Cracking Bottlenecks

The prodigious achievement of American industry combined with the spectacular success of the Navy in thwarting Axis submarines, has put an initial crack into some of the most burdensome civilian bottlenecks.

Specifically, we now have caught up-or are on the very verge of catching up-with shortages in aluminum, copper, steel, cast iron, wool, and rubber for most purposes except heavy duty tires.

The improvement is not necessarily permanent. Another of the continual shifts in front line requirements, a revival of ship losses, a moderately protracted strike or "holiday" in any of these industries, and the tiny surpluses in excess of critical war needs would vanish.

Barring one of those eventualities, it will be possibl for the WPB to allocate increased quantities of materia to civilian needs. Indeed, in certain fields such alloca tions could have been made already if manpower and machines were available to utilize the raw materials without interfering with war production.

In general, here are some of the blessings we can expect or for which we can hope in the near future:

There is enough wool so that all restrictions are off ts use for clothing, even to cuffs and patch pockets on men's suits. Some 1,600,000 yards of Army reject nylon has been released for use in garments, but not for hosiery.

There is no ban on use of synthetic rubber for garments, and it appears that the passenger car tire situation will loosen up a bit, at least enough to help war and

Cast iron is becoming available for kitchen ware, flatirons, etc., and steel can be used for coat hangers, screens, carpet sweepers, hand tools and similar items.

There is copper for insect screens, repair parts for household labor saving devices, electrical equipment and plumbing fixtures.

This doesn't mean that you will get all of those things at once. On many of them there were two locks-raw materials and manufacturing facilities. The first has been loosened. The second hasn't, necessarily. The WPB at 9 a. m. Saturday. authorizes fabrication of 80 per cent as much farm machinery as in 1940, for example, but that industry may be able to turn out only 70 per cent after meeting its obligations to the fighting men, though the raw materials

WHAT DO YOU LIKE ABOUT COFFEE

Coffee is a delightful and unique pick-up. Most of all, it is a beverage of good cheer. A cup or two often sharpens the wits, enlivens conversation and increases endurance. Why? Because energy-building coffee steps up physical output, thereby relieving fatigue and strain. It makes the body capable of greater effort. When you add to these merits the rich flavor, aroma, and freshness one finds only in Admiration Coffee-what a drink! Buy a pound today. If you've never tried it, you've missed a blend the whole Southwest has enjoyed for years.

nervous as they went up the walk; she yanked the door open as if to get it over; she pointed at an object, and tightly held his arm. The object was a huge Chinese rug, blue as a June lake. * * *

X T was the Dean's happy belief that, despite his own eloquence force and tact, it was really Peony who had made him dean, with a salary of two hundred dollars a year more than a full professor's with more control over the students, and with less necessity of pretending that he had read the latest works of Mrs. Wharton and Miss Cather and this new fellow, Hemingway. Following their marriage, Peony had called on Teckla Schaum and after being snubbed more than usual, had become Teckla's closest friend, and been asked to dine with Teckla's father. She had also, entirely against the college etident's wife to call first, popped in on Mrs. Bull and, after being IN celebration they drank not beer but old-fashioned cockquette of waiting for the presikissed and petted more than usual, had become Mrs. Bull's closest friend.

Peony had urged her husband to offer himself to President Bull for every style of committee work. and within a year it was expected that whenever a Visiting Celebrity was to be introduced in Assembly or a program made for combining the organic chemistry and salad-making courses, it would be Professor Planish who would take on the ordeal. When the old dean died, in harness though also in liquor, the choice of Planish for the deanship was inescapable, and his child-like wife considered not unworthy of the purple.

In one of my articles after the summer session of the national tournament, I told you that the purchase of a bond was required for the privilege of kibitzing; and that one of the players, Edward Lembeck of New York, a beginner in tournaments, said he would buy $1,000 bond provided we would furnish the kibitzer. Well, Lembeck entered a team in the Industrial and Commercial Team-of-four championship, and now he is one of the celebrities. He won that title and later in the week he and his partner, Robert Chatkin of Brooklyn, finished third in the national pair championship

Once again in today's hand, we find an opponent doubling a contract he is practically certain of defeating, and driving the bidders into a contract that can be made Lembeck (North) won the opening lead in dummy with the ace of clubs and discarded the ten of hearts from his own hand, so he would not have to guess the heart finesse. The king of spades was cashed and a small heart led to the king. The ace and jack of spades picked up the outstanding trumps, and now the only trick that had to be lost was the ace of diamonds.

Bulldogs Clash With Steers Here Friday Afternoon

Midland High Schools' Bulldogs open their 1944 District 3-AA Conference basketball season here at 2:45 p. m. Friday with a contest against the Big Spring Steers.

Due to the weather, the game was advanced from evening to the afternoon hour, and school officials said A teams will clash first at Midland gymnasium. The B game will follow.

Members of Coach Gene McCollum's squad were reported in good condition for the game. The Bulldogs have won all pre-season practice games with high school quintets, but have dropped games to a Midland Army Air Field team and to the faculty

G. B. Rush, high school principal, said that if highways still are glazed and dangerous for travel Friday, the game will be postponed.
