Little Dribbler All-Stars Named

The Haskell Boys' Little Dribblers concluded its city league play with the Redskins, coached by Jerry Hadaway, and the Apaches, coached by Jack Medford, prevailing as the city champions in their respective leagues. Game

Grazing Period Extended

The Texas State ASC Committee, in early February this year, announced that wheat and barley producers in most of the Texas Plains and rolling plains area had until March 20, 1977, to designate all or a part of their wheat or barley for grazing or cover and remove the acreage from any further program consideration.

Wheat or barley land not designated could not be grazed beyond March 20, 1977, and receive full program consideration. The program provision under which this date had to be set stated that the date set should be the "latest date the acreage can be grazed and still be expected to produce a full grain crop."

Severe and adverse conditions through a good part of the Texas wheat area has greatly curtailed the development and growth of the wheat and barley to the extent that some producers need to continue grazing a few days longer to prevent early heading under these adverse conditions. To help alleviate this problem, it has been determined that the grazing period should be extended to Friday, April 1, 1977, in the Haskell county.

results for the last week in the season were Redmen 29, Braves 24; Chiefs 29, Sioux 25; Sioux 27, Braves 26; Redmen 30, Chiefs 18. The results in the 11-12 league were Mohawks 39, Kiowas 20; Blackhawks 34, Warriors 18; Apaches 32, Kiowas 19; Mohawks 30, Blackhawks 27.

On Friday night, the all star teams were named. In the 9-10 year old league, the boys selected were Shane Hadaway, Shawn Lane, Steven Boyd, Shane Gilliam, Keith Parrott, Randy Roewe, Lex Weatherly, Shawn Chambers, David Adams, and Robert Ivy. Tim Johnson and Andy Griffith are alternates.

In the 11-12 year old league, boys selected were Johnny Walker, Mark Bailey, Dough Lanier, Shane Welch, Jamie Davis, Patrick McCoy, Doug Richardson, Travis Young, Paul Cox and Toby Villa. The alternates are Barry Tidrow and Lonny Hise. Walker, Bailey, Welch, Davis, McCoy, and Young made the all-star team for the third consecutive year, which is also the history of Little Dribblers in Haskell.

Both All-Star teams are now hard at work in preparation for the area tournament at Seymour, March 31, April 1 and 2. Practice games are scheduled in Crowell, March 24, at 6 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.

Reynolds Memorial Fund Resolution Received

The fully executed Hazel and Robert Reynolds Memorial Fund Agreement and the resolution from the First Baptist Church of Haskell has been received from the Baptist Foundation of Texas at Dallas.

The Hazel and Robert Reynolds Memorial Fund was first begun over 25 years ago by members of Mrs. Reynolds Fidelis Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church. Its purpose was to continue a fund, started when Mrs. Reynolds was living, for the education of a Brazilian student, selected by Maye Bell Taylor, missionary at that time, in Brazil. Through the efforts of the former Sunday School Class members, and R. V. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reynolds—the organization has been legally "funded".

The extensive legal work was done, without charge, by Judge Ben Charlie Chapman, and the members wish to officially thank him at this time. The purpose of the Memorial Fund has been broadened and includes support of the mission causes, by financial means, at home and abroad, including but not limited to, projects for community betterment in and around the city of Haskell, Texas, through helping needy young people in the area. The funds available for use by the First Baptist Church of Haskell, will be used and disbursed upon the recommendation of a standing committee.

The committee at this time is Mrs. R. A. Lane, Mrs. W. V. Felker, Mrs. Iola Henshaw and Mrs. Ruby Smith. The annual meeting will be held in the near future.

Contributions and gifts to the fund are now tax-exempt and may be made at anytime to the First Baptist Church of Haskell or to Ruby M. Smith, Memorial Secretary, Box 42, Haskell, Texas.

FANCY THAT!

If all the battery-operated devices in this country were counted, they would add up to about 400 million. That's two for every person in the United States!

If all the batteries used to power these devices in just one year were laid end to end they would reach from New York City to Phoenix. That's a distance of 2,400 miles!

That's also about $600 million worth of batteries we're throwing out this year. And for you that's neither economically nor ecologically sound. Now there is an alternative: the innovative, low-cost General Electric Recharge Battery System with batteries that can be recharged at least 1,000 times or more!

Rob Brown Named Dist. Chairman

Rob Brown of Throckmorton has been named a district chairman of the Texas Beef Development Taskforce (BDT) a group working for a beef program that will raise $30 million to $40 million a year to improve the economic position of cattlemen.

Brown, one of 14 district chairmen in Texas, was appointed by J. D. Sartwelle of Houston, chairman of the Texas BDT. He and county BDT chairmen in this area, to be appointed soon, will be conducting an extensive educational program to inform cattlemen about the upcoming Beef Referendum, in which all cattlemen will be eligible to vote.

The Beef Referendum is to determine whether cattlemen want a national self-help program. It was authorized by the Beef Research and Information Act, passed by Congress in May of last year.

If approved by two-thirds of the cattlemen voting, there would be a uniform collection of three-tenths of one percent of the value on each animal sold. This rate will raise $30 million to $40 million a year to be invested in beef research, promotion, consumer education and foreign market development. Any cattleman not interested in participating may receive a refund, upon request.

"Every cattleman knows that we have been through the economic wringer the past three years," says Sartwelle. "This is a self-help program that can help every segment of our industry. Therefore, I urge every cattleman to attend the informational meetings, to be scheduled in every county during the next 60 days, and to vote 'Yes' in the upcoming referendum, expected to be held in May or June."

Students Should Return SSI Cards

Students 18 and over getting monthly social security payments are getting an attendance report card that should be filled out and returned to social security as soon as possible, according to Glyn Hammons, Social Security District Manager in Abilene.

"The cards are mailed about 3 months before the end of the school year to students getting social security checks," Hammons said. "The information on the attendance report helps us decide if the student can continue to get monthly payments."

"Delay in returning the report card can mean a delay in future payments," he said. Full-time students 18 and over who remain unmarried can get social security checks until they're 22 if a parent gets social security payments or has died after working long enough under social security.

Over 700,000 students in colleges, high schools, and trade schools, get monthly social security checks.

"Students who need help with the attendance report or information about social security benefits can call or write any social security office," Hammons said. The Abilene Social Security Office is at 142 South Pioneer. The phone number is 698-1360.

Bail Denial Measure Proposed

Senator Jack Ogg (D-Houston) today announced the passage of Senate Joint Resolution 3, an amendment to the Texas Constitution which would allow judges to deny bail to repeat offenders.

"At the present time, a person can repeatedly break the law and still be released on bail to go out and commit further offenses against the public. This bill would allow judges, under certain circumstances, the right to keep a person in jail when he finds substantial evidence that a person is guilty, provided certain Constitutional safeguards are met. This bill will go a long way in reducing the crime rate, especially for burglary and theft. Too many people, after committing crimes, have gone out and committed burglary to raise the cost of a bail bond or to feed a drug habit. This will end that merry-go-round and put repeat, habitual criminals in jail," Senator Ogg said.

If the resolution is successful in the House of Representatives, it will be put to a vote of the people in the 1978 general election. If adopted by the electorate, the provision would amend Article 1, Section 11a of the Texas Constitution.

"I am convinced that the people of Texas will strongly support this measure, since it does provide many safeguards to prevent persons from being arbitrarily or unjustly held in jail. It provides that a person must have his bail denied within 7 days of his first arrest or he has an absolute right to bail. Furthermore, a denial of bail can only be effective for 60 days. If a person does not come to trial within that time, he must be released. Finally, an order denying bail must be given top priority if it is appealed," the Houston Senator concluded.

Utley Elected To DQ Board

James L. Utley of Midland, executive vice-president of Dairy Queen of Taylor County and Dairy Queens of West Texas, has been elected to a three-year term as one of three new members of the Board of Directors of the Texas Dairy Queen Trade Association at its just concluded 1977 convention in San Antonio.

Chosen for a 1977-80 term, Utley is the only completely new director on the nine-member board of TDQTA, the membership of which encompasses the owners and chief executives of the 900-plus DQs in Texas. This group thus is the largest trade association of its kind in the nation, as the 900-plus DQs in Texas constitute more than one-third of all the Dairy Queen restaurants in the United States.

In his capacity as a part owner and officer of the two

Dairy Queen companies with which he is associated, both of which have their headquarters in Fort Worth, Utley is the chief executive in charge of the operations of 34 DQs, including the Haskell Dairy Queen.

Bloodshot Eyes, Hunger Pangs May Be Marks Of Pot Smoker

Johnny doesn't go to football practice any more. He's dropped out of the high school drama club and neglects his homework.

Once a busy and active lad, Johnny has taken to loafing a lot, and bragging about all the great things he's going to do—if he gets the right breaks.

Sometimes his eyes are bloodshot, and he has a persistent cough. He is alternatively euphoric and depressed. His hunger pangs are more frequent than those of most growing boys and he sleeps a lot.

What's the matter with Johnny? It is very likely that he is a pothead—one of the million or so young people in the country who have made marijuana their way of life.

Although marijuana is not physically addictive, it can lead to psychological dependence—and it can also cause a youngster to experiment with more potent and dangerous drugs and to steal and commit other crimes to support the habit.

Of particular concern is the fact that pot-smoking is becoming a more significant factor in highway accidents as it impairs judgement, depth perception and the ability to react swiftly and decisively in a crisis.

The Department of Safety and Research of the Combined American Insurance Company, Dallas reports that several surveys have disclosed that as many as 20,000,000 Americans have smoked "grass" at least once and that most of the heavy users are young people who buy illegally imported pot on college campuses, in dormitories, on street corners and in candy stores, among other places.

Now that a national move is afoot to remove marijuana-smoking from the category of criminal offenses and make it a misdemeanor, the health and safety authorities fear that more young people will "go to pot" and the number of traffic accidents will increase. Even the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws has asked for increased vigilance against pot smoking and its potential hazards.

Dr. James Nichols of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration finds that the marijuana smoker tends to be in a different kind of highway accident from the drinking driver. The smoker is more likely to crash because of inattention than because of aggressive or fast driving, he said.

The National Safety council notes that experiments with marijuana smoking have uncovered such driving errors as failure to recognize signs or the presence of other cars; delays in response to visual cues; impaired attention span; failure to detect peripheral visual and auditory signals; relaxed vigilance, and increased starting and braking time.

It is the opinion of Dr. Robert Peterson of the National Institute of Drug Abuse that you don't have to be "stoned" (high) on a "joint" (marijuana cigaret) to face danger on the highway. He maintains that anyone who can feel any effect from marijuana should not get behind the wheel.

"Pot and driving are like gasoline and matches," he declares. "They just don't mix."

The presence of marijuana in the body can be detected with a blood test, and scientists are working to perfect other techniques, including a breath test similar to that administered suspected drunken drivers.

Combined's safety researchers point out that the principal active chemical ingredient in marijuana, a form of hemp, is THC—Delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol. It is found in varying amounts in Indian hemp, which is cultivated principally in Mexico and the Orient. The marijuana that grows wild in the United States is not considered to be very potent.

Hashish—or hash—is a dark brown substance gathered from the tops of marijuana plants and is usually smoked in water pipes or eaten. It is at least five times stronger and more dangerous than the marijuana leaves that most people roll in cigaret paper or tamp into pipes.

Most pot users smoke the dried green leaves of the marijuana plant, which smells something like alfalfa, but some eat it; while the reaction time is slower, the resulting "high" lasts longer.

To be fully effective, marijuana should be relatively fresh. The longer it has been around, the less potent it will be.

In addition to detectable physical signs that a person may be a pot smoker, there are psychological side-effects, according to Combined's safety experts. Among them are distortions of hearing, vision and the sense of time. Users often become suspicious of others or feel that they are thinking more clearly than ever before.

Their personality development can be disrupted so severely that they become socially maladjusted. The name for such a marijuana-induced psychological upheaval is "amotivational syndrome," which means the sufferer has lost all desire to work, compete or face challenges.

"In short," a Combined researcher observed, "one's interests and concerns are centered on one thing—where to get the next joint of marijuana for the next high."

WT C of C Opposes Bill On Refineries

In a letter to the 56 members of the Texas Legislature representing portions of West Texas, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has expressed its opposition to H.B. 1200 that proposes to tax Texas refineries at 5% of the value of the crude oil and distillate processed.

Texas has 45 refineries located in 27 counties. The refineries employ 36,900 workers with total wages of about $613 million a year. Secondary related jobs, such as petrochemicals, retailing, banking, etc. would run into the hundreds of thousands. All of these jobs would be in immediate jeopardy if the refinery tax were imposed. Refining in Texas ranks as the second largest manufacturing industry in Texas. Largest is the chemical industry which exists in Texas because refining is the source of its principal feedstock.

W. H. Collyns of Midland, WTCC president, says that "this tax cannot be 'passed on' as sponsors glibly claim. Nor can it be absorbed by Texas refineries. It would immediately penalize all Texas refineries with a 5% price handicap with out-of-state competition. Texas does not have a monopoly on refining.

In fact, 74% of U. S. refining is done in other states.

"Competition would probably force Texas refineries to move or to divert their refining operations to other states that do not have a refinery tax in order to meet national and world competition. Profit margins are now in the fraction of a cent range and certainly provide no margin for absorption of such a tax.

"Too many West Texans have worked too hard and too long to create more and better job and profit opportunities in West Texas to allow the Texas Legislature to torpedo future industrial development, job and profit opportunities and present refinery jobs and related jobs."

C. L. Cooke of Fort Worth, chairman of the WTCC's State Affairs Committee, says that "the imposition of the refining tax would immediately bring to a halt projects creating new and better jobs and profit opportunities for almost all Texans. Ultimately, Texas refiners would probably be forced to move their operations to other states or shut them down.

"This bill would set a very devastating precedent of a manufacturer's tax, which isn't used in other states, if it were extended to all Texas manufacturers. Such a policy would almost fatally damage the possibility for future industrial development and more jobs in Texas."

Texans Near Bottom In Tax Burden

Most people would prefer to pay not taxes at all. But Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday that Texans at least enjoy a lighter state and local tax burden than do the residents of 43 other states.

In his March monthly financial statement, Bullock noted that recent studies show that Texans pay about 10 percent of their personal income in state and local taxes, compared to a national average of 11.9 percent.

Texas ranked 44th among the 50 states, he said. New York State—where residents paid 15.7 percent of their personal income in state and local taxes—ranked first.

The Comptroller's financial statement also reported that because of lower interest rates, Texas local governments issued new bonds totaling $2.1 billion in 1976, a record high.

Bullock noted that January state revenues totaled $487.5 million, bringing state revenues during the first five months of fiscal 1977 to $2.6 billion—a nine percent increase over the same period in fiscal 1976.

State expenditures during January totaled $544.4 million, he said, raising total expenditures to date during fiscal 1977 to $2.86 billion—only one percent ahead of fiscal 1976 levels.

The state closed its books on January 31 with a total cash balance of $1.27 billion, Bullock said.

Slightly Behind... Way Below... More Than Half Above.

Typical spring weather in Texas is taking its toll on some planting plans, but all in all, progress is being made.

Cotton planting has been slowed due to wet and cold and is considerably behind the three-year average. Grain sorghum planting is also behind the three-year average. Rice and peanut seeding are underway.

Warmer weather has made wheat fields respond as well as oats.

Many parts of the state have been invaded by dust, caused mainly by excessive strong winds. The wheat crop has been hurt severely in some sections as a result.

Corn planting is gaining momentum but is well behind the average for this time of year.

The condition of livestock throughout the state has improved because of warmer weather. Cattle in the Coastal Bend area are still weak, but in other parts of the eastern half of the state herds are rated fair.

Cattle in the western half of the state are considered good.

Range conditions have also improved considerably throughout the state. Goat shearing continues on the Edwards Plateau.

A 49 PER CENT REDUCTION in the 1977 Texas spring onion crop is forecast by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Based on March 1 conditions, the Texas crop is forecast at 2,451,000 hundredweight. Acres are estimated at 16,900; this is 30 per cent below the acreage last season. Yield per acre is expected to be about a fourth under that of a year ago.

Weather is given as the main reason for the decline. In the Rio Grande Valley, many fields of onions appear thin and lack normal plant size. Harvest in the Valley is expected to begin around the end of this month.

Harvest in the Winter Garden area is expected to begin about the end of April and continue through July. In the Laredo area, the crop is progressing well, and harvest should start in a few weeks.

Nationwide, the combined spring acreage for harvest for Texas, Arizona and California is expected to be 24 per cent below the 1976 total.

THE STATE'S CITRUS CROP is now estimated to be 16,900,000 boxes, which would be seven per cent above the past season, and more than half above the 1974-75 season.

Grapefruit production is currently forecast at 11,500,000 boxes. This is also seven per cent above a year ago.

Production of all oranges is expected to total 6,600,000 boxes. This is six per cent more than a year ago.

Early and mid-season oranges are projected at 4,200,000 boxes and Valencias at 2,400,000 boxes.

With dry weather having returned to the Valley, harvest has increased rapidly. More than half of the grapefruit have been picked and about 15 per cent of the Valencia crop has been harvested.

Nationwide, grapefruit production is forecast at 69,900,000 boxes.

Antacid Info Available

If your stomach is upset, you take a tablet, or a powder or a "soothing pink" liquid, or something you chew. All are antacids—medicines you can buy without a prescription.

What is in these medicines? Are they safe? Are they effective? These are some of the questions answered in a new booklet from the Food and Drug Administration. It also discusses when you should not use antacids and what side effects they may cause. For your free copy of Antacids, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 643E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

In the past, claims made for antacids said or implied the product would do everything from easing your stomach pains to relieving fatigue to getting rid of the "blahs." Now, however, antacid labels are limited to stating that the product is recommended for relief of three specific symptoms—"heartburn, sour stomach, and/or acid indigestion."

Be sure to read the label—and heed what it says.

Under "warning" the label must tell you the recommended daily dosage in a 24 hour period, and how long you can use the product without the advice and supervision of a physician.

Some antacids cause constipation and others have a laxative effect. Those products must carry a warning on the label.

Products with relatively high amounts of magnesium, sodium or potassium must carry a special warning. This is especially important for older persons. Products containing these ingredients recommend half doses for people over 60. In addition, magnesium or potassium should not be used by people with kidney disease, except on the advice of a physician. And sodium should be avoided by those on a salt restricted diet.

Products with lactose (milk sugar) also require a special warning, for the benefit of people who are allergic to milk.

Remember that nonprescription medicines are not meant to—and don't—cure disease. They should be used only for temporary relief of minor symptoms. Improper use of a nonprescription medicine may aggravate your symptoms, hide a condition that needs a doctor's attention, or lead to other undesirable results. If you pop pills week after week for acid indigestion, you may be covering up an ulcer.

Antacids (free) is one of over 200 selected Federal consumer publications listed in the current edition of the catalog, Consumer Information. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the catalog is your free by sending a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.
