War came to Germany's coast as Britain took the offensive in the air and sent squadrons of bombers to renew raids on Nazi air and naval bases following submarine attacks on the German fleet.

Second prize in the residential division, a floor lamp, was won by Mr. and Mrs. G. Frank Aldrich, 724 West Louisiana.

Honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Holmes, 411 North D street. Third prize was a table lamp.

Everybody's store copped second place honors in the commercial division with Midland Floral company being selected as the third place winner.

Highly pleased with the results of the contest, officials of the sponsoring organization this morning issued a statement expressing appreciation to all persons who participated in either division of the contest.

With the annual banquet of the Midland chamber of commerce scheduled to be held sometime next month, Ed M. Whitaker, president of the organization, yesterday named four committees who will have active parts in the arranging and staging of the annual affair.

Members of the board of directors in session last Monday evening, authorized the president to name such committees as deemed necessary in the staging of the banquet.

Two persons were known to have been killed and at least three seriously injured when the St. Louis bridge connecting two islands in the Seine river collapsed after a barge knocked over the central arch.

It was estimated 20 persons were on the bridge at the time of the accident.

Crash Fatal To Midland Man Today

S. P. Swancy Killed Instantly After His Automobile Overtakes

S. P. Swancy, 38, an employe of the Dickson-Moore corporation, was killed instantly about 15 miles northeast of Midland on the Andrews highway this morning about 3:30 when the car he was driving overturned several times.

Swancy was believed to have gone to sleep while driving and failed to make a curve. The car knocked down several posts outlining the curve before it finally came to a stop. He was returning after being in Ector county last night on duty.

C. J. Dickson, Swancy's employer, passed the scene of the accident a short while after the accident but did not recognize the automobile as one of his own. The car was almost completely demolished. Swancy's head was almost completely severed from the body and he received other injuries that would have proven fatal.

Swancy had been a resident of Midland for only about two months, having moved here from Odessa. Prior to that time, he lived for several years in the Anson vicinity. According to officials of the Dickson-Moore company, he was recognized as one of the best oil well "treasers" in West Texas.

Funeral arrangements are tentative, pending the arrival of a sister from Breckenridge.

Swancy is survived by his widow and two small daughters, Donna Ray and Frances Allen, all of Midland; his mother, Mrs. S. E. Swancy, Breckenridge; one sister, Mrs. Jane Holliman, Breckenridge; two brothers, W. T. Swancy, Breckenridge, and J. N. Swancy, Fort Worth.

SOVIET RETREAT TURNS INTO ROUT IN NORTH TODAY

Thousands Are Declared Dead Along Frontier

Backward Move Is Described as Great "Catastrophe" Today

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 22 (AP).—Reports from the Norwegian border today described the Russian retreat in Arctic Finland as approaching a "catastrophe."

Watchers on the frontier said the southernmost Russian Arctic forces are now in the vicinity of Salmjarvi. Inhabitants familiar with the bitterly-cold region said they believed thousands of Russians had perished.

STORMS PROTECT FINNS FROM RED AIR RAIDS

HELSINKI, Dec. 22 (AP).—Hardy Arctic fighters today pursued retreating Russians in Finland's corridor in the far north while snow-filled skies curtailed the nation from enemy bombs.

On the eastern Karelian fronts the Finns asserted their soldiers had withstood heavy Russian attacks without yielding an inch.

Three Russian warplanes dared the snowstorm to sweep over Helsinki and drop large batches of pamphlets, but there were no bombs. The Finns said they had shot down 35 Russian warplanes in the last three days.

OSLO, Dec. 22 (AP).—Dispatches from northern Norway last night said the Russian retreat northward toward the Arctic seaboard appeared to have reached considerable magnitude.

Observers were quoted as saying large red army forces were falling back toward Salmjarvi, with the soldiers alternately riding trucks and walking in order to keep from freezing.

Whether the retreat was general across the entire strip of Finnish territory which separates Norway from soviet Russia could not be determined.

The Finns were said to be in close pursuit, however. Directly south of Salmjarvi the Russians were already 12 miles back of the fighting lines they had held two days ago.

The intense cold and the difficulty of transporting building materials for temporary shelter for the fighting men, it was stated were great obstacles to a Russian advance.

The Finns' ruthless destruction by fire of all houses in the path of the red troops was proving a great hindrance to the Russians.

Blizzards in the area have been accompanied by temperatures of 25 degrees below zero.

SILENT NIGHT

Silent night, holy night, All is calm, all is bright, Round our Virgin Mother and Child, Holy Infant so tender and mild, Sleep in heavenly peace.

If mice hadn't nibbled at the bellows of the organ in Josef Mohr's little church high in the Bavarian mountains, this immortal carol might never have been written. The peaceful stillness following a wintry blizzard on the night before Christmas, 1818, inspired the Oberndorf minister to pen the words. The music was composed and harmonized hurriedly by his organist, Franz Gruber, because the organ had broken down and there was only the choir to render Christmas music.

Annual Xmas Party Of Mustangs Slated For Saturday Night

The Mustang boys will stage their annual Christmas party, Saturday night from 8:00 to 9:30. The celebration will be held in the Mustang Club rooms at the old North Ward School. All Mustangs and their parents are cordially invited to come. Also, each Mustang may bring as their guests any boys from 12 to 18, who do not belong to any boy's club. Boys of these ages are welcome, anyway, whether asked or not by a member. The motto of the Mustang Club is "Tejas," meaning friendly.

A surprise announcement will be made at the feed which should be of considerable interest to any boy. There will be plenty to eat, so bring a good appetite.

After the feed, two live turkeys will be given away to two lucky boys.

This annual treat is given by the Midland Rotary club which sponsors the Mustang project.

Youngsters Urged Not to Forget the Free Show Saturday

All youngsters of the community are urged not to forget the free Christmas theatre party to be held at the Yucca Theatre Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, for every youngster of Midland and vicinity being cordially invited to attend.

The theatre party, staged annually by the Rotary and Lions clubs, the American Legion and the Theatre management, is this year expected to attract the largest crowd of kids ever to attend one of the free shows.

J. Howard Hodge, manager of the Yucca, Ritz and Rex theatres here, said this morning that special Christmas films secured for the party are the best and most interesting he has ever been able to procure. A good picture show and a good time for all is assured.

Following the showing of the films, fruit and favors will be distributed to all youngsters in attendance.

Committees from each of the sponsoring organizations will be on hand to assist in handling the large crowd of children expected.

Kids, this is your party. Be sure to be present at the Yucca Theatre in the morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Potential of 828 barrels per day was assigned today to Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company No. 1-69 University, proving a short northeast extension to the Emma pool in southern Andrews county. Gas gauged 341,136 cubic feet daily for a gas-oil ratio of 412-1. The well topped pay in lime at 4,267 feet and is bottomed at 4,312. It was given one acid treatment of 1,500 gallons. Potential was based upon flow the last six hours of a 12-hour test.

The same company's No. 9 Mrs. Emma Cowden, also in the Emma pool, is drilling below 3,845 feet in anhydrite.

Riley, three and one-half mile northwest outpost to the Cedar Lake area in northeastern Gaines county, drilled up cement plug and is balling off bottom, recouping rotary mud streaked with oil. Total depth is 4,894 feet in lime. The same operators' No. 1 A. L. Green, south offset to the Cedar Lake discovery, is preparing to shoot, bottomed at 4,768 feet in lime. On last gauge, it made 85 barrels of oil, both swabbed and on Yates air lift, in eight hours.

A southwest offset to the discovery, Stanolind No. 1 Edith Johnson, logged slight showing of air from 3,227-29 feet and is drilling ahead past 3,806 feet in anhydrite.

Nolan Deep Test. Plymouth Oil Company No. 1 McClure, Nolan county Ordovician wildcat, is shut down for orders at 7,340 feet in Ellenberger dolomite. It topped Ellenberger at 6,965 feet and on 30-minute drillstem test from 7,105-37 showed 810 feet of sulphur water and 90 feet of drilling fluid.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 1 E. E. Erwin, northwestern Mitchell county shallow test, struck a hole full of water at 410 feet and is drilling at 477 in blue mud.

Daladier Declares "Duty to Finland" Is Now Fulfilled

PARIS, Dec. 22 (AP).—France has "accomplished her duty toward Finland" in a measure which "is not inconsiderable," Premier Daladier told the chamber of deputies today.

He did not explain more definitely exactly what this duty was.

Discussing France's own war with Germany, the premier said 1,433 men had died up to November 30. The chamber approved the government's war expense bill of $1,242,000,000 for the first three months of 1940.

CITY'S NEEDY ASSURED OF REAL CHRISTMAS DINNERS BY OFFERINGS

A brighter and happier Christmas with at least plenty to eat on Christmas Day was this morning assured for the needy and unfortunate families of the community when completion of the annual Christmas basket program for the needy families of the community was announced by W. Ily Pratt, chairman of the welfare committee of the Midland chamber of commerce, which committee again this year sponsored the welfare project.

Numerous contributions this morning and early this afternoon assured the success of the campaign, he said.

Chairman Pratt, highly enthused with the success of the program, expressed sincere appreciation to all individuals and organizations of the city who had a part in carrying the worthy project to completion. Response on the part of the more fortunate citizens of the city was excellent, he said, adding that Christmas will be a much happier occasion for all citizens of the community now that the needy families have been taken care of. Mr. Pratt, who has been affiliated with welfare work in Midland for more than ten years, stated that Midland has never yet failed to render assistance to its less fortunate citizens at Christmas time. He expressed appreciation to Miss Josephine Skeen, director of the local welfare office, for her assistance in the project.

Deliveries of the Christmas baskets will be made tomorrow afternoon.

Business Best in a Decade But People More Worried Than Ever

Copyright—1939—Publishers Financial Bureau.
SAVANNAH, Georgia, Dec. 22.—Christmas, 1939, finds a busier America and a gloomier Europe than Yuletide of a year ago. Business is better in the United States and Canada; workers' pay envelopes are fatter; farmers' income is higher; investors' dividend checks are bigger. While millions are still jobless, we have taken long strides toward prosperity in the past twelve months. Abroad, the year's events may add nothing to the Christmas spirit this week-end, but here in America we can look back on 1939 as a period of rapid recovery.
With the lid virtually nailed on 1939, business has scored a twelve-month gain of 19.5 per cent. This compares with my forecast of a 20 per cent advance. When business stepped up to the 1939 springboard last January, the Babsonchart Index was hovering around 100. The year had hardly gotten underway, however, before Hitler started the pot boiling in Europe and uncertainty brewing in America. As a result, activity gradually drifted lower, hitting the year's bottom, 94.7, in May. Yet, it averaged 20 per cent above the same months of 1938. This was not far from my forecast of 25 per cent gain for the first half.

NEW TEN-YEAR HIGH.
The decline was under control by May and there was a steady healthy improvement as summer worked along. By Labor Day, just as the first German bomb fell on Poland, business had worked back to the January level. Then the war touched off one of the most spectacular upswings in history. Week after week giant industries, such as steel, autos, textile, lumber, power, and railroads reported record-breaking business. By the end of September the Babsonchart Index had rolled up to 105. October saw it push on to 110. November, to 114. Now, Christmas trade has driven it up to 116 this week-end—the highest figure in ten long years.

LIMELIGHT TURNS ON DARK HORSE BRICKER

Governor Bricker has been thrust into the national limelight as a joint result of his standing as a dark horse Republican presidential candidate and controversy over his relief policies. On the eve of the governor's departure from Ohio for a brief New York appearance, the following close-up profile was obtained by Willis Thornton, NEA Staff writer.

BY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O.,—Ohio's dark horse in the 1940 presidential race, who up to now has stayed quietly in his stall munching gubernatorial oats, has been goaded by criticism of his policies in the relief situation into taking a slight canter into the national limelight.

Gov. John William Bricker seems more sincere than most political higherups in his repeated assertions that he "is not a presidential candidate." He has no Warwick or Farley or McHale grooming him. He has no machine, and no money behind him.

In fact, he is rather a lonely figure under the gay dome of the state capitol whose front and top are decked with red and green Christmas lights despite the famed Bricker economy program.

VIES WITH DAVEY, MENUTT AS LOOKS.

BRICKER is a quiet-spoken, distinctly handsome man of 46, conservatively dressed in blue serge, his gray hair banded with white streaks. McNutt and Dewey both may look to their laurels when the face of John Bricker becomes a little better known. The blue eyes are honest and look you straight in the face, not without humor.

Given a high collar and 40 pounds of extra weight, Bricker would, however, have a faint resemblance to Herbert Hoover. He has been kidded about it more than once.
For the present Bricker is content to defend himself against what he interprets rather bitterly as an attempt to put him in a false position in the relief situation. "Some of the insinuations that have been made about me and my administration are unfair and immoral," he says.

"There is no truth in the suggestions that we are unsympathetic to the needs of relief. We said Cleveland, for instance, could find the money needed in its emergency, and it did. Our savings in running the state government of Ohio have not come out of relief. We have actually spent more for old age pensions, for instance, and for schools, while reducing the cost of running the state by $10,000,000 as compared to last year's costs. For one thing, between 3000 and 4000 fewer people are working for the state than a year ago, without materially curtailing services."

NO SPEEDY ESCORTS FOR BRICKER.
FOR another thing, there is less rushing about the state in high-powered cars with screaming motorcop escorts. Bricker hates that sort of thing. He would not even wear a high hat at his inauguration. He had told his state committee that there were to be no elaborate cere-

Gov. John W. Bricker, Mrs. Bricker and their son Jack.

Despite this, several of his adherents started an elaborate breakfast and later the bill was brought to Bricker—$2200. Bricker went to a bank, borrowed the money, and paid the bill himself. When this became known, within a week 100 old friends around the city had paid $22 apiece in a "22 Club" move, settling the note at the bank, and sent it cancelled to Bricker.

There are no 2 per cent clubs doing business in Ohio, and building up a campaign fund. "If I ever hear of any of that around here, I'll stop it very quickly," says the governor, his normally low-pitched voice rising. "And furthermore, people having business with

Airport Decorations Cause Much Attention

Unique and most attractive Christmas decorations at the Midland Municipal Airport have been causing much favorable comment by persons who have visited or driven past the airport at night during the past week. Sergeant Tony Bauer and his boys having gone to considerable trouble and expense in arranging and installing the attractive display.
A most cordial invitation has been extended by the boys stationed at the airport to all citizens of Midland to visit the airport and to view the decorations during the holidays.

B-18'S DEPART.
Two B-18's which arrived at Midland Municipal Airport early this morning departed for Dallas. Major Foster was leading. Lieut. Adams, who arrived here Thursday from Kelly Field in a BC-1, went on today to Amarillo.
FROM AUSTIN.

the state today do it with the proper officials direct. We've got a new law, the Culp Bill, under which a couple of firms have already been fined $1200 for offering to get an 'inside track' on licenses and concessions."

MAKES NO MOVE FOR NOMINATION.

BRICKER insists that he hasn't made a move to get the Republican nomination, and won't. "That sort of thing takes money, for one thing," he says, "and I haven't any."
He expects to go to the convention with Ohio's delegation, instructed for Taft.

It is clear, however, that Bricker would not refuse a definite call to the Republican nomination should the Taft candidacy fail. But he insists, and it seems true, that he is not himself lining up support. He has active friends in Republican politics, like Representative Bruce Barton, Governor Stassen of Minnesota, and Representative Joe Martin. That they are watching him closely there is no doubt. But as to actual lining up of delegates it has not gone very far.

Bricker's lack of ostentation appears quite natural and genuine. Sole adornment in his blue-serge costume is a simple gold ring and a "diamond-set" American Legion button presented to him by the Franklin County War Veterans' Club, to which the governor belongs.

RESENTS "HAYSHAKER" CHARGE.

GOVERNOR BRICKER resents it bitterly when the big-city mayors and other representatives come to the capital and make slighting remarks about "hayshakers from down state" throwing wrenches into the city relief problem.

For Bricker was born on a southern Ohio farm. He went to a one-room country school, taught one year in a township high school at Mt. Sterling, and has never lost touch with the people who still live in such places.

"They are just as good, they live just as well, and they are just as socially conscious as people in cities," he says. "Those who blame city relief problems on them are unfair, and they do small service in solving the problems when they come to the capital shouting 'hayshaker.' The sensible way to do is to sit down and work out the problems across a table, without rancor and name-calling."

Many English villages have odd names, including Egg Jump, Butter Bump, Great Fryup and High Ham.

Wood Carvings Form Interesting Museum Exhibit

Midland county museum continues to attract a display of unusual and interesting articles including art work.

On exhibit recently was a series of pen-and-ink sketches made by F. E. Lewis, Mr. Lewis has been doing this kind of work only about a year but the sketches shown in the museum were attractive and showed skill in workmanship. Portraits and various landscapes were included in the group, which was on display only a short time.

Now on exhibit is a trio of wood carvings by Clarence Davis, Midland negro. The trio includes a figure of Christ on the cross which is affixed to a plaque-frame, a small full-length carving of Eve and the bust of a man, all of which display talent in execution and expertness in technique.

The figure of Christ and his cross are carved in light colored wood with darker color. Such details as the tiny fingers on the nailed hands of the figure and the rent in side where the spear was thrust are faithfully portrayed.

The figures of the man and woman, are shellacked finish, show the same regard to detail.

Lindberghs May Quit United States Again

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, it was reported Thursday, may leave the United States once more to live abroad.

Persons in touch with aeronautical affairs said they understood the flier was contemplating such a move. There was no word, however, from Lindbergh.

The reports circulated after it became known that Lindbergh had retired from membership on the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. The White House announced the appointment of Brigadier General Walter C. Kilner, retired assistant chief of the air corps, to succeed Lindbergh.

Col. Lindbergh and his family left the United States in December, 1935, remaining in England two and a half years, and then making their home on a French island. They returned to the United States last April.

"The Long and Short of It" by Stuart Long in The Kermit Sun takes a dab at politics and informs his reader that "In the last year (since Jerry Sauter took office as railroad commissioner) East Texas has had just 193 completions, but the East Texas allowable has gone up 51,405 barrels a day."

"Here and There" in The Crane News tells of spring weather in December, with a little while rising blooming beside a window from which a Christmas wreath shows.

Miss Modine Hagler and Leo Brady Are Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 o'clock, Miss Modine Hagler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hagler of Cleburne, Texas, and Leo M. Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Brady of Abilene, were married here Thursday evening. The wedding took place in the apartment which the bride-elect shared with Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Frances Laughlin, and Miss Mary Wilson, at 911 W. College.

Rev. W. C. Hinds, pastor of the first Methodist church, read the single ring service, the couple reciting their vows beneath an archway flanked with candelabra.

Attendants were Miss Mary Wilson and Frank Wallace.

Lee Roy Moseley and Harold Fynt lighted the tapers preceding the entrance of the bride party.

As the pre-nuptial solo, Miss Ruth Anderson sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. W. Lloyd Hasline on the violin. Mrs. Hasline also played the Mendelssohn's bridal march and, during the ceremony, Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride wore a black suit with white accessories and her corsage was of gardenias. She carried a white prayer book.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride cut the two-tiered wedding cake which was encircled with white sweetpeas and topped with the figures of a bride and groom. Miss Lesse Scott Price then served the cake to guests. Miss Laughlin presided at the coffee service.

Miss Tommie French was in charge of the guest register.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady left immediately after the reception for a short wedding trip to Fort Worth and Dallas. Upon their return they

"Proportion" Big Secret of Becoming Accessories

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

THE smart woman uses makeup to dramatize the best features of her face and to conceal less attractive ones, of course. Her dresses, coats and suits do the same for her figure. And her accessories should.

Unfortunately, all too many very tall, quite large women carry diminutive handbags. Similarly, too many petite girls buy purses which could easily double for overnight cases. In the hands of the large woman the tiny purse, however pretty, looks just plain dinky, and the woman herself out of step with the rules for chic grooming. A tremendous handbag dwarfs the thin, short woman.

Haits, too, can make or break the general effect of a costume. High, towering bonnets are not for the extremely tall. Broad, squat berets and shallow-crowned sailors are not for the short and stocky.

TALL HATS MAKE FACES LONGER

FURTHERMORE, tall, peaked turbans make a long face and a long neck seem even longer. Brimmed hats—contrary to the oldest rules—are no more flattering to the be-spectacled face than off-the-face types. Girls who wear glasses no longer are encouraged to stick to brims only.

The hand which is small out of all proportion to the size of the body requires bulky gloves, pre-

First Lawmakers of State "Gentlemen"

AUSTIN.—The first lawmakers of the Texas Republic were gentlemen and not "cowboys" according to private letters of Joseph Eve, United States Charge d'Affairs to Texas from 1841 to 1843.

"The members of the Texas legislature are mostly young men, about one half of them lawyers and all of them of fine personal appearance," Mr. Eve writes in a dispatch from Austin in 1841.

Private and official letters of Eve are published with an introduction by Joseph M. Nance in the current issue of the Southwestern Historical Quarterly, edited by Dr. Walter Prescott Webb, University of Texas as historian.

"It is true that there are no Clays or Calhouns among these lawyers, but, nevertheless they will rank with any legislative body in the United States," Mr. Eve said.

ferably hand-sewn. While the very large hand may be made to appear smaller by machine-stitched, rather close-fitting gloves. A tight glove is a great mistake in any case, however.

Necklines deserve more consideration than they apparently get. A perfectly plain, round, high neckline is for the beautiful, not-too-long throat. The deep V will do pretty nice things for the short, rather thick neck. Round collars are youthful. Wide, square ones are kind to hollows along collarbones.

Cowhand Gets His Deer by Roping It

LLANO. (AP)—Bud Evans, wild steer rider, found his rodeo training to be an advantage when he successfully roped and mugged down a two-year-old buck deer on the A. F. Moss ranch in Llano county, where he is employed as a cowhand.

Knowing that his employer, Mark A. Moss, wanted a certain buck for his game preserve to replace a pet deer which had died, Evans set about to capture the animal. After luring it within close range with cottonteed cake, Evans roped the buck, mugged it down singlehanded, loaded it in a trailer, and delivered it to Moss. The deer had eight points, and neither it nor Evans was much worse for the encounter.

Reports Munitions Aboard Nazi Ship Probed by Officers

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP)—The coast guard investigating reports Thursday that the German freighter Arauca might have been carrying munitions when she fled into United States territorial water Tuesday to escape capture by the British cruiser Orion.

Residents in the vicinity of Pompano, watching the spectacular chase from shore, said several objects were thrown from the Arauca as she raced to safety in Port Everglades.

A surmise that the objects may have been guns and ammunition was investigated by Lieut. J. W. Mahin of the coast guard.

If the Arauca were found to have been equipped for fighting or giving aid to war vessels, she might lose the permission given her to remain in the peaceful security of the harbor.

The freighter was under watch of eight coast guardsmen, assigned after filing of a federal libel attachment by the Imperial Sugar company at Galveston, Tex., on a $38,541.72 claim against the Hamburg-American line charging non-delivery of cargoes on other vessels.

Four Teams Square Off Today, Tomorrow in Grid Semi-Finals

DALLAS, Dec. 22. (AP). — Four teams that have run up almost 1,000 points between them this season square off this week-end to determine the finalists of the Texas Interscholastic League football race.

Waco's Tigers led the scoring parade by getting 359 points in 11 games with Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) next in line with 245 in a like number of tilts.

Austin (Houston) has a record of 212 in 12 games and Lubbock, which did not find itself until mid-season has 150.

The leading defensive team is Woodrow Wilson, which gave up but 40 points to the opposition. Lubbock is next with 53.

This week's semi-finals match the two leading defensive teams with Lubbock invading Dallas to battle Woodrow Wilson Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Waco plays the surprising Austin team at Houston this afternoon.

Waco is a strong favorite to win but the other game is labeled a toss up. Because the tilt is being played in Dallas many will give Woodrow Wilson an edge—if there is an edge.

Waco worries little about its defense but goes out and gets more points than the opposition. Austin is noted for its "clutch" work—that is, coming from behind in a rousing finish such as it staged last week in tying Austin 14-14 to win on penetrations.

Lubbock is a driving team with probably the best punting combination in the state. Woodrow Wilson boasts the most sensational aerial attack featuring the irrepressible Red Mailey.

Records of the four teams left in the race:

Schoolboy Sidelines

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

Now comes the semi-finals of this busy Texas schoolboy football race. . . . Lubbock plays Woodrow Wilson, and I pick Lubbock to win but wouldn't consider it an upset if Woodrow Wilson came through. . . . Waco meets Austin (Houston), and I'll take Waco without strings attached. . . . It must be remembered, however, this column's average isn't doing any too well in picking winners. . . . Week before last we got six out of eight. . . . Last week three out of four.

For the record: Lorin McMullen, the PortWorth Star-Telegram sports writer, called the turn on Lubbock three weeks ago. . . . He told us at the Woodrow Wilson-Masonic Home game that Lubbock had the stuff, that it was a better balanced team than last season and that he shouldn't be surprised if the Westerners went into the finals. . . . We didn't follow his advice the succeeding two weeks and that's why our average suffered.

Debonair Collier Parris, sage of Lubbock sports, was in Dallas for the Woodrow Wilson-Sulphur game. . . . He gave us some off-the-record conclusions about the Woodrow Wilson team. . . . But he can't object to our saying his conclusion was that it would be a whole of a game when Lubbock played Woodrow. . . . Collier says he's putting Joe Tyson, the brawny young man who carries the mail for the Westerners, on his all-State team. . . . He also likes Bud Ely of Electra.

More changes are brewing in Class AA football for next season. . . . Arlington is knocking at the door to membership in district 7 with the Port Worth schools. . . . Arlington now has enough enrollment to get into Class AA and Coach Cotton Franklin says he has applied for admission. . . . Arlington has a fine team this season, going to the bi-district in Class A. . . . It was sparked by one Carl Knox, a fine punter, passer and runner who has another year of eligibility if he wants it. . . . Colorado City will likely go into district 3-AA with Abilene, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Big Spring, Midland, Lamesa and Odessa. . . . Colorado's enrollment will force the school into the top division.

More all-State nominations: Jinx Tucker, the veteran Waco sports writer, praises Sleepy Harris, the Breckenridge end, pronouncing him the greatest end ever to play in a high school uniform at Waco's Municipal Stadium. . . . He adds that Spot Collins was the best back on the Breckenridge team. . . . "He is a great because he is the best blocking back I have seen play high school football since Jim Thomason played for Brownwood High. . . . Right now it looks like Harris and Hal Stockbridge of Austin (Houston) are the leading contenders for the all-State wing posts.

I saw a young man Saturday who should be given strong consideration for one of the guard positions. . . . He was Jim Wright, a terror at guard for Sulphur Springs. . . . He's a big boy and knows just what he's doing. . . . Murl Furney, a Sulphur Springs end, was the boy who made the Woodrow Wilson blocking look bad. . . . He piled up that interference until it resembled a woodyard.

Childress booms its Sammy Privitt, a 165-pound guard, who was the big noise in shoving the opposition back about 300 yards during the season.

Bobo Nelson, coach of the Athens Hornets, was a popular man with

Rose Bowl Game Is Climax Of Vols' Rise Under Neyland

BY BOB WILSON
NEA Service Special Correspondent

KNOXVILLE.—With Tennessee's undefeated, untied and unscored on Volunteers polishing up before slipping away from their Smoky Mountain haunts and heading west for the Rose Bowl scrap with Southern California in Pasadena, Jan. 1, this is an appropriate time to tell something about the master-mind behind the success of the team—Maj. Robert Reese Neyland.

When an outfit has gone through 13 Dixie football campaigns and won 109 games, tied eight and lost but 12, there is nothing to do but bring forth the ivy. And not poison ivy.

There is no modern football record approaching this one.

What a haven for alumni!

In 1926, Maj. Bob Neyland's first season in Knoxville, Vanderbilt dealt the Vols the worst defeat they have suffered under the former West Pointer, 20-3. Since then the Commodores have tied the Orange Coats twice, lost nine games to the Vols and won one.

When Neyland took over the reins at Tennessee the Volunteers were the dormat of the conference. Vanderbilt was their chief rival and made a habit of smothering the Vols under top-heavy scores.

"All that we want is a team that will beat Vanderbilt," the alumni told Neyland. But he gave them more.

He produced teams year after year that mopped up practically everything in Dixie.

—Maj. Robert Reese Neyland—

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION AND UNBEATABLE PITCHER

NEYLAND was a heavyweight champion boxer, an unbeatable pitcher with several major league offers and a star end in football at West Point. He went back to the post as an assistant coach in 1921 and was there for four years.

He came to Tennessee as an assistant coach in 1925. As a result of the improvement shown by the 1925 eleven over previous years he was elevated to head coach in 1926.

The man is sure of himself. He lacks the art of saying things he doesn't mean. He says what he thinks and while he may regret it later, if it hurts someone's feelings, he is glad he went ahead and said what he thought. Because, after all, he believes in what he things.

This has made him some enemies. It will, no doubt, make him friends in the long run.

He has an impatience with anyone or anything slipshod. His coaching reflects it. He overlooks some details, but stresses those he wants attended to. A pass must be caught just so. A player must run just so. He works it out with that cold, deadly patience that is typical of the army. His practice sessions move with the precision of an army corps on drill.

He has had good material. He admits it, but it has never been super-material. He has made no championship claims.

INCORPORATED OTHERS' BEST IN OWN SYSTEM

NEYLAND is credited by many coaches and experts as being the first man to devise an adequate defense for the Notre Dame attack. He has never been troubled by it. Ask him about his system and he will evade self-praise and a chance to dwell on his own inventive genius.

"Well," he will tell you, "I borrowed something of the strong side play from Knute Rockne and Gil Dobic. I liked some of the features of Wallace Wade's weak side play and so I borrowed that. I took some of the Army's style and incorporated it in mine. I had some ideas of my own.

"Especially did I stick to the balanced line and the quarter handling the ball. I don't think other coaches had started that when I did. Usually the quarter does not handle the ball in a balanced line.

"And I think we had advanced ideas as to passes. We have always managed to complete a large percentage."

When razzle-dazzle football first came in style with a lot of laterals and stuff like that, Neyland shook his head.

"Other coaches like to change from year to year," he said. "But we stick to our same system because it has proved its worth—the balanced line with the quarterback handling the ball."

Neyland has been somewhat of an enigma to many coaches in the south. He has been quick to say what he thinks of his team and others. There was never any idea of arousing his critics.

He does not go out of his way to find a football spade so that he may term it a spade.

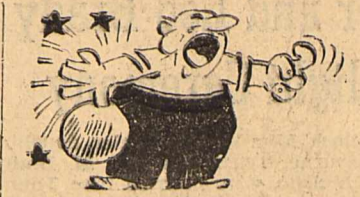

But if he encounters one he does not mind saying, "Why, yes, this is a spade."

That's Maj. Robert Reese Neyland.

3 Prisoners Go to Deaths in Ossining Electric Chair
 OSSINING, N. Y., Dec. 22 (AP)—Three men died in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison last night, silently paying the penalty for murder after failing in their plea for mercy on the ground "it's so terrible to die at Christmas time."
 The first entered the death chamber at 10:02 p. m. (EST) and 17 minutes later the last of the trio was pronounced dead.
 One killed in passion—ambushing his paramour's husband in the darkness with a shotgun blast.
 One killed in drunken frenzy—slashing his estranged young wife's throat with a razor last Christmas Eve because she refused to "come home and make the holiday happy."
 One killed in blind rage—shooting a bystander in mistaken aim for two other men.
 Only one of the three abandoned hope of a last-minute reprieve.
 "I guess I'll have to go in back," shrugged Anton Myslivec, 54, a native of Bohemia, who murdered William Dobitz, the husband of his clandestine lover. In the jargon of the death-house, "in back" means the death chamber.

AWAY FOR HOLIDAYS.
 Mrs. Maud Leonard will visit in Big Spring and in Haskell and Mineral Wells during the holidays before returning here to reopen her music classes on January 1.
