Half-Inch of Rain Falls in County

Ranges Greatly Benefited by the General Showers

Rainfall that had been missing in Midland for approximately the last couple of months fell last night over practically the entire county.

Inside the city limits, precipitation amounted to .46 of an inch. It was reported to have been considerably heavier in parts of the county—to the west and northwest.

The rain started falling in town about nine o'clock last night after having threatened throughout the afternoon. At one time in the afternoon a light mist fell but halted until the rain started falling last night. The last rain fell around one o'clock this morning.

Ranges received more benefits from the precipitation than did farms. Many farmers complained that some cotton was beaten out and that feed being harvested was damaged. Other farmers reported late feed was greatly benefited by the rains.

Reports reaching here indicated that the rains were general all the way to Red Bluff, west of here, and to Seminole northwest. They extended to Big Spring on the east and for about 40 miles south of town.

About one inch of rain was reported at 15 miles south of town, a half inch 25 miles south. Seminole was reported to have received about an inch while Andrews got only about half that much. Odessa was reported to have received about three-quarters of an inch.

At Sloan Field, approximately 10 miles west of Midland, a gauge this morning showed a total of .63 of an inch had fallen. Skies remained overcast this morning, giving an indication of possibly more rain. However, the weather forecast for this area did not predict more precipitation.

Britain Moves to Quell Disorders in the Holy Land

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP).—Great Britain ordered additional troops to Palestine Sunday to quell Arab-Jewish disorders in which fighting has reached a scale unprecedented since British and Turks fought there during the World War.

The colonial office announced four additional battalions of troops, one artillery battery and an undisclosed number of armored cars would be dispatched to the Holy Land during the next two or three weeks.

These troops will bring to 21,000 the estimated number of British soldiers and police trying to put down a state of virtual civil war which flared on July 3, 1937, when a British royal commission recommended partition of Palestine into Arab and Jewish states, and a British mandate section.

The decision to send the reinforcements was taken after Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary for Colonies, held urgent conferences with high government officials on the growing violence.

Sir Harold MacMichael, High Commissioner for Palestine, was called hurriedly by plane to London for the conferences. He will confer further with MacDonald today and Tuesday before returning to his post.

Less than a month ago rapidly increasing terrorism led the colonial office to draft two cavalry regiments and four battalions from England and India to augment forces already in Palestine.

This movement involved an estimated 8,000 troops came as Arabs in the Holy Land were hailing Adolf Hitler of Germany and Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy as their hopes in the Arab-Jewish dispute.

The Italian Premier and the German Fuehrer were brought into Palestine's troubled picture following Hitler's Nuremberg speech of Sept. 12, in which he said Arabs in the Holy Land were defenseless and left in lurch.

An Arab spokesman greeted Hitler's statement with this declaration: "Now we are not without friends in Europe; our ultimate success as a nation lies in the hands of Hitler and Mussolini and not Britain and France."

The colonial office announcement Sunday disclosed that the new troop movement would bring Britain's strength in Palestine to seventeen infantry battalions, two horse cavalry regiments and an undetermined number of armored cars and artillerymen.

It added there would be considerable recruitment of ex-service men in Britain for Palestine's police force.

The announcement was taken as indicating Britain, despite pressure from Arab quarters to modify the partition scheme, plans to restore order with an iron hand before showing readiness to talk.

Hitler Says Nazis Ready For Peace

Preparing Self for War Just the Same, Declares in Speech

SAARBUECKEN, Germany, Oct. 10. — Reichsfuehrer Hitler told the world in a short but fighting speech Sunday that Germany is ready for peace but at the same time is preparing herself defensively more than ever.

Standing on the very frontier of France in the Saarland he won from her by plebiscite Jan. 13, 1935, he told cheering thousands the districts of Saarbruecken and Aachen now would be included in Germany's western fortification line.

Aachen is near the junction of the German, Netherlands and Belgian frontiers.

He announced however that revisionists called to the colors just before the European crisis would be released "in the next few days."

"As a strong state," he declared "we are now ready any time for a policy of understanding."

"We want nothing of others. We merely want peace."

This is especially true of our relations with Britain," he said. "It would be good, however, if in Britain certain leftovers from Versailles were discarded."

"We simply cannot stand for a governance-like guardianship."

"Questions about events in Germany are out of place," he continued. "We don't bother about Britain's affairs either. We could, for instance, ask about Palestine. We leave them to those who think God has called them to solve those problems."

Then he declared: "All statesmen in the various countries should mind their own business."

Hitler spoke at a monster demonstration on Liberty Field following the dedication this morning of the Saarland, people's theatre which Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels described as the most modern in Germany.

It is Hitler's gesture to the Saar population in recognition of loyalty to Germany. The Saar officially was returned to Germany March 1, 1935, after the plebiscite of Jan. 13 of that year.

The new building has accommodations for 1,100 persons and Goebbels said it was intended to enable the poor to enjoy the theatre at a low cost.

As he arrived for the speech, Hitler stood in his automobile and rode slowly around the oval of the great Liberty Field while a storm of "hells" broke out.

Beside him sat Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, and Joseph Buerckel, who is the Saar district Nazi leader and the Reich's commissioner in Austria.

The field was rimmed by high masts from which fluttered myriads of Swastika banners.

Hitler came here by train and drove through packed streets directly to Liberty Field.

Hitler summed up the Nazis' 1938 achievement as the addition of 10,000,000 Germans and 42,470 square miles of land to Germany in a peaceful way.

Two Hobbs Men Die When Plane Falls

HOBBS, N. M., Oct. 10 (AP).—Two young Hobbs business men were killed Sunday when their private plane apparently struck a down-draft about 1,500 feet above a local golf course, throwing both men out of the plane.

Witnesses, among the many Sunday afternoon golfers, said the plane circled the golf course, then plunged suddenly toward the ground, hurling both occupants who apparently had not fastened their safety belts, from the cockpit.

As Arab Revolt Spreads in Holy Land

As the two-and-a-half-year reign of terror by Arab rebels against British mandate rule in Palestine became so intensified that 1700 casualties and more than 700 deaths resulted in the last ten weeks, Great Britain took drastic steps to crush the revolt. British troops, aided by Royal Air Force planes, killed fifty men in a major engagement near the northern border of Galilee. Because of the guerrilla nature of the warfare, all Arabs are under close surveillance. In the photo above, Jewish supernumerary police are shown searching Arabs in the mountains of Galilee.

Declare He Gave Support To Germany

Say Statement by Him Helped Cause Czech Surrender

MOSCOW, Oct. 10 (AP).—Soviet Russia's leading airman today denounced Colonel Charles Lindbergh in a statement accusing him of spreading lies about the Soviet air strength to give Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain an argument for the surrender of Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet statement apparently arose from unverified reports in two London newspapers that Lindbergh had been critical of the Soviet air force.

Lindbergh has made no comment on the reports.

The statement, published in the communist party paper Pravda, accused Lindbergh of telling guests of Lady Astor that Germany's air fleet was powerful enough to defeat the combined air strength of England, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

The statement was signed by ten Russian air heroes and civil aviation chief Molokoff.

Governor's Investigation of Major Traffic Wreck Informative

Investigation of Texas' most tragic automobile collision in 1938 has been completed by a special committee appointed by Governor Allred, and immediate release of the report and recommendations made by Carl J. Rutland, chairman of the committee and president of the Texas Safety Association, Inc.

Governor Allred created this committee to investigate an automobile crash at Highway 80 and Belt Line Road, near Dallas, on May 5, 1938, in which six people were killed and two badly injured.

This is the first case on record of an investigation of an automobile accident by the governor of a state, and the committee, composed of C. J. Rutland, Albert Sidney Johnson, of the Public Safety commission, Harry Hines of the State Highway commission, and Judge Ben Fly of the Dallas county commissioners' court, devoted its efforts to learning the fundamental causes of the fatal crash and drafting a number of recommendations for the prevention of such tragedies in the future.

In its report, the committee named violation of a boulevard stop sign, speed too high for safety, driving while under the influence of intoxicants, and ignoring a crossroad sign as the immediate cause of the fatal crash. In its conclusions the committee charges the traffic system of the state with failure to educate the driver to the dangers of these violations—failure to enforce the traffic laws, and provide certainty of punishment for violators, together with need for further traffic engineering for safety on streets and highways.

The committee recommended a state-wide traffic survey, county by county, perhaps through WPA funds. It points out the need for a substantial increase in the state highway patrol personnel. It urges adoption of an anti-ticket-fixing pledge by all city councils and county officials in the state.

Complete scrapping of the state traffic laws and adoption of the Model Code as recommended by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, was urged.

A definite program of education for motorists, a revision of the driver's license law, giving the Texas department of public safety authority to suspend licenses, with the right of appeal, and providing for a small fee to be charged for each license issued, were recommended.

A copy of the published report of this committee's investigation and recommendations has been mailed to every official in the state concerned with traffic matters. Ten thousand copies have been printed for distribution.

The committee calls attention to the fact that the annual number of traffic accident victims in Texas is over six times as great as the number who perished in the New London school disaster and it appeals to every public official and every citizen of the state of Texas to join the committee and the governor in demanding that these recommendations and other steps necessary to make our highways safe be put into effect without further delay and political quibbling, and consequent waste of life and property.

Letter Writing To Aid French, N. Y. Students

PARIS, (U.P.)—The French ministry of national education and the New York board of education have completed arrangements whereby nearly 5,000 pupils in New York high schools will correspond with a like number of French high school students.

The two-way correspondence, limited to those young people having a rating of 80 per cent in modern language, will begin with the fall school term. A special "clearing house" will be provided to see that the thousands of letters reach their proper destination, and the entire project will be under the supervision of the "Correspondence Scolaire Internationale" of France.

Co-educational correspondence, however, was banned by the French educators who sanctioned the project. French girls will not be permitted to correspond with American boys. American girls will have more liberty and write to French youth of either sex.

As the project is planned solely for the improvement of young France's English, exchange of corrections will be an essential part of the correspondence. Lawrence A. Wilkins, director of foreign languages for the New York City school system, who was instrumental in forming the bureau, believes that the plan will "contribute to improvement in our pupils' French."

The 4-Power Peace Plan at Home

The Town Quack

Jess Miles didn't miss his forecast much and B. H. Blakeney can now call himself a full fledged weather prognosticator. Both of them first set the rain to fall before Saturday night. Later, Blakeney moved his guess up to Sunday night. By ten o'clock Sunday night we were getting a lively shower. Maybe Jess would have moved up his guess too if he had seen me, but didn't get through milking in time to come to town. He has so many cows that he starts the milking about 4 o'clock in the morning. By the time he gets through with the morning milking, it's time to start on that evening's job.

We have had all kinds of weather lately, as you may see by the pictures our cameraman has turned in.

Here's Ray Hyatt, at his desk, calculating an insurance rate in a fog. The cameraman didn't say whether it was the sky or Ray's calculating machinery which was in a fog.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. — The A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. are agreed on one thing anyway: They don't like Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

A resolution, prepared at the A. F. of L. convention in Houston charges that RFC has been lending money to corporations employing non-union labor at low wages. C. I. O. has made similar complaints.

This doesn't do Jesse's presidential aspirations any good, but according to some of the chairman's best friends nothing could. Jones, who is as able as he is business-like, appears to be the only one who takes those aspirations seriously any more. Although he is highly regarded by most conservative Democrats who think the Roosevelt administration is spend-thrift, it is generally conceded that the Texas delegation at the 1940 convention will be for Garner.

THE last Congress provided in the work relief appropriations act that no rates lower than the minimum provided in the wage-hour act (25 cents an hour) should be paid WPA workers in "similar occupations."

In southern states a minimum WPA wage of $26 a month prevails. This means about 18 cents an hour. Objection has been raised that WPA workers aren't in inter-state commerce and furthermore, that WPA jobs and work in private industry aren't "similar."

Then why, demands the Workers' Alliance, did Congress put such a provision in the act?

THE CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL, Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 10. (AP).—The municipal tourist camps which 15 years ago dotted Texas from end to end have just about disappeared.

This is the information from state offices of the league of Texas municipalities and the state health department.

Time was when the camps were choked on summer nights with tourists, many of whom were driving expensive model automobiles.

They were regarded as assets to business and cities tried to make them attractive. Some had public baths and furnished free fuel for cooking.

But the picture has changed, says E. E. McAdams, secretary of the league of Texas municipalities. The most prominent point in it is the tourist court.

The privately-owned tourist court has almost completely supplanted the old tourist camp and is drawing the better-class travelers, most of whom not only do not want to camp, but don't want to cook.

"Only a few cities in Texas now have tourist camps," said McAdams, formerly city manager of Waco. "The old style of camp, which really was a glorified wagon yard, served its purpose as a transition period between the horse and buggy days and modern motor travel.

"Now it is about gone and nobody is shedding tears over its demise." A somewhat related type of camp is maintained by some Texas cities for trailer traffic, McAdams said.

The state health department likewise reported the tourist camp in the progress of taking its final breaths.

The proprietor of one of the largest tourist courts in Amarillo told the writer recently she would remove the kitchens from most of her cabin-apartments this winter.

Travelers, she said, weren't using the kitchens, but were eating in restaurants. She planned to turn the kitchens into bedrooms.

The state health department has published a list of about 600 tourist courts and organized camp grounds which it has approved. Approval is based on a sanitation standard. The minimum standard includes:

A well-drained site. A reliable caretaker who is responsible for the condition of the court, including sanitation, cleanliness, drainage, mosquito control, etc. An adequate supply of potable drinking water properly protected and its quality checked by periodic bacteriological tests. Modern flush toilets with connection to a sewer system if possible. Otherwise, a connection to an approved sewage disposal plant. Metal fly-proof, covered garbage cans and means of disposing of garbage daily by incineration or burial. A sufficient number of storage receptacles for trash or refuse which is disposed of properly. All living quarters shall be properly screened and maintained with adequate lighting, heating and ventilation facilities. Absence of rodents, flies, roaches and other insects. Cabin interior and furnishings including bed covers, linen, etc., shall be clean. Adequate bathing facilities with provision for disinfection and cleaning. Periodic inspection by local health authorities to see that regulations are carried out and the court kept continuously in a condition to merit approval.

Brothers, 88 and 75, With Same Birthday Celebrate Together

When brothers with a difference of 13 years in their ages have birthdays falling on the same day of the month, that is an interesting coincidence. When those same brothers live to be 88 years and 75 years of age respectively, the birthday is something to celebrate.

W. T. Lester of Midland, now 75, and D. P. (Pat) Lester of Comanche, now 88, thought so and decided to celebrate their joint birthday, September 27, together. The Comanche man came to Midland and a birthday dinner was served at the home of A. W. Lester, nephew and son of the honorees, at the Magnolia Tank Farm. A birthday cake with candles, presentation of gifts to the two honor guests, and making of pictures were features of the birthday celebration attended by a group of relatives and friends.

Relatives attending were: The honorees, Mrs. W. T. Lester, E. C. Lester and family of Kermit, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Richman and family, A. W. Lester and family, and Jess Rodgers, all of Midland.

Nothing is more important to them than their eyes. No child is healthy without healthy eyes. No child can achieve success without good vision.

FEMININE FANCIES

By KATHLEEN EILAND

The best time for really appreciating the average, comfortable American home is when the rain is pounding down outside on a fall night. Or when a norther is shrieking down from the Panhandle in the dead of winter.

There is something about the contrast between the warmth and security and content within and the sounds of cold and loneliness without which makes one more appreciative of the good things given him. An understanding, perhaps, of one of the things meant in that Biblical quotation, "The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage."

We heard of an attractive and easily prepared salad the other day, recipe for which we think is worth passing on. It makes the chief dish of a light meal.

Peel ripe pears, halve and place three halves on each plate, arranged with small ends in the center so as to make a flower effect. Put the cut sides up with seeds taken out. Over these scatter skinned grapes of the light green type that are such delicious eating. Top with salad dressing.

With small sandwiches, cakes, and a drink, such a salad makes a satisfying light meal.

Nearest things in the little wall-bracket what-not shelves are those which have a mirror on the back. These will reflect cherished souvenirs in a pleasant way.

YANKEES SET RECORD BY WINNING THIRD SERIES IN A ROW

6 PITCHERS USED BY CUBS IN FINAL GAME LOSS BY 3-8

By PAUL MICKELSON.

YANKEE STADIUM, Oct. 10 (AP).

The greatest victory march in all baseball history ended in burliness Sunday as Joe McCarthy's pitiless New York Yankees stamped the pitiful Chicago Cubs 8-3 for the fourth straight victory that made them the first ball club to win three successive world championship conquests.

Before 59,847 cash customers, whose sympathies for the beaten and outclassed were so touched that they cheered in vain for a rally from the club that only a week ago was the hotter in baseball, the Yankees simply toyed with their once highly touted enemy and ended their record-breaking odyssey over their rather prostrate forms of six Cub pitchers, including Bill Lee and Bizzy Dean.

The triumph, turned into a comedy of errors, boos and whoops in the eighth just as the Cubs came within a run from tying the score, completed the sweep to three world crowns began at the Polo Grounds, New York.

It ended with the Yanks winners of 12 out of 15 world series games played, only Carl Hubbell and his New York Giants interrupting the parade to win two games in 1936 and another last year. Not since inter-league classic began in 1903 has a team ever before won three straight world championships.

Revenge for McCarthy.

The result was more than that. It gave McCarthy complete revenge on his old Chicago Cub bosses who fired him as manager quite unceremoniously after six years of service in 1930. The grand slam was the second for the Yanks under McCarthy. In 1932, his club swept the Cubs four in a row. Not in history of any sport has a man had such revenge and as he sat chewing gum in the dressing room after it was all over, Morse Joe didn't mind letting the world know he was a happy man.

Sunday's finishing Yankee riot was a ball game as long as the Yankees, half of the eighth. The Yankees, cashing in on a bad throw by Bill Jurges for an ultimate total of three runs in the second off Lee and picking up another on a home run smash by Tommy Henrich in the 6th, saw a 4-1 lead threatened in the 6th. Phil Cavarretta doubled for the 6th hit off the steady big Yankee strong arm man, Charlie Ruffing, and Ken O'Dea homered him in for the third Cub run with a towering clout into the right field seats. But the hopes of the multitude—even rabid Yankee fans were cheering for a Cub victory—glittered and then fell as the Cub pitcher collapsed under the terrific strain.

This is what happened to turn the light, dramatic game into burlesque: Vance Page, freshman hurler for the Cubs, had been doing some fine relief duty, succeeding Charlie Rife who had rescued Lee, and there was one Yankee down. Joe DiMaggio opened with a single to left and Gehrig drove him to third with a terrific one base smash to right. Out went Page and in came big Larry French, the southpaw to pitch to left-handed hitter, Bill Dickey. He did his job, forcing Dickey to pop to Jurges and then went out in favor of Tex Carleton. And the Yanks made poor play with the clown for their final horseplay with the horsehide.

Tex's first pitch to Myril Hoag, substituting for the injured George Selkirk, came close to being a wild pitch. His second was a wild one and DiMaggio rushed over for a run. Hoag then doubled to left scoring Gehrig and almost immediately took third on Carleton's second wild pitch. Gordon was given an intentional pass and made it all the further by stealing second without a play from Catcher O'Dea. Ruffing walked after fouling off several pitches and the bases were loaded, providing just the setting the Yanks desired for in came Dean to relieve Carleton.

Frank Crossetti hit Diz's second pitch for a high fly that fell in short left field for a double, scoring Hoag and Gordon. The comedy ended as Red Rolfe, completing the swing in the Yankee bat-around for the comical inning, lined out to first.

Herman Made Final Out.

Whatever hearts the Cubs, beaten in every department of baseball, even in luck, all week, had left went out there. They nicked Ruffing for their 8th hit in their last gasp try in the 9th but Big Red lined the next three batters down and it was all over. Herman providing the final out of one of the most pitiful world series in history by hitting a grounder to Ruffing, who tossed to Gehrig. The box score:

Science Defeating Efforts of Forgers

AUSTIN. — Science is defeating the efforts of forgers who prey upon the bank accounts of honest citizens.

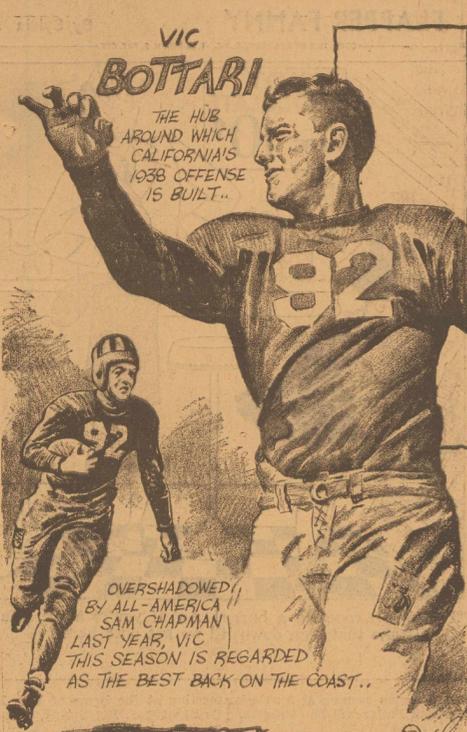

In the crim detection laboratory at state police headquarters, where an average of two forged documents are studied and compared with genuine papers each week, there are delicate instruments galore with which Joe S. Fletcher, examiner of questioned writings, "raps" questioned writings. In his profession the state expert deals with numerous types of forgeries which might have gone undetected before the advent of modern systems for identification. Mostly, however, he works on cases involving the tracing of signatures and copying. In third showing position are the checks showing erasures when amounts are raised.

Forgers, Fletcher pointed out, always leave some minute mark that means the difference between their own writing and that of the victim. "It is almost impossible for anyone to disguise his signature so that some natural habit doesn't show up after a number of signatures are copied," he said.

Furthermore, forgers are usually overly-cautious in performing their illegal tasks. Nervous tension shows up in the result with tremors, and lines not reflecting rhythmic writing. Many of them, not satisfied with their handwork, retrace some of the letters and the tracings stand out in the crime detection laboratory. These tremors are more pronounced in traced signatures than in simulated copies because it is more difficult for the forger to watch the pencil point and the model at the same time.

In one recent wave of forging over 200 checks in amounts ranging from $35 to $45 have been examined. Even of them have numerous marks of similarity that identify the maker as the same person. They are always passed to women who operate boarding and rooming houses and have been spread from West to East Texas. Officers have good description of a man and woman suspected of passing these forged checks but they have not been captured. When they are—and they will be snared—Fletcher will have a maze of court exhibits to present for prosecution purposes. In several instances innocent persons accused of forgeries because of a witness's identification of the passer, have been freed as a result of studies in the Austin laboratory with the guilty party being brought to justice.

For raising amounts of checks the chemically minded forger uses ink radiators that bleach iron crystals in the writing. Under the ultra-violet ray light in the laboratory Fletcher sees the writing as it was originally. In other amount raising schemes figures are changed and numbers written in before and after the original signs. As an example, a check for one dollar may be raised to four dollars by placing the letter "F" before the "one" and changing the "N" to "U" and "E" to "R". The figure "1" is changed to "4".

In other cases where the honest citizen does not place wavy lines before and after amounts written on checks, the clever forger may place a "twenty" or any other amount before the "one" to raise the check to $21, or $21,000.

Honest check writers, Fletcher admonished, sometimes adopt a very complicated signature in an effort to forestall forgers. Even their closest associates would have difficulty in distinguishing the signature. This type of writing is much easier for the forger to duplicate than smooth, rhythmic writing in which every letter is plainly discernible, he declared.

Machine written checks are nearly as widely spread by forgers and passers as those devised by hand-writing methods. Forgery gangs sometimes have check protecting machines as part of their equipment. The less difficult types of checks for forgers to pass are those with firm names printed on them and the amounts written in with check protecting machines. Forgers usually adopt a check form similar to those used by business concerns employing hundreds of people.

Although the records in the state police bureau show numerous systems dishonest check writers use, this is becoming one of the most difficult means by which criminals live. Regardless of the system, their activities almost always land them in prison where their writing tastes are limited by supervision.

They can't beat the microscope.

To Remove Fruit Stains.
Plum, pear and peach stains on washable materials may be removed by soaking in warm glycerine. Rinse in clear warm water. If the stain is still visible, repeat the process. Occasionally stubborn stains require bleaching. Use a solution of two teaspoons of sodium perborate to a cup of water and soak the spot until it has disappeared. Rinse thoroughly before washing with hot water and suds.

Championship May Be Settled When Frogs, Ags Meet

FORT WORTH, Oct. 10. — Two league games and two inter-sectional conflicts feature the play of South-west Conference teams this week. One team, the Southern Methodist Mustangs, are idle.

The two conference melees find the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs journeying down in South Texas to College Station, where they tangle with the rough and tough Texas Aggies in a game which might easily be the deciding factor in the pennant chase.

Last year the two played a 7-7 deadlock before 27,000 fans in Fort Worth.

The other conference game is between Arkansas' Hogs and Dana X. Bible's Texas Longhorns in Little Rock. This battle might be the tussle that decides the conference celebrates for the 1938 season as both the Hogs and the Steers have been awarded the booby prize in the pre-season dope books by most experts.

Arkansas won over Texas last year, 21 to 10.

The inter-sectional games see Rice's Owls against Tulane's Green Wave in New Orleans and Baylor's Golden Bears in what should be an interesting 50 against the Gentlemen of Centenary in Waco.

The Owl's game with the Tulane eleven will be the last chance the other conference team will have to see the Feathered Flock in action before it starts its war again them. Rice opens its race for the flag Oct. 22 against Texas.

Baylor and Centenary appear fairly evenly-matched and should put on a good show at Waco. Last year the Bears had the Gentlemen up a tree to the tune of 20 to 0.

The other conference team, S. M. U. will be taking it easy over the week-end in preparation for probably their hardest game of the season, that with Pittsburgh' powerful Panthers.

Track Wagers Top 66 Million In California

SACRAMENTO, Cal. (U.P.). — California has become the greatest horse playing state in the nation and more than $66,000,000 went through its pari-mutuel windows during the last fiscal year.

Beautiful Santa Anita track, under the shadow of the Sierra Madre mountains, is largely responsible for this huge wagering total. The track took in a total of $37,889,491 during its winter season and immediately served notice it would raise its purses and prizes next season to the highest in history for any American track.

The new Hollywood Turf club track at Inglewood, opened this year for the first time, grossed $6,870,486 when the state's books were closed on June 30. It bids to become a serious rival to Santa Anita in a few more seasons. The new layout, close to the movie studios and backed by such potent figures and Jack and Harry Warner, the headmen of Warner Brothers studios, does not compete with Santa Anita for racing dates.

There were 258 days of racing at the 18 tracks conducting pari-mutuel betting in California. The state was the real winner, collecting 4 per cent of the take and the revenue from license fees. This money is turned back into state county and agricultural shows, in addition to agricultural schools of the state.

Bay Meadows Second.
Bay Meadows and Tanforan in the San Francisco area showed an increase in betting of from 10 to 20 per cent. Bay Meadows was in second place in the state with a fall handle of $4,844,543 and spring total of $3,989,259, making a combined total of $8,833,805. Tanforan grossed $8,034,969.

Bing Crosby's track at Del Mar came up to $2,224,301 for the fiscal year. The Los Angeles county fair at Pomona had the surprising total of $1,754,000, many times more than the total of $305,193 at the state fair in Sacramento, considered second only to the Minnesota state fair for attendance honors.

Compact Knife File.

The efficiency of kitchen knives depends not only on their quality but on the care taken of them and the method of storing. Knives with dull blades nicked and dulled by contact with other utensils slow kitchen routine. A space-saving wooden knife rack of the file type which adequately protects the blades has slots for five knives of varying sizes and may be hung on the wall or, if more convenient, stood on table or shelf. It is inexpensive, but attractively finished in ivory with green or red, or white with black or blue.

New Belt Bag.

It's the touch of the unusual, the out-of-the-ordinary, that makes for individuality. A clever new accessory, utterly unnecessary but handy as that is a small heart-shaped bag of calf with a slide-fastener closing, which slips over a narrow matching belt—for change, a diminutive powder puff, lipstick or watch. It comes in black, brown, or the new Fall shades. By all means have your initials engraved across the front.

No, the young men above aren't practicing to haunt houses. They've merely been caught in some of the teeth-baring, lip-curling poses which go with this business of trying to intimidate an opposing tackle. line and using the resulting savings for a few lessons with a voice teacher.

More than likely, however, she will simply lay down a few rules for herself, then stick to them. She will abandon the slang expression she over-uses simply because she never has taken the trouble to find out a few good old Anglo-Saxon words to substitute for it and she will go right straight to the dictionary, look up a good substitute and in so doing discover several more.

She'll practice using good words in place of slang expressions. And she'll try to speak clearly and distinctly all of the time. Furthermore, she'll keep a dictionary handy and make a game of finding out how to pronounce words she suspects she now mispronounces.

Finally, she'll read aloud to herself often. Reading aloud, really is a sure-fire way to improve your speech.

Nutty Cup Cakes Make Sane Dessert

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox, NEA Service Staff Writer.

Cup cakes will round out any meal. Even the plainest is welcome. Yellow Nut Cup Cakes. (About 26).

One cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter or butter substitute, 2 eggs, 1 3/4 cups sifted cake flour, 1 cup broken nut meats, 2 teaspoons baking powder, pinch salt, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/8 teaspoon grated lemon rind.

Cream butter and sugar until light and creamy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Sift a little flour over nuts. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to butter and sugar mixture alternately with milk, beating after each addition. Add flavoring and fold in floured nuts.

Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full or use paper baking cups, filling them only one-third full. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 25 minutes. Dust with sugar.

Mocha Cup Cakes. (About 20). One cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1 egg, 1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup ground cocoa, 1/4 cup milk mixed with 1/4 cup strong coffee, 1/2 teaspoon almond extract.

Cream butter and sugar until light and creamy. Beat in the egg. Sift together baking powder, salt and cocoa. Add to butter and sugar mixture alternately with milk and coffee mixture. Beat after each addition. Fold in almond extract.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes. Top with white icing or flavored sugar.

Keep a supply of flavored sugars on the shelf. Use glass jars filled with sugar and vanilla bean, sugar and peppermint candy, sugar with orange or lemon peel. The sugar will absorb the flavor.

People Take You at Your Word, So Make It A Good One

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Service Staff Writer.

Nothing is more incongruous than slipshod speech and annoying enunciation coming from the mouth of a woman who, obviously, has spent a great deal of time on grooming routines and prides herself on always looking her best.

The girl who is determined to be attractive each and every hour of the day thinks of beauty in a broader sense than just the importance of makeup, the latest hair-do, the right clothes. She knows that one must be immaculate from head to foot, subtly made up, have perfect posture and keep her hands soft, smooth and well manicured. But she knows also that she'll be judged by her voice as well as her appearance. So, along with her other self-improvement routines, she finds time to do something about her speech.

For instance, she may rearrange her beauty budget, cutting down a bit here and there along the Plaids Go to the Foot.

Plaids are so very important in the fall and winter fashion scheme, even shoe couturiers have adopted them for some of their smartest models. A famous Fifth Avenue shoe stylist offers neat oxfords with a fore-shortening last in authentic clan plaids trimmed with bands of soft dark suede. Matching plaid gloves and sporran-bags would complete the plaid accessory ensemble.
