By DOLPH MOTEN

Publicity out of Washington of late has opponents of the farm program attempting to establish a limit of $20,000 in payments to individuals.

Looks like it just might come about, too, though it's certainly too early to make an accurate prediction.

This is not the first time this idea has come up, but seems that it's being pushed further and harder this time than previously.

On the surface, the proposal sounds harmless enough. Nobody ever expected to get rich off the farm program, anyway, those in favor of the limit will tell you. And maybe that's right.

Still, when you look into the idea deeper than the surface, you see that this could be the beginning of the end of the farm program.

And, frankly, that's probably what its backers mean for it to be---the beginning of the end of the farm program.

The limitation would force the larger farmers, and there are many of them on the irrigated High Plains of Texas, to go "outlaw"---stay out of the government program and have no acreage allotments. This, then, would possibly increase production to the point that prices would go further down, thereby hurting the smaller farmers who stayed in the program and drew less than $20,000 in subsidies.

We don't have much sympathy for the farmer who is big enough to draw more than $20,000 in government payments. He doesn't need our sympathy, anyway, needless to say; he's big enough to take care of himself. And if the idea of the payment limitation ended right there period, we'd probably be for it. But as we previously pointed out, the limitation is only the beginning of something which would eventually be detrimental to farming in general and this area in particular.

If the opponents of the farm program, numerous as they are, would come out to do away with it, they would be easier to fight. This back-door approach has a tendency to get the non-farm interested citizens of the country more anti-farmer than they already are in their thinking and actions. This will, over a period of time, make it easier to do away with the farm program if that is the long-range plan of the limitation supporters.

The government payment limit hasn't yet become a reality, understand, and may not in the foreseeable future. Those of us in farming areas, though, can be assured that there is a group of Washington politicians working against us.

From experience during the past couple of months, we've learned, after all the years of wondering about it, what it's like to diet.

Dieting, we've decided, is kinda like most everything else---it has its good and bad points. We don't, for instance, much like the idea of being hungry occasionally and of not eating all the bread, potatoes, gravy etc. that we want, when we want it.

On the other side of the ledger, though, is the loss of weight which we're glad to get rid of, the better fit of last year's clothes and the sense of accomplishment brought about by shedding a few unwanted and unneeded pounds.

During this brief dieting period, we've learned to appreciate even less those smart-alecks who, by their nature, don't have an overweight problem and take advantage of those of us who do by saying that hard work and clean living is what keeps them slim and trim. The truth is, of course, that because of their mental and/or physical make-ups, they couldn't gain weight on six big meals and a bushel of malted milkshakes a day.

Our success has been just so-so and there's probably a direct ratio between the amount of success and the job we've done in living up to the dietary standards which we impulsively set for ourselves.

Our planning isn't the best either, which is the way we do some other things, in that we haven't yet decided how much weight we should lose and when we should stop this unnatural way of eating and return to a more normal consumption of taste-appealing foods. We've got to get around to that, though, in the next several weeks or after we lose another 10 or 15 pounds.

The idea of living from now on without an occasional dishpan-full of popcorn, for instance, is just more than we can stand to think about!

are financed by the federal government through the Office of Economic Opportunity. Funds are available for a total of 40 students. Approximately 20 had been enrolled Tuesday, the first day of the program. This number is expected to increase, according to Tom Templeton, grade school principal, who is also director of Head Start.

HeadStartClass Has 20 Students

Headstart classes began Tuesday morning with an enrollment of approximately 20.

The eight-week session has federal funds available for 40 students, who will start to school for the first time next fall, are financially deprived, and have a language barrier or other handicap. Supervisor Tom Templeton urges parents of children who qualify to register as soon as possible.

Classes are held from 8 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. One meal is included each day.

Teachers for the program are Mrs. Icy Lear and Josie Alonzo. Assisting them are Elodia Serna and Ramon Delgado, who is serving as bus driver. Meals are prepared by Mrs. Helen Wassom.

The Head Start program is being conducted in Ridgelea Elementary school.

Mision Revival June 9-15

The Mision Belen and First Baptist Church will participate in the "Crusade of the America" revival June 9 to 16, according to Rev. Ramon G. Delgado, pastor of the mission.

Rev. Rosalio Hernandez of Dimmitt will be the evangelist.

The mission Sunday School is lending support in keeping with its task to teach the Biblical Revelation to each church member to work, learn and minister daily, Rev. Delgado said.

Thunderstorms Continue Here

Scattered thunders owers continued to fall in the area two days during the p... week.

Rains fell Thursday afternoon and night and again Monday night with each of the showers producing approximately half an inch of moisture in parts of the area.

Baseball games were rained out in Bovina on each of the nights.

The Thursday afternoon and night showers amounted to more than an inch south of Bovina and halted farming activities for a day or two.

No hail was reported with either of the rains and for the most part the moisture was considered to be beneficial. Added to rains which have fallen earlier, the showers during the past week have made for a wetter-than-usual spring.

In School Cafeteria --

Wheat Growers Stage Annual Meet Thursday

Bovina Wheat Growers, Inc., will have its annual meeting of stockholders Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Bovina Schools cafeteria.

Cooperative patrons and their families are invited to attend a free barbeque dinner as well as the meeting.

Two members of the board of directors will be elected for three-year terms. The terms of Raymond Schueler and M. H. Carson expire this year. Hold-over members of the board are Walter Potts, Harold Hawkins and Webb Gopher.

Jim Russell, general manager, will give a report on the past year's operation of the business.

Frank Phariss, general manager of Producers Grain Corporation, headquartered in Amarillo, will speak on the corporation's cattle feedlot plans in the area.

Also, an auditor's report will be given. Russell says the business portion of the annual meeting will be "brief."

An invitation to all stockholders of the cooperative and their families is extended in an advertisement in this issue of The Blade.

Approximately 100 people attended last year's meeting.

Job-Hunting Youths May Contact Club

Bovina youths, age 12-18, seeking odd jobs during the summer should contact Mrs. Earl Stevenson, Mrs. Mac Glasscock, or Mrs. Bob Fillpot, of Youth Opportunity Plan.

Sponsored by Bovina Woman's Study Club, Youth Opportunity Plan keeps a file of boys and girls and jobs for which they are available. For example, someone wanting a babysitter, or yard work done could call Opportunity Plan, which would in turn contact the boy or girl available for that particular job. The job and salary would be decided by the parties involved.

"This was very successful last year, and we hope it will be again this summer," Mrs. Fillpot said this week.

Expect More --

Baptist School Enrollment 176

Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Church began Monday with an enrollment of 176.

Last year's VBS had an enrollment of 209 by the end of the five-day session, so "we are anticipating growing this week," Mrs. Bobby Cumpton, church secretary, said Monday.

A Preparation Day and parade was held Saturday. Participants in the parade were the fire truck, a float, and children on decorated bicycles. A contest was held to determine best girl's and boy's bicycle decorated with a Bible School theme. Winners were Dondra Gerles in the girls' division and Be Barrett in boys'.

Vacation Bible School will continue from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. each day this week, with a picnic at 11:30 Friday.

VBS Commencement Service will be Sunday evening at 7 and will feature a slide presentation by the Flying Ambassadors of the First Baptist

FATHERS ARE HONORED IN NOVEL WAYS

In our country, popular five-star bowling balls make fathers feel like five-star generals, but in other parts of the world longevity robes are a major gift item while cattle are a private present.

Called "padre" in Spanish, "pere" in French, "otets" in Russian and "otosan" in Japanese, dad in different parts of the world is honored in ways that differ even more than his many names.

The patriarch in Africa is honored with gifts, and may receive, as a token of junior's esteem, a lion skin!

Feasts to honor fathers were popular thousands of years ago in Greece. Dad was given the best food and drink at the feast table, and a pre-dinner libation was poured to honor all fathers, living and dead.

Some gifts are mandatory. Many African fathers won't part with the blushing bride until the groom has come across with a few head of cattle!

But in pre-war China, where age earned high prestige, it gave sons great joy to bestow on their fathers "longevity robes" -- costly silk garments embroidered with the Chinese characters for long life.

In our own country, longevity is helped along by families that give fathers such gifts as bowling balls which promote relaxation and physical fitness. About 20 million men bowl, five million of them in bowling leagues,

The newest idea in bowling balls are precision made spheres that are a quarter inch wider in circumference than others. It is the first bowling ball ever made to the exacting specifications of Dick Weber, an all-pro champion who is widely hailed as the greatest name in the game.

Dubbed the "Big Ball for Big Daddy" and made by AMF, world's largest manufacturer of bowling equipment, the ball helps avoid missing the pin by that agonizing thirty-second of an inch by coming up to maximum size standards. The Dick Weber five-star ball has become the best-selling pro-style ball on the market, and is used by such top names as Dick Ritger and Wayne Zahn. Available for under $33, the ball is only available at bowling centers and selected retail bowling shops and departments where expert fitting and drilling are assured.

A logical family gift for dad? Of course. Especially since silk longevity robes are so fragile, and since lions are so unwilling to part with their skins.

PROFILES OF GREAT AMERICANS

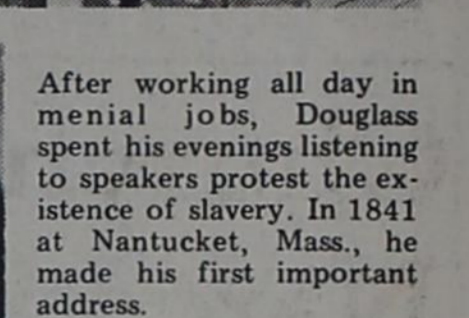

Frederick Douglass, an adviser to Presidents, a brilliant orator and a great newspaper editor, was born in slavery about 1817. At the age of seven, he herded cattle, cared for poultry and worked on the grounds around his master's mansion in Maryland.

For two years he had a measure of freedom, working on the Baltimore docks and educating himself at night. He planned his escape in 1838. Disguised as a free sailor, he took a train to New York, then moved to Massachusetts.

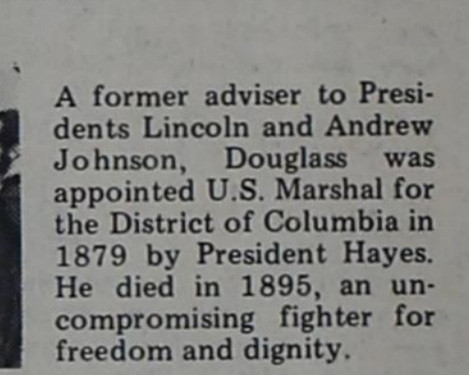

After working all day in menial jobs, Douglass spent his evenings listening to speakers protest the existence of slavery. In 1841 at Nantucket, Mass., he made his first important address.

He traveled to England, where admirers purchased his freedom. Upon his return to America, Douglass founded a newspaper in Rochester, N.Y. but stopped publishing in 1863 to devote his time to recruiting Negroes for the Union Army.

A former adviser to Presidents Lincoln and Andrew Johnson, Douglass was appointed U.S. Marshal for the District of Columbia in 1879 by President Hayes. He died in 1895, an uncompromising fighter for freedom and dignity.

Frederick Douglass' biography and others in the Leading American Negroes series of sound filmstrips can be purchased by educational organizations through the Society for Visual Education, Inc., 1345 A Diversey, Chicago, Illinois 60614, a Division of The Singer Company.

Acre Plots --

Peanuts Grow For Church

Peanuts are growing for Bovina United Methodist Church. Twelve Bovina area farmers are raising one acre each of the peanut crop for the church here.

The crop was planted during the past two weeks by Ralph Roming. At least two other farmers are also raising an acre of peanuts, Jerry McClaren and Thomas Rhodes.

A Portales man has been contracted to harvest the crop this fall.

The 12 include Tom Caldwell, Lowell Boozer, Vernon Willard, Gene Ezell, Oakley Stevenson, John Dixon, Roming, Durward Bell, Bill Bowman, Leon Ware, Tom Ware and Billie Sudderth.

Church Slates Narcotics Film

Robert Shedd, Parmer County Highway patrolman, announces that two films, "Narcotics: The Use of And Their Dangers," will be shown at First Baptist Church in Bovina June 15, 8 p.m. The films are being sponsored by all churches in Bovina. Shedd urges all persons in the area to attend since the films deal with one of the most timely subjects of this age.

The first film is "Dangers of Narcotics-Including LSD and Marijuana" and the other film is a narrative by a wellknown doctor, who relates some of the dangers of drug use long after the person might have stopped using drugs. The films are approximately one and one-half hours in length.

Shedd stresses the importance of teen-age persons seeing the films with their parents.

C. E. Trimble Home After Knee Injury

C. E. Trimble returned home Saturday after undergoing surgery the previous Tuesday in an Amarillo hospital. Tendons in Trimble's right knee were repaired during the operation.

The knee was injured in an accident with a horse on Thursday before the operation on Tuesday.

The accident occurred as Trimble was assisting a horse to its feet in a corral at his farm.

His right leg is in a cast and will remain so for at least six weeks.

MR. AND MRS. H. D. BRADSHAW

H. D. Bradshaws Celebrate 40th Anniversary Sunday

The children of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bradshaw will be hosts to a reception honoring their parents on their 40th wedding anniversary.

All friends are invited to call between 3 and 6 p.m. Sunday, June 8, in the Bradshaw home, located four and one-half miles north of Bovina on FM 1731.

Miss Erma Hulsey, born in Olney, and Bill Bradshaw, native of Hill County, were married in 1929 in Matador. They came to Parmer County in 1935 and farmed near Farwell.

It was this year they received their West Texas "baptism," the first "duster" they had ever seen.

Bradshaw recalls he was plowing quarter-mile rows with a team of horses. The rows ran north and south and he saw the cloud in the north moving toward Parmer County. He thought it unusual that each time he finished the rows traveling south and turned back to a northerly direction that the "rain storm" was moving in so quickly.

However, it wasn't sprinkling and Bradshaw thought he had time for another round. The West Texas "rain storm" had hit when he finished that round. He unhooked the horses and let them go and went into the house to find his family. They, however, were sure the world was coming to an end, and had already made for the cellar.

It was the strangest rain cloud the Bradshaws ever remember--they didn't receive a bit of moisture.

Eleven years later, in 1946, the Bradshaws moved to their present farm north of Bovina, and have called Bovina home since that time.

The Bradshaws have three children, Mrs. Ella Rawls of Houston, Mrs. Dyalitha DeFever of Amarillo and J. F. Bradshaw of Lubbock; and six grandchildren.

They request no gifts for their anniversary.

Read 1 John 3:1-3

See what love the Father has given us, that we should be called children of God. —1 John 3:1 (RSV)

A MISSION hospital planned a memorial service on the occasion of a new hospital wing being dedicated to a beloved missionary. At the unveiling of the plaque, one of the Christians said: "We loved the doctor because he took our hurt into his own heart."

A true measure of love is how much one is willing to give—and the best thing a man can give is himself!

We see God's love in the giving of His Son—for us! To meditate upon this love is to conclude that God took our hurt into His own heart.

Christ took the hurt of our sins and our selfishness, the hurt of our heartbreak and our hopelessness, the hurt of our sorrows and our pain.

Amidst the conflict, He who has come to us walks among us and shares the load of our souls. The best answer we can give for our assurance of God's love is that He took our hurt into His own heart. Life is better because He did!

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

One thing a fisherman soon learns is that rules are made to be broken. Not laws, not safety rules, but rules of tradition.

Some things about fishing are passed along as gospel. This to the extent that many people, particularly beginners, falsely believe that these are basic truths.

Fishing for bass with a topwater lure is a good example. It has been said many times that the only way to dupe a wise old bass into striking is to toss the lure out, let it remain idle for several seconds, then barely twitch it.

Glen Hayden, an ardent Austin angler who traditionally finishes among the winners in bass tournaments held around the state, says he prefers to work a Heddon Chugger fast. This is contrary to much that has been preached and written on the subject. But Glen gets results and results are what count.

A topwater lure usually is regarded as a warm-weather bait. It's used when things like frogs and insects are out . . . creatures a hungry bass would expect on the surface. But a few years back a San Antonio angler was fishing on Lake LBJ in Central Texas during a cold, windy day late in January.

Fishing was slow, so he decided to try a surface plug. Now, any sensible angler knows that topwater bait won't work this time of year. But despite the odds against him, this one tried it. It paid off with a bass that weighed better than nine pounds. It was one of the largest caught from the impoundment during the entire year.

Recently a friend was telling me about an experience he had with a beginning fisherman he took out. He gave the man a Skipjack and told him to try it. A Skipjack is one of those torpedo-shaped surface plugs with propellers fore and aft. His compadre simply "threw the bait out" then reeled it in steadily.

"I just started to tell him he was doing it all wrong, that the bait was to be fished in jerks," the veteran angler remembers. "But just then he caught a bass.

"I considered it an accident. But I didn't tell him so."

As things turned out, the beginner put five bass in that boat before "teacher" had a strike. On this day the bass preferred a steady retrieve to an erratic one.

Later the same week I saw some people with a nice string of bass. When I asked how they'd caught them, they said they were using plastic worms.

This wasn't surprising, since the plastic worm is a deadly bass bait. But something made me ask how they were working the worms.

Lo and behold, they were simply tossing the weighted worms out and reeling them straight back, as they would a bait with a built-in action. You know and I know and the bass know that a plastic worm, to be successful, should be hopped along the bottom. This time, however, the bass went for a worm dragged shallow and steadily through the water.

All of which just goes to show that no rule in fishing is infallible. Tradition rules are made to be broken. The angler who goes by the book, so to speak, won't be right every time.

Fish, thankfully, can't read books or outdoors columns. Wouldn't it be a dull sport if every fish reacted as we expected?

Report From Sheriff's Office

Three persons are in custody and awaiting trial for the March 24 burglary of the Douglas Stephenson home two miles southwest of Friona. Taken from the Stephenson home were several guns, including an 1884 Springfield rifle, two shotguns, and two rifles, all of which have been recovered.

The guns were recovered in Albuquerque and Santa Fe from pawn shops and gun collectors. Charged with the burglary are Robert Fite of Coolidge, Ariz.; Tommy Gene Fite of Oklahoma, and Maxine Windom of Shiloh, Ariz.

Tommy Joe Seagraves, who was returned to Parmer County last week to face a charge of swindling on false pretenses was arraigned Monday morning and had his bond set at $4000. He is presently at large on an appearance bond and is awaiting grand jury action.

Rudy Cardenas, who was convicted on a charge of burglary from a Friona clothing store and given a probated sentence earlier this year, appears in court to face a hearing on revocation of probation.

This is the time to take our stand for the truth we know. Stand with the truth principles we are learning. ASTRONAUTS TRAIN IN SIMULATED SPACE SHIPS

With the Link Lunar Mission Simulator (LMS), above, and its counterpart the Apollo Mission Simulator, it is possible to simulate the entire manned Apollo mission. The equipment was built by the Link Division of The Singer Company.

U. S. astronaut John W. Young, wearing pressurized suit, is shown in the Apollo Mission Simulator. Partially visible in the photo are astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, left, and Eugene A. Cernan, right.

American astronauts soar to the moon many times before they ever land there—but they won't necessarily leave the ground during any of their trips.

Many of their journeys will be inside giant simulators that are exact replicas of the Apollo and Lunar ships.

The simulators, weighing 40 tons, and measuring about 30 feet in height, 65 feet in width, and 100 feet in length, were built specifically for the space program by the Link Division of The Singer Company.

Located at both Cape Kennedy and the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Texas, the simulators will not only be used to train the men to use the complicated control panels, but they will acclimate them to unusual space conditions.

And with their five-ton glass covering, they will treat the astronauts to a spectacle of shining stars, the earth and the moon.

Not every trip however, will be smooth sailing, since emergency as well as normal flight conditions have been programmed into the giant computers — so capable they can solve 20 problems a second.

More than 1,000 possible malfunctions also are programmed to forewarn and teach astronauts about potential difficulties.

During training, however, instructors can return computers to predetermined mission points — so astronauts can re-work problems — or they can speed them up during those periods in the flight when astronauts have little to do.

The actual 14-day flight includes 9 stages: launch boost, earth orbit, translunar coast, lunar orbit, descent, lunar stay, ascent, rendezvous, and docking.

UNCLE LUKE IS A SKEPTIC

To be truthful about it, Uncle Luke is plumb "omery" about a lot of things. He rants at the blasted "airplanes" that scare his chickens . . . he fusses about the way women dress nowadays . . . he's never been to a picture show . . . and one of his pet hates is those "ix"x" squawk boxes" somebody around the house is always turning on while he's trying to read his newspaper. Oh yes! Uncle Luke likes his newspaper . . . dotes on it, in fact. Says it's the only way a feller could tell what's really going on in this crazy world nowadays.

Thank goodness we don't have to put up with many folks like Uncle Luke . . . but if you have an advertising message and want to be sure Uncle Luke sees it . . . put it in YOUR HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER.

Twelve riders left here this (Wednesday) morning for Cowle's N.M., between Las Vegas and Santa Fe for the four-day ride. They will ride into an area known as Pecos Wilderness this afternoon. The trip will continue Thursday and Friday and they will return home Saturday.

Making the trip were Norvell Strawn, Owen Patton, Jon Lin Riddle, Edwin Lide, Ronald Mitchell, Archie McCutchan, Vernon Estes, Roy Alonzo, Dick Dobbs of Lubbock, Bill Strawn of Spearman, Jerry McClarren and Ralph Roming.

Similar groups from here made two rides in that general area last summer.

Why Not?
 "Father," asked a small boy, "which can go faster, horses or busses?"
 "Busses, of course," answered the father.
 "Then why," asked the youngster, "don't you bet on the busses?"

 FRESH IDEAS FROM AMERICA'S LEADING FASHION DESIGNERS

VERY VERSATILE: PERT SHIRT

Here's a shirt that won't shrink from brightening up any outfit, whether it's matched with a mini or maxi skirt, pants or shorts.

It's a classic button down, with a new twist that makes it a real innovation. Made in a stretch fabric and pantie styling, the shirt moves with the wearer and won't pull out of pants or skirts. It stays smooth under belts.

You can do your own thing with this body shirt by Van Raalte by adding free flowing scarves and carefully twisted ascots, or by linking it with chains.

Soft and willowy, it puts curves back into the straight fashion game, and versatility back into your wardrobe.

By making the most of shirt matchability you can create a different look for every occasion and easily stay "on top" of the fast-paced fashion scene.

Simple Deserts Please The Gang

A busy homemaker with company coming in after dinner often lacks time to prepare an awe-inspiring creation for coffee and desert. But simple deserts, deliciously good and attractively served are just as much of a crowd pleaser. A fragrant coffee cake, fluffy pie or tangy cookies all homebaked along with plenty of good hot coffee, is a heartwarming way to say "glad to see you."

Make the baked goods before hand and most of your work is done, especially if you use non-stick aluminum pans which heat so evenly a beginner can bake with confidence. The new non-stick linings allow your goodies to slip right onto a plate and need only a swish of a sponge to come clean. In fact, a wonderful pie or cake titted back into the aluminum pan in which it was baked and gift-wrapped along with the recipe makes a charming momento for a lucky guest.

Serve up your mouth-watering array on a sideboard or buffet, along with coffee kept piping hot in a handsome electric aluminum coffee maker with an easy-pour spout. Then sit back and enjoy your company and the compliments.

PRECIOUS POUND CAKE
 2 cups all-purpose flour
 ¼ teaspoon baking soda
 2 cups sugar
 1 teaspoon mace
 ¼ cups butter
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
 6 eggs, separated
 ½ teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon cream of tartar

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Set oven at 325° F. Grease well and dust with flour an aluminum bundt cake pan (10 cup size). Sift together flour, baking soda, 1 cup sugar and mace. In large bowl (of electric mixer set at low speed) blend butter with flour mixture. Add lemon juice and vanilla. Add egg yolks; beat well. In another large bowl, beat egg whites and salt until frothy. Combine remaining 1 cup sugar and cream of tartar. Add to egg whites, about two tablespoons at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat until soft peaks form. Fold egg whites into batter. Turn into pan. Cut through the batter several times with a knife. Bake in 325° F. oven, 1 hour.

ROLLED MOLASSES COOKIES
 Cream together in 2-quart mixing bowl the butter and sugar. Beat in molasses. Sift together the dry ingredients. Alternately add dry ingredients and apple juice to the creamed mixture. Beat well after each addition. Stir in vanilla extract. Form dough into ball and chill in refrigerator for at least two hours.

On well floured surface, roll out the dough to ¼ inch thickness. Cut with cookie cutters into desired shapes. Place on aluminum cookie sheet. Bake in 375° F. oven 8 to 10 minutes. Remove with spatula and cool on wire rack. Cookies may be decorated with colored sugars, nuts and raisins before baking. Makes 5 dozen.

HARVEST PUMPKIN PIE
 ½ cup butter 1 teaspoon ginger
 ½ cup sugar ¼ teaspoon salt
 ½ cup molasses ¼ cup apple juice
 2½ cup flour ½ teaspoon vanilla
 1 teaspoon baking soda

Place all filling ingredients in a bowl and beat until well blended. Pour into the pastry shell in non-stick coated 9 inch aluminum pie pan. Bake in hot oven, 375° F., 40 to 45 minutes, or until inserted knife comes out clean. Cool. If desired, garnish with whipped cream dusted with cinnamon, just before serving.

*Be sure pastry shell has a high fluted edge.

1 9-inch unbaked pastry shell* ½ teaspoon salt
 1 cup cooked or canned pumpkin 2 teaspoons cinnamon
 1 cup canned apple sauce 1½ teaspoons nutmeg
 ¾ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar ½ teaspoon ground cloves
 4 eggs
 1 cup heavy cream

Barrett, Wilson --

Bovina's Reps To State Event

Bovina's representatives to the American Legion-sponsored Boys and Girls State, Randy Barrett and Candy Wilson, will be leaving from Amarillo within the next week. Approximately 750 boys and 450 girls who have completed their junior year in high school will attend the miniature governments-in-action sessions in Austin.

Boys State will be held June 7-11 on the campus of the University of Texas and Girls State will be June 11-20 at St. Edward's University, also in Austin.

During the sessions, delegates will be divided into political parties and cities to elect government officials. Both groups then elect state officials who are "inaugurated" at the Texas capitol. Outstanding speakers from local, state, and national governmental posts will be at both sessions.

The American Legion sponsors the sessions in the belief that youth should be offered a better perspective of practical operations of government. The Legion's motto is "Learn by Doing."

Randy is active in football, basketball, track and golf, and is vice-president of the National Honor Society at Bovina High School. Candy is a member of the band, FHA, Pep Club, and is editor of the yearbook. Alternates are Stuart McMeans and Suzanne Wilson.

BASEBALL ACTION -- a determined swing of the bat by batter Kevin King of Big Nick's Little Traders results in a foul ball during Pee Wee baseball action Friday. Catcher is Brook Mast of Sherrill Lumber-Bonds Oil. Luis Serna is the umpire. Ballgames, in three divisions, are being played each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. First game begins at 6:30.

Retired REA Manager --

Hereford Dinner Honors Forrest

Leo Forrest, who retired May 1 after 24 years as manager of Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative, will be honored at an appreciation banquet, Thursday, June 5, at 8. The banquet will be at Deaf Smith County Bull Barn in Hereford and is open to the public, according to Sloan H. Osborn of Friona, president of the Board of Directors.

While manager of the Cooperative, Forrest has served on many area, state, and national committees and has been very influential in setting policy for the REC cooperatives. He has been in South America with the REA in its efforts to link the continent together by electrification. Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative has made substantial growth in all phases of cooperative activity, especially in additional farm home and large power development. The Cooperative, under Forrest's management, has made advance loan payments to Rural Electric Association of $2,229,630.58. Also, the miles of line has increased from 500 miles in 1945 to 2500 miles in 1968.

COCKROACHES CAN CAUSE ASTHMA

Two Washington allergists have reported that cockroaches are an important cause of asthma in humans. Food contaminated by cockroaches triggers an allergic reaction to persons already sensitized to the insects, or who are allergy-prone, although not yet exposed.

Recent tests showed that almost 50% of a group of persons exposed to cockroach-infested food had asthma. We have positive cockroach killers.

One of the very best ways you can get a new baby started in life is by buying him or her a U.S. Savings Bond. And once you're started, keep on with it. As the baby grows, the Bonds you keep buying will grow, too. When the baby is ready for college, the Bonds will be ready to help pay for college.

BUSY? YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO BEEF ABOUT!

Beef! That's the word to keep in mind when you have to rush to the supermarket... pick up Susie... stop at the hardware store... take Bobby to the dentist... drop off Dad's watch... and still find time to fix the children a picnic supper.

Beef! But don't squawk. You're out of the woods, and in for a tasty treat, when you plan on Hamburger Surprises: two thin patties of ground beef with a surprise filling between. The filling can be a slice of tomato, cheddar or bleu cheese, a spoonful of pickle relish, an onion slice or combinations of fillings. Press the sides of the patties together neatly to hold the filling inside. Before serving, brown your rolls near the edge of the grill.

Light your grill about the time you start preparing the food then the fire will burn down to its hottest, most even heat by the time the hamburgers and corn are prepared. Fire-lighting is safe and easy today with a new product. Bernzomatic's "Fire Starter," a clean solid fuel that lights instantly with a match and cannot flare up. Break off one or two cubes, place it in your grill and cover with charcoal. After the charcoal has started, spread the coals for even distribution of heat. "Fire Starter" provides an added plus, no chemical tastes on your food to detract from the flavor you've worked to preserve and enhance.

The even, intense heat of charcoal allows you to roast corn easily on your grill. Wrap each husked ear in aluminum foil with some butter, salt and pepper. Place the ears on the grill for 15 to 20 minutes, turning frequently. Serve with extra butter and seasoning for real old-fashioned roasted corn flavor.

Your salad can contain as few or as many fresh vegetables as you like. If time is running out on you, limit your salad to just crisp lettuce with a tasty dressing. If you use a mayonnaise-base dressing, you may put a spoonful of the salad on top of your hamburger surprises. It gives the burgers extra flavor and may appeal to kids who don't normally enjoy salad.

Your beverage can be whatever you have handy--lemonade, ice tea, fruit punch. Either lemonade or orange juice will mix nicely with ice tea and give it a fresh, summer-time flavor. Just remember the key word: BEEF! Be a lamb.
