Comptroller Rep. To Visit In Haskell

Comptroller Bob Bullock alerted Texas businessmen Monday to begin looking for a friendly visit from a Comptroller's enforcement 'officer sometime during the next nine

The Comptroller said that the enforcement officers from his 40 field offices will fan out across the state with the goal of offering personal assistance to each and every Texas business.

A testing of the canvassing program in July showed that 19 percent of taxpayers contacted required assistance or needed permits, he said.

"The theme of this project is taxpayer assistance, Bullock said. "We have found that in many instances only personal contact can eliminate costly both to the taxpayer and the Comptroller's Office."

He said his employees, armed with smiles and packages of taxpayer information, will be knocking on doors with --providing education to taxpayers; --making sure every business is properly permitted; --establishing personal lines of communication between taxpayers and the individual enforcement officer responsible for the area; --updating Comptroller's

Office records; --making certain each taxpayer is filing returns and paying tax properly. July's sample of 4,702 businesses showed that 97 were operating without needed permits, 766 had changed address or business name without notifying the Comptroller's Office and 37 were not paying tax properly, Bullock said.

"We hope to take care of every little problem on the spot, before it turns into a big problem," he said.

'Above all," Bullock added, "we want people to believe us when we say, 'I'm from the Comptroller's Office and I'm here to help you."

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill

A U S T I N-Apartmenthunting can be difficult if you don't know what to look for in an apartment, how to safeguard your security deposit, what to keep in mind when signing a lease or rental contract, and what your obligations are as a rentor. Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys suggest the following general guide for apartment-hunters:

-Determine what location and price range you want first, then get recommendations from friends, check newspaper ads, real estate dealer listings, or professional apartment finders.

-Decide in advance what special features you want. Tennis courts, swimming pools, saunas, game rooms, and many other amenities are available at some apartments.

-When you visit potential apartments, your first impression should be of a clean, regularly maintained

-Check all appliances, water faucets, toilets, hot water heaters, air conditioning and heating yourself. Don't take someone else's word that they work!

-Make arrangements to have the locks changed before you move in.

-Even with air conditioning, see that windows open easily, since you may need them for stair locations, elevators, and fire extinguishers.

-Talk with people who may be your neighbors. Find out if they have had satisfactory relationships with the apartment owner or manager. Ask if there have been any rent increases in the past year, and also inquire about the cost of monthly utilities.

production is becoming more of a reality every day. of work, researchers at the University of California at Davis have had encouraging results in growing both barley and tomatoes using sea water. By 1978 they will be experimenting with wheat production. Certain crop strains with total sea-water tolerance may be on the market within ten years. This is welcome news, especially to those in Texas who have long viewed the Gulf of Mexico and the vast quantities of brackish water in West Texas and the Gulf Coast as possible sources of irrigation water. Salt water could have vast importance for the result of the world as

The salt-tolerant crops could also be used where small but gradually accumulating deposits of salt from fresh-water irrigation threaten to destroy present fertile farming regions.

There are limitations. however. Such irrigation ideally should be employed only below altitudes of 100 feet to avoid high pumping costs. The crops also must be grown in sand. In normal soil, sodium and other salt compounds would eventually build up, preventing water from reaching the plant

By studying the characteristics of a plant that make it salt-tolerant. researchers hope to breed these characteristics into crop strains for use on inland farms in an effort to guard against salinity problems.

We in Texas hope that research continues. It could After more than five years well help Texas solve, at least partially, its agricultural water problems.

Federal Judge Issac C. Parker picked up the nickname of "Hanging Judge" during 21 years on the bench at Fort Smith, Ark.

During his frontier tenure which began in 1875, more than 13,000 cases were docketed in his court and 9.000 defendants were convicted or pleaded guilty. Of those, 79 were hanged.

But Parker noted that 65 deputy marshals were murdered in the discharge of their duty during that time.

Today, Judge Parker's courtroom, the jail and a replica of the gallows used in Tricycles, bicycles and motor cycles are all a lot easier to ride than a cattle cycle. Most times a lot safer too. Nearly anybody in the beef business will tell you their business depends on the cattle cycle. Stated most simply, the cycle there will continue to be more cattle as the price goes up and when there are too many cattle the price will come down. Simple enough, right? Wrong. The number of cattle one part of the cycle. Rates of slaughter . . . spread between feeder and fat cattle

those early day hangings are among the most facinating points of interest to the nearly 100,000 visitors who flock to Fort Smith National Historic Site annually. The historic site is within the city of Fort Smith, Ark., a now peaceable town that is the hub of an industrial and recreational region surrounded by lakes, streams and forests.

A good place to start your tour of the fort is at the two-story red brick visitor center. This building was used by the Army as the enlisted men's barracks and later served as the U.S. Federal Court and jail.

Down in the jail you can get a real feel for the plight of the prisioners as you touch the cold bars, smell the stale, musty air, look at the coal oil. barrels split in half for use as bathing facilities and listen to an audio tape.

The next stop is the courtroom, where the sharp gavel of Judge Parker struck fear into the hearts of territorial ruffians. And finally, the gallows.

In addition to the exhibits concerned with the influence works on the principle that of Judge Parker, there are those that emphasize the three historic Fort Smith periods that relate to the settlement of the eastern tribes in the Indian territory.

There are no facilities for camping or picnicking in the park, located in the extreme western part of the city near the Oklahoma border and right up against the Arkansas River near its confluence with the Poteau. But campsites are available in the city, including Corps of Engineering facilities. The Corps also has a picnic area and boat launching facilities near the historic site.

Many Texans on limited incomes are attempting to keep up with thier affluent neighbors by buying junk foods. The result is poor nutrition, says the Texas Department of Health.

This problem and many more concerning nutrition will be discussed by international experts at the most comprehensive public health nutrition conference in Texas history September 19-22 at Austin's Sheraton Crest Inn.

The conference offers a unique chance for physicians, nutritionists, nurses and health practitioners to discuss nutrition as a key to better health throughout the life cycle. The conference is being sponsored by the Department of Health and the Texas Public Health Association.

"Two main goals will be emphasized," says Dr. P. Clift Price. Chief of the Bureau of Personal Health Services of the Department. "The first objective is to set the trend for nutriton as a viable part of total health care planning for an individual. The second goal is to develop standards or policies, together with recommendations, for implementing nutritional services in all areas of public health." One of the programs to be discussed at the conference will be the Supplemental Feeding Program for Women, Infants, and Children, simply called "WIC". For the past three years the Department of Health has operated the special nutrition project, under funding from the U.S.

Department of Agriculture. 'Lots of people on limited incomes really aren't aware of the right foods to eat. They often try to compete with their neighbors who are better off financially by buying snack items. The long range goal of the WIC Program is to educate those on low incomes as to the wiser food choices that will keep them healthier," says Catherine E.Litteer, nutrition consultant with the TDH Maternal and Child Health Services, which administers the program. The WIC Program serves a limited clientele. Eligible recipients may include pregnant women, infants under one year old, and children up to their fifth birthdays. Those within these categories who apply for WIC services get a health assessment by a nurse, doctor or nutritionist to see if they are "a nutritional risk." This means they may not be getting enough food, or the right kinds of food.

Those under the WIC program are not just given advice and counseling, but are given specific food items free. The foods can be picked up at cooperating retail grocery

Coast Guard Academy Accepting Applications

Congressman Omar Burleson has announced that the United States Coast Guard Academy is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1982. Congressman Burleson stressed that appointments to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas involved. Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to 15 December 1977, and candidates must arrange to participate in the prescribed College Entrance Examination Board tests prior to or including the 3 December 1977 administration. The competition for appointment as Cadet is based on the candidate's rank in high school, performance on the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), or the American Coll-Testing Assessment (ACT) results, and leadership potential as demonstrated by his participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs or parttime employment. Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and scientific academic To be eligible for appointment, an applicant must be a high school senior or graduate unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marrige, between the ages of 17 and 22, a citizen of the United States, and of goo moral character. Fifteen high school or college units are required for eligibility. Applicants must have compelted three units in English, and three in mathmatics including algebra, plane or coordinate geometry, or their equivalents and must fulfill the basic physical and moral requirements. Congressman Burleson emphasize that cadets obtain an excellent undergraduate

pense and, in addition, receive pay and allowances fully adequate to fulfill all their ordinary living expenses. The Academy academic program which is continuously under revision in order to be responsive to both the Coast Guard and the young men and women in the Corps of Cadets, currently consists of the following majors: Marine, Ocean, Electrical, and Civil Engineering; Marine Science, Mathematical Sciences, Physical Sciences, Managment, and Government. These areas of academic interest, combined with the varied elective courses, establish a solid foundation for a challenging career. Graduates of the Academy are awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and are commissioned as Ensign in the United States Coast Guard. Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training in many leading civilian and military graduate or professional schools in such fields as aviation, business administration, electonics, engineering, law, naval architecture and oceanography.

The Academy graduate can look forward to a varied, exciting, and demanding career as a regular Coast Guard Officer. The Coast Guard performs essential humanitarian missions vital to the safety and saving of lives at sea. Under the auspices of the Department of Transportation, the Coast Guard establishes and coordinates search and rescue operations by ship and plane, maintain advanced electronic and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe, operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions, enforces marine law and all aspects of Merchant Marine safety. In addition, the Coast Guard has responsibility for boating safety and marine environmental

Social Security News

M. Glyn Hammons, manager of the Social Security office, stated in a recent interview that Supplemental Security Income is a Federal program that pays monthly checks not only to people who are blind or disabled. This included disable or handicapped children.

People with little or no regular income and who own a limited amount of property may be eligible for Supplemental Security Income, Ham-mons said. Eligibility for checks based on blindness or disability depends on the serousness of the individual's condition.

To be considered disable, a person must be unable to do substantial work because of a physical or mental impairment which has lasted or is to last for at least 12 months.

Blindness under the SSI program is defined as central visual acuity of 20/200 or less in the better eye with use of a corrective lens of visual field restriction of 20 degrees of Hammons stated even people who have never worked may be eligible for SSI. Additional information about SSI for the blind and disabled can be obtained from the local Social Security office located at 142 South Pioneer in Abilene or by phoning serves as advisor

WASHINGTON, D.C.—ON MARCH 8, 1973, WE CALL-ED ATTENTION to our negotiations with Panama on the matter of a treaty to relinquish the Panama Canal's ownership by the year 2000. As everyone is now aware from press reports, that treaty has been consummated and the President has approved it. It now goes to the U.S. Senate which has the authority for ratification of treaties, requiring a two-thirds vote.

IT NOW APPEARS THAT THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH will attempt to bypass the House of Representatives by contending that a treaty alone, costing billions of dollars of U.S. property in the Canal Zone and the payment to Panama of additional billions in economic compensation, can be approved without any authorization or approval by the House.

THE CONSITITUTIONAL PROVISION for the ratification of treaties by the Senate is one thing buy the treaty's implementation is another. Since 1907, there has been legal controversy over whether the treaty-making power by the President and the Senate can convey property and appropriate money without the approval of both Houses of Congress. Writing in the American Journal of International Law in 1907, Judge Cooley said, "The full treatymaking power is in the President and the Senate, but the House of Representatives has a restraining power upon it in that it may, in its discretion at any time refuse to give assent to legislation necessary to give the treaty effect." THIS ISSUE FIRST BE-CAME PROMINENT upon ratification of a treaty in 1796 which contained provisions for the payment of money by the United States. The case was decided on Article I of the Constitution in which it was provided that "no money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in consequence of appropriation made by law." After lengthy debate, the House did vote the money but only after attaching a clause which adopted the views of Madison and Gallatin who argued that when a treaty contained stipulations on any of the subjects committed by the Constitution to Congress, the stipulations could not be executed until, by independent action, Congress had passed implementing legislation. That practice has been followed in subsequent treaties where ceding property to another Nation would require

The Secret Life Of The Forest

Most people would agree that nothing is more terrifying and destructive than a forest fire out of control. That's why people who use forests for recreation should be careful with fire: break their matches, douse their fires, watch their cigaret

A lot of people probably don't realize, however, that fire is also an important tool of foresters, especially a controlled ground fire.

In certain kinds of forests, foresters use fire to clear away competitor trees,

Vanities Conquer Clutter

The secret to living with a small bath that is often "standard equipment" in many homes is to devise ways of getting the most from the least amount of space.

Changing a cramped bath into a comfortable one may require little more than adding a vanity below the sink and installing dividers to compartmentalize the toilet, sink and bathtub areas.

Vanity shelves and drawers can then be used to store the family's accumulated appliances such as electric toothbrushes, hairdryers and shavers along with its wealth of medicines and cosmetics.

Modern, prefinished, factory-assembled bath vanities are available in a variety of styles and sizes to suit just about every decorating taste.

But good styling is no guarantee of quality construction. The way to determine whether quality has been built into the bath vanity is to look for the certification seal of the National Kitchen Cabinet Association. It's a small, circular, blue and white emblem usually attached to the inside of a door or drawer.

The seal indicates the vanity has passed the tough construction and performance standards of the American National Standards Institute (ANSI). To earn the seal, vanity finishes, like those on certified kitchen cabinets, have to withstand the potentially harmful effects of detergent splashes and the spills of creams, cosmetics, grease and cleaning agents. The structure of vanities also has to withstand such abuse as overloaded drawers and door slamming with feet or knees. Only "certified" vanities and kitchen cabinets are entitled to display the NKCA certification seal.

GREYHOUNDS SUBDUE CATS

The Knox City Greyhounds subdued the Rule Bobcats last Friday night, September 9th, in a hard played game at Knox City. An intercepted Bobcat pass by Knox City's Mike Howell hurt the cats when Howell went on to score in the first quarter. The PAT was no good and the second quarter was scoreless to leave the game at 6-0 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Mangis scored for Knox City with three minutes left in the quarter. Again the PAT was no good. Rule's two points came on a safety when the ball was snapped out of the end zone in the third quarter. A clipping penalty against the Greyhounds wiped out one touchdown.

The final score of the game came with three minutes on the clock when Anderson went over from the one yard line. The PAT was no good to leave the score at 18-2.

The Bobcats recovered two Greyhound fumbles while the Greyhounds recovered one Bobcat fumble and intercepted three Bobcat passes.

The game was hard played as one Knox City player suffered a concussion, Ronnie Oliver suffered bruished ribs and Leonard Menchaca a bruised foot. Dwayne Landreth suffered a concussion earlier in the week in workout scored on a twelve yard run.
