

More Men Are Called Up by The British

250,000 Reserves Are Told to Report for Service in the War

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP) — Great Britain's King summoned another 250,000 men to the colors last night as his first lord of the admiralty Winston Churchill, boldly declared the European war would end only when the allied forces were convinced that Reich's fuhrer, Adolf Hitler, "has had enough."

The admiralty chief, in an empire broadcast, declared "Russia has warned Hitler off his eastern dreams." But he added that he could not forecast Russia's next move, terming it a "riddle wrapped in mystery inside an enigma."

Shortly before the Churchill speech, in which the admiralty head said Britons believe "we are entitled to the respect and good will of the world and particularly of the United States," King George VI called to armed service all British men between the ages of 20 and 22 years "with certain exceptions."

Some 240,000 youths aged 20 were called up last June. Today's proclamation applies to those in the 21-year age group and those who have become 20 since June 5.

Churchill told the empire "it was for Hitler to say when the war would begin but it is not for him or his successors to say when it will end."

How soon the war ends, he said depends upon "how long Herr Hitler and his group of gangsters whose hands are stained with blood and sticky with corruption can keep their grip upon the docile, unhappy German people."

He warned his listeners that "we have not yet come at all to the severity of the trials which is to be expected," but listed "three important things" that have happened during the short course of the hostilities:

1. Poland has been over-run by Germany and Soviet Russia but "the soul of Poland is indestructible."

Russia's invasion of Poland created an eastern front "which Nazi Germany does not dare assault."

3. "A week has passed since a British ship alone or in convoy has been sunk or even molested on the high seas" and "the world-wide U-boat attack upon the life of the British Isles has not so far proved successful."

"We must, of course, expect that the U-boat attack upon the sea-borne commerce of the world will be renewed presently upon a greater scale," war-wise Churchill warned.

His prediction followed an announcement last night that the admiralty had warned all British merchant shipping to be on guard against "an immediate change of policy in German submarine warfare."

(The 1946 international submarine convention, signed by Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop for Germany in 1937 made no distinction between armed or unarmed merchant ships. Signatories undertook not to sink such vessels without first putting their passengers, crew and papers in a safe place.)

16 Persons Hurt as Rodeo Steer Plunges Into Cleveland Crowd

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 2 (AP). — A 1,500-pound steer broke from its corral Sunday and plunged into a crowd of 55,000 viewing a rodeo at the Cleveland Stadium. Sixteen persons were injured, two seriously.

George Darmsstatter, 61, director for the Weideman Food Company here, and Norman Abele, 21, Sandusky, Ohio, were hospitalized and treated for severe lacerations. The other were given first aid treatment and released.

Police Captain Harry Weiss said that the steer escaped from a low corral during the bulldogging event. Pursued by three cowboys, the frightened animal leaped into a box an estimated fifteen feet above the floor of the stadium.

While spectators screamed and shouted, the steer jumped from the box, the occupants of which included Darmsstatter, and charged up the steps to a ramp, where it attacked Abele.

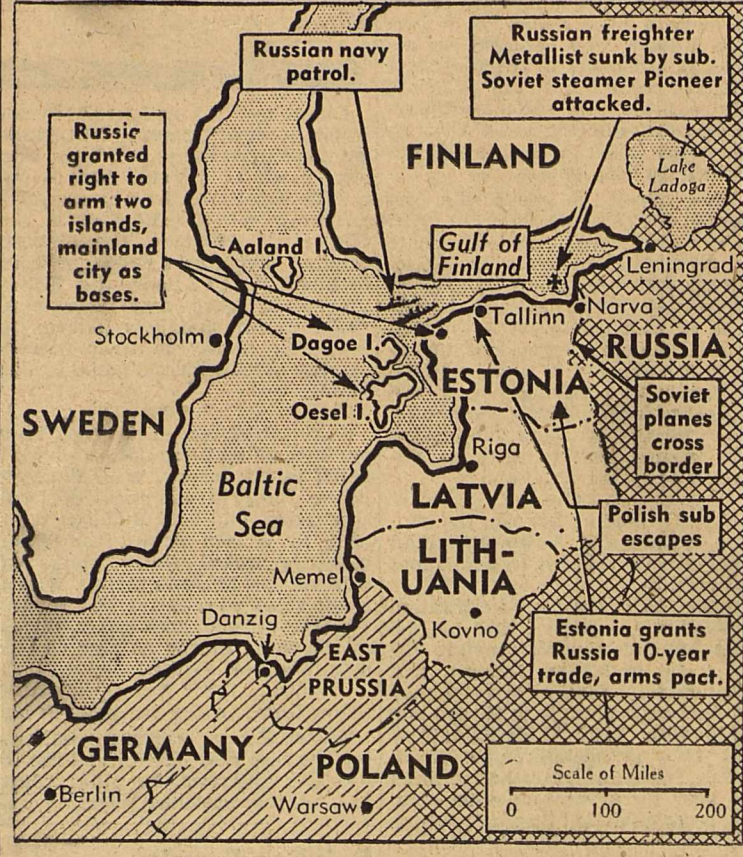

After twenty minutes of confusion and near panic, cowboys and police cornered and lassoed the animal and tied it to adjacent seats.

Later in the show, billed as a rodeo and thrill circus, Walter Kovak, 21-year-old Hollywood, Calif., stuntman, was burned when his automobile, which he had driven through a flaming wall, burst into flames. Kovak leaped from the machine and escaped with minor burns.

VISIT MOTHER. Harold and Jack Reid were here from Lubbock this week-end visiting their mother, Mrs. Willie Stell Reid.

FROM VACATION. Mr. and Mrs. Gay Harris have returned from a two-weeks vacation trip to Dallas and Galveston.

Russia Takes Command in Baltic

The Red menace advances in the Baltic states. Estonia signs mutual assistance pact with Soviet, gives Russia right to fortify strategic islands of Dagoe and Oesel, port of Paldiski. Thus Soviet gains military and economic stranglehold on north Baltic, virtual command of Gulf of Finland and Bay of Riga, Latvia's chief port. Aaland island reportedly has been fortified by Sweden and Finland. Above map locates disturbances which led to Russian-Estonian conferences and position of islands which Soviet obtains.

North Cowden Deep Pay Well Swabs Live Oil, Drilling Water on Test

BY FRANK GARNER

Having shown 36-gravity, live green oil and drilling water on swabbing test, Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-A B. H. Blakeney, deep pay prospect a half-mile southwest of the North Cowden pool in northern Ector county, this morning was pulling 2 1/2-inch tubing preparatory to re-running it with packer at 5,015 feet.

On last balling test, it had bailed three and one-half barrels of oil and 14.8 barrels of drilling water in 11 hours. Fluid was bailed off bottom, which is at 5,120 feet. Tubing then was run to total depth, with wall packer at 5,070 feet. In 40 1/2 hours ending at four a. m. today, the well swabbed two and three-quarters barrels of oil and 49 barrels of drilling water. It had been drilled in with rotary, and some of the drilling fluid might have penetrated porous formation which also showed oil staining in the last 40 feet. The possibility that packer might not be holding and that some of the water was coming from below the regular North Cowden pay also was advanced.

Nearly three miles to the north and slightly to the west, Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company No. 3 Pay Holt, is drilling past 2,025 feet in anhydrite. It is a direct east offset to the discovery well of the deep pay, Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 O. B. Holt, 217-barrel flowing producer. Big Slaughter Oil.

Large new producer for the southwestern part of the Slaughter pool in southwestern Hockley has been completed by Western States-Galena Corporation at No. 1 W. G. Frazier. On six-hour commission gauge it flowed 340.07 barrels of 32.4-gravity oil to be assigned full 24-hour potential rating of 1,360.28 barrels. Gas-oil ratio is 698-1. The well was acidized with 3,000-gallon, three-stage treatment in pay lime between 4,915 and 5,004 feet.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 J. Westheimer et al, northwestern Cochran deep test, is drilling at 5,535 feet in lime, anhydrite and shale, presumably still in the Yeso, lower Permian, which it topped at 4,720 feet.

In southern Yoakum's Denver pool, Humble No. 17 H. O. Wooten test 24-hour potential of 474.48 barrels of 31.6-gravity crude, with gas ratio of 3,300-1. Pay between 4,915 and 5,004 feet. It was treated with a total of 7,500 gallons.

Baptist Men to Meet At 7:30 for Supper

Meeting of the Baptist Brotherhood, to which all men of the church are invited, will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening, with supper served in the church basement, it has been announced. The Brotherhood was organized a week ago and subsequently will hold meetings probably monthly, according to C. G. Murray, president. Other officers will be named at tonight's meeting.

Plans will be discussed for entertaining the Association Brotherhood, representing five counties, here October 12.

Al Smith Asks Support for President on Neutrality Act

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Allred E. Smith appealed to Americans last night to "stand solidly behind" President Roosevelt in his effort to amend the neutrality act because "he is so clearly right."

Speaking over a nation-wide radio network, Smith added: "I urge this with all the sincerity I possess, with the profound conviction that I speak for the good of the nation which we all love."

It was the "Happy Warrior's" first public utterance favoring an administrative policy since he "took a walk" from the Democratic party in the 1936 presidential election and campaigned against Mr. Roosevelt, his former close personal and political friend.

The 1928 Democratic presidential nominee declared bluntly "the present neutrality act does not work," and added: "It has been weighed in the balance and found wanting."

"I believe that we should prevent the transportation in American ships of any goods of any kind, war goods or other goods, contraband or non-contraband or any passengers to the warring nations."

"It is undoubtedly the absence of such a law in 1917 that brought us into the World War. There is only one way of avoiding a repetition of

Midland Attorney Teaches Men's Class

Joseph Mims, Midland attorney, had charge of the lesson service at the meeting of Scharbauer Men's class at Hotel Scharbauer Sunday morning. Topic of the lesson was "The Infancy of Jesus."

Song services preceding the lesson were in charge of Lige Midkiff. W. J. Pratt led the class in prayer following the singing. About 30 men were in attendance. H. H. Ingram of Brownwood, Texas, was introduced as an out-of-town visitor. C. A. Ponder was a local visitor.

Neutrality Fight Opens In Congress

Pittman Opens New Session With Plea For Embargo Repeal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—A momentous senate debate over the nation's neutrality policies began today with Senator Pittman, (D-Nev.), asserting the existing arms embargo was "discrimination in favor of Germany."

The chairman of the foreign relations committee offered the administration's neutrality bill to repeal the arms embargo as "the most important legislation ever proposed to congress" and said it was designed for the purpose of "keeping us out of the European war."

Pittman said he had "every confidence" in President Roosevelt's declaration to do everything possible to keep the United States out of war.

Pittman supported a provision in the bill permitting belligerents to obtain credits up to 90 days on American purchases.

Germany, under the existing law, may get American goods through Russia, Italy and Rumania, he said.

Discussing the effect on the American merchant marine, he said United States shippers could develop trade with South America.

Senator Gillette, Iowa, offered two amendments, one requiring belligerents to pay cash for armaments purchased in the United States and the other prohibiting belligerents from selling any securities here.

"Suggestion Week" Gets Underway at C of C Here Today

Chamber of Commerce Suggestion Week got underway here this morning, with a fair response on the part of local citizens being reported by the chamber of commerce office at noon. Several excellent suggestions as to projects which might be included in the organization's 1940 program of work had been made and considerable interest was being shown in the new method of planning the organization's work program.

Suggestion Week will continue through Thursday, all citizens of Midland and Midland county being cordially invited to visit the chamber of commerce office in Hotel Scharbauer at sometime during the week to list any and all suggestions they might have as to various projects on which the local chamber of commerce might work during the coming year.

Actively in charge of the conducting of Suggestion Week is an activities committee composed of Paul McHargue, W. B. Simpson, and E. H. Barron.

Russia Believed to Be Moving Toward New Balkan Bloc

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (AP). — Russia today was believed moving toward a Balkan bloc as the Rumanian foreign minister was reported enroute to Moscow.

The Turkish foreign minister spent four hours in conversations at the Kremlin with Russian officials.

Latvian Foreign Minister Munters and secretaries arrived later.

Terracing Paying Off For Midland Farmer

Terracing, contour farming and adequate cultivation is paying off in a big way for A. L. Stewart in Midland county. It has been so dry in the community in which he lives that many farmers have no crop at all, but Stewart has better than an average crop, for a normal year, of both feed and cotton. Milo planted on July 21 on land that has been worked a total of nine times is making a ton to the acre and the cotton, planted slightly earlier than this, is loaded with bolls.

Stewart, who works 160 acres of land, formerly farmed 480 acres. He states that if he had tried to farm 480 acres this year that he would likely have made no crop at all.

Not only does Stewart have a good crop, but his cellar contains enough canned fruits and vegetables to last his family through the winter.

Stewart said: "If we would only work the land we could cultivate properly, not only would we make more crops but there would be farms for many deserving farmers now on relief rolls."

El Paso Square Dance Team to Exhibit in Scharbauer Hotel Here Tomorrow Afternoon

Traveling over the Broadway of America Highway from El Paso, Texas, to New York City, the El Paso Blue Bonnet Square Dance Team, the championship square dance team of the State of Texas, will arrive in Midland for a brief exhibition Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, according to information this morning received by the local chamber of commerce.

The Blue Bonnet team is the same team that performed at the banquet and dance given here last spring in honor of visiting trade-trippers from El Paso.

This team, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Greggerson, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. Hinton McIntosh and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Allen, will dance in all towns along the Broadway of America, either enroute on the return trip.

Arrangements have been made for the dance team to perform in the lobby of Hotel Scharbauer during the stop here tomorrow afternoon. The public is invited to witness the exhibition.

Programs have been arranged for two days in Washington and three days in New York at the World's Fair, the couples to dance to the music of their own orchestra. This is the team that won its championship at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and Exhibition last spring.

Accompanying the dancers will be Jack McDonald, president of the Broadway of America Association, and L. A. Wilke, secretary-treasurer of the association, both of El Paso.

Mr. Wilke is also executive secretary of El Paso's national advertising organization, the Gateway Club.

"We hope through this trip over the Broadway to stimulate winter travel over the only snow-free, all-

Grand Jury for District Court Is Named Today

Full term of the district court of Midland county was opened by District Judge Cecil C. Collins this morning, with selection of a grand jury and delivery of the judge's charge. No petit jurors are summoned until next Monday, although a few non-jury civil cases probably will be heard during this week.

The grand jury is composed of George T. Abell, foreman; E. W. Anguish, J. E. Simmons, T. E. Bizzell, W. L. Brown, H. S. Collins, Bill Countiss, J. W. Drummond, W. P. Dykema, W. T. Forehand, F. H. Fuhrman and John P. Howe.

Judge Collins, in his charge, asked investigation of such alleged law violations as may be brought before the grand jury by officers, as well as law conditions in general. He cited the powers of the grand jury and told of the value of this American system in times of unrest such as confront the world today.

Butler and Crane Make Good on Song, Dance at Chapel

High school students were treated to a "big double feature" in chapel exercises this morning when the vaudeville team of "Butler and Crane" made good on promises concerning the winning of the Wink football game.

On a visit to the school last Wednesday, John P. Butler promised to sing a solo if the Bulldogs beat Wink. Not to be outdone, Claude O. Crane offered to throw in a solo dance.

The Bulldogs came through with their part of the bargain, defeating the Wink Wildcats 27-12 on Lackey Field Friday night. This morning, as the high school celebrated the victory with a big pep rally, Butler sang a song of his own composition, dedicated to the Bulldogs, to the tune of "A Bicycle Built for Two."

Crane did his dance to the same tune. J. L. Greene, president of the school board, to whom the Bulldogs had dedicated the Wink game, made a speech of appreciation.

Peace Proposal Answer Held Up By Chamberlain

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP). — Prime Minister Chamberlain decided today to wait until tomorrow to tell the commons what the British government thought of Russian-German partition of Poland and peace gestures emanating from Berlin.

Meanwhile, Britain strengthened her forces by calling 250,000 more men to the colors.

A night flight of British planes over Berlin was announced.

Announcement of the reconnaissance flights over Berlin was followed by assurance to commons any "trucks of attempts to bomb London will get the reception they deserve."

The British freighter Clement was sunk in the South Atlantic by a German armed raider, believed to have been a pocket battleship.

Hope Allies Will Accept Peace Offer

Believe Ciano Told Italy Must Enter If Proposal Rejected

ROME, Oct. 2 (AP)—Italian and foreign diplomats expressed concern today lest Italy might be forced into the war if Britain and France turned down the Hitler peace offer.

Officials were silent on Foreign Minister Ciano's visit to Berlin but many Italians said they thought Hitler was asking Italy to present the peace proposal and be ready to enter the war in the event of its rejection.

Count Ciano, Italian foreign minister, departed from Berlin for Rome today after concluding first conversations between Ciano and Adolf Hitler. The speed of the talks indicated the two countries are in accord on future moves.

Some observers saw a reason for believing Mussolini may assume the role of mediator in a "final peace offensive" by the German reich.

Adolf Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop met last night with Ciano for a conference which may have an important bearing on the course of the European war.

Even secretaries were dismissed as the doors of Hitler's work room in the chancellery closed behind Ciano and no official hint emerged as to what they were discussing.

There was little fanfare about Ciano's visit and conferees got down to business immediately.

The Italian foreign minister wore a Fascist militia uniform, with the great cross of the German eagle when he arrived to be met by Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German secret police, and other high Nazis.

Ciano hastened to the foreign office where he conversed with Von Ribbentrop for 15 minutes before going to meet Hitler.

In official quarters the only positive statement forthcoming was that angles of the German-Soviet accord of last week were being discussed.

Grin and Grin—Then Laugh At Nose-to-Mouth Lines

BY ALICIA HART NEA Service Staff Writer

If it has been longer than you care to admit since you looked closely at your mouth and considered its appearance from every angle, how about doing so right now? Don't let all the talk about your eyes being the focal point of beauty convince you for a moment that the mouth isn't a conspicuous feature.

You can't actually change the shape of your mouth, of course, but by skillful application of lipstick, you can build it up a bit more, shorten a line there, make too-thin lips seem fuller, tooth-lick ones more delicately formed.

As a start toward applying lipstick to achieve a certain effect instead of simply to bring color into the face, buy a lip brush. With this, proper outlining can be done. Then the spaces inside the lines may be filled in easily. Hollywood makeup experts approve of this method.

In addition to learning more about what can be done with lipstick, do something about those down-sloping lines from sides of the nose to corners of the mouth. Specifically, repeat this exercise ten times while you have night

A nominating committee was appointed. About 16 were present.

Parran Urges Sex Training Be Definitive

WASHINGTON, (U.P.) — Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the U. S. Public Health Service, says that the responsibility for teaching sex education should be shared by professors of the social sciences and literature.

The emotional and social implications of sex are as important to the adolescent as its physiological aspects, Dr. Parran declared.

Teachers who give information only about mammalian reproduction or who confine their teaching to simple answers to simple questions about personal hygiene are doing only a part of their job," he added. "Sex is not an isolated phenomenon which can be explained adequately in terms of itself only."

Dr. Parran said that the Public Health Service soon will issue a series of publications describing the part teachers of the humanities should play in solving the problems of adolescents.

Syphilis is hampered by "unreliable laboratory performance" by a few serological laboratory technicians, departmental surgeons said. They suggest that technicians should understand thoroughly and follow carefully the new and improved techniques described in a new public health service pamphlet describing advances made in syphilis blood testing since Wasserman's research in 1907.

Tested Technics Used. Several of the more important technics used by the most widely known medical authorities are described in the volume. Among the doctors mentioned as important are Dr. Harry Eagle of John Hopkins University Medical School; Dr. W. A. Hinton of the Massachusetts State Department of Health; Dr. Reuben L. Kahn of the University of Michigan Hospital; Dr. B. S. Kline of Mount Sinai Hospital in Cleveland; and Dr. John A. Kolmer of Temple University.

More than 100,000 persons die from the effects of syphilis annually.

Seeds 300 Years Old Successfully Germinated

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Pink lotus blossoms floating in a Garfield Park conservatory pool this summer were germinated from Oriental seeds believed to be 300 to 500 years old.

Germination of the seeds began last year in the Field Museum's department of botany. Within a few weeks a shoot seven and one-half inches long grew from one seed.

The shoots were transferred to the conservatory and floating leaves developed. Several large pink blossoms have appeared from the erect leaves.

Botanists believe the lotus represents the longest duration of delayed germination on record.

It's Bulb Planting Time—Here's Depth to Plant

Keep This Bulb Planting Depth Chart. It Will Be Helpful to You.

How deep should fall bulbs be planted? In general, about four times the diameter of the bulb. The beginner should not understand by this rule that precision measurement is required, and an inch more or less in planting a Darwin tulip bulb may mean the success or failure of the flower.

Nature is seldom meticulous in such matters. At the same time the planter would do well to see that his bulbs are planted approximately at the optimum depth. Tulips, for example, if planted much deeper than the recommended 5 to 6 inches (above the top of the bulb) will probably bloom, but likely later than you expect. If planted less than the recommended depth, they may also bloom, and at the right time. But should the winter be an open one, with lots of freezing and thawing, shallow-planted tulips are likely to be heaved entirely out of the ground. They certainly will be a risk.

Some fall bulbs are not planted to a depth of four times their diameter. The madonna lily, usually a big bulb, should be planted only 3 or 4 inches deep. The crown imperial, a large bulb, wants shallow planting, about 2 inches. The beginner will find a chart of planting depths useful to refer to when the planting task is begun. If the ground in which the bulbs are planted has been newly spaded, and is quite loose, the depths should be increased an inch or so, to allow for settling, and because of the increased effect of frost heaving on newly turned soil. Also, late-planted bulbs, which have no opportunity to make roots before the soil freezes, may be set a little deeper, to protect them from frost action.

YANKS GREAT IN FIELD BUT REDS ARE NOT CONSIDERED TO BE A SIEVE ON DEFENSE

BY HARRY GRAYSON,
NEA Service Sports Editor.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30. — Though much has been written about the Yankees as a defensive unit, man for man comparison with the Reds does not give the Bombers any great advantage in the world series.

The Reds' second-base combination of Billy Myers and Lonnie Frey, with Harry Craft behind them in center field, rivals the Yankees' line-through-the-middle-of-the-diamond as far as a defensive play goes.

Myers, definitely outlits Crosetti, 278 to 234, and though hampered by a band ankle lately, will have been rested by the time the series opens, and will cover nearly as much ground as the Italian.

Frey outlits Joe Gordon, 301 to 282, and is nearly as good a second baseman off the records. Gordon, a fine ball player, has not shown the improvement that was expected of him this year.

In center, of course, the Yanks carry a preponderance of punch. The Reds' second-base combination of Billy Myers and Lonnie Frey, with Harry Craft behind them in center field, rivals the Yankees' line-through-the-middle-of-the-diamond as far as a defensive play goes.

Bill McKechnie's expectation that he would develop into one of the great flycatchers of the game was not unjustified.

MCCORMICK OUTHITS FANCY DAN DAHLGREN.

CINCINNATI has no defensive advantage at first base, where Buck McCormick must take a bow to the fielding prowess of Babe Dahlgren.

But when the two go to the plate, it becomes Dahlgren's turn to bend at the waist. McCormick hits 328 to Dahlgren's 236, and while the Cincinnati is no fancy Dan like his rival, he is a sound first baseman.

Cincinnati suffers by the comparison at third, where they must stack Bill Werber against Red Rolfe.

Werber hits 40 points under

Rolfe's 329, but comes up to the high standard set by the New Hampshire redhead in the field.

Werber is a grand money player, too, and William McKechnie expects a lot from him in a short series.

Charley Keller is hailed as the Yankees' likely star of the series. He goes in with a great hitting advantage over Wally Berger, 335 to 253, and his fleetness of foot should count heavily. He has a fine arm, where Berger's flipper is anemic.

LOMBARDI IS SEEN SERIES DARK HORSE.

IVAL GOODMAN of the Reds doesn't have to leave the park when the name of George Selkirk is mentioned. Goodman has been thumping a healthy 323, contrasted with Selkirk's 306.

There is only a slight difference in Selkirk's favor when the subject of camping under flies is discussed.

While the Yankees have one of the great catchers of all time in Bill Dickey, it must be admitted he has slowed up with the stick this season, hitting .303 against Ernie Lombardi's .286.

And in listing dark horses, the fellows who may surprise in the series, Bill McKechnie gives the big Italian backstopper the No. 1 spot.

He hangs a long ball.

Nashville Goes One Up With Victory Over Cats Sunday

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 2. (AP). — Nashville's ace hurler, Solem Sam Nahem, pitched the Southern Association Vols to a 7-3 victory over Fort Worth Sunday to give the Tennesseans a 3 to 2 edge in the Dixie Series.

Immediately after the game, played in football weather, both clubs entrained for Fort Worth where the Texas Leaguers will be hosts to the Vols in the sixth game of the series tonight.

While Nahem had nine safeties charged against him, one was a misjudged fly, one a double-play ball that took a bad hop and a third was a grounder that hit a hard spot on the diamond and bounced over Second Baseman Johnny Mihalic's head.

The Cats went scoreless until the sixth when Chatham's grounder paved the way for two runs. Right-fielder Cal Chapman made a leaping shoestring catch in the seventh, but misjudged a fly in the eighth that was turned into the Texans' final tally.

Norton Worries Over Starting Line-Up in The Santa Clara Game

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 2. — Coach Homer Norton has exhausted the Texas A&M athletic department's supply of pencils trying to figure out how to take fifty football players to California on 35 railroad tickets.

Everytime the jovial Aggie mentor begins to line up his traveling squad for the Santa Clara—Texas

Aggie game at Seal's Stadium, San Francisco, November 6, he winds up with more names than he can possibly squeeze into the amount budgeted for the trip.

"I know pretty well who is going to play next Friday night," Norton muses, "but for the life of me, I don't know whether they'll do us the most good out there. Picking a traveling squad is just about as difficult as picking a starting team. I haven't yet been able to write down a starting team without putting twelve or thirteen boys on it."

The Aggies for several years have suffered from lack of boys who can punt. This year Derace Moser, Bill Conatser, Euel Wesson, Frank Wood, Bud Force and Pinkie Williams are knocking the pigskin a mile. They are closely followed by John Kimbrough, Jim Thompson, Walemon Price and Marshall Spivey. All of them fast developing into distance kickers.

Bill Dawson, Marshall Robnett, Bill Audish and Force are kicking off in practice to the goal line, and the same crew with the addition of Price and Ed Robnett are showing deadly accuracy in point-after-touchdown practice.

Norton's center position is four-deep with Vaughn, Hauser, Herman and Shelton all able to acquit themselves in fine shape.

The Aggies are broken out with so many guards that two who were depended upon have been shifted to the backfield. M. Robnett and Henke probably will start, but right behind them are Rahm, Bueck,

A great triple-threatener who has shown plenty of promise in the training drills, Wilson is expected to carry most of the offensive burden for the Bears.

Razorbacks Always Hard for Frogs on Fayetteville Grid

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2. — The records show plainly that the Arkansas Razorbacks are hard for TCU to handle in Fayetteville.

Yet the Horned Frog have the job of trying to handle the Razorbacks in Fayetteville this week, come Saturday afternoon.

Two years ago the two elevenes battled to a 7-to-7 tie up in the Ozark City. In 1935 the Frogs managed to win by six points, but the Razorbacks handed the 1933 Christian eleven a 13-to-0 drubbing when Coach Francis Schmidt made his last trip there as head grid man for TCU.

The Frogs hold an edge over the Razorbacks on the 15-game series which started back in 1920; having taken 10, lost four and tied one. The all-time score is: TCU 204, Arkansas 144.

Previous scores by years:

Reeves and a flock of others.

Joe Boyd, and Ernie Pannell are the outstanding tackles, but they can be replaced at any stage of the game by Chip Rott, Wesson, Martin Ruby or Leonard Joeris.

Then come the ends—three reserves fighting for starting posts—Joe White, Bill Duncan and Herb Smith; and a pack of younger boys barking at their heels—Dawson, Cowley, Sterling, Jack Kimbrough, Bill Buchanan, a gift to warm anybody's heart from Weatherford Junior College, Willard Clark and Billy Henderson.

Twenty-three skiddoo backs make it tough for Norton to select the quartet to carry the mail for the Aggies. Of course, Price, Kimbrough, Thomason and Moser should be enough to settle the question; but Waltzing Willie Conatser, Dimples and, is, too sweet a stepper and punter to warm a bench for long; and right back of him comes Spivey and Force, Alabama Smith and Marland Jeffrey. Marlon Pugh, Audish, John Abbott, Finis White and Ed Robnett can't be left off the 1937 Aggies by any means.

Yes sir, Coach Norton has plenty to keep his receding hair-line getting dangerously close to his back collar-button.

City and County Health Groups Aid In Halting Disease

AUSTIN, Texas. — On September 1, 1939 statistics from the State Health Department showed that 34 per cent of the population of Texas or 2,144,536 persons, were being protected against communicable diseases through the functions of full-time county and city health departments in 23 counties and two cities independent of the counties.

These local health units carry out a well-balanced public health program to keep the well person well, and to further safe-guard the health of individuals by reducing to a minimum the various communicable diseases rendered combatable by modern public health methods.

Public health, over a score of years, has rendered combatable such diseases as typhoid, diphtheria, smallpox, malaria, undulant fever, typhus, yellow fever, trichinosis, hookworm, the dysenteries, and the venereal diseases. The health of any geographically defined area, i.e., city or county, is in direct proportion to the amount of energy and money judiciously and scientifically expended for the protection of the health of the people of that area.

Twenty-six additional counties, with a population of 476,300, are protecting the health of their respective communities by a partial full-time health service wherein nurses, trained in public health, work in collaboration with the local part-time health officials and the medical profession under the guidance of the State Health Department.

Thus, through full-time county health units and nursing services 42 per cent of the population of the state is densely populated counties, and 2 cities exclusive of counties, are protecting the health of their commonwealth with the most up-to-date public health practices available. There remains 58 per cent of the total Texas population, scattered over 100 counties, unprotected against diseases through any function of local health departments.

It has also been demonstrated in other states that in such counties, due both to relative uncongestion of population, and for economic reasons, cooperative health departments set up for two or more counties, at a relatively cheaper cost.

Establishment of local health departments in Texas' counties and cities, in collaboration with the State Health Department, the United States Public Health Service, and the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, has expanded over 300 per cent since 1936.

The standard personnel of a local health department includes a director, a nurse, and a sanitary engineer, all trained in public health, and a clerical force, to adequately supervise in the county the public health activities comprising communicable disease control, maternal hygiene, infant hygiene, preschool hygiene, school hygiene, sanitation of water, sewage, food, milk, and school systems, special programs adapted to the health problems of the locale, and work in tuberculosis and venereal disease control.

Persons and groups interested in securing health protection for their counties are requested to write the State Health Department for further information on the county health unit plan as operative in Texas.

THERE IS NO WAR CLAUSE IN A PRAETORIAN POLICY

Wars and the rumors of wars cause the patrons and executives of life insurance organizations to meditate upon the factor of increased mortality incident to such violence.

At the outbreak of the World War all standard life insurance policies contained what was known as the "war clause," cancelling the insurance, or at least denying liability for loss or injury incident to military service. That limitation was deemed vitally requisite to actuarial soundness and solvency. Strange to relate that among the Americans enlisted, fatalities from disease exceeded the heavy mortality of the service at the front. In that holocaust of death and destruction, cruelty and murder, there transpired many fine things to redeem the depravity of the mad world. One incident of local origin, and a matter of modest pride, gave to all life insurance history, a new and challenging spirit. The Praetorian Life Insurance Society of Dallas, Texas, notwithstanding the war clause in its policy, on the 24th day of July, 1917, decreed and provided that the institution would pay all "CLAIMS FOR DEATH RESULTING, DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY, FROM ENGAGING IN MILITARY OR NAVAL SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, AND THAT MEMBERS, WHILE SO ENGAGED, SHALL BE EXEMPT FROM PAYMENT OF PREMIUMS." This policy was carried out in good faith and actual performance.

Since nations feverishly prepare for war, and armies of the millions are now marching, what must be the thoughts of those now holding, and those desiring to acquire, life insurance protection? The alert mind and the keen thinker will act promptly before new clauses, exceptions and limitations are incorporated in future policies. There may be no real occasion for special concern in this matter, but who can foretell the tomorrow?

Praetorian policies now contain the following clause: "This policy is free of restrictions from date of issue as to change in occupation, residence or travel."

Paul Harrison in Hollywood

Bill Porter covers the film front while Paul Harrison vacations.

By BILL PORTER
 NEA Service Staff Correspondent.
 HOLLYWOOD—It all started over Mischa Auer's pants. He, as Callahan, and Marlene Dietrich as Frenchy, were playing poker in the Botle Neck Saloon. With a little cooperation from her dancing girl colleagues, Frenchy managed to win all of Callahan's money as well as his pants.

This was the prelude to one of the most exciting, realistic and unusual scenes I have ever seen made—the fight between Marlene Dietrich and Una Merkel for "Destry Rides Again."

It took shape when Una Merkel, Mrs. Callahan, stormed into the saloon to retrieve her husband's pants. The dialogue meant little, except that Una called Marlene a so-and-so and Marlene called Una a sch-and-sch and they went at it hammer and tongs.

The usual publicity story on a fight of this kind is that the principals refused to let doubles do their dirty work and suffered through it themselves. That is so much hooey. The actors don't have a chance to say whether they want doubles or not.

If the director thinks that a scene is dangerous he takes no chances on injuring his principals and holding up production. He hires doubles. Director George Marshall did just that for this fight scene, and the girls he hired were reasonable facsimiles of Merkel and Dietrich, albeit a little bit huskier.

EXTRAS APPLAUD FIGHTERS.

The scene started with a long shot, and the two stunt girls went into action. They put on such a good show that the crowd of extras applauded spontaneously when they came to the floor and brushed themselves off.

A nurse dashed over with antiseptics and painted their abrasions. And Dietrich just about floored everyone by producing a bottle of champagne and splitting it between the two girls—a nice gesture of thanks for doing her work.

Then came the close-up and Miss Dietrich and Miss Merkel in person squared off after having received detailed instructions from Director George Marshall. Una clutched one of Marlene's high-heeled shoes in her hand like a club and Marlene had her hand over Una's shoulder and gripped tightly in the back of her hair.

At the sound of "action" Marlene bore forward carrying Una backwards over a table. But her back had no sooner hit the table than she bounced back up and walloped Marlene one with the shoe. They both then lost their balance and fell to the floor missing the mattresses which cautious prop men had placed there for their protection.

For two minutes they rolled about among the legs of cowboys, miners, Indians, Chinese and dancing girls who gathered around cheering and placing bets on the outcome. They tore hair, scratched and ripped each other's clothes.

STUNT GIRLS SET 'EM UP.

When Marshall yelled "cut," the extras gathered around and helped the two girls to their feet and then cheered them. The two stunt girls who were still sipping their champagne came over and offered their glasses to Marlene and Una as though admitting that the two stars had put on a better fight, which they had.

After each girl had asked if the other were all right, they began going over themselves for damages. Una's skirt had been ripped completely off and she stood in her petticoat nursing a bruised elbow and a small scratch on the back of her neck.

Marlene's famous gams were scraped in two spots and her silk stockings were hanging loose and a mass of rums. Both girls' lipstick was smeared all over their chins and their hair looked like rat nests. It was the most deplorable scene either had ever made.

When Miss Dietrich had regained her breath she confessed, "Yes, this is the first time I've ever had a fight in pictures, but my daughter, Maria, and I tussle like this at home all the time. It's fun."

And Miss Merkel as she wiped the dust from her face smiled and said, "This is swell stuff. I'm going to demand a fight in all my pictures from now on."

This scene was not the end of the fight, however, for it went on for half a day more, although not so strenuously. It was finally broken up by James Stewart, who plays Destry, the deputy sheriff. He ended it by sousing the two girls with a bucket of water. The fight was considered a draw.

Sub-Debs Hike, Meet at Home of Melba Schlosser

Members of the Sub-Deb club went for a hike Saturday afternoon, then returned to the home of Melba Schlosser, 1714 W. Holloway, for a refreshment course and to hold a business meeting.

Kathryn Blair, club president, was in charge of the business session.

It was decided to meet on the first and third Saturdays of each month hereafter.

Plans were made for future activities, and announcement was made that the next meeting will be with Helen Armstrong.

Fourteen girls were present.

3 British Planes Are Shot Down in Fight With Nazis

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The information ministry announced last night that three British planes were shot down in a "great war battle" over the Siegfried Line, with fifteen German attack planes.

The communiqué said that five Royal Air Force reconnaissance planes were engaged by German fighters and "suffered loss but in their first experience of war showed the old fighting quality."

The battle lasted 35 minutes, and a fourth R. A. F. plane was forced to land, said the information ministry.

Of the 12 men in the crews of the four planes, eight were seen to escape by parachute, it was stated. The squadron leader alone was left, and he flew on and finished his assigned task.

Two German planes were shot down and others quit fighting, the communiqué said.

The squadron leader told a graphic story of sighting the enemy at about 20,000 feet.

Nine Messerschmidt fighters came from behind a bank of clouds directly ahead and 20,000 feet up. Another group of six swooped from the right. The British fighters flew on.

Breaking formation, the Germans concentrated a mass fire on each British machine in turn, wheeling, diving and shooting up from behind.

When the others went down, the squadron leader outflung the Germans and finished the reconnaissance, he said.

Traffic Safety Called Foremost Police Job

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The nation is paying a larger bill for highway accidents than for criminal activity, Capt. R. F. Weller, of the Nebraska state highway patrol, told a session of the University of Nebraska's annual course for police officers.

Weller listed traffic safety as the most important work of state and city police.

"I believe that no chief of police or police officer can overlook his responsibility with respect to improving traffic conditions," Weller said.

Diamond Imports Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Purchase of diamonds shows an upward trend. The importation of diamonds, both cut and uncut, for the first five months of 1939 totaled $18,801,342, according to a Department of Commerce report.

GLOUCESTER, N. J. (AP)—When robbers broke into the safe at the service station operated by Charles C. Foster, they found the door open and 14 cents inside.

Foster, who said the safe is robbed "several times a year," insisted that he left the door open intentionally so that the burglars would not be "messy."

"We take most of the money home every night, leaving the safe door open so they can get in easily," Foster explained.

Indian Tribe's Dry Vote In 1737 Disclosed

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—The Shawnee Indians 202 years ago voted for prohibition in their tribe, according to Harry Wilson, local historian.

After Pennsylvania authorities refused to regulate the sale of liquor to the Indians the chiefs held a council at Pittsburgh, Wilson asserts, and on March 15, 1737, the emissaries voted to go dry.

Four braves in each village were named "dry agents," and enforced the tribal law, he said.

Old Souvenir Hatchet Of Washington Treasured

BEARSTOWN, Ill. (AP)—One of the souvenir hatchets distributed when George Washington was elected President is a proud possession of George Toshi, local grocer and gasoline station owner.

Originally the hatchet was a Toshi family possession but in 1789 it passed to the hands of a family named Jordan, which kept it for more than a hundred years, the last to own it being Louis Jordan, who put it back in the Toshi family when he gave it to the Beardsonites.

Horseback to the Ford Exposition

THE longest Pony Express ride in history—3,500 miles from San Francisco to New York via the Santa Fe Trail—ended when this party reached the Ford Exposition's famous "Road of Tomorrow" at the New York World's Fair.

Riding the bay mare Desert Queen is Jack King, Chief Scout of the Pony Express expedition. With him is his fellow Californian Don Hackett, and his wife, Mary King. Both Hackett and Mrs. King served as relief riders. Not the least of the party is Kazan, German Shepherd movie dog who is the successor to Rin Tin Tin.

With six mounts and a squad of relief riders, King's party left the Ford Exposition in San Francisco last May 22. The trailer, visible in the background, was used to send ahead the relief ponies. It was a tough 120-day grind. For though they faced no hostile Indians as did the fleet men of the original Pony Express from St. Joseph, Missouri, to the West Coast in Lincoln's day, they had their troubles. There were no blacksmiths—which is an acute problem when you're riding pavement all the way—and they encountered reckless drivers. King thought the latter were as dangerous as hostile Indians.

Besides, they had to finance themselves, as they traveled, by giving free public performances and selling their souvenir Pony Express covers and cachets. Friendly Ford dealers helped them all along the route, King said. That's why they came first to the Ford Exposition at the New York World's Fair.

There, Hon. Stanley Howe, executive secretary to Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York, greeted them and received official mail. Included was a letter from President Quezon of the Philippine Islands, which had come to San Francisco by Clipper plane, and was the first to travel by America's newest and oldest kinds of mail service.

W. Lee Still Seeks Pension Fund Plan

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel said in a broadcast Sunday he hoped to report favorably next Sunday on a new plan to raise pension funds for Texas' old folk.

The announcement followed Attorney General Gerald Mann's opinion that there was no legal method to carry out O'Daniel's previous suggestion that $2,300,000 be raised by public subscription to avert a $6 horizontal cut in pension payments.

"I do not want to cause the old folks to build up any false hopes but I do have another plan in mind. I admit the possibilities of solving this critical problem are remote, but nevertheless I intend to explore every possibility, regardless of how remote it may be," O'Daniel said. He did not elaborate.

Youth Problems Are Aired by University

WACO—Problems of young people—whether they involve war, scholastic and vocational choices, or what have you—are being aired in fortnightly Youth Problem Bureau broadcasts over WACO by Dr. Sanford B. Kovacs, and sociology and speech students of Baylor University.

The program presents Dr. Kovacs, Baylor Sociology professor, as a kind advisor, with the young people coming to him with their problems. The problems, dramatized by speech students, are taken from real life and are not fictitious.

Other regular broadcasts from the Baylor campus include a weekly variety show over the 23 stations of the Texas State Network, 3:30 to 4 o'clock each Wednesday afternoon.

Magnolia No. 6 Kendrick is cleaning out after treatment with 2,000 gallons at 5,150 feet; the company's No. 7 Kendrick is drilling at 4,747 feet in lime; Sinclair-Prairie No. 4-A Kendrick had reached 4,080 feet in shale and anhydrite.

Osage Drilling Company, Inc. of Oklahoma No. 1 G. D. Johnson, mile and a quarter north outpost to the northwestern area of central Gaines' Seminole pool is drilling below 428 feet in red rock. Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 I. E. Auten, one-quarter mile north of production in the same area, is drilling at 4,651 feet in lime and anhydrite.

Delaware Basin Failure

Another failure for the Delaware Basin was chalked up today as Forest Development Corporation began plugging to abandon its No. 1 I. E. Scott, in southwestern Reeves county. After shooting with 170 quarts from 4,880 to 4,950 feet, the plugged-back total depth, the well was cleaned to top of plug, then showed 20 feet of salt water with scum of oil when bailer was run. It originally had encountered salt water from 5,333-36 feet, the total depth in Delaware sand, which rose 250 feet in eight hours. Delaware back line was topped at 4,810 and sand at 4,883 feet.

In northern Pecos' Apco pool, which produces from the Ellenberger, lower Ordovician, Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 2 M. I. Masterson, one-half mile north outpost, is drilling at 1,470 feet in brown lime. Magnolia No. 1 J. S. Masterson is drilling gray lime at 1,640; and Childress Royalty Company No. 1 J. S. Masterson is rigging up rotary.

Zay Kimberlin of Midland No. 1 J. W. Robbins et al, northwestern Crockett county is wildcat, spudded Saturday and is drilling below 30 feet in lime and sand.

Jokes by Postcards

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—Some unknown person is spending a great deal of time and money sending postcards as a joke on Court Bailiff Harry T. Shannon.

Large numbers of the cards have been sent to politicians and newspapers announcing a duck dinner to be given by Shannon (and of which he knew nothing), a fictitious boat ride on Lake Erie, postponement of a St. Patrick's Day luncheon, and the surprising revelation that Cleveland's Main Street Bridge would be re-named "Shannon Bridge."

Hat Angles

Displays of early fall millinery are urgent invitations to buy. Selecting the right hat to do the most for your type is, of course, important, but wearing it correctly is equally so. Postillions, berets, turbans and halos are the season's most popular hat shapes. Postillion brims are worn horizontally; berets can be tipped as gaily as you like; turbans look best tilted forward; halos are worn far back on the head to form a perfect frame for the face.

Mrs. Fred Moore was admitted to a Midland hospital Sunday afternoon for medical treatment.

Presbyterian Young People Sponsor Silver Tea

Young People of the Presbyterian church entertained with a silver tea at the church Thursday afternoon from 4:30 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock.

Mary Jane Harper introduced Hen Armstrong who read "The Boy David" by James Barrie.

Melba Schlosser poured tea at a table centered with red roses. Roses in the same shade were used at other vantage points in the room.

Others in the house party included: Marilyn Sidwell, Frances Ellen Link, Jo Ann Dozier, Ernestine Allen, Margaret Ann West, Fay Dublin, Belva Jo Knight, Mildred Braden, Lois Mae Lynch, Mrs. D. M. Secor, and Mrs. W. L. Miller.

About 75 guests called during the tea hour.

TCU Ex-Students Plan to Organize Club for Area

Plans are underway for organization of Texas Christian University students and alumni of this region into a club, it was announced today.

All students or alumni of the school now in Midland or in the surrounding area are asked to communicate during the next two weeks with R. Z. Dallas, Box 1438, Midland, telephone No. 1081, giving their names, addresses, and the years in which they attended TCU.

Mr. Dallas stressed the fact that all students of TCU, whether or not they are interested in joining the proposed club, are asked to send him the above information, in order that the whereabouts of alumni may be known.

Charters Granted in the State Increase

AUSTIN—Small firms accounted for increased numbers of new charters granted for Texas operation during August, University of Texas business statistics indicated.

A one per cent increase in number over July mustered 9.4 per cent less invested capital than last month.

The variance between number and capitalization was even sharper in comparison with August last year. In number, charters gained 14.1 per cent, but capitalization slumped 64.7 per cent.

Power Consumption in the State Gains

AUSTIN—Late hours of stepped-up commercial and industrial activity sent Texas electric power consumption for August 10 per cent above last year's figure, University of Texas economists have announced.

Commercial plants boosted their consumption 4 per cent over July and 10 per cent above August last year, the University Bureau of Business Research ascertained.

Industrial plants slipped 2 per cent from July but gained 11 per cent over last August.

Texas families burned lights 3 per cent longer than in July and 10 per cent longer than in August, 1938.

Georgia Orders National Guard To Lose Weight

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Contours of Georgia National Guard officers must not include that arch which allows for a portly girth.

Officers have been told they must not be fat.

State Labor Commissioner Ben T. Huie, a major in the Georgia Guard, was among those receiving the lose-some-weight order.

He says he has subsisted on little more than fruit juices and vegetables for the last five weeks. Army officers at Ft. McCallan, Ala., where Huie recently encamped ordered his weight trimmed 37 pounds.

Another officer who said he "lived from one Georgia peach-and-cream season to another" has been forced to finger down the menu to lettuce without salad dressing and lean meats.

Still another is using the walk to work method of streamlining.

But to Adjutant General John Stoddard the order was only routine. He said the army had annually ordered him to diet and it was "nothing out of the ordinary" to hear that "I'm too fat."

Mastodon Skull Is Studied at Baylor

WACO—Dr. Leo T. Murray, curator of the Baylor University museum, has a real problem for paleontologists.

He has recovered from a gravel pit near Marlin a mastodon skull, found imbedded in conglomerate.

The problem is that geologists have estimated that the mastodon, a huge, tusked animal, became extinct on the Texas plains about 50 millions years ago, whereas the streets of gravel from which Murray excavated the skull was formed only some 25,000 years ago.

The skull, measuring some three feet across, was well preserved in the conglomerate. Perfectly preserved teeth established definitely that the skull belonged to a mastodon and not some other animal of a later age.

Dr. Murray has the remains in the museum workshop, ready to be pieced together and used for scientific investigation this winter.

Record Enrollment Reported at Baylor

WACO—Baylor University's third enrollment record in as many years this fall brought substantial increase in the school of law and the school of business, the heads of the schools reported today.

Dean T. E. McDonald reported slightly more than 100 enrolled in the law division of the university and that several others who applied for admission were not accepted due to entrance requirements of the school as a member of the Association of American Law Schools.

A new course in International Law, dealing especially with the rights of neutral nations, is to be offered in the light of the war situation. It will be taught by Dr. McDonald, who made various trips abroad for such study on a Carnegie scholarship.

Five hundred ninety are studying in the school of business, Dr. M. S. Carroll, chairman reports. The increase is met with the addition of Dr. Wiley D. Sich, accountant from Columbia University, and Dr. Robert G. Deupree, economist from Johns Hopkins University, to the faculty. Night courses are being offered for the benefit of Wacoans.

Photography Now Exposes Old Tricks of Camouflage Practiced During Wartime

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (UP)—Infra-red film has resulted in drastic revision of methods of camouflage, and many new problems in hiding "bomb targets" from an enemy exist today that were unknown in 1914.

Wilford S. Conrow, chief instructor during the World War of the camouflage section of the army engineers' school of the A. E. F., says that improved photography has made successful camouflage a most difficult problem.

He describes a brilliant bit of work that was ruined by carelessness of the men protected:

"Our problem was to place a large field gun in a semi-square with roads on three sides and a stream on the fourth. The big gun was dragged down the stream from one of the roads and set up beside the stream with the muzzle pointed across it.

"The reason for aiming the business end of the gun across the stream was so that no tell-tale blast marks would show up on an aerial picture.

"Branches were placed on a fish net above the field piece to screen it from the air. Members of the gun crew were instructed to wade up the stream to the road and then proceed to their quarters a short distance away. A wheat field between the woods at the edge of the stream and one of the roads were not to be used under any circumstances.

"The gun remained in position for months, and it was so effective that the Germans sent planes over every day to photograph the sector. They knew there was a large gun there that was causing them plenty of trouble, but they couldn't find it.

"Finally, one cold night several of the men decided they may as well cross the wheat field instead of walking in the stream. The next morning when the German planes came over again and photographed the sector, white marks showed up in their prints of the wheat field—tracks made by the men who walked across it—and several lines were shown converging on the spot where the gun was located. In a few hours, the German artillery opened up and blasted the gun to bits and killed the crew."

"The purpose of camouflage," he explains, "is to enable something of military value to get in a position and stay there until it is needed without leaving any tracks." Brilliant Work Undone.

Conrow, who lives in New York, was the first lieutenant in the A. E. F., and he saw more of the battle-front during the World War than did many other officers. He worked from near the Swiss border to near the North Sea. His service was entirely in a supervisory capacity, but he had charge of command, artillery, trench mortars, machine guns, screening of roads and other jobs of military importance.
