Death Sentence Is Given Franks for Murder of Banker

WAXAHACHIE, June 1. (AP)—Burton Franks, 22-year-old Bonham resident, was found guilty of murder and sentenced to death last night in the slaying of W. D. Wilemon, Maypearl, Tex., bank president shot down in a robbery May 10.

The jury, after hearing Franks' plea his gun went off accidentally and that an uncle was the guiding mind behind the bank holdup, returned its verdict after two hours and 15 minutes.

The charge against Franks was murder with malice.

Wilemon was shot as he went into a vault at the command of a bandit armed with a pistol and who took about $1,800 from the First State bank of Maypearl.

When Franks heard the verdict he dropped his gaze. A few hours before, when the jury retired, officers guarding the courtroom subdued Franks and his mother, Mrs. Frank Watson, after a brief scuffle. The boy's mother was distraught and objected to leaving her son.

A Texas ranger carried her bodily from the courthouse.

Tuesday in the midst of testimony that Ed Franks, his uncle, suggested and worked out the details for the robbery, Ed Franks was found shot to death in a chicken house at his Venus home. A gun was found at his feet, one shell exploded.

Burton Franks' witnesses pleaded he was of unsound mind at the time of the robbery. In addition the defendant himself asserted his pistol went off by chance and that he hadn't "intended to kill anyone."

Broken Gas Main Found Near School

Investigation of Blast in Which 53 Were Hurt Pushed

BARBERTON, O., June 1. (AP)—Investigators unearthed a broken gas main today outside the wrecked school building where a blast injured 53 children and four adults yesterday.

Two children and a janitor are given only a bare chance to recover.

BARBERTON, O., June 1. (AP)—A recheck last night of victims of an explosion which shattered a grade school building here in mid-afternoon showed 57 persons injured—53 children and four adults.

Three were not expected to live, hospital attendants reported. They were Dorothy Young, 6; Frances Fisher, 7, and P. S. White, 59, janitor.

Two teachers injured were Miss Mabel Miller, 38, who suffered fractured leg and ribs as she was buried beneath a piano, and Miss Albertina Mills, 44, with possible fractured back.

H. P. White, an electrician working nearby, also was hurt.

Thirty-one remained in hospitals last night, several suffering fractures, many burns, and all shock.

The explosion, which all concerned said undoubtedly was from gas, literally tore the two-story frame structure apart. It was a former house being used as a school while a new building was being built.

The outer walls flew out. The center partitions remained upright. The upper floors slanted downward, shooting children out, sliding down like a toboggan.

Dozens of toys on the first floor dropped into the basement and were covered with debris.

The roof fell upon the mass of children and wreckage.

A carpenter foreman, John Ruhlen, working on the new building, said "most of the buried children were caught under lath and plaster and desks which were not very heavy. Many of them slid or were blown out of the house."

"One of the worst parts of this is that some of the little girls probably will be disfigured for life."

Before janitor White lapsed into unconsciousness because of burns, he said he had been burning papers in the basement when the blast let loose.

"The whole basement must have been filled with gas," he said before lapsing into unconsciousness because of burns. "I'm sure it was a leaky main."

The force of the blast blew out large sections of wall and buckled the second floor so the flooring, sloping toward the ground, formed a perfect "slide" for pupils on the upper story. This factor probably helped cut down casualties, observers said.

"The children slid out of there like it was a toboggan 'slide,'" said Sheriff Ellis Summers, set prize money, with bulldozing, bronco riding, calf roping and steer riding scheduled for each show on the two-a-day schedule.

Fat men will compete in calf roping on Friday, oil men on Saturday, and junior boys on Sunday as featured events.

Sunday, June 19, was set aside as New Mexico Day at the rodeo, which will be among the first of the West Texas rodeo season.

Belief Russia Will Sign Pact Voiced by British Officials

LONDON, June 1. (AP)—British official sources expressed belief today Russia eventually would be brought into the British-French front but said Russian insistence on guarantees for the Baltic states on her borders presented a "difficult problem."

The foreign office awaited a formal note from Moscow rejecting the latest French-British proposal before determining specific points at variance.

In Berlin Nazis said they expected the British-French-Russian treaty eventually would be signed but it would be a pact, one said, "so watered down it will be meaningless."

Illinois Youth Likes Fine Horses—So He Takes One Belonging to Big Spring Sheriff

BIG SPRING, June 1.—Joseph Airesman is a young fellow from Illinois, but he has the plainsman's love of fine horses.

He probably regretted this fondness Wednesday, as he languished in jail wondering what would become of a complaint charging horse theft which had been lodged against him; he was probably wondering if his case would be doubly serious, because—

The pony he is charged with stealing was Tony, the prize mount of Sheriff Jess Slaughter.

Tony was tethered on the courthouse lawn, awaiting use. Somebody missed him, and officers got to looking. Out southwest of town, where Tony had taken him for a ride, they found Airesman leading

Man Falls Off Train; Body Unidentified

Second Victim of Accident Within County in Week

Officers today were checking with officials throughout West Texas in an effort to learn the identity of a man found dead on the rail road right of way near Germania yesterday afternoon.

The man apparently had fallen or been pushed from a freight train that had passed over the spot approximately one hour previous to discovery of his body.

A description of the man was given to all newspapers and radio stations of West Texas in an effort to learn his identity. However, identity had not been established this afternoon.

A description of the man was given as follows: Height: About 5 feet, 10 inches. Age: Approximately 35. Hair: Sandy. Eyes: Blue. Weight: About 150.

Other distinguishing marks: A one-inch scar under his chin. Three toes missing on one foot. The man's body was identified by a local man as being a transient to whom he had talked on the streets here Tuesday. At that time, it was reported, the man said he was going to Abilene, where his wife resided.

All efforts to identify the man through Abilene police had failed. Funeral services, here are being held up pending more time to attempt to establish identity.

The unknown man was the second within the past week that had fallen from trains in this county and had been killed. A Sweetwater man fell from a freight last Friday near the east outskirts of the city.

Refinery Worker Dies After Plant Explosion, Fire

TALCO, June 1. (AP)—C. W. Moore died in a Paris hospital today of injuries suffered in a fire and explosion that wrecked the Paluxy asphalt company refinery here last night.

Moore was an employe at the plant. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The fire enveloped the entire plant and roared out of control following a heavy blast at 11:30 p. m. and firefighters from Mt. Pleasant, Paris and nearby towns devoted their efforts to preventing its spread to nearby buildings.

Moore was taken to a Paris, Texas hospital. Moore's clothing was burned from his body as he ran to a doctor's office after the first explosion about 9 a. m. Seven or eight explosions followed as gasoline and kerosene tanks were set off.

C. S. Streetman, a refinery worker, and Cotton Allen, employed by the American Liberty Pipeline company, were burned slightly.

Thirty-five thousand barrels of oil, owned by the American Liberty Pipeline company, were separated from the flames only by a firewall.

The last blast came about two hours after the first explosion, seven or eight in number, set the refinery ablaze. In the first series of blasts kerosene and gasoline tanks were set off.

Resolution Is Presented by Senator Hill

'Illegitimate' Ways Of Influencing the Legislature Charged

AUSTIN, June 1. (AP)—Asserting they had in some instances resorted to "illegitimate" means to influence the legislature, Senator Hill, Henderson, today introduced a resolution authorizing a five-member committee investigation of money spent by lobby groups.

The senate refused immediate consideration of the resolution. It was placed on the calendar from where it may be called up later.

In the house, advocates of the senate bill intended to plug loopholes in the gasoline tax refund law succeeded in transferring it from the revenue and taxation committee to the committee on comptroller and treasurer accounts.

The house also refused again to set a day for adjournment.

Last Honors Paid Pioneer Resident Of City Wednesday

Last honors were paid to a resident who had watched and taken part in Midland's history for 51 years when funeral rites were held at the First Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Mrs. Nancy Vest, 93, pioneer West Texan, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mollie McCormick, here Tuesday night.

Rev. W. C. Hinds, Methodist pastor, was in charge of the services. Floral offerings lined the chancel railing and heaped the casket, while scores of friends filed past at the close of the service.

Special music was presented by Miss Lydie G. Watson and Ned Watson and a vested choir sang "Old Rugged Cross" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Percy J. Minns sang "When They Ring the Golden Bells" as a solo. Mr. Hinds read selections from Paul, and Job, from Revelations, and the "Twenty-third Psalm."

He praised Mrs. Vest's helpfulness to others and her loyalty to the church. She was the oldest member of the Methodist church here, of which she was said to be a charter member. The members of her Sunday school class, the Wesley Bible class, attended the services, sitting in a group.

Mrs. Vest was born in Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 14, 1846 and came to Midland in 1888. She was the mother of 8 children, five of whom survive her. They are: Mrs. McCormick, W. A. Vest of Monahan, John Vest of Roswell; Doc Vest of Carlisle, N. M.; and A. E. Vest of Coalgate, N. M. All except the last-named son were present for the funeral, he being unable to attend because of illness. She is also survived by 11 grandchildren, including Mrs. W. Bryant and Dee McCormick of Midland, and nine great-grandchildren.

Up until a few years ago, Mrs. Vest had been unusually active for her age. In Sept. 1937, she fell and broke her hip and since had been confined to her bed practically all the time.

Interment at Fairview cemetery followed the rites at the church. Pallbearers for the funeral were: F. B. Armstrong, Ray Hyatt, Claude Crane, Elliott H. Barron, A. C. Francis, Forrest Hunter, Homer Epley, M. Barron.

Ellis Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Fresh Outbreak of Fighting Reported In Manchoukuo

TOKYO, June 1. (AP)—The Japanese news agency, Domei, reported in an undated dispatch today that 700 "Mongols" had been killed in a continuation of border fighting in far western Manchoukuo.

The "invading" forces, Domei said, retreated and carried 400 bodies with them. Three hundred bodies were left on the field.

The news agency said the defending Manchoukuo troops captured five Mongols and four Chinese, 12 tanks and a number of heavy and light machine guns.

It was believed the latest battle occurred in the vicinity of Lake Bor, about 935 miles northwest of Hsinking, Manchoukuo capital, and about 225 miles southwest of Manchoukuo and Siberia.

Repeated clashes have been reported in that frontier region since May 7 between soldiers of the Japanese puppet state of Manchoukuo and the Mongols who have a mutual defense pact with soviet Russia.

States Can Get Together If They Will

People who deplore the extension of federal power usually have trouble in answering the question: "Well, who's going to take care of those things which affect two or more states, if not the federal government?"

Offhand, one might say there was no other answer. But there is. And gradually the states are finding it in the technique of interstate agreements and joint operations.

Compacts to control sewage flow in four of the country's major river basins have either been approved or are pending today among 16 states and the District of Columbia. The Council of State Governments, that invaluable agency which is working to co-ordinate the work of states in legislative and administrative problems, reports that the valleys of the Ohio, Delaware, Potomac and Red River of the North are the major rivers affected.

Each flows through territory in many states. Clearly, each state has rights and interests. None can be selfish about its river-control measures without affecting the others. They might have all stepped aside and asked the federal government to take charge. But they did not.

Instead, they got together. Nine states are included, for instance, in the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation compact. Indiana and West Virginia have ratified the agreement. It is pending in Illinois, New York, and Pennsylvania. Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia are the other states affected. The agreement becomes operative when five states have ratified.

North and South Dakota and Minnesota have approved a compact for pollution and conservancy control of the Red River of the North. The Delaware basin is already under the joint control of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

For many years the Port of New York Authority, a joint creation of New York and New Jersey, has handled a vast business in connection with navigation between these states, and handled it effectively and well. It is gradually "paying out" both states on the money they entrusted to it.

Possibly one reason for federal "encroachment" on such fields is the general helplessness of the states themselves. They forget their sovereignty except for oratorical purposes.

It is when states step up and demonstrate their ability to grapple with their problems that the cry for federal aid dies down.

Appreciated Words

The world is full of hatred today, and it is seldom that anyone in one of the "authoritarian" countries has a decent word to say for anything in one of the "democratic" countries, or vice versa. Communication between these two segments of the world today is pretty well restricted to mutual abuse.

Thus it is pleasant to record that at least two German newspapers were generous in their praise of the rescue of the living members of the crew of the Squalus. "... a feat of seamanship which deserves universal acclaim," said the Boersen Zeitung, and "... among the most impressive peace-time accomplishments of the U. S. Navy," said the Allgemeine Zeitung.

Bravery and heroism are beyond nationality or party or political bounds. So, too, should be their recognition.

For these tributes, thanks, and a resolution to be no less generous ourselves when occasion offers. A little more of this courteous and decent spirit would not hurt an embittered world.

Blind Typist Obtains Civil Service Position

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP).—Miss Thomasina Donofrio, 24, is the first blind person in the history of Syracuse to win a provisional appointment as a dictaphone typist. Miss Donofrio said she hoped that the appointment would convince Syracuse employers that blind persons "are as competent at some types of work as people with normal vision."
Miss Donofrio, who has been blind 10 years, learned typing at the New York State School for the Blind at Batavia, N. Y.

Waiting to See the King and Queen

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent.
WASHINGTON—With the blessing of the Department of Agriculture, a gray-haired, quiet little man named David H. Young is out to make the legs of 45,000,000 American women do their share toward solving the cotton problem.

Frankly, Mr. Young wants those legs enclosed in cotton hose again, for at least part of the time.
BORROWED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

IT looks as if he might have some success, too. An expert in the hosiery trade, he was borrowed by the department last summer on a two year loan and given a place in the Division of Textiles and Clothing of the Bureau of Home Economics.

He has obtained the co-operation of several textile companies, which have put some regular full-fashioned machines at work making cotton hose to his designs. He uses a combed yarn of long staple cotton, mercerized and put through a singeing process to give it a smoother texture. On his desk, he has two or three dozen samples of the finished process.

He has no idea of mauling in on the sheer hosiery field, and he isn't trying to create dress stockings. He has the notion that for occasions where a woman subjects her hose to a good deal of wear—for sports, for instance—something extremely good-looking and highly wearable can be offered that will have both style-appeal and price-appeal.

"We're not trying to compete with the silk people," he says. "Why, last year some 12 million dozen pair of sheer full-fashioned hose were sold in this country. If we can bring out cotton hose of a type that will induce each woman to buy two or three pairs a year, we'll be taking a big bite out of the cotton surplus."

HE'S A REAL STEM SPECIALIST.

MAN and boy, Mr. Young probably knows about as much about women's legs as any man in America, Billy Rose not excepted.

He recalls the time when he was with the Realsilk company in Indianapolis. He devised a new sort of weave, or twist, or something technical; anyway, the company wanted to try it out, so it made stockings of the new material, fitted out 100 of its girl employees with the new hose, and used them as guinea pigs.

"Do you know," says Mr. Young, "whatever any defect—any defect whatever—developed in a pair of those stockings, the girl who was wearing them had to troop right into my office and show 'em to me."
"While she was—ah—in them?"
"Yes. Sometimes there would be several of them coming in at once. . . . Oh, that was nothing at all, compared with what I went through in Hollywood a year or two ago."

A JOB WORTH FIGHTING FOR.

IN Hollywood, Mr. Young was connected with a company which made foundation garments. He was working out a new fabric with just the right amount of stretch in it, and the company was pretty particular about it. It had a lot of movie people for clients, and its foundations had to be crepeless, wrinkleless, and all that sort of thing.

So as fast as Mr. Young kicked in with a new bit of fabric, it would immediately be made up into a foundation garment. The garment would be done by a perfect-36 model, who would come into Mr. Young's office and do all sorts of stretches, bends, splits and whatnot to test the thing thoroughly. "For a man who is nearing 60," he remarks mildly, "all of that was a bit of a strain. They used to say, you know, that I got my gray hair because of the pious life I led. Well, perhaps it was, as well."

Anyway, Mr. Young's cotton hose will be introduced to the trade in the near future. If they go over, the annual consumption of cotton will be upped by several million pounds per year.

Working Wives To Be Queried

CLEVELAND, O. (UP).—This city with its diversified industries is to be the guinea pig for a survey which will help inform the U. S. department of labor why women work.

Miss Mary Anderson, of Washington, director of the department's women's bureau, has revealed that a study of Cleveland's working women has been started under the direction of Miss Ethel Best, industrial supervisor of the women's bureau.

The Cleveland study, according to Miss Anderson, has resulted from legislation attempting to discriminate against married women workers in 17 states.

"We are anxious to get the facts about married women workers," said Miss Anderson. "Cleveland was chosen as part of our survey because of its size and its large number of women workers, ranging from factory workers to professional and business women."

Miss Anderson believes that legislation against women was not meant for democracy and that "there is something very close to dictatorship in legislation that affects such a minority group."

One piece of legislation that prompted the survey, said Miss Anderson, stated that if a family had an income of $800 a year, only one member of the family could work.

"Such legislation," said Miss Anderson, "does not state openly that it is against women working, but it does affect them directly."

The Town Quack

Everything worked out all right. The doctors finally told Addison Wadley there was nothing wrong with his foot except so many years of use, and he might as well go ahead with his golf. So he immediately went out and played nine holes.

Hap Corrigan has recently completed a new home which I would guess must have run into five figures beginning with a "2". And now he has his trailer house parked at the back yard and his friends are wondering if he is preparing to load his family in the trailer, heading for his desert gold mining claim, leaving the new house to itself.

Midland's business section really is having its face lifted. There are more detours on the downtown sidewalks at present than we have had for some time. And when the work is all completed, the little city will compare favorably with the best of them.

G-Man Tactics Rout Rackets In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O. (UP).—Eliot Ness, 36-year-old former G-man, now Cleveland safety director, has secured his "third strike" in his struggle to break gangdom's grip on this city of a million.

Working with the precision and thoroughness taught him by J. Edgar Hoover, Ness has routed leaders of the powerful "numbers" racket.

The three-year crusading career of the mild-mannered, blond young man might have political significance, but Ness insists he has no political aspirations.

His most recent drive, covering a year of painstaking work, brought indictments against 23 alleged "numbers" racketeers whose take has been estimated at $5,000,000 a year. This was Ness' "third strike" on crime.

His two previous crusades sent six police officers to the Ohio penitentiary for graft and bribery, and convicted three labor union officials for blackmail.

what oil has meant to Texas, in which figures were given from a survey of the Texas Midcontinent Oil & Gas Association, State Press in the Dallas News adds:

The size of the oil industry in Texas is so great that most of us can scarcely grasp the import of the figures. Here the expenditure for mere drilling for oil is reliably set down at over a billion and a half in the last eight year. This does not attempt to list the additional billions brought into the life stream of Texas business by the exploration, extraction, refining and distribution of oil since 1930. When you consider that oil was discovered more than ninety years ago in Texas and that commercial production has been under way for more than forty-six years, the fact becomes all the more impressive that 58 per cent of all oil to date has been recovered from the ground since Brother Hoover was sweating with the onslaught of depression. Although vast sections of the state have been transformed by the coming of oil wealth and all Texas has benefited immensely from this powerful source of economic progress, the average citizen's comprehension is still years behind in actual developments. West Texas and the Permian Basin graphically demonstrate what the oil industry means in prosperity and well being.

'Kidnaped?'

Disappearance of Mrs. Edna Smith, above, 22-year-old Boston school teacher and wife of Harvard graduate student, is being investigated by G-men after relatives expressed fear she may have been kidnaped. Last word from her was telegram to husband she would arrive in Boston May 23 from New York.

Rock Pictures In Utah Depict Head Hunters

SALT LAKE CITY (UP).—Evidence that a tribe of head hunting Indians once roamed Utah has been compiled by Frank Beckwith, Delta Utah, newspaperman and historian, after 25 years' study of Indian rock pictures.

Illustrated with photographs and original drawings to prove his theories, the work is contained in a three-volume report that will be published by the Utah State Historical society.

Included in the manuscript is a photograph and description of a crude petroglyph which shows two warriors returning from a raiding party carrying a human head.

Utah's petroglyphs, or rock pictures, are remarkably well preserved, Beckwith found. Cut in the rock walls and cliffs with a sharp instrument, their age has been variously estimated as 600 to 1,200 years. They served the ancient tribes as guides and records.

Reconstructing their mode of life from the picture records they left, Beckwith believes that the head hunting tribe belonged to the Pueblo race and that for a brief period in their tribal life they took heads, instead of scalps, as trophies of victory.

He points out that he was appointed by Republican Mayor Harold H. Burton and has worked close with a Democratic prosecutor, Cullinan.

His career includes only two political speeches—only for Burton and one for Charles McNamee, a Democrat and former assistant of Cullinan.

COWBOYS TO OPEN 3-GAME SERIES WITH LAMESA HERE TONIGHT

Drop Another To Tale Club Wednesday

The Midland Cowboys, after a disastrous road trip, will be back home tonight, opening up a three-game series with the Lamesa boys.

Tonight's game will start at 8:30 and Dixie Swartz will likely be on the mound for the Cowboys. Raines will probably be the hurling choice. Manager Jodie Tate of the Lobos.

Business Manager Charles Wilson announced this afternoon that a radio would be placed in the press box tonight and reports will be given each round on the Baer-Nova fight.

The Cowboys lost their third in a row to the Lobos last night when they dropped a 6-11 decision. Harrell made his debut as a hurler for the Midland team and went all the way, despite giving up 18 hits. The Cowboys got to Needham of the Lobos for 15 hits but could not bunch them effectively. Two of the Lobo hits were home runs by Guyne and Fullenwider.

The game was slowed up by showers from the third inning until the end of the game.

Pampa Boxers Take 4 of 5 Decisions From Local Boys

A small but enthusiastic crowd last night watched amateur boxers of Pampa take four of five matches with Midland champions at the Midland Athletic Club.

The Pampa boys showed, on the average, far more experience than the Midland boys, getting two technical knockouts and two decisions in their four wins.

The lone Midland fighter to win his bout was Earl Pace. To do so he had to whip Joe Hornbeck, a state Golden Gloves finalist of this year. But he left no doubt in anyone's mind as to the winner by battering his better known opponent all over the ring for the full three rounds. He scored knockdowns in the first two rounds and had Hornbeck in a bad way in the third.

The program for the evening was started off with a battle royal between four negroes, then a bout between a couple of flea weight Mexican boys and a third preliminary between "Little Smoky" Joe Woods and a Mexican youngster.

The first fight of the evening found Benny Moore, 115, of Pampa getting a disputed decision over Ramon Navarros, 130. The judges were at odds on the winner and referee Benjie Wilson made the decision. He was roundly booed by the crowd.

Taylor Miller of Pampa, 120, then scored a technical knockout over Midland's Maurice Crawley, 120, in one minute, 20 seconds of the first round. Miller beat Crawley to the floor and Wilson stopped the fight to prevent more punishment for the local lad.

W. C. Pendleton, 125, of Pampa then took a decision over Nino Nunez in what was probably the slowest fight of the evening.

Joe Benevides stood up to Denver Hubert, another Golden Gloves state finalist, until only 20 seconds remained in the final round when he became "sea sick" and quit the ring.

Promotor Bob Royall announced he would stage more fights next Wednesday night if first class fighters of other towns could be lined up.

the opening of the new Buhl Planetarium and Institute of Popular Science—the first of its kind ever built in this city, where smoke from the steel mills keeps real stars pretty well obscured.

Assurance that the heavenly displays will be made understandable even for persons whose knowledge of astronomical movements is limited to the nursery rhyme about the cow who jumped over the moon was given by James Stokley, director of the planetarium.

There will be no complicated and highly technical lectures during demonstrations at the planetarium, he said, adding that the displays will be described in terms that all can understand.

"We hope that astronomers and scientists will become interested in our work," he said, "but we want to please and interest the lay public."

Stokley is the former director of the Fels planetarium in Philadelphia and one-time associate director of Franklin Institute.

Max Baer

Baer, Nova to Battle It Out Tonight for Chance at Louis

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Lured on by a shot at the heavyweight championship "big money," Max Baer, the reformed playboy, and Lou Nova, a determined young ex-collegian, fight it out for 15 rounds or less in Yankee stadium's ring tonight.

Before a crowd expected to reach 30,000 to 40,000 and contribute to a gross gate of $100,000 or more, the two California "family men" climb into the ring at 8 p. m. (CST) at about even money in the betting. The clash shapes up as one of the closest headline heavyweight fights on paper—in years. For each of the punch-tossers it is his most important fight.

BAER'S SERIOUS?

Baer, serious in training and purpose for the first time, hopes to become the first man in boxing history to win back the heavyweight championship. He is confident he can knock out his fellow-Californian in six rounds or less. Nova, who

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—The National Broadcasting company announced the Max Baer-Lou Nova heavyweight fight tonight would be televised from Yankee stadium by Station W2XBS.

It will be the first television of a regularly scheduled fight in the United States.

A round by round broadcast of the main bout will be carried by NBC's Blue Network at 8 p. m. (CST).

has skyrocketed to prominence in heavyweight circle in less than two years, is equally convinced he can get by Baer and then go on to take the title just as easily. "In fact," he says, "I will be disappointed if I don't kayo Maxie."

Since Promoter Jacobs has promised the victor a September shot at the winner of the June 28 title go between Joe Louis and Tony Galento, the principals in tonight's tea party are playing for lots higher stakes than just a cut of the gate.

For the first time in his colorful media whirl through the fistie world, Baer has convinced the boys of his new determination. The only question-mark now is whether his reformation has come too late.

LEGS MAY TELL

This corner believes it has. From his six weeks of training routine at Ferrdale, N. Y., Max has come with all his usual excellent physical equipment. He still has a physique finer than any other man in the ring. He still carries sleep-making medicine in his right hand and has added a hard left hook. But Maxie still likes to clown around the ring, and he'll walk in there tonight on 30-year-old legs.

So this department believes that unless he can polish off the strong young ex-footballer in half a dozen rounds or less—and that is doubtful—Max will lose—or rather, Maxie's legs will lose for him. Nova, on the other hand, is a fast moving, sturdy blonde belter, definitely a difficult target for Maxie's round house rights. He throws lots of punches, and likes to come in close and mix it, which doesn't argue well for Maxie's right hand shots. Baer needs plenty of swinging room.

Home Founding Fulfills Wish After 21 Years

SWARTHMORE, Pa. (UP)—A 35-acre estate here is being turned into a home for 11 aged women, just as Miss Sally P. Gibbons, a Quaker spinster, provided in her will prior to her death 21 years ago.

The home never was established because trustees of Miss Gibbons' estate held it did not have sufficient income. A special master appraised the $500,000 estate and determined that the project could be carried out.

Qualifications for the 11 permanent guests are: They must be past 40. They must be dependent. They must be Protestants. To make them feel at home, the guests must tend their own rooms, although there will be a staff of three to operate the home.

The poison of wasps, vespa, and the venom of ants, formica, are used as remedies for various human afflictions.

The PAYOFF

The Cowboys will return home tonight after what has been decidedly not successful trip, thanks to some poor pitching, fielding and hitting.

But it is the hope of club officials—and this department as well—that there will be a big crowd on hand to welcome the boys for their game with Lamesa.

Club officials are sincere about doing everything possible to develop a team that will get into the first division. There is still approximately three months left of the league season and one protracted winning streak could easily place the club in the top four.

Two new pitchers are in town now, another is with the club and other players will continue to arrive until the manager has agreed upon a "set" line-up.

Deservedly, the pitching of the team has been most at fault in putting the team where it now is. But other things have helped out a lot. The entire infield has been playing very erratically and only Malvica and Petzold are hitting. Base hits for Wooten and DeWitt have been far between. To repeat what is said to me dozens of times daily—it is a shame those two boys cannot hit because there is not two in the league that will handle their positions better on the field.

Manager Smith, regardless of what kind of a hitter he may turn out to be, has been doing all right so far—and then some. Up until the game last night, he had got six hits, three of them doubles, two walks, in 14 trips to the plate. He can drop 150 points and still come close to copping the league leadership.

Guessing games of various kinds are going around and here is one that someone figures out that should be of interest to baseball fans. It is simple enough—just pronounce names of some of the big league ball players.

Here's the list, so start pronouncing. The American League list, according to teams:

Boston—Robert Doerr, Gene Desautels, Fred Ostermueller, Joe Vosmik.

Chicago—William Dietrich, Aloysius Bejma, Mike Kreevich, Joseph Kuhel.

Cleveland—Frank Pytlak, Earl Averill, Harold Trosky, Oscar Melillo.

Detroit—Charles Gehring, William Rogell, Chester Lauby, Cletus E. Poffenberger, Frank Secory.

New York—Frank Crossetti, Joseph DiMaggio, Earle Combs, Warren Rosar.

Philadelphia—Dario Lodigiani, Richard Seibert, Earl Brucker.

St. Louis—Melo Almada, Myril Hoag, Sigmond Gryskas.

Washington—Oswald Bluege, Roberta Estellella, Angelo Guilianni, Joseph Krakauskas, Rene Monteaugudo.

And here's the National League list:

Boston—Anthony Cuccinello, Louis Fette.

Brooklyn—Dolf Camilli, Pete Coscarat, Harry Lavagetto, Bill Posedel, Vito Tamulis.

Chicago—Phillip Cavaretta, Augie Galan.

Cincinnati—Tony Bongiovanni, Stanley Bordagarey, Linus Frey.

New York—Lou Chiozza.

Philadelphia—Hugh Mulcahy, Claude Passeau.

Pittsburgh—Ray Berges, Heinie Manush.

St. Louis—Don Gutteridge.

NOW GET LET'S get along to the "answers" of the above pronouncing questions.

American League:
Boston Derr, the "o" being silent; Dess-ur-tells, accent on first syllable; Ah-ster-mewler, accent on first syllable; Vahs-mick, accent on first syllable.

Chicago—Dee-trick; Bay-ma; Kree-veh, as in "freedom"; Cool, Cleveland—Pit-lack, accent on first letter; Trosky, the "o" sounded as in "boss"; Mell-hill-o, accent on second syllable.

Detroit—Gehring, give both "g's" the hard sound as in "go"; Est-ta-yell-ey; Julie-ann; Craw-cass, accent on second syllable; Montee-gue-dough.

National League:
Boston—Cootcha-nell-o; Petty; Brooklyn—Kah-mill-ee; Kahs-kah-ra; Lah-yuh-get-oh; Pohs-dell; Tammy-you-liss.

Chicago—Kavra-rett-ah; Gah-lann; Bun-joe-vahn-ee; Bor-dah-gah-ray; Fry.
New York—Tchee-oh-zah.
Philadelphia—Mull-kay-hee; Pass-oh.

Texas' Amateur Golf Champ

Don Schumacher, Dallas, fondly caresses his 10-year-old putter that cost him 75 cents; after winning the Texas amateur golf championship, eight and six over John Barnum, Edinburg, Tex.

Pittsburgh—Bear-eez; Malinocch!
St. Louis—Gutt-ridge.

The funniest one we have heard on Zeke Bonura was told by Luke Sewell, veteran major league catcher, as follows:

"When we were playing with the White Sox," Sewell said, "Zeke could never tell the difference between our play-for-bunt sign and our pitch-out signal for a snap throw to first base, and I nearly tore his glove off one day when he came barging in for a bunt when I'd given him the pick-off sign. After that all he could remember was the one for the snap throw."

"Next year Zeke was with Washington and in his first game with the White Sox he gets to first base. More to have fun with Zeke, I give the old pitch-out sign and snap a throw to Joe Kuhel, and Zeke was caught by four miles.

"Zeke came past home plate and said to me, 'Pretty foxy, Lukey, givin' that old sign for the first baseman to play for a bunt and crosin' me up like that.'"

Since Sewell has rejoined the Indians, rumors have been making the rounds that the skids have been greased for Vitt. Vitt denies these angrily and Sewell just smiles amiably.

The fights staged last night at the athletic club were all the cash customers could ask for but the manner in which the show was run off could be improved considerably.

There was too much time between bouts and several other interesting parts of the program could have been helped.

Reindeer Meat Urged for U. S. War Reserve

WASHINGTON (UP)—Anthony J. Dimond, delegate to congress from Alaska, proposes that the United States develop a herd of 2,000,000 reindeer in Alaska as a wartime meat reserve.

The purpose of such a reserve would be to avoid dependence on distant overseas sources of meat such as Argentine or Australia in an emergency, Dimond suggests.

Reindeer meat is an excellent substitute for beef, but in normal times such a herd would no-wise compete with the large domestic beef industry of the United States, according to Dimond.

The herd would be restricted to use for Alaskan natives except in emergency when the federal government could authorize the use of the meat generally in the nation he suggested.

Discussion of emergency meat rations arose as a result of a move by President Roosevelt to obtain Argentine canned corned beef for the U. S. Navy, on ground that it was of superior quality and lower price than domestic corned beef.

Congress overruled the president on this issue, chiefly as a result of pressure from representatives of cattle raising states to prohibit the purchase of foreign goods. Some experts recalled that during the World War the United States imported from Argentina large amounts of canned beef.

When Dimond was questioned, among other members of congress, for his views on the meat situation, he made the suggestion of reserve supplies in Alaska.

"Canned reindeer meat is just as tasty and good quality as canned beef," he said. "Most people can scarcely tell the difference."

"It would seem a reasonable thing therefore to develop a large herd of reindeer in Alaska, which in normal times would be used exclusively by the native population but which in time of great national emergency such as a war, could be slaughtered in large part for consumption."

Quebec Province Seeks To Attract Industries

QUEBEC (UP)—The Quebec government soon may undertake an intensive campaign in Europe and the United States to attract new industries to the province.

Government officials are surveying the best means of making known the province's industrial facilities. The campaign will be directed, mostly in the United States, but efforts will also be made to interest capitalists and industrialists in small European countries to invest in Quebec province.

Mormons Meet July 14 at Palmyra, N. Y., Cumorah

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—The annual cumorah conference of the Mormon Church will be held at Palmyra July 14-16, according to an announcement by Frank Evans, New York, president of the Eastern States Mission Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints.

Evans said the conference dates were advanced a week from the original time because Utah Day, anniversary day of the arrival of Mormons in Salt Lake Valley, will be celebrated at the World's Fair July 24.

Herd Numbers 500,000.

Dimond said the present reindeer herd in Alaska is estimated at 500,000 animals, but it could be increased to about 2,000,000 feasibly.

"Then in emergency it could be reduced again by at least 1,000,000 or even to the present level of 500,000 without serious reactions," he said.

Dimond said that congress recently authorized the federal purchase of all reindeer in Alaska not belonging to natives, with the idea of helping native economy. But funds never were provided to complete this plan.

Only routine funds for administration of existing reindeer are appropriated annually by congress. He said it would at least be a practical measure to appropriate some modest additional funds to start a reserve herd.

Heat Won't Get You Down If You Keep Up Beauty Routine. Try to make your hair do just one more day simply because you hate to sit under the drier. Bathe less than twice a day. Buy dresses trimmed with white collars and cuffs unless you know you'll have time to keep the white collar and cuffs immaculately white. Forget to use an anti-perspirant two or three times a week, or a deodorant at least once a day. Under-estimate the importance of carrying little face cleaning pads in your purse. (For removing stale makeup before you apply fresh).

COOLNESS IS TWIN OF CLEANLINESS. Wear stockings or underwear a second time. Have one girdle which you wear for a week between washings. Use heavy, exotic perfume instead of a light scent, more suitable for summer. Go in for a great deal of eye makeup during daytime hours. Choose a coiffure which cannot be worn becomingly up and away from the back of your neck when the temperature is high and going higher.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES. This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief. Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 9 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MIND Your MANNERS. Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below. 1. What might a woman say to a man who thanks her for a dance? 2. When there are several kinds of sandwiches, cookies, and cakes on a tea table, how many should a guest take? 3. Does a guest get her cup of tea before helping herself to cakes and sandwiches, or afterwards? 4. Is it correct to eat the lettuce on which a salad is placed? 5. When a dish is passed at table with both a serving fork and spoon on it, should one use both in helping himself? What would you do if—You have both large and small forks, and want to know which to use for dessert? (a) The large fork? (b) The small fork? Answers: 1. "I enjoyed it." 2. As many as he wants — just so his plate isn't so crowded it makes him look greedy. 3. Usually her tea is poured first. 4. Certainly. 5. Yes. Lift the food in the spoon and hold it on the spoon with the fork. Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(b).

It looks like a big year for Americans in their own country. But with two World's Fairs to attract us where many foreign unadorned dishes will be offered, all good Americans should brush up on their food vocabulary. In Chicago, a group of cooking experts compiled a list of such terms, and here it is in part. Au Jus—Served with the natural meat juices, as "roast beef au jus."

Color is a distinction, for bouillon is dark and consomme light. But here in the United States, cooks often call a clear soup a consomme or bouillon according to whim.

We, The Women. By RUTH MILLET. Where a great many "good wives" fall down is in being housemakers instead of homemakers. They figure they are big successes if they create houses that look as though they might be torn from the pages of a woman's magazine. It never occurs to them that a house and household routine should be built around the person they want to keep in it. That, naturally, is the man of the house. Chances are he doesn't know whether the "window treatment" is good or bad. But he does know whether or not there is a footstool by his favorite chair, whether the back of his reading is left out of the bookcase until he finishes it, whether he can reach an ashtray without stretching. He may not realize that there is nothing in his house to hold him, but if he doesn't hurry home from the office at night his wife should know.

EVERY ROOM HAS AN INTEREST. One successful wife has so conscientiously built her house around her husband that every room he goes into has something in it that interests him. In the living room he has his victrola, with all his favorite records handy, even though they do take up a lot of space. In the sun room is his aquarium. He is all excited about photography now, and one small room, which would have been ideal for a linen closet, is not a linen closet—but a dark room. His dog is allowed to follow him about the house. Needless to say, that man hurries home at night—and stays there.

Costumed Dance Recital Closes Classes for Year

Appearing in a varied selection of dance numbers, pupils of Miss Georgia Goss were presented in a close-of-the-term recital at the Yucca Theatre Wednesday evening. All numbers were given in costume and included such group numbers as "Gypsy Maids," "Mexican Dance," "Negro Tap," and various solos and smaller group presentations. Approximately 23 children took part. Miss Goss will probably go to California later in the summer for a period of study. She plans to reopen her classes here in September.

Relax Into Calm Sleep By Exercises. By ALICIA HART. NEA Service Staff Writer. Many a beauty-minded woman has cured insomnia simply by doing relaxing exercises each night before evening try to go to sleep. Just as stretching exercises are fine things with which to begin a day, relaxing routines help to end it on a note of peace and quiet which is a sleep-producing. Begin relaxing exercises which will lull you off to sleep rather quickly the same way you start eye-opening, morning exercises—with a couple of good stretches. Then lie flat on your back with arms at sides. You are now ready to begin to try to relax every muscle in your body. First, raise one leg up and away from the bed, tensing the muscles of it as you do so. Hold it up, meanwhile keeping muscles tense, for five or six seconds, then relax it completely and let it fall back on the bed again. Repeat the routine with the other leg, holding the leg up for a few seconds, relaxing it and letting it fall. Repeat with arms. Then with hand. Lift your head off the pillow, tensing neck and shoulder muscles, hold the position several seconds, relax muscles and let head fall. Lift center of backbone up and away from the bed, then lower slowly. As you lower backbone, make believe that you are going to sink down into the mattress. RESTFUL VISIONS ARE HELPFUL. Noisette—A small piece of lean meat, generally a boned lamb chop. May be any similar piece of meat, however. Do you know the official difference between bouillon and consomme? It is a little difficult. Both are clear soups, which may or may not be garnished. Bouillon usually is said to be made of beef alone. Several meats, one of which should be chicken, may be used in making consomme. Beef can be included.

Scotland Yard Investigates After Widow, 72, Buries Six Husbands in 44 Years

LONDON (UP)—Married at 17, plump, double-chinned, bespectacled Mrs. Alice Amelia Medhurst, aged 72, buried six husbands, but an anonymous letter to Scotland Yard has led to the exhumation of the sixth, a 76-year-old retired builder John Henry Medhurst, three months after his death.

Sir Bernard Spilsbury, pathologist, and the Home Office analyst, Dr. Roche Lynch, attended the exhumation, during which vital organs were removed for analysis. Sir Bernard has made a post-mortem examination and the inquest is scheduled to be resumed on June 7, when the analyst's report will be presented.

Medhurst was Amelia's "greatest love," William Poxon, a son by her first marriage, told newspapermen. "They were like Darby and Joan," he added.

Mrs. Medhurst told newspapermen: "I suppose I shall have to find another husband. My last husband was a lovely old man. We were very, very fond of each other. We never had a cross word. I would pay $500 to find out the source of the scandalmongering which has led to the exhumation of the body. "Unlucky" in Love.

"Do the scandalmongers think that I am an adventuress? I have been unlucky so far as I have had so many husbands who have died. It is terrible that anyone should suggest that he might have died from foul play.

"Three doctors attended him in his last illness and my son Jim sat up with him for eight nights before he died. While he was ill he bought me a house as a Christmas present and he left me considerable property in his will. I welcome any inquiries to remove this sinister gossip."

Scotland Yard detectives have questioned Mrs. Medhurst for four hours and two of her three sons for a total of 50 hours since inquiries were started. Sightseers and gossip hounds driven Mrs. Medhurst to another part of London.

Mrs. Medhurst became housekeeper to her last husband two years ago in answer to an advertisement. Her employer then was a widower. After six months they were married.

Home Incident Related.
William Poxon told newspapermen: "My mother had no idea Mr. Medhurst had money until a month after they were married. They were sitting before the fire, when she noticed a fire brick out of place. When you pay the rent, ask the landlord to do something about that," she said. He smiled and nodded his head quietly. "Certainly, my dear," he said.

"Next rent day there was a knock at the door and my mother was astonished to find the caller was her husband. 'I'm your landlord,' he said."

A son by her second marriage, James Barwick, told newspapermen:

"Mr. Medhurst left mother five houses from which the total rents would be about $35 a week. He also left a sum of money under $500. He had Bright's disease for three months, and three days before his death had a stroke."

According to the death certificate, death was due to cerebral hemorrhage and asthma.

First Married in 1884.
Mrs. Medhurst's husbands were: Thomas Poxon, a Derbyshire lacemaker whom she married in 1884 when she was the 17-year-old daughter of a master tailor named Brown. Poxon died from pneumonia on March 25, 1893.

William Richard Barwick, insurance agent, of Gorleston, Great Yarmouth, who died about 34 years ago from pneumonia.

James Knights, carpenter and undertaker, 71, who died from kidney trouble in a Yarmouth hospital. Since Scotland Yard started inquiries into the death of Medhurst, detectives have inspected Knight's grave at Calister, three miles from Great Yarmouth. The grave has no name, number or stone.

A man named Dear, who is buried at Cardington, Bedfordshire.

William Thain, 65-year-old retired railway clerk, who died seven years ago in hospital after falling in the street and breaking a hip.

John Henry Medhurst, son of a policeman, whom she married at Lambeth Register Office in April, 1937.

Praise for Hitler Voiced by Moseley At House Hearing

WASHINGTON, June 1. (UP)—Major General George Van Horn Moseley, retired, told the congressional committee today while he disliked some of Chancellor Hitler's methods, he approved of his restoration of control of Germany to hands of the German people.

Testifying before the committee investigating un-Americanism, Moseley said Hitler "solved the racial problem" as well as problems of international finance and trade.

At the start of today's hearing a mysterious aide of Moseley caused a mild sensation by declining to let Moseley drink from water supplies provided for witnesses.

The incident was without immediate explanation but it recalled to some the general on at least one previous occasion had been in fear of his life.

Shoe Whittling Business Picks Up; Two Pairs Day's Work for Carver

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—The new angle on women's footwear is a modernized version of the wooden shoe but it is no new angle for Oscar Auestad—it has been his life work.

For 30 years, Auestad has pioneered this obscure industry in the United States. He started out to make "kluggers," a crude wooden shoe used by the fishermen of Norway, his native land. He learned the trade as an apprentice to his father in their little Norwegian village of Skarvevik.

Kluggers didn't go over as fishermen's shoes in America but they caught the eye of the fickle fashion and now Auestad is in on the ground floor of a new industry. Wooden shoes turned from a fad among women to popularity among men and now this quiet workman and his crew are whittling out by hand more than 3,000 pairs a year. One man whittles two pairs of shoes a day.

Auestad said it is no trick to learn to walk in wooden shoes. "They rock instead of bend," he explained. But they clip like a regular Dutch pair. Curiously enough it was the "clipping" as much as anything else that made them popular with school girls.

"I don't think that wooden shoes are going to be just a passing fad," Auestad said. "They may have started out that way but people don't usually let things that are comfortable on their feet get away from them."

He said they were lighter, cooler and more waterproof than leather shoes. They are made chiefly from maple.

Auestad said "there hasn't been anything new in kluggers in over a thousand years," but the shoes are called clogs now and they are trimmed in bright colors and are definitely "styled."

Auestad came to the United States in 1907 and has been whittling here on shoes ever since.

Good Deed Is Repaid, Rescuer Is Rescued
MEDFORD, Mass. (UP)—Frank M. Brewster, former U. S. army cavalry sergeant, who rescued scores of persons from Wrights Pond while a special officer there, has been saved from drowning.

Plunging into Wrights Pond when his small rowboat capsized, Brewster was stunned, Leo Carey, a gateman at Craddock dam, grabbed a hooked pole, ran out on the dam and "speared the seat of Brewster's pants." The victim was hauled ashore and revived.

Corn Kernels Used to Paint Odd Pictures
HOLDREGE, Neb. (UP)—The fact that drought-ridden Nebraska hasn't grown much corn the past few years doesn't prevent Leslie Randall, Holdrege farmer, from being a "corn artist."

For the last seven years he has spent his odd moments experimenting with a new type of material and has developed a technique of "painting" pictures with corn and glue.

His novel artistry consists of affixing kernels of corn to a board with glue and then coating them with a thin varnish.

It sounds simple, but the odd hobby is exacting and tedious. Randall has found that 18 different species of corn are necessary to obtain the maximum color range and variety of shape necessary for achieving design. Even with a variety of species, it often is necessary to split individual kernels to obtain a desired effect.

The U. S. patent office has informed Randall that it has no record of a similar idea. His best "canvas," a farmstead, shows surprising detail, and with continued experimentation, he hopes to improve his work.

Prisoners' Conduct Grows More Disorderly in Jail

They pulled out a steam radiator by sheer force and with it knocked out the doors, windows and walls of the jail. Re-arrested on a charge of malicious destruction of property, to which they
