SO THEY SAY

Small Towns

(Pecos Enterprise.)
Small towns are noted for their rivalry. They like to go around with a chip on the shoulder. They often oppose what their neighboring towns attempt to do.
Rivalry is justified in various individual instances. If Town A, for instance, tries to put over something that will seriously hurt Town B, it is only natural that Town B oppose the project. Town A should understand and appreciate such opposition, realizing it would do the same under the same circumstances. But it isn't necessary that Town B oppose all of Town A's projects, nor that Town A fight Town B in retaliation for justified opposition on some other project.

At the Library

The eleventh collection of International Mind Above Books, the gift of CARNEGIE ENDOWMENT FOR INTERNATIONAL PEACE, has just been received. They are, as listed by Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, Division Assistant:
THE SPIRIT OF INDIA, by W. J. Grant. "Here is a chance to take a trip through India. An excellent detailed map points the way and each step is illustrated by extraordinary photographs. There are 141 of them. The author, an Englishman, learned to admire and understand the Indians through long residence among them. He has traveled all over their country. He is familiar with their daily life, their background of village and city. He reverences their great spiritual heritage. He has a well balanced political outlook, recognizing both the British and the Indian point of view. This book is therefore far more than a travel book. It is alive with human interest, the author, as he himself so well expresses it, being 'warmed by the very soul of what he sees.'
LAKE OF THE ROYAL CROCOD-
gandy. And that is not all. Instead of being square the orandy handkerchief is a perfect circle! Very pretty, no doubt, with its edging of hand-painted scallops and dots—but we have the uncomfortable feeling that if we should appear with such a handkerchief some suspicious soul would think we had committed the faux pas of walking off with a dolly from dining table or boudoir.

simple and not filled with pretty words, but kind thoughts are simple anyway. Don't you think?
When you were a little lad you went to him with all your cares.

But now—Aw! You're a grown up young fellow without any fears.
You've changed a lot, you're much wiser now you know, Why you're quite all on your own, even Dad knows this is so.

But isn't it just your duty to voluntarily take the stand, And say: "You're a grand sort of person Dad," may I shake your hand?
Surely he would appreciate such an act on this father's day I know you could do this sincerely even if it's in a bashful way.

Who taught you the fine principles in life, and the value of honesty and honor? And from whom did you learn to take it with your chin up, "Handsome Charmer"
Whose kind, thoughtful, an loyal to your Mother wise lad? Why you grown up fearless young fellow,
It's your very own Dad.

DILES, by Eileen Bigland

"We are hearing much about 'colonies' just now and their possible transfer from one Great Power to another. How about the native people who live in these colonies? Do they want to be transferred? Do they resent foreign control? Do they know enough about the outside world to care under whose rule they live? The best way to find answers to such questions seems to be to visit some of these remote places and see for ourselves. If we cannot do this, a very good substitute is a book such as this one, telling not too seriously — of journeys through Central Africa and of a visit among the natives of Northern Rhodesia along the lovely slopes of the lake of Shiva Ngandu—the Lake of the Crocodiles. This is a charming and amusing book. The author makes no pretense of possessing superior knowledge, but quite simply and naturally tells of her experiences in strange surroundings and among little known peoples.

REACHING FOR THE STARS, by Nora Wain: "Hardly any comment is necessary regarding this book since it has already been so widely read and discussed. So interesting an account of four years in Hitler's Germany could not fail to attract unusual attention. Alcove readers are already acquainted with the author through another one of her books on the Alcove shelves, 'The House of Exile.' From this we learn that she was a keen observer, fair minded and friendly. We are inclined therefore to regard her account of her experiences in Germany as more trustworthy than those which are actuated by hatred and intolerance. Its verdict is, as a consequence, the more harrowing."

CALL TO REASON, by Axel Wenner-Gren: "This little book deals briefly in clearly defined and condensed chapters with the questions we are all asking as to democracy—its successes and its failures—as contrasted with the successes and failures of other forms of government such as fascism, communism, and nazism. Written by a native of Sweden, the book naturally stresses Swedish achievements through co-operatives and the encouragement of individual initiative. Because the author's wide experience as a great industrialist, a special interest attaches to his discussions of capital-labor problems in a changing world. He advocates "the middle way" as the most hopeful path of progress for his own country and for the world at large. If you read nothing else, read Chapter XVI "where there's a will, there's a way."

Furniture Market
Found Stable, West Texas Buyers Report
S. M. Vaughn, manager of Barrow Furniture Co. returned during the week end from Chicago where he made a market trip with A. B. Barrow of Abilene and D. D. Douglas, manager of the Big Spring store. The market was held a month earlier than is customary, he stated, and cool weather prevailed. Good rains had fallen to the east and north, resulting in better crop conditions in those sections. Several overcoats were seen in use while the West Texans were in Chicago.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland
Well, well, well. We've grown accustomed to hand-painted toes, that is hand-painted toe nails, but this thing of having the toes of one's stockings hand-painted, actually does bring a feeling of surprise.
The latest thing, Mesdames and Mademoiselles, is to have those sheer chiffon hose you wear for afternoon and evening painted with dainty little floral designs on the toes—to wear with toeless slippers, of course.

Special prices on RUGS and LINENS; 9x12 $25.00, $32.50, $42.50, 5x8 $12.50. Linen baby dresses 45c & 95c. Also bridge sets, table cloths and handkerchiefs; all sizes.

Dr. Ethel B. Waring of Cornell University to Address Group Here

Dr. Ethel B. Waring, professor of Family Life Education in Cornell University, will be the guest of Midland county home demonstration clubs today and Monday. Mrs. Waring is teaching graduate work in TSCW at Denton during the month of June. She comes as a visitor to Midland county with a keen interest in rural Texas. This interest has been promoted through directing research which made use of 4-H club girls' record-histories from Dallas and Houston counties as data collected by Miss Alpha Lynn, Midland county home demonstration agent, when she studied under Dr. Waring's direction last year at Cornell university. The data from the Texas 4-H club records and histories portrayed vivid family interests ranging from economic interests through educational growth and progressive attitudes on the part of all family members.

Dr. Waring studied in the University of California and later in Columbia under such psychologists as John Dewey, John Watson, Kilpatrick, Thorndike and Gates. She will be guest speaker at a meeting of a group of home demonstration club members and guests Monday morning. Her address will be on "Meeting Everyday Problems in Child Guidance and Family Relations."

MY FATHER
I have someone who is dear to me, And I'm sure that he shall always be.
A guiding hand all through my life, And help me through my toil and strife.
Sometimes he may be cross And I know that he's the boss, But I'm sure he's trying to help me, A nice little girl to be.
When I have been just a wee bit cranky, He feels as though he should spank me, But he sets me down a peg or two, By giving me a good talking to.
I know I hurt him when I do something wrong, When he forgives me for hurting him as I do, But he tells me to behave myself, too.
Now when it comes to fun He's like the rising sun, So full of bright sun rays and joy, Which makes him look like a little boy.
So to you, dear Father, I give this little tribute, And I hope that only you, it shall suit.
For really, all this comes from my heart, Even though it's only a start, Because some of the things I want to say to him, I just couldn't express them in words as I'd like to do.
—Margaret Murray.

Reader Presents Program From Works Of James Whitcomb Riley Here Friday

Coming here from engagements at North Texas State Teachers College at Denton and at Abilene Christian College and Hardin-Simmons at Abilene, Mayme English-Lillotte presented a program of readings from the works of James Whitcomb Riley and gave interesting information concerning the poet and his verses in a talk preceding the readings in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer Friday evening. Her appearance was sponsored by the missionary society of the First Methodist church. She explained the inspiration of some of the poet's most famous poems, such as "Little Orphan Annie." There really was a little orphan girl (though her name wasn't Annie) whom the father and mother of James Whitcomb Riley befriended, taking her into their home and keeping her until relatives came to claim her. Years afterward, when the small boy had become a man he wished to hear from his childhood playmate again and wrote the Orphan Annie poem.

Father's Day" (without taking any credit from Mothers) for, in spite of all the follies revealed to us by the newspapers, the majority of fathers are a living sacrifice for their families. Does it strike you as strange if many fathers prefer golf to church on Sunday? To keep the wolf away from the door (to say nothing of the wolves in sheep's clothing) for seven days out of the week is quite a task for mere man; but fathers are expected to provide for the future as well as satisfy the whims and fancies of a modern family. When I think of my father, I do not have a picture of a patriarch or a saint; but of a man worthy of that old quotation about Brutus in "Julius Caesar": "His life was gentle, and the elements So mixed in him that Nature Might stand up And say to all the world 'This was a man!'"

At random I might add these personal points about my own father: 1. Possessing that dry wit-humor—a good medicine for the ills of life. 2. Wise from years of experience and observing human nature. 3. Ready to help always—giving all that he can of money, time, and thought—himself. 4. Not afraid of hard labor—all ways has a desire to learn new and better ways of doing things. 5. A temper well under control—a well directed life—oh! what's the use!

It is impossible to put in print those qualities of mind and soul that we know many fathers do possess. For when we try (as Sherwood Anderson has said), the reading public calls us LIARS. The name "Father" or perhaps just "Daddy" will always be just as sweet to us as "Mother."
—Mrs. H. H. Watford.

"THE BEST PERFORMER EVER BUILT!"
Owners say it - Sales prove it

Count acceleration and hill-climbing... count riding comfort and reliability... count economy of gas, oil, tires and upkeep... Owners say it—sales prove it—"Chevrolet is the best performer ever built!"

And the reason why Chevrolet owners give this car such high praise will become clearly apparent to you the moment you drive it.

They say Chevrolet is "the best performer ever built," because it out-accelerates, out-climbs; out-performs all other economy cars—bar none! Because it represents the highest standard of smooth, safe, steady riding and day-in-and-day-out dependability. Because it gives all these results at lower cost.

But riding beats reading! So drive this fleet, powerful Chevrolet and prove to yourself what Chevrolet sales prove to the world, that owners are right when they say it's "the best performer ever built."

President J. C. (Peck) Cunningham of the Midland Cowboys announced late Saturday that Jimmy Kerr, manager of the team at the start of the season, had been signed as a catcher on the club. Since leaving here, Kerr has been playing with the Odessa Permian Basin League club. He will participate in the double header at Clovis this afternoon.

When Eddie Guynes "jumped" the Midland ball club after the final game here the other night against Clovis he might have started something that will not be finished until Judge W. G. Bramham has had his say.

If officials of the Midland club can prove that Jodie Tate or directors of the Lamesa club knew of Eddie's decision to quit playing baseball, then went ahead and made the deal whereby Guynes was sent to Midland for Sam Malvica, the judge might become very hard indeed.

No such charge has been preferred and won't be unless the officials here can procure evidence to back up such a complaint. Such evidence would be exceedingly hard to get.

Guynes did not make his reason quitting the club clear to anyone who talked with him—saying only that he was not satisfied. He asked for his release from the club but it was not given him and will not be until someone purchases it or trades for it.

As the situation now stands, Guynes can not play ball with any club that is a member of any professional league, neither can he participate in any semi-pro tournament. Closer ties between semi-pro and professional clubs have been established within the last two years just to take care of such situations. Too many players were jumping their clubs to participate in semi-pro tournaments over the country and pick up some ready cash.

The Cowboys have already landed another shortstop to take the place of Guynes. He is Conley Cox, a youngster who lives at Ozona and has had a couple of years with Class-C clubs. He spent one month with the Palestine club last year and managed to hit .222. His fielding average was only .903. However, Cox was highly recommended to the Midland club by "Tex" Stuart, Clovis catcher, who also hails from Ozona. He is due to report to the club on June 25.

Manager Sammy Hale evidently broke into the Cowboy lineup sooner than he had expected to by getting into the Friday games. But after watching the Cowboys take a drubbing Thursday night he probably thought he could be no worse. He inserted himself into the clean-up spot in the batting order and managed to get three bingles in the two games.

After the latest Big Spring-Lubbock series the Lubbock scribes cast diplomacy aside and yelled plenty about Tony Rego, Baron manager, spending most of his time on the field protesting every decision of the umpires that didn't please him. Tony did the same thing here and has done the same thing in other towns in the league all season. But he is particular to pick out umpires that will stand for it. He pulls no "baiting" tricks on Buster Capps. Business managers are the ones that yell loudest about Rego's time-killing antics. Lights in this league cost plenty of money and the business managers show visible pain as the Hawaiian argues and messes around, killing 30 minutes or so each game.

Sammy Hale should, according to reports of his managerial ability, manage to get the Cowboys further up the ladder in the standings, with the addition of about three new men. If Cox is able to capably fill the shortstop position, a catcher and outfielder with ability to drive the ball out of the lot will be the greatest need.

All day has done a good job behind the bat considering his recent physical condition. He suffered a back injury that has bothered him considerably, also an injured finger on his throwing hand. His condition has been reflected in the hurling of the pitching staff. His inability to move around has caused him to give the hurlers his mitt as a target directly in the middle of the plate. A class catcher has already been contacted regarding the job and may be hired as soon as the team returns home Tuesday. A hard hitting semi-pro outfielder is also reported to be enroute here to join the club.

The nine-game stand the Cowboys open here Tuesday will be their longest stay of the year at home. They "admittedly" were gyped on the first half schedule but the next half will be all in their favor.

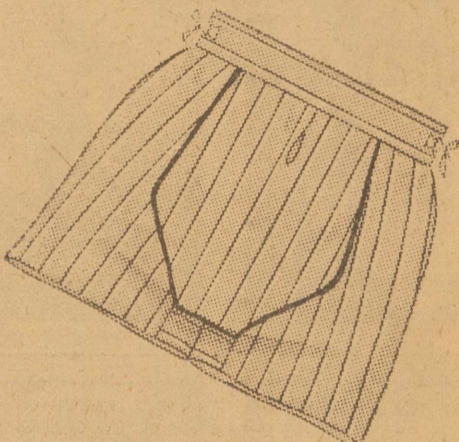

This'n that—Take a look at the batting averages this week for a surprise. . . . Note that Joe Piet and Johnny Volk are both clubbing in the 300 class now. . . . Bobby Petzold hasn't yet made it but he is gradually climbing, now batting .289. . . . Only the night before Eddie Guynes "took off" he told us how he was going to "bear down" each time against the Lamesa team. . . .

Christie, the Clovis hurler the Cowboys beat in the game here May 13, was turned loose by Jodie Tate last year and immediately announced he would beat teams managed by Tate from that time on. . . . He hung up five wins in a row over Jodie before the season ended last year and is anxiously waiting for a crack at the Lobos. . . . There is no tougher pitcher in the league when he really "levels". . . . But he is a screwy as any lefthander. . . . Softball officials have found what they needed to bring out the crowds. . . . It is the girl softball games. . . . Some more are booked this week. . . . Lou Nova has said he would retire after fighting Joe Louis and start a health farm. . . . Guess who the first patient will be. . . . Ray Abernathy only likes to pitch when it is about 100 degrees in the shade. . . . He would have been good for three wins here in the past three days if that is all he needs. . . .

Wooderson Winds Up Last in Five-Man Mile at Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., June 17 (AP)—Sydney Wooderson's long-heralded invasion of the American track ended on a sour note today when the little Briton was bumped and halftipped in the final lap of the Princeton invitation mile and finished last in a slow field of five. While a crowd of 30,000 cheered, the world record holder led all the way until Blaine Rideout of North Texas State Teachers clipped him about 200 yards from home. Wooderson half stumbled, fell back as Chuck Fenske, former Wisconsin ace, came through with a rush to win in four minutes, 11 seconds.

Glenn Cunningham of Kansas was second while Rideout was fourth. Reaction in London, in a word, was "foul."

NOTICE to WATER USERS

Due to the fact that a tremendous amount of water is being used each evening within a brief period, taxing the capacity of the main line from the wells at Cloverdale to the City of Midland, it is necessary for the City to impose certain restrictions on the time of watering lawns, trees and flowers until an additional line is laid from the source of supply.

THERE IS NO SHORTAGE OF WATER!

The supply of water at Cloverdale, where six wells are in operation, is ample. Storage facilities also provide for 1,900,000 gallons. The only difficulty confronting the water department is to put sufficient water through the main line from Cloverdale during the late afternoon "yard watering" period.

Please observe these restrictions and REFRAIN from watering lawns, effective now:

FROM 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
and
FROM 10 P. M. to 5 A. M.

The City of Midland is proud of its homes, its beautiful lawns and substantial improvements. Water users are asked to continue this beautification program but to observe strictly the hours named above.
