Parliament Is Urged to Okeh Pact

Chamberlain Says Duce, Hitler Not Interested in Spain

LONDON, Nov. 2. (P).—Premier Chamberlain, declaring the Spanish war is "no longer a menace to the peace of Europe," today demanded parliament approve conclusion of his friendship pact with Premier Mussolini.

Chamberlain based his argument for such action, which would let him continue his search for general European appeasement, on "most definite assurances from Chancellor Hitler and Mussolini at Munich that they want no Spanish territory."

Great Britain, he said, has no intention of trying to block Chancellor Adolf Hitler's drive to the east or attempting to encircle the Reich economically.

Chamberlain's admission of Germany's dominance, an open challenge to his critics, carried with it announcement that the British government is determined to bend all its efforts toward achieving an understanding with dictators.

After defending the peace of Munich, Chamberlain described Britain's earnest desire, in close concert with France, for understanding with Germany and Italy to consolidate the cause of European peace.

"Geographically, Germany must occupy the dominant position in Central and Southeast Europe," he said. "She does so now."

"As far as this country is concerned, we have no wish to block Germany out of these countries or to encircle her economically."

"We have no aggressive intentions against Germany or any other country. Our sole concern is to see that this country and the colonial communications are safe and that she shall not be so weak in relations to other countries that our diplomats cannot enter into discussion on equal footing."

"Nothing is further from our minds than entry into a new armaments race."

Navy Receiving Bids Today for Huge Battleships

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (P).—The navy will receive bids at noon on construction of three 35,000-ton battleships—the biggest order for naval building since the World War.

The all-time record was set on October 25, 1916, when the navy opened tenders on four battleships, 20 torpedo boat destroyers, four speed cruisers and 29 submarines.

The vessels on which bids will be opened will be sister ships of two now under construction at navy yards. These craft will be the biggest and most powerful fighting ships ever sent to sea by the United States navy. Each is expected to cost, fully equipped, about $70,000,000. The bids, however, are to cover only hulls and machinery. Other equipment will be added by the navy later.

The bids were invited in July and originally were scheduled for opening October 5. Bidders asked more time, however, to solve the complexities of the construction plans. Funds for four battleships, in addition to the two already under construction, were voted by the last session of congress.

Slaying, Abductions Solved by Hoover As Four Are Jailed

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (P).—The kidnap-slaying of a suburban business man and the cremation of his body in New York, and the hitherto unknown abductions of two Brooklyn men ransomed for a total of $14,000 were announced last night by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief.

He said four men were under arrest and that "certain ones had confessed."

Hoover said the body of Arthur Fried, executive of a sand and gravel company in nearby White Plains, who disappeared last Dec. 4, had been destroyed.

Those kidnaped and ransomed without their disappearances being made public were Benjamin Farber, 33, and Norman Miller, 19, both of Brooklyn.

The prisoners were identified by Hoover as Joseph F. Sacoda, Demetrius Gula, William Jacknis and John Virga.

Farber, a coal dealer, was seized by kidnapers last April 18 in front of a National City bank branch in Brooklyn and released upon payment of $1,900. Hoover said.

Miller, son of the head of a stevedoring company, disappeared at midnight July 24 and was freed for $13,000. Fried was manager of the cinder department of the Colonial Sand & Stone Co.

Football Fans Here Wonder What League Midland Will Be in Next Year After New Alignment of Schools Projected

Announcement yesterday by the Texas Interscholastic League executive committee of a proposed realignment of high schools in football for 1939 competition has many football fans here wondering just where Midland will be placed next year.

A tentative district that will include Big Spring, Lamesa, Odessa, San Angelo and Sweetwater would probably welcome Midland as a member. Also, the El Paso district, reduced to three teams by the new set-up, would probably like to have Midland as a member.

It appears virtually certain that Midland will have to go into a higher league next year. The league will be one of the new Class AA affairs that will be started in 1939. Other schools in what is now district 7-B will be operating in 7-A district. Enrollment in the high school now is 486, only 14 shy of the maximum number of students allowed in a class-B school. Without doubt, the enrollment here will pass 500 long before the school year is out.

When the enrollment reaches 600, officials of the Interscholastic League will place Midland in any district they choose to unless school officials here ask to be located in another.

Sentiment regarding whether to go into the district to the east or west appears fairly evenly divided. Many point out that the clubs in the league to the east draw larger crowds and the Midland share of gate receipts would prove larger.

Proponents of the idea of going into the El Paso district enter counterclaims by saying Midland teams, on an average would not be able to afford serious competition for members of the east league (3-AA) and that not only would it be playing boys out of their class but that gate receipts would fall off in all towns, including Midland, unless the local team could offer competition for opposing clubs. Many point out that Midland, on an average, could well hold its own with schools in the El Paso district. The Midland defeat of Odessa, favorite to win the district championship of the El Paso district this year, has given impetus to their claims.

Nothing, as yet, has been decided. But it appears likely that school officials will act within the very near future by making application to the Interscholastic League to be placed in either district 3-AA or in the El Paso district.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison Wadley left this morning for Dallas where he will do some Christmas buying. They will also attend the SMU-A&M football game. "Just in case" some one wants to play golf, he is carrying his golf clubs.

Loophole Left for Peace Overture By the Chinese

TOKYO, Nov. 2. (P).—Japan bluntly announced to the world tonight she intended to create a political and economic block comprising the Japanese empire, Manchoukuo and China in carrying out her "immutable policy" for Asiatic reconstruction after the war with China.

The formal government declaration left a loophole for possible peace with the present government of China "if it would come forward to join in the establishment of a new order."

"Japan," the statement continued, "is confident other powers will appreciate correctly her aims and policy and adopt their attitude to new conditions prevailing in East Asia."

The statement appeared to indicate Japan expected China's role in Asia's future to be similar to that of Manchoukuo, formed from China's Manchurian provinces conquered by Japan between 1931 and 1933.

Body of Kerrville Doctor Found With Bullet in His Head

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2. (P).—Shot through the head, the body of Dr. David H. Carson, 61, Kerrville, believed kidnaped yesterday, was found today in his automobile 150 yards from the San Antonio-Kerrville highway near here.

Apparent powder stains were found on Dr. Carson's right hand and forehead and a pistol lay at his feet. Justice of peace Raymond Genhardt said the doctor, whom officers had hunted throughout the night, had been dead for three or four hours.

Sheriff Will Wood said marks indicated another person had been in the automobile. He was believed to have been a former Legion hospital patient with whom the doctor was seen at Kerrville yesterday.

The patient was said to have been a paroled Kansas convict.

When the enrollment reaches 600, officials of the Interscholastic League will place Midland in any district they choose to unless school officials here ask to be located in another.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Consumer Needs

Consumers with a more realistic view of their future earning capacity are watching their expenditures more carefully. Consumers are willing to forego services they formerly enjoyed rather than pay higher prices because of the necessary higher overhead costs. Consumers are learning that co-operation will get for them many things they could not obtain as individuals. Consumers have more time to devote to their buying and to co-operation. Wilford L. White made these observations at the annual convention of the National Wholesale Hardware Association at Atlantic City. Hardware men need more knowledge of consumer needs. Consumers need education on price and quality and hardware men need to know their own products more thoroughly. This sounds like old-time common sense and is well worth repeating to all business men bedeviled by fast changing conditions in a turbulent world of commerce. But this advice is more than that, it is advice from the one man in the United States who can best follow the consumer's dollar as it flows in trade in the United States. For Wilford L. White is the marketing research chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

SO THEY SAY

FOOD FOR THOUGHT ON FREIGHT RATES

(Big Spring Herald.)
Maybe you missed it, but the analysis of the freight rate situation in West Texas recently released by the West Texas chamber of commerce contained a great deal of food for thought for business men and farmers in the territory served by the organization. The report is a challenge to a fight that involves hundreds of millions of dollars. It shows that West Texas is paying higher freight rates than any other section in the nation, while the expense of transportation in this area is lower than in any other in the country. Getting down to cases, the report shows that West Texas is paying freight rates greater by 72 per cent than those in the Ohio-Indiana area. Where the latter region pays $1.22 per hundred pounds for 500-mile hauls, West Texas is paying $2.26 per one hundred pounds. Statistics are presented to show that the expense of transportation is 17 per cent less in West Texas than in any other zone. As a remedy, the organization proposes an amendment to the interstate commerce act which will "definitely instruct the interstate commerce commission to revise the intraterritorial freight rate structure so as to bring the rates closer together in both level and scheme, said level not to exceed a maximum of five per cent as between any of the regions of the country, and to revise and blend the interterritorial rates with the interterritorial structure." That is about the only way to get a square deal for West Texas—compel the ICC to act whether it wants to or not. The claim that unjust freight rates are costing West Texas $100,000,000 a year is one calling for serious consideration from congress. Obviously such a condition is hampering the growth and development of West Texas, and compelling West Texas farmers and business men to suffer direct losses totaling a huge sum. This evil goes back to other days, even before the ICC came into being, the reports set forth. "In view of greatly changed conditions, as to development, density of traffic and transportation, the board feels that the time has now arrived when there should be a complete overhauling and revision of all freight rate making policies and practices," the report continues. It shows that the rate on wheat has increased 133 per cent since 1914; rate on fat cattle from nine West Texas towns to Fort Worth has increased 50 per cent in the same period, while cotton rates have increased 36 per cent. Removal of these discriminatory rates would take the burden off West Texas and enable it to put on an era of development that would outstrip any that has gone before. When the Nazis come again, the Vienna cardinal's butler will say, "Innitzer is out, sir."

Speech on Democracy

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The next House of Representatives will have somewhere between a couple of dozen and half a gross more Republican congressmen than it has now at the lowest point of G. O. P. House strength in history. Quite a few Democrats who came in on Roosevelt coal-tails by small majorities in 1936 or previously will go back to private life. Casualties will nearly all be among comparative newcomers. Republicans, perhaps with one or two exceptions, will keep their seats. Few nationally known congressmen—and none of the powerful committee chairmen who hail from safe Democratic southern territory—are in danger of defeat. Party primaries have hit the House liberal bloc, by and large a strongly pro-New Deal group, some hard blows. The elections Nov. 8 threaten further losses to this bloc.

SEVEN SPOTS TO FILL

THE present House contains 328 Democrats, 88 Republicans, seven Progressives and five Farmer-Laborites. There are seven vacancies. All 435 seats are to be filled by the election except for three in Maine to which Republicans were re-elected in September. Estimates of probable Republican gain range from 25 or 25 conceded by most Democratic leaders to 80 or 85 claimed by some Republicans. The most conservative Republican experts think they will get 35 or 40 new seats and will be elated by victories in excess of that. Both sides agree that the largest Democratic losses will be in Pennsylvania, whose House delegation of 27 now includes but seven Republicans, and Ohio, in whose delegation are 21 Democrats two Republicans, one vacancy. Republicans think they may pick up 10 new seats in Pennsylvania and from 5 to 10 in Ohio, where there are at least 10 hot contests. Their most reliable confidential surveys say they have excellent prospects in at least five Illinois congressional districts, three to five fair prospects in Michigan, two to five in New Jersey, two or more in Connecticut, two or three in Indiana, one to three in Minnesota, possibly five in Iowa, maybe one or two in Washington and possibilities or better of one each in Kansas, South Dakota, New Hampshire, Colorado and Montana. 50 NEW G. O. P. SEATS ESTIMATED. THE recent Newsweek magazine poll of political leaders and correspondents produced an average estimate of 50 new Republican seats. Whatever the result, the next House seems certain to be more conservative and more independent of the White House. Although Republicans know they won't get a majority, they expect to elect enough new men to form an anti-New Deal bulwark in frequent coalitions with conservative Democrats. Losses of the liberal bloc emphasize this likelihood. Texas primaries resulted in defeats of Maverick, the bloc's chief leader, and McFarland. Prominent liberals who lost fights for senatorial nominations include Democrats Lewis of Maryland, Wearin of Iowa, Hildebrand of South Dakota and Progressive Amle of Wisconsin. The liberal bloc also loses Mead of New York, now a Democratic senatorial nominee, and Elcher of Iowa, who is retired. There will be liberals in the new congressional crop, but others are threatened with defeat November 8. Conspicuous among the latter are Farmer-Laborites John Bernard and Deway Johnson in Minnesota, and Jerry O'Connell of Montana, aggressive New Dealer threatened by a Republican backed by Senator Wheeler and Dr. Townsend. The most conspicuous individual contest is that between Chairman John J. O'Connor of the House Rules Committee, running in the 16th New York district on the Republican and "Andrew Jackson party" tickets, and James H. Fay.

Democrat and American Labor Party nominee, O'Connor was Roosevelt's sole "purge" victim in the primaries, but ran successfully meanwhile in the Republican primary and hopes to keep his powerful chairmanship if re-elected. Washington expects O'Connor to be defeated unless his old Tammany friends refuse to go along with Fay. Re-election of Congressman Bruce Barton, from New York apparently was assured when the Democratic and American Labor Party organizations failed to unite against him. His opponents are Walter H. Leiberman, Democrat, George Backer, American Labor, and M. Stuart, Socialist.

PHILOSOPHER POLITICIAN.

IN other House contests— T. V. Smith, University of Chicago, philosophy professor, author and Democratic state senator, is a favorite for congressman-at-large in Illinois. Vito Marcantonio, Republican-American Labor Party candidate and once a fire-brand in the House, is privately regarded by Democrats as likely to beat the Tammany incumbent, J. J. Lanzetta, in the 20th New York district. One of the rare chances of a Republican upset is seen in the strong campaign of young Thomas H. Eliot, grandson of Charles W. Eliot and former Social Security Board counsel, against Congressman Robert Luce in the 9th Massachusetts. Dorothy Bellanca, veteran Amalgamated Clothing Workers' organizer, is running as a Republican and American Labor candidate against Congressman Donald O'Toole of Brooklyn. The blind congressman, Matthew A. Dunn, is threatened by Republican Robert B. McKinley in the 35th Pennsylvania. James E. Van Zandt, former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is a strong Republican candidate against Congressman Don Gingery in Pennsylvania's 23d. The anti-Semitic, fascist Silver Shirts are reported potent in some Pennsylvania areas and are supporting Charles L. Gerlach, Republican, against Congressman Oliver W. Frey in the ninth. Congresswoman Virginia Jenckes is having trouble with ex-Congressman Nobel J. Johnson in the sixth Indiana.

It's possible the "Negro bloc" in the House will be enlarged from one to three. Democratic Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell, now the lone Negro, is opposed by a colored Republican nominee, Charles A. Roxborough, brother of the manager of Joe Louis, is Republican candidate against Congressman R. G. Tenerover in Detroit and Republican Judge Edward Henry against Congressman James P. McGranery in a Philadelphia district.

Texas Baptists to Hold Annual Meet

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 2.—Texas Baptists meeting in their annual sessions here Nov. 8-11 will hear reports from their war-ravaged mission fields throughout the world, particularly in the Orient. The important report of foreign missions, in which the state's 660,000 members of the denomination are keenly interested, will be brought to the convention at an afternoon session Nov. 10. Baptist headquarters here recently received the news of How's for letting somebody else edit this column today? I've just been reading some of the comment by Old Tack in the Amarillo Globe and will pass on a few of his pertinent paragraphs:

This is the very hottest fall, so the bombing of the South Memorial Hospital at Wuxhow, Kwangai, south China.

The Wuchow hospital is the largest maintained overseas by Southern Baptists, with whom the Baptist general convention of Texas is affiliated. Among Texans there were Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Beddoe of Dallas and Rev. and Mrs. Rex Ray of Whitehall. The institution has been doing double duty as a base hospital for wounded soldiers and as a haven for sick refugees.

The convention—the largest gathering of its kind in the world—is expected to draw 12,000 delegates to this North Texas city. Sessions begin Tuesday morning Nov. 8, and end at noon Friday, under the presidency of Dr. J. B. Tidwell of Waco, professor of Bible at Baylor University.

Challenging the general meeting in interest are two preliminary sessions. The women's missionary union will hold its forty-eighth annual convention beginning Monday afternoon Nov. 7 under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Copass of Fort Worth, president. The annual pastors' and laymen's conference will also begin meetings Monday afternoon with George J. Mason of Dallas presiding.

The important roles of church women and laymen in carrying on the manifold activities of the denomination in Texas—including the ministry of healing in hospitals, Christian education and home and foreign missions—will be thoroughly discussed and plans for the next year's activities will be made.

far, we have had in years. And it has hurt retail business all over the Southwest.

There are so many folks who don't do anything until they are driven to it. They wait until a norther hits and then they start buying. And some of them start dying. Many a case of pneumonia has resulted because the folks didn't have the warm and proper clothing in the house when a norther arrived; the chill they suffered before they could get to the stores tied them up with terrible colds which went into something worse.

So folks, do your shopping NOW!

The very latest is "The Old Peoples Lobby."

Its organizers are demanding that in addition to the $30 a month, promised by Lee O'Daniel, a bond issue of $150,000,000 be issued to pay every older persons a $750 retroactive bonus. They would go back to August in 1935 in making up back pensions.

A real attempt will be made in Texas to pay the old age pensions of $30 a month, for those who need it. Governor O'Daniel will make a real effort and he will be backed by many of the members of the legislature.

But those who should know say that the proposal to issue a bond issue of $150,000,000 to pay retroactive pensions will only muddy the water. They declare this is absolutely impossible.

The Institute of Public Opinion, which has been very, very reliable here to date, says that in California now a majority of the people over 50 are opposed to the $30-Every-Thursdays plan. Many people don't like the idea of being paid off with the "funny money"; as it's known. And so many firms and stores have announced that they will not accept the script as payment for goods.

The Institute also says that 65 per cent of the wealthy people are against Roosevelt; than an even 50 per cent of the middle-class folks are against him; that 35 per cent of the lower-income groups are against him.

Miss Oppenheimer Reviews "And Tell of Time" Here

Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer of Dallas, popular book reviewer of the Southwest, made her third appearance in Midland Tuesday evening, reviewing Laura Krey's novel, "And Tell of Time," before a good-sized crowd in the high school auditorium. The Woman's Wednesday club sponsored her visit.

She maintained her reputation for competent and interesting reviewing, "And Tell of Time," being handled with less humor than her review of "American Dream" but with more emotional depth than "Cleopatra," volumes which she reviewed here last year.

"And Tell of Time," she would not compare with "Gone With the Wind," Miss Oppenheimer announced independently. The books are the same type but otherwise altogether unlike.

Mrs. Krey's novel presents the Texas angle of the Reconstruction period. It is concerned with Texans except for the bride whom Gavin Darcy brought home from Georgia.

Opening with the returning Confederates trudging homeward among the Virginia hills among them Gavin, the story moves forward to his visit with his cousins the Lyttletons, at their ruined plantation home, Cedar Lodge, at Atlanta; his wooing and winning of Lucia Lyttleton as a bride; the trip by boat from the Eastern Coast to Galveston; and the final long trek overland by wagon from Galveston to the Brazos river plantation of the Darcys, a trip which impelled the bride to wonder if there were no end to this Texas.

Then begins the heart of the story, the married life of Gavin and Lucia, his fight to bring freedom and constitutional self-government back to Texas, the steady increase of his fortunes, and the birth and growth of their children to manhood and womanhood.

Gavin, the doer, who brought his children land and property, the

"MYSELF"

I want to live for others and so I want to live that the world may know
I want to be able as days go by For people to look me straight in the eye

I don't want to stand at setting sun Being hated for the things I've done.

I don't want to keep on a closet shelf

A lot of secrets about myself And always be fooled as I go Thinking that no others know The kind of person I mean to be And the kind of people I long to see.

I want to go with my head erect I want to get and give respect To younger ones as well as old And never act too proud or bold Whatever happens I want to be Self-respecting and conscious free. —Pearl Langdon.

practical things of life, and the example of a good man, a Texan, and an American, thought that the struggle was over. But Lucia, the thinker of the wedded couple, who brought her children a spiritual something, a reserve of strength and courage for possible days of struggle when all material things would be taken from them and they had to start over as she and Gavin had done, knew somehow that for their children, as there had been for themselves, there would always be struggle and hardships of some kind.

Mrs. Geo. Glass, Wednesday club president, introduced Miss Oppenheimer.

A report from Mrs. Glass this morning showed that the review was a success financially.

Chimps See Movie.

LONDON (AP)—Peter and Jackie, two of the London zoo's best-known chimpanzees, were taken to the movies to see the film "Monkey Into Man," in which they starred. Close-ups of chimps and orang-utans, including a dance, provoked the most interest from Peter and Jackie.

Your Child's Future

THE biggest job you have ever had, parents,—that of caring for your children—is safeguarding their health so that their future happiness and success may be assured.

Nothing is more important to them than their eyes. No child is healthy without healthy eyes. No child can achieve success without good vision.

There's only one way to tell whether or not your children's vision is normal—have their eyes examined. Do it now before school begins.

Ideal for Youth

The ideal style for the "jeune fille," pictured above, has the essential simplicity and air of youth. Dove grey crepe and black lace fashion this enchanting dinner gown, designed by Marjorie Dunton. Important points to notice in this model are the kimono sleeves, the high draped neckline and the slim skirt with fullness introduced in a long pleated godet at the back.

Colorful Halloween Dinner-Dance Is Given by Miss Taylor and Miss Wyatt

Particularly colorful among the parties with which younger social circles celebrated Halloween was the dinner dance given by Misses Jane Taylor and Marcelline Wyatt, at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wyatt, 515 W. Holmesley, Monday evening.

Pumpkins and came at the door marked entrance into a land of Halloween for the evening's festivity.

Central decoration for the living-room was the fireplace draped with streamers of black crepe paper flanked by columns of cornstalks laden with ears of corn. On the mantle stood two unique pumpkin faces, one representing a woman, the other a man, which the hostesses had painted themselves. The fireplace opening was filled with corn and pumpkins.

Colored balloons hung in clusters from the light fixtures and apples swung from strings fixed to the ceiling.

Marigolds, as flowers, carried out the Halloween colors.

Guests came masked and danced on the open terrace at the back of the house before dinner.

Dinner was served at 8 o'clock at quarter tables laid with pottery dishes. The three-course menu likewise carried out the Halloween color theme.

Beta Sigma Phi Studies Jewelry in Program Meeting

"Jewelry—Ornamentation or Personal Adornment" was the subject of the program at the meeting of Beta Sigma Phi in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. L. C. Link was in charge of the program.

Miss Marguerite Bivens discussed "Before Costume (Primitive)" telling of bone teeth, tusks, neckbands, mutilation of the bodies and such primitive adornments.

Mrs. Link spoke on "After Costume (Historic)," concerning male adornment, such as battle trophies, and bejeweled women. She illustrated her talk with Fortune magazine.

Mrs. Frances Stallworth told of "Rare Jewels and Their Stories," recounting the story of birthstones, their origin, legends, and meaning. Concluding discussion was given by Mrs. Johnny Sherrod on "Modern Costume Jewelry."

Beta Sigma Phi's present were: Miss Ruth Pratt, Miss Lou Annice Reeves, Miss Alma Heard, Miss Mary V. Miller, Mrs. Sherrod, Mrs. S. R. McKinney, Miss Ellen Potter, Miss Vivian Snelley, Mrs. M. D. Johnson Jr., Miss Novene Kirby, Mrs. L. C. Link, Mrs. Stallworth, Miss Bivens, and Miss Maedelee Roberts.

loween party at Valley View school house. R. C. West, Jr., received the prize for being dressed in the best costume.

The primary pupils had the house well-decorated for the occasion. The witches, cats and bats were on a grand parade but that didn't bother the pumpkin pie eaters who appeared on each window pane.

A new curtain and stage scenery is being erected in the building. Part of it has already been erected and the project will be completed in a few days.

The school was sorry to lose little Evelyn and Helen Caffey who moved to Anson. On Sunday afternoon they left, some of their classmates met at Mrs. Acorn's, brought gifts and spent an enjoyable afternoon together.

Hot chocolate and cake were served.

Mrs. Acorn's sister, Miss Hazel Self, who is teaching in Martin county this year, spent the weekend with her.

Friday night, Nov. 11, there will be a pie supper at the school house. All girls are invited to come and bring pies and all boys to bring money to buy the pies.

The idea of playing a variation on one basic dress by use of different collars, jackets, scarfs, and clips has now been introduced to the world of costume jewelry.

There's a rhinestone bracelet which comes with three sets of colored stones which can be changed to match different costumes. Twin settings an inch square provided in which the various colored stones are clamped amid the rhinestones.

A nice thought for the woman who adores jewelry accents but feels she cannot afford a bracelet to match every frock.

Of course there's a pin which displays the same versatility and a rhinestone clip.

Newest thing in hat boxes is one made of cork which can be further personalized with a monogram in copper.

At least it shouldn't make much noise if inadvertently dropped in a crowded station. Something distinctly different, too, for the fastidious

STORIES IN STAMPS

Father Hated Music, So Handel Found Fame

THE greatness that George Frederick Handel achieved in the world of music came from no inspiration received from his father. For the barber-surgeon emphatically disapproved of music and wished that George Frederick would take up the law.

But the little boy was obstinately determined. His soul cried out for music and training and expression, and a friend provided the way. He smuggled a clavichord into the lad's attic. On this instrument, inaudible behind a closed door, the youth practised secretly.

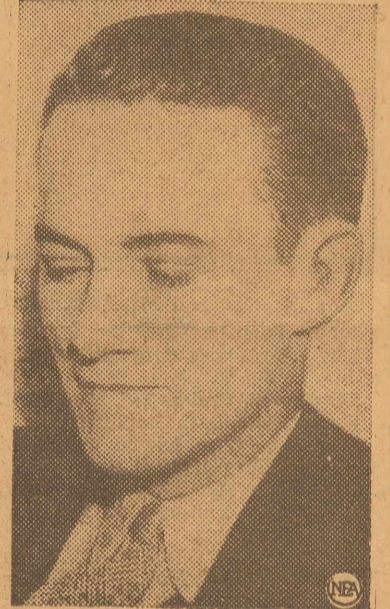

Before he was eight George Frederick had advanced remarkably. He was ready for higher instruction. It came in a curious manner. His father one day went to visit a son by a former marriage who was a valet-de-chambre to the duke of Saxe-Weissenfels. In vain the little boy begged to go, and at last when his father departed without him he followed the carriage on foot, so far that he was finally taken the rest of the distance.

Once at the duke's, he met the court musicians, arranged to practise on the great organ. Then the duke heard him and, immediately recognizing talent, persuaded George Frederick's father to educate his son in the art. So began a brilliant career, one of the greatest the world has ever known. Handel's opera is today immortal. Best known of his myriad works is "The Messiah." The composer, who died at 74, is shown here on a 1935 German stamp, issued in commemoration of the Bach-Handel celebration.

Fired on WPA 'Graft' Charge

Less than 24 hours after he was named along with 72 others in grand jury indictments charging fund diversion in New Mexico's WPA administration, Stanley W. P. Miller, above, assistant U. S. district attorney, was fired by the government. He is a son-in-law of Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico, and luggage-conscious traveler.

From our observation of several years, we should advise for the girl who dreads the "monotony" of marriage choice of a geologist, engineer, or other employee of the oil business for her husband.

There shouldn't be much monotony in marriage where the husband may rush home one night to tell you early in the morning that things must be packed by night for moving to a metropolis half across the continent. And that this move is to be the forerunner to a future move to an island on the other side of the world.

Yes, decidedly, if a girl is restless she should find joy in being the wife of an oil man. She'll see new places, new people, new customs to her heart's content.

As to the girl who likes to stay forever in one place, to use the same dishes year after year, and see her garden bulbs push up their heads in the same flower beds each year—well, that's a different problem. Probably a stay-at-home husband is best for her.

We're not ashamed to confess, now that we've seen the newspaper stories, how excited we got Sunday night, over that broadcast of the "Invaders from Mars" nor how near we came to dashing to a telephone to check up on the truth of the story. Apparently several thousand other people had something of the same idea—and some of them carried out the impulse to find out more about it.

It isn't so hard on one's pride to realize one has been rather silly when several thousand others have been even more so.

Game birds so decreased in number in the United States during 1930 that the government was forced to import 90,000 from Mexico.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

THEY MAKE 'EM POSSIBLE!

Yes, sir—the advertisers who use the columns of The Reporter-Telegram day in and day out make the outstanding comics on this page possible. Patronize these advertisers . . . let them know that you appreciate the features of this newspaper . . . tell them candidly that you saw such-and-such ads in this newspaper. You have been using The Reporter-Telegram as your buying guide for many years . . . and the results of their advertising have convinced advertisers that it is the logical medium to use . . . but just occasionally give your favorite comic strip a boost by telling your favorite advertising merchant that you appreciate the part he plays in making the comics possible.

Lewis Again Proves Best Light-Heavy in Stretch

John Henry Lewis whacks Al Nelson Gainer solidly with a right to the jaw in a roaring finish which earned the Phoenix puncher a 15-round decision over the home-grown challenger in defense of the world light-heavyweight championship at the New Haven Arena. The fight between the Negroes, staged on the eve of the Yale-Dartmouth football game, drew only 2200 spectators and $7000.

Bulldogs Not Expecting 'Pink Tea' In Match With YellowJackets Friday

The Midland Bulldogs are expecting a somewhat easier time this week than they have had for the last two, but they are not looking exactly for a "pink tea" in their match with the Kermit Yellowjackets.

The Bulldogs will leave about noon Friday for the Winkler county capital and will meet the Yellowjackets that night at 8 o'clock. The Bulldogs are favorites any way the dope is dished up by Kermit.

The Kermit team actually feels that it is going to catch Midland on the rebound after a couple of grueling battles with Wink and Odessa. It is possible, however not probable that they will do so.

The Bulldogs are getting lighter work than usual this week, the coaches deciding the boys have earned a let-up in their hard practice sessions.

Not until 1632 was it discovered that, in order for a seed to form, the pollen of a flower must touch the ovule.

Ten Days Left to Send Your Letter on Why Go or Not Go to Church; Prizes of $5 for Each Side of Question Offered

Editor's Note: Here are two contributions to the contest, recently announced in which $5.00 will be paid for the best letter on "Why I Go to Church" and $5.00 for the best letter on "Why I Don't Go to Church."

My affections are set on things above, not on things on earth, for we cannot hope for anything to come to us if we persist in things like playing bridge and such like.

WHY I GO TO CHURCH.

As to why I go to church or not go to church:

It is an inspiration for one to go to church. I know that I am doing something that I should do, not merely for my own good, but I am setting an example for others.

I get a spiritual uplift by going to church, either from the sermon or from the singing, sometimes from meeting a friend. A word or two from him or her, as the case may be, will help me along on life's journey.

To church each Sunday I go down to mingle with the best in town. A class of nine year old boys to teach.

Then listen to God's servant preach. The songs of praise I help to sing. An offering to the Lord I bring. To join with friends in earnest prayer.

My Saviour also meets me there. A greater privilege I would not ask Than to share with friends a God-given task.

To win to Christ my fellowman, God uses me, it is his plan. An inspiration I long to be. Perhaps someone is watching me. More like the Master I hope to grow.

For all these things to church I go.

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE TURNS INTO HOME STRETCH OF SEASON SATURDAY

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2. — The Southwest Conference turns into the home stretch of the 1938 gridiron race next Saturday. Four weeks of the season remain; six weeks are past.

But more than half of the conference games remain to be played. Nine contests are history; 12 more are just ahead.

T. C. U.'s Horned Frogs are the only one of the seven teams to go outside the conference for competition. They travel to Tulsa to take on Vic Hunt's strong Golden Hurricane. The Hurricane has never won from a Meyer-coached team and are all set to start the job this season. The affair will be another passing duel, this time between Tulsa's Tommy Thompson and the Frogs' Davey O'Brien.

The Baylor-Texas affair at Austin contains more promise of real color than any of the other conference tilts. The Longhorns rose out of the cellar last year and smacked down mighty Baylor 9 to 6. The Bears are still smarting under the disgrace and are definitely out for revenge. But it could happen here. The Aggies and the Methodist class in Dallas and many fans are picking the boys from College Station. A nice wobbly seat on the fence is also popular. A. & M. won last year 14 to 0 in College Station.

The Rice Owls move up into the mountain air of Fayetteville to try their luck against the passing Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas. The institutors took a wild 26-to-20 affair last year and the Razorbacks believe it will be their time Saturday.

The PAYOFF

The following four paragraphs of childish scribble were dished out by one Charles Bisbee in the Wink Times-Herald. (Best remembered by this department as a Wink fan that lost 50 cents by betting Midland didn't score and then griping about it all during the game.)

"Midland's cherished tradition of being able to defend their Lackey Field against Wildcat invasion toppled in the dust Friday evening. Conference hopes were also blighted. About all that Midland was able to salvage from the wreckage was Jess Rodgers' (The Midland Reporter-Telegram) weak assertion that Jay Francis was a better ball carrier than either Don Ezzell or J. E. Callahan. Rodgers is abetted in his ignorance by Tony Slaughter of the Odessa News-Times who allows Jay Francis is a better back than Callan and that Callan is better than Ezzell or Callahan."

"We still contend that either of the Wink backfield is the peer of anything that wears football tuggery in West Texas and seriously doubt that if Odessa and Midland picked the best they have in both teams, they could hold Wink to much more than an interesting game."

"The Midland Bulldogs, pointed to Wink all season, played way over their heads, and the small difference in the score is no indicative of the strength of the two teams. Two Midland markers were the results of fumbles in the second quarter and the score should have been Wink 45 and Midland 7."

"It may have been just one of those things but it worked so well it looked like it had been coached...we're thinking about the Midland sub who deliberately picked a fight with Wink's stellar Beek Ezzell and got them both thrown off the field...The after game incident could easily have become another of those Pecos-Wink celebrations which most folk had rather forget." The game is over and we won't try to replay it very far. Wink won because it had the best ball team. But Bisbee qualifies for something (maybe it is a lifetime membership in the liars club) for being able to go to a ball game and missing 90 per cent of what happens.

I don't mind being called ignorant by a smart man—neither would Tony—but, Bisbee, read the following and see where that "ignorant" crack should call home:

Excluding pass plays, Don Ezzell carried the ball against Midland 1.6 times, gained 70 yards and lost 16 for an average of 3 3/8 yards each time he carried the ball. Callahan carried the ball 13 times, made 24 yards and lost 19, which gives him an average of .038. Francis carried the ball 33 times, gained 162 yards and lost 21, which gives him an average of 4 9/23 yards each time he took the ball from center and ran with it. And who had the better blocking?

That should take care of that first paragraph. The second paragraph is also answered. As for the third paragraph, Wink got a touchdown after the officials failed to penalize Wink when one of the Wink boys was put off the field for UN-SPORTSMANLIKE CONDUCT. They got another when the officials could not see what everyone else saw—a Wink boy hold Francis off a fumble until Wink recovered the ball. A third came on a long run by Don Ezzell after he was shoved out of bounds, at midfield (the officials were obviously overlooked that, too) and he went the rest of the way to the goal. Another Wink touchdown was set up by Beek Ezzell when he made a miraculous catch of a pass and carried some 57 yards. He would probably be the first to admit that he had no business catching the ball.

You're cockeyed right the score shouldn't have been 45-21!

The last paragraph is the silliest of all. Van Dyke has started—and played through most of them—every game played by the Bulldogs in '37 and '38. Furthermore, Hoskins started the slugging in the first period and a Wink boy started it after the game.
