Henlein Asks Annexation by Nazis

PROCLAMATION IS GIVEN TO CZECHS

BERCHTESGADEN, Sept. 15 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain arrived here this afternoon for a talk with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in search of means to assure European peace. Chamberlain was given a warm welcome by German crowds. Hitler, standing in the rain at the entrance of his mountain retreat, welcomed the elderly British statesman who dashed from London by plane and train to speak for the British empire on the Czechoslovak crisis. Hitler greeted his guests with cordial handshakes. Otto Meissner, chief of the chancellery, met the party at the railway station. Before getting down to business, Hitler invited the Chamberlain party to tea, during which Chamberlain admired the Alpine view through a huge window. Nazi officials, pleased with the unexpected turn of the situation, were unwilling, however, to even guess on what proposals Chamberlain might make to end the crisis. In Rome, Italian assurance was given Hitler would not take the Czech population even as a gift. This was interpreted by diplomats as an indirect offer Germany would guarantee Czechs integrity of their new frontier if they would give up the Sudeten areas to Germany.

PRAGUE, Sept. 15 (AP).—Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein issued a proclamation today demanding annexation of all Sudeten German regions in Czechoslovakia by Germany.

The proclamation, addressed to Sudeten Germans and Germans in the reich, declared, "it is definitely impossible for Sudeten Germans and Czechs to live in the same state."

"Sudeten Germans want to return to their home in the reich," the proclamation said, complaining self-determination had been denied them since 1919.

Mob Psychology Is Cause of Wars, Says Speaker at Rotary

Effect of mob psychology in creating conditions such as exist in central Europe today was discussed by the Rev. W. R. Mann in an address at Midland Rotary club today. He said the people of those nations, reared on suspicion and intrigue, find it easy to follow the masses in entering civil or national wars, due to the unrest, the real or fancied grievances. Adolf Hitler has stirred his people and molded them as a unit, he said. Attacks on the Jews have united other Germans and they have been caused to forget their own troubles in a wave of nationalism. German citizens in Czechoslovakia now feel oppressed and today are practically in a state of civil war. As to whether the situation can be restricted to that small area is a matter of conjecture, Mann said.

O'Daniel Gained Most of Desires At Demo Meeting

BEAUMONT, Sept. 15, (AP). — W. Lee O'Daniel, flour peddler and freshman politician who went to the state democratic convention "just as an observer," saw plenty in the upcoming session which ended early Wednesday after the governor-nominate had been howled from the speaker's rostrum and one of his pet campaign planks had been rejected. Otherwise, however, the O'Daniel forces had things pretty much their own way, and went home with a party platform practically dictated by them.

The last night's tumultuous session—city police were called to maintain order in the bedlam of shouting and stamping—wound up the one-day meeting which endorsed John N. Garner for the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination and delivered the party machinery to O'Daniel for the next two years.

The platform declared for payment to all persons over 65 years old of the maximum in old age assistance "within limits of the state and United States constitutions and federal laws."

The convention went on record against legalization of hard liquor sales by the drink. A committee killed a proposal to declare against re-legalization of wagering on horse racing.

Harmony went out the window when time came to vote on the platform. Critics said the pensions plank was meaningless, and the O'Daniel forces said it conformed to the nominee's views and should be adopted.

O'Daniel was called from his hotel to soothe the delegates with an expedition of his pension stand. When he walked before the crowd an angry howl arose and O'Daniel backed away.

He tried again and the crowd roared "No." O'Daniel gave up and went back to his hotel. His plank, however, finally was approved.

Another row broke out over the question of abolition of the poll tax. O'Daniel could not vote in the primary election at which he was nominated because he hadn't paid his poll tax, and he told the people he wanted to rescind the law requiring it.

Opponents, however, declared if the tax were eliminated negroes would gain control of some elections, and the plank was rejected.

TO UNIVERSITY. Bernard Westerman Jr., Jay Miles and B. C. Girdley Jr. will leave Friday for Austin where they will be students at the University of Texas this winter.

George Wins Renomination In Georgia

Solon on "Purge" List of President Defeats 2 Others

ATLANTA, Sept. 15 (AP).—Senator George, whose retirement was asked by President Roosevelt, had an increasing lead for renomination today as additional returns came in from the Georgia democratic primary.

George was leading in 78 counties with 222 unit votes. Former Governor Talmadge was second with 160 unit votes.

New Dealer Lawrence Camp, the president's choice, had 28 unit votes. He conceded defeat. Two hundred and six unit votes are necessary to establish a winner.

Governor Rivers, seeking renomination, was leading with 264 unit votes.

ATLANTA, Sept. 15, (AP). — Senator Walter F. George, marked by President Roosevelt for political liquidation as a "conservative," moved slowly ahead of his two opponents for renomination on the basis of incomplete returns from Georgia's 159 counties early today.

The man the president endorsed to unseat George, New Dealer Lawrence S. Camp, ran third in the race behind former Governor Eugene Talmadge and conceded his defeat.

At midnight (CST) tabulation gave George 204 county unit votes to 188 for Talmadge and 18 for Camp. In the Georgia democratic primary, a majority of the state's 410 county unit votes—or 206—is required to nominate and the democratic nomination is equivalent to election.

In the gubernatorial race, Governor E. D. Rivers, bidding for an endorsement term on a platform of completion of his "little New Deal" program for Georgia, led in both popular and unit votes.

President Roosevelt criticized Talmadge as well as George in asking Georgia democrats to send Camp to the senate. He called George "too conservative" and said Talmadge would "contribute little to practical government."

The former governor, a critic of the administration, ran on a platform of providing homesteads for the needy.

The Georgia election was the climax of a week which saw Senator Millard E. Tyding, Maryland democrat, renominated over President Roosevelt's objections, and primary elections of lesser national importance in numerous states.

Simultaneously with the Georgia voting yesterday, two state held party convention. Connecticut democrats renominated Senator Augustine Lonergan and Governor Wilbur L. Cross. Delaware republicans convened primarily to select a nominee for the house.

Other elections of the week, mostly held Tuesday, included the following result: Former Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald was given the republican gubernatorial nomination in Michigan, to oppose Governor Frank Murphy, democrat in the November elections.

Organized Campaign For Poisoning Rats Gets Underway Here

An organized campaign for poisoning rats in the Midland business and semi-business area got underway today, as Bruce Pankey, of the International Exterminating company of Dallas interviewed local business and professional business men.

Pankey plans to handle the campaign in such a manner that the city can be "almost completely rid of rats." With the cooperation of all merchants, landlords, business and professional men, he said today that such a goal is far from impossible. Pankey has submitted qualifications to Dr. W. E. Ryan, city sanitary officer, and Bill Collins, chamber of commerce manager. Both men have approved the plan.

Dr. Ryan pointed out that the eradication method used by Pankey is one that has been approved by the department of agriculture. Pankey intends to call on the various merchants and professional men throughout the city in order to secure their cooperation.

Time of the inaugural program today is 6:30 o'clock p. m.

What France and Britain Will Do

IN case of war, what would France and Britain do? That's a big question in Europe right now, and it is answered in the map above. The two countries have made it clear that they would fight shoulder to shoulder in event of war, and the fact that war can start in 90 minutes (the length of time it would take German bombers to fly to Paris) has caused Britain and France to go so far as to make joint military plans. Here's what would happen if war broke out (and you can follow each move on the map): France would pull most of her fleet out of the Atlantic and into the Mediterranean. The gigantic British fleet would handle the Atlantic, the North Sea and the English Channel. Britain would keep some vessels in the Mediterranean, party to maintain her "life line" to India, partly to help convoy ships bringing troops and supplies from France's North African colonies. British bombing and fighting planes, already poised in the south of England, would dash to pre-arranged French airbases. British tanks, mobile artillery and soldiers would be rushed across the channel to strengthen French forces at the famous Maginot line on the German border.

Thus the combined British-French forces would be ready at a moment's notice to defend or attack at any point from the North Sea to the Mediterranean.

Fourth Roberts Area Producer Being Completed

BY FRANK GARDNER. Fourth producer for the Roberts area west of the Denver pool in Yoakum is in process of completion today as Shell Petroleum Corporation No. 4 Mrs. Dora Roberts flowed oil. On a three-hour natural test after unloading hole of circulating oil, it flowed 15 barrels of oil through 2-inch tubing set at 5-161, three feet off bottom. Operators then gave the well its initial acid treatment of 2,500 gallons, and it is now flowing into pits to clean out. The well gives the area a quarter-mile south and westward spread.

Farther north, a mile and three-quarters northwest of Denver pool production, Magnolia No. 1 J. H. Lynn, in section 770, block D, J. H. Gibson survey, logged slight showing of oil in samples from 5,063-93. It is drilling ahead below 5,093 feet in lime, with no free oil in the hole. A wildcat over a mile east of the Denver pool, Honolulu No. 1 R. M. Kendrick is drilling below 3,694 feet in anhydrite and red beds. It was reported to have kicked some drilling mud out of the hole after topping gas zone in the Yates sand horizon at 3,140 feet.

On the northwest edge of the Bennett pool, Cascade No. 1-A Bennett is drilling below 4,287 feet in lime and anhydrite. Honolulu No. 4-678 Bennett, pool well, is drilling at 3,667 feet in anhydrite and red rock. Reeves Test Runs High.

Frankly & Rice No. 1 Tunstill, Reeves county Delaware test, has attracted attention by topping the laminated anhydrite at 1,815 feet, datum of plus 1,091. On the market, it is running 101 feet higher structurally than the General Crude No. 1 TXL, test slightly over a mile to the south and a little east, which nearly made a commercial producer from the Delaware. At last reports, drilling in No. 1 Tunstill had passed 2,440 feet in anhydrite and lime.

Another Reeves Delaware test, Anthony No. 1 Shaw, is drilling past 1,320 feet in anhydrite and lime. J. N. Gregory No. 1 Humble-O'Neil, Pecos wildcat between the Pecos Valley and Masteron pools, is running 7-inch casing at 1,285 feet in lime. It topped Yates sand at 1,115, datum of plus 1,340, and 52 feet higher than Culbertson & Irwin, Inc. No. 1 Iowa Realty Trust.

In western Pecos, Thomason No. 1 Nations is shut down for casing at 363 feet, with hole full of water. Helmerich & Payne, Inc. and Wright & McMillen No. 1 Dow Puckett is moving in rotary. Humble No. 1 Robertson is rigging up heavy duty rotary.

George Greer No. 1 Price estate, Pecos wildcat near the Girvin area, is drilling at 1,299 in anhydrite. With elevation of 2,279, it topped salt at 672 feet.

IS DISCHARGED. W. C. Dobson was dismissed from a Midland hospital Wednesday after treatment.

ADMITTED TODAY. Bob Robinson of Goldsmith was admitted to a Midland hospital today for treatment.

It's "Heil Hitler!" at Nuremberg

Hemmed in behind a solid wall of Adolf Hitler's black-uniformed personal guards, with every other trooper watchfully facing the crowd, Nurembergers strained for a glimpse of their fuhrer as he made one of his progresses through the town. In the photo above, he is pictured standing in the car in the foreground, responding to cheers, en route to address the thousands of nazis at the annual party congress.

If Diplomacy Fails... Czechs Are Ready

Supplementing Czechoslovakia's admittedly highly efficient mechanized troops, the cavalry seen fording the stream in the picture above are especially valuable for the duty they are shown performing—patrolling the frontiers. Their easy mobility provides unusual means of spotting signs of an invasion of their country.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15, (AP). — Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau disclosed today the European crisis has caused the "largest flight to the dollar in history."

Morgan declined to estimate the amount of foreign funds sent here for safe keeping but figures on recent treasury gold acquisitions indicate several hundred million dollars in foreign cash have arrived in the past few weeks.

"This movement proves the United States is the financial center of the world," Morgenthau declared.

Preparing Lists For C-C Prospects; Drive Is 23rd

Prospect lists were being prepared today for the one day drive next Friday, Sept. 23, to secure more members for the chamber of commerce and to increase the dues of some present members, thereby aiding the organization in meeting its heavier expenses due to Midland's growth.

Two teams of twenty men each will make solicitations, but anyone not contacted is asked to call at the chamber of commerce office or to see the committeemen and enroll, officials said today.

Demands on the chamber's treasury are heavier but the budget has not been increased materially for several years, it was pointed out. Many new business institutions and individuals have not enrolled, many older ones are not at present supporting the chamber and some members will be offered opportunity to increase their payments.

Capitol Jigsaw

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, Sept. 15 (AP).—Agitation for a unicameral legislature in Texas may bob up again when the two-chamber body meets for a general session next January.
The House of Representatives in 1937 gave submission of a constitutional amendment for the unicameral plan a near-majority vote which is considerably short of the two-thirds vote necessary for submission. In the Senate 21 voters are required.

most far-reaching opportunity for tax reforms and state economy. They point to the Nebraska experiment in support of their claims.

This summer Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock made a campaign for Lieutenant-General with the one-house legislative body one of the principal planks of his platform. He was eliminated in the first democratic primary but supporters of the plan point to 300,000 votes he received as an indication Texans are thinking seriously of unicameralism.

Two squads of state police, equipped with the latest scientific testing devices, are examining an average of 2,000 automobiles daily for possible mechanical defects.

Their primary object is to warn motorists to have defects corrected rather than to bring charges. The auto clinics, in co-operation with local officers, operate on schedules of from two to five days in Texas cities and towns.

When and if the Federal Government builds a network of national super-highways at least two of them should traverse Texas, State Highway Engineers believe.

Congress has authorized surveys looking to the possibility of several east-west and north-south arteries as a bulwark to national defense and for the convenience of long distance motorists. The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which is fully acquainted with the topography and road systems of all states, is investigating the possibilities of the proposed transcontinental routes.

Texas highway engineers believe this state, because of its vast area and rapidly expanding road system, would fit naturally into the national super-routes. They point to several existing north-south and east-west travel routes in the state which could be adapted to requirements of the suggested national roads.

The proposal has been made that the super-roads provide four traffic lanes and a 300-foot right-of-way, free of grade crossings and all other hazards. In recent years Texas has adopted a minimum 100-foot right-of-way requirement and through Federal financial aid has been eliminating grade crossings.

Texas is especially well situated for inclusion in one of the east-west routes, the experts claim, because it would guarantee all-weather travel. East-west routes north of Texas might present winter hazards, especially in mountain passes, they point out, but an east-west route across the southern end of Texas would insure uninterrupted year round travel.

The Spirit of 76th Congress?

ards, especially in mountain passes, they point out, but an east-west route across the southern end of Texas would insure uninterrupted year round travel.

Whether the national roads would operate as toll thoroughfares or as free travel arteries is a question as yet unanswered. Some engineers believe the cost would be amortized in a relatively short time if commercial and possibly private vehicle paid a mileage fee for use of the highways.

Clothes Define Nudists' Caste

SANTA CRUZ, Cal. (AP).—A caste system for nudists has been introduced into the Elysium Colony near Holy City, according to Arch McDowell, its manager.

The system, McDowell avers, has one great advantage over all other caste systems in the world. A person who starts in one caste is not condemned to remain there for life. Instead there is a progressive system. All that is required for the candidate to progress is for him to discard more clothes.

The topography of the Elysium colony does much to make this possible. In the center is a hill with an altitude of 1,128 feet. It is here that the system approaches its highest form—that of complete nudity.

The hill has been divided into a series of horizontal barriers or zones.

At the base nudists can wear all the clothes they want. Then, if they wish, they can pass on up into the higher zones by shedding a few clothes.

However, those who attain the highest caste (and altitude) of nudity may descend only by putting on their clothes.

The great advantage of the system, McDowell explains, is that it keeps those who not confirmed nudists separated from those who are.

Mexico Rings 128 Year Old Liberty Bell, Celebrating

MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 15 (UP).—Two-day festivities celebrating the 128th anniversary of independence of Mexico from Spain began today.
Thousands of people from the surrounding villages came to see the big "fiestas," which this year also are being attended by prominent foreign labor leaders visiting the country.

Although the yoke of Spain was not finally thrown off until 1821, the Mexican official independence day is Sept. 16, 1810. At 6 a. m. that morning the priest, Miguel Hidalgo, curate of the town of Dolores (State of Guanajuato) gave the cry ("El Grito") of independence, and rang the local parish bell. The historic liberty bell was brought to Mexico City and placed over the center balcony of the presidential palace, on the Main Square.

Priest Martyr to Cause.
As a matter of strict historical accuracy, the partisans of independence in 1810 was really trying to obtain freedom from Napoleon, who then controlled Spain. The plan of Hidalgo was to offer the throne to the Spanish King, Ferdinand VII, who was then at Bayonne, France, while Joseph Napoleon sat on his throne in Madrid. The movement failed completely and Hidalgo was executed in Chihuahua on July 30, 1811. Eventually independence was completed under Gen. Agustin Iturbide, who had a "Mexican empire" with himself as emperor before the country finally became a republic.

Streets of the city will be crowded with gay throngs. At 11 p. m. tonight President Cardenas will appear on the balcony and ring the bell, while the huge bells of the cathedral peal out.

Inside the palace, an official reception at which the foreign dignitaries and all Mexican high officials attend, will be held in connection with the celebration of "El Grito."

Army to Parade.
On Sept. 16, the big event is the annual military parade. A full division, under the command of Gen. Pedro J. Almada, inspector general of the army, will pass in front of the presidential palace and the main boulevards. Ten thousand men will parade, using for the first time the new French-type helmets which the army recently adopted.

The Mexican troops will be joined by a detachment of Cuban sailors, who were sent in two Cuban gunboats to Vera Cruz to return the visit of a Mexican "cultural mission" which recently went to Havana.

Another big event of the day is the drawing of the 1,000,000 peso "Independence Lottery." The actual drawing is surrounded by considerable pomp and circumstance, with vaudeville acts, band playing, and thousands of people listen in on the radio to hear if they were lucky. There are three 1,000,000 peso lottery drawings a year—which is the maximum prize. (At current rate of exchange amounts to $200,000.)

Big celebrations are also held on the night of the 15th in all cities, towns, villages and hamlets, with considerable firing of fireworks.

Park Service Adds 15 Acres To Harbor Isle

WASHINGTON (AP).—When the National Park Service completes its improvement program on Bedlow's Island in New York harbor, not only will the Statue of Liberty have a rebuilt headrest but the island will be 12 or 15 acres larger.
A master plan is being drawn for the proposed work, which will include regrading and landscaping.

Mrs. Webb Is Hostess to Party of Three Tables

Mrs. J. C. Webb, a new member, was hostess to the Slam club Wednesday afternoon with a three-table party at her home, 212 E. Indiana.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. L. J. Williams and Mrs. A. M. Bond of Odessa.

Midland guests included Meses. W. L. Brown, R. L. Pickle, M. S. Bridges, L. H. Tiffin, R. R. Richter.

In the afternoon's bridge games, prize for high score among club members went to Mrs. W. G. Attaway and for high score among guests to Mrs. W. L. Brown, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Bond were also presented by the hostess with guest gifts.

A party plate was served at tea time to guests and the following members: Meses. Attaway, Joe Dobson, R. L. Bailey, W. L. Nicol, and the hostess.

The club will meet next Wednesday with Mrs. Nicol at her home at the Atlantic Tank Farm.

How to Dress Your Best Little Things Count in Chic

By MARIAN YOUNG.

NEW YORK.—The Woman Who Always Looks Smart realizes the importance of fine accessories.

If her budget forces her to economize on something, she'd much rather pay a little less for a dress and be able to get truly excellent shoes, bag, hat and gloves to wear with it than to spend a great deal on the dress and have to buy shoddy, uninteresting accessories.

She shops diligently until she finds shoes that are comfortable as well as flattering to her feet. She wouldn't dream of wearing high-heeled patent leather sandals with her tweeds or flat-heeled, sports type oxfords with her silk dresses. Generally speaking, all of her shoes are fundamentally simple. They may be unusual and new, heelless and toeless or whatever, but they have a quiet, well-bred air about them all the same.

If she is very short, she doesn't go in for novelty shoes of any kind. The same is true if she happens to have a top-heavy figure. Only the tall and slender can wear attention-getting types.

The glove wardrobe consists of plain pull-ons in various leathers—all absolutely devoid of fussy trimmings. She picks simple pigskin pull-ons for sports, driving and strenuous everyday wear; equally simple ones in chamois or suede or a more serviceable leather, like capeskin, for ordinary street wear; lovely suede chamois models, but cut on the same lines, for dressy occasions and white kid or chamois pull-ons for evening.

If she's tall or if she is quite large, she carries big bags—the bigger the better. If she's short, she chooses little ones.

She wears wide belts and girdle effect only if her waistline is diminutive and if she is quite tall. Otherwise, narrow belts are her forte.

Hot Cereal and Milk Form Backbone of Good Breakfast

Editor's Note: The following paper on "Hot Cereal and Milk" was read by Mrs. E. H. Ellison as the feature of the weekly health program broadcast over station KRLH Wednesday morning. The common health bulletin of the Minneapolis Health Council is the source of the paper.

To the man or woman who works all day and to the child who has two sessions of school beckoning ahead, the breakfast is a very important meal.

That long hours of sleep precede the breakfast is a fact which has as strong a bearing upon the importance of the meal as do the hours of busy work and even busy play, which lie in prospect. It is during these hours of sleep that the supplies of food previously stored within the body, are mostly built over into the material of the body itself. This stored-up food material needs to be replaced with new and easily digested foods which should make up the breakfast.

And the stomach is ready for the job. During these long hours of sleep the digestion of the last heavy meal of the preceding day and is ready for new duty. The glands which manufacture the digestive juices, which break down and dissolve the food material and prepare it for storage and use within the body are re-stored with the ingredients of these powerful juices and are awaiting the signal of the incoming food for their discharge in the form of saliva, gastric juice, bile and pancreatic juice. It's "the call for breakfast in the dining car."

What may we best select from the Bill of Fare? We may take the whole order very profitably, both as to cost and content from the simple staples which make up the following list:

- (1) Milk, preferably hot, from half-a-pint to one pint, according to the age of the consumer.
- (2) Hot cereal, cooked according to the printed instructions given with any one of the well known breakfast foods, adjusted to the number and the ages of the persons to be fed, but generally requiring, for the best results of feeding, cooking for a longer time than their directions suggest. A well-known authority on foods and feeding states that one cannot cook cereals, as breakfast foods, too long. The old "fireless cooker" has its place in this matter. Cook your breakfast food in the evening for a half an hour; put it then into the fireless cooker and let it continue to cook all night. It will not need much heating in the morning before breakfast. Do not stir it at any time after it begins to cook. The inside kettle of the double-boiler, in which the cooking begins, may be used as the container in the fireless cooker. Cereal to be eaten with a part of the hot milk and a small quantity of sugar.
- (3) White or whole-wheat bread, two or three slices; preferably one or more slices of each form, toasted; and eaten with a portion of hot milk or with a small quantity of butter or other form of fat. A small amount of jelly or other preserve may be used in place of butter or butter-substitute. The Norwegian peasants frequently eat their bread or toast soaked in cod liver oil. They know that cod liver oil is a preventive of rickets. Most young children take it readily. The quantity of bread will depend, of course, upon the age and appetite of the feeder.
- (4) Root or green vegetables. While these are not ordinarily used in a breakfast diet, they are nevertheless valuable as additions to it in the feeding of young children. Since these youngsters vary greatly in matters of appetite, growth, and food requirements, it is well for the mother to consult a physician.
- (5) It is generally true that, for the use of such children, a small quantity of cooked spinach or carrots may be mixed with a certain quantity of hot cooked cereal; or that these, or finely chopped raw green vegetables may be separately fed.
- (6) Fruits, in the form of a small juicy orange or a corresponding quantity of orange juice; raw apple, whole or, for young children, chopped or scraped; and, occasionally, stewed or canned fruit, are a valuable addition to the breakfast meal. In the case of children they are indispensable.

Nations of World Theme Features Fine Arts Luncheon

"International Studies," the course chosen for the Fine Arts club this year, set the motif for the luncheon which initiated the work of the organization Wednesday. The affair was held in the Blue Room of Hotel Scharbauer yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Rectangular white place cards bore reproductions of the flags of various nations of the world and the centerpiece for the large luncheon table was appropriately a globe.

A two-course menu was served, with Mrs. A. P. Shirey presiding as toastmistress in the absence of Mrs. Fred Fuhrman, club president.

Roundtable discussion of the studies to be pursued during the year occupied the meeting for which no formal program had been arranged.

Members of the club for this year are: Meses. Elliott H. Barron, T. Paul Barron, Tom C. Bobo, Chas. Brown, W. Bryant, L. G. Byerley, Harvey Conger, Alden Donnelly, E. H. Ellison.

Mmes. Fred Fuhrman, W. H. Gilmore, A. N. Hendrickson, J. Howard Hodge, George Kidd Jr., Roy Parks, Lem Peters, A. P. Shirey, Harvey Sloan, R. C. Tucker, Miss Lydie G. Watson, Mrs. J. M. White, Mrs. Fred H. Wilcox.

Associate members are Mrs. E. Hazen Woods and Miss Stella Maye Lanham.

Particularly created for the joy of the small-apartment dweller is the clothes drying rack noticed recently.

Made of narrow strips of wood ingeniously joined, it folds into small space when not in use but when extended to full size furnishes room for hanging a number of garments to dry. Most any busy young mother would appreciate such a rack.

Wonder why it isn't made in a smaller size so the business girl might set it up in her bedroom at night when she has rinsed out her hose, handkerchiefs, blouses or other wearables? The size on display is just a bit large for that use.

A new bedroom suite seen on a recent window-shopping tour harks back to the old-time wardrobe or the more recent chifferobe in its chest of drawers. The upper part of this piece of furniture has a compartment for storing hats, which is closed with a door, and two good-sized drawers.

Below these are three large drawers which are constructed to look to the casual observer, like a series of small drawers beside a corresponding number of small ones.

Just why this effort at camouflaging we can't understand as the chest in our opinion would be handsomer minus the attempt at looking like what it isn't. But there's no accounting for tastes. And we do like the practicality of the hat-storage compartment.

We always did like people of originality. That's why we're certain we'd like Mayor C. N. McHugh of Cedar Falls, Ia. Not that we've ever met the man but we read that instead of handing out cigars to voters in his campaign for re-election he gives them dill pickles.

It seems the Honorable Mayor learned to make pickles while manager of a canning company cucumber station. A shrewd man who at least knows how to capitalize on his knowledge.

Furthermore, although we can't speak for the man, we'll wager that the Cedar Falls women like the Mayor's campaign favors and will vote for him—provided the pickles are good. Woe be unto him if they aren't!

BULLDOGS GET FINAL WORKOUT TONIGHT FOR ROBY LIONS

GATES OF FIELD WILL BE THROWN OPEN TO PUBLIC

Midland football fans will get a preview of the team in action tonight when the Bulldogs take their final workout prior to the game here tomorrow night with the Roby Lions.

The team will start working out at seven o'clock tonight and the gates to the field will be thrown open to the public. Only light work will be held, the scrimmage having been completed Tuesday night. Tonight's drill will be more of a "limbering up" session than anything else. Putting and passing, much improved this year, will be worked on by the backfield men, with the line men getting in a little blocking work. Coaches Bud Taylor and Bob Myer have just about decided on what will be the "first team" this year and the 11 boys they have chosen will probably start the game against the Roby club.

Noble Van Dyke and Gus Bryan at ends, "Rocky" Ford and Leland Foster at tackles, "Red" Eldson and Paul Klatt at guards, "Onion Head" Whitaker at center, Jay Francis, Dale Trulove, "Patsy" Wright and Temple Harris in the backfield are probably the boys that will open the game tomorrow night. Foster and Ford have been developing fast at the tackle position, considered the weakest spot on the

Humble Broadcasts of SW Conference Games Scheduled

The Humble Oil & Refining Company today announced that it will bring Texas football fans radio accounts of Southwest Conference games again this season, for the fourth consecutive year.

An ambitious program of broadcasts has been tentatively formulated by the company. Beginning with the first games on September 24th, the company will broadcast all Conference games and many of the outstanding inter-sectional contests to be played by conference teams. On several Saturdays, as many as four games are on the tentative schedule of broadcasts, and on two Saturdays, five broadcasts are scheduled.

Games to be broadcast and the stations over which they may be heard will be announced from week to week during the football season. The Humble Company again emphasized that its purpose in sponsoring the broadcasts is to render an added service to the company's friends and employees and to stimulate an increased interest in Southwest Conference football. It is hoped that the broadcasts will result in increased attendance at football games throughout the state.

Kern Tips and Cy Leland will again head the list of play-by-play announcers. Other announcers are now being selected and the complete list will be ready for release within a short time.

In connection with the broadcasts, the Humble company will also again publish the Humble Football News. This attractive, lively football weekly has proved to be extremely popular among Texas followers of the game. In addition to covering the Southwest conference, the Humble Football News also covers high school and college football in Texas. Plans for this season include one or more feature stories every week. The Humble Football News will be distributed free by Humble Service Stations and Humble dealers each Thursday during the football season; the first issue will be in their hands on Thursday, September 22nd.

trick kitchens?" He would, racing was the breath of life to him. Never mind dainty rooms and fancy meals. "An' Norman, he sleeps in the feed room. We're fixed up great." "Fine! Be seeing you every day." As she drove off, Callie sitting beside her, Norman crept from behind the stables—

By 8 o'clock Callie had the furnished cottage in order; Linda's typewriter keys were clacking when someone knocked on the door. Who was that? If it was a garrulous neighbor—

"Bruce!" she exclaimed, as he threw the door back. "How'd you find me?" "I see Mr. Sandy every day or so. Here—take a look." He gave her a manila envelope. "Open—read." She glanced from the envelope to Bruce. This was a different Bruce, a more determined Bruce than she had ever known. "All right—sit down."

She opened the envelope. Drew out galley-prints of a short story. Bruce said: "Sold that last month—wanted to surprise you, so didn't mention it."

Linda eyed the entries this morning. She looked up. "You rascal! You've put Uncle Sandy in this; he's the whole show!" Bruce grinned. "No, just a composite of the Uncle Sandys in the Blue Grass. About time for a new character in light fiction: like Ephraim Tutt, or Tugboat Annie, or old Judge Priest—only different." He sobered. "They want more."

"Bruce, this is great! Sell it yourself!" He shook his head. "Remember my agents—those two young women in New York?" She nodded. "Best in the business. They've been fooling with me—oh, for years." It was true, Linda recalled. "Haven't made a nickel on me. Don't see why they haven't thrown me over. So—being a bit ashamed, I went to work."

He got up, took the proofs from her. "Got to go—correct these tonight. Map out another one. Be seeing you." He smiled—and was out the door without another word.

club at the present time. Foster is considerably light for a tackle but makes up in aggressiveness what he lacks in weight and experience.

"Scare" stories coming out of Roby, truthful or not, have caused the Bulldogs to gain a feeling of confidence not usually found before the first game of the season. The stories from Roby indicate that club will be considerably weaker than the one that held Midland to a one touchdown victory. The stories may be true—again they may not be. Anyhow, Taylor and Myer are not placing too much confidence in the stories and have been impressing the boys all week with the possibility of facing a really strong club. The boys will undoubtedly have a lot of bad moments and will look far from a first rate club at times tomorrow night but this is to be expected of any club in the first game of the season. The coaches, however, are satisfied on one point—the boys are in shape. Almost a full month of hard work has placed the boys in condition that is generally not reached before two or three games are played.

CHAPTER XIV A TUBBY little fellow of mid-ding years came around the corner. Smiling Tom Cartwright, a good jockey in youth, he was now one of America's shrewd trainers; campaigning a stable for a millionaire who insisted on having stake winners in his barn. He had won two Derbies for his owner; now he was planning, half a year ahead, to win a third.

"Evening, folks," he said, stopping at the tack room door. "This the young owner?" He touched a broad-brimmed hat. "Glad to know you, Miss. I've got news. Talkin' cash tonight—"

"What's this?" Linda looked from Smiling Tom to Uncle Sandy. "Tom, here, is tryin' to take a option on Golden Toy," Sandy Gordon explained. "He knows a colt that wins the Jockey Club Stakes in the fall is a sure Derby winner next spring—"

"Not always, Sandy," Cartwright shook his smiling face. "Huh! There was Reigh Count, Clyde Van Dusen, Twenty Grand—a passel of 'em. If the Toy wins, Tom wants to buy him for a measly fifteen thousand—"

"Twelve, I said, Sandy. If he wins. Here's two hundred option money." He held up the bills. "Mr. Cartwright, you take an option on every good colt in the Stakes, don't you?" Linda asked. "Get a jump on other wealthy buyers, who haven't developed a good 2-year-old?"

"Now, ma'am," he turned to her. The eternal smile creased his windrow cheeks; but his gray eyes were Linda stood still a moment. Heard his footsteps die out. A catch came in her throat—

She shook her head. "None o' that, m'girl," she told herself grimly; sat down at the typewriter again, began pounding the keys.

FOUR days later Uncle Sandy asked, "Read the entries this morning?"

No, she hadn't. She, too, was busy writing. The old horseman golden. "And you the owner! Golden Toy—I dropped him into a condition race this afternoon. Six furlongs."

"Why—why didn't you tell me you were going to? I thought you had decided to hold him back for the Stakes?"

"He needs educating," he be in the paddock at 4 o'clock."

And at 4 o'clock Norman led the blanketed colt into the enclosure. The saddle bell rang; valts trooped in with their jockeys; lack Norman brought the colt up; Uncle Sandy skillfully saddled him.

Then jockeys—the sun flashing on their silks—came down the tanbark path. Said the trainer: "I got Marder ridin'—best boy there be for handlin' a green 2-year-old."

A jockey in the scarlet jacket, purple cross cashes and sleeves of the Gordon colors stopped at their stall. He had the build of a strapping, the face of a matured man.

"Listen to me, Marder," Uncle Sandy was giving last-minute instructions; "this here colt has early foot—and he's a stayer. Get out in front—push him—make every post a winnin' one. Understand?"

colt lost a half dozen lengths on the run-out; but Marder, speeding him along the tow-path by the outer rail, managed to finish third.

The disappointed crowd—Golden Toy had been heavily played—hisled and booted as Marder rode back to weigh out. Uncle Sandy took Linda's arm. "Don't worry, honey—the crowd's always a fool," he said.

Marder slid from the colt, jerked the saddle off, weighed out, then came to Uncle Sandy as a disgruntled Norman blanketed the colt and led him away.

"What happened, son?" Uncle Sandy asked.

"Marder took a deep breath, said: 'Awful sorry, boss—but I couldn't help it. We was three-quarters around the turn—I was holding him steady, then, like a flash o' lightning, he shot to the rail.'"

Uncle Sandy nodded. Repeated the track's oldest phrase, "Better luck next time." Then, "I want you for the stakes, son. I'll break him of that." The trainer started back to the stable, to cool out the colt. Linda went through the gate onto the clubhouse lawn. And almost ran into Monte Hill's arms.

"Linda! I just shipped in from New York! Been looking for you; then I saw the Toy entered. Knew I'd find you at the finish. Come on—I've got something important to tell you."

COLLEGE STATION. — At this stage of the football season last year, Coach Homer Norton was praying for a first class punter to go with his powerful Texas Aggie grid machine, and now, a year later, that prayer is more than answered with seven capable kickers.

Dick Todd, "The Crowell Cyclone", carried the punting burden last year, but he found that the road was rocky for a man who had never had any kicking before. Aggies had figured on Ken Mills of Groesbeck to do the majority of the booting this season, but he was lost because of a broken back before practice began. When the team reported and started practice, Norton soon learned that his prayer had been answered. He lost Mills, but was given an improved Dick Todd and opened daylight—yes, sir, we got a right good colt," Uncle Sandy patted judiciously. "Now they comin' to the turn—he's opening up more daylight—"

"Whoa, there!" the trainer shouted excitedly. His trained eyes saw it first. Now Linda saw—and her heart seemed to stop. Golden Toy was running wide coming into the stretch—running to the outside fence—Marder was fighting him—

Persons Mrs. Arthur Judkins and daughter, Miss May Beth Judkins, are here from the ranch today. Miss Judkins will leave Friday for Denton where she will re-enter Texas State College for Women.

Jack Carroll left Tuesday night for Austin where he will re-enter the University of Texas. He will be a junior.

James Conner, junior student in A. & M. college, left Tuesday night for College Station to re-enter the school.

Dave Wafford has gone to Fort Worth to enter Texas Christian university.

field for fifty yards or more. Price appears to be slightly the best of the three kickers in the starting lineup.

Norton says, "one year I have guards and no kickers, and the next year I have kickers and no guards. If I ever get guards and kickers the same year, I am going somewhere."

The Big Show Is Over, Texas' Spectacular Next Governor Buckles Down to Serious Business of Producing Results

His Platform Was the Decalogue, And He Insists 10 Commandments Will Make About Anything Work

An amazing man on the political trapeze is W. Lee O'Daniel, next governor of Texas and potential presidential threat. This is the last of three articles tracing his meteoric career.

By C. L. DOUGLAS AND FRANCES MILLER
NEA Service Special Correspondents.

HOUSTON.—Exactly what turned W. Lee O'Daniel, the persuasive radio flour salesman and homely philosopher, to politics is not entirely clear. But apparently the demand grew up more or less spontaneously in letters from his radio audience. In announcing his candidacy, O'Daniel stressed "54,499 common citizens who have written to me." With no political machine and no political experience, O'Daniel took the field against a dozen opposing candidates. Thus closed the newly-written hosannah he had written for a battle song: "They come to town with their guitars— / And now they're smokin' big cigars— / Them hillbillies are politicians now."

THEY COME TO TOWN WITH THEIR GUITARS— / AND NOW THEY'RE SMOKIN' BIG CIGARS— / THEM HILLBILIES ARE POLITICIANS NOW.

TEXAS POLITICAL CIRCLES NOT ONLY CHUCKLED BUT LAUGHED RIGHT OUT LOUD AS O'DANIEL BUNDLED HIS BAND INTO A BIG WHITE SOUND TRUCK AND STARTED OUT ON THE POLITICAL CONQUEST OF THE BIGGEST STATE IN THE UNION.

BY NAME-CALLING.

BUT WITHIN A FEW WEEKS, reports to other candidates indicated that O'Daniel was getting as good a grip on the voters as he had on the passers of biscuits. After all, they were the same people.

The fact that he hadn't paid his poll tax was dug up; he was accused of being a "carpetbagger" and an "itinerant Yankee." After all, he had only been 10 years in Texas.

O'Daniel met both attacks. He sang the glories of the Alamo, and turned the poll-tax thrust by saying that "he was so fed up with the professional politicians, that he hadn't intended to vote at all." Professional politicians, with their ears to the ground, began to hear a distant rumble as the weeks passed—it was the O'Daniel sound truck beating up the bushes in far parts of the state.

Most unorthodox of all, O'Daniel was making his listeners pay for the privilege of listening to his show, taking collections at each street meeting in little barrels labeled "Flour not Pork." At one meeting he ostentatiously refused a $20 bill found in the barrel and made the donor take back $19 in change. "That's all we want from any one contributor," O'Daniel cried. Big-city politicians swooned.

With his sons plunking away in the Hillbilly Band and his comely daughter taking up collections, O'Daniel swept through town after town, not neglecting to put in a little plug for his flour from time to time.

KNEW THE ANSWERS.

THE opposition grew desperate in the effort to "keep a bunch of clowns and wildmen out of the state capital," and jeered "this Kansas political hitch-hiker who is trying to thumb a ride on a flour sack into the governor's office." They dug up the failure of the Independent Milling Company in Kansas. O'Daniel response was a broadcast from Kingman, Kans., to Texas, in which "prominent citizens of Kingman highly commended their newly-prominent "favorite son."

The O'Daniel family, surrounded by a few friends and seven cases of cold soda pop, awaited first returns on the night of the primary. It was soon over, the greatest Texas political triumph since that of Jim Ferguson in 1914. O'Daniel was running up more votes than all of the 11 other candidates combined.

FEW DOUBT HIS SINCERITY.

CHASTENED politicians, obscure country Texans, and jobbers seeking immediate delivery of carloads of flour vied with each other for the ear of the successful candidate. "Anything can be run with the Ten Commandments," he said laconically, when asked how he proposed to make good on the chief plank of his platform, which had been the Decalogue itself.

A needed vacation followed, and then a series of banquets to meet business, an appeal for Red Cross contributions, and another appeal to elect his slate of state officers. Lucrative radio offers have been refused. O'Daniel, five months before his inauguration, is already deep in study and preparation to fulfill his promise to "make you the best governor Texas ever had."

The clowning and the vaudeville of the campaign are over. W. Lee O'Daniel now faces practical problems of administration, such as where to get the money for the old age pensions he has promised. Practical problems of ways and means, of actual achievement, await this practical business man, of whose sincerity no one who has studied him has a doubt.

Will he be able to fulfill the promise of his political triumph? An echo from the barnstorming sound-truck answers stoutly, "Yeah, man!"

(THE END.)

Music making equipment and instruction is a $200,000,000 business in the United States.

Palette Club Opens Season With Lawn Party

Fall activities of the Palette club began with a lawn party recently for which Mrs. Ben W. Smith and Mrs. F. H. Lanham were hostesses at the home of Mrs. J. G. Gossett, 210 South O street.

Members discussed various topics for study during the year but did not definitely name the course to be taken.

Refreshments were served to three guests, Mrs. R. W. Rochon, Mrs. Josephine Ligon, Mrs. J. B. Robinson, and the following club members: Mrs. G. H. Butler, Jas. R. Day, Ralph Barron, Ben Golladay, N. W. Bicham, Willie-Stell Oliver, J. G. Gossett, Mary S. Ray, D. B. Snider, and the hostesses.

Bandit Pair Sought In Meeks Kidnaping

ELKO, Nev., Sept. 15. (AP)—Two unidentified young men, both of whom Sheriff C. A. Harper said are wanted for questioning in connection with the kidnaping near Marysville, Calif., of Mrs. Norma Meeks, were sought by Elko county authorities Wednesday.

Search for the men was started after a robbery at the McIntosh ranch. The sheriff's office said the clue connecting the two outlaws with the Marysville kidnap case came from an unnamed witness who overheard the pair discussing the Meeks affair.

Prince Plunges Into Cavalry Drill

Demonstrating the depth of his interest in soldiering, Prince Mikasa, above, youngest brother of the Emperor of Japan, is pictured while participating in a recent cavalry drill. Like all his fellow officers, the Prince stripped to the waist and swam his mount across an inlet at Yatsu Beach, near Tokyo.

N. Y. Tests Prove Women Can Lose FAT

Ask Your Doctor If It Isn't Good Way. Read EVERY WORD

NEW YORK, N. Y.: A test conducted by a prominent N. Y. physician and a nationally known newspaper woman proved there is a harmless, effective way to lose fat, if you'll only STICK TO IT and give it a fair trial.

In 40 days, 25 women lost a total of 286 lbs. EVERY woman lost fat—the average loss per woman being 11½ lbs. The women first of all ate sensibly. And for proper functioning they took a little daily dose of Kruschen Salts. If you have the slightest doubt about this Plan just ask your own doctor about its safety and merit.

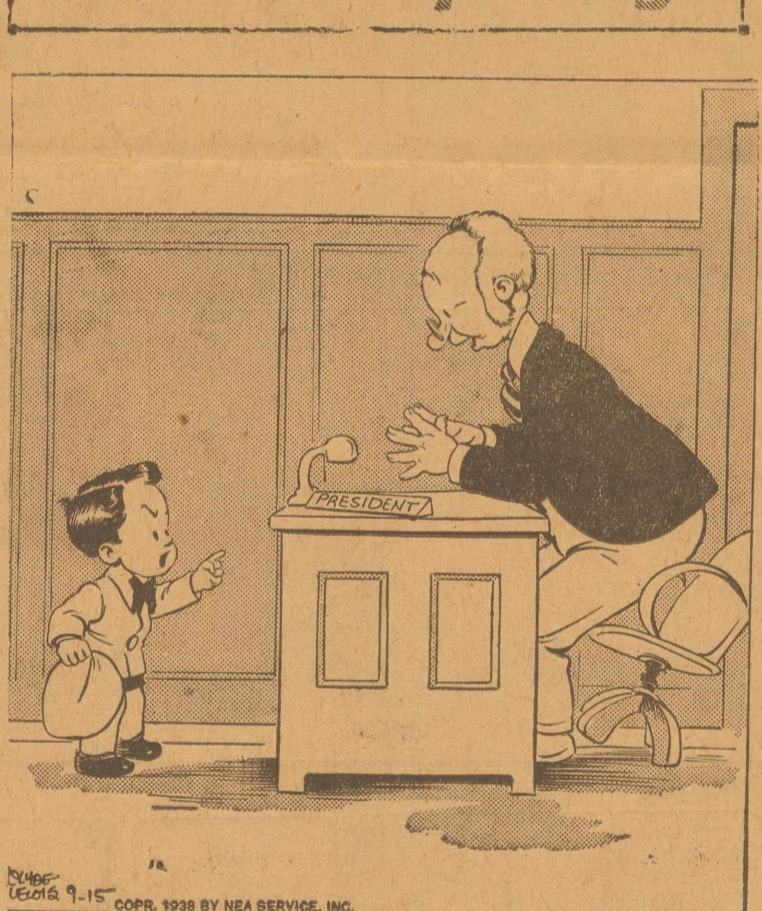

And this is important to know: Kruschen is not just one salt as some people may ignorantly believe. Rather, it's a blend of 6 active mineral salts (see on box) which, when dissolved in water, make a healthful mineral drink similar to the waters of famous European Spas where wealthy fat women have gone for years.

Here's the Kruschen Plan: Just take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in hot water every morning for better functioning. Go light on fatty foods and sweets—eat plentifully of lean meats, fresh fruits and green vegetables. Plan to do this faithfully for 28 days and see if you don't lose fat and feel healthier and younger. A jar costs but a few cents and makes 5 gallons of a most highly efficient mineral health water. At Palace Drug Store and druggists everywhere. (Adv.)

urrent demonstrations of the might of the new Reich army, which are all Europe trembling with war fear, also have foreign military attaches on the alert with the number of military innovations disclosed. One of them is pictured above, where, in the foreground, men of the 2d Army Corps are shown firing at an airplane during maneuvers at Gross-Born. The soldiers are wearing new piebald "camouflage" uniforms, which, scarcely distinguishable even by the camera, are said to be practically invisible from the air.

Hold Everything!

"Am I ambitious? Say, if you hire me I'll be gunnin' for your job in two weeks!"

Array of Fall Foods Makes Filling the Market Basket Fun

With fall crispings the edge of the breeze these mornings and that indefinable something in the air which spells F-A-L-L in capital letters, starting out to fill the market basket is fun as well as necessary.

Of course, in this enlightened day of quick transportation, the "season" of nearly any vegetable runs practically throughout the year. Nevertheless, there is some seasonal fluctuation in the vegetables which fill the grocer's bins and the sight of which makes the average woman homesick for the feel of pots and pans.

Black-eyed peas or kindred kinds of peas are in full swing these September days. A merchant tells us, too, that the buyer can get plenty of peas raised right here at home a Midland-grown product now.

String beans are still good, of course, whether one prefers them boiled, plus Irish potatoes cooked on top of them (and what a flavor it gives the potatoes), buttered, or used in vegetable salads.

Asparagus, of which fresh shipments are coming in, can add a nice fillip to summer-warm menus. Some like it buttered and some like it with cream sauce. And have you ever combined the asparagus with cream sauce idea with a hard-boiled egg topped with a bit of mayonnaise and dashed with paprika as a supper dish? Very nice as we remember from days of eating at a college cafeteria.

STILL IMPROVING.

Tom Patterson who recently underwent a major operation at Mayo Brothers clinic in Rochester, Minn., is reported to be still improving.

Spinach is taking on new life with the coming of fall but it carries the same number of vitamins and healthful properties as ever.

Pecos cantaloupes which are favorites in Midland are out now, so you'll probably omit these juicy delicacies from your market basket for a while.

But why worry? Peaches, grapes, plums, and nectarines are in the headlines for grocery news these weeks. And do they provide plenty leeway for use of the cook's imagination?

Let's don't forget a few apples tucked away somewhere. For baked apples, with cream or served in their own syrup juices, are just the thing for those hungry pupils romping home from school at noon—and for their dads and mothers, too.

New cabbage is on the market. Which means it's time for more slaws with a sharp vinegary tang and for chipped cabbage in fruit and vegetable combination salads.

Remember the secret of having your family eat boiled cabbage is not to cook it too long. Let it be tender but not to lose its flavor.

Yes, after getting one look at the tempting array of eatables displayed in Midland groceries, it's sure that no Midland housekeeper's market basket will have any slight resemblance to Mother Hubbard's poor bare cupboard.

STILL IMPROVING.

Tom Patterson who recently underwent a major operation at Mayo Brothers clinic in Rochester, Minn., is reported to be still improving.

Mussolini Urges Czech Plebiscite

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 13. (AP)—Premier Mussolini of Italy in an open letter to Viscount Runciman, the British mediator, Wednesday urged a plebiscite for "all Czechoslovak nationalities."

Public Invited to View Celebrations of Mexicans Here

AN invitation to all residents of Midland to attend the celebrations in "Juarez" Midland Mexican town, was voiced today by sponsors of the Independence Day program.

A dance and several addresses are scheduled for both tonight and tomorrow night, with a baseball game at 10 o'clock in the morning opening the final day's program.

All parts of the program are free, contributions by local business men having made the celebration possible.

At two o'clock tomorrow afternoon the queen of the celebration will be crowned at the Mexican school and a parade will be held through the business district of town.

Mussolini himself.

It declared: "A Czechoslovak nation does not exist."

The article said Czechoslovakia was held together only by a centrifugal force and if constraint ceased the "phenomenon of dislocation of Czechoslovakia" would be inevitable and irresistible.

Il Duce urged Runciman to assist with a solution "which will go down in history."

"It is no longer time for compromises," the article continued.

"You, Signor Runciman, should simply propose . . . a plebiscite not only for the Sudetens but for all nationalities which ask it."
