Just A Thought

by Carter

Just got the word that the boss, Bill Comedy has been appointed to the Texas Press Association's Board of Directors.

The TPA is a state wide organization that represents the publishing interests and keeps its members up to date on what's going on in the industry. They have a membership of well over 700 newspapers and various other publications.

Congratulations, chief.

Glory be a thought! Did you know that the Executive Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be holding its summer quarterly meeting at the Plainview Country Club on July 30.

That's in Plainview of course.

For years Mars has been a source of fascination for me and many times I have wondered if there really are people up there. Now it looks like we're going to find out.

I'm becoming quite a skeptic, just suppose that spaceship was really setting in an Arizona desert somewhere and all this money was going to pay special secretaries. Bad thought?! Oh, well!! Seriously though this is quite an accomplishment for us as a nation, only a few years ago this would be considered science fiction. Now it's reality.

Some years ago I was privileged to be the only American guest at an Asian meeting of printers. It was at a time when everyone was holding their breath for the safe return of one of our space missions that was experiencing technical trouble. It seemed to be the topic of conversation among everyone at the meeting, in many languages. It was one of those times that I was a little "extra" proud to be an American.

Got a press release from the Texas Employment Commission, stating that the Texas Jobless rate had climbed to 6.1 percent in June. No breakdown for Haskell was given however Abilene showed a 4.1 percent jobless rate, for what that's worth.

I have been getting a lot of material from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus (boy! that's a mouth full). They are presenting their Special Bicentennial Edition in Abilene on August 3 and 4 with two shows daily.

From the press material I gather they are going to have quite a show with clowns, high wire acts, lion tamers and "Sorceresses", the whole works.

Took my family over to see Hawaii Kai in Arlington over the weekend, I think my boys were more interested in an Alaskan ride than anything else but of course they grew up with most of that around them, as a matter of fact my youngest son was born in the Pacific.

They do have a very good show and its quite authentic. However, I think they will have trouble getting repeat business, with the exception of the diving exhibition for the ladies and the hula show for the men maybe. For us it brought back fond memories.

I just noticed how often the numbers '76 are appearing in the titles of things. The Texas Safety Association released some information on a project called "Interface '76" having something to do with a cost control workshop for corporate executives and managers.

It's going to be held at Waterwood National, Lake Livingston, on August 19 and 20. It must be popular because registration is limited, and applications will be confirmed on a first come, first served basis. If you're interested contact Derrill Trenholm, Texas Safety Association, Box 9345, Austin, Texas 78766. Phone (512) 451-7421.

There, that's our little bit of the economical well being of the business community.

Kim Campbell and Linda Fischer daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Duward Campbell of Haskell and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fischer of Paint Creek were among the top four winners in the District III 4-H Dress Revue held at the Civic Center in Abilene on Thursday, July 22nd.

HASKELL LITTLE LEAGUE All Stars gave it their all Friday night, but were beat out by the Stamford team of a score of 4 to 2.

Six Area Women Named OYWOA

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America Awards Program announced today that six women from the Haskell area, Mrs. Diana Sue Owens, Mrs. Paula Sue Everett, Mrs. Mary Jeannine Comedy, Mrs. Deborah Laine Earies, Miss Milla Rhaye Perry and Mrs. Mary Yates Murphy, have been selected for inclusion in the 1976 edition of OUTSTANDING

YOUNG WOMEN OF AMERICA.

The Outstanding Young Women of America Program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in their homes, in their professions and in their communities. Accomplishments such as these are the result of dedication, service and leadership-qualities which deserve to be recognized and remembered.

These women, along with approximately 7,000 fellow Outstanding Young Women of America from across the United States, will be presented in the prestigious annual awards volume. In addition, they are now being considered for one of the fifty one state awards to be presented to those women who have made the most noteworthy contributions in their individual states. From these fifty one state winners, the Ten Outstanding Young Women of America will be chosen. The ten national winners will then be honored at the annual awards luncheon to be held this fall in Washington, D. C.

Chamber Meeting Friday

A special breakfast meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Retail Trade and Christmas Program committee will be held at the Haskell Steak House at 7 a.m., Friday, July 30th, according to Charles Thornhill, chairman.

All committee members, merchants and individuals are especially invited to attend as it is time to make some concrete plans for the 1976 Christmas Program.

The annual program has been very successful for the past several years but some have expressed opinions that some innovations should be made for this year.

You are urged to attend and voice your opinions to enable the committee to come up with an outstanding program.

No reservations are necessary as each individual will order from the menu.

Council Votes Garbage Rate Increase

The Haskell City Council met Tuesday July 27 at 7:30 in the City Hall to discuss pending business.

The major items on the agenda were sales taxes, garbage service, sewer service and street conditions. Mayor Duncan reported to the council that June sales taxes totaled $1,689.20 lower than usual, however the year end total should not be affected by this low figure.

Garbage cost were discussed by E. J. Stewart, and in view of the loss of over $4,000.00 last year it was decided that an increase in the monthly rates of .50c was necessary. This new rate will go into effect in the September billing for residential accounts, commercial accounts will be studied for future action. A motion was also made to make garbage pickup a mandatory part of the water bill since some people are using their neighbors barrel and not paying their share of the service cost. This along with the rate increase should put garbage collection on a self supporting basis.

Sewer rates were also increased by .50c as preparation for the added cost to be incurred in sewage disposal with the opening of a new disposal plant to be constructed at an estimated cost of $75,000.00.

Loraine Johnson reported that all was going well with the police department and he was receiving good reports from many private citizens.

Mr. Guy Kennedy reported that he was getting complaints about the city streets and suggested that something be done about their repair, this was to be looked into for action at a later meeting.

Present at this meeting were: Mayor Belton Duncan, Desmond Dulaney, Loraine Johnson, E. J. Stewart, Bob Philpot and Guy Kennedy.

The next meeting is scheduled for August 10 at 7:30 p.m.

Lions Corner

Tuesday's Lions Club meeting was exciting and informative, those not in attendance certainly missed "something."

Lion Doyle High was responsible for the program and had to improvise when he was informed at the last minute that his guest could not be present at today's meeting. Not to be beaten by circumstance Lion High gave a very informative update on the progress of his new drug store, the name of which is "The Drug Store" simple and to the point. He hopes to be in his new facilities by the first of October.

There was a special reminder expressed that all members are missed when they are absent and everyone is looking forward to seeing their fellow Lions next Tuesday.

Stamford Wins LL

Stamford Little League All Stars won district at Haskell last week by coming from behind to defeat Rule 7-6 on Thursday night and Haskell 4-2 on Friday night. The game Thursday night which was played in a slight drizzle started out with both teams going scoreless in the 1st inning. However, Rule scored in the second when Danny Kitley hit a single to score Jay Beakley. Then in the 3rd inning Rule scored 3 runs on a single by Rod Petty, a long homerun by Otis Lockhart, a walk to Doyle Mitchell and an error by the Stamford 3rd baseman, which brought the score to 4 to 0 and a new Stamford pitcher, Tommy Collins.

Stamford scored one run in the 4th inning as Wayne Crenshaw walked, stole second, went to 3rd on a fielders choice and scored on a passed ball. Paul Gomez of Stamford led off the bottom of the 5th with a home run. Howard followed with a single and scored on 2 passed balls and a fielders choice to bring the score to 4-3 Rule.

In the top of the 6th inning, Rule scored two more runs on a double by Rod Petty, an error and three walks to bring the score to 6-3 in favor of Rule. In the bottom of the 6th, Mark Dunn led off with a home run off the tiring Rule pitcher Leon Greeson. Then Rod Pierce got on by an error, a walk to Ronnie Garcia, and Paul Gomez reached base on another error, went to second and third and passed balls and raced home for the winning run on a fielders choice.

On Friday night an unusual occurrence happened in that Joe Benavides, Haskell pitcher pitched a no hitter but lost the game by the score of 4 to 2. Joe was hampered by 8 walks, 1 hit batsman, and 6 Haskell errors. The two teams battled 0-0 through three innings, then in the top of the 4th, Joe Benavides walked, stole 2nd, went to third on a passed ball and scored on another passed ball to make the score 1-0. But in the bottom of the fourth Ronnie Garcia walked, Tommy Collins reached an error, Tony Caraway walked, Paul Gomez struck out. Billy Wedeking walked to load the bases. Haskell then made 3 straight errors which allowed four runs to score.

In the top of the fifth, Kevin Strickland led off for Haskell with a single, Travis Young got a bunt single, Monty Moeller and Doug Lanier walked to force in one run with the bases loaded. However, Wayne Crenshaw bore down to force 1 fielders choice at the plate and struck out 2 straight hitters, to escape with a 4-2 lead and the victory.

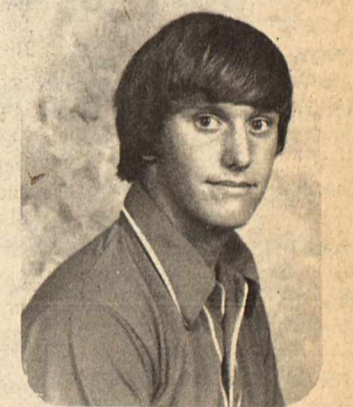

In addition to not allowing any hits Benavides struck out 10 and only allowed one ball hit to the outfield which was caught by Domingo Villa, Haskell left fielder.

Stamford will advance to the area tournament at Munday next week to play Knox City in the 1st round.

DRYWALL DAYS

FEATURING FIRE-RESISTANT DRYWALL CONSTRUCTION

There's a major difference that makes this home stand far above others you may have seen. Our innovative home engineers and stylists have incorporated the use of Class-A flame-spread rated gypsum drywall for its interior sidewalls, room partition walls and the furnace and water-heater areas. It's the same type of construction used in today's conventional homes.

But non-combustibility is not the only feature of our drywall. It looks great, too, because we've been able to maintain the appearance of rich woodgrain paneling through a special printing process.

In addition, our research shows that our drywall is more than twice as heavy per sheet as a comparable sized sheet of plywood paneling. This means more weight and greater ground-hugging site stability for your home.

And, finally, our drywall affords you greater privacy. Tests have shown it affords up to 50% more soundproofing than plywood paneling.

Mental Retardation

Editor—This is one of a series of articles about Mental Retardation prepared by Mrs. Eugene Cochran and the Public Education Committee of the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens.

Editors note: This is the last of a series of three articles on the subject of mental retardation and its recognition that has been appearing for the last three weeks.

I can be prevented in many instances by: assuring the mother of proper medical care during her pregnancy and at delivery; providing proper medical care for the child in the early years of his life; vaccination of the new measles vaccine, available from private physicians and at the health clinics; early tests for the chemical failures and proper treatment of them at once; programs to provide for proper food for all children; programs to provide for early schooling for children especially those in disadvantaged areas. Who Am I?

Those whom I already have affected can be helped by the following: early and specific diagnosis of their condition; good medical care and nutrition; early childhood and preschool training, beginning as soon as possible; special education programs geared to their levels; good recreational programs which help them develop physically, socially and even intellectually as youngsters and provide social outlets for them in later years; understanding by the community at large, employers and workers, that about 85 percent of the persons that I affect can be trained to hold a job—and that unless they work they will be tax burdens—not taxpayers. You must realize that I cost the State and you as taxpayers from $100.00 to $200.00 for lifetime care in institutions.

WHO AM I? I am mental retardation. I am a condition of incomplete or interrupted mental development. The person who is mentally retarded is not able to learn or adapt as quickly as his peers. Mental retardation is a condition—like blindness; it is not a disease. It can be so severe that the retarded person will be in need of lifetime protective care, or so mild that it can only be detected through special testing.

I affect over 300,000 Texas citizens with the condition known as mental retardation. Approximately 3 percent of the population are classified as mentally retarded. Mental retardation is 4 times more common as rheumatic heart disease, 9 times more prevalent than cerebral palsy, and affects 15 times more people than total blindness. Mental retardation disables 10 times more children and adults than polio did before the development of the Salk vaccine.

Yes, I am mental retardation. I want to become better acquainted with you. I will be coming to you through the series of articles that will relate to me and my very existence. If there are specific questions you have regarding any article, please contact the Haskell Free Press. We desire to assist you to a better understanding of mental retardation, the persons affected by mental retardation, the services and programs that are necessary for the total development of the mentally retarded person, where the services and programs needed are available, and current trends in program and service, development and provision, research and prevention news and anything that may be applied to the needs of the mentally retarded individuals or their families and the communities and areas in which they reside that could assist in the broadening of the day to day experiences of the mentally retarded citizens themselves.

INTRODUCING...

TO SERVE YOU BETTER

One of Haskell National Bank's most efficient, and most dependable employees is Ladelle (Mrs. Milbert) Opitz, who operates from one of the teller's windows in the main lobby. The tellers are on the direct "firing line", as far as customer contact is concerned. They are busily engaged in verifying customers' deposits, disbursing cash, and the various requests for different types of services that fall upon them during a typical day's work. Ladelle also has the unpleasant chore of "charging back", and collecting for the daily load of "returns" (or checks that cannot be paid for various reasons). The teller is under much pressure to accurately accommodate each customer during the day as quickly and pleasantly as possible, and to keep the many "side activities" for which they are responsible, going at the same time, in order to be ready for the "moment of truth" when "cash disbursed" must equal "cash received" at the end of the day.

Ladelle graduated from Haskell High School, and began work in the AAA office in Haskell. She first worked for HNB in 1956-1958, then returned to work again in 1968, and has remained since then. Ladelle and Milbert have three children, a son, Dennis, who is in partnership with a C.P.A. firm in Fort Worth, and is married to the former Lochie Foote, and two daughters, Christi and Betsy. Christi was a student at Texas Tech this past year, and will enter Southwestern State University at Weatherford, Oklahoma, in September. Betsy is a H.H.S. Junior. If anyone is really persistent, it's possible that Ladelle will talk about her two grandchildren!

The Opitz family resides at 1409 N. Ave. L, and are members of Trinity Lutheran Church, where they are in regular attendance. Milbert is engaged in farming, and is a Field Reporter for Haskell County A.S.C.S.

Henshaw-Mitchell Wed

Miss Cynthia Gail Henshaw and Mr. Christopher Barton Mitchell were married Saturday, July 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Edge Park Methodist Church in Fort Worth. The Rev. Tony Campbell officiated.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Henshaw of Fort Worth. She is granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Free and the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henshaw of Haskell. The groom's parents are Mrs. Frank Cole of Dallas and Mr. Clinton Kelly Mitchell of Enid, Oklahoma.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The organist was Mrs. Charlene Whitford.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Dewain Hill of Irving, the matron of honor and Miss Carol Dallas of Houston.

The best man was Mr. Mark Glade of Lubbock and the groomsmen were Mr. Corky Henderson of Lubbock, ushers were Tom Orton of Austin and Warren Cole of Dallas.

The bride chose a candle-light gown of imported silk organza. The fitted bodice featured a high neck and was covered with peau d'ange lace and seed pearls. Her a-line skirt fell from an empire waist to a carpet length chapel train. Appliques of lace and pearls trimmed the skirt and a side band of lace edged the hemline.

Her veil of imported Swiss illusion swept from a coil of lace and seed pearls.

The attendants were identically attired in canary yellow voile gowns, with gathered bodice and straps. A shawl with a ruffled border draped around the shoulders and tied in front. They carried nosegays of yellow and white daisies softened with baby's breath.

For something old and borrowed she wore a gold bracelet belonging to her grandmother Mrs. Jim Free. She also wore the traditional blue garter.

The bride's table was covered in yellow satin with white lace overlay. The silver candelabra, topped with yellow and white daisies centered the table. The punch bowl was of silver. The cake was an original design of three tiers surrounded by 4 heart cakes, frosted in white and yellow. Center of the cake was accented with an electric water fountain. Fresh flowers topped the cake.

the church parlor and upon returning from their wedding trip to Oklahoma the couple will reside in Austin. Both the bride and the groom are graduates of Texas Tech and will be attending University of Texas at Austin graduate school.

Texas Womens Conference To Be Held

Texas Farmers Union is sponsoring its first annual "Texas Women's Conference" August 9-11 in Amarillo at the Hilton Inn. The conference will focus on the leadership role of women in the Farmers Union as well as their role in politics, government activities and communications.

According to Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco, "Women have always played an important role in rural America, sharing the work, the responsibilities and the rewards. This has been particularly true in the Farmers Union, and today women are exercising leadership roles in many other areas of our lives. We want to expose to the women in our organization the various ways in which they can be influential in the Farmers Union, civic and political action groups. This is the purpose and will be the focal point of the conference."

Participating in the two-day conference will be Ruth Kobell, Legislative Assistant, National Farmers Union, Washington, D. C.; Victor Ray, Director of the Department of Planning and Development and Assistant to the President, National Farmers Union, Denver, Colorado; and Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco.

Cotton competition continues to develop new markets as evidenced by two recent happenings. One has been the successful development of flame-retardant cottons as highlighted last year when New York City Fire Commissioner John T. O'Hagan announced that all New York firemen will start wearing "Fire Stop" uniforms (100% cotton). That decision came after nearly a year of testing the cotton material against synthetic products. Second development involves current research at the Southern Regional Research Lab in New Orleans where scientists have produced glass from cotton. Cotton glass has a good chance for extensive use since it has the unique ability to bond together other glasses of different composition. Although product possibilities include nearly everything made from glass, most immediate use will probably be scientific glassware.

Whole grain cereals contain more vitamins, essential nutrients and trace elements than the highly refined flours. The germ of any seed is the "life" part of the seed that sprouts, thus essential nourishment is concentrated in the germ. The germ of wheat is routinely eliminated from grain destined for human consumption. Shelf life of flour is longer if it is refined to eliminate the healthful wheat germ. Your family will be better nourished with whole grain cereals than with highly refined and processed cereals.

SINGING ALL THE WAY

By Roxie Parker

MR. AND MRS. MAJOR LEWIS

For many years one of Haskell's most familiar figures has been Major Lewis, khaki-clad and with the stump of a cigar in his mouth, as he makes his way in and out of stores visiting with anyone who will take the time to "josh" with him.

I sat with Major on his front porch and watched the rain fall gently on the colorful Zinnias and lush green patch of St. Augustine grass in his yard. "Never could get anything to grow on that side of the walk until I got that grass", he said, swatting an occasional fly as we talked.

There were a lot of questions I had wanted answered, but many of them went unasked as I just sat and listened to the 94 year old black man who wove a tale of a life lived in simple faith and perseverance.

Born April 28, 1882, in Troy, a town in Pike County, Alabama, Major remembers the move to Texas when he was 8 years old. An uncle has moved earlier and had sent word back that "money was growing on trees in Texas", Major said.

So on Christmas Eve his father came in and announced to the mother, who had been doing the holiday cooking all day, that they were going to Texas. On Christmas Day they joined relatives and friends, two railroad cars filled with them, for the ride across the Southern states.

To the 8 year old boy it was exciting but a sad experience. "I hated to leave my playmates and as the train traveled and turned I kept thinking we were going back to Alabama," Major recalled.

The family settled in Robertson County, living in the town of Calvert. His father worked on the A.M. Tolbert farm, with the boys in the family working, too.

In Alabama Major had gone to school part of the First Grade "Studying in the Blue Back Speller; they don't have that any more", he said. There were two years of schooling in Calvert and a short time later the family moved, returning to Calvert soon where he again enrolled briefly. When he was 12 years old Major's father started him plowing and "I never went back to school."

One day the farm owner came to the field where the hands were working and told Major from that day on he was the "straw boss." Major was 14 years old. "He gave me a mule and a saddle and I would ride from the plow hands to the hoe hands. On Friday I went to town for the payroll."

Later in Hibank, located in Falls County he again was made "straw boss" over 26 families who worked 1700 acres of land. "There was a Lower Farm and an Upper Farm and I rode all over checking on the workers—white, black, Spanish and Italian."

Major and his wife Alice were married August 24, 1911. "We got married and then went to church and got up the next morning and went to picking cotton!"

It was the lure of better wages that brought the Lewises to Haskell County. For several years Major and his boys would come to "pull bolls" to get Christmas money. Finally they decided to move to Haskell.

One of the daughters remembers the move in 1940 as one of painful disappointment for her. "I was in the 10th grade at Marlin and when we got to Haskell we found the school for the blacks only went to the 7th grade. I would have had to go to Abilene to school so I never did get to go any more", she said.

Major and Alice Lewis had eleven children, plus one child by her first marriage. Four of them have homes near the house which Major bought when the family came to Haskell.

Alice, who is 89 is not in good health and was resting in bed. Her room is almost papered with pictures of children and grandchildren. She spoke, quietly, saying that she ought to get a book to put the pictures in, but I told her it's better to have them on the walls where she could look up and see them.

When he wants to go "up town" Major starts walking and usually someone will pick him up. He has owned several cars but he sold the last one he had under circumstances that illustrated his humorous attitude toward many of the day-to-day problems in his life.

"Three of my boys had cars like mine. When they needed something to replace a part that was broken or worn out they'd just come get it off my car. I'd go out to get it and the starter would be gone, or the battery or one wheel would be off. I told my wife if I ever got everything back on that car at one time I was gonna sell it." And he did!

Major is a deacon in the Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church; he proudly showed me a certificate of ordination dated July 7, 1957—"Having been chosen a man of good report, full of the Spirit and of wisdom, and capable of using the office well, was set apart publicly to the office and work of deacon."

He joined Masonic Lodge #1492 in 1929; a 32nd degree Mason, he has been lodge treasurer ever since it has been in Haskell.

Good health has been one of Major's blessings; he has never been to a doctor. "About two years ago I had been fishing and when I got home I had a cramp in my leg. The children kept worrying about me so they called Dr. Cadenhead. He came out and gave me a shot; he said it would put me to sleep, but you know, that shot ain't put me to sleep yet," he laughed. He had to have two teeth pulled once, and returned to the field to "pull bolls soon as the dentist got done with me", he said.

After sharecropping in Haskell for several years, Major went to work for Brazelton Lumber Company where he worked "16 years, 8 months and two weeks", he proudly states. "I raised all my kids and never took nothing from the government 'till I retired from the lumber company."

Desmond Dulaney, city secretary who worked many years with Major at the lumber yard, said he could tell many stories about Major. "More than anything else I would like to say that I have always considered Major Lewis a good friend. My wife and I through the years enjoyed visiting with Major and his wife."

One of Major's customs at Christmas was to buy a picture frame and place a $10 bill in it as his gift to Desmond. Jim Bird, former manager of the lumber company who now lives in Dallas, was also the yearly recipient of a framed $10 bill.

As we sat talking about old ways of doing things on the farm Major recalled how good the food, such as bacon or ham out of the smokehouse, would smell as it cooked. "Nowadays", he declared, "don't nothing smell but cabbage, collards and chit'lins!"

Major taught the Men's Sunday School class in his church for several years. "I read my Bible; don't have no special place, just open it up and read it. I taught my children to read it by lamplight, lying on the floor." Sometimes now one of them will come ask him questions about the Bible and "I just tell 'em what it says and they go on, satisfied," he said.

Major told me enough stories to write three articles; we laughed together at many of the incidents he related. I said, "Major, if you had your life to live over, would you live any differently?" "Well, I don't know about that", he said, "But I ain't never done nothing that I'd be scared to try again!"

As I drove home I pondered over his answer; I decided that would be about as commendable a conclusion as any of us could hope to reach when we enter the twilight years!

CRAIG CHILDRESS

Craig Childress Nominated For Who's Who

Craig Childress, son of Mrs. Norma Childress, has been chosen to appear in the 1976-77 edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students. Craig received this honor last year and has now been chosen for a second consecutive year. His biography will be published in the Tenth Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Recognition in WHO'S WHO is a national honor reserved exclusively for junior and senior class high school students who have demonstrated leadership in either academics, athletics, extracurricular activities or community service.

Recommendations are received from virtually every category of organization involved with students including thousands of high schools, churches, scholarship agencies, civic and service clubs and youth program sponsors at the national and local levels.

The number of students selected for this award varies considerably from school-to-school depending on many factors, including the numerous unique characteristics of each school and its student body. On a national basis, however, less than 4% of the junior and senior class students are featured in WHO'S WHO each year. Therefore, students selected are to be commended for their outstanding achievement.

WHO'S WHO is the largest and most respected publication of student achievement in the nation. Now in its tenth year, WHO'S WHO is widely recognized by prominent educators, business executives and government officials throughout the country who cooperate in our numerous programs.

Craig is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gipson, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Childress, all of Haskell. He is enrolled in Hardin-Simmons University for the fall semester where he will major in music. He has also been awarded an Honor Scholarship to H-SU this fall.

For the past year Craig has been serving as Music and Youth Director for First Baptist Church in O'Brien.

PLAN AHEAD TO MAKE YOUR TRIP ONE OF 252 MILLION SUPER PARK VISITS IN 1976

America's national parks have never been short of people, but visitors are showing up in the parks during this Bicentennial year at a rate that is a surprise even to the director of the National Park Service, Gary Everhardt.

"With the arrival of the Bicentennial we expected more visitors than ever in the parks," Director Everhardt said. "But the current rate of increase—23 percent above 1975 levels through April—will greatly exceed our projections if it continues through the summer."

By the end of April last year, the National Park System had recorded 47 million visits on the way to a record-setting total of 239 million for the year. The first four months of 1976 showed 58 million visits, setting a trend which may easily surpass the year's projected total of 252 million.

"The continuing popularity of the parks makes advance planning more important than ever," Everhardt said. "The National Park Service welcomes every visitor, but those who come prepared will get a lot more out of their visit and avoid a lot of headaches, too."

Writing ahead for basic information is the key to having a SUPER visit, that is, Safely, Using, Preserving and Enjoying the Resources at the parks.

Everhardt said the National Park Service is bringing the Bicentennial celebration to all parks this year. "Many are coming to our Bicentennial areas along the east coast, but there are many more who won't be able to make that trip this year, so we are celebrating the Bicentennial in all our parks from coast to coast," he said. "Ours is a rich and varied heritage and we can find as much inspiration in the lives of the pioneers and those who were here when the pioneers arrived as we can from the traditional revolutionary war shrines."

In order that all Americans have a chance to reflect upon their heritage, Everhardt said each park will have an appropriate Bicentennial project this summer.

And in an effort to bring the 1776 spirit out of the East, two National Park Service road shows are touring the country. One, "People of '76" shows a cross-section of colonial life through the use of actors and craftspeople in an 18th century village setting.

Another, "We've Come Back for a Little Look Around" features Ben Franklin and other American greats returning to find out what has become of the American experiment in liberty that Franklin helped inaugurate.

Have a SUPER trip! If you are planning a vacation Right Around Home, write the National Park Service, P. O. Box 728, Room N-5, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501, for a trip planning guide to those parks within an easy drive of your home.

A VISIT TO THE RIO GRANDE SPICES ANY BIG BEND TRIP

What had a greater wingspan than a modern jet fighter, probably glided with the skill of a turkey buzzard and dined on dinosaurs?

The Texas Pterosaur, that's what. And you probably knew the answer to that one if you were reading the papers last year when paleontologist Douglas A. Lawson announced he had found fragments of wingbones from a flying reptile in Big Bend National Park. Lawson believes the pterosaur had a wingspan of 51 feet or more.

Fortunately neither the dinosaurs nor the pterosaurs inhabit Big Bend today, being extinct. A flock of pterosaurs soaring overhead might be a real threat!

If you are interested in learning about how the park looked several million years ago, stop by the fossil exhibit just north of the Tornillo Creek Bridge on the road to Marathon.

The fossil exhibit is just one of the several interesting places away from the Chisos Basin "heart" of the park that we talked about in an earlier story. Today, let's travel to other parks of big, big Big Bend.

Aside from the Basin, the only place in the park where overnight lodging is available, and park headquarters at Panther Junction, much of the interest lies along the Rio Grande which separates the park and the U. S. from Mexico along a 107-mile border.

One developed area on the Rio is Rio Grande Village, a peaceful spot where you can fish, camp, picnic, and explore the contrasts between the jungle-like river floodplain and the arid desert via self-guided nature trails. Evening naturalist programs are given outdoors in winter.

And across the river and a little downstream is the tiny Mexican town of Boquillas, a rustic community with a church, school, a couple of cantinas and a few adobe houses.

Four miles downstream from Rio Grande Village is Boquillas Canyon, one of three major canyons cut by the river. A short trail from the parking area takes you into the canyon.

Many, many miles upriver from Rio Grande Village is another developed area—Castolon. The road into Castolon offers spectacular views as it winds through the Chisos foothills.

Castolon is situated on a floodplain terrace overlooking the river and there are opportunities to fish, camp and picnic in the area. Supplies are also available at the store.

Eight miles from Castolon is Santa Elena Canyon, one of the deepest gorges cut by the river. From the parking area you can follow a short nature trail into the canyon.

In addition to the developed areas, Big Bend has a vast primitive backcountry and you can backpack for days on end. Float trips on the Rio are also possible.

There are also numerous primitive roads through the desert country, offering a variety of scenery and history.

America and America's forests have grown up together.

In 1765, a group of merchants met under the "Liberty Tree" to discuss independence.

The pine tree shilling. It was America's first coin.

America's first flags bore trees as their emblems.

Wood gave our pioneers their furniture, medicine, fuel, homes, tools, weapons, toys.

Even our country's legends come from the forest.

Please be careful of fire. Because a country without its forests is a country without its future.

OSHA Extends Farm Safety Deadline

COLLEGE STATION—Farmers now have until October 25, to comply with certain safety standards under the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) that were to become effective June 7.

The safety practices concern guarding tractor power take-offs (PTO), displaying safety signs and providing initial employee training for machinery operations.

"Even though the deadline has been extended, farmers should continue with preparations to meet these safety standards," advises Dr. Gary Nelson, agricultural safety engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Particular emphasis is on guarding the PTO drive line. The tractor shield on the rear PTO shaft must be kept in place, notes Nelson. However, the master shield may be removed when necessary to operate PTO driven equipment, provided the guards on such equipment cover the tractor PTO shafts.

"Regarding safety training, a farmer must instruct every employee in the operation and servicing of all equipment with which that employee is involved," emphasizes the Texas A&M University System engineer.

Among the safe operating practices in which the employee must be instructed are the following:

- Keep all guards in place when the machine is in operation.
- Permit no riders on farm equipment other than persons required for instruction or assistance.
- Stop the engine, disconnect the power source and wait for all machine movement to stop before servicing, adjusting, cleaning or unclogging equipment, except when the machine must be running to be properly serviced.
- Make sure everyone is clear of machinery before starting the engine, engaging power or operating the machine.
- Lock out electrical power before performing maintenance or servicing equipment.

The requirement for safety signs calls for such signs to be placed at prominent locations on tractors and PTO driven equipment indicating that power drive system safety shields must be kept in place.

Furthermore, when removal of a guard or access door might expose an employee to any equipment that continues to rotate after the power is disengaged, the employer must provide warnings to look and listen for evidence of rotation and not to remove the guard or access door until all component movement has stopped.

"Complying with these safety standards will make the farm a safer workplace, so they should become a part of the farm operation as soon as possible," advises Nelson.

Ronald L. Hilliard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Hilliard of Haskell, has accepted an appointment with the Soil Conservation Service at Bastrop, Texas. Hilliard is a graduate range conservationist, and will be serving the Bastrop Field Office in that capacity.

The past 20 years have proven the Great Plains Conservation Act to be a valuable investment in the future for Texas farmers and ranchers.

The law, signed by President Eisenhower on August 7, 1956, has brought a more stable agriculture, more dependable income, and an improved environment to the ten Great Plains states according to Soil Conservation Service Officials.

When a producer signs a Great Plains contract with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, he agrees to carry out a complete conservation plan on his entire farm or ranch. This might include such measures as improving rangeland, terracing, or converting erosion prone cropland to grass. In return, the Soil Conservation Service provides technical assistance and shares in the cost.

Nearly 15,000 producers in Texas have signed conservation contracts under the program covering more than 18 million acres of land. 181 producers in Haskell County have signed contracts with the Great Plains Conservation Program covering 133,626 acres. 25 of these contracts are still active and in force.

In 1969, Congress enacted a bill to extend the provisions of the program to December 31, 1981. The program is applicable in 123 counties in Texas. J. C. Yeary, Jr. District Conservationist
