Germans Strike Hard Blows To Block Advance

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Red Army met increased resistance as it drove upon the great communications hub of Pskov from two directions Thursday, but northwest of the city, where Lake Peipus joins Lake Pskov, Soviet troops who captured the town of Samolva developed a new threat to the Pskov-Riga trunk railway.

Samolva is on the eastern shore of the Lake Peipus narrows, which are less than a mile wide in some places. Any push across here, followed by a drive to the south, would land the Russians along the railway and highway leading to Riga. All told, it would mean a march of only 25 miles.

This newest threat to Pskov is the most dangerous confronting the city, anchor of the German defense system in that area. The Army newspaper Red Star said the Germans were counter-attacking violently south and southeast of Gdov in the Lake Peipus region, where the Russians are 30 miles from Pskov.

On the twin drive south and southwest from Luga, where the Russian troops swept up 30 towns and villages during the past 24 hours, the Red Army met hard going as it pressed down both sides of the Leningrad-Pskov railway. Red Star said the Nazis were blowing up all railway and road bridges in the sector and were building tree barricades across the trunk highway between Luga and Pskov.

The Russians, however, are using tactics which the Germans seemingly are unable to meet — going off the highway to outflank the sector and then seizing German communications in the rear.

In the upper corner of the Dnieper Bend the Red Army subdued Field Marshal Fritz Von Manstein's heavy tank thrusts north of Zhenigorodka Wednesday and recaptured 10 German divisions, Yablunovka and Tarskaya, respectively 10 and 22 miles southeast of Belya Tserkov.

Defeated here, Von Manstein launched new counter-blows to the southwest of Zhenigorodka seeking to penetrate Russian lines and recapture the important towns of Korovin and Tarskaya. Big Liberators probably flew a 2,000-mile roundtrip from new American fields in the Gilberts last Monday to smash at the largest of the Carolines, only 410 miles east of the Japanese naval stronghold at Truk.

Dewey's Friends To Dominate New York Republican Delegates

NEW YORK — (AP) — It begins to look as if New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, with a powerful bloc of 198 votes, intend to look over the field at the Republican National Convention before committing themselves on a presidential candidate.

Party leaders in all three states are working for uninstructed delegations—and the way New York with 93 votes, Pennsylvania with 70 and New Jersey with 35 eventually will play a vital part in the convention.

The New York delegation, largest in the convention, will be dominated by friends and associates of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who is mentioned prominently, nevertheless, in presidential speculation.

Supply Officials Agree On End Of British Capital Goods Shipments

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Virtual elimination of capital goods shipments to Britain under lend-lease is understood to have been agreed upon by British and American supply officials here. The decision is one of numerous adjustments being made to keep lend-lease exports closely geared to military needs.

For several months the quantity of machinery going to Britain has been decreasing steadily, largely because British plants now have about all they need except for occasional replacements.

The approaching climax of the war in Europe has brought a tightening up of the policy of limiting all lend-lease supplies to those needed primarily for war purposes. Lend-lease officials apparently are determined not to leave themselves open to congressional criticism that they have supplied other countries equipment having more use in the postwar period than in the months remaining to victory.

$30,789,000,000 For Navy Asked By FDR

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt Thursday asked the largest appropriation in history for the Navy—$30,789,000,000 for the 1945 fiscal year.

The outlay, subject to congressional approval, would compare with $27,435,037,199 appropriated for the 1944 fiscal year and $23,808,852,547 for the preceding year. The tentative 1945 estimate for the war program of the War Department is $18,001,451,840, compared with a 1944 appropriation of $59,036,297,571.

Parking Regulations Will Be Enforced

The City Council has ordered parking regulations in downtown Midland enforced again.

Due to a shortage of patrolmen in the Police Department and gasoline rationing, the enforcement of this ordinance was relaxed last year.

The council at its meeting Wednesday evening issued instructions that police again enforce the regulations after merchants complained that cars are parked in front of their stores all day.

Police plan to renew the campaign against overtime parking within a few days.

Dies Committee Says 'Peace Now' Group 'Clearly Seditious'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Dies Committee turned over to the Justice Department Thursday evidence it said showed that the "Peace Now" movement has engaged in "acts whose nature is clearly seditious and which tend toward the encouragement of treason."

Chairman Dies (D-Texas) said he would recommend prosecution under the sedition laws. Dies, head of the special House committee investigating un-American activities, told reporters he believed his group's formal report on "Peace Now," made public Wednesday night, "spells the end of that organization," but added that the committee "will continue to keep a watchful eye on those connected with the movement."

One of the main items Dies said he would hand over to Attorney General Biddle was a letter which committee investigators obtained from the organization's files and which, the committee said, was sent to 57 prominent religious leaders last October.

The letter, the committee report said, invited the religious leaders to "publicly request all the followers of Christ under your banner at once to lay down their arms and cease supporting this war."

A follow-up letter, the committee reported, expressed the belief it would be preferable for Christians to be "guilty of treason to this administration than guilty of treason to the Christ."

Daring Catalina Navy Crew Dares Jap Shore Guns To Save 15 Fliers Shot Down In Attack On Kavieng

By OLEN CLEMENTS

Associated Press War Correspondent
SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA—The Navy Catalina, "Arkansas Traveler," weathered stiff fire from shore batteries of the Japanese at Kavieng, New Ireland, Tuesday—also 15-foot swells on the water that burst some of her rivets—to make the most spectacular rescue of downed American airmen of the Southwest Pacific war.

Members of that crew, led by Lt. (jg) Nathan G. Gordon, 27, of Morrilton, Ark., a former end of the University of Arkansas football team, told Thursday of rescuing 15 fliers. That entailed making four landings in the face of shore gunfire.

The rescuers came during the height of a massive air blow by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Mitchells of Kavieng Tuesday before noon. Bombs still were falling on the flaming town as the Catalina made the hazardous landings. Several of the rescued Americans had been injured seriously.

Six men were sighted on a lift raft two miles off shore. Gordon and his crew circled for the dangerous landing in 15-foot swells.

When the "Arkansas Traveler," a pig painted on her sides, hit the surface some of her rivets broke and she began to take water. The plane taxied to the raft which contained several injured men. Life preservers on lines were tossed to them.

"We had to hurt a few of the injured to get them aboard," Gordon said in an apologetic tone. After being 20 minutes under fire of shore batteries, the Catalina took off while billowing smoke from badly-hit Kavieng was swept before a stiff wind.

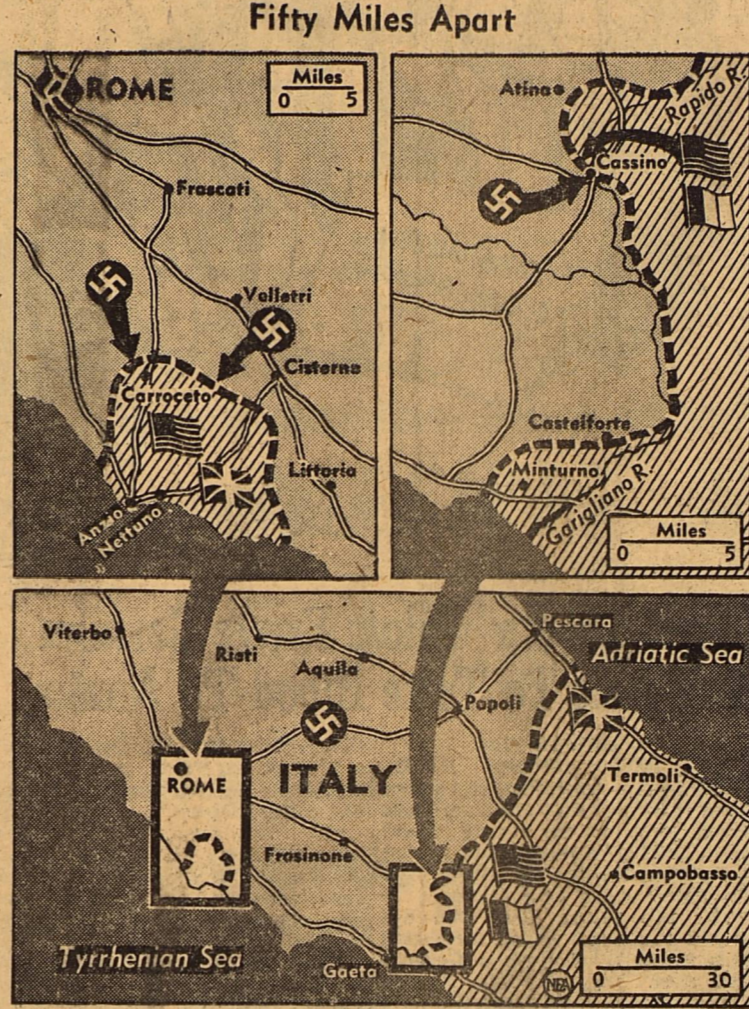

Then a Mitchell pilot radioed that another crew was spotted on the water.

Closer in to shore, three men were seen floating in the water. Ten minutes later they had been taken aboard.

The big Catalina got off again. "I was happy as hell it was all over," Gordon sighed.

"I at first had been nervous; then I was so busy that I forgot that; but when we got the second batch aboard I began to have nervous indigestion."

Yank Bomber Pilots Blaze Trail Deep Into Jap Mandated Islands

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

Associated Press War Editor

Far-flying American bombers, blazing a trail into the heart of Japan's island outposts, have broadened operations against enemy bases athwart the strongly-guarded approaches to the Philippines and the Japanese mainland.

In one raid aimed at Kavieng, New Ireland, Allied fliers continued the systematic reduction of Japanese positions in the Bismarck archipelago, southwestern sentry for war-won Nippinese territory in the Pacific.

But the first aerial assault on Ponape announced Wednesday marked a significant extension of American bombing missions into the mandated Caroline Islands between the Marshalls and the Philippines.

Big Liberators probably flew a 2,000-mile roundtrip from new American fields in the Gilberts last Monday to smash at the largest of the Carolines, only 410 miles east of the Japanese naval stronghold at Truk.

The Japanese sent up no fighter planes to oppose the pounding of their important administrative center, and the Navy communiqué made no mention of anti-aircraft fire at Ponape.

Continuing the Central Pacific offensive, Army and Navy bombers hit two enemy-held atolls in the Marshalls Monday and Tuesday.

Allied planes met intense ack-ack bursts in a low-level sweep over Kavieng Tuesday. Eight of the raiders were shot down, but 15 crew members were rescued through the heroic efforts of Lt. (jg) Nathan G. Gordon, Morrilton, Ark., who landed his flying boat in the teeth of enemy shore fire to pick up the men.

General MacArthur's communiqué reported that the town of Kavieng was left a "mass of flames and smoke" by the 65-ton bombing which also destroyed a 3,000-ton enemy cargo ship, three coastal vessels and several smaller craft.

Nazis Launch New Blow At Bridgehead

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES — (AP) — A fierce battle has broken the lull on the beachhead south of Rome with the Germans launching heavy attacks in the northern sector, but all evidence Thursday indicated the Allied forces were holding their own against continuing enemy thrusts.

An announcement at headquarters said the Germans struck Wednesday morning after a heavy artillery preparation. Both sides threw tanks into the heavy fighting.

The Americans and British were said to be grimly holding to their positions in the face of tremendous pressure.

It was the second all-out German attempt to smash the Allied beachhead. The enemy was said to be throwing his full force of infantry, tanks and artillery into the struggle which was hourly increasing in violence.

Enemy aircraft swung into the battle in unusual force, some 130 sorties attacking objectives in the battle zone. But the Allied air forces met the air attack, blow for blow, shooting down nine of the attackers and blasting targets in the fighting area.

The beachhead fighting far eclipsed that in strategic Cassino where, however, American forces still were bitterly contesting the Nazi strangle hold house by house. RAF and Australian Kittyhawks again bombed the ruins of the Monte Cassino monastery. American planes hit German positions elsewhere on Abbey Hill.

In a day of extensive and wide-ranging air activity, Allied bombers, large and small, and fighters flew approximately 1,200 sorties. The enemy railway yards in Rome were hit for the second straight day and heavy and medium bombers attacked communications at many points north of the Italian capital. Four Allied planes were lost.

After the long and concentrated German artillery barrage Wednesday morning, the first enemy shock troops struck in the first phases of the new beachhead attack with (Continued on Page 4)

The well started spraying gas, drilling mud and distillate in 30 minutes, and in 40 minutes began spraying oil estimated at 10 barrels per hour, with gas of 1,500,000 cubic feet per day.

The test tool was open 55 minutes. Recovery was 307 feet of clean oil and 30 feet of drilling fluid. The crude was estimated to be at least 43 gravity.

Overseas Editorial

Whether justified or not, someone will inevitably make the charge that the Church of England is trying to influence the Democratic convention in June, and the national election in November, in the wake of an editorial in the Church of England Newspaper expressing a hope that President Roosevelt would be elected for a fourth term.

Such an editorial seems to indicate an ignorance of Americans and American politics, rather than an attempt to apply trans-Atlantic political pressure. And that ignorance is not peculiar to any one person or country. In spite of all the inter-dependent aims and efforts that unite the Allied nations in the war, few citizens of one nation know very much about the domestic pullings and haulings in another. Fewer still would feel capable of didactic editorial comment upon them.

Of course, the result of the November vote is going to have world-wide significance, whoever is elected. But the vote itself is a purely domestic function, based on domestic as well as international issues. Most of us, pro and anti-fourth-termers alike, feel that a presidential election, even in wartime, is strictly our own business.

The Church of England Newspaper has every editorial right to hope that the President is re-elected, and to call his third term "an untold blessing and benefit to humanity." But it takes a bolder step than any American paper to date, when, in a clairvoyant session on the end of a limb, it picks both presidential candidates, and then weighs the issue accordingly.

"History has not killed the desire and will to (American isolation)," the editorial states, "which in the post-war situation will take the form of narrow, unimaginative, reluctant concession to new demands. Governor Dewey, who is tipped for the Republican nomination, is just such a man. . . . In this war, Providence has retrieved the muddles of democracy. That should be a warning, both to America and ourselves, not to tempt Providence again."

Whatever is meant by "muddles of democracy," there is one thing that both our political parties are in agreement on: We are going to tempt Providence this year to the extent of making a fresh appraisal of our high national officers and deciding accordingly, right in the midst of a war.

That is something that no other warring nation has attempted. And whatever the citizens of other nations may think, Americans believe that it is democratic, and worth the middle. They will abide by the democratic decision. And whatever the decision may be, they will not halt in the business of winning the war.

The Cream Of Genius

In 1934 the government summarily cancelled airmail contracts with private airlines. The Army took over the task of carrying the mail. It didn't look like a very hard job. The commercial airlines were flying the routes day in and day out with passenger and mail. A broken schedule or an accident was a rarity. Young army pilots tackled the assignment with a laugh on their lips. A few weeks later a dozen of them were dead. Thus, nearly ten years ago, the United States learned that our commercial airlines had something that it took more than an official order to acquire—equipment and experience.

It was a costly but valuable lesson. The Army straightway began mending the faults unearthed by the fatal experiment.

Less than a decade later, a situation arose in which the airlines once again made available to the Army their modern airplanes and hard-won experience. But this time, with the nation plunged into war overnight, the Navy also benefitted from the wisdom of the men and women who had created the world's finest air transport system.

The Office of War Information has released a report on the role of the airlines in the war. It shows that when the Japs were knocking at the door of the North American continent, retaking of the Aleutians would have been postponed for months if air transport had not been able to fly in men and cargo quickly and in great quantity. Major General Harold L. George, commanding general of the Air Transport Command, says of the airlines: "If it had not been for their wholehearted cooperation, it would have been nearly impossible for us to carry on the job in the way it has been done."

What the airlines have done is typical of American enterprise. Their development under competitive private management is a prophecy of what they can do in the future, both for commercial air transport and for national defense. They can meet any challenge foreign competition has to offer. They represent the cream of our industrial genius.

From Washington come reports that wives of congressmen are taking lessons in public speaking and general rostrum deportment, with a view to making informative speeches about Washington, and learning how to give and receive gifts.

Having listened to some of the taxpayers' mutterings about their husbands, we are doubtful that the congressional ladies' "informative speeches about Washington" are going to be followed by much gift-giving. It might be better if the ladies just forgot that part of the instruction, and took a short, intensive course in road work and shadow boxing instead.

'Grasshopper' Pilots Brave German Ack-Ack To Take Blood To Anzio

By HAL BOYLE
ON THE RAPIDO RIVER FRONT—(AP)—A cargo of frozen blood rushed by C-47 airplane, those flying the blood to the battle front, saved at least a dozen lives among military casualties in the Anzio beachhead sector below Rome.

The two young fliers who delivered the blood risked their own lives by flying through a German flak area. They are Lt. Payne Lysne, 23, of North Dakota, and Richard Blake of La Salle, Colo. Sitting sprawled in a chair in the tent of a friend, Lysne, who was a student at North Dakota State before he entered service, told of the mercy mission.

"We flew regularly up to the new beachhead. This day I had gotten back from a trip up there about noon. At 2:30 I got a call saying they needed blood badly in the hospitals at Anzio."

"They asked me if I would take it up. I said sure. They said there would be only 150 pounds of blood but when I got to the field there was 300 pounds, more than a C-47 could possibly carry. Dick Blake volunteered to fly up, too, so that we wouldn't have to leave any blood behind."

"We got out to sea and ran into a hell of a headwind and I knew our gas supply would never hold out if we stuck to that route. The only thing to do was take a shorter way, closer to shore. That meant we had to pass a point of land very heavily protected by German anti-aircraft."

"We stayed down only five to 10 feet above the waves to keep from being observed by enemy planes. You can't do any fancy combat stuff in these grasshoppers. They are strictly for getting from here to there."

"We flew within spitting distance of the German ack-ack batteries, but they held their flak."

"That short cut did the trick. We got to our field with only about enough gas for another 15 minutes. That's slicing it pretty thin. It was almost dark when we landed and the blood was rushed immediately to the hospital."

"They called us up later and said: 'So far, the blood you brought up has saved the lives of 12 wounded soldiers. We just want you to know how badly it was needed.'"

"I was still dead tired from making the trips, but that gave me a lift. I would never do it again, though."

The lieutenant paused, grinned a little and added: "Unless it was for the same reason."

Political Duck Hunting Season Opens As Party Leaders Swap Blasts

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The political duck hunting season was wide open Wednesday as Republicans volleyed replies to a double-barreled attack by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) on two potential GOP presidential nominees—Governors Thomas E. Dewey of New York and John W. Bricker of Ohio.

Pepper declaimed in the Senate Tuesday that the governors are "retreating, shifting, vacillating, word-mouthing" candidates whose foreign policy views are vague, and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) promptly retorted that the "New Deal" must be alarmed at the strength displayed by the Republicans.

"This is a case where a knock is a boost," said Taft, who is supporting Bricker for the nomination.

War Workers Told Not To Have Children Until War Is Over

By RUTH MILLETT
"Win the war and then have babies," Mildred Delp, R.N., is telling women war workers.

It seems like that is pretty premature advice. Why tell women who are at the best age for having families to put it off until after the war?

There are thousands of women, still strong and healthy and capable, whose children are out of the way and who could take on war jobs—but haven't.

There are thousands of women still working in such non-essential jobs as beauty operators, whose skilled hands might just as well be holding down war jobs.

There are thousands of girls still in college who could put off finishing their educations with less damage to society than young wives could put off having babies.

Service Wives Can Work
There are thousands of service wives, without children and living on allotments, who could go into war plants.

When everyone who is capable of working, among both men and women, goes into an essential job instead of going ahead with his own private plans and career, then there is time enough to decide that women war plant workers should put off having babies until after the war. If, that is, it is decided that motherhood is not an "essential industry."

But until every available person goes to work at a job that has some connection either directly or indirectly with the war effort, it seems that it is every wife's right to have a baby when she wants one.

It certainly isn't more important for Susie Smith to go on with her college English major than for Mrs. John Smith to have a baby.

London Observers Taking Rosy View Of Soviet Blows At Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
Observers in London, taking a rosy view of the amazing way the Red armies are ravaging the Hitlerian war front, are speculating on the possibility of the Russians completely clearing their territory of the invaders during the five remaining weeks of winter.

Well, that certainly is super-optimism, but it must be admitted that it's within the range of extreme possibility—if the "if" would be a collapse of the Nazi front, either resulting in debacle or quick withdrawal to, say, the Brest-Litovsk-Carpathians line through Poland which might be Hitler's last stand before falling back to the German frontier.

Lines Shivering
The whole Nazi front in the Ukraine is shivering like an autumn leaf, and the northern flank, in the Leningrad zone, is in jeopardy. Should Finland suddenly make peace terms with Russia, thereby uncovering the German wing on the Baltic, almost anything could happen.

However, the purpose of this article isn't to dilate on this highly speculative contingency of wholesale German retreat, but to consider what happens when the Hitlerites do make their big withdrawal, as they surely must. Daily one hears the query:

Will the Russians keep on driving right into Germany, no matter whether the Anglo-American invasion has reached Hitler's western border? Supposing (and this is asked in sepulchral voice) the Red army is first in the Reich?

It would be interesting to know whence comes the odd notion that the Russians are bound to withhold the coup de grace from Hitler until the Western Allies are on the ground, or that the latter will hold their hands if they happen to be first in the field. The idea is absurd.

Of course the Red forces will continue the chase until the Nazis yell for mercy. Indeed, the Hitlerites will be lucky if they're able in some cases to holler loud enough to make themselves heard.

Neither Too Happy
Human nature being what it is, it's likely that neither the Muscovites nor the Anglo-American pair would be happy to arrive in Berlin last. All the big three would like to be present at the barbecue to keep an eye on developments—political, for instance.

However, the war will go further hell-bent, irrespective of these undecorated of human nature.

Presumably the Moscow and Teheran conferences of the big three discussed all the possibilities which could sprout from war's end, and planned accordingly. The Moscow pact pledged unity in war and in peace, and the United Nations will have to place their trust in that.

KEEP ON WRITING

And without being in the least sentimental or stirring up homesickness in a soldier you can let him know that though his family misses him, they're all pretty proud of him and under the circumstances wouldn't have him doing anything except what he is doing.

The boy, of course, can't tell you much about his life. For that reason, his letters may be brief and often disappointing. But the folks back home can bridge the gap by packing their own fall of the little every-day happenings.

But to make those daily letters welcome, instead of accusing, never reproach the boy for not writing more often. Just be glad for whatever letters you get—and keep on writing, if you don't want your son to become a stranger to you.

Rev. F. M. Brasier Addresses Men's Club

Episcopalians were urged to be more aggressive in church work and to put "a little more brotherliness in our religion," by the Rev. F. M. Brasier of Austin, a retired clergyman, who addressed the Men's Club of Trinity Episcopal Church Wednesday evening in Hotel Scharbauer.

Mr. Brasier for many years was pastor of the church in Kerrville, Texas.

He also suggested that more enthusiasm be aroused in church work and activities.

The Rev. R. J. Snell, rector of Trinity Church, said services will be held at 10 a. m. each Wednesday in the church during Lent.

Mr. Snell also announced that Bishop James M. Stoney of New Mexico had agreed to conduct a preaching mission in Trinity Church in the fall.

Mrs. Byerley Tells How Books Can Help Youth Build Futures

"Books can help youth build a better future," Mrs. L. G. Byerley, state vice-president of the Texas Congress PTA, stated in her talk on the "Place of the Library in Youth Guidance" over KRLH Wednesday afternoon.

They can help through their inspiration and humor. Children need good friends and this need can be met partially by good literature.

Books could help parents in solving the problem of juvenile delinquency. She stated that many judges of our courts believe if boys and girls could be taken into libraries and interested in the lives of our great American patriots, many problem children would find their emotions and imaginations stirred into new channels of thought.

Mrs. Byerley censured parents for not awakening to their responsibilities, saying the failure of parents is becoming a serious problem. Parents should acquaint their children with good literature to keep alive the freedom in America. Words can help save this freedom. Proof comes from the bonfires dictators have made of the books written by the constructive thinkers and the wisest philosophers.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should you show surprise or disbelief when a woman who is obviously older than she says, tells you her age?
2. On a rainy, disagreeable day should you complain about the weather to everyone you meet?
3. If circumstances force you to live in a place that is not of your own choosing should you complain about it?
4. If you stay late visiting friends should you say when leaving, "Tomorrow morning I'll wish I had gone home at 10 o'clock"?
5. In telling that you accepted an office in an organization should you say, "I didn't want it, but everyone insisted I take it"?

What would you do if—
In a matter of taste or opinion you find yourself not in accord with the majority—
(a) Stand up for your own ideas?
(b) Pretend to go along with the others, so as not to risk losing their respect?

IT WAS ALL GREEK BUT IT ENDED OKAY

DEMING, N. M. — (UP)—Corp. Angelo Palazzio of Deming Army Air Field helped solve an international language muddle while on leave in Mexico.

Two Italian prisoners of war who escaped from an Army camp were captured by police at Chihuahua City, Mexico, and turned over to a U. S. consular office.

The consul could speak Spanish but no Italian; the prisoners could understand some Spanish but no English. Then the consul ran across the corporal who could speak Italian but no Spanish.

The consul quizzed the prisoners in Spanish; they answered in Italian to Palazzio who interpreted their remarks to the consul in English.

The prisoners were returned to the Army camp.

Show Children How To Make Foods They Like

When teaching children to cook, let them make something they will enjoy eating.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Education for living begins in the home. Even very young children should learn the basic rules of modern nutrition and how to prepare simple dishes. Many grammar and high schools now teach food use and preparation on the theory that it is every citizen's duty to know how to eat for physical fitness and national defense.

When possible, let the children cook something they, themselves, will enjoy. This cookie recipe, for example, is chocolate (they love chocolate); cookies are fine for the workers and school lunch box and, of course, grand for parties. So let's make a batch right now.

Chocolate Chip Honey Cookies
(Makes about 1 dozen cookies)
One-third cup shortening, 1/2 cup honey, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 1/4 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 package semi-

You, personally, have an important job in winning the war - buying War Bonds. It's not even a sacrifice, really, because you are only lending your money, to be returned with interest. But it is essential to complete victory. Your part in this year of decision is at least one extra $100 Bond, above your regular Bond buying. But don't stop there. Remember wars are won only by all-out effort. So buy more than you can afford. And buy your Bonds where you work - at the plant or at the office. Expect Children To Get Low Cost Clothing Soon

By ANN STEVICK
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The first question popped to 4935 housewives in the Consumer Requirements Survey was, "What are some of the shortages that have bothered you most?"

In the hit parade of 16 shortages most commonly mentioned, the only children's item was underwear, which came out fifteenth. However, the survey included a representative 46.5 per cent of families with no children under 18, so the poll reveals great concern among people with small children.

Babies' waterproof pants, for instance, showed the highest dissatisfaction rating with 83 per cent of the buyers dissatisfied. One out of four mothers looking for children's snow-suits could not find suitable ones. Diaper statistics showed that 35 per cent of shoppers were unable to get what they wanted. Expectant mothers were left behind in the race with 41 per cent failing to find needed diapers.

A definite program of production for essential children's clothes has been set up. New allowances of waterproofing materials have been made for pants and sheetings. Some snow-suits got into production this year by making linings available to manufacturers with wool on hand. A directive is being prepared to get more wool melton cloth to manufacturer's for next year's snow-suit season.

Win Cooperation
Eighteen million yards of cloth has been allocated for specified types of children's low-cost garments. Manufacturers took it up enthusiastically, perhaps because the incentive was offered of having workers declared essential if they participated in the low-cost program.

Some other children's goods was discussed in the survey. A large share of buyers seemed to agree with a woman who called her "Victory - model" baby carriage "Pretty sorry." Pre-war carriages and strollers have been put back into production from replenished stocks of steel.
Infant's play pens showed a large percentage of people failing to find them. Children's cribs were fairly high on the dissatisfaction list. But play pens and cribs are still limited by the wood furniture order. This regulation has been relaxed 5 per cent, and children's goods probably will come in for first attention when additional lumber can be allocated to furniture.

Put Your Hair In Bright Colored Net To Get Attention

MISS WOODS: Accents color.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

In your color-scheming for spring—a season when the bolder it is the better—consider a hairnet in a vivid shade that flags eyes to your head.

Tipping you off as to what top-ranking fashion models are doing with nets that keep hair tidy and add excitement to a coif, Ruth Woods, one of Robert Powers' beauties, says: "We like to cradle our long bobs or confine our up-do's in big ropey nets of vivid color."

To name a few hair style tricks that you might like to try out in front of your own mirror, Ruth suggests using a bright red or tiger lily pink net as accent color for a somber navy blue or black costume. To increase pulling power of colors like these, match your hairnet exactly to the shade of lipstick that you wear. Or repeat the color that swaths your head with a red or pink jewel clipped to your dress. To make a smoothly netted little head more festive, stick a flower in your hair, or top your net with a gay hat.

There are endless ways to wear these colored nets, designed by custom milliner Lily Dache. If you wear your hair down in back, cradle it snood-fashion in the hammock-like fold of the net, bring the tie ends forward and conceal them behind a bang or a puff of front hair. For an up-swept hair-do, spread net immediately after brushing back hair up. Now, twist from top of net tight, fasten with a hairpin, and dress your front hair so as to conceal the loop of twisted net.

Regional WLB Gets 12,000 Applications For Wage Adjustments

DALLAS—(AP)—The regional War Labor Board has received almost 12,000 applications for voluntary wage and salary adjustments, affecting approximately 2,000,000 employees, during its first year's operation, board members reported on its first anniversary Wednesday.

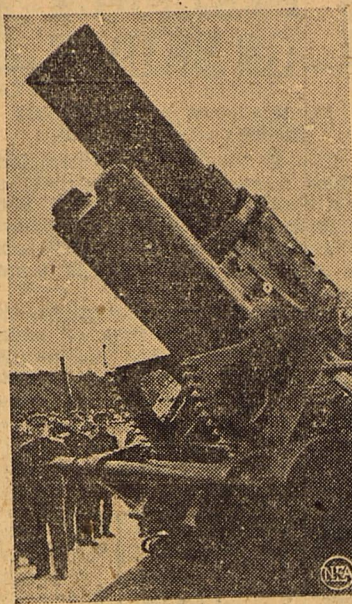

Of more than 11,000 applications acted on, 76 per cent of the applications were approved in whole or in part. No figures were available on the amount of money involved in increases allowed.

"Employers and unions of Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana have set a national record for orderly settlement of labor disputes without strikes," the board said. "Notice has been received of only 11 strikes in the Southwest, and nine of these were of very short duration, affecting only a small number of workers. Several ended within a few hours while one—the longest—continued for a week."

The Robyn Junior Music Club met Wednesday afternoon at the Watson School of Music. Wilma Dee Vaughn was president and Rita Jo Sturkie acted as secretary. The attendance card was presided over by Kathryn Richman and Velda Dee Pigg while Lois Dee Elland called the roll. Of those present 18 were given gold stars for being prompt.

During the business session, Lois Dee was elected critic for the following program: piano solo—"Dark Eyes" played by Sammy Mae White; piano solo—"Cowboy Song" played by Kathryn Richman; violin solo—"Estudina Waltz" played by Elton Trees; sketch of Strauss Jr.'s life given by Niles Winter II; piano solo—"Waltz" by Strauss played by Rita Jo Sturkie; piano solo—"Valse" by Chopin played by Anna Joyce Streeter.

The program was concluded with the playing of Schumann's "The Merry Peasant" by a trio composed of a violin, guitar, and piano. Bethel, Lois Dee, and Eileen Elland were the players.

New Sulfa Drug Found By UofT Research Staff

GALVESTON—(AP)—Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, vice president and dean of the University of Texas Medical School here, has announced discovery by two of the school's faculty members of a sulfa drug, sulfathalidine, which is expected to help in combating intestinal infections common to overseas troops.

The dean said that Dr. Edgar J. Poth and his associate, Charles A. Ross, ended a study of many new sulfonamide derivatives in the discovery that a chemical combination of sulfathiazole and phthalic acid was a highly effective anti-bacterial agent sparingly absorbed from the intestinal tract. He added that the agent exerted its activity primarily in the bowel and had a low toxicity on oral administration.

Since so small an amount of sulfathalidine is absorbed from the bowel, very little can get into the blood stream to produce untoward toxic effects, said Dr. Leake.

TOMORROW FAIR

By Winifred Halsted

Copyright, 1943, Winifred Halsted—Distributed, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Kitty Bishop comes to the suburban home of her brother, Ben Graham, and his wife, Peg, to recuperate from her sudden divorce from Collins Bishop, a meteorologically successful young lawyer. The first evening of her stay, excellent Mac MacGregor and hen-pecked Randall Seaton barge in. Kitty makes an obvious hit with them both. Peg is worried because of Mac Seaton.

BEN GRAHAM was an easy-going, good-natured man to live with. Peg Graham knew it and appreciated it, but she also knew that every so often she stubbed her toe on some rock of an issue that Ben threw in her path unexpectedly.

"Peg" began Ben while their bedroom door was still closing behind them. "I wish you'd lay off Mac."

A familiar bruised sensation in her mental toe warned Peg that she'd tripped over one of her husband's geological outcroppings, again.

"I shall never understand," she said deviously, "not that I dislike him, but why you thought it would be such a good idea to bring him out here."

"A guest in our house," said Ben sticking right to his own point, "is a guest in our house. You may hate a guest's guts but you've got to be decent while he's under your roof."

"Would you like it any better if I went out in the street and talked to him?"

Ben gave this unworthy sally the silence treatment.

"I don't care," said Peg, clapping a hanger violently on its rod. "If he should turn out another Book of Revelations it still wouldn't be worth it to me! You act like a hen sitting on an egg, but all that's hatched so far is trouble."

"Now wait a minute—"

"Don't you call running after Mac Seaton and turning her head low, I could tell. Don't you think perhaps I ought to say something, in case—"

"No! For gosh sake, no!" cried Ben in alarm. "We don't know what he's driving at. Stay out of it, for gosh sake!"

"We can't, we're in it. If divorce is his idea of a sharp lesson all I can say is Collins Bishop's willing to run even more risks than I thought he was."

"That reminds me," said Ben, "he's talking about enlisting."

"Oh Ben," Peg bit her lip sharply. "If he does it will be much worse than if he had when they were married, if you know what I mean—"

"I know what you mean, but I think you're morbid."

"This whole situation is morbid, even without a war on top of it!"

Peg sat ruminating quietly on war, practice black-outs, and the hard to conceive possibility of bomb debris in Doremus.

"You know," she said finally, "I wonder if all this speeding up may not have made Collins sort of remote. Usually he senses things so quickly. But if he didn't have time to, and Kitty suddenly got mad and asserted herself. . . . Well, he may have taken her up on it fast. No time for finesse. A long chance but a short cut. You know."

"That's what he says. Kill or cure."

"Oh Ben!" Peg pounded a pillow furiously. "If you'd only tell me things! What else has he said?"

"Nothing that I particularly remember. And naturally I didn't ask," Peg breathed deeply and tried not to waste energy on a lost cause. "I don't believe they'll let him enlist though. He's too useful where he is."

"Well that's the one thing I can't do anything about. But I'd like to do something."

"Don't you do anything! And keep right on doing it, too. See?"

Ben turned out the light and immediately sank rapidly toward sleep, another piece of irritating behavior. Peg resented it. Her own mind was still busy. But conversation is like ping-pong, you can't play it alone. Peg gave up.

"By the way," said Ben, in a different key, "Collins called me up this morning. From Washington."

"What? Again?" exclaimed Peg. "Now what?"

"He'd been looking up trains. He found out the decree was coming through Friday morning and he figured Kitty would light right out, so he picked out the most likely train. He hit it, too." Ben admired such perception. "He called to give me instructions about meeting her. Sure I'd think of it, and so on, but Kitty always had fits about luggage and besides she might feel queer."

"He knows her. That's why I can't understand—"

"I don't get it, and I get it less and less. I hope Kitty will talk. If somebody doesn't begin giving out pretty soon I'll lose my mind."

Peg was silent for a moment. Then she said, "I'm sure she feels trouble? Especially if he decides to switch to—"

"Kitty? Now you're completely haywire," said Ben condescendingly.

"I am not. And to make it worse, I thought Randall took to her too. He looked positively cheerful."

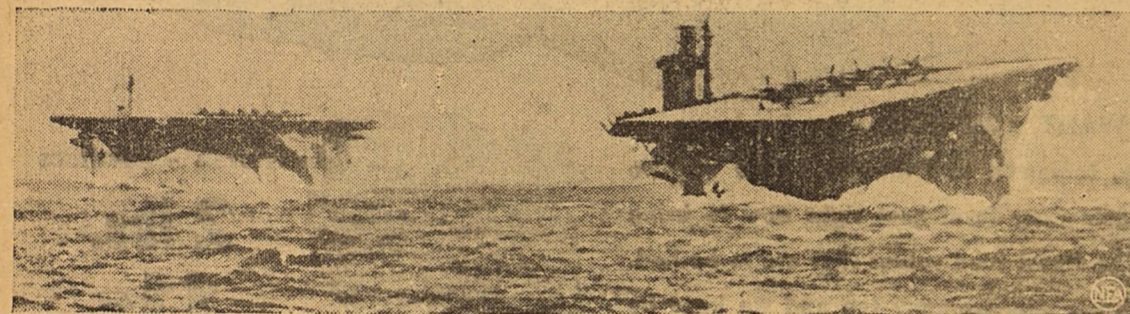

"You're letting your imagination run away with you. Kitty may be feeling a little unsettled but she usually knows what she's doing."

"I suppose you think she knew what she was doing when she divorced Collins?"

"Well no," said Ben, examining a shoe judicially, "I think she made a mistake that time. And I will say for Kitty that if she makes a mistake she sticks to it."

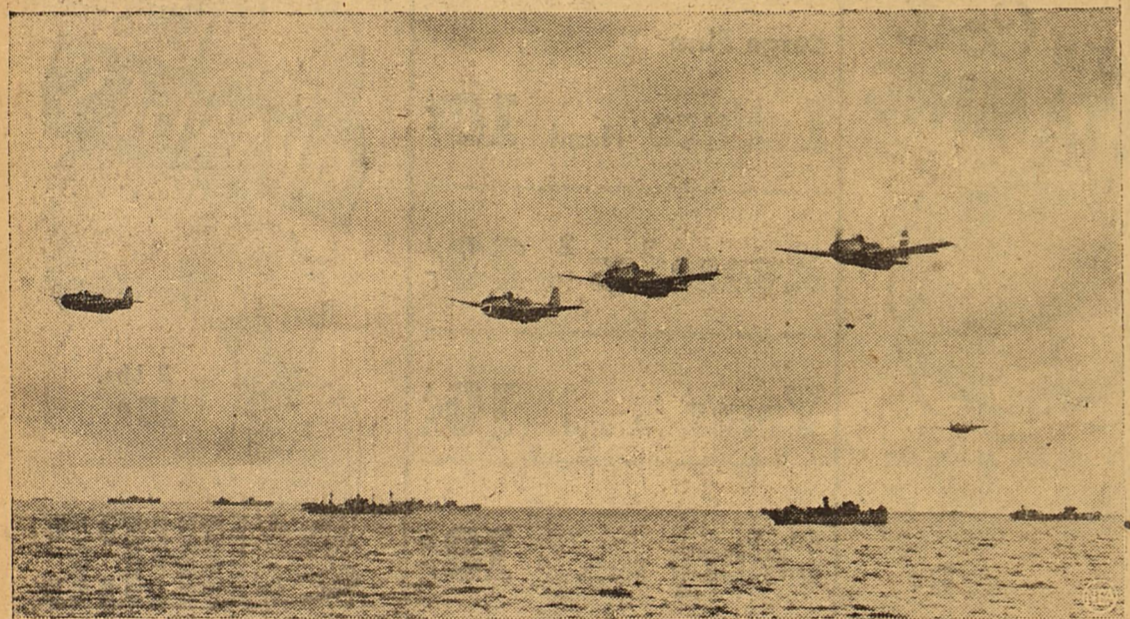

"If you mean that for a cheering thought, Ben, let me tell you it's not. . . ."

Carriers Carry On Through Storm

With flight decks aslant as winter storm lashes waves to angry turbulence, British carriers Avenger and Biter press ahead, escorting Allied convoy through dangerous waters.

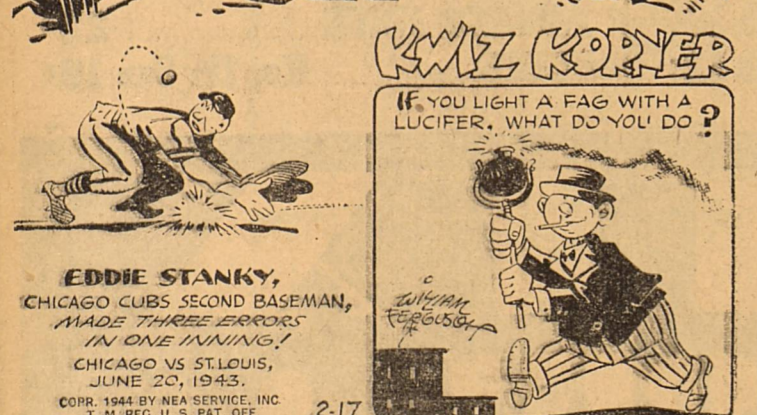

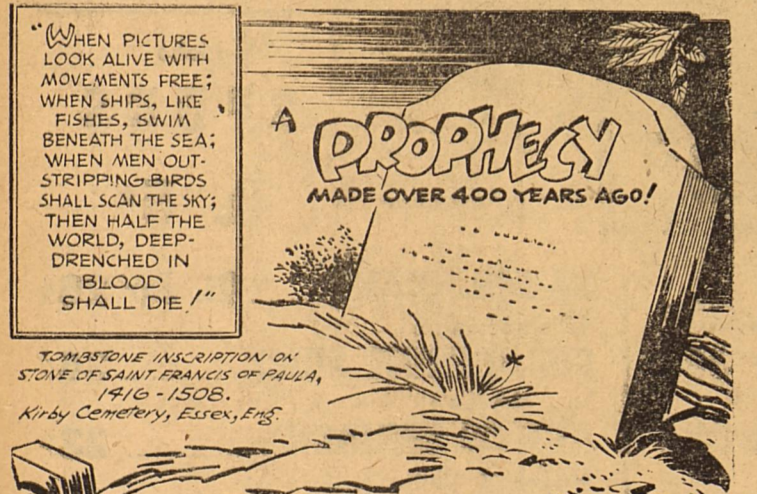

Deceptive Beauty

The vastness of the sky and the ocean's smooth vista lend the scene above an atmosphere of peaceful beauty. It's completely deceptive, of course, for ships are an Allied convoy, in minute-to-minute danger of attack and the Avenger torpedo bombers above them roar low over the sea, searching the depths below for death-laden U-boats.

though it involved a nice squeeze play. One pair, however, arrived at six no trump and made only six by cardless play.

To make seven, the opening lead must be won by the declarer with the club king, and now the five spade tricks are cashed. South must discard three diamonds from dummy on the three long spades. East can discard a club and two hearts.

Cashing the king of hearts gives the declarer the bad news on that suit. But now he cashes the ace of clubs, and East is fixed. If he throws away a heart, all of dummy's hearts are good. If he discards the seven of diamonds, South goes over to the queen of hearts, cashes the ace and discards his three of clubs. He cashes the ace of diamonds and wins the last two tricks with the king and ten of diamonds.

FOUR AMMUNITION CARS DERAILED NEAR TEMPLE

TEMPLE, TEXAS—(AP)—Derailment of 13 westbound Santa Fe freight cars, including four cars of live ammunition, occurred four miles west of here Wednesday without serious consequences. A carload of sulphur caught fire but the blaze was extinguished.

Division headquarters here said cause of the derailment was not established. Clearing of the wreckage was expected by dawn Thursday.

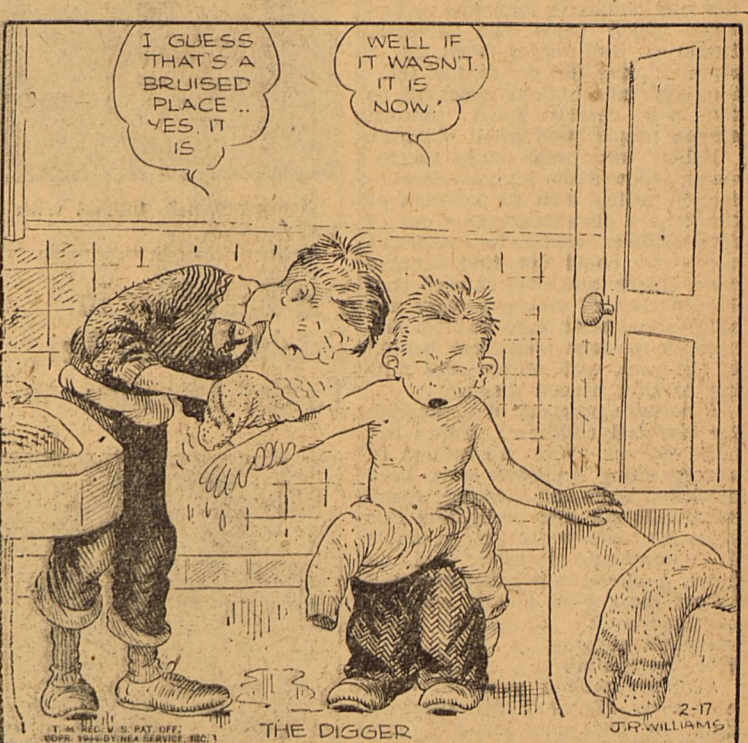

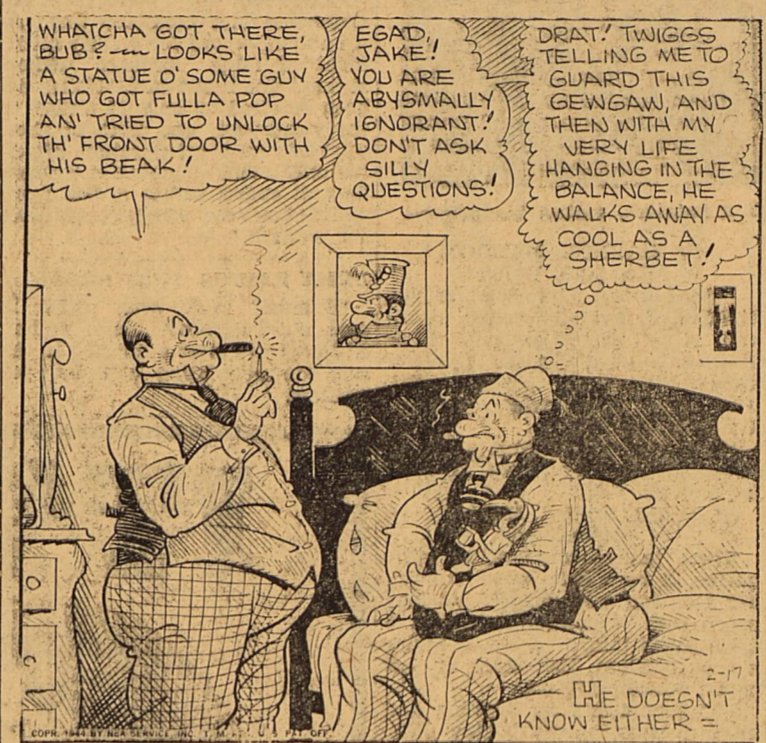

REP. JOHNSON CLIMBS HOUSE POLITICAL LADDER

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson, (D) of Johnson City, Texas, who was named to the House Naval Affairs Committee when he entered Congress in 1937, automatically was elevated to fourth rank as member with the death Sunday of Representative Schuetz (D-Ill.). Johnson, at the foot of the 27-man committee in 1937, now is within two places of the group's chairmanship, by virtue of a series of deaths and political defeats of senior members.

Soil Tillers To Strike It Rich

By ROBERT E. GEIGER AP Features Writer
Victory gardeners have a generous supply of seeds awaiting them at the start of the 1944 growing season and adequate quantities of tools; fertilizers and insecticides.

That is the word from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the nation's seedsmen and supply houses.
"But gardeners should order their seeds early because of the seed store help mortgage and transportation problems," the department says in a message to Victory gardeners.

Seedsmen at the start of war built up American sources for seeds normally imported from countries later overrun by the Nazis. That explains why there have been no more serious shortages than were reported last summer.
"As always, a few varieties of seeds will be scarce but, as always, there will be available similar varieties as good, and in some instances, better," says Harry H. Hobbs, vice president of the Perry Morse Seed Company of Detroit.

A similar statement came from David Burpee of the W. Atlee Burpee Seed Company of Philadelphia.
"There is enough seed for all Victory gardeners if gardeners will accept another similar variety when the type they order is not obtainable.

"The present demand is 50 per cent greater than a year ago and

Congress And Treasury Jittery As Taxpayers Prepare Reports

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—The first rumble of that snowball which is going to hit Congress March 15 already is being heard and Congress is uncomfortable, if not downright scared. So is the Treasury.

The snowball is, of course, the gathering avalanche of protests against the complicated income tax forms. A number of Congressmen we suggest that gardeners order their seeds as early as possible." The War Production Board, convinced of the importance of Victory gardens, is doing everything possible to assure adequate supplies of hoes, rakes, spades and spading forks for 1944. Supplies of sprayers and dusters also will be more liberal.

Insecticides and fungicides should be at least as plentiful as last year," the department reports.
The nitrate situation improved this spring and the nitrogen content of Victory garden fertilizer is back to the pre-war standard; 5-10-5 mix for the East and South; The Midwest will get a 6-12-4 mix and the Far West a 6-10-4 combination.

Keeps Lincoln Alive In Death

By ROBERT HEWETT AP Features
SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Abraham Lincoln still lives in the mind of the man who is closest to the Great Emancipator in death.

That man is 85-year old Herbert Wells Fay, a grey-haired Illinois country newspaper editor who for the last 22 years has been the custodian of Abraham Lincoln's tomb.

While the nation prepares to commemorate the Civil War president's 135th birthday anniversary, Fay devotes himself to his hobby—a collection of more than a million photographs, clippings, books and letters dealing with Lincoln's life—and in retrospect lives in the days when Honest Abe rode the circuit to backwoods courthouses or stumped the state in brawling political campaigns.

Lincoln is no mythical figure to the frail custodian who has guided some 3,000,000 through the shrine in the last two decades. Poring over Lincoln's letters and newspapers, Fay finds a man as real to him as a neighbor.

"Certainly Lincoln is alive today—at least his spirit is alive," he staunchly tells visitors. "He's a living force in the United States. All over the world we see people fighting for the things he stands for."

Fay treasures 52 original letters written by Lincoln to friends and office seekers. Although he lives with enjoyment in the past, Fay has plenty of contact with the present. He has guided every president since Harding through the impressive marble and granite tomb.

President Roosevelt visited the Lincoln shrine twice, in 1932 and 1936, and Mrs. Roosevelt has signed the visitor's record three times. President and schoolboy get the same little speech.

"Here is the tomb proper. Body of Lincoln lies 10 feet from inside of north wall, 10 feet below floor, with head to west, made necessary by attempt to steal the body in 1876."

The attempt to steal Lincoln's body was a sensational plot by a band of men who broke into the tomb and dragged the metal coffin from the stone sarcophagus before they were frightened away.

BOILED PORK

MORRIS CORNER, S. C. —(AP) —A drove of Berkeley County hogs went on a binge when state and federal officers poured 1,100 gallons of beer into a ditch during a liquor raid. "Some of the porkers got to feeling so good," Constable J. J. Dollard said, "that they had to plant their noses in the ground with their legs spraddled in order to stand up. Others just gave up and rolled over."

Midland Bulldogs Beat Bobcats 26 To 20 In District Cage Game

SAN ANGELO—Midland's Bulldogs Wednesday night defeated San Angelo's Bobcats 26 to 20 in the first game of a series for the District 3-AA basketball championship.

The Bobcats will journey to Midland Friday night for the second game. If a third game is necessary, it will be staged in Midland Saturday night.

The Bobcats were tied with Coach Gene McCollum's cagers 13 to 13 at half time.

Scoring honors went to Jimmy Watson, Midland center, with 15 points, including seven field goals. Wells was high scorer for the Bobcats.

The box score:

MONEY RUNNER
MIDLAND, CONN.—(AP)—Paul Ferrandi, testifying about the way he pursued a man accused of snatching his wife's purse, was asked by the defense attorney: "How fast can you run?"
"I can run very good for 500 yards," replied Ferrandi, who is 66.

Big Bill Henry Sets New SWC Basketball Scoring Record

By The Associated Press
Big Bill Henry, Rice center, garnered a Southwest Conference basketball scoring record totaling 231 points and pushed the Owls into what will likely be a tie for the loop championship when the Rice quintet downed the Texas Longhorns in Austin Wednesday night 62-43.

The win gave the Owls a 10-1 record against nine victories and a loss for the second-place Arkansas Razorbacks. The loss showed Texas into a tie with idle Southern Methodist for third place. Arkansas has only winless Texas A&M remaining on its schedule and is due to complete the season tied with Rice with 11 victories and a defeat.

Henry Gets 17 Points
The towering Henry sank 17 points Wednesday night to break Dwight Parks' record of 214 tallies set in 1942. Rice has one game left to play, that against Baylor in Houston Saturday night.

In trying to stop Henry, the Longhorns put two and sometimes three men on him. This left two unheralded Owls free to roam the court, Ray Hilton, a substitute, who sank eight field goals, and Don Suman, who garnered seven.

The Longhorns gave the Owls an early scare at first, with young Bob Summers doing good rebound work. They jumped into a 17-11 lead midway of the first half. Henry and Hilton put the Owls ahead, but little Roy Cox dropped in three goals near the close to leave Texas trailing only 24-25.

Summers led the Longhorns with 16 points.

San Antonio School Makes Basketball 'Family Affair'

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Basketball at Sidney Lanier is a family proposition—and that explains why the school always comes up with a strong team.

The other three night Voks won their third straight District 28-A interscholastic league championship. And they'll bet you here that Sidney Lanier repeats as state titlist at Austin next month.

Fans over the state may wonder why the same names appear in the Vok lineups season after season. That would be explained, however, if first names were used in box scores.

Whole families come up through the neighborhood play and intramural league system that makes basketball a year-around sport at Sidney Lanier.

Have Feeder System
A hard-surface court on the school grounds is available to ambitious youngsters in the Lanier neighborhood.

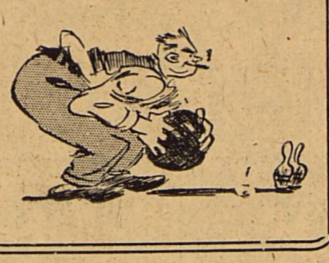

The boys look forward to the day when they will realize the big ambition—to toss in a few goals in the Lanier gym.

In addition to the constant supply of kids on that outdoor court, the school has a secondary "feeding" system for its basketball teams—the intramural league. Each of the 14 home rooms has a team and they play two days a week during recess periods.

The result has been that the Voks won the state 1943 championship, were runners-up in 1939 and went to the semi-finals in 1942.

Bowling

Yellow Cab Field No. 2 gained a few percentage points Tuesday night by winning two games while their nearest opponent managed to take only one.

Russell Langford set a new league record by bowling 235, 210 and 187 for a 632 series, topping the 614 record set by Ernie Grites last week.

The Honolulu Oilers took advantage of Langford's 235 and started with a 964 record game. Weaver Wilson Service recovered to win the last two games.

Plamor Palace split with the Scharbauer Hotel keglers. The hotel bowlers set a new record with 975 total in the final stanza.

Roberson's Sinclair won two of three from Mackey Motors.

Dallas, Fort Worth Battlers Lead In Golden Gloves Meet
FORT WORTH—(AP)—Eleven more teams swing into action Thursday night in the Texas Golden Gloves Tournament and from them will come a second batch of quarter-finalists for Saturday night's big round.

Fort Worth and Dallas each placed six men in the quarter-final bracket Wednesday night as the tournament started before a crowd of 3,500. Camp Wolters placed five, Brownwood and Camp Howze each had four and Waco and Camp Hood fighters figured in three victories each, while Bryan Army Air Field had one.

Thursday night teams from Abilene, El Paso, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Amarillo, Beaumont, Childress, Houston, Camp Maxey, Camp Fannin, Harlingen, Lubbock and Odessa will participate.

Mexican 'Good Will' Cagers To Get Gas
DALLAS—(AP)—Coach Antonio Lavin and the Politas, Mexican national championship girls basketball team, planned to leave here Thursday for Little Rock, Ark., the second of 14 cities they expect to visit on their tour of this country.

A Politas spokesman said Wednesday night the Politas private bus was on its way to Dallas from San Antonio, where it ran out of gas earlier in the week. The athletes, who lost a 22-10 game to the Dallas Hornets Wednesday night and another, 31-19, to the Dallas Dr. Peppers Tuesday night, came on to Dallas by train while the San Antonio ration board considered their request for fuel to continue the tour.

The tour is sponsored partly by the Mexican government as a good will gesture.

Solid Rockne
Lt. Comdr. Mal Elward, former Purdue grid coach, tells this yarn about his playing days at Notre Dame... Elward was Knute Rockne's sub in 1913. When Rockne was hurt, Coach Jess Harper leaned over and said: "Elward, you might have to go in there." "Mal grabbed his headgear, put it on backward and started out on the field..." "Come back here," Harper shouted, then as Mal returned to the bench he added: "Now wait and don't get excited. I can see Rockne out there and he still can stand on one foot."
