' web cases are grass green in color and found only in isolated spots. The insects were found in the natural palm grove near Brownsville.

Mr. Beamer also snared an especially large specimen of the common June bug, which he said would be prized by another professor at the university who is "crazy about June bugs."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—The big job of administering the wage-hour act was given to Elmer F. Andrews, who was endorsed by Secretary of Labor Perkins, only after an almost frantic New Deal effort to give the job to a big business man had been defeated.

Andrews, technically experienced and well qualified, has been New York's state industrial commissioner. Washington will be surprised if he does not take orders from his former boss, Secretary Perkins, who is popular with neither industrialists nor labor leaders. The real New Deal choice was Donald M. Nelson, executive vice president of Sears Roebuck, who was backed by everyone concerned except Miss Perkins, her aides, and his own boss, Lesing Rosenwald, who disappointed.

New Deal brain trusters had been having secret evening conferences with certain big business men such as Carl Conway of Continental Can, Robert Johnson of Johnson & Johnson, E. R. Stettinius of U. S. Steel, and Nelson himself. It was agreed—and concurred with by certain wise labor leaders consulted—that a capable business man should administer that seemed as popular and as far-reaching a law as any in the New Deal. It would be a good thing for the country and for the success of the law, especially if the business man were strong enough to be independent of Miss Perkins.

NELSON AN ABLE EXECUTIVE
Big, two-fisted Nelson was asked by Roosevelt to serve. A capable organizer, experienced in the entire industrial process—manufacturing, raw materials purchase, retailing and other phases—he had a reputation as the ablest business executive among those who served as NRA officials. This reputation extended among labor leaders and consumer representatives as well as industrialists.

Nelson agreed to accept, at least temporarily, Gen. Robert E. Wood, president of Sears Roebuck, whom Nelson will succeed in a year or two, acquiesced. But Rosenwald, an anti-New Dealer who inherited the business and is chairman of the board, put his foot down. Either because he disliked Roosevelt or didn't want to spare Nelson. You hear both stories.

Leon Henderson refused to accept the post because he wanted to be co-ordinator of the monopoly investigation. Others were considered, but Andrews finally was chosen because of his experience with minimum wage laws.

ABOUT O'CONNORS
Mystery as to how and why Basil O'Connor, Mr. Roosevelt's former law partner, happened to be on the western presidential trip can be at least partially explained. Correspondents wondered about it because they knew Roosevelt sought to defeat Chairman John J. O'Connor of the House Rules Committee, who opposed the reorganization and other White House proposals, for renomination.

Private reports from the west say Basil sought to get Roosevelt to call off the dogs in John's district. But the reason he was able to get himself invited along was that, as few know, Basil has been personal counsel for the Roosevelt family all these years—even though he did once accept $25,000 to fight against the President's pet holding company bill.

Alvo Johnson, in the sensational magazine article concerning Jimmy Roosevelt's insurance business, reported information that questions involving "ethics" in Jimmy's transactions were referred to Basil. Having heard no other word from Roosevelt, New Deal strategists still hope to promote the candidacy of another Irish Catholic Democratic politician against John O'Connor. Thus far they haven't found the "right man."

Camera Record Of Vieux Carre Will Be Made

NEW ORLEANS (UP).—The French Quarter at last is getting a permanent picture record made of itself. For a long time now, many have lamented the passing of what they consider some of the city's landmarks—and principal tourist attractions. Scalloped plaster, chipped arches and rusty balconies fell under the onslaught of modern business buildings or the inevitable hammer of time.

Crescent City Wants Statue Lined Streets

NEW ORLEANS (UP).—The erection of statuary throughout New Orleans may cause it to become known as the "City of Monuments." Mayor Robert Maestri has proposed that major avenues and boulevards be designated to honor former governors, educators, scientists and other prominent persons who contributed to the city's progress. Plaques, peristyles and shelter houses, in addition to monuments and busts, would be placed along the streets.

Cape Hatteras Marked Out as National Park

WASHINGTON (UP).—Desolate and lonely Cape Hatteras, one of the finest fishing grounds on the Atlantic coast, will become a national park on completion of extensive erosion control work, the interior department has revealed.

Dallam, Hartley Fight Grasshoppers

DALHART (AP).—County commissioners report Dallam and Hartley county farmers and ranchers still have to mop up approximately ten per cent of migratory grasshoppers that survived the recent concentrated flight made on the pests by landowners and operators, backed by the county, state and federal governments.

From June 9 to July 2, forty-two Texas national guard and 30 Texas highway trucks, each with a driver, worked in the campaign which covered Dallam, Hartley, Moore and Sherman counties though Dallam and Hartley were the worst infested. Men and equipment were also recruited from the soil conservation service, bureau of agricultural economics, civilian conservation corps and works progress administration.

E. C. (Ted) Houghton, Hartley county commissioner and rancher, who was coordinator of the four-county fight, estimated that 90 per cent of the millions of pests were killed. He said the several millions left could do considerable damage and lay the basis for infestation next year. Gardie Bryant, commissioner at Hartley, said that he discovered a few migratory hoppers hatching recently.

To help meet this double-barreled problem, Dallam and Hartley counties with the help of WPA men are keeping poison mixing stations open at Channing, Hartley and Dalhart and loaning free to farmers and ranchers the county-owned mechanical spreaders.

The federal government all year has furnished bran and poison and several weeks ago began to supply sawdust or cottonseed hulls. One of these latter ingredients, with the bran and poison, make the bait. The government will continue to furnish sawdust or hulls, said Federal Entomologist A. A. Miller, stationed at Amarillo, to protect all the area surrounding these four counties because if migratory hoppers are not killed before they get wings they can migrate several hundred miles and lay eggs before cold weather kills them.

The Aga Khan Is Champ of Tourists

Let the Huttons and the Fairbanks, the Cromwells and the Windsor range the world as widely as they like, they can never become quite such thorough internationalists as the Aga Khan.

For the world is the country of Moulana Hazar Imam, Sarkar Saheb His Highness Sir Aga Sultan Mohammed Shah Aga Khan. As 48th in direct and unbroken descent from Mohammed, the Aga Khan holds spiritual domination over 70,000,000 believers scattered throughout the Far East, especially in India. To the Ismaili Mohammedans, he is God on Earth.

The fact that his headquarters are at Bombay, and several of his palaces are located there, is incidental for the family is Persian. But to one whose power is spiritual, not material, it is only natural that the world should be his playground. So it has been.

The present Aga Khan was only 8 when he assumed his responsibilities at the death of his father. As a young man he traveled widely, in line of duty, visiting scattered colonies of his followers in Zanzibar, Persia, Arabia and the East Indies.

Before the World War, he visited the United States and stayed several months in this country, being royally received by President Theodore Roosevelt. He is believed to have been valuable service to the American government through influence he was able to bring to bear on Philippine Moslems, then bitterly fighting American rule.

In Berlin he won concessions for his followers from Kaiser Wilhelm II, in London he struggled for their rights under British rule. When the World War came, he traveled widely in Egypt and East Africa urging his followers to remain loyal to the British cause.

His first wife he met in Italy, and after her death he married his second at Aix-les-Bains in France. He has great estates in England, Ireland and on the Riviera, and circulates freely among them. Last year he traveled to Germany and talked with Hitler.

A life without fixed roots, traveling from the English Derby (which the Aga Khan's horses have won twice) to Karachi, his birthplace, and from the rich palace of a Aga Hall in Bombay (which is a place of pilgrimage to his followers) to the gambling halls of the French Riviera, seems more aimless than it really is.

A God needs no office. His followers, the Ismaili, see no inconsistencies in the Khan's wanderings. They are the most broadminded of the Mohammedans. They believe that worldly pleasures are less likely to dominate one if moderately indulged than if sternly repressed.

So each year, no matter whether than it really is. A God needs no office. His followers, the Ismaili, see no inconsistencies in the Khan's wanderings. They are the most broadminded of the Mohammedans. They believe that worldly pleasures are less likely to dominate one if moderately indulged than if sternly repressed.

So each year, no matter whether the Aga Khan is in his Mayfair town house in London or his exquisite summer palace at Poonah, a delegation of his followers, comes to him, weighs him, presents him with his weight in gold, and receives in return a few barrels of his bath water, esteemed by the faithful as a curative of miraculous powers.

God, the faithful Ismaili believe, is among the Wanderers of the earth.

Indian Relics Said Becoming Scarcer

AUSTIN (AP).—Collectors, note! Indian relics are becoming scarcer. Authority for this is Erich Frederick Pohl, who should know. Pohl, who claims the distinction of being the "only commercial archeologist in the world," has unearthed more than 3,000,000 artifacts in his amateur and professional career.

"In years gone," he said, "nobody thought of digging for arrowheads, spear heads, corner tines, discoidal, pottery and other products of Indian handiwork. They plowed them up in fields by the score."

"But now—well look." He pointed to his digging crew of 20, sifting a mound in Williamson county in a business-like and thoroughgoing manner.

"We're digging for them now—and how," he said. Pohl moves his crew from mound to mound in the relic-rich, centuries-old camping sites in Williamson county, known to archeologists as "burned rock" locations.

"In spite of all we can do to speed our work," Pohl said, "our finds never approach demands." He displayed a file of several thousand orders from private collectors and museums in the United States and foreign countries. "And we'll never catch up," he said.

The excavator and his wife spend most of their time cleaning, packing and noting the exact location of finds while the crew works in a scientific manner, digging underneath layers of civilizations of aborigines and carefully sifting the loosened soil through a machine which separates the dirt from stone implements.

Pohl, a former U. S. Olympic wrestling champion, supplies many museums, but university authorities frown on his work. They say the remains of older civilizations should be excavated by scientists who are attempting to piece together the story of mankind in what is now Texas.

In his work, Pohl has uncovered artifacts of one tribe believed to have roamed this section 6,000 or 7,000 years ago. The "civilization layer" of this tribe was several feet below those of two higher levels, thought to be 300 and 700 years old.

Beer Cited as Peace-Maker

LONDON (UP).—Beer as an instrument for fostering world peace was recommended by Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton in an address at Chestnut. "There is only one way to stop war, and that is to let the tank and file meet and drink a glass or two of beer together," he said.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Expedition to Get Material for Baylor

WACO (AP)—A scientific expedition into the region of the proposed Big Bend park to conduct research and collect material for the Baylor University Museum left Waco July 14.

Dr. Leo T. Murray, curator of the museum who announced the project, said he would be accompanied by his assistant, Rudolph Hikel of Waco, former Baylor football player, and Thomas Turner of Henderson, student at the Baylor Medical school at Dallas.

The region to be explored, Dr. Murray said, differs markedly from other sections of the United States in geologic and climatic conditions, and in flora and fauna.

Research work will start in the desert region at the foot of the mountains, which have an altitude of 1,800 feet, and continue until the party reaches the maximum elevation of 7,800 feet, the curator said.

The variation from the arid country at the bottom to the thick woods at the top of the mountains will give an opportunity for scientific study of all types of vegetation and animals. Temperature at the bottom reaches about 120 degrees in summer and the base selected for the expedition is 120 miles from Marathon, the nearest town.

Artifacts of the basket weave Indians will be an important item in the search, Dr. Murray said. Although the Baylor Museum has an extensive Indian collection it has nothing relating to these West Tex-

Montana Train Wreck—Third in Three Weeks

All that remained of a huge, modern, fast-freight locomotive after it exploded and wrecked a Northern Pacific train in Hell Gate Canyon, Montana, is seen above, where the engine plunged into the Clark Fork river. Five men died, 15 were hurt, 10 cars were demolished, and trees were flattened 300 yards away from the track. The wreck was Montana's third within three weeks.

as people noted for their woven work. Insects, plants, reptiles, amphibians, animals and birds will be sought and preserved for scientific study and addition to the Baylor museum.

Equipment for the collection of this material, together with photographic apparatus for two weeks of motion pictures and 250 still shots will be taken by the party. Some scientific work will be done between Waco and the Big Bend country, Dr. Murray said. This will comprise search for a special type of salamander that does not lose its fins, and study of the Indian paintings on a cliff near Dryden, which Dr. Murray said resemble a circus poster in size and color. The expedition will return about August 16.

The earth travels about 1,600,000 miles a day on its journey around the sun.

Two Voters Ballot From Across Ocean

WACO (AP)—Two voters sent their marked ballots across the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, respectively, to swell McLennan county's 1938 absentee primary voting toward a new record.

Mrs. Eula Lee Sebastian of Moody, visiting her son, First Sergeant W. A. Sebastian, at Schofield Barracks in Hawaii, wrote the county clerk for the necessary papers, and was among the first to vote from afar.

Miss Azaleta Pidcocke, a teacher in one of the Waco Junior High schools who is spending a vacation at Ashcombe Park, Staffordshire, England, did not lose leisure to overshadow her civic responsibilities. Her request for absentee ballot material arrived one day behind that of Mrs. Sebastian, and it took 28 cents postage to dispatch the papers.

Bingham Asks Young People To Join Party

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (UP)—Former Sen. Hiram Bingham, republican of Connecticut, advises young men from his vacation retreat near Asheville to align themselves with a political party.

"If young men do not go into politics, this will no longer be a land of popular government," the former senator declared. Bingham, who retired from Congress in 1933, cautioned the younger generation "not to think themselves wiser than the older heads of the party."

The wise thing, he suggested, is for the young man to join the party of his choice "and then try to get the policies he thinks best adopted."

"Don't Take a Walk." "If not successful," the scholarly, white-haired Bingham said, "he should continue to be a good soldier."

Bingham is spending the summer months tramping the mountains around Asheville and writing a biography of Eli Yale, after whom Yale university was named. The former republican senator said there would eventually be "a more logical division of the political parties than there is at present," pointing out that both democrats and republicans are split into New Deal and conservative factions.

Calls Division Logical. "It would seem as thoroughly logical thinking that people who believe in the New Deal would get together and those who believe in the old-fashioned democracy of Thomas Jefferson and Grover Cleveland would get together," Bingham said.

The former senator has explored South American wilds, held professorial chairs in several large universities and saw active flying service in France during the World war.

Bingham's wife and daughters, Elsie and Kitty Hill, also are on vacation at the former senator's camp near the top of Pisgah mountain.

Relics in Utah Trace Dim Area

SALT LAKE CITY (UP)—Relics of an early civilization, hidden for generations in a mountain cave in central Utah, have been unearthed and added to the Brigham Young university museum.

Indian fighting weapons, scraping implements and the bones of animals extinct for many years in this section were included in the cavern find, which university officials said was the most important discovery of its kind in Utah in many years.

Fearing that others would descend and carry away the relics, university officials kept the secret of the cave's location until the cavern had been emptied of its contents.

The cave was discovered a year ago by Thomas Walker, a forest ranger.

Following the tracks of animals leading from the main canyon road, he found the mouth of the cavern and then discovered its contents.

Realizing the extent of his find, Walker summoned Prof. George H. Hansen, professor of geology, Hansen, with a CCC crew, began excavation operations.

On the top were skeletons of deer, deposited in recent years by predatory animals. Then workmen uncovered bones of Rocky Mountain sheep and goats which bore unmistakable signs of having been scraped with sharp instruments. A few fashioned from bones and several hundred arrowheads also were found.

Prof. Hansen expressed belief the cave had been used by Indians as a room in which to dress their kills.

To Property Owners Of the Midland Independent School District

Thirty days ago we advised, through the local newspaper, that in order to avert an increased assessment of property values and to meet the anticipated financial needs of the School District for the coming fiscal year, it would be necessary for each property owner owing delinquent taxes to make arrangements immediately to take care of such obligations.

Following this public statement, individual letters were mailed to a majority of those owing delinquent taxes, again urging that the matter be given attention.

We are somewhat disappointed in the response received, especially from those owing sizeable amounts, but we wish to take this occasion to express our appreciation to those who have responded.

There are now more than $50,000 delinquent school taxes on the rolls, more than $25,000 of which is owed in amounts in excess of $50.00, and it is our avowed purpose not to place a blanket increase of valuations in the District, until such a time, as, in our opinion, all collectable taxes have been paid. We have estimated the revenues to meet budget requirements for the fiscal year on this basis, and while there is no desire to impose additional collection costs, there will be no way to avoid such unless immediate arrangements are made for complete, or at least partial payment with further payments at definite intervals until all due is liquidated.

We sincerely ask that those owing delinquent taxes cooperate by giving this immediate attention, as no further appeals for payments will be made before legal action is taken.

Twilight Wedding Unites Miss Lamar, Marion Hays

In a quiet ceremony witnessed by friends and relatives, Miss Eugenia Lamar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoots Lamar, and Marion Hays, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hays, were married at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening at twilight.

Rev. W. R. Mann officiated at the simple ring ceremony.

Soft strains of "I Love You Truly" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" played by Wallace Wimper on the pipe organ heralded the entrance of the wedding party.

Miss Dorothy Friday attended the bride as maid of honor and Wayne Egston was best man.

Pink and orchid gladioli and fern decorated the altar where the couple stood to take the nuptial vows.

The bride wore a navy blue silk roussette dress with full skirt, fitted bodice, puffed sleeves, and a shawl. Her accessories matched the color of the gown and her hair was a corsage of Tallies in rosebuds.

Miss Friday wore navy triple-pleated with a corsage of white asters.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hays left on a short wedding trip to an unknown destination.

The bride is well-known here having lived in Midland a number of years. She was educated in the Midland schools.

Mr. Hays came to Midland about a half year ago with his parents. He attended Paschal high school in Fort Worth.

They will be at home in Midland where Mr. Hays is employed with Banner Creamery.

Present for the wedding were:

FEMININE FANCIES

By KATHLEEN EILAND

It's strange how the ebb and flow of fashion brings to notice first one and then another geographical area.

Quite a lot has been said concerning Swedish fashions in the news of style recently. And the summer furniture exhibits recently laid emphasis upon the Scandinavian design in house furnishings.

Wonder when the influence will spread to the kitchen and we shall begin to serve Swedish dinners? Or when Scandinavian novels and poetry will hold the limelight in affairs literary?

Well, for the peace of the nation, we're glad that it is a non-combatant country like Sweden, instead of Germany or Japan or Italy (and though our phrasing may imply that all three of the latter are combatants, we let it stand like that) that is being admired and copied by America.

Funny how much like small boys grown men are when there's a small flood on hand—or a fire—or a new car to try out.

Our nomination for the most fascinating occupation in the world: Trying to plan a party that shall be peppy, novel, and amusing and at the same time cost little.

Second nomination for the above: Planning to refinish a room tastefully on what seems like an impossibly small sum.

Another time when the poor columnist needs a friend (with ideas is on a rainy afternoon when high water maroons him or her in the office and not a brain cell is working, though there's three-quarters of a galley of copy to be prepared before the day closes.

Have you ever noticed how often men and women of the same profession marry? Especially does this seem to be true in many cases where either has worked in the profession a long time. Doctors often marry nurses. Newspaper women tend to marry men of the same profession, especially if they have worked on a paper long.

Is it plain old propinquity at work (for in 9 cases out of 10 you learn to like a person quite a lot if you are with him day after day) or is it that like calls to like? That the very qualities in a man which attract him to a certain calling tend to make him choose a woman who has the same qualities and has therefore chosen the same profession?

Nobody knows, of course. But it is a fascinating thing to consider.

Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Stitch and Chatter club will meet with Mrs. Ben Biggs, 401 E. Louisiana, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Belmont Bible class will meet with Mrs. C. E. Nolan, 1406 S. Big Spring, Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

SATURDAY.
Story hour will be held in the children's library at the court house Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Midland county museum in the court house will be open Saturday afternoon from 2:30 o'clock until 5 o'clock. The public is invited.

Now Is Time to Awake to Summer Sleeping Rules

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer.

Rule No. 1 for the girl who is determined to get enough sleep even though the nights in town are intolerably hot is to refuse to make the weather a topic of after-dinner conversation. Nothing adds more to hot-weather discomfort than prolonged complaints about it.

Next, she ought to figure out a way to make her bedroom as cool-looking as possible. This may mean packing away all the fancy little boudoir pillows, extra bottles and jars of cosmetics that won't be used until fall, wall hangings and other superfluous knick-knacks that add to the appearance of the room in winter but give it a hot, stuffy air in summer.

During July and August, perfectly plain, very sheer curtains in white or a soft pastel shade, are the only ones that have a place in any bedroom. The bed-spread ought to be light and washable, of course. And two lightweight summer blankets that are no more trouble to wash than a sheet are far better than one heavy winter blanket.

Furthermore, the winter rug in the bedroom ought to be cleaned and packed away. Put down a scatter rug or two and leave the rest of the floor bare or use one large fiber rug. However, don't

Don't Let Constipation Drag On!

Do you often have days when you wake up tired—when you feel dull, funk, "all bogged down"? It's time you did something about it, and something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble!

If you eat what most people do—just bread, meat, potatoes—chances are that just this fact is responsible: you don't get enough bulk. And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines that helps bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, what you need is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains "bulk" plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat it every day, drink plenty water, and see if your old partner doesn't come back! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Radio Address On Judge Thomas

(Radio address of Mrs. Charles Hendricks of Odessa, concerning Clyde Thomas, candidate for District Judge, over KRLH Wednesday.)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THIS RADIO AUDIENCE:

The office of District Judge is a big one, and it takes a big man to fill it—a real man, and a learned lawyer.

As a man, we can judge him by his life. When a youth, he attended High School, in Bell County, under your own Mr. W. W. Lackey, now and for many years your School Superintendent.

During the summer months, while in the High School, Mr. Thomas worked hard, for he was poor, and his people were not financially able to help. Thus, and in this manner, Mr. Thomas got his education, and after some years of teaching, finally he found himself at the head of the Science Department of the State Teachers College at San Marcos.

Judge Thomas is still the student that he was in his early life, for the lawyers of West Texas acknowledge him as one of the leading attorneys in this part of Texas.

Further as a man, he has a large family, is settled, and is and has been a part of his community life for the past thirty-two years. He has not moved from place to place. He settled in West Texas, early, and became a part of its growth, sharing its hardships and its fortunes, rather than being a fortune-hunter.

He is an active member of church, and has been either a Teacher in the Sunday School, Superintendent of the official Board of his church, during all his matured life.

He has made a living out of his practice of law, for he has had a splendid and large clientele, but he is not self-to-do as the rearing of children has been a financial strain. He put his best boys through college; Clyde Jr. is now a young doctor, and George is practicing law with his father, and the others of his nine children are yet to grow up.

His home people, elected him overwhelmingly as their Prosecuting Attorney many years ago, and gave him his second term without opposition, and at the end of his four years he passed into private practice; but again, he was called into public life, by his election to the office of Mayor, which he held for a second term without opposition. After sponsoring a Home Rule Charter and City Manager for his town, he again dropped out of political life, for awhile.

He was a candidate for the office of District Judge four years ago, but while he ran a close second to Judge Klapproth he was beaten, announcing soon thereafter that he would again be a candidate for this office at this time.

He often says that he wants to follow the splendid men who have filled this office—Judge Isaacs, Judge Gibbs, and Judge Klapproth, and imitate their good qualities, and avoid such mistakes that they, being human, have probably made. It has been the good fortune of Midland to have some splendid men in this office, all of whom have been resident citizens of Midland—a tribute to the town of Midland!

The Midland people demand the best in their officers and generally get it. You gave Judge Thomas, four years ago second place in your ballots; and though of course, Judge Klapproth took most of the votes here, of that which was left, you gave Judge Thomas most of them.

Your Midland man received 530 votes more than Judge Thomas, in the whole district, and Judge Thomas beat the man next to him, 1814 votes—nearly doubling the Odessa candidate.

From my home county, Ector, I bring greetings to you, People of Midland! Many of the Odessa, Goldsmith and Ector County voters are joining hands with you to elect Clyde E. Thomas Judge of this whole District. For, in this office we cannot stop at County lines; this is a district office, and not just a local contest. It is a big office and the best one should be selected regardless of where he lives. For, if Judge Thomas is elected, he will be in our midst, mix and mingle with all of us, and become a part of our growth and our community life.

In conclusion, I want to say that a vote for Judge Thomas of Big Spring is a vote for a Fair Deal, for Experience and proven Ability.

Mr. W. R. Purser, a prominent citizen of Big Spring, has aptly said of Judge Thomas:

"He is well-trained for the Judgeship; has had a wide experience in the practice of civil law, both in trial and appellate courts. He is honest, fair and broad in

The Simple Life Is Not for Doug; He's A Romantic Roamer and Won't Stop

By NEA Service.

Douglas Fairbanks simply doesn't like to stay at home. He was bitten early and deeply by the travel bug.

The feverish desire to be someplace else, which marks all the children of wanderlust, has been with him always. It has lost him one wife—and gained him another.

Fairbanks, some of whose greatest triumphs as an actor were achieved by swinging off balconies, leaping over hedges, and generally knocking about, was strictly in character in such roles. He might well win the title of No. 1 Wanderer among all the restless romantics who help the steamship, railroad, and air lines through depressions.

Starting swifly back before he became famous, Fairbanks interrupted a budding stage career in plays like "Mrs. Jack" and "The Pit" to go on a long walking jaunt through Cuba and Yucatan. The feet that showed their restlessness on that trip haven't had enough traveling yet.

It was this unwillingness to stay in one place that led to the estrangement between Fairbanks and Mary Pickford. When they were married in 1920, the movie world gurgled that here at last was the perfect screen romance. And it was, too, for a time.

At first Mary seemed quite willing to scour the far places of the earth in all such moments as could be spared from movie-making. They went around the world together, to China, to Japan, and Greece, and Egypt. They wrote stories about their travels, and Mary looked quite at home in pictures taken beside the Nile or in the shadow of Fujiyama. But she wasn't.

All this world traveling simply convinced Mary that she was really just a home-body at heart. And when, in 1930, Fairbanks pushed off for England for the Walker Cup golf matches, Mary began to wonder. She didn't go. All the cocktail parties and European "watering-places" in the world didn't interest her as much as their own California home of Pickford.

Next year Fairbanks was off again, to Europe, and then to Inland sued his wife, former Paris showgirl, for divorce, naming Fairbanks as correspondent. It became clear that Fairbanks had found a companion who liked travel better than Mary.

On a private yacht, with a private party of guests and friends, Fairbanks again set out for the Virgin Islands, Hawaii, the South Seas, and the Orient, this time with Lady Ashley as fellow traveler. Early in 1936, both being then divorced, they were married in Paris.

Fairbanks had elaborate plans for a huge California ranch in the De Mille tradition, plans for bigger and better film productions. But little came of them.

Ferrying back and forth across the Atlantic, lolling in the sands at Leauville as in the days when they first met, Fairbanks and his present wife devote most of their time to the restless chase for that strange hidden something which to inveterate travelers always seems to lie beyond the horizon.

become raging maniacs before they die.

In five days his weight dropped from 148 to 118 pounds.

Kissinger also touched briefly on his more than 10 years of suffering with myelitis of the spine, which started six years later. Some physicians, he said, believe it the result of his strenuous work in the operating room in Cuba, where he was a hospital steward, together with the fever.

He revealed that at Huntington, plans were being made to erect either an ell to the present hospital, or an entirely new hospital to be called the John R. Kissinger Memorial hospital.

Co-Eds Called Alert to Times

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (UP)—To be as attractive and as intelligent as possible is the aim of the 1938 co-ed, according to Lillian M. Rosenkrans, who retired July 1 from the Wilson college deanship after serving 40 years as an educator of young women.

Girls are far more self-reliant and poised than they were in the '90s, she observed, and the painfully shy freshman has apparently vanished along with leg-o-mutton sleeves.

Miss Rosenkrans, graduate of Smith college in the class of 1892, came to Wilson in 1918 from Hood college, where she was dean and Latin instructor four years. Previously she served six years as principal of the Washington (Pa.) seminary and 11 years as head of her own school at Newton, N. J. Receives Honorary Degrees.

Immediately prior to her retirement from the deanship, Wilson conferred upon her the degree of Doctor of Mone Humane Letters. Dr. Paul Swain Havens, president, appointed her curator of the campus museum. Margaret C. Disert, registrar since 1928, succeeded her as dean.

"Modern college girls are also much more interested in the world beyond the campus than were any of their predecessors," Miss Rosenkrans said.

"They read the newspapers assiduously and they have definite opinions on the national and international situations. Economics and the social sciences are increasingly popular subjects because they help the undergraduate to understand events here and abroad. Marriage still foremost.

"In one respect, college girls of this generation are following closely in the footsteps of Wilson girls of the past—marriage is the career upon which most of them enter eventually, but with the difference that their participation in civic and political affairs is greater.

"This increased interest in activities which 40 years ago were almost exclusively man's province does not signify by any means that college girls of today are 'bluestockings.'

"To be both as attractive as possible and as intelligent as possible is the aim now."

Human Guinea Pig of 1900 Tells Of Yellow Fever Terror in Cuba

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UP)—Only one man is alive today who went through the entire experiment by Dr. Walter Reed in Cuba in 1900 to determine the method of transmission of yellow fever.

He is John R. Kissinger, Huntington, Ind., who told members and guests of the Mayor Foundation chapter of Sigma Xi of his experiences during the experiment which determined mosquito bites spread the fever.

"I am the only man alive today who has been through the whole experiment by Dr. Reed and his co-workers in Cuba," Kissinger said. "John J. Moran is alive, but he was in the second theory of the experiment."

He told Dr. Reed's offer to pay volunteers $100 if they failed to get the disease, and $200 if they did. He and Moran volunteered to be bitten on condition they receive no financial reward.

Of him and Moran, Major Reed wrote that "this exhibition of moral courage has never been surpassed in the annals of the army of the United States."

Kissinger received a Congressional Medal of Honor for his part in the experiment, the Coolidge citation in 1929, and his name has appeared annually on the roll of honor of the U. S. army.

Kissinger was subjected to mosquito bites three times to determine at what stages the insects were ripe for transmitting the germs.

He described the fever reactions of chills, high temperature, "splitting head pains," and general intensive aching. The majority of patients with severe cases, he said,

Banjo Playing "Cholly" Is Released, Gabby Hartnett Named Manager of Cubs

CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—Charles Leo (Gabby) Hartnett was named manager of the Chicago Cubs, replacing Charlie Grimm, owner Phil K. Wrigley announced late Wednesday. Hartnett will take charge of the club today.

Wrigley, who indicated last week a change in the field leadership of the Cubs might be made, but "not until I can find a better man than Grimm," made the announcement at a meeting with sportswriters.

PRECEDED BY RUMORS
A change had been rumored on and off for two years, when the Cubs, on paper, a championship club, staged late season blowups. Each time, however, Wrigley adhered to his determination to stick to Grimm.

Wrigley announced that Grimm, manager since mid-season of 1932 when he replaced Rogers Hornsby, had been released outright. He will draw salary, however, on a contract which expires December 31.

"The decision to change was not a sudden one," the Cub owner said.

GABBY HAPPY
Hartnett, ranked with the greatest catchers of all time and one of the National League's most popular players with athletes and fans alike was gleeful.

"I am as happy as a kid with a new toy," Hartnett boomed. "I only hope I'm as lucky as a manager as I have been as a ball player. If I am, we should do all right."

Grimm spoke only when he posed, smiling, with Hartnett for photographers.

"I'm glad you are taking it this

Only Eyelids Sunburned

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—Drug-store proprietor Harry Rubin likes to use himself as a guinea pig, try new nostrums before he sells them to customers. So, with that thought in mind, he sheared one brand of sunburn lotion on his right cheek, another on his left and a third on his chin and neck. Then he put on dark glasses—and fell asleep. A prankster removed the glasses. Rubin got sunburned eyelids.

CARDINAL-WINK GAME RAINED OUT; CLUB LEAVES HOME UNTIL JULY 27

Rained out in their final game with the Wink Spudders, the Midland Cardinals left home today, not to return until July 27.

The first stop on the road trip for the Cardinals will be at Clovis, where games will be played tonight and tomorrow night. Saturday, the Cardinals will play one game in Hobbs and two games Sunday. Next Monday and Tuesday the Red Birds will be in Big Spring, returning here the next day for a game with the same club.

The rain that fell yesterday caused the Cardinals to drop another half game behind the Lubbock Hubbers, league leaders. The Hubbers now are two full games ahead of the Cardinals, and the two clubs do not meet again until July 29 when the Plains city club comes here for two games.

Lid Is Clamped on Telling War Secrets

WASHINGTON, July 21. (AP)—War Department officials disclosed today the recent arrest of spy ring suspects in New York had been followed by tightening the lid on army secrets.

The navy has already put into effect extraordinary precautions to prevent leaks.

general assembly, who is seeking election to the U. S. senate.

The state convention will draft a platform, map plans for the campaign and nominate candidates for the University of Illinois board of trustees. All candidates for other offices were named in a primary last April.

Lyons and other candidates for offices to be filled in statewide elections next November will be in the convention spotlight, since a plan to bring in outstanding Republicans from other states to speak has been abandoned.

Leadership of the party in Illinois now is dominated by a recently formed organization of G.O.P. county chairmen in the state, who backed the winning primary slate and new officers of the state central committee.

The new leaders have directed their efforts to gain a Republican victory this year and wrested control from older leaders who were seeking to lay the groundwork to return the party to power in 1940.

Principal offices to be filled in November include one seat in the U. S. senate, state treasury, the office of state superintendent of public instruction, 25 congressional seats, 151 in the lower house of the general assembly and 27 in the state senate.

Lyons' opponent will be Rep. Scott Lucas who won the primary nomination with state administration support against the candidate backed by the Chicago Democratic organization.

Tour Arranged By Cecile Sorel

PARIS (U.P.)—Cecile Sorel, 62-year-old French actress who has succeeded Sarah Bernhardt, in the heart of many a Frenchman, will realize her hope of more than a half century when she sails in July for her first theatrical tour of South America.

With her will go a company of 16 French actors, including Paul Gerbaud, of the Comedie Francaise, who will support Mme. Sorel in the presentation of a dozen plays, many of which will be in the lavish costumes of the Louis XIV era.

"Celimene"—as the French call Cecile Sorel in deference to her greatest role—will take six personal servants; a secretary, a maid, two dressers and two coiffeurs. But she will not carry along the bed of Mme. Dubarry as she did in 1926 for her first visit to the United States.

Columbia Pictures have a contract for the filming of the theatrical tour from start to finish. Their photographers will start work immediately filming preparations for the trip—Mme. Sorel's fittings in the salons of Paris dressmakers, her rehearsals and other details which will give the public a "behind the scenes" story of a great actress' life and work.

Following her three months' South American tour, Cecile Sorel plans to return to France by way of New York. It has been four years since she made her second visit to America in 1934, shortly after she retired from the Comedie Francaise where she had played for 32 consecutive years.

In 1926, the actress was married to Comte Guillaume de Segur, a poor French aristocrat. Although Cecile Sorel is still the Comtesse de Segur in private life, she no longer lives with her husband. Two years ago her name was featured in headlines all over the world when she won a court decision against a woman beauty doctor, charging that an operation to take wrinkles out of her eyelids had left her unable to close her eyes.

Gets Chicken Feed, Finds Rattlesnake
CLARENDON (AP)—Mrs. L. L. Taylor of Clarendon recently lifted a writhing diamondback rattlesnake from a barrel of chicken feed.

"I was so nearly paralyzed with fear I was unable to free the snake for what seemed an age," Mrs. Taylor said. "Finally I dropped it and the reptile fell into a coil ready to strike. I ran for help but when I returned it had gotten back into the barrel where it was killed."

Mayor-Fisherman Acts to Save Fish

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—Fishermen here have a mayor who likes to angle, and by that token have a friend at court.

Learning that speckled trout in Lake Sabine have been biting fast and furious recently, Mayor Neal Rader decreed that the drawbridge between the city and the lake should be closed an hour earlier—at 5 a. m.—for as long as the "specs" keep biting.

'Oddest' Wedding Performed by J-P

CLAYTON, N. M. (AP)—Col. Jack M. Potter, justice of the peace here and Texas trail driver more than 50 years ago, says he recently performed one of the "oddest" wedding ceremonies in his experience. A Clayton couple, desiring a wedding with "real western flavor," invited Col. Potter to accompany them to rugged, maple-lined Apache canyon, where at sunrise the colonel read the marriage lines.

Col. Potter trailed Texas herds northward to pasture until he settled at Clayton in 1888, the year it was founded.

Nacogdoches Will Get Fair Building

NACOGDOCHES (AP)—President Roosevelt has approved a WPA allotment of $28,800 for a fair park project and buildings here, according to a message received by Mayor R. G. Mueckleroy from Rep. Nat Patton at Crockett.

Patton said it is expected funds will be allocated and work started on the project within a short time. Meanwhile work was progressing on a $7,000 WPA malaria control project.

Mayor Mueckleroy, who is president of the Nacogdoches County Fair and Livestock exhibition, hoped the project would be complete by the time the fair is scheduled to open the first week in October.

Poundmaster Does Duty And Violates 2 Laws

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UP)—Poundmaster Thomas Ross is in the embarrassing position of having violated the law in the performance of his duty.

Called by a housewife to protect her ducks from a strange bird that was attacking them, Ross spied the bird in a nearby tree. He decided it was a chicken hawk and promptly shot it. The bird later was identified by the curator of the Snow museum as a black-crowned night heron, which is on the protected list of both state and federal game laws.
