

Is Home Again

2 Murderers Sent To Their Deaths In Electric Chair

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 19 (AP)—A man who killed his wife at El Paso with a soda water bottle and another who killed a San Antonio bus driver in a hold-up were executed in the electric chair at the state penitentiary here shortly after midnight.

First to die was Collin H. Morgan of El Paso. He was strapped into the chair at 12:03 a. m. and pronounced dead at 12:10 a. m. Next was Jesse Polanco, who sang a little song "to the sweetest girl in San Antonio" just before he died. He went to the chair at 12:13 a. m. and was dead in a few minutes.

A thirty-day reprieve, granted today by Governor James V. Allred prevented the scheduled execution of a third-convicted slayer, Carlos Fernandez of Bexar county. Fernandez was convicted of slaying John Stove, a policeman, in a San Antonio bar.

Allred's action came after the state board of pardons and paroles at Austin decided against clemency for any of the three.

The state contended that Morgan and his wife had considerable trouble, that Morgan found a letter intimating she wanted to leave him, and that on the night of June 20, as they played cards alone in the house, Morgan grabbed his wife, choked her until she was unconscious, struck her on the head with a soda water bottle and wrapped a lamp cord around her neck. Morgan's defense was insanity.

Congressman Says Additional Taxes Will Not Be Needed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP). — Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee, said today improving business conditions indicate congress can reduce government expenditures next year and still meet relief demands.

He predicted there would be no need to enact new taxes unless the upward trend of industry is reversed.

He agreed with chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee, that the existing "nuisance" taxes, ordinarily expiring next year, must be continued. They annually bring in about $500,000,000.

He said he was unprepared to commit himself on a proposal for lower income tax exemptions and increase levies in the middle brackets.

Doughton and Harrison will begin informal meetings with treasury officials soon in preparation for drafting the new tax bill.

New Yorker Strikes Back At President

Says Roosevelt Is Attempting to Make Himself Dictator

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP). — Representative John J. O'Connor (D-NY), asserting that "the president's attack on me and other members of congress is an escalator to a dictatorship," asked the nation to back him last night in his fight on Roosevelt administration.

"Let's have it out," he said in an address prepared for delivery over a radio network (CBS).

"If the people of the United States desire to extend an invitation to a dictatorship, we should know about it just as speedily as possible.

"If the 'purge' is going to work in America, the sooner we know it, the better. I for one, have no hesitation in snatching up the gage which the president has thrown down."

O'Connor, placed by the president on the administration's "purge" list, said the issue "which shall it be—democracy or monarchy."

He said the president had read at his press conference a New York newspaper editorial containing "a brief, but viciously untrue reference to me" and had added, "you can interpret that as coming from me."

"Nearly every man in public life x x x has been insulted by that newspaper. But it is quite different," said O'Connor, "to be insulted by the president of the United States. One naturally feels it very keenly and naturally is at a disadvantage to reply in kind. x x x."

"I would be delighted, however, in my duty as a representative elected by the people and as an American citizen, if I did not express myself as to what I believe to be the issue now definitely raised in this country."

"Will the 'purge' work in America?"

The veteran representative of Manhattan's 16th congressional district said his opposition to the president's reorganization bill was "the one unresolvable 'sin' which has placed me high on the 'purge' list."

O'Connor said "the repetitious disavowal of any desire to become a dictator cannot be taken at full faith when actions evidence the contrary."

Prison Guard Freed After Bond Is Made

CROCKETT, Aug. 19 (AP). — Dog Sergeant Bob Parker of Eastham prison farm, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of a fugitive convict, was released from jail here Thursday on $10,000 bond.

Houston County Attorney Leon Lusk said Parker was released to await action of the Houston county grand jury, now in session here.

The dog sergeant was charged in connection with the death of John Hendrix Frazier of Dallas, one of eight convicts who escaped Eastham farm Monday after stabbing Guard Fred. Sheriff Arch Maples, who said he saw the shooting of Frazier filed the charge in Justice D. D. Long's court yesterday.

Maples said the grand jury was investigating the slaying and that he had testified before the body in connection with the case.

Another convict, Raymond Wilkerson of Fort Worth, was killed yesterday with Frazier. Two other fugitives from the farm already had been slain by posse's bullets; two had been found drowned, and one recaptured. An eighth, Roy King remained at large.

Insurgents Prepare To Open Up General Offensive on Reds

HENDAYE, France Aug. 19 (AP). — Insurgents closed the French frontier and loosed a heavy air raid on Barcelona today in preparation of a general offensive. Insurgent leaders confirmed reports Generalissimo Franco himself would lead the new drive, expected to be against Catalonia and possibly coupled with a simultaneous drive on Madrid.

The goal apparently is to end the war before it reaches its third winter.

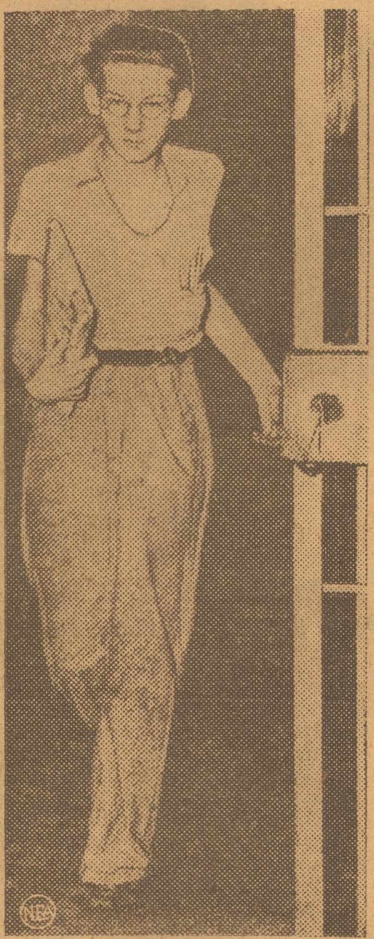

Large numbers of Italian troops and quantities of war material were reportedly sent to Franco.

Twenty were reported killed in the Barcelona raid, termed the worst in months.

OXFORD GROUP IN PAUPA. SYDNEY, (U.P.). — The Oxford Group movement is making rapid progress amongst the headhunter tribes of the Papuan jungle, according to Geoffrey Basket of the Kwata mission there. He says that 300 head hunters have been won over in the past 16 months. Sorcerers, he says, are apologizing to the relatives of those they put to death.

DOING WELL. Billy Pine, under treatment in a Midland hospital for a rattlesnake bite, is reported doing well today.

Trent was convicted of the brutal murder of 6-year-old Shirley Ann Woodburn near her Cincinnati home last May 30.

Negro Witness in Hines Case Alters Testimony, Jailed

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP). — A hulking, red-haired negro, once an election captain for Tammany District Leader Jimmy Hines, was re-committed to jail as a material witness in the "policy" racket trial of the democratic boss Thursday after he repudiated a sworn statement linking Hines to a member of the Dutch Schultz policy syndicate.

Jailing of the witness Julius (Red) Williams, 46, followed a day of testimony in which evidence was offered that the late magistrate Francis J. Erwin, named by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey as having been "influenced" by the Schultz combine, dismissed 42 prisoners taken in a policy raid.

Pleading he was threatened with imprisonment by a Dewey assistant, Williams denied he actually had made a statement in which he was quoted as saying Hines sent him to Harlem policy racket headquarters in 1932 to obtain employment from George Weinberg, Schultz henchman who has pleaded guilty to the racket indictment.

The witness declared that Sol Gelb, a Dewey assistant, dictated the statement. Williams added he did not know what was in the statement because, he said, he could not read and was ashamed to admit illiteracy.

He denied he had known Hines before 1936, as the statement said, or that he had worked for Weinberg.

District Attorney Dewey confronted the negro with grand jury minutes in which he was quoted as saying substantially the same thing as in the signed statement.

Three former Harlem policy operators preceded Williams to the stand. Camille Monsanto, 48, a British West Indies negro, told of a hearing six years ago in Edwin's court when the magistrate dismissed 42 defendants because it could not be shown they "exercised any ownership or control" over policy slips seized in a raid.

Mines Bureau Sets Oil Allowable Up

AUSTIN, Aug. 19 (AP). — The railroad commission today received the federal bureau of mines' recommendation that Texas oil production next month be 1,398,600 barrels daily, an increase of more than 20,000 barrels daily.

It was indicated statewide Sunday production shutdowns would be continued indefinitely.

LEAVES FOR STEPHENVILLE. Mrs. Keith Ham, in a Midland hospital following an appendectomy last week, received word that her father at Stephenville is critically ill. Japanese to Increase China Army

Negotiations on Border Dispute Reach Stalemate

TOKYO, Aug. 19 (AP). — The Japanese government prepared today to secure an estimated 1,000,000 more men for fighting forces as negotiations with soviet for a settlement of the border dispute reached a new stalemate.

A war office order instructed all males to a recruit division, and men between 20 and 34 without training to "stand by."

Military experts believe Japan is planning to throw huge numbers of reinforcements into China in an effort to end that war as soon as possible.

The foreign office announced conferences at Moscow and Tokyo had failed to reach an agreement on the selection of a joint commission to fix a Manchurian frontier. They said Japanese had withdrawn in the disputed area but that soviet were violating a truce.

President Denies Any Extension of Doctrine Intended

By Associated Press. President Roosevelt indicated today no extension of the Monroe Doctrine was involved in his Kingston address yesterday as he arrived rested and happy at Hyde Park today for an indefinite stay.

He called attention to the fact nothing was said about Latin America at Kingston and Latin American reporters to read the original language of the doctrine.

In Berlin, a foreign office spokesman expressed the opinion Roosevelt's speech was a campaign of "thunder." German comment is unnecessary since such speeches are intended primarily for home consumption," he said.

Minister Sentenced To Life in Prison For Slaying Girl

MANDAN, N. D., Aug. 19 (AP). — A special midnight court session to avoid trouble aroused the populace here today in a climax to one of the state's strangest murder cases.

Explaining impassively "the devil overcame me," Reverend Heio Jansen, 51, Lutheran pastor of Krem, admitted he poisoned Alma Kruckenberg, 16, his housemaid, because she was pregnant following a statutory rape by a young man.

He was rushed to state prison today after being sentenced to life imprisonment.

Did You Know--

—that "Beero" Beers was chosen all-star catcher from the 300 attending Ray Doan's baseball school held in Ft. Springs, Arkansas? This was just before coming to Midland. "Beero's" home is Albuquerque, N. M., where, during the fall and winter months he attends the New Mexico Junior college. He is an only child and his father is in business in their home town. This player for the Midland Cardinals has played almost any position so is known, in baseball terms, as a "utility man."

He was one of the original six retained by Withers when he bought the 1937 Hobbs team. In listing the other five original players they will be known as "one of the originals."

In the few remaining games of last year, after Withers became owner of the Hobbs team, Beers was trained as a pitcher but he preferred catching. Because of this, he attended Ray Doan's baseball school. After conferring with the Cardinals' scouts, who have just recently been here, Withers has decided to change Beers back to pitching.

"Beero" is six feet tall and weighs approximately 160 pounds. He has been picked as one of the boys on the team "most likely to succeed."

He loves dancing—and is held up as the best "trucker" in the league!

Well, just what does the business of baseball mean to this young man? Wonder if it is an important enough business to be listed or detailed in a reference book. Here's the World Book Encyclopedia right handy and as it is recommended by the American Library association as holding reliable information you just take a look. Here's "A to Beagle" so if my alphabet is right "Baseball" will be in here.

At first I thought I was going to have grounds to register a complaint with the World Book company (if the publishers go under that name) because I was coming to the end of the book and this is not come to the B-A-S-E-B—BASEBALL, Let's see: (quoting) "Baseball, the national game—; topic: "Baseball as a Science"—so perfect is the defense of the players in the field, that their opponents know that the difference between a successful and unsuccessful attempt at scoring is a matter not of seconds, but of a fraction of a second. The knowledge of strategy and of psychology which both sides employ might be the envy of some generals." (Did You Know) Page 818

Two More Chapters in Torso Murder Story

Beneath a heap of rubbish in a dump near the shores of Lake Erie at Cleveland detectives are shown examining the remains of one of the two latest victims of the city's torso terror killer. Finding of the decomposed bodies of two persons, both apparently women, wrapped in brown paper and fragments of cloth, speeded the search for the maniac who has slain and dismembered 12 victims in the last three years. Detective Peter Merylo is pictured pulling out a stained pillow slip in which a section of one of the bodies was covered.

Ankle In Splints Is No Handicap To Woman Golfer

A little thing like an injured ankle set in splints does not keep Mrs. J. L. Rush from "carrying on" in the golf tournament. Despite insistence by friends that she not play, Mrs. Rush was one of the contestants in the women's golf tournament held at Ruidoso, N. M., recently and, defying the physical handicap, played so well that she won the first prize against opponents from El Paso and Lubbock.

The tournament was one of the high spots in a vacation spent by Mrs. Rush and Mrs. C. A. Jones at Ruidoso. The two went first to Cloudford but spent only a day there, preferring the Ruidoso resort.

They were entertained at steak fries and dances and met a number of interesting people, Mrs. Rush reported. Among them were Peter Heard, the artist who painted the murals in the Big Spring post office building, and his wife, an artist and photographer in her own right.

LCRA Manager Says Dam System Cashed Power Rate Slashes

AUSTIN, Aug. 19 (AP). — Construction of the Lower Colorado River authority's system of flood-control-power production dams has resulted in rate reductions of ten and 15 per cent by private power companies, Clarence McDonough, LCRA manager, informed the state senate investigation committee today.

"The reductions have meant a saving to consumers of some $3,500,000 annually," he said.

He continued to defend the authority against charges operation of Buchanan dam waters contributed to the recent disaster floods.

Ask Explanation of Arrest of British Passport Officer

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP). — Great Britain today informed Germany it was taking a "serious view" of the unexplained arrest Wednesday of Captain Thomas Kendrick, British Vienna passport officer, on the German-Swiss border. The ambassador to Berlin was instructed to ask for a "full and speedy explanation."

Kendrick was arrested by secret German police and reported held in the latter's headquarters in Vienna.

Britain also told Italy definitely that she expects a reply to allegations Mussolini is sending reinforcements to the Spanish insurgents. The statements today represent an about-face from the previous passive British policy.

Mrs. Alma Thomas Returns From Trip To New York, Mexico

Mrs. Alma Thomas, principal of north elementary school here, returned to Midland Thursday night after a summer vacation trip which offered a variety of amusement and sight-seeing.

In early summer she went to a girls' camp near Kerrville for two weeks.

Following this she went as a delegate to the N. E. A. convention at New York, remaining in the city for a course of study in elementary principles at New York university.

The New York stay was devoted to study in the morning and sight-seeing in afternoon and evening. Among her interesting experiences were those of hearing eminent lecturers and his honor, Mayor La Guardia, speak.

From New York, Mrs. Thomas embarked for Vera Cruz, Mexico, the journey being punctuated by a stop of one day at Havana and a stop in Yucatan. The ride from Vera Cruz inland and upland to Mexico City is said to be one of the most beautiful in the world. "I can well believe it," she said.

At stations along the way, natives displayed their wares for sale, adding to the amusement of the journey, and soon after leaving the port city, the lower temperatures encountered in the ascent of the highlands caused the traveler to don a coat.

Twelve days in Mexico City, featuring by trips into the surrounding country, presented a program of sight-seeing and ended her foreign trip.

She returned by way of Austin where she visited her son Thalbert, his wife, and their small daughter for a week.

She will leave Saturday for New Mexico to view the Indian celebration at Gallup.

Rodeo Delegation At Snyder Today; Big Lake Saturday

Midland Rodeo, to be held September 3-4-5, was being advertised at Snyder, where a two day western contest is under way today and Saturday, when a car of four men dressed in western attire went there with a full charge of advertising material.

P. A. Nelson, Butler Hurley, Dr. Thomas Inman and Bill Collyns made the run. Announcements of the Midland Rodeo were to be made at the afternoon program of the Snyder show.

Meanwhile, all was in readiness for two truck loads of horses and twenty riders to attend the Big Lake rodeo Saturday, the Midland delegation to ride in the parade there at 10 a. m. Leonard Proctor and John Dublin, members of the rodeo committee, were in charge. Men and women, boys and girls will be in the Midland detachment of the mounted parade.

Child's Golden Hair Averts River Tragedy. READING, Eng. (U.P.). — Three-year-old Clifford Sunderland owes his life to his golden hair. The boy was playing on the bank of the river Kennet with 4-year-old Daphne Bryant when he slipped into the water and was carried into midstream. Daphne rushed to the shop of his father, a watchmaker, 150 yards away, shouting, "Clifford's in the water!" but Sunderland could see no sign of his son. Suddenly there was a burst of sunshine, which caught the golden hair of the child just under the water. His father jumped in and brought him to the bank. Clifford was unconscious, but he recovered after artificial respiration.

Elections Cost Too Much

It costs a lot of money to run for state office in Texas. Even candidates for county and precinct offices must spend anywhere from $200 to $1,000 or more for the privilege of getting their names on the ballot and shelling the woods for votes.

Campaign expenditures in Texas this year probably represent a new high. The first campaign developed some huge spenders, and the run-off, it is apparent on every hand, is costing somebody a small fortune. Time on the air costs money, newspaper advertising costs money, billboards, placards and cards cost money—a lot of it. Covering 265,000 square miles with a broadcast circular knocks a big dent in the candidate's pocketbook. Then there are hired speakers who lend their voices to the cause at so much per minute; there are campaign workers who furnish their own cars and beat the bushes for votes. They aren't doing it for their health. They are either getting paid in real folding money or they are doing it in the expectation of gaining favor with the candidate.

A great deal of this senseless expenditure could be prevented by invoking the short ballot in Texas, confining the election to the principal offices and making the rest appointive. The needless expense of the run-off could be escaped by using the preferential ballot, thereby enabling the voters to settle the hash of all candidates at a single stab.

Such huge expenditures represent corruption in some degree in all cases and should be frowned upon. The law appears helpless to handle the situation. Public offices should be taken off the auction block where the highest bidders vie for their possession, and put within the reach of every man of modest means who has an ambition to serve his state.

The next session of the legislature should take action to end a situation that has been growing progressively worse for years.

Crooks and Killers Who Followed Gold Rush Ran Into Trouble in Uniforms

This is the second of three stories on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police by Philip Godsell, famous Arctic explorer.

By PHILIP GODSELL
NEA Service Special Correspondent.
FORT GARRY, Manitoba.—The was already The Law in the north-west when the cry of "Gold!" rang out from the Yukon country.

And when frenzied hordes of thieves, murderers, and gamblers followed the gold prospectors in '98, murder was casual at Skagway, and revolver shots furnished an irregular bass for squeaky dance orchestras.

"Soapy Smith's" ruffians ruled the roost, and George O'Brien hatched one of the most cold-blooded murder schemes ever known. O'Brien would waylay travelers bound "outside" with the gold-dust they had grubbed, murder them, and throw their bodies into the icy Yukon. After a particularly horrifying murder of gold-carrying miners on New Year's Day, 1900, Constable A. Pennycuik linked one tiny clew with another to weave a rope that ended O'Brien's career on the scaffold.

Ed La Belle and Black Fournier, two other desperadoes, were drawn to the same murderous game as O'Brien. Posing as rivermen at White Horse, Yukon Territory, they would offer to take "chiechakos" down the river, and would then murder them for their gold.

On patrol . . . Mounted Police and Indian guides don similar garb to bring law and order to the frozen wastelands of northern Canada.

DETECTIVE BUSINESS.
On July 15, 1902, Corporal Storm Piper discovered a body floating in the Yukon near Dawson. A battered metal tag on a key-ring identified the victim as Leon Bouthillette of Quebec.

Piper found that, with two companions, Bouthillette had shipped in a skiff for Dawson in charge of two Frenchmen. Then he learned that the Frenchmen bought a rifle just before leaving White Horse. The bullet in the head of the dead Bouthillette corresponded to the caliber of the newly-bought rifle.

Piper and Corporal "Thy" Burns took to the trail. They found the party's first camp-ground on the river bank, and discovered the bark of trees torn by rifle bullets. They set out after Black Fournier, and found him disposing himself among the light ladies of Dawson.

La Belle had disappeared. But the intrepid Mounties followed his trail to Seattle, and then to railroad camps in Idaho and Montana. There, working under an assumed name, trying to lose himself among the railroad gangs, the Mounties found La Belle, and Black Fournier and Ed La Belle were reunited—on the gallows at Dawson.

Some of the work was less spectacular, but more constructive. It was the Mounted which led a gang of ax-wielding pioneers from growing Edmonton a thousand miles through the dense spruce forests of the Athabaska, slashing an open road for the gold-seeking hordes who continued to flock to the Klondike.

PROTECTING ESKIMOS.

Now from the farthest north came by the "moccasin telegraph" word that lawless American whalers were making headquarters on Herschel Island. Recruiting motley crews of negroes, Portuguese, Russians, Hawaiians and Chinese from the Barbary Coast, they sailed each year to the northland, carrying disease, drunkenness and death to the hapless Eskimos. They created an Arctic Babylon around Herschel Island, and the Eskimo population had dwindled from 2,000 to around 400.

In the summer of 1903 the scarlet tunics of the Mounted appeared beside the Polar Sea, and a whaler's warehouse was converted into barracks. When the San Francisco roughs arrived, red coats already dotted the beach, and drawn revolvers assured that the law had moved still farther north.

THEY GOT THEIR MAN.

Deep in the Keewatin forests lurked even more devilish mysteries. Pechequan, medicine man of the Saulteaux, bolstered his power among the pagan Indians with poison and witchcraft, and 20 murders were charged to him, including the brutal hanging of Sapwaste, a young Indian girl whose body was then impaled on a pointed stake to frighten cannibal Weeti-goes.

From the log barracks at Norway House, stronghold of the fur trade near the head of frozen Lake Winnipeg, went Corporal Cashman with three dog teams and three half-breed drivers. He was joined by Constable O'Neil, in a lonely expedition aimed at ending the rule of the medicine men among a thousand frenzied redskins.

Though they were met by Pechequan's warriors with loaded muskets, these two Mounties accomplished the seemingly impossible—they arrested the chief and the medicine man and took them back to the fort for trial. Pechequan hanged himself by his colored sash to a tree behind the barracks at Norway House. Chief Mistalminew died in Stony Mountain penitentiary.

NEXT: To make the Peace River safe and true to its name, the Mounted does some sharp detective work, and, as usual, gets its man.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Committee for Industrial Organization, which will hold its first national convention in October probably will change its name, plans to expand organizing activity again as business conditions improve.

The present staff, not counting officials and organizers on staffs of its member unions, includes about 260 persons—only a third as many as C. I. O. had when unemployment and a decline in dues forced curtailment of its ambitious program last winter.

The C. I. O. budget has been balanced since February and organizers retained were the most effective ones. Hence Chairman John L. Lewis believes the organization can expand as rapidly as it was contracted.

Recent business improvement, however, hasn't provided enough basis for beginning such expansion. Increase of steel production from 30 to 40 per cent of capacity only meant three or four hours more work a week for steel workers. Lewis, however, anticipates continued improvement in steel, a spurt in coal after the coal commission announces a new price scheduled in November and other

The name of the labor alliance won't be change much. Present plans call for the retaining the famous initials. Tentatively being considered are:

Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Confederation of Industrial Organizations.

MORE "RED" COMPLICATIONS.

The issue of "Communism" in certain C. I. O. unions, along with internal struggles for power with which that issue sometimes is confusingly entwined, seems bound to bother the convention, at which a permanent C. I. O. constitution will be adopted.

No one knows how it will be brought up, but some union head is likely to demand a constitutional provision barring Communists from holding office or even barring C. I. O. membership to Communists. The former policy has been adopted by Sidney Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America and the latter by Lewis' own United Mine Workers. Numerous labor leaders accused of "Communist sympathies" have rendered valuable service to C. I. O., but the great bulk of C. I. O. members are anti-Communist.

Faced with the issue, Homer Martin's fight with other leaders in the United Automobile Workers and anti-C. I. O. sentiment in the big International Ladies' Garment Workers, Lewis will be called on to demonstrate at his qualities of personal leadership.

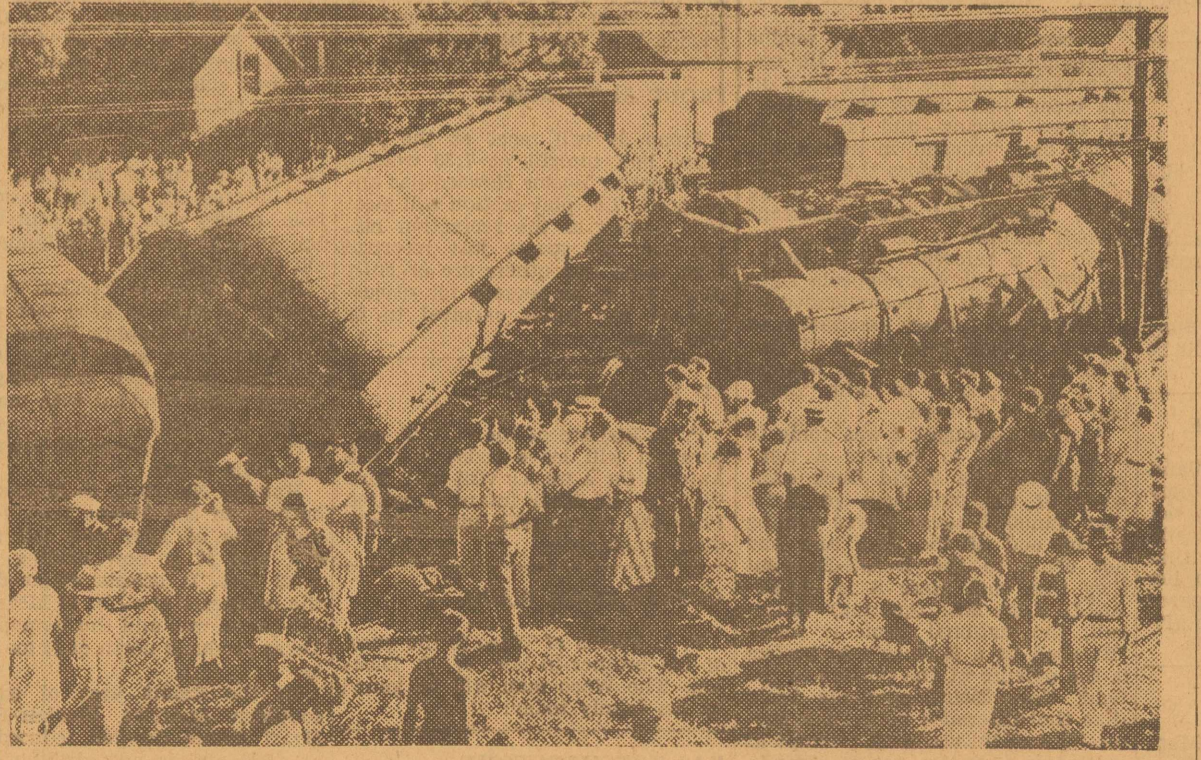

POLITICAL SCORE-SHEET.

By October C. I. O. leaders will know how well the C. I. O. dominated Labor's Non-Partisan League has done in the 1932 primaries.

Defeat of Governor Martin Davey of Ohio, who had A. F. of L. support for renomination, has been the League's most signal victory to date. It helped defeat Governor Martin in Oregon and Congressman-at-Large Mosier of Ohio. It has helped elect gubernatorial and senatorial candidates elsewhere. But other League candidates have been licked in Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Idaho.

A check of the League's "A" list of House members (goodies) and its "O" list (baddies) reveals that 16 of 18 "A" congressmen running and 24 of 25 "D" congressmen have been renominated. In the first group Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas was licked and

Showing What an Automobile Can Do to a Train

This unusual wreck resulted when a train struck a car near Washington, D. C. Although the engine of the car jumped to safety, all six coaches of the train were derailed and the engineer and fireman killed. None of the 150 passengers were seriously hurt. This picture shows a crowd of the curious around the wrecked train soon after the accident.

The Town Quack

This paper does not want to be a party to threatening those who do not put on western apparel Monday, wearing it on to the end of the rodeo. However, when a well organized enforcement division is being perfected, I feel that it should not be ignored. One doesn't have to buy a Stetson hat, five dollar rodeo shirt, silver mounted sheriff's belt, Levi breeches, shop made boots and Chihuahua spurs, with a fresh change for each day. He can get by with a lot less than that. But it is hoped by all rodeo enthusiasts that the rest of the citizens also will be rodeo enthusiasts and wear something suggestive of the wild west week.

ahead, and spending hundreds of their own dollars, will give the spectators at Midland the kind of show they formerly had to drive across the continent to see. The only recognized southwestern rival in this "open to the world" show is the Southwestern Exposition at Fort Worth.

Plenty of knick-knacks are on sale for a person to get rodeo minded and rodeo dressed without having to spend a lot of money or to look too conspicuous.

However, Chief Enforcement Officer, Jack Bodkins has some definite answers as to what the well dressed rodeo minded citizen should wear, and will be glad to make a definite statement to anyone in doubt. For instance, Holt Jewell and County Judge Barron were warned that as long as they have lived in this country, and as much as they know about what rodeo costumes consist of, they will do well to appear on the streets with more than a fancy belt when rodeo dress-up day comes.

I understand arrangements have been made for the tank Jack is not handling that project, but will merely direct the policing as the occasion demands. If the tank is there, he will have capable deputies for the duckings.

Quilting for Campus

(From Lord and Taylor, New York.) Here's something brand new in the way of a jacket outfit for the college girl. Of lovely wool jersey, it includes a pleated navy skirt, a red shirt and a quilted cardigan jacket, also navy, and lined and bound with red to match the shirt. The well-cut skirt could be worn with separate sweaters, the shirt with a black or brown suit, and the jacket with other skirts or over sheer wool dresses.

FEMININE FANCIES

By KATHLEEN EILAND

Time was when the housewife who was faced with the problem of draping double or triple windows had to use double or triple sets of curtains to achieve the proper effect.

That is being remedied. Curtains are now being made so wide that one set drapes a double window generously. Or one set may be purchased of sufficient size for a triple window. This eliminates too much bulkiness and yet covers the window to the proper degree.

Speaking of curtains for sheer, satisfying prettiness for bedrooms, we vote for peach color marquisette splattered with dollar-size self-colored dots. Made up to drape in criss-cross fashion with valance at top and ruffles at edge, this shade and material make even an unobtrusive spectator sit up and take interest in the curtain-making art.

Curtains in low-tone effect in pink-lavender and maroon are effectively different and likewise attractive.

And in so many shades are candlewick bedspreads now made that the careful shopper will soon seize upon one that matches her draperies, thus giving a pleasing note of harmony to her bedroom furnishings.

Guest towels, once sedately ornamented with modest flower sprays in pink and blue or with embroidered monograms, have gone frolicsome in this year 1938. Perky dog figures embroidered on them now tempt even the weary guest to a reluctant smile.

And here's a tip for the hostess who believes in subtly flattering her visitors: Give each one a towel bearing the figure of the dog which he most likes. There is a variety to choose from, from the endearing Scotties, to Pekinese, or the stalwart bulldog in head-up pose.

We have always admired the modern tendency to double or triple the use of an article. But even a good thing can be run into the ground, as the old saying goes. That happened, we think, in the case of the fur hat which was designed to be worn also as a scarf.

Most likely neither scarf nor hat looked exactly like its true self.

Moderation in all things, say we. Even in usefulness.

Swing in Squirrel

Because of the vogue for gray and for color combinations that are not built around black, blue-gray Russian squirrel takes on new importance for fall and winter. This casual, back-swinging model, with Tuxedo front and ultra wide sleeves, may be worn over daytime, sports or informal dinner clothes. It's shown over a gray satin dress. The arresting hat is trimmed with matching fur.

Household Hints

Interlinings Important.

Since the interlining is important both to the warmth and perfect fit of your winter coat, it is wise to ask the saleswoman who is assisting you to allow you to inspect it before you finally decide on your purchase. A material, light in weight, but assuredly warm, and not bulky is preferable. Ask the saleswoman, too, how it will react when the coat is dry-cleaned—whether it will retain its body and shape. An interlining that shrinks or stretches will destroy the set of the garment. If the interlining is quilted, be sure that the wool fibres of the filling are even and of good quality and that the fabric covering the filling is firm, not sleazy.

Lengthen Bouquet Life.

To freshen bouquets without disarranging, use a small syringe to remove the stale water and to add fresh. Replace stale water with fresh each day.

Cool, Fitted Undies.

For underwear that is utterly light and cool, yet supplies that necessary sleek foundation so important to the slim silhouette, look at brassieres, slips, panties, and chemises of sheer linen with insets of a lace, elastic yarn. Colors are tearose or white.

Delicious Fried Tomatoes.

For fried tomatoes, use fruit that is not fully ripe. Dip in egg and then cracker crumbs and fry in hot fat until delicate brown.

Fur and Fabric.

The ideal street costume for fall wear is the three-piece suit—jacket and skirt of soft, warm-toned wool and fur overcoat. The latter you'll wear, too, all winter over sheer wool or heavy crepe frocks. One such ensemble, seen in an exclusive Fifth Avenue shop, consists of a fingertip length, boxy coat of gray kid-skin over a collarless wine-colored soft wool suit, distinguished by clever low-placed pockets and huge dull buttons down the front of the closely fitting jacket. The skirt is plain, wide-gored. You'll like the suit alone in late September and love the luxurious warmth of the fur overcoat when autumn's brisk breezes mature into winter's brisker winds.

All-Purpose Electric Cooker For Kitchennette.

A small, compact, automatic electric cooker that will bake and stew, roast and fry, is especially suitable for kitchennette cooking. Not much larger than a good-sized roasting pan, it is capable of cooking a meal for six people. Heat temperatures are regulated by thermostat. A special broiler attachment grills chops and steaks, also toasts. Economical, too, since an entire meal may be cooked at one time. A special metal table, just the right height, with two adjustable shelves and drawer, can be purchased separately.

Twelve-ite Club Entertained at Bridge-Luncheon

Featuring the regular meeting of the Twelve-ite club with Mrs. L. G. Mackey, 1405 W. Illinois, Wednesday morning was the presentation of a piece of silverware to Mrs. Dudley Wood as a farewell gift from the group. She was also presented with a gift from Mrs. W. G. Whitehouse, a club guest. Mrs. Wood left today for Mattoon, Illinois where she and Mr. Wood will make their home.

Roses, verbenas, and a profusion of other flowers decorated the entertaining room, where guests gathered at 9:30 o'clock and spent the remainder of the morning in bridge games.

At one o'clock, a two-course luncheon was served at foursome tables to: Meses. Wood, J. D. Dillard, Hall Edwards, Frank Fulk, W. B. Harkrider, W. P. Knight, Harry Prickett, Whitehouse, and the hostess.

bers 2,202 horses, constituting the most densely horse populated county in the United States. The population consists of 1,404 livery animals and 798 boarding animals.

There'll be a hot time in the ol' town --THIS WEEK

Many people will suffer unnecessarily from heat this week. They will fuss and fret and fan themselves as they scurry from counter to counter and store to store, looking for something.

Save steps, these hot days. Sit down in the shade of a cool porch. Glance through the advertisements in the newspaper. Find what you want before you go to buy it.

That's what advertisements are for. You can trust the advertisers to tell you about bargains in the ads. You can save money and minutes and many a headache if you read the advertisements--and heed them.

CARDINALS LOSE FIRST GAME OF SERIES TO WINK SPUDDERS

HOMERS ACCOUNT FOR FOUR OF SIX RUNS WINK MAKES

WINK, Aug. 19. (Special). — The Wink Spudders took the first game of the three game series with the Midland Cardinals here last night when they broke a tie with one run in the seventh and made the score 6-5.

The big bat of outfielder Stone paved the way for the Spudder victory, two home runs by the new man accounting for four runs.

Cliff Neighbors was on the mound for the Cardinals at the start but was retired in the sixth with the score tied at five all. Benny Franklin relieved him and was charged with the loss.

Midland got away to a two run lead in the fourth when Morris singled and Barnhill and Evans hit consecutive doubles. Wink got one of them back in their half of the inning when Stone started it off with his first homer.

The Spudders went ahead in the fifth when pitcher Hay walked, Simpson singled and Stone again hit one out of the park. Another came in the sixth when Wano singled and Bates doubled.

The Cards got three in their half of the seventh when Battle doubled, Guinn singled, Ballinger doubled and Morris singled. However, the tie was broken when Stone reached first on a fielder's choice, stole second and romped home on Jubela's single.

Stimulus of Gordon's Speed Makes Frank Crosetti A Better Player

By JERRY BRONDFIELD, NEA Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK.—Frank Peter Joseph Crosetti, the champion hollerer of the American League, considers himself fortunate to have a youngster like Joe Gordon next to him at second base.

Because it is Gordon who finally is establishing the San Francisco Italian in his rightful place in the baseball sun.

It seems as though Yankee followers have never fully appreciated the chatterbox shortstop who, since Tony Lazzeri departed name, Crosetti has been overshadowed by Joe DiMaggio, Bill Dickey, Lou Gehrig, Red Rolfe, and other Yankee fence busters, but now it rapidly is becoming apparent that without him the Yankee infield would be sadly lacking in championship spark.

Right now Crosetti is faster and more alert than he ever was, and isn't slow to admit that Joe Gordon is the reason for his improvement.

TIPOFF COMES IN SPRING DRILLS

The Oregon rookie is the fastest man in the Yankee infield and his speed simply carries Crosetti right along with him. Crosetti knows he must keep pace if the keystone combination is to click perfectly.

"I first suspected I'd have to turn on the heat last spring in training camp," says Crosetti. "That became very obvious in the first few exhibition games we worked together, and I saw the speed that kid had."

It was only a few weeks ago, however, that Gordon started to display all the things that were expected of him. Whatever the reasons might have been—inexperience, or plain rookie jitters—Gordon didn't appear to be filling Tony Lazzeri's shoes any too well in the early part of the campaign.

Joe McCarthy then gave Bill Knickerbocker a chance to plug the gap, but Bill didn't do much better.

McCarthy decided to give Gordon another fling and this time the former Newark star was ready.

The stimulus was like an electric shock to Crosetti, who up until Gordon's return had been playing in a somewhat desultory fashion. The San Franciscan is covering more territory now than in previous years and Gordon's hustling spirit is sharpening him up on double plays.

KEEPS YANK INFIELD CONSTANTLY ALERT

Even the fans in the bleachers and the upper pavilion at Yankee Stadium can hear his shrill, incessant chattering on the field. Like Lazzeri, Gordon's Neapolitan predecessor, Crosetti doesn't give the Yank inner works a chance to let up for a split second.

It was as a fielder that Frank Crosetti was expected to show his class when he came to New York as a $75,000 beauty in 1932. At 17 he was in the regular lineup with the San Francisco Seals. At 21 he was receiving his golden opportunity with the Yanks.

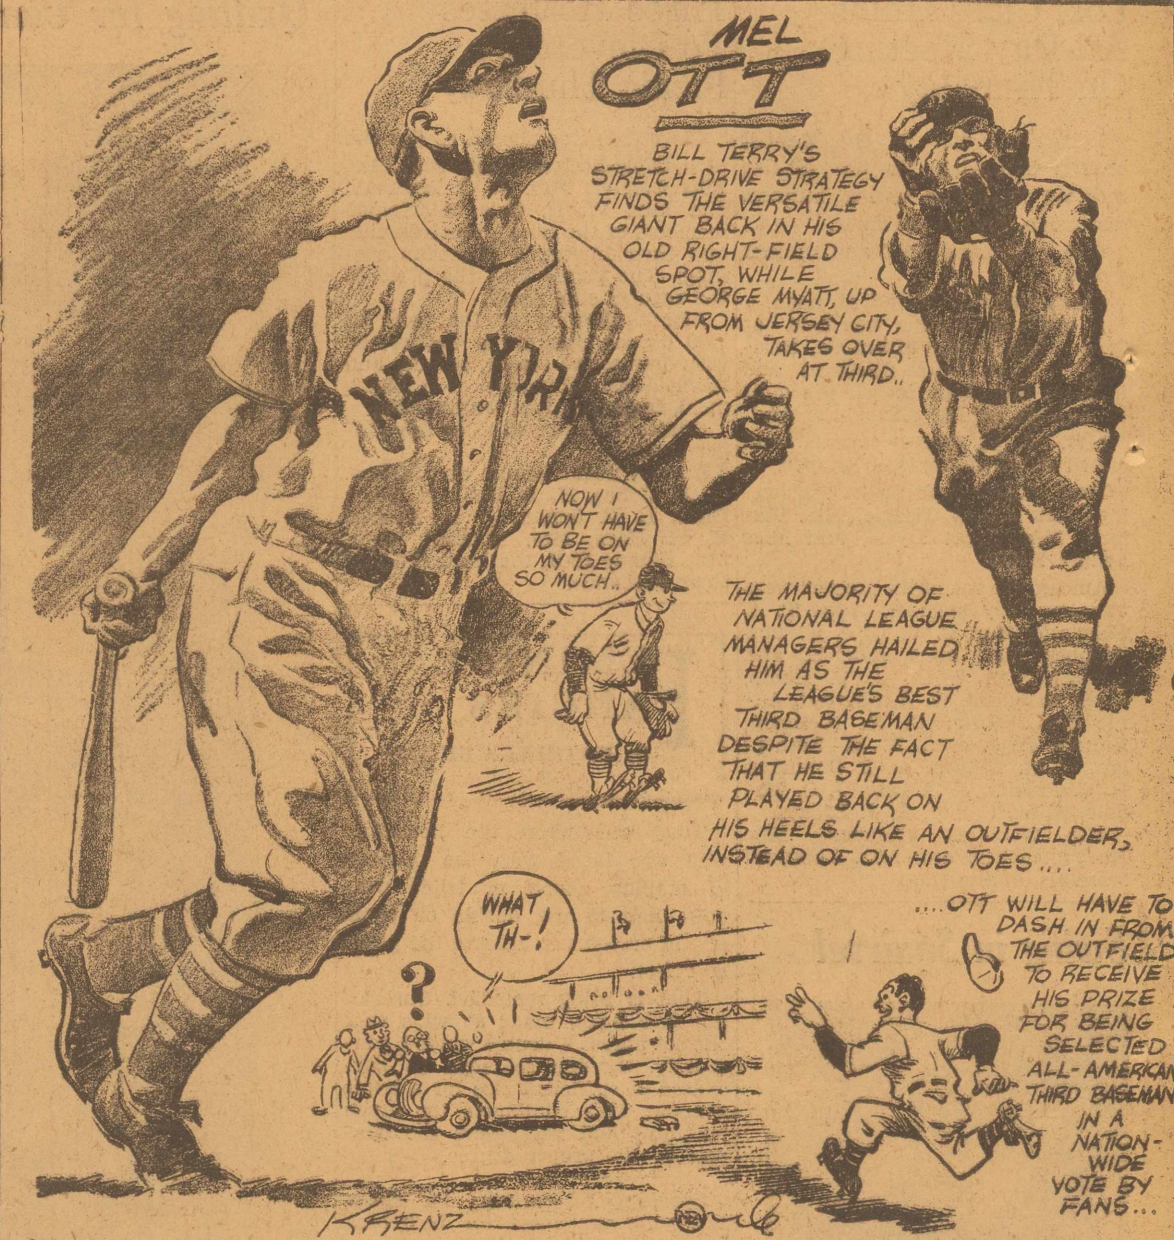

Yet until this season Crosetti was an in-and-out ball player. His status was doubtful when the Yanks left for St. Petersburg, what with Knickerbocker available for duty both at short and second.

But Joe McCarthy one day bluntly told Crosetti he would be the regular shortstop. Psychology or not, it restored his confidence, and Crosetti has held the job since.

Held it on his own merit, and improved upon it with the aid of young Joe Gordon.

Each is the perfect complement to the other as the Yanks roll on, apparently to their fourth American League pennant in a row.

Handy Wherever Needed

AUSTIN. — In no period of its existence has the University of Texas approached a new biennium with wider prospects for continued growth and development than that which opens with the beginning of the new fiscal year September 1. It is indicated by the large number of inquiries which have come to the University authorities from prospective students that the enrollment for the coming long session will exceed the normal average 10 per cent increase. This would mean that more than eleven thousand students would be registered for the session. The summer school enrollment for this year was 6,019 which was well above that of any previous summer terms.

What virtually is a continuous session of the university makes the 200-acre campus and its physical plant one of the most active areas of corresponding size in Texas. The large and constantly growing attendance at the institution has been the means of creating a busy community center in itself. The university is the cause of many families coming here each year to make their residence in order that their children may be given the advantages of its training. A large percentage of these families have made the city their permanent home.

Progress has been made, especially in recent years, in improving in many respects the educational standards of the university. With the limited funds for maintenance at its command, the Board of Regents has sought to bring to the institution the most capable men and women for its teaching staff that could be obtained for the money. The recent expansion of the curricula to embrace the teaching of the various branches of fine arts is the latest development in its program for meeting the educational requirements of its students. New courses have been added from time to time in various other branches as the demand arose.

One of the significant phases of the progress which the university has made in various lines in recent years has been the bringing to it of national and international recognition by educators. This has been accomplished, not by reason of its physical expansion, but because of its almost unexcelled library and laboratory facilities.

As a place for research along literary and scientific lines the university takes exceedingly high rank. This fact is demonstrated by the many distinguished persons who come here to take advantage of these opportunities for advance study.

The several departments of instruction have expanded and taken on new life since they have been placed in new environment and given the advantages of modern laboratory and other facilities. The department of petroleum engineering of the university is looked upon with pride by members of the oil industry and others. The demand for its graduates in various branches of the oil business is greater than the supply. This is also true of the graduates in other departments of engineering, geology, physics, chemistry, pharmacy, and other subjects.

In the home economics department, too, it is difficult to turn out enough trained public school teachers of home economics to meet the demand. Graduates of the schools of Law and Business Administration are in great demand among other institutions of higher learning, many of them obtaining fellowships or part-time instructorships at such universities as Harvard. Four university of Texas men have won Rhodes Scholarship appointments to Oxford in the last decade.

State and Federal departments, bureaus and research agencies have drawn heavily upon the university for expert accountants and graduates in the field of finance. The large number of governmental reports required of industries and other private business have increased the demand for trained men in finance and accounting. Each list of men passing the State certified public accountant's examination includes a large number of university of Texas graduates, according to Dr. J. A. Fitzgerald, dean of the School of Business Administration.

The University of Texas is a member of the Association of American Universities, which is an organization of 32 institutions in the United States and Canada "founded for the purpose of considering matters of common interest relating to graduate study and research." It is the highest ranking educational organization on this continent.

Dakotan Awaits Winter With Coyote Huskies

PHILIP, S. D. (U.P.). — C. C. Gascoigne is one South Dakotan who is ready for the deep winter snows which clog the state's prairie roads and trails.

Gascoigne wants to try out his new coyote sledge team—his answer to winter's transportation troubles.

The Philip merchant, believing that a team of coyotes will show faster progress across a snow-covered prairie than horses or regular sledge dogs, bought six coyote pups last spring and since has put them through a sledge pulling training.

"Last year I bought a coyote pup," Gascoigne explained, "and trained it to pull a cart. He performed so efficiently I thought I'd try to develop a coyote sledge team."

Public Health Program in Texas Aided By Funds Granted Under Social Security

(EDITOR'S NOTE: On Aug. 14, 1935—just three years ago—the President signed the Social Security Act. This Act probably affects directly the lives of more individuals than any other law ever passed by the National Congress. This newspaper presents below, therefore, the fifth of a series of articles which explain the National and State programs for social security and recount the progress made in their administration during the first three years.)

(By Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.)

The granting of funds under the Social Security Act has enabled the Texas State Department of Health to increase its activities several hun-dered per cent and for the first time in its history to approach its goal of adequately protecting the health of 6,400,000 Texans.

The present fiscal year saw the Texas State Department of Health receiving $219,381 from the State of Texas for its operative budget plus $97,500 for the operation of the six district health departments under the Social Security Act. The State Health Department is granted $580,225.42 for the present fiscal year and $128,850 for the promulgation of a venereal disease control program for Texas.

The 1938 program of the State Health Department, a vastly expanded program made possible by social security funds, covers a wide range of public health activities. The Division of Epidemiology is concerned with the curtailing of epidemics, the lessening of the spread of communicable diseases, and relief work during floods and disasters. The Tuberculosis Division during 1937 held 57 field clinics in 15 counties and examined 2,175 patients suspected of tuberculosis. The Division of Public Health Education disseminates information on disease prevention and public health activities to the general public through newspapers, the radio, magazines, pamphlets and free literature. The Division of local health services supervised the activities of the 14 full-time city and county health units in Texas, these health units serving as the basis of all permanent health work in the state, for the city and county health units are the most potent weapon in the prevention of communicable diseases and the raising of health standards in the community. The Malaria Control Division has been active in 36

Will Lead World's Largest Parade

Miss Elaine Russell of Vicksburg, Miss., brunette beauty acclaimed by Legionnaires the nation over as "Miss American Legion," who will appear in this city September 30 with the Mississippi Legion caravan en route from Los Angeles where for the second consecutive year she will lead the national legion parade. Miss Russell, who is acting as personal representative of Gov. Hugh White, will convey the Mississippi chief executive's greetings to governors of all of the sixteen states included on the itinerary of the caravan. The caravan, which is making the 5,750-mile trip to the coast and return, includes five elaborately decorated floats which will head the Los Angeles parade by virtue of Mississippi's having enrolled more members in the legion proportionately than any other state.

counties, studying the malaria problem in each locality and locating malaria carrier incidence by the laboratory examination of 18,000 blood slides. The Division of Food and Drugs inspected over 23,000 establishments and destroyed 900,000 pounds of food and 16,000 pounds of drugs as unfit for human consumption. The Division of Industrial Hygiene has run food and drug analyses and the chemical analyses of water and surveyed 700 industrial plants for the elimination of industrial health hazards. The state laboratory examined 86,000 specimens during 1937 in addition to bacteriological examination of water and milk samples and examination of 2800 brains of animals suspected of rabies. The laboratory is engaged in the manufacture of biologicals, and during 1937 produced and distributed to health officers rabies vaccine, typhoid vaccine, toxoid and ampules of silver nitrate. The Division of Maternal and Child Health has been particularly stimulated by the Social Security Act. In 1937 they increased their nursing services from 14 to 24, with an immunization increase from 28,000 to 48,000. Maternal nursing service has been increased 100 per cent. Dental work in the division was responsible for a dental program in 208 counties, with 46,000 defects in children's teeth being corrected by the family dentist.

The six public health districts established their several headquarters on September 1, 1937. It is their purpose to individually and collectively charge public health work in Texas as rapidly as possible. The district offices are available for any emergency which may arise. They will make statistical surveys of the counties which they serve in an effort to interest those counties in the establishment of county health units. They will further engage in the general public health activities of sanitation, vital statistics, nursing services, food and drug inspection, milk sanitation and epidemiological work. The Bureau of Vital Statistics in 1937 filed 196,619 births and 68,882 deaths. The Division of Sanitary Engineering is concerned with the sanitary activities of the state, the correction of stream pollution hazards, the extension of water and sewage plants, promotion of plants in towns which have no existing facilities and the checking of water supplies.

The LaFollette-Bulwinkle Bill made available to Texas $128,950 to establish an active venereal disease control program during the current year. The work of this division will be threefold: educational, corrective and supervisory. The State

Small in Size and Price, Bantam Car Makes Debut

Undersized autos like this one—patterned frankly after the small cars so popular in England and on the European continent—will soon be scooting over American highways. Said by its manufacturers to be the first American model auto to sell for less than $400, the four-passenger Bantam speedster above is one of three models recently introduced. Ford and other manufacturers have been rumored as preparing to offer small models of this type.

in command of armies."—"Base running is perhaps the most scientific feature of the game." Have to leave a lot out for down ways here is a topic, "Organized Baseball." Yes, there is "baseball" and "Organized Baseball." Guess we are a minor league of organized baseball "cause it says "several "minor league" are affiliated with the major leagues, and the two organizations have a working agreement whereby the "big leagues" are supplied with recruits from the minor clubs." The Midland Cardinals then fulfill all requirements for a minor league. Fincher Withers' players are under contract to a sure nuff "big" league team.

Well, here's five and a half pages devoted to "baseball" but one last thing that sounds very good: "The professional baseball player may not regard his occupation lightly. Men who win honors on the "diamond" are trained and disciplined. Temperance and clean habits are expected of all ball players, and late hours, over-eating, drinking, and other forms of dissipation are strictly forbidden."

Suppose one of these fellows breaks one of these rules? So organized is this business, that there are rules of discipline to follow each break. Think for tomorrow I'll see how rules are enforced. Seems to me I've heard of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis having a lot to say about arguments and rule breaking in this baseball business.

Morning Coffee Is Farewell Courtesy For Mrs. Wood

Honoring Mrs. Dudley Wood who left today to make her home in Mattoon, Ill., Mrs. J. D. Dillard entertained for approximately 25 of the honoree's intimate friends with a coffee at her home, 1901 W. Kentucky, Wednesday morning from 10 o'clock until 12. Masses of summer flowers brought brilliance and perfume to the house. In the entertaining rooms daisies and zinnias predominated. In the dining room, roses and bougainvillea were used effectively on the buffet, while the vivid tones of red verbenas contrasted with the silver appointments and lace spread on the coffee table.

Pouring for the first hour was Mrs. W. G. Whitehouse and for the second hour, Mrs. M. A. Monaghan.

family have just returned home from a five day vacation in the mountains at Ruidoso, N. M. Mrs. Woods' sister, Wanda Neel of Big Spring, accompanied them on the trip.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Coleman and children have returned from an extended visit in southern states. Mrs. Coleman and the children have been away three months. They visited relatives in Alabama and Mississippi and after being joined by Mr. Coleman traveled through Georgia and East Tennessee to the Great Smoky National park.

Dr. and Mrs. Bobo, their daughter Betty, and Mrs. Bobo's mother, Mrs. W. M. McKaig of Gainesville returned Wednesday night from a vacation trip in Colorado and New Mexico. They spent one week in the mountains of Colorado and one week at Santa Fe, N. M., visiting Mrs. Bobo's aunt in the latter city. Mrs. Bobo is enthusiastic over the interesting aspects of the New Mexico city which she rates above the attractions of either California or Colorado.

Dinner Party Is Compliment to Oklahoma Visitor

Continuing a round of in-honor affairs for Mrs. Evelyn Shaw of Oklahoma City who is here visiting her sister, Miss Ruth Ford, Mrs. Fred P. Carmichael was hostess for a dinner party at her home, 215 W. Tennessee, Thursday evening. Orchid asters and gladiolas were arranged as centerpiece for the large table where covers were laid for a dozen guests and the host and hostess.

Child of 2 Requests Favors in 3 Tongues

NEW ORLEANS (UP).—Paul Marechal, son of the Belgian vice-consul, is only 2 years old, but he talks to his nurse in Spanish, in French to his father and to animals in a nearby zoo, and in English to others.

His mother said he sometimes uses words from all three languages in one sentence because he is "too little yet to know when he's mixing languages."

She said he knew words in all three tongues when he was a year old, but that she and the vice-consul talked to him more in French and Spanish because they knew he would pick up English fast enough as it is.

"This three-language business is pretty swell for Paul," said his 13-year-old sister, Alice. "If he does not get what he wants in one language, he just yells for it in another."

Defrauder Called Odder Than O. Henry Character

PHILADELPHIA (UP).—George M. Rodgers, 69, was sentenced to from one to two years in jail for fraud so he could study the characters portrayed in O. Henry's books.

"You have it all over some of the characters brought to life by O. Henry," the committing judge said, "so I am going to give you plenty of time to study that writer."
