NOTICE

Haskell Homecoming workers desperately need the addresses of any Mattson, or Irby, exes, teachers, and parents, so that they may be included in this fall's homecoming celebration. Since both the Mattson and Irby schools have consolidated with Haskell, all graduates of the schools will be invited to Haskell Homecoming. Addresses should be sent to Ruby Medford, Rt. 1, Box 29, Haskell, Texas, 79521.

School's Out... Drive With Care

The most unpredictable pedestrians are children, and their hours on the sidewalk and in the street are multiplying as schools close their doors for the summer months. That reminder comes from the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association, which is urging motorists in the state to be extra alert behind the wheel.

While it's true that youngsters are normally less wary of traffic conditions than adults, their high spirits during vacation time make them even more vulnerable to mishaps that can occur in a split second as junior citizens scurry from behind parked cars to retrieve a ball, dart across streets in pursuit of adventure, or worse-play games in or near streets.

There are three areas in particular, AAA notes, where motorists will encounter children during summer - recreational areas (playgrounds, pools, tennis courts); urban residential areas, where a lack of such facilities prompts youngsters to play near streets; and suburban residential areas, where curves and driveways often create blind spots for drivers.

Drivers also should be especially cautious from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., when children are entering and leaving play areas during lunch periods, and from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. when dusk affects vision.

AAA urges parents to instruct their children in pedestrian safety emphasizing the importance of playing only in supervised areas.

Old Time Fiddlers Contest Set

The Texas Cowboy Reunion Association at Stamford, Texas is again sponsoring an Old Time Fiddlers Contest which will begin at 9:30 A.M. on Monday, July 4th, in the air conditioned Roundup Hall at the Rodeo Grounds. However, contestants should be at the Hall by 9:00 A.M. to register. This is strictly non-professional and ages are restricted to 50 years and older. Each contestant is required to play two break-down tunes. The following prizes will be given: First Prize $50.00; Second Prize $35.00; Third Prize $25.00; Fourth Prize $15.00.

Each contestant will be given a free ticket for the noon Chuck Wagon dinner.

Please notify us, if at all possible, of the names of the tunes you will play.

Fashion Revue Set This Saturday

A Country Fashion Revue will be presented by Haskell County 4-H Clothing Project Members on Saturday, June 11th, at 7:00 p.m. at the Rule Recreation Club.

Rod Townsend, 4-H Council Chairman will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the evening. Joe Wilfong and Sonja Tidrow will be giving the opening ceremony followed by the 4-H Motto, Pledge and Prayed led by Kathy Campbell. Special guest at the Revue will be introduced by Kris Kupatt, Rule 4-H club member. Shannon Lane, Melissa Brown and Kathy Kemp will present the objective of the 4-H Clothing Project and Dress Revue.

The Junior Revue participants will be presented by Linda Fischer and Julie Patty, Paint Creek 4-H Club Members.

A Share-The-Fun skit will be presented by Haskell County Senior 4-H Members: Rod Townsend, Joanne Cloud, Mark Lewis, Russ Lewis, Kim Campbell, Lynn Wheatherly, Stan Hager and Clark Richardson.

The Senior participants will be presented by Mikeanna Wilcox of Rule 4-H.

The Award ribbons, gifts and trophies will be presented by County Judge B. O.

Young Readers To Take Jungle Journey

Young readers at Haskell County Library will be among more than 100,000 young Texans who will be taking a "Jungle Journey" this summer as participants in the Summer Reading Club. Sponsored jointly by the local library and the Texas State Library, the Reading Club encourages readers to use the recreational and informational materials they can find at their local library.

Posters, reading logs, and bookmarks this year feature jungle animals. Each participant will receive a reading log on which to record what he or she has read. In addition to the list of books each reader compiles, the log includes a pair of word puzzles and a maze.

Summer is always the busiest time of the year for children's collections in public libraries. Whether summer reading is entirely for entertainment or is also for information, it's different from the required reading that students must do during the school year. At the same time, however, it builds valuable reading skills.

During the summer many libraries will also be planning special activities, including films, puppet shows, and other programs.

Roberson and Mrs. Tom Yates, 4-H Committee Chairman of the Haskell Home Demonstration Council.

Escorts for the Dress Revue participants will be: Zack Wilcox, Barry Tidrow, Joe Wilfong, Russ Lewis and Mark Lewis.

Following the closing by Joe Wilfong, Haskell 4-H members and guests will enjoy swimming and refreshments.

Arthritis Program Set Today

Are you interested in learning more about Arthritis? If so, you are invited to a program on Arthritis on Thursday, June 9th at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Haskell National Bank.

The speaker will be Dr. David Mills who is the Associate Professor of Medicine at Texas Tech University School of Medicine. Dr. Mills has done extensive research in the field of Arthritis and he has many publications out on arthritis that he has written.

The program will be very informative and there will be time for questions and answers.

The program is open to the public without regard to race, color, creed, or national origin. It is sponsored by the Haskell Home Demonstration Council and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

ENERGY Saving Ideas

Tips To Help You
Keeping Your Cool

More than 25 percent of the heat gain in most American homes is estimated to come through windows exposed to sunlight—and this can increase air conditioning bills and waste electricity.

NEW ENERGY-SAVING window shield can reduce room temperature up to 20 percent.

Experts suggest that a good way to save energy and money is to shade your house to keep it cool. Stopping the sun on the outside before it gets through the windows is seven times more effective at cooling than blinds and curtains on the inside.

One way to accomplish this is with awnings and shade trees. But a new method has been developed, consisting of a specially woven fiber glass screening which blocks up to 75 percent of the sun's heat and light outside the window while allowing fresh air to come in and you to see out. The easily attached covering, called VIMCO Solar Shield, will save an estimated 40 cents per square foot of window for an air conditioner running 100 days, at an average cost of less than $10 per window. When the sun's heat and light are desired, the shield can be rolled up to the top of the window without removal.

For full information about this product, available only through the manufacturer, write to VIMCO Corp., Solar Shield Division, P.O. Box 212, Laurel, Va. 23060.

PRIME INVESTMENT OR how to GET in on A Meaty Deal.

In 1880, the meat packers had an idea they could sink their teeth into: refrigerated railway cars. They made the transportation of meat a year-round business instead of just a winter investment. And today there's an investment with a lot of meat to it that you can have year in and year out. U.S. Savings Bonds. They're a prime investment because nobody's ever lost money taking stock in America. And when you buy Bonds, you're not only preparing for your future, you're helping your country's future as well. So join 91 million Americans who have signed up for the Payroll Savings Plan. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. And get some live stock for your future.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deducted until redemption.

Take stock in America.

NEWS OF ART

A stainless steel kinetic sculpture, "Tomorrow's Song II" has been selected by the Steel Service Center Institute (SSCI) as the art theme of its '77 annual meeting.

Designed by the renowned French team of Francois and Bernard Baschet, the three-part, musical clock is crafted of polished stainless steel and stands 32 inches atop a mirrored base. The sculpture rings changes in time when suspended balls turning at different speeds strike rods within each cylinder.

According to SSCI president Robert G. Welch, "Tomorrow's Song II" is a reminder that "we must face the challenges of today if we hope to attain the promise of tomorrow." SSCI has been selecting a work of art to highlight its annual meeting for almost 20 years.

AUSTWELL—TEXAS' TOP RURAL COMMUNITY—Austwell in Refugio County has been named the top rural community in the Texas Community Improvement Program, according to a community resource development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Other top communities were Wildorado in Oldham County, second, Little River-academy in Bell County, third, and Sulphur Bluff in Hopkins County, fourth. Each community will receive a cash award and a silver tray. The TCIP is sponsored by the investor-owned electric utility companies in Texas and is administered by the Extension Service.

THE VIEW FROM INTERIOR

By Cecil D. Andrus, Secretary of the Interior

WE CAN SAVE THE REDWOODS

As a young man growing up in Oregon and Idaho, I learned early in life to appreciate the majestic forests of the Northwest. For me, they were a place to hunt, a place to fish, and a place where a boy could begin to understand nature's way and appreciate her handiwork.

But forests offered a practical side, too—they were an important source of income. Working in the lumber camps and sawmills, I learned first hand the importance of timber harvesting, not only as a source of forest products that bolster the national economy and make our lives more comfortable, but as a provider of local jobs which keep so many small towns and so many families going.

Looking back on those days—and those lessons of youth—helps me to understand today's conflicts surrounding northern California's Redwood National Park. I think it is important in resolving this issue to consider not only the esthetic and environmental health of the park, but the well being of people who depend on redwood harvesting as a way of life as well.

Simply stated, the problem is that the trees inside the park are threatened with destruction by logging activities on private lands just outside the park's boundaries. This is particularly true in the Redwood Creek unit of the park, a thin, twisting eight-mile ribbon of land at the southern end of the park, containing several of the world's tallest trees.

Upslope logging in this drainage is causing intolerable siltation problems that threaten the park's tall trees. This problem has been building since the park was created in 1968, and the Interior Department has been wrestling long and hard with it. Now, the time for study has passed, and the time for action is upon us. We can wait no longer.

The inescapable solution is to buy up enough of the surrounding land to stop the present deterioration inside the park and begin to repair most of the past damage. The Carter Administration has proposed adding 48,000 acres to the existing park, most of it in the Redwood Creek drainage.

Only about 10,000 acres of this total contains harvestable old growth redwoods, but they lie so close to critical areas of the park that any further cutting could be the straw that breaks the camel's back. The rest is cutover land needed to carry out erosion control practices that will prevent further damage and act as "buffer zones" to the park.

We can protect the park and we can compensate the landowners—but what about the timber workers? What about those small towns and the logging families of my youthful memories? How can we protect them?

At the present cutting rate, old growth redwoods in the remaining 10,000 acres would run out in 10 to 15 years anyway, and that would mean the end of the trees and many if not most of the jobs. All I am really proposing, then, is that we face the future now. We do not believe the job impact will be as severe as some have contended. Nonetheless, I do not intend to ignore the immediate employment factor.

Our preliminary estimates indicate about 1,000 jobs could be affected. We have already begun a study to determine the precise number of workers who would be displaced, and a Federal task force from the Departments of Labor, Commerce, Agriculture and Interior is already working with local officials to mitigate the effects and create new jobs. Too, local communities will benefit from having these lands preserved in Federal ownership under a new program of payments in lieu of taxes enacted by the 94th Congress.

The cost will be high, including the costs of the land rehabilitation and jobs programs I've mentioned. But the price of neglect would be even greater—and we have a responsibility to future generations to get the job done now.

CATTLE PRODUCERS CAN CALL TOLL-FREE HOTLINE

The Texas Beef Development Taskforce (BDT) has established a toll-free "Hotline" to answer questions from cattle producers about the Beef Referendum. Registration for the long-awaited Referendum is taking place June 6 - 17 at nearly 2,000 county ASCS offices across the nation. Cattle producers who wish to vote must register before the June 17 deadline. Actual voting will take place back at the ASCS offices between July 5 - 15. "Beef producers who have a question about the program can call 1-800-682-4106 weekdays between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m.," says BDT Chairman J. D. Sartwelle of Sealy.

Wildlife means many things to many people. To some it's a robin in the springtime, a bass splashing at sundown, or a squirrel barking in a creek bottom. To some, it's the thrill of the hunt - for deer, turkey, quail, dove. But to others, wildlife means money because wildlife is a multi-million dollar business in Texas.

A majority of wildlife are a product of our state's 118 million acres of grassland. But so are cattle, sheep, and goats. The livestock industry is one of our state's biggest businesses; according to recent surveys, livestock now on farms and ranches in Texas have a value of well over $2 billion.

Nearly a million people, many from out-of-state, buy hunting licenses in Texas every year and even more buy fishing licenses. Add up everything these sportsmen spend in search of game and it comes to quite a figure - probably in excess of $500 million.

Due to pressures from grazing, our once-lush grasslands have steadily deteriorated. As the choice forage plants have been weakened and killed by overuse, they have been replaced with plants that provide less food for our wildlife and livestock.

So here's the question: If our grasslands are restored to their former rich productivity, how will this affect our state's wildlife resources? Can the needs of both livestock and wildlife be considered and provided for in grassland restoration?

To start to answer that question, it might be in order to think back a hundred years or more into our state's wildlife history. Early Texas explorers often recorded the presence or absence of wild animals.

These explorers mentioned deer, antelope, bison, javelina wild turkeys, quail and waterfowl. Wild bison no longer roam our grasslands, but we still have most other kinds of wildlife. They survived settlement, the plow, barbed-wire fences, competition with domestic livestock, the meat hunter and even the modern recreation-seeking hunter.

If you are interested in developing the wildlife potential for your farm or ranch, SCS personnel are willing and available to assist you in planning for the proper development of the wildlife present on your land. Wildlife, livestock, and crops of cotton, maize, wheat, and other small grains and feed crops do lend themselves into a balanced program. Such a wildlife program on your farm or ranch can be a source of personal enjoyment as well as an economical value to the income from your farm or ranch unit.

Grassland Restoration and its effect on wildlife, and a complete wildlife program is another of the many facts of the Soil Conservation Service. J. C. Yeary, Jr. District Conservationist

The Referendum, if approved by two-thirds of the cattle producers voting, would authorize the first nationwide self-help program for the beef industry. Using the value-added system, each cattle producer would contribute 3/10 of 1% (30¢ per $100) of the value of each animal sold. This rate would raise $30 million to $40 million per year for beef research, education and promotion, says Sartwelle.

Sagerton News

The wheat harvest was in full swing in our community last week. The majority has been cut, and if the weather stays good all week the harvest should finish this week. The average yield is around thirty bushels per acre, which is very good for our area.

Judy Covington and Inez Gholson, nurses from the Haskell Memorial Hospital, brought the program on Cardiac Pulmonary Resuscitation for the L.O.C. Home Demonstration Club ladies in the home of Mrs. J.B. Toney Thursday of last week. Eight members were present.

Mrs. Judy New, chairman, appointed a committee of Mrs. Toney and Mrs. DeBusk to plan the club's annual entertainment with their husbands in August.

The local club will join other women of Haskell County on July 9 for a clinic on First Aid at the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank at 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome. This program is the first scheduled stressing Family Health as this year's theme. This should be of interest to young and old adults alike because farm homes are often 30 minutes to an hour from a doctor.

An ice cream supper was held at the Sagerton United Methodist Church Friday evening, June 3, as a farewell party for Bro. and Mrs. Allen Forbes, who moved to Merkel this week where he will be pastor of the Methodist Church. He will have only one church, where as he had served both Rule and Sagerton.

The new minister will arrive this week and will conduct her first service next Sunday morning. Miss Sammy Ellis will be the first female minister for either of the churches, Rule or Sagerton. Everyone is anxious to welcome her to our church and community.

Mrs. John Clark is visiting with relatives at Holliday.

Mrs. Mike Bailey and boys, Rob, Rus, Brian, and Brad, of Terrell visited here last week with the Delbert LeFevre family.

Mrs. Elnora Scott, who lives near Chicago, visited here with Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Neinart last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Roy McEwen and son of Afton have also been visiting the E. J. Neinarts.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hertel had Mrs. Hertel's sister, Mrs. Dee Bose and family visiting them for Memorial Day weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Clark of Abilene visited the Charles Clarks over the weekend.

Six Flags Now Open Each Day

Six Flags Over Texas has begun daily operation after the most successful spring season in the theme park's 17 year history.

Some 406,500 persons visited Texas' number one tourist attraction on weekends from March 12 through May 16.

Also, the record for the largest attendance on a single day was set on Saturday, May 14, when a total of 41,047 came to the park, beating the previous high of 40,842 set on May 19, 1973.

General Manager Dan Howells attributed the record attendance, in large part, to a $2 million capital construction program carried out during the winter months.

He said, "The new Spinnaker ride and our Pirate Puppet Show have proven to be two of the most successful attractions added to the park in the last few years."

The theme park will be open daily through Labor Day and resumes weekend operation during the end of November. During the summer session, Six Flags will extend its operating hours and provide special entertainment in the evening.

Six Flags officials expect to pass at least one more attendance milestone in the coming month. The 30 millionth guest is expected to arrive in June.

Federal Aid that what it would cost to feed the people that need it, and to help private industry provide for more jobs for the ones who need it!!!!

After rereading last weeks column, I happen to think of a few more items for "Skinny" days, but at this time after a long weekend and overeating, I cannot recall what they were!!!! I lost 10 pounds but my spouse claims she has found where they went and where they came from!!!! I believe my spouse now, when she says I'm in between BABY FAT AND MIDDLE AGE SPREAD!!!!!! As for my age, I know that I'm closer to Baby Fat!!!!

After having a rash of door-to-door salesmen which were quite obnoxious, I understand our local yokels (Local Police) and the J.P.s have taken care of the problem. If a salesman comes to your house be sure and ask him if he has a permit to sell inside the City of Haskell and make him show it to you!!!!!! THIS "OLE" CRANK IS STILL GETTING CRANKIER!!!!

4-H Dairy: Focus on Marketing

CHICAGO—From farm to consumer, the marketing of milk and milk products is a major educational focus in the national 4-H dairy program.

Through owning or caring for one or more dairy animals, 4-H members 9-19 are introduced to sound production and management practices. And by following the route milk takes from the farm tank to the processing plant to the supermarket, 4-H'ers become aware of the scope and economic significance of the dairy industry.

4-H dairy projects and activities are supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by Insurance Company of North America. Incentives and recognition for 4-H members are provided by INA through National 4-H Council.

This year, workshops at local, state and national levels will help 4-H dairymen understand the milk marketing process and their place in it. An important event on the 1977 4-H dairy calendar is the National 4-H Dairy Conference, Oct. 5-7 in Madison, Wis.

The 4-H dairy program gives young people opportunities to explore careers in animal science, and in the production, processing, transportation, distribution and retailing of milk and milk products.

Program members can earn awards that include six $1,000 scholarships at the national level, and expense-paid trips to the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 1 for state winners. Up to four medals of honor are offered in each county.

Winners are selected by the Extension Service on the basis of their records of accomplishment in 4-H dairy. County extension agents can provide more information on the program.

STARTING OUT YOUNG...This young cowboy attended both nights of the Haskell Jaycee Rodeo on his stick horse. Young and old attended the rodeo last weekend and everyone seemed to enjoy the performances. (Staff Photo)

Some Down-To-Earth Meanderings About Lawns, Gardens And Greenery...

By Jeremy R. Green

Money matters have never been my strong suit. Ellen, for instance, usually balances our checking account, because I invariably end up by throwing my hands into the air and accepting the $15.87 error as being "close enough."

But there is one good financial move I have made over the years, without even being conscious of it. It's our lawn—and shrubs—and trees—and other plantings. They've added a tidy sum to the market value of our home, just as yours probably have if you've given them a reasonable degree of care.

Real estate experts tell me that an attractive, well-kept lawn, for example, will add approximately $1,400 to the value of a $45,000 to $50,000 home. Well-kept shrubs, trees and plantings, they say, will add another $1,500 to this same home. The reason is obvious. An attractive lawn and plantings simply make a house easier to sell—by making it more appealing to prospective home buyers. This makes the demand for the property increase, which, in turn, makes the price go higher.

So, next time you fertilize your lawn, or put in a new shrub or tree, don't just look at it as a satisfying thing to do. Think of it as a darn good investment too. And these days, we ought to make every good investment we can.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Fraud and deception on the part of some moving companies has been widely reported recently. Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys indicate that a number of deceptive practices have been uncovered by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the agency responsible for licensing moving companies which transport goods between states.

Some families have been reported to have lost as much as $500 on a moving trip due to practices which result in their paying for a heavier load than is necessary.

Consumers have been "ripped off" by fraudulent moving companies which the I.C.C. has caught adding bricks, steel ingots, old engine parts, packing crates, and other items to a load when it is weighed, in order to increase the load and thereby the charge to the customer.

Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys and attorneys in our Transportation Division, which represents the Texas Railroad Commission, the licensing agency for intrastate moving companies, caution persons preparing to pack up and head for new territory to be sure they select a reliable mover.

Spokespersons for the Railroad Commission say many interstate movers have Texas representatives who are also licensed as intrastate movers, and therefore come under Railroad Commission supervision.

Selecting a reputable, reliable moving company is possible if a check is made with the Railroad Commission to see if the company is listed as a certified intrastate carrier or as designated agent for such a company.

In order for a company to be certified, it must prove the need for increased service. Public hearings are held, and, if the need is demonstrated, a permit can be granted by the Railroad Commission. Specialized carriers holding certificates or permits for the transportation of household goods must adhere to certain requirements.

1. They must take a look at the goods to be moved and give a written estimate of the moving cost.

2. The moving van must be weighed both before and after the loading of the goods.

3. The weight to be moved then must be checked against a fixed tariff rate to determine the actual cost of the move.

4. If the cost exceeds the original estimate by 10% or $25, whichever is greater, the customer must be notified.

5. The mover also must inventory all of the belongings to be moved, and provide the customer with a copy.

6. Certified intrastate moving companies must also be bonded, carry insurance, pay a licensing fee, and pay transportation taxes. Individuals employing such movers can also take out additional insurance on their goods, if desired. Our attorneys recommend this as an extra precaution in case of loss.

If you have any doubt about the accuracy of the weight of your moving load, you may request a re-weighing of the shipment in your presence before you accept delivery.

You will not be charged for this re-weighing if there is a difference of more than 100 pounds for a load of up to 5,000 pounds, or of more than 2% for a heavier load, from the original weight. If the difference is less, you will be charged $10 for the re-weighing. And if you suspect any kind of fraud by a moving company, you should report it to the Attorney General's Transportation Division or the Railroad Commission.

For assistance with a consumer complaint, call one of our offices in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso, Lubbock, or McAllen. Outside those areas, call this toll-free number: 1-800-252-9236.

LET'S VISIT...

LARRY SUTTLE, MINISTER

I overheard some children playing not long ago. One child told another that he had better do something! The other child, however, asked: "Who said so?"

Good question, isn't it? We recognize that not everyone or everything has authority over us. Who is your religious authority? Let's put our religion to the simple test of "who said so?"

The Bible Says: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." (II Timothy 3:16, 17)

Wedding Unites Walling, Rieger

In a double-ring rite Jane Ellen Walling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Edgar Walling Jr. became the bride, Saturday at noon, of Donnie Ray Rieger, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Rieger of Waco.

The Rev. Troy Culpepper of Kaufman First Baptist Church officiated.

The bride's home was the setting for the wedding. The wedding was enriched with family sentiment. Her name stands on part of the Walling lot bought in 1910. Her father and mother were married in her father's home. Her twin brother James Edgar Walling III was groomsmen and presented part of the wedding music. The groom's sister Peggy Nelms registered guests.

Members of the houseparty were cousins of the bride and groom. They were Paulette Dick, Abilene, cousin of the bride and Rosemary and Frances Koenig of Waco.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. B. O. Roberson.

As the bride descended the stairs she was met by her father. Melissa Roberson sang "Over the Rainbow" theme song of the "Nineteens", a singing group Ellen was pianist for four years in Haskell High School. Mr. Walling said, "he and her mother" gave her in marriage. The bride wore an original gown in Candlelight Chiffon by Phyllis for Bianche. The empire bodice with portrait neckline and double chiffon attached bertha was enhanced with silk roses and streams flowing in front with tiny silk buds. Her Juliet cap of re-embroidered Alencon lace embellished with pearls and rhinestones held her draped veil of chiffon. She carried a bouquet of white and Sonya roses with Baby's Breath and English Ivy.

Some 600,000 youngsters will attend at least one of the 600 youth camps in Texas this year, and parents can send them off with the assurance that they are being well supervised.

For the past three years, says the Texas Department of Health Resources (TDHR), Texas camps have been operating under standard rules set forth in the Texas Youth Camp Safety and Health Act. And, in that period, says Kenneth C. Lauderdale, Director of the General Sanitation Division of TDHR, safety and health regulations in camps have increased greatly.

A survey was taken in 1974 which showed that children in youth camps were placed in excellent surroundings, according to Bobby Davis and Roy Burton, Youth Camp Program of TDHR.

Under the Camp Safety and Health Act, the Director of TDHR was delegated as chairman of an Advisory Council on Youth Camp Safety which the law created. Eleven members are named by the Governor to two-year terms on the council. The advisory Council's responsibilities include advising and consulting on policy matters relating to camp activities, particularly on the matter of promulgating youth camp safety standards.

Safety and sanitation are the prime areas for concentrating regulatory and enforcement measures. Campers must be provided a sanitary place to live, as well as a safe one.

Consideration is given to adequate and proper supervision in all activities by qualified personnel wherever camp activities are conducted. Proper safeguards for sanitation encompass such areas as proper procedures for food preparation and serving, healthful and sufficient water supply, and proper waste disposal.

Safety covers such areas as: proper water safety procedures for swimming pools, lakes and waterways, and safe boating equipment; proper maintenance and safe use of motor vehicles; safe buildings and physical facilities and proper fire precautions, safe equipment used in all recreational pursuits; and proper regard for the number of persons using a facility.

Several guidelines were used in setting up safety and health standards. These include the Texas Water Safety Act, a manual on Fire Safety for Suburban Areas of Texas, Food and Drug Laws already enforced by the Department of Health Resources, and environmental health practices falling under the Department.

Each camp must be inspected and found to conform with the Act. In order to ensure uniformity in inspections, training was held recently in Austin for inspectors from the 10 Public Health Regions of the Department. A field trip was made to Friday Mountain Camp for the first-hand inspection training. Two environmental interns from Colorado attended to learn more about the excellent Texas program.

Heaviest concentration of camps in Texas is in the Fort Worth-Dallas area, with Girl Scout Camps and YMCA day care programs adding to the total. Heavy concentrations also are seen in East Texas, the Houston area and Hill Country section near Kerrville.

BOB BULLOCK
Comptroller of Public Accounts

DEAR MR. BULLOCK:

A friend of mine was bragging recently about getting his cigarettes at a premium price by ordering them by mail from states that have lower cigarette taxes than Texas' 18 and one-half cents per pack.

I'd like to order some myself, but I want to be sure that there aren't any hitches. Are there?

You bet there are. And your friend is going to find out that those "cheap" cigarettes he's been buying aren't so cheap after all.

Firms that ship cigarettes into Texas are required by federal law to notify my office of each shipment.

State law requires me to bill the purchaser for the state's $1.85 per carton tax, plus an additional $1.85 per carton for failing to pay the state tax at the time of the purchase.

So instead of avoiding the Texas tax, your friend and others like him may end up paying double the state tax for their smokes.

DEAR BOB:

Are newspapers taxable? Newspapers are now subject to the state and local sales tax—but they won't be for long. A bill approved by the legislature and signed by the governor exempts newspaper and magazine sales from the tax effective August 29.

In fact, I recommended passage of that bill. The tax was a headache for everyone involved and was actually costing as much, if not more, to administer, than it was bringing into the state coffers. SIR:

If I buy merchandise which is subject to the sales tax and the seller does not collect the tax, am I still liable for it?

Yes. The sales tax law allows the seller to collect the tax from the customer by filing suit if necessary—the same manner that he would collect the purchase price if it were not paid.

In other words, the seller can bill you for the tax after the sale. Furthermore, the state is authorized to proceed against the buyer for any tax which should have been paid but wasn't.

Ask Bob Bullock is produced as a public service to the taxpayers of Texas by the State Comptroller's Office. The answers here do not necessarily apply in every similar situation and should be used only as a general guide.

If you have a question, write Ask Bob Bullock, C/O Tax Information, LBJ Building, Austin, Texas 78774 or call our toll-free tax information number, 1-800-252-5555.

Branding with confetti is making things rougher for grain thieves. Grain producers are picking up the old practice of marking small slips of paper with identifying numbers and mixing the confetti with their stored grain crop. According to producers who have been using the confetti method for some time, it takes only about seven pounds of the paper to adequately mark and identify 50,000 bushels of grain. Although the small slips of paper are virtually impossible for thieves to separate from the grain, mill operators report they have no problem in removing the confetti during their washing process. Agricultural authorities in areas where the grain identification program is used extensively report a remarkable decline in the number of grain thefts.

Find Colon Cancer Early Advises Cancer Expert

Like all other cancers, the key to successful treatment of colon cancer is finding the cancerous cells while they are few in number and the chances for a cure are greatest.

The colon or large intestine is one of the body's largest organs and functions to remove waste materials. The lower 5 - 8 inches of the colon is known as the rectum.

"It is most uncommon to diagnose cancer of the lower bowel in individuals under the age of 40 unless they have a heredity factor that places them at a higher risk," explains Dr. Rulon W. Rawson.

Dr. Rawson, associate director for scientific operations at the National Large Bowel Cancer Project at M. D. Anderson, notes that the highest occurrence of colon cancer is in individuals over 60.

Symptoms that may indicate the presence of a tumor on the colon or rectum are blood in the stools which may appear bright red or black in color, changes in bowel habits such as constipation or diarrhea, and, occasionally, abdominal discomfort or pain.

It is important to remember, explains Dr. Rawson, that hemorrhoids, which are not cancerous, often cause bleeding commonly mistaken for cancer warnings. For that reason, an early warning signal should be brought to the attention of a physician to best determine what the warning sign means.

One of the most common types of growth in the inner lining of the colon or rectum is a polyp, a wart-like growth that can change into a cancer. About 10 percent of the population develops such growths which should be removed.

Instruments called a sigmoidoscope or colonoscope allow the physician to view the colon tract and remove suspicious samples of tissue for biopsy to determine if cancer or precancerous polyps are present.

Because localized colon cancer detected early and treated properly has a cure rate of about 90 percent, researchers have directed more attention in recent years to developing effective screening programs.

"Studies supported by the National Large Bowel Cancer Project have indicated that persons over 40 without symptoms of colon cancer can be screened by having their stools on special slides to determine if there has been nonvisible blood loss through the colon tract," says Dr. Rawson.

Tested on 6000 individuals in recent years, the slide test has proven useful for locating polyps and cancers. One percent of those tested were determined to have blood in the stool. Forty-two of those persons with blood in stools were found to have a removable cancer or precancerous polyp and were cured.

The key, explains Dr. Rawson, is early detection. Such screening programs represent just one positive part of an intensive effort.

Research in the areas of causal factors, preventive measures, knowledge of the body's immune system and drug treatments (to name a few) are all providing similar, positive, new directions for the goal of defeating this very common form of cancer.

"As It Looks

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman — 17th District

WASHINGTON, D.C.—THE FOLLOWING IS A RE-RUN OF OUR RELEASE of October 23, 1975. The problem of illegal aliens has increased since that time and a solution is no nearer.

"THE U.S. GOVERNMENT HAS A MULTITUDE of dilemmas of one kind or another and near the top of them is illegal aliens. No one can accurately estimate the number of illegal aliens in the Country at the present time. Retired General Leonard F. Chapman who heads the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates the number at about ten million and says the problem is 'totally out of control.' "EACH YEAR FOR THE LAST SEVERAL, something on the order of one million foreigners enter and remain in this Country. The great majority are from Latin America but they come from all over the world in search of jobs and a better life. They are found in the cities working on construction sites and among the ranks of professionals. It is estimated that the payroll for working aliens runs to around $10.5 billion each year.

"DURING 1974 GENERAL CHAPMAN REPORTS that over 800 thousand aliens were apprehended but he doubts the surface has been scratched to deal with the problem.

"SOON TO BE CONSIDERED IN THE CONGRESS is a bill which attempts to treat this situation but it has many objections. The bill would impose penalties on employers who knowingly employ illegal aliens. At first there would be a $500 fine as a warning and then a $1000 fine with an option for the judge to impose a one-year prison sentence. The Attorney General would be empowered under this legislation to seek restraining orders against employers he believes are engaged in the practice of hiring such workers. As critics of this proposed legislation point out, other problems would be created. To begin with, the burden of enforcement to a large extent is put on employers. Law enforcement is a Governmental function but this bill would require employers to find out whether those they expect to hire are citizens or illegal aliens. Every person of Latin American descent would be subject to scrutiny and questioning. It would place our own Latin American citizens under suspicion that they may be illegal immigrants. With the ease of forged papers an employer could be constantly under investigation.

"THE INFLUX OF ALIENS TO THIS COUNTRY has for many years been a problem but the present flood of entries grows by the day. In recent years, many immigrants have been exploited by organized efforts to get them into the Country and get them a job. It is reported that Chicago is brimming with people paying a part of their earnings to the underworld which smuggles them in. They are furnished with fake passports and identification papers but have to pay constantly for their protection in fear of being reported to the immigration officials.

"IN THE DAYS OF THE OLD BRACERO PROGRAM entrants from Latin America and, particularly Mexico, were given legal opportunity to work, which benefited both them and the employer. Then and now, farmers and ranchers in the industrial areas but there is no indication that the Congress would be willing to take this practical approach.

"EVEN IF THE IMMIGRATION SERVICE WAS BEEFED UP many times beyond what they now have, it is doubtful this situation could be remedied to any great degree. A much better track of illegal entries in this Country could be kept if there was a provision for legal entry and departure. Of course, many would remain illegally but many would return to their native land, knowing they could return as seasonable work was provided.

"ONE THING IS SURE -- the problem is going to grow -- not go away."

Former Resident Retires After 49 Years Teaching

Ima Dell Fitzgerald, whose teaching career has spanned nearly half a century, is not a person to revel in "the good old days."

She's convinced, instead, that modern teaching methods, new books, new materials and special equipment provided in today's classrooms are helping students to learn more, faster than at any time in the past.

"Children are not any smarter today than they used to be," said Mrs. Fitzgerald, who will be retiring at the end of the current term after 49 years as a first grade teacher in Arlington.

"They are just better informed because of television and travel than they were in the past," she said.

But still some of the older methods are still best, she believes.

Before coming to Arlington, Mrs. Fitzgerald had served for 28 years as a first grade teacher in Haskell schools.

She served very briefly at Berry Elementary before being assigned to Thornton Elementary when it first opened "way out in the country." Her first principal was Billy Snow, now an official with TSTA in Austin, followed by Don Carson, now principal at Hutcheson Junior High. Her present principal is Jim Galey.

Mrs. Fitzgerald has had the same room at Thornton School to teach the hundreds of first graders assigned to her care over the 21 years in Arlington, but there have been some changes there.

"Air conditioning has been a wonderful addition," she points out. "Not only has it made us more comfortable, but before, when we had the windows open, the noise from Park Row distracted the students. Now we get better attention," she emphasized.

"When I first began teaching, we only had a reading and an arithmetic book. Now first graders have eight textbooks, plus music and physical education."

"We also have so much added equipment—most anything you can think of. I like it all and have always enjoyed trying new methods. I don't like to get in a rut," she explained.

Over her 49 years in teaching, Mrs. Fitzgerald has touched the lives of nearly 1,500 first graders. She is now teaching a few second generation students in Arlington and enjoys especially hearing from some of her students in the past who drop by to see her.

She came to Haskell to teach nearly 50 years ago where she met her husband, a rancher. She had taken only one year of college training at that time, but has since gone back to complete work on two degrees during the summer months, including her master's degree at Daniel Baker.

"I have no close relatives, other than a sister in San Antonio, but I have a lot of children. I keep up with many of those whom I have taught," she said.

She says she is looking forward to retirement, even though she will probably be as busy as when she is teaching.

"I plan to travel some, and I love handwork and reading. And, then, there is my churchwork at Aldersgate United Methodist. I teach a third and fourth grade Sunday School class and serve on the evangelism, building and education committees," she explained. She enjoys walking and lives in an apartment unit near the school.

She is the widow of Robert Fitzgerald formerly of Haskell.

David Parker Working With Unique Project

David Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gene Parker of 1411 N. J., Haskell, and 1975 graduate of Haskell High School, is currently directing publicity and fund-raising for the Midwestern State University Student Competition on Relevant Engineering (S.C.O.R.E.) team.

S.C.O.R.E. is a non-profit student-run corporation supported by grants and contributions from the Energy Research and Development Administration, corporation, and foundations. S.C.O.R.E. is an association of U.S. and Canadian engineering schools which was established in 1971 to give students the opportunity to design and build equipment to address real-world engineering problems. ERA II is the fourth intercollegiate competition sponsored by S.C.O.R.E. In previous programs students have built low-polluting safety oriented automobiles, innovative fire-fighting apparatus, and alternate energy thermal/electrical systems.

Forty-one teams of engineering students representing colleges and universities across the U.S. will take their projects to Richland, Washington, for the week-long event to be hosted by the ERDA Richland Operations Office. The student entries will be tested for their ability to produce electricity using any energy source other than oil or natural gas. A panel of experts will judge the projects for innovation, performance, economics, and marketability.

Whether you describe it as looking like a small ferris wheel or a huge string of sausage stretched around a 12-foot bicycle wheel, Midwestern State University's team has built a solar-assisted Minto Wheel that seems to belong in the next century. A field of mirrors directs the sun's heat onto the lower-most portion of the device which causes fluid in a 3-foot long chamber to pass through a tube to an identical chamber at the top of the wheel. The weight transfer causes the wheel to rotate which in turn drives a generator.

David has been working on the project in the area of publicity and fund-raising since last fall. He has given speeches to service organizations such as Rotary Clubs, Lions Clubs, and Kiwanis Clubs, as well as made appearances on Wichita Falls television and radio stations.

He is a senior English major at Midwestern. David is president of the English Club, president of Sigma Tau Delta (English honor society), a student Senator, and has acted as parliamentarian for the Senate since 1975.

David has twice been the recipient of the Shanor Foundation Scholarship, and is also the recipient of the Ezra Payne Scholarship.

He is working on this project as part of the Honors Program at Midwestern. The students are still engaged in fund-raising and community awareness programs and are seeking speaking engagements for the summer.
