Reminder From State Comptroller

Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday reminded religious and other non-profit, tax-exempt organizations they now may hold one sale or auction a year in which they don't have to collect sales taxes.

The special one-a-year, tax-free sales were authorized by the Texas Legislature and apply to tax-exempt religious, educational, charitable and eleemosynary organizations.

The legislation had the support of the Comptroller's Office.

Bullock said the new law, which becomes effective May 24, allows only one tax-free sale or auction during a calendar year and limits it to one day only.

If two or more organizations jointly hold a tax-free sale or auction, neither may hold another during the calendar year, he said.

The bill allows the sponsoring organization to pay the auctioneer a "reasonable fee."

"Many of these tax-exempt organizations depend heavily on annual sales or auctions to raise money for many worthwhile projects," Bullock noted.

"This will do away with a lot of the red tape, and allow them to put a little more of the money they collect to good use," he said.

Residents in Rule, Texas are asked to curtail water usage possibly until we get a rain. Our ground storage tank is losing reserve supply daily due to the extremely dry conditions. The four wells are not able to keep up with the user demand. We are pumping all night every night, and still losing. If we water yards and gardens only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday we will be able to catch up on the supply.

Thank you for your help. L.R. Denton, Mayor.

Hotline Answers Referendum Questions

Registration in the first national Beef Referendum began this week and Texas cattle producers are doing their "homework" before voting, according to the chairman of the Texas Beef Development Taskforce (BDT) J.D. Sartwelle, a rancher from Austin County and chairman of the state BDT, reports excellent response to a toll-free Beef Referendum "Hotline." "We are getting dozens of calls each day from interested cattlemen," he says. "The vast majority indicate they favor the program, after getting their questions answered."

The most frequent questions, with Sartwelle's answers, include:

WHO CAN VOTE? "Anyone who owned cattle during 1976 is eligible to register and vote," he says. "This includes 4-H or FFA students who may have owned only a few head. Each producing entity—whether an individual, a family, partnership or corporation—is entitled to one vote. But they must register first."

WHO WILL ADMINISTER THE PROGRAM? "A 68-member Beef Board will administer the $30 million to $40 million raised each year," says Sartwelle. "These Board members will be cattle producers nominated by existing producer organizations in each state."

HOW WILL THIS PROGRAM BENEFIT CATTLE PRODUCERS? "Beef research, education, promotion and foreign market development will be the stimulus needed to put the cattle business back on a profitable basis," he says. "This program will increase beef consumption and help stabilize market conditions which will benefit cattlemen and consumers alike."

"Nutritionists say the average American is eating only half of the meat needed for good health," Sartwelle adds.

"Through nutrition research and consumer education, consumers will improve their diet and beef producers will get their fair share of any increase."

IS IT A GOVERNMENT

Deadline for registering for the Beef Referendum is Friday, June 17. This is the last call for cattle producers to register to be eligible to vote in Beef Referendum. Just go to the ASCS office during regular business hours before closing time June 17. You must register to be eligible to vote.

Voting will be July 5-15.

PROGRAM? "No," declares Sartwelle. "This is a producer program all the way—financed by producers and administered by producers. The role of the Secretary of Agriculture is limited to that of a referee—to assure that the program is administered according to the intent of the Act, which is to help the beef industry."

CAN I GET A REFUND PROMPTLY? "Yes, any producer who is not satisfied that the funds are wisely invested can request and get a refund within 60 days after the request is made," answers Sartwelle. "This amounts to a Money-Back Guarantee."

Registration for the Beef Referendum began June 6 in more than 2,000 country ASCS offices across the U.S. Cattle producers have until Friday, June 17, to register for the Referendum. Actual voting will be July 5-15 at the ASCS offices.

Texas cattle producers with additional questions can call, toll-free, 1-800-682-4106 for additional information on the Beef Referendum.

WHEAT, WHEAT EVERYWHERE With about 90 per cent of the country wheat crop in this picture shows piles of wheat on the ground and no place to put it. According to Harvey Croft of Nine Point Grain about 90% is in and for the county, it is averaging between 25 to 30 bushel per acre. They have around 150,000 bushes on the ground due to no hopper cars. The price isn't much, but some of the farmers are making up to 50 bushels an acre.

In shopping for fresh corn, look for: corn in ice or refrigerator displays, even rows of fresh, tender, plump and milky kernels just firm enough to offer slight resistance to pressure—and green, fresh-looking husks, advises Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Fishing License Changes

Recent action by the 65th Texas Legislature increases sport fishing license fees for both residents and nonresidents and makes those licenses purchases after June 1, 1977, valid through Aug. 31, 1978.

Those bought prior to June 1 will expire one year from date of purchase.

As of Sept. 1, 1977, fees for resident sportfishing licenses will go up from $4.25 to $4.50, and those for nonresidents will increase to $10.50.

Now, both fishing, hunting and the combination fishing and hunting licenses will be valid from Sept. 1 of one year through Aug. 31 of the following year.

License sales officials at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department say anyone who buys a fishing license in June 1977 will be allowed to fish for 15 months at the old price of $4.25.

Sales of fishing licenses have lagged during the past two years, possibly because of the one-year-from-date-of-purchase regulation.

In many instances, according to P&WD game wardens, fishermen buy a license and without thinking consider it valid until the end of August, when actually it was valid for a year from date of purchase.

On summer picnics, be mindful of the danger of food poisoning. Keep prepared foods cold in an insulated bag or ice chest. Avoid salads mixed with mayonnaise, such as ham, egg, tuna or chicken. Hot foods should be carried in vacuum bottles, filled to capacity to minimize germ growth. Raw meats or sea-foods left at summer-time temperatures are breeding grounds for infectious bacteria.

Hager, Howard Vow's Solemnized Cox's Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Kimberly Ann Hager of Weinert and Bobby Lee Howard, Jr. of Haskell were united in marriage June 11, 1977 in the First Baptist Church in Weinert with the Reverend Jimmy Griffith of Haskell officiating the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Hager, Jr. of Weinert and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Howard Sr. of Haskell.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's dress was fashioned of white silk organza over bridal satin fitted at waist with skirt falling into chapel length train, trimmed with lace flower appliques and seed pearls. The fingertip veil was edged in lace with lace and seed pearls on the head piece.

The bride carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white and yellow glamedias with white daisies amid trailing English ivy. For something new she wore diamond ear rings, a gift of the groom, something old was a strand of pearls belonging to her mother, this was also something borrowed, for something blue she wore a blue garter, and carried a penny in her shoe.

Maid of honor was Leann Miller of Grandbury. Bridesmaids were: Cindy Thomas of Haskell and Texas Tech and Tammy Herricks of Weinert. Wheatley, Dulaney United In Marriage

Robin Gayle Wheatley and James Patrick Dulaney were united in marriage on Sunday, June 12, 1977 at three o'clock in the chapel of The First Christian Church in the presence of the two families. The Reverend Dudley E. Bragg of The First Baptist Church officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Glenn Wheatley and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Barry Dulaney, all of Haskell.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride wore a floor-length gown in white of Venice lace. The fitted bodice had a high Victorian neckline and long sleeves buttoned at the wrists. From the set-in waistband, the skirt was softly gathered. Her bustle veil of imported English illusion was shoulder length and was held with a Dior clip of organza appliqued with lace and seed pearls.

Frilled and draped with illusion, to complement her veil, the bride's all-white bouquet was of Phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, baby's breath and miniature carnations.

For something old, she wore pinned to her clothing the gold wedding band belonging to her late father. Something new was a lace-trimmed linen handkerchief made in Austria and embroidered with her name and wedding date. This was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Lane. Borrowed for the occasion was her mother's wedding band pinned alongside her father's ring. Something blue was a blue garter, and she added a sixpence in her shoe.

Maid of honor was Cindy Ivey of Haskell who wore a white-background dress of multi-floral organza with portrait neckline and long bishop sleeves. The waistline was defined with an organza sash and the skirt was long and full. She carried a round bouquet of variegated flowers harmonizing with the colors of her gown.

The mother of the bride wore a floor-length gown of coral chiffon with handkerchief-hemmed sleeves and skirt. The groom's mother wore soft green chiffon, also floor-length, with accordin pleating in the collar and full skirt. Both wore corsages of Sonya roses.

Softly illuminated with candles and graced with lacy green ferns and a variety of white flowers, the chapel was a lovely setting. The altar and altar railings as well as every other pew down the center aisle were marked with candles, greenery and flowers.

Music was provided by Mona Bledsoe, organist, and Mrs. Doyle High, soloist. Mrs. High sang "Evergreen" and "The Wedding Song". Following the vows and preceding the ring ceremony, she sang "The Wedding Promise" for the bride and groom to each other.

Best man was Randy Shaw of Haskell. Ushers were Michael Boggs of Lake Jackson and Danny Miller of Houston.

Lisa Shaw registered guests for the wedding, which she had done for the wedding party and rehearsal dinner.

Of special interest to the family atmosphere was the presence of the groom's nearest relatives on the maternal side. The Tolliver family reunion was being held in Haskell on the same day as the wedding.

MRS. JAMES PATRICK DULANEY
...Former Robin Gayle Wheatley

The reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall. There the chosen color of coral was added to the green and white decorating colors.

The bride's table was laid with an illusion over white taffeta tablecloth designed by the bride's mother and made by Mrs. J.B. Gipson. The bouffant-skirted cloth was topped with full gathered swags caught with Sonya roses and ferns. The table was centered with the brides' cake, an all-white confection of three round graduated tiers. The top decoration of the cake as well as the wreath around it were fresh flowers repeating those used in the bridal bouquets.

Mrs. Hoyt Byars of Garland, aunt of the bride, served the cake. Wanda Dulaney of Dallas, aunt of the groom, served punch from a silver bowl.

Reception assistants were Mrs. W.A. Lyles, Mrs. Theron Cahill, Mrs. Shahir Hassen, Mrs. Bob Guess, Mrs. E.M. Frierson, Mrs. Frank Jircik, Mrs. James Crawford, Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. R.C. Langford, Mrs. Herschel Alexander and a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Tim Clark of Wylie.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will reside in Lubbock. The groom will continue his studies at Texas Tech and the bride will attend the Southwest School of Court Reporting in Plainview.

Sanders Hold Reunion In Seymour

The twenty ninth annual reunion of the Sanders family was held June 11 and 12 in the Seymour City Park. Some two hundred and twenty nine registered this year from Colorado, Wyoming, Oklahoma, Arizona and many Texas cities.

Ronald McCullough of Breckenridge, Texas was president of this years reunion and Jacky Sanders of Putnam was selected for president of the 1978 reunion. The reunion has been held for many years on the second weekend in June, but it was voted to be changed to the second weekend in May next year. The change was made because of the heat and the lack of motel rooms in Seymour during the wheat harvest.

Dave and Ethel Jones traveled the farthest distance this year coming all the way from Chula Vista, California. Dave is the son of the former Bonnie Sanders.

Dola and Peyton Griffith's family was the best represented family present with fifty-three members of their immediate family present. Their daughter Sue's family traveled 1130 miles from Rock Springs, Wyoming for the reunion, Sue has not missed a reunion in nineteen years.

Mrs. Andrew (Fronia) Sanders of Weinert was the oldest member present and Trenton (T.J.) McCollough four and one-half month old son of Teddy McCollough of Breckenridge was the youngest.

A family style supper was held Saturday evening and a bar-b-que beef lunch was served Sunday.

LET'S VISIT...

A concerned father watched as his son boarded the ship that would take him to the front lines in France during the first world war. The father waved to his son and tearfully said "good-bye" as the boy walked through the swinging gates that led to the ship. The young man turned to his father and said, "Dad, if I never meet you again here, I'll meet you where the gates never swing outward." The father, Charles Gabriel, thought on his son's parting words, and as he rode on the train back to his home in Chicago, he wrote the words to the now well-known hymn, "Where the Gates Swing Outward Never."

Will you meet your loved-ones there? Now is the time to make preparation.

The Bible says: "To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God." (Revelation 2:7)

West Texas citizens are invited to a reception and tour of the new Texas Tech University School of Medicine (TTUSM), dedicated by Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe.

Open houses will be held Sundays, June 12, 19, and 26 from one to five p.m. The new building is located at 4th St. near Indiana Ave. in Lubbock.

The citizens of West Texas served by TTUSM will be honored during the month of June in TTUSM's celebration of the completion of the first phase of construction of the new building.

Dedication and ribbon cutting officially opened the new building June 5, with an estimated 1500-2000 guests, faculty and students attending.

Briscoe said the dedication is "the first step toward providing a facility that can...will...must be one of the greatest medical complexes not only in the state, but in the U.S. As we dedicate this building, we dedicate ourselves to the Texas of tomorrow."

TTUSM was established by the 61st Texas Legislature in 1969 to serve the health care needs of West Texas. The enabling legislation stated that "...when in the best interests of medical education..." the school open regional academic health centers in Amarillo, El Paso and the Permian Basin, as well as to establish academic headquarters in Lubbock.

The centers are now operating in Amarillo and El Paso, with the latter to dedicate its regional building in early fall. Negotiations to establish the Permian Basin center are now underway.

TTUSM would be an important factor in bringing medical help to western portions of the state, Briscoe predicted.

The $40 million medical structure is presently completed on the exterior but only some 40 per cent of the interior is finished. Another 10 per cent will be completed by August of 1978. The remainder of the building will be completed in pace with the needs of the school. The building encompasses 811,417 gross square feet.

agri-facts

Significant changes are on the horizon for researchers working on agricultural projects. Underlying factor for these changes is the growing consensus among scientists that current research with its aims at yield increases through better fertilization and cultivation technique may be nearing its peak. In short, there is a growing feeling that we are reaching the stage of making a plant produce all that is possible. That's the reason for the change in direction. Scientists are now beginning to experiment on changes in the biological potential of plants. Basic changes in photosynthesis are being considered. Methods of limiting a plant's respiration are under study and the strange yield increases of some plants when exposed to carbon dioxide are being examined. In short, the new direction for research involves changing the plant itself in ways which could develop new and much greater yield increases.

For some time now, the directors of the California Creek and Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation Districts, along with directors from many of the nearly 3000 conservation districts in America, have been discussing the impact of Section 208 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 (P.L. 92-500). This is simply stated, "Water Quality Management", and has to do with Non-point source pollution identification and assessment.

The National Association of Conservation Districts has prepared a rather large document entitled "CONSERVATION DISTRICTS AND 208 WATER QUALITY MANAGEMENT", a copy of which is available in each district and Soil Conservation Service office.

Word has been received this week from State Conservationist George C. Marks, Temple, Texas that as of October 1, 1977, all application of herbicides and pesticides must be done by licensed applicators. There are two types of licenses issued:

WASHINGTON, D.C. — FROM THE TIME SCHOOLS CLOSE IN MAY OR JUNE until they open again in the latter part of August or September, there is an influx of visitors to Washington. Included are large numbers of young people who come to view firsthand those things they have learned about during the school year. For many, this is their first trip away from home and, no doubt, will be long remembered.

Young people today are less likely to take on work which they consider "meaningless, unsatisfying and authoritarian in nature," says Debby Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, quoting the report of a special task force to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

attendance at all times. There are Committee meetings where, in most instances, the real work on legislation is performed. Others are seeing Constituents, answering their telephones, responding to the multitude of letters which arrive daily or conferring with staff people. All sorts of demands are made on a Member's time and becomes a part of his daily duties.

LEGISLATION IS FIRST DEBATED under what is known as "General" debate. The time for general debate is set by the Rules Committee can be from one hour to ten hours, depending on the particular legislation. During this period, time is yielded by the managers of the bill to other Members. When the time for a general debate has expired, rules permitting amendments, followed by other Members who wish to offer some change. In this period, the attendance is much greater since only three Committees, namely, the Ways and Means, Rules and Appropriations, can hold sessions during this time. It is necessary for a Member to be present to become informed before voting.

SO, A LOT DEPENDS ON WHAT PERIOD a particular debate is in for visitors in the galleries to get a true impression. There are times when the conduct in the Chamber appears to be something like the New York Stock Exchange and, again, when it appears that no one is interested in what is taking place.

AS OFTEN AS POSSIBLE this is explained to Constituents and, particularly, our young people. It seems important that they have an understanding of what goes on and why.

We pack SELLING POWER in our CLASSIFIED ADS.

It is a fine thing for people to see their Nation's Capital and, especially, the Congress in session. It must give a greater appreciation of what the seat of Government is about.

IT IS A FINE THING FOR PEOPLE TO SEE their Nation's Capital and, especially, the Congress in session. It must give a greater appreciation of what the seat of Government is about.

WE HAVE JUST HAD A GROUP of Future Farmers of America who were here on an annual trip sponsored by the FFA and their schools. In a few days, we will have a large group of 4-H Clubbers and Government-in-Action students who will tour various Government buildings, including visits to the galleries of the House of Representatives and the Senate. This is also an annual occasion, as are a number of other groups of young people chosen from their organizations to come to Washington.

THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN AND OBSERVED the Sessions of Congress may have experienced disappointments in seeing the procedures on the Floors of the two bodies of Congress. Depending on the type of legislation being considered and at what stage it is being debated, all too often the impression is left that there is not a total participation by Members. Oftentimes, a Member is up making a speech with few Members in their seats and apparently those not paying very close attention to what is being said. This impression is not good and, especially, for younger people who expect to see every Member in his seat and everything in order.

THE FACT IS THAT IT IS VIRTUALLY IMPOSSIBLE for every Member to be in

Farabee Calls For Tax Reform

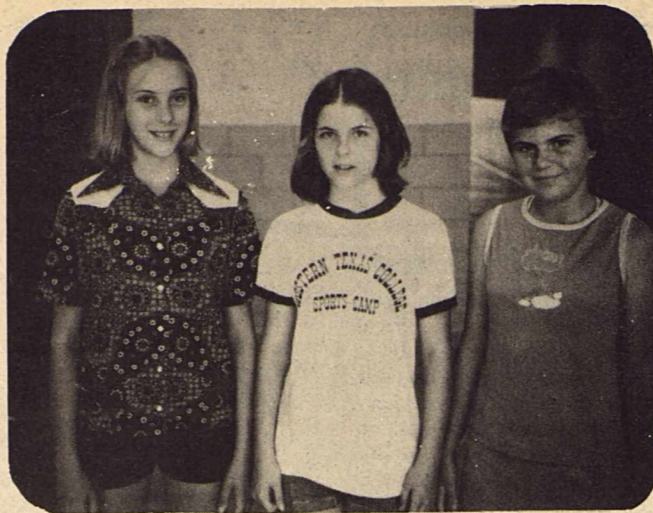

Senator Ray Farabee called on Governor Dolph Briscoe to include provisions for tax reform in the called session of the Legislature which is expected for July. He stated that tax reform should occur to reduce the property tax for financing public school education, utility tax for consumers of small amounts of energy, increase inheritance tax exemption, and allow for taxation of agricultural land on the basis of its productivity.

Senator Farabee said, "We were fortunate to have a surplus during the past year and I feel that some of this money should be returned to the people in the form of tax relief, specifically in the areas of property tax, inheritance tax and utility taxes. The inheritance tax laws have not been revised for many years. Also, inflation and high utility costs are taking a heavy toll on the taxpayers, especially those who must live on fixed incomes."

Although the Senate passed a measure providing for an expanded Constitutional amendment allowing agricultural land to be taxed on its productive value rather than on its market value, it failed to pass both houses of the Legislature. The mandatory 140-day session adjourned before the House could concur with Senate amendments to inheritance and utility tax relief plans.

In reference to tax reform in his letter to the Governor, Senator Farabee stated, "Because of the uncertainties of agricultural production and prices, the present system is inequitable to farmers and ranchers. I share your goal of making Texas 'Number 1' in agricultural production, and it is my feeling that the legislation mentioned above would provide a needed incentive to Texas' agricultural producers."

The Governor is expected to call the special session because the Legislature was unable to agree on a public school finance bill before the end of the regular session. During a special session, the Legislature may consider only those issues which the Governor expressly authorizes.

Home Fire Safety Stressed

The recent Kentucky nightclub fire which claimed over 160 lives has drawn widespread attention and alarm. However, an equal tragedy occurs every week to 160 home residents.

"These residence fires also should receive our attention—and preventive action," points out Dr. Gary S. Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "A residence burns every 45 seconds, adding up to 1900 fires per day and almost 700,000 per year. Almost 7,000 persons die in these fires and at least one-fourth of the victims are children under 14 years of age."

Most children are pathetically helpless to save themselves in a fire, notes Nelson. Through lack of knowledge and practice, they make deadly mistakes, such as rushing into smoke-filled hallways when they might escape through a window. Nelson says that some children panic and do not attempt to escape. Some hide in closets or under beds, waiting in vain for someone to rescue them. Many are later found dead by firemen.

"The tragedy is that many youngsters could get out alive if parents would take a few minutes to teach them how," contends the safety engineer. "Schools routinely hold fire drills. Yet, such drills at home are seldom thought of, much less done on a regular basis, even though a child is about 200 times more likely to be caught in fire at home than at school."

A publication of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is designed to teach children and their parents how to survive a home fire. It is entitled "Parents: Don't Let Your Children Burn," and offers several family fire drill ideas. The publication is available at any local county Extension office or from the Department of Agricultural Communications, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

"Fire authorities agree that a child who has practiced what to do in case of fire is much less susceptible to panic and has a better chance of surviving," says Nelson. "So give your children the needed training to avoid becoming a fire statistic."

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin—Unless you are in business for yourself, you probably haven't had the opportunity to visit personally with any of the more than 2,000 employees of the State Comptroller's Office.

And that's unfortunate because I believe we have the most talented, dedicated and hardest working public employees in state government. Where do we get our employees and how are they selected?

I must get a dozen letters a week from job hunters asking those questions. I want to tell you a little about our recruitment program, which has become a model for other agencies.

Although we are one of the larger agencies in state government with 2,000-plus employees, our turnover rate is among the lowest—which means we don't have a lot of openings.

And the competition for the vacancies is keen. When a Clerk position opened recently in one of our audit offices, we had 270 applicants for the job.

The rash of applications—more than 10,400 have been filed with our Personnel Office since Jan. 1, 1976—has been a mixed blessing for the Department.

On the positive side, it's meant that we have a large reservoir of talent from which to choose, allowing us to select highly qualified and motivated personnel. But it has placed a heavy responsibility on our Personnel Department, which processes and screens the applicants.

It's no secret that many Texans feel that who you know is more important than what you know in landing a state job. We are doing everything in our power to prove that cynical myth wrong. I think we are succeeding.

After taking office in January, 1975, I ordered all vacancies to be publicly posted across the state—to give as many people as possible an equal shot at the jobs. Those vacancies are now posted in 300 locations.

In an average month, some 230 applications are funneled to Personnel from our audit and enforcement offices across Texas. Another 300 job seekers apply directly to our Austin Office.

At the close of a posting, a list is compiled of all those applying directly for the job in question, as well as the names of applicants in the files meeting the necessary qualifications.

The list is sent to the division director for review. In many cases, the director personally interviews several of the most qualified applicants before making a choice.

The name of the applicant chosen by the director is then sent to our Equal Employment Opportunity Section for review. This is a very important step, for EEO is the key element in our program to insure equal employment opportunities for all.

Working voluntarily with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, we have been the pace-setter in breaking down the barriers of racial prejudice in state hiring.

Before January, 1975, only a handful of minorities held jobs in this department. In the past two years we have placed special emphasis on the upward mobility and hiring of minorities.

Although still short of our goals, we have made significant headway in equal employment opportunities in the past 28 months. And we're going to do an even better job in the future.

I am proud of our recruitment efforts, and I think all Texans should be. The better our people, the better job we can do for our employers, the taxpayers of Texas.

Self-Repaired Pose Health Hazard

"Do it yourself" projects can be fun and economical. But if you try to repair or relin a denture yourself, it may cost you not only more money but your health.

The denture is not a product like a lamp that can be glued, taped or spliced together. A denture is part of a complex, living oral structure. Its shape is permanent, but it must interact in precision with changing, living tissues and the muscles and joints of the face.

Over a period of time, even the most precisely fitted denture can loosen and become uncomfortable as supporting gums and bones continuously change. Only your family dentist can determine what important changes have taken place and in what areas.

A danger in relining a denture yourself with a commercial kit is uneven pressures on the ridge that supports the denture. The pressure can make the gums and bone shrink away and cause the jaws to come closer together.

Ill-fitting dentures can speed the shrinking process, reducing the denture wearer's ability to chew and accentuating deep aging lines and wrinkles at the corners and around the mouth. The bone may shrink so much that dentures can no longer be successfully worn without surgical rebuilding of the mouth.

Do-it-yourself reliner materials can also irritate gums, tongue and cheeks. Constant irritation can lead to open sores and other more serious lesions.

The same principles hold true for the repair of broken dentures. If a denture breaks, do not try to put it together yourself. Solvents found in some glues can damage the denture plastics and irritate the mouth. An improperly repaired denture can be useless and even harmful.

Similarly, a broken denture should not be taken to a dental laboratory. Laboratory personnel cannot legally work on a denture without a written authorization from a dentist.

The breakage of a denture while eating, incidentally, is often a sign of a need for adjustment of the denture by the dentist.

Remember: 1. If a denture does not fit comfortably or feels loose, allow your dentist to make the necessary alterations before a serious health problem arises.

2. If a denture breaks, take it to your dentist for repair. Don't attempt it yourself, or allow any other non-dentist to try to "fix" it.

Regular checkups with your dentist will prevent many denture problems from occurring.

Nursing and convalescent homes are familiar to almost everyone in the state, but a new type of care service is drawing the attention of Texas Department of Health Resources officials.

They are the institutions known as personal care homes, and they appear to be quite numerous in Texas.

Personal care homes accommodate persons who don't need the degree of services provided by a nursing home or custodial care home, but many persons residing in these homes do need services above the basic provisions of food, shelter and laundry.

The Department of Health Resources has proposed new rules for the licensure of personal care homes, as well as new rules for the classification of services provided in nursing and convalescent homes and related institutions. Public hearings on the proposed rules are underway. Rule making and licensing authority are granted the Department under Article 442c, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes.

The Department believes there are significant numbers of persons not presently residing in nursing homes or custodial care homes who cannot maintain independent life styles. These persons need the presence of an intermediary to provide food and shelter and, in addition, some supervision or aid in every-day living, according to Howard C. Allen, Director of the Nursing and Convalescent Homes Division of TDHR.

However, said Allen, these persons don't need the usual and routine attendance during night-time sleeping hours, nor do they require the care and services normally provided by a nursing home or custodial care home.

The facilities providing these services under personal care homes fall under three types, generally following the extent of services needed by the residents. Main differences are these:

Type A personal care homes are designated for residents who are ambulatory, can provide their own self-help and are capable of following directions and taking appropriate action for self-preservation under emergency conditions.

Type B facilities may house residents who are ambulatory but may be mentally retarded; however, they are capable of following directions and taking appropriate action for self-preservation under emergency conditions.

Type C personal care homes are for residents who may be physically or mentally incapacitated or handicapped.

The Department believes that these persons can be accommodated in a personal care home or facility which doesn't have extensive services. But they do need and deserve the protection of the law in assuring that they are provided safe and sanitary living conditions and, as needed, are provided assistance in every-day living, said Allen.

Staffing would be far below that of nursing and convalescent homes, since there wouldn't be the need for professional nurses and other professional personnel.

But, those in charge could provide such things as entertainment and transportation. They also could summon aid in case of an emergency or provide first aid, said Allen.

They also could provide a wake-up service, supervise activities and a meal-time regimen, supervise self-treatment for physical conditions or self-carrying-out of a physician's orders. The operators of personal care home also could provide assistance in grooming and give hygienic assistance and provide counseling.

In addition to rules for the licensing of personal care homes, other rules would set out the classification of protective and non-protective services provided for persons in nursing and convalescent homes and related facilities such as personal care homes.

Blood Pressure Information Available

We are hearing much these days about high blood pressure known medically as hypertension.

For several years concerned national programs to discover and treat this most common of humal ills have been under way, and the American Medical Association and others have kept up the educational push.

What is blood pressure? A pamphlet from the AMA explains that your heart and blood vessels make up your body's blood distribution (circulatory) system, upon which all life processes depend.

Under pressure, your blood carries food and oxygen to and removes waste products from every cell in your body.

Blood pressure is maintained by your heart in your arteries, and blood is pumped through your lungs where it picks up a fresh supply of oxygen and eliminates carbon dioxide. It then flows to the left side of your heart and is ready for another trip through your body.
