G. O. P. Ready to 'GO Places'

A fighting-mad elephant bearing the inscription "Let's GO Places" symbolized the general spirit as the Republican program committee opened its unique "summer school" at which national problems were to be studied and steps taken toward drafting a program to "guide" the national committee. William Hard, secretary of the program committee, Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman, and National Committee Chairman John D. M. Hamilton are pictured, left to right, with the emblem, as the sessions opened on the Chicago campus of Northwestern University.

Your First Peek at a White Giraffe

This rare photograph of an albino giraffe with an ordinary giraffe was taken in Kenya Colony, East Africa, by Col. A. J. MacNab, president of the Camp Fire Club of America and former military attaché to the embassy in Mexico City. It is the first authentic photograph ever taken of an albino giraffe. The white color is caused by lack of color pigment in the animal's skin.

Sinclair-Prairie 3-A Johnson Finds New, Deep Ector Pay

By FRANK GARDNER.
Possibility of production from a new, deep horizon in a wildcat between the Foster and North Cowden pools of Ector was seen today as Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company No. 3-A J. L. Johnson filled 1,000 feet with oil while fishing for bit. It is bottomed at 4,471 feet in hard gray lime, and oil was believed to have been encountered at total depth. The well had been carrying about a bailer and a half of water every four hours, originating from 4,185 feet, where a slight show of oil was also logged. At its present depth, the test is well below the producing strata of either the North Cowden or Foster pools. It lies about two miles due north of the Foster producers. Location is 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 37, block 43, township 1 south, T. & P. survey.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 2-B Paul Moss, one-half mile southwest of a small discovery pumper southwest of Ector's Harper pool, is drilling anyhrite at 3,160 feet.

In the Foster pool, Stanolind No. 12-B E. F. Cowden flowed 1,133.94 barrels a day, with gas-oil ratio of 1,460-1, after shooting with 510 quarts. It found top of pay at 3,993 and is bottomed at 4,159 in lime.

Cities Service No. 6-C Cummins, in the Goldsmith pool of northwest Ector, flowed 243.44 barrels the second six hours of a 12-hour test to rate daily potential of 974 barrels, with gas-oil ratio of 1,150-1. It flowed 238.46 barrels the first six hours of the test. Pay between 4,100 and 4,268, total depth, received a 380-quart nitro shot.

Tatum Wildcat Runs Normal.
One of the Permian Basin's most closely watched wildcats, Tide Water No. 1-L State, three miles east of the town of Tatum in northeastern Lea county, N. M., topped anyhrite at 2,213 feet, in addition of plus 1,768, which puts it about normal for the area. Drilling continued to 2,277 feet in anyhrite.

An east outpost in the Vacuum area of Lea, Phillips No. 7 Santa Fe is drilling at 3,755 feet in anyhrite. Phillips No. 8 Santa Fe is coring at 4,420 feet in lime, having started coring at that point. It had drilled soft from 4,345 to 4,420. Phillips No. 9 Santa Fe is drilling at 3,505 feet in anyhrite. Magnolia No. 1-L State is drilling below 3,486 in anyhrite and lime. Texas No. 2-D State, a mile west

Russo-Jap Tension Is Eased

Prospects Said Bright for Peace Between 2 Powers

By Associated Press.
Soviet reported border friction was diminishing today and a Japanese spokesman declared "prospects were bright" for a peaceful settlement of border disputes.

Japanese, nevertheless, reported heavy shelling by Russian artillery in the disputed Changkufeng area this morning.

The next move, observers feel, is up to Tokyo.

Russia informed Japan last night she could have peace on the Manchoukuoan border but could not dictate the terms.

In conditional acceptance of Japanese proposals for diplomatic settlement of the dispute, Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff told Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu that if Japanese soldiers got back where they belonged, Soviet military activity, in the disputed area would end automatically. (Tokyo dispatches said Japan suggested mutual withdrawal from the area.)

Litvinoff assured Tokyo's representative that the Soviet government always was willing to discuss peaceful settlement of frontier disputes, but any such discussion must be based on recognition of Soviet boundaries as established in existing treaties.

Japan's conquest of Manchuria, he emphasized, was no valid reason for altering the Russian-Manchoukuoan border.

The tone of Litvinoff's reply was regarded in foreign circles as an indication that Moscow not only was convinced of the legality of its claim to the disputed area, but confident of the ability of the red army to repel any attack on the far eastern frontier.

Once again, the next move in proposals for peaceful settlement of the intensified renewal of border warfare in the Changkufeng area at the junction of Russian, Siberian, Japanese Korea and Japanese-dominated Manchoukuo.

Search for Missing Clipper Abandoned

MANILA, Aug. 5. (P)—The United States Navy Thursday abandoned its search for the missing Hawaii clipper, which disappeared over the Pacific with 15 occupants one week ago.

All navy ships and planes participating in the hunt, which covered over 100,000 square miles of ocean and shoreline east of here, were ordered to return to their base in Manila Bay.

Naval authorities said they were halting the search only after exhausting every probability the flying boat was afloat or would be found.

Public Invited to Cattlemen Meeting Saturday Afternoon

The public today was invited to the meeting of the Cattlemen's Protective Association in the county court room at the court house tomorrow afternoon at 1:30.

R. E. Callendar, game management specialist of College Station, will address the meeting, pointing out how farmers and ranchmen can best increase the stock of game birds in this area.

Callendar is expected to talk upon a pretentious wildlife program that is to be taken in West Texas soon, the objectives of which are:

- 1. To bring to the people of Texas the importance and significance of wildlife.
- 2. To conduct campaigns in actual game management along sound biological lines commensurate with known facts.
- 3. To make a survey of wildlife conditions over the state which will lead to adoption and execution of practical educational methods and intensive research.
- 4. Improving of the habitat for game and educating the youth of West Texas to appreciate the value of wildlife.

Mass Meeting of Merchants Called Tuesday Morning

Contract for street decorations for the Midland Rodeo September 3-4-5 will be let and several other important matters will be discussed at a mass meeting of all retail merchants of the city in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, the meeting having been called by W. B. Simpson, chairman of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

Bids for the street decoration job will be submitted by four West Texas decorating concerns.

Chairman Simpson, urging all retailers to attend the session, said that the various matters to be discussed will be of vital interest to every business man of the city and that all should be present. Expecting a large attendance, the meeting will be held in the private dining room rather than in the chamber of commerce office.

Maytag Workers Return to Jobs As Guards Watch

NEWTON, Ia., Aug. 5. (P)—Maytag Washing Machine company officials last night said approximately 1,000 men had reported for work before quitting time as the roar of a 13-week-old strike.

A. H. Taylor, plant superintendent, said he expected an additional 200 workers to report today to increase the force to within 200 of the factory's capacity.

Both CIO unionists and back-to-workers streamed into the plant after noon yesterday, following a union decision to capitulate to the terms of Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel's order for resumption of operations under martial law. The union, however, roundly criticized the governor in a set of resolutions and promised to open negotiations with the company for a final settlement after the troops leave.

Workers left the factory quietly. The cord of national guardsmen was reduced considerably from the precautionary force which watched from riot formation the return of the men to the plant.

Fate of the 12 union members barred from the plant was one of the problems confronting the union. The company sent discharge notices to the men. The workers were charged with "unlawful activity and untoward and insubordinate conduct."

Bear Escapes Zoo, Shot Down by Cops After Terror Reign

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5. (P)—A ferocious grizzly bear that crashed a gate in the Highland park zoo, spreading terror in the adjoining residential district, was shot and killed in the park five hours later today.

Policemen armed with high powered rifles encircled the area and children were rounded up as frantic parents heard of the escape of the bear. Zoo officials warned the bear was "dangerous and ill tempered."

Thousands Greet Doug In New York

Hero's Welcome Is Given Flier After Trip from Ireland

NEW YORK, Aug. 5. (P)—Cool, brash Douglas Corrigan rode triumphantly up Broadway at noon today, grinning while thousands of persons endured the sweltering heat to cheer him.

Tons of torn paper and ticker tape fell. Officials estimated nearly 1,000,000 persons were in the shouting and jostling crowds that greeted Corrigan all along his route.

The parade started at the Battery with Corrigan in the first car and his brother in the second. Prominent city officials accompanied the flier.

At the city hall, Mayor LaGuardia extended freedom of the city to the flier and spoke pleasantly of the "prepared impulsiveness of your grand flight." He mentioned Eamon DeValera (Ireland premier) as another successful New York Irishman.

Corrigan replied briefly, but told the mayor, "You have your compass set in a certain direction, and can get there if you want to."

The crowd exploded with laughter.

Douglas Corrigan, the daring young man of the flying machine—the Atlantic from here to Ireland last month instead of proceeding properly to California—came home all agrin yesterday to a roaring welcome that was but a meet prelude of what is ahead.

He arrived conventionally by limo—a flip little, tough little flier with a manner that delighted not only the large fond hearts of fellow Irishmen, but the others, Germans, Jews, Italians and all the rest, who had waited hours on the pier to scream a few greetings ahead of the official reception today.

The halls of his welcoming reached the happy little aviator long before the S. S. Manhattan arrived at her pier. Far down the bay Brooklyn's Irish delegation turned up aboard the Yacht Celtic Circle, shouting halloes.

Another group went out on the river steamer State of Delaware, taking along a band of bagpipers to pipe Corrigan home.

After the liner passed Quarantine and started through the narrows a great fleet of nondescript vessels sent up a series of melancholy roars.

At the pier, when at last she pulled in, a massed crowd roared a welcome, with screams of "Hi Corrigan! Yay Corrigan!"

Corrigan looked down upon the parade of tugs that escorted the Manhattan. In apparent ecstasy he waved at the crowds. There was no change at all. Corrigan said of his flight, "far less than there is right here."

"The captain of the ship bringing me back said we should be going the way we were going; but I thought it should be the other way." The crowd roared.

Kidnaping Charge Dropped in Case of Negro's Detention

DALLAS, Aug. 5. (P)—Justice of the Peace Walter J. Stovall Thursday dismissed a charge of kidnaping filed against Larry W. Reed, 39, World War veteran, in connection with the alleged forceful detention of Mickey Ricketts, 24, negro.

Six other persons, including Dr. F. H. Newton and his wife, Dr. Cosette Faust Newton, educator and world traveler, also are charged with kidnaping in connection with the case.

Ricketts, formerly employed by the Newtons, was alleged to have been abducted July 22 and held a prisoner in the attic of the Newtons' Highland Park home until July 29. Previously, charges of theft against Ricketts in connection with the disappearance of a $5,000 Chinese jade ring were dismissed.

As One Irishman to Another—

It seems there were two Irishmen. One was named Joseph P. Kennedy. He's Ambassador to England, shown seated at right. The other was Douglas G. Corrigan, an aviation mechanic with a flair for flying. He flew non-stop from New York to Dublin under the mistaken impression he was flying to California, he says. Here the two sons of Gael are shown as they visited in the American embassy in London recently.

Two Men Arrested in Abilene After Store Here Is Burglarized

One man, Dave Walden, is being held in the county jail here and other, Raymond Adams, in the Martin county jail at Stanton as the result of an alleged robbery of the Figgly Wigly Shopping Village in West Midland early on the morning of August 3.

The Stanton nightwatchman was reported to have taken the license number of a car that stopped in front of the Stanton station and took several tires and when the information was relayed here Deputy Sheriff Fisher Pollard went to Abilene where, with the assistance of Abilene officers, he arrested the two men.

None of the loot, approximately $150 worth of cigarettes, reported from the store here has been recovered.

Incumbents Defeated In Tennessee

Senator Berry and Gov. Browning Are Ousted in Primary

By Associated Press.
As the democratic faction headed by National Committeeman E. H. Crump, Memphis political leader, won a smashing victory over the forces of Gov. Gordon Browning and junior Senator George L. Berry in Tennessee today, the nation faced the Kentucky primaries tomorrow.

Kentucky marks the half-way point in the 1938 primary elections. Late returns today showed the Crump nominee, Prentice Cooper, was increasing his substantial gubernatorial lead over Governor Browning, Tom Stewart, Crump nominee for senator, had defeated Berry.

The New Deal was not an issue. Joseph Byrns Jr., son of the late speaker of the house of representatives, won nomination for his father's seat.

In Jackson, Ken., murder warrants were issued today for two men for killing former Sheriff Lee Combs and wounding two others last night on the stairway of the county Senator Barkley headquarters. Lewis Combs and Sheriff Walter Deaton were wounded. The former was county chairman for Governor Chandler.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 5. (P)—A slowly tabulated city vote began late last night to swing Tennessee's democratic primary lead in favor of three candidates backed by the strong organization of National Committeeman E. H. Crump, Memphis political leader.

After a seesaw battle on the face of early rural returns, Prentice Cooper of Shelbyville moved out in front of Governor Gordon Browning, seeking renomination, and Tom Stewart, forged ahead of junior Senator George L. Berry and Rep. Ridley Mitchell in the race for the United States senate. Crump's candidate for the public utilities commission had a substantial lead.

The election was regarded as virtually without national significance from the new deal standpoint, as the campaign was fought largely on the personalities developing from a break between Crump and Browning. The governor had Crump's support two years ago but they split later.

Returns from 1,055 out of 2,271 precincts showed:

For utilities commissioner (981 precincts) W. D. Hudson, 45,412; W. H. Turner, incumbent, 29,885.

One election day fatality was reported, but officials said it had no connection with the balloting. Alton Richardson, 20, was cut fatally at Englewood during a street fight.

Fuss Settled - But It Costs

"Just a family fuss!" That was the way a couple of men "told it to the judge" this morning after they had been charged with fighting on a public highway. Together with a third man, all tourists, they were taken before the judge but the two that paid fines exonerated the third, saying he was attempting to be the referee and got somewhat "banged around a bit."

Two of the men were brothers and the other was a brother-in-law. It was one of the brothers and the brother-in-law that pleaded guilty to the fistfights. A small boy, about eight years old, was accompanying the men and was said to have told officers he was the "referee" but the two combatants disagreed that title to the other man.

Reports indicated the two battlers pulled a very entertaining bout for spectators that stopped on the road before they were stopped by officers and brought to town. En route west, the men said they had a misunderstanding and undertook to settle it the quickest way possible.

After the fines were paid, the men resumed their journey.

The Inside Dope.

Everybody can rest easier now and not have to worry about the Meaning and Basic Psychology of swing. Some university professors have just decided that swing is the special product of the depression psychology—a dodge to release "mental inhibitions following a buildup of emotional pressure generally due to frustration or fear."

Styles certainly change. Who can remember when the professors were attributing jazz, the father of swing, to a desire on the part of the folks of the prosperous '20s to return to the simple, savage life? And who can remember when nobody was attributing ragtime to anything but a fundamental love for rhythm?

But of course those were the days when people didn't know anything about anything.

Stay Awake.

Do you tire of the continual talk these days of the various "challenges to democracy," the "threats from within and without"? Don't let yourself.

Are the frequent admonitions to concern yourself personally with public affairs and keep your interest in government constantly alive beginning to leave you cold? Don't let them.

The democracy you enjoy will not survive without your personal concern. Your boredom or indifference is one of the gravest of those "threats from within." A dictatorship is a lazy man's government. A democracy is most decidedly not.

One of the best imaginable reasons for the maintenance of your interest in your government becomes clear with a little reflection on an observation made by an educator during a recent teachers' conference in New York. The constant danger in a democracy whose citizens are not alert, he said, is that the people will not know in whose hands the power lies and what is being done with that power.

If you lived under a dictatorship it would be crystal-clear where the power lay. Your obligation as a citizen of a democracy is to keep informed.

Law in the Sky.

Gradually the air becomes more and more populous, gradually more and more people spend more and more of their time up there, and gradually the expansion of the ordinary human activities to another plane is going to play hob more and more with the enforcement of this nation's laws.

At least, that's the prospect that takes shape after a little meditation on the recent sky-wedding of a California couple. They were married three miles up by a transport pilot, whom they claim had the same legal status as a "marrier" that a ship's captain has. But three Los Angeles judges stated that the land laws apply from "the center of the earth to the high heavens" and that therefore the ceremony was not legal.

It's certainly going to be interesting. Imagine the complications up high enough so that the people don't know, for instance, which state or country they're over. How could a man born that high prove in the courts he was born any place? Where would a man be tried for assault and battery if he punched a fellow passenger in a stationary balloon out of sight of the earth? How about the validity of a divorce that turned out to be over the ocean?

Gosh, it's nice not to be a judge.

The Town Quack

a crop of grass. Sprinklers were running lively late yesterday.

Mayor Ulmer is about ready to declare a holiday, closing up shop until every weed is cut. He wants to see Midland looking her best when the rodeo comes off. A prominent society, club and sportsman, who didn't want her name mentioned, asked us to stress the need of cleaning up the vacant property before rodeo time, pointing out that Midland should have its best clothes on the occasion.

About those oil men ropers. W. T. Doherty is going to be hard to beat in ordinary company. He roped a bush on at Clarence Scharbauer's South Curtis place the other day and completely uprooted the plant.

I would pay two-bits extra to see an old fashioned cowboy relay race as one of the afternoon attractions of the rodeo. Even just one day of it would be worth the money. And I think the cowboys ought to ride each horse the whole route around the three-quarter mile track. It's not every cowpony that can do it, but several ranchers are raising the kind that can.

Clarence Scharbauer won a relay race once. He was pretty well mounted and had just completed the third and last lap. A rider was coming in just ahead of him, and Clarence thought the judges were about to award the purse to the man in front. All out of breath and hardly able to stand, he rushed up to the judges stand and gasped: "He just went around twice."

Jess Miles' partner, W. Lee Dowlin of Windom, denies that he has just adopted the initial and first name. He says he has been named W. Lee all of his life.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5. — Now that regularly-scheduled mail flights across the Atlantic are imminent, and Douglas Corrigan's exploit has shown that even ill-equipped amateurs may be hopping off at any time with or without official sanction, does that convert the navy into just a big search-and-rescue organization supported by the taxpayers?

Phrased that way, such a question brings a snort, mingled with profane expletives, from the admirals. The question arose as all possible Pacific naval resources were brought to bear on the search for the missing Hawaii Clipper with 15 men aboard.

In the first place, says the navy, it's fundamental that all sea-going vessels help those in distress at sea. It never has occurred to navy men that this wasn't as applicable to aircraft as to surface ships.

In the second place, American commercial craft flying over the ocean are under the American flag, and it's part of naval policy to promote and preserve American commercial aviation in the same way the navy has tried to build up the American merchant marine.

Thirdly, the navy is on close, friendly terms with Pan-American Airways and will be with any other trans-oceanic aviation concern, because this type of aviation is considered a valuable auxiliary in case of war.

And if that isn't enough, one is told, the navy is engaged in searching for five naval reserve officers who were on the Hawaiian Clipper and are valuable naval personnel—as well as pursuing a humane and intelligently self-interested policy.

Sidewalk Cafe Makes Debut at University

BATON ROUGE, La. (U.P.) — Partly to bolster business, the Louisiana State University cafeteria has installed a sidewalk cafe which catches students on their way to off-the-campus eating places. Meals are served on tables sheltered from the sun by beach umbrellas.

OIL COST RUNS HIGH.

ROUGH estimates, officially made, are that the search for the Clipper has cost from $2500 to $3000 a day. The bulk of this sum is for oil burned by ships engaged in the search. The men on the ships are paid anyway. The ships themselves would be either active or inactive

In Europe the Motto Is 'Let the Government Do The Worrying' About Doctor and Hospital Bills

By MILTON BRONNER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON. — Sickness, with its attendant bogies of doctor bills, hospital bills, and loss of wages, has largely ceased to be the terror it once was in Europe.

The reason is the widespread adoption of health insurance plans designed to take care of the working man and his family in their hour of need.

It all began in Germany, where the great Iron Chancellor, Bismarck, killed two birds with one federal law by establishing health insurance. He not only thought it a good thing that the people be provided with adequate medical care, but at the same time made political capital of the measure by stealing one of the main planks of the German Social Democratic party.

Today more than 19,000,000 persons are covered by compulsory health insurance acts in Germany where, under Chancellor Hitler, the government medical program is one of the greatest props of the totalitarian state.

SPREAD OVER EUROPE. MANY other European nations have followed the German lead with some form of health insurance designed to provide medical care during periods of unemployment caused by sickness.

The plans in the various countries differ greatly in method, although not so much in general objectives. In Germany, the plan works like this: Both employes and employers pay into the funds, the rates of contribution varying according to basic wage. In case of sickness, each insured person and his family receives medical attention for a period not exceeding 26 weeks. If the illness is serious, hospital care is supplied, usually by state hospitals at somewhat less than cost of operation.

From the fourth day of illness and through 26 weeks thereafter, the workman gets a cash payment not more than half his basic wage. If treated in a hospital, he gets 25 per cent of his wage, since part of the hospitalization costs are met by the state. If the workman dies, his family receive a funeral benefit equal to 20 times his weekly wage.

RUSSIA GOES ALL THE WAY.

SOVIET Russia has the most nearly complete socialized medicine to be found today. The constitution itself provides: "Citizens of the U. S. S. R. have the right to maintenance in old age and also in case of sickness or loss of capacity to work." Health insurance (state provision of medical care) costs the Soviet citizen nothing. The state and private employes pay the cost. This requires contribution of from 3.8 to 10.7 per cent of the amount of the wages. Sickness benefits vary from full wages to two-thirds of the wages, according to length of time the worker has been employed.

In Norway most persons more than 15 years old whose annual income does not exceed 4500 kroner (about $1100) must carry sickness insurance. Contributions are designed to cover all illness expenses. Insured persons pay six-tenths, the employer and the commune (province) one-tenth each, the state

In most European countries, operating room scenes such as pictured above hold no economic terrors for insured workers. With the notable exception of Great Britain, all European nations which operate sickness insurance systems pay the cost of operations and confinement care in addition to general medical services. Most of the systems also provide general hospitalization, drugs, preventorium and sanatorium service, and cash benefits during time of illness.

two-tenths. Benefits range from 25 cents to $1 per day.

HOW IT WORKS IN OTHER COUNTRIES.

SWEDEN'S voluntary state-subsidized system provides funds for fixed districts. Payments by insured persons and the state subsidy cover all expenses. There is also provision for cash benefit payments. There are 1200 sickness funds with membership of more than 1,000,000 out of a total population of about 6,300,000.

In Denmark, 2,100,000 persons are insured out of a population of 3,700,000. Thus almost two out of every three persons subscribe to the funds.

The French system differs from that in most European countries in that medical service to insured persons is not entirely free. The sick person pays from 15 to 20 per cent of the fixed charges allowable to the doctor and 15 per cent of the charges for medicine.

In Italy, the Fascist Confederation of Industry and the Fascist Confederation of Industrial Workers handle the sickness insurance. Funds come from equal contributions by employes and employers—at a rate of 1 per cent of monthly salary.

Other countries in Europe which have compulsory health insurance include Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Greece, Latvia, Luxembourg, Portugal, the Netherlands, Bulgaria, Ireland, Estonia, Rumania, and Yugoslavia.

How Police Broke Up Chicago Strike With Tear Gas

This heavy barrage of tear gas proved too much for pickets who demonstrated around the strike-bound Chicago Hardware Foundry Company in North Chicago. The pickets, many of them women, are shown retreating, damp handkerchiefs pressed to their faces, as police and deputy sheriffs fired volley after volley of the gas. More than 500 demonstrators supporting a C. I. O. strike were driven from the plant, after which about 100 workers went back to their jobs.

barred have saved the navy many headaches. Just the same, if young Douglas Corrigan had fallen into the ocean instead of reaching Ireland, the navy would have done everything in its power to find him.

NAVY MEN ACT AUTOMATICALLY.

ADMIRAL HARRY E. YARNELL, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, acted automatically and without instructions when he ordered Rear Admiral George J. Meyers at Manila to take all possible steps to find the missing Clipper. His superiors in Washington knew exactly what he would do under the circumstances. If such a mishap had occurred in the Atlantic, Admiral Leahy, chief of operations, would similarly have instructed commanding officers at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, or Norfolk to throw in all their facilities.

A search such as that for the Clipper proceeds as long as there is any reasonable hope for rescue, and perhaps longer. At a very early period in the Earhart search, naval officers concluded there was no hope for the gallant Amelia. But the search continued for many days thereafter.

Bootblack Capitalizes On Joe Louis' Victory

COVINGTON, Ky. (U.P.) — The recession is over for Chester Cotton, a bootblack in a Covington barber shop. Cotton is now receiving 40 cents a shine from a select list of customers. For the month preceding the Joe Louis - Max Schmeling heavyweight fight, Cotton "touted" Louis to his patrons. All gave him a good "ribbing" over his choice and finally he decided to back his selection with a business proposition. To every customer Cotton said: "If Louis loses I'll give you five shaves free. If he wins you pay me 40 cents each for five shaves." Numerous patrons took the bootblack up and now he's capitalizing.

On A Hot Day Try Cookies and Milk For Variety in Summer Desserts

A stone crock full of drop cookies, a full pitcher of cold milk and an orchard to sit in—that's a pleasant summer thought.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer.

A good cookie always gets around. Bertha M. Burdick, who lives on Big Moose lake in New York, makes a delight of a brown sugar drop cookie. She gave me the recipe recently. You will like it, too.

Bertha Burdick's Brown Sugar Cookies

One and one-half cups brown sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, pinch salt, 3 1/2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 cup top milk, 1 cup chopped raisins.

Cream sugar and butter. If sugar is lumpy, roll it first. Add eggs to sugar and butter and beat well. Add vanilla and salt, then alternate with milk and flour, baking powder and soda sifted together, and raisins. Stir batter well. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie pan. Flatten out thin and sprinkle with chopped nut meats. Bake in moderately hot oven 375 degrees F. about 12 minutes.

A California friend who summers on Lake Tahoe argues that her mountain cookies are even better than Mrs. Burdick's specialties. You be the judge.

Lake Tahoe Cookies

Two cups seedless raisins, 1 cup butter, 2 cups granulated sugar, 1/2 cup peanut butter, 3 eggs, 1/4 cup milk, 1 cup sifted

TOMORROW'S MENU.

BREAKFAST: Stewed cherries, broiled kidneys and bacon, corn bread, jam, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Chilled pineapple juice, curry of chicken, rise, pilaf, chutney, Bombay duck, chopped green pepper, salted nuts, fresh fruit water ice, lemon sponge cake, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Clear tomato bouillon, cold cuts, mixed vegetable salad, hot biscuits, brown sugar cookies, Lake Tahoe cookies, peaches and cream, tea.

all-purpose flour, 3/4 teaspoons salt, 3/4 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons vanilla extract, 3 1/2 cups quick cooking oats.

Pour boiling water over raisins and let stand 5 minutes. Drain and dry on towel. Cream butter and sugar and cream thoroughly. Add peanut butter and beat. Add beaten eggs and mix. Add milk, and flour sifted with salt, soda and spice, and raisins and stir to blend. Drop by small spoonfuls, about 2 inches apart, on ungreased cookie sheet, but do not flatten. Bake in moderate oven 375 degrees F. 15 to 18 minutes.

Ex-Slave, 110, Sets 20 Years More as Span

HOUSTON, Tex. (U.P.)—Uncle Eli Watts, Negro ex-slave, is 110 years old and says he's "liable to live another 20 years." He has survived five wives.

Uncle Eli loafs most of the time, walks a mile a day for exercise and does some fishing near his home at Fulshear, Tex., where he lives with his 59-year-old daughter. "Ah used to work all night by de moonlight," the old Negro said. "Den ah'd work a thousand head uh cattle all day."

Eli was born in Nashville, Tenn., on the Bill Raynor plantation. After slavery was abolished, he worked for the Allen family until the last member died here 10 years ago.

Sam Watts, Eli's father, was a carpenter who helped build the first homes here for Gen. Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin, pioneer Texas heroes.

Eli came here to visit his 60-year-old son, Elijah. His hearing is bad and his health is fragile.

Deer Become Too Tame.

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont. (U.P.)—Deer living in the brush near here are demoralizing hunters. They have become so tame and friendly that the more tender-hearted hunters declare they won't have the heart to shoot them when the hunting season opens.

Swinging a Pen Is Much Easier, Too

His defeat by Jim Braddock and annihilation by Joe Louis hasn't entirely dimmed the luster of Max Baer. Fencing Classes Meet Under "Dueling Oaks"

NEW ORLEANS, (U.P.)—Under the gnarled "Dueling Oaks" where hot-blooded young Creoles once speared each other with rapiers for insults and similar offenses, dueling of a minor sort still goes on.

High school boys and girls feint and lunge at each other almost daily with weapons made comparatively harmless with rubber buttons on their points.

They don't take their fencing so seriously these days, however. When a rain comes up, classes are called off.

This Was Crack Navy Plane

This tangled mass of wreckage is what remained of a sleek navy torpedo plane after it went out of control over San Diego Bay, burned and then sank in the bay. Tugs are pictured salvaging the wreck of the plane, in which two navy flyers were killed when their parachutes snarled in the fuselage. Capt. J. A. Porter, pilot, stayed with the ship until it was only 150 feet from the water, then leaped to safety.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES.

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 7.

The Golden Text is: "The fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth" (Ephesians 5:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. . . . The Scriptures also declare that God is Spirit. . . . He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit of Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual" (page 331).

Veteran Votes for Thirty-Fourth Time

SAN ANGELO (U.P.)—West Texas pioneers are still voting, it was learned at the polls in the recent democratic primary when several old-timers marked their ballots for 34 or more times.

W. E. Benton, Schleicher county resident, cast his 37th vote for a governor of Texas, beginning in 1886 when he voted for J. W. Throckmorton. Benton is Schleicher county's only Civil war veteran. He was born in Georgia in 1845 and moved to Texas in 1854.

G. A. Neill, also of Schleicher county, cast his 34th vote for governor. He is a native Texian, born at Sequin in 1850. For four years he was in politics himself, serving as county treasurer.

Dove Hunting Regulations Not to Confuse Hunters as in 1937; Season Opens Sept. 15

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. — Dove hunters of Texas will not be subjected to a series of conflicting regulations such as confused them last year, the Game Department announced.

Combined state and federal laws governing both mourning and white-winged doves provide the following opening seasons:

From Sept. 1 to Oct. 31 in the counties of Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Young, Jack, Wise, Denton, Collin, and Hunt, and all counties north thereof, and the counties of Parker, Tarrant, Dallas, Rockwall, Kaufman, Johnson, Hopkins, Delta, and Franklin.

In the remainder of the state the open season on both species is from Sept. 15 to Nov. 15. Below the Texas-Mexican Railway in the Rio Grande Valley, however, only four days of shooting each week during the open season will be allowed—on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays—but this exception is not applicable to Webb and Zapata counties.

The hours of shooting mourning and white-winged doves during the open seasons are from 7 a. m. to sunset.

Neither species may be shot with a weapon other than a shotgun, and it shall not be larger than No. 10 gauge. If it is a repeating or automatic shotgun it must be permanently plugged to a three-shell capacity.

The daily bag limit is 15 in the aggregate of both mourning doves and white wings. The possession limit also is 15 in the aggregate of both species.

Baiting of doves of either species is prohibited by federal regulations. Under new federal migratory waterfowl regulations announced recently Texas duck hunters will have a 45-day open season this year compared to a 30-day open season in 1937, and in addition may shoot a limited number of species hitherto protected.

The open season on ducks and geese, Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe, and coot, is from Nov. 15 to Dec. 29.

The open season on rails and gallinules, except coot, is from Sept. 1 to Nov. 30.

Not only has the open season on ducks and geese been lengthened, but the possession limits have been doubled.

The bag limit on ducks, except the wood duck, is 10 in the aggregate of all kinds, the same as last season, but the possession limit has been doubled to 20 in the aggregate.

This season hunters may take 3 canvasbacks, redheads, buffleheads or ruddy ducks in their daily bag, or an aggregate of three birds of the different species. The possession limit for these ducks is six of any single species, or six in the aggregate.

The daily bag limit on geese and brant is five in the aggregate of all kinds, and the possession limit has been increased to 10 in the aggregate.

The daily bag limit on rails and gallinules, except sora and coot, is continued at 15 in the aggregate of all kinds. The possession limit is the same.

Bag limits for some of the other migratory game birds are: Gorge, 15; coot, 25; Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe, 15. In each case the possession limit may not exceed the daily bag limit.

A new federal regulation added this year forbids the rallying of coot for hunting.

As was the case last year, waterfowl and coot may be hunted in season from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Not more than two days' bag limit of lawfully taken and lawfully possessed ducks and geese may be transported in one calendar week. Transportation last season was limited to one day's bag.

Chief restrictions in this year's federal regulations that have been continued from last year are:

Baiting of waterfowl and doves and the use of live duck and goose decoys in hunting waterfowl are not authorized regardless of the distance.

Notice is hereby given that A. E. Horst and S. M. Warren heretofore doing business as a partnership under the name of West Texas Office Supply has been dissolved.

A. E. Horst has acquired the entire interest of S. M. Warren in said business, and will continue to operate the business under the name and style of West Texas Office Supply, he being the sole owner thereof.

The said A. E. Horst has assumed all obligations as of August 1, 1938, of the West Texas Office Supply Company.

EXECUTED this first day of August, 1938.

Dam at Denison Is Apparently Assured

SHERMAN, (P). — $54,000,000 hydro - electric and flood control project on Red River northwest of Denison appears to be assured after the last Congress placed its stamp of authorization upon the undertaking. Twelve years ago it was merely the dream of a few men.

Skepticism met the launching of the idea by George D. Moulton of Denison a decade ago. One of his early supporters was the late Dr. Alex. W. Acheson of Denison, who also laid emphasis on possible navigation of Red River.

The vision of the vast project gained headway slowly. Then in '29 the Red River Flood Control and Navigation Association was formed and Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls was named president. Denison, Sherman, and Durant, Okla., carried on active organization work.

In the same year O. N. Floyd and J. L. Lochridge, civil engineers, came to the support of the association after an investigation for private firms. Their conviction the project was feasible gave heart to the promoters.

At a district meeting of the East Texas chamber of commerce at Denison in September, 1930, a delegation from Shreveport, La., pledged support, by reason of contemplated flood control benefits to the Lower River Valley.

Mr. Floyd, Mr. Moulton and others went to Washington in April, 1933, to present the engineering viewpoint to Congressman Sam Rayburn and Senator Morris Sheppard.

Other trips were made by delegations from this area and in 1936 Congressman Rayburn obtained an appropriation of $500,000 for army engineers to make a preliminary survey.

Capt. Lester F. Rhodes of Little Rock, Ark., headed a corps of army engineers and civilian assistants that worked that year and the next making maps and borings, and gathering data on the work involved and its approximate cost.

Exhaustive information was compiled into reports which were presented to the army chief of engineers for study and recommendation to Congressional committees.

Last Spring the House Flood Control committee reported out favorably a bill, in connection with a $375,000,000 omnibus flood control measure, authorizing construction of the dam, but provided no funds toward its beginning. The Senate amended it to eliminate requirements for local contribution to the project and the House approved the bill in that form.

President Roosevelt affixed his signature after Congress adjourned. A new day in which towns within a radius of 100 miles of Denison will have low-cost power expected to be generated from the vast storage of water created by the dam, is seen by Mr. Rayburn he prophesies increased employment during the period of construction and in new industries expected to locate in the region.

Rural electrification should take excess population from towns and cities to the country, where happier lives and better conditions obtain, Mr. Rayburn believes.

Fiction in Name For California

WASHINGTON (UP). — California is literally translated "hot oven," but natives sons may take comfort in the Smithsonian institution reports that it was so named by a man who had never even been there.

A bare 18 years after the first voyage of Columbus, the Smithsonian reports, a Spanish scribbler, Montalvo by name, seized upon the new world as an ideal background for a new yarn.

His tale, "The Exploits of Esplandian," published at Madrid in 1510, gave a lurid account of a race of Amazons, rulers of "California," an earthly hades lying "at the right hand of the Indies, and very close to that part of the terrestrial paradise."

Spanish conquistadors seem to have read the novel avidly. When they discovered Lower or Mexican California, that barren waste "at the right hand of the Indies," as explorers believed, they gave it the name of the novelist's "hell on earth." As exploration proceeded, the fertile land to the north received the same title.

By that time, the true meaning of the word had been forgotten. According to Dr. John P. Harrington of the Smithsonian, the learned Montalvo concocted the romantic amazon nation from two Latin words—"callidus fornax" or "hot oven." The "ia" is the common Latin and Greek feminine ending so often used for names of countries or regions.

Where 'Heaven' Comes to Roosevelt

Marking the Hudson waterfront directly across the river from President Roosevelt's Krum Elbow estate, this boathouse is already being renovated by followers of Father Divine who have bought most of the 1000-acre estate of Howland Spencer to establish a "heaven" in the form of a farm community. Spencer, who also called his estate Krum Elbow, referred to Father Divine's economics as "more sound than Roosevelt's" as the followers of the Negro cult leader paid off his mortgages and took over as "next-door neighbors" of the President.

"ALGIERS"

A Photo-serial in six chapters based on the WALTER WANGER screenplay starring CHARLES BOYER and released thru UNITED ARTISTS

CHAPTER 3

Gaby's party, guided by Inspector Slimane, is joined by Pepe le Moko in one of the Algerian cafes of the Casbah. While they are drinking native liquors and listening to weird music, Pepe's eyes are riveted to the gorgeous Gaby. Slimane smiles knowingly and encourages the love affair, determined to use the woman in trapping the debonaire jewel thief and making him pay the penalty for his crimes. Pepe takes

Gaby away from the crowd to a terrace overlooking the crooked streets and queer buildings of the Casbah. The romance of this strange quarter, the breathless stillness of the night, make them suddenly aware of their love for each other. Pepe makes ardent love to Gaby, and she promises to return on the following day. Meanwhile Ines has discovered that Pepe is in love with this newcomer, and out of spite and desperation taunts him with the fact that he is a prisoner in the Casbah, free only so long as he remains behind its fortress walls, a captive as soon as he steps into the town outside. In addition, Slimane, in the hope that Pepe will dare the outer city to see Gaby, whom he now loves madly, craftily informs him that Gaby will never return in spite of her promise—the barbaric customs and the strange peoples of the Casbah have impressed Gaby and her friends unfavorably.

Pepe's despondency reaches fever pitch when he hears that he will never see Gaby again. Determined to seek her out even at the risk of his life, he runs wildly from his house through the winding, cobble streets of the Casbah, followed by Ines who is determined to save him in spite of himself...

Red Devils Defeat All-Stars Here 12-4

The Midland All-Star softball club is now convinced why the Big Spring Anderson Red Devils went to the finals of the junior softball national tournament last year. What they can't understand is how come the kids didn't win the tourney.

The two clubs met here last night and when it was all over the All-Stars had four runs and their younger rivals had an even dozen. The local club was outpitched, out-hit, outscored and outthrustled, but not outplayed.

Wright, on the mound for the All-Stars, was as wild as mountain scenery, giving up nine bases on balls during the seven innings played. He was "in the hole" on nearly every hitter and when he eased up the batter was always "dug in."

The Devils got three runs in the first inning on one hit and three runs. For the next four innings they were kept away from home base but in the sixth they broke loose for a total of seven runs on three hits, two walks and two errors. The final two runs for the visitors came in the seventh on a walk, error and two singles.

The All-Stars managed to pick up a couple of runs in the third on walks to Burris and Whitmore and singles by Manning and Linne, and got the remaining two on a walk and one hit in the seventh. Utility Fielder Miller of the visitors was the leading hitter of the night with two singles and a home run in three times at the plate. A Bostick, one of the three Bostick boys of the Devil club, also got three hits, none for extra bases.

Inside Play Passes from Baseball

Second of a five-part series, "Changing Baseball."

BY Harry Grayson, Sports Editor, NEA Service.

Much baseball strategy passed with the inside technique that disappeared with the event of the lively ball.

Connie Mack laughs in relating what happened the first time Eddie Collins and Jack Barry of the old Athletics attempted to check Donnie Bush and Ty Cobb with one of the cleverest defense plays ever designed.

Bush led off for Detroit, reached first frequently. The shortstop was fast, and with Cobb batting third, a run always was imminent when Bush got on base.

So Collins and Barry evolved this plan. When Cobb broke for second, Collins was to run in behind the pitcher in a direct line between second base and the catcher.

If Bush, on third, started home when the catcher threw, Collins would take the ball and from that short distance throw him out at the plate. However, if Bush remained on third, Collins would duck, and let the ball through to second where Barry would receive it and tag Cobb sliding into second.

Sure enough, Bush reached first and Cobb drove him to third with a hit. Collins and Barry knew what to expect and were not disappointed. On the first pitch, Cobb broke for second, Collins ran over to his new position, but the crafty Bush, noting that strange maneuver, did not move from third, and Collins, as per agreement, ducked and let the ball go through.

However, Barry had also been watching Bush instead of Collins, and the ball hit him full in the stomach, knocking him off the bag and nearly out. Whereupon, Bush sprinted across the plate.

PLAYERS OF DEAD BALL ERA WERE MORE RESOURCEFUL.

The jackrabbit pill has removed competition from the game. Baseball engagements are endurance contests more often than not. The players of yesteryear were more inventive and resourceful.

Lena Blackburn, the former infielder, now coaching the Athletics, doesn't attribute it all to the hopped-up sphere, either.

"Base-runners today are too busy fanning with umpires to catch signs, if any," he says.

"Certainly, the percentage now is in batting runners around, but Cobb would run mightily well today, too. Why he'd never stop running on some pitchers, young Bob Feller for example. Base-runners today do not study the mannerisms of pitchers. They don't know how and aren't interested in getting a lead.

Cobb and the old boys believed that the base-line belong to the base-runner. Any infielder who blocked them, did so at his own peril.

Blackburn asserts that he hasn't seen spikes sharpened in 20 years. Joe Medwick and Pepper Martin of the Cardinals are two of the few good, old-fashioned players of today who are not afraid to slide, show their spikes, and are difficult to tag.

CUSTOMERS GET ACTION INSTEAD OF SCIENCE.

The exciting squeeze play... with the runner on third going to the pitch and the batter hitting disappeared with the coming of the lively pellet.

They hit and run today, but haphazardly. This properly requires too much practice and skill. The batter must guess which player is going to cover second...

...the shortstop or second baseman... and drive the ball through the gap. It is the most difficult play in baseball to execute.

Cut-off plays are gone. The ball is hit so far that it doesn't pay a club to waste time perfecting them.

Shortstops like Bush, Ray, Chapman, and Swede Risberg used to go far back and to their right on the grass to get their meat hands on hoppers hit past the third baseman, and throw the runner out at first. Shortstops such as Leo Durocher could do this today where the ball no so lively. A shortstop had to have a good arm when the ball was made in such a way that he could field it.

Shortstops and other infielders before the jackrabbit sphere handled many more chances than those of today.

Big Ed Walsh is right. Infield play has been greatly minimized.

Next: Pitching then and now.

Joe Medwick is a smiling young man, but the St. Louis Cardinal 1937 National League leader in just about everything is one of the few modern players who hits the dirt in the good, old-fashioned way, flashes his spikes, and is tough to tag.

The customers get action instead of science.

Many prefer it, but the dyed-in-the-wool fan would like to see the game given back to the ball player.

Priest Departs On Naturalist Trip to Arctic

WASHINGTON (UP).—Arctic missionary as well as scientist, the Canadian priest, Pere Arthem Dutilly, has just sailed from Montreal in the small motor boat M. F. Therese on a naturalist's voyage commissioned by the Lateran museum at Vatican City.

Pere Dutilly, a research assistant at the Catholic university here, will join the Rev. Maximilian Duman, botanist of St. Vincent's archabbey, Latrobe, Pa., at Fort Churchill, remote trading post on Hudson bay.

From Fort Churchill the two scientists will proceed northwestward, and while carrying out their missionary labors among the Eskimos will collect samples of plants, soils, insects, weapons and tools of earlier civilizations for the papal museum. Their collections will be studied and classified by Pere Dutilly at the university laboratories here.

Shy Baltimore Oriole Becomes Girl's Pet

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP).—Doris Bower has an unusual pet—a Baltimore oriole fledgling, ordinarily one of the shyest birds. Born to the ground during a storm, the bird was taken home by the girl, who named it Lucky.

Now Lucky is free to fly every day, but always returns to the Bower home between 6 and 7 each night to be put to bed in its cage.

SCOTT BESTS NELSON IN HURLING DUEL AS BOOSTERS DEFEAT CARDINALS, 3-2

HOBBS, Aug. 5 (Special).—Two of the best pitchers in the West Texas-New Mexico League, Left-hander Marshall Scott of Hobbs and Right-hander Frank Nelson of Midland, tied up in a hurler's duel here last night and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, Scott was the winner of a 3-2 decision.

Scott fanned 10, walked seven and hit one while Nelson was striking out eight, walking four and hitting two.

The winning run on First Baseman Hargrove's line single to right. Witness caused Scott to get into several jams, but he bore down in the pinches, leaving 10 Cardinal runners stranded.
