

Tea and Dinner Are Pre-Conference Gaieties Tuesday Evening

Tea for Delegates Draws Attendance of Over 100 Women

Local presidents and all registered delegates at the PTA district conference were complimented at a tea for which the Midland City Council of PTA's was hostess at the home of Mrs. Fred Turner Jr., 1705 W. Missouri Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock.

Greeting guests in the receiving line were: Mrs. Turner, Mrs. J. M. Haygood, Mrs. Bernard K. Buffington, Mrs. Ernest Sidwell, and Mrs. E. R. Osburn.

In the house party were: Mrs. Mrs. Geo. Glass, Mrs. Bill Wyche, Mrs. G. R. Grant, Mrs. Don Sivalls, Mrs. R. W. Patten, Mrs. R. C. Conding.

The district PTA colors of royal blue and gold formed the inspiration for appointment for the tea for which Mrs. Haygood was arrangements chairman. Blue and yellow daisies and Easter lilies featured floral appointments for the living room and dining room.

An oval mound of the blue and yellow daisies and white blossoms centered the tea table which was laid with a cutwork cloth. Blue tangles burned in silver candelabra on the table and in crystal holders on the buffet. Table service was in silver. Colored mints carried out the chosen shades on the plates.

Entertaining for guests were Mrs. S. A. Debnam and Mrs. Fred Wemple, Mrs. Holt Jewell, pianist, and Mrs. Tom Sealy, violinist, entertained during the tea hour.

Special musical numbers by the high school boys' quartet and by Margaret Murray, high school student, were presented under direction of Mrs. De Lo Douglas. As a request number, the quartet sang "Tavern in the Town."

Approximately 130 women, it was estimated, called during the tea hour.

Known as one of the world's best-dressed women, Princess Cora Caetani arrived in New York wearing a suit and sweater made out of skimmed milk by Italy's synthetic fabrics industry.

Western Theme Marks Appointments for Managers' Dinner

Taking as its theme, "Headed for the Last Round Up," the Midland City Council of PTA's honored the district board of managers and invited guests with a dinner in the private dining room of Hotel Schaubauer Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock.

The Western theme dominated table appointments, a lariat laid on a black streamer down the center of the table looping at intervals about figures of cowboys, 10-gallon hats, or other western figurines. Wee piles of native rock surrounded pots of tiny cactus, with larger pots of bear grass spears on the speakers table.

Place cards, tied with the favored colors of black and white, bore pictures of riders, and were lettered with the theme of the dinner and the host organization.

"There's a Gold Mine in the Sky Here's Your Fortune Oh Me! Oh My!" was the bit of rhyme heading an astrological fortune in the cards.

Mrs. L. G. Byerley, president of the Midland City Council of PTA's presided as mistress of ceremonies, assisted by Mrs. D. R. Carter, district six vice president.

The musical program carried out the western theme. An instrumental duet by Cedric and Bill Ferguson, two solos by Roger Sidwell, the latter being "A Gold Mine in the Sky," and a solo, "The Last Round Up" by Mrs. Foy Proctor, composed the program numbers, with invocation being offered by Rev. W. C. Hinds, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Carter called upon each person present to introduce himself and tell "what he wanted to tell" about himself. She interpolated witty wags—cracks during the series of introductions.

Humorous highlight of the dinner was the election of T. Paul Barron, editor and publisher of The Reporter-Telegram as "room mother" and the proposal that Mrs. L. G. Byerley be chosen "city father." Forty-five persons were present.

Don't Dress for A Dance When You Are Going to Office

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

"I think that sweepingly long, false eyelashes and long, pointed, false fingernails are as out of place in a business office as a velvet dress and a sequin jacket would be."

That's a mild executive speaking. "I know that it's important for the working girl to look smartly turned out when she turns up for a party shortly after five," he continued. "But I doubt that looking nice at a party is any more important to her than being dressed appropriately during business hours. That is, assuming she wants to get ahead in the business world."

"If she thinks that artificial eyelashes and fingernails are necessary to the success of her social life, why can't she carry them in her bag to the office, then put them on before she leaves for the party?" Of course, that's only one man's opinion. But it may remind the young business woman anew that she is judged in the business world by her appearance as well as her work.

You may like dressy afternoon frocks and fancy, giddy shoes, "little girl" bows in your hair and transparent blouses, but they are as inappropriate to an office as golf shoes are at a dance. You don't have to go to work in manly suits and slouch hats, but neither do you have to assert your femininity so vigorously. You can look pretty without appearing positively inefficient.

Naturally, neatness and cleanliness are of paramount importance. The average executive isn't likely to promote to a better position the little girl who doesn't have a spick and span, perfectly groomed look about her.

Mrs. M. A. Young who is leaving soon to make her home in Fort Worth was honored with a going-away shower, when the 1939 club met at the home of Mrs. W. F. Neeb Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.

The afternoon was spent in sewing and conversation.

Refreshments were served to the group.

After the tea hour, the honoree was called out of the house and when she returned found that the gift packages had been placed beneath her sewing basket.

Miss Allene Kaderli Is Honoree at Shower Tea at Stanton Tuesday

Miss Allene Kaderli, who will become the bride of Maurice Tixier on April 20, was honored with a shower-tea at the home of Mrs. B. F. Smith at Stanton Tuesday afternoon from 3 o'clock until 5 o'clock. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Smith were Mrs. Arlo Forrest and Mrs. Wayne Moffett of Stanton and Mrs. R. P. Simpson of Midland.

Fastel shades were followed in appointments for the party. Sweet peas, daisies, and Easter lilies decorated the reception rooms where guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Smith and directed to the bride's register and the dining room by Mrs. Simpson. Mrs. Forrest and Mrs. Moffett were in charge of gift packages.

Miss Lorine Jones of Stanton presided at the bride's book which was bound in white satin tied with pink ribbon.

Mrs. Roy Medley and Mrs. Floyd Smith presided at the refreshment table, which was spread with a lace cloth. Individual white-iced cakes and tinted punch repeated the pastel colors on the tea plates.

Symbolizing the fact that the bride-groom-to-be is a member of the oil fraternity, shower gifts were heaped about a miniature oil derrick placed before the bride's chair.

Mrs. John F. Priddy of Stanton made the presentation speech, spicing her talk with humor.

Attending from Midland were: The honoree, Mesdames John Haley, Bill Mills, R. W. Rochon, H. S. Fegley, Terry Elkin, Frank Elkin, J. Howard Hodge, Frank Haag, Miss Bea Neil, Miss Connie Wells, Miss Dell Perkins.

Invitations were issued to approximately 200 guests in Stanton, Midland, Odessa and Big Spring.

How the Moon Looked to McDonald Observatory's "Eye"

The 82-inch mirror, or "eye" of the McDonald Observatory atop Mount Locke in the Big Bend recently, was placed within the great telescope recently and the first thing the astronomers did was to take a view of the moon. Ordinarily the earth's satellite is 240,000 miles distant, but the huge instrument "pulled" it to a mere 1,800 miles from earth for this closeup, the first astronomical photograph taken at the observatory. The spots on the surface are mountains and volcanic craters. The underside of the planet is north, the dark edge, west. Just below the huge crater, Plato, the dark ribbon across the moon's surface is called the Mare Frigorice (Cold sea).

Ranch Talk—

nannies from Marvin Skaggs, Kimble county Angora breeder, at $15 around. There aren't too many goats over the Hill country for sale, Jim Carpenter of Junction says. A few mutton goats are selling at $2.25 and $2, but the supply is the lightest in some time. Carpenter recently purchased a few grown nannies, registered stock, from Jack Turner of Junction at $12.50 around. Estimates on the total lamb crop from Kimble county this year range from 60 to 65 per cent. A five per cent loss has been reported due to milk colic—which has caused losses over considerable territory this spring.

Terry Jetten of Junction bought from Arnold Grosenbacher 57 purebred Angora does at $10 around—that price for purebred stock upping the opinion of a number of goatmen on their property.

Gus Hartgrove of San Angelo sold a string of 3,300 million lambs in the wool to Al Duman at 8 cents a pound. The lambs were delivered the last of the week.

James L. Daniel of Eden is mailing out invitations to his annual warehouse fiesta, dated April 14 this year.

Menard county range looks nearer normal than most of the neighboring counties. A three-quarter inch rain fell over the county a couple of weeks ago, followed by a fair rain. Most of the ranchmen have quit feeding and reports on the lamb crop point to a 65 per cent average. There are very few yearling cattle left in the county for sale, ranchmen say.

It is street talk around that the Mexican government will call a halt to allowing breeding cattle to be taken out of the country after the 15th of this month. Calves, steers, and heifers under two's can be brought out, it was said, but the ban is on the breeding stock.

Floyd Bierschwale of Junction sold a couple of Delaine rams, registered, to L. A. Schreiner of Kerrville at $150.

The Lampasas Stampede Rodeo is scheduled for April 21 and 22 and will officially open the new rodeo arena. The arena, described by a number of rodeo men as one of the finest in the state, is equipped for night shows. Following the April Stampede, Lampasas will begin work in earnest for the July celebration—the Lampasas Race Meet and Rodeo and the Texas Angora Goat Breeders' Association Goat Show and Sale on July 19, 20, and 21. Pete Gulley, Angora breeder from Uvalde, has been in Lampasas several times recently for conferences on the sales catalog and premiums. Lampasas is to put up $500, matched by the association's $500, for prize money. Work is under way at present on remodeling of a number of old buildings around the fairgrounds to provide ample space for stock to be brought in. A new auction ring is to be erected.

E. H. (Blacky) Johnson is manager and arena director of the Lampasas Rodeo Association. Other officials are Sam Harkey, president; S. R. Adams, vice-president; J. V. Hammett, secretary; and C. A. Northington, treasurer.

Hardy Farmer of Junction recently shipped out Kimble county's milk lamb crop for 1939. Between five and six thousand lambs usually go out of the county in that classification in the spring. R. E. Hermann, county agent, said, but this wasn't the year for it. Of Farmer's shipment, 120 lambs averaged 57 pounds and brought 8 1/2 cents a pound. The lambs had been creep fed on the open range, a fairly new practice in the county.

Ray Murr of Junction sold to Weston of London 10 registered Delaine ewe lambs at $12 and a ram lamb at $40.

Yates—

San Antonio, but after several years moved to suburban Weimore.

Yates made a number of gifts to West Texas and its citizens, including the Anbia Yates Memorial Citadel to the Salvation Army at San Angelo, Yates Hall at Camp Louis Farr for the Concho Valley council of Boy Scouts, and a camp site of 29 acres for the council's scouts on the Pecos river near Iraan.

In his latter years Yates added 25,000 acres in San Saba county to his 25,000-acre Pecos county ranch where he ran cattle, sheep, horses and a few goats. He was president of the Wool Growers Central Storage company of San Angelo since 1932, and served one term as city marshal of San Angelo in 1889.

Yates' reaction to the unexpected discovery of rich oil deposit on his ranch did not make him optimistic. "I had not expected oil at any such depth (around 1,000 feet)," he said. "The information I had was that oil from shallow wells was shallow—a sort of flash in the pan. I said to John: 'son, we will call enough leases while the excitement is running high to pay all our debts and then if they keep buying we will sell a little more while the buying lasts.'"

"The first lease I sold was about nine o'clock the night of Oct. 29. Two men trailed John and me from McCamey to Rankin and to the ranch. They said they were oil well drillers in a rush. I made an agreed contract with them on a certain lease. They requested me to be at San Angelo the next morning and draw up the contract. They met me, the contract was drawn and they put up a $10,000 forfeit. The contract called for them to pay the remainder of the price by a certain date or forfeit the lease. I never saw or heard of those men since."

"I stayed on the ranch selling leases until midnight and when we left for San Angelo I had sold about $180,000 worth. Not a man ever has taken down one dollar on a single lease bought that night."
