Meet Hamlin Friday Indians Romp Tigers, 58-6 In 1978 Season Opener

BY DON COMEDY

Coach Don Flippin unveiled the 1978 edition of the Haskell Indians last Friday night and much to the delight of Indian fans, the Tribe rolled over the AA Anson Tigers, 58-6.

The Tribe defense forced three Anson fumbles and captured one Tiger pass during the first half to aid the offense to a 38-0 half-time score.

The Tribe kicked to Anson and forced a fumble on the Tigers first offensive play. Two plays later Monnie Hise romped 23 yards for the first score of the game and the first of three TD's he collected.

The defense held on Anson's second possession and gave the Tribe their second scoring opportunity. The offense punted on fourth down only to have the defense hand the ball back to them by recovering a fumble on the next play. Three plays later, Robert Rodriguez gathered in a three yard touchdown pass. The defense held Anson on their next possession and Joseph Browning returned a Tiger punt 72 yards for the third Tribe TD.

The defense again held Anson and following a Tiger punt, they fumbled and lost the ball only to get it back the next play when Richard Amaro intercepted a pass.

Six seconds into the second period, Monnie Hise carried four yards for a TD. Two plays later, Mark Wallace recovered a Tiger fumble and Hise carried 20 yards for the TD two plays later.

First half scoring was completed when Jim Harris kicked a 14 yard field goal with 6:15 left.

The Tribe defense held the Tigers to 14 yards total offense during the first half. Amaro, Wallace, and Jeff Hatfield each recovered fumbles and Amaro intercepted a pass.

In second half action, Mark Wallace scored three TD's for the Tribe to complete the Indian scoring. Wallace scored on runs of 4, 5 and 1 yards.

The lone TD for Anson came as the third period ended on a 26 yard run by Jody Burleson.

Monnie Hise led the Indian rushing attack with total of 105 yards on 13 carries. Mark Wallace carried 16 times for 81 yards, Jim Harris carried 5 times for 24 yards, Vonnie Hise carried 6 times for 24 yards and Steve Escobedo 10 times for 33 yards.

The Tribe will travel to Hamlin this Friday and face the Pied Pipers. Game time is 8 p.m.

Miller Creek Water Available Soon

Pete Beecher, of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority, told the Free Press Wednesday morning, Sept. 13, that water from Miller Creek Lake should be available to member towns within from one to two weeks.

Beecher said Water Authority employees had started to fill the lines and tanks with water with large concentrations of chlorine to sterilize them. He said the sterilization procedure had started on the lines to Haskell on Wednesday morning.

When the chlorinated water fills the lines and tanks, it will be allowed to stand for 24-48 hours to complete the sterilization. Beecher said that the chemical balance is even and that all equipment is operating as it should.

As the lines and tanks are sterilized, the water will be drained and fresh treated water will be pumped. The lines and tanks will hold about four million gallons of water when all are full.

Beecher set the earliest estimate of connecting member towns at one week and said he hoped that all member towns would be connected within the next two weeks.

When the sterilization of lines and tanks is completed, the State Department of Health will test water and water quality test results will be published in the Free Press.

Commissioners Approve Budgets During Session

Members of the Haskell County Commissioners Court Monday approved a budget for next year totaling approximately $850,000.00.

Members of the court discussed salaries for elected officials and county employees for approximately two hours and three different motions were made and all died with out a second before they finally agreed on the budget.

The first motion was by Commissioner R.L. Edwards to raise the salary of J.P. Prec. 1 to 650.00 per month and then raise all employees 10% annually. Motion died without second.

Commissioner Bud Turnbow made a motion to set the salary of the J.P. Prec. 1, County Treasurer, and District Clerk at 725.00 per month and raise all employees and officials 10% per year. Motion died without second.

Commissioner J.R. Perry made a motion to approve the budget as it was submitted during workshops.

Members of the court later approved a motion by Commissioner Perry to set the salaries of the County Treasurer, District Clerk and J.P. Prec. 1, at $8,600.00 per year, give all other elected officials and employees except the commissioners, a raise of approximately 10%. The Commissioners salaries would be raised $100.00 per month, an increase of approximately 17%.

The salaries agreed upon were budgeted only, and will not automatically go into effect. The salaries are officially set during the first meeting of the Commissioners Court each January.

All other portions of the budget would remain at approximately the same amounts as last year.

Commissioners also set the tax rate at 75c per $100.00 valuation. 70 of this will go into the general fund, .04 into jury fund and .01 into permanent improvement fund. This was the same rate as last year. They agreed to divide the special 30c Farm, Market and Lateral road fund in the following manner: Prec. 1, 35%; Prec. 3, 25%; Prec. 2 and 4, 20% each. The special 15c road and bridge tax will again go into the Precinct in which it is paid.

Commissioners also approved a budget for revenue sharing funds next year.

The budget includes: $15,000 for Mental Health-Mental Retardation; $25,000 for public transportation; $12,000 for public safety; $2,500 for health services; $8,500 for workmans compensation; $5,000 for recreation; $3,000 for social services and $13,431 for capital expenditures.

The total revenue sharing budget for next year is $84,413.00.

American Ag News

BY BETTYE McBROOM

Dr. Jarvis Miller, president of Texas A&M University, told the annual Mitchell County Farm Tour in Colorado City Thursday, September 7, that the United States faces "a very real food crisis" in the future. He warned that people should not be fooled by the current temporary surpluses in agricultural production, that today there is a 60-day supply between being well-fed and starvation in the United States.

If we have such large surpluses as the government through the news media want us to believe, why do 43 countries now suffer acute food shortages? Why are there 455 million of the world's people malnourished? Why do one-third of the world's children die before the age of 5 of malnutrition and related diseases? (Malnutrition means lack of proper nutrition, inadequate or unbalanced nutrition.)

One reason for this food shortage and malnutrition is a growing number of countries have become raisers of food for exports while their own people suffer severe food shortages. One such country in Mexico who is raising vegetables and fruits using pesticides which are banned in the United States then shipping them to the U.S. We buy vegetables and fruits from the stores and never question where they came from. However, it would be doubtful if even the store manager knows where they were grown.

If other countries use the land that was once used to produce food for their own people to raise export products, who is expected to feed these people? The United States sends these countries money so they can buy food from other countries to feed their people. Why cannot the United States send them grain, cotton, corn, soybeans instead of money? Why can't the United States produce their own products and let the other countries raise food for their people?

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has warned cattlemen to start rebuilding their breeding herds soon or they may be faced with a severe consumer backlash. Mr. Bergland is apparently disturbed by USDA's findings showing that cattlemen have had to liquidate cattle herds. The low prices which will result from opening the country to imports will cause beef output to drop even lower in the next few years. Does Sec. Bergland think a rancher can rebuild his herd in thirty days as he would a rabbit herd? Mr. Bergland needs to be made to realize that it takes approximately five years to rebuild a cattle herd to the point where cattle could be sold off every few months. And after all, he and President Carter are the reason many ranchers have sold a number of their cattle in the past three months. When they lowered the price of cattle and opened the import market many of the ranchers realized the selling price was going down as it did in 1972-73 and they wanted out before the bottom fell out again.

The American Agriculture Movement is trying to educate the people to the fact that not all the things that are coming out of our government are true and on the up and up. For so long we have let someone else do our thinking for us. It is time not only for the people in agriculture but for all Americans to wake up and realize that we are fast becoming a very controlled nation. It is time for all people interested in the freedom of America to join forces and let the government which is being run by corporate enterprises and bureaucrats know that we want a free America. If you do not like something about the government, write and tell your Congressmen. Get involved, do not let someone else do it for you!

KRUEGER OF TEXAS

By U. S. Representative Bob Krueger
LIMIT TAXES AND GOVERNMENT SPENDING

WASHINGTON—Determining economic policy in a financial world as complex as ours is a task not easily accomplished by even the most astute economists.

The business community, at one time, enjoyed freedom from governmental interference and our free enterprise system, for the most part, fostered a healthy and vigorous financial system in which prices changed only moderately from year to year, wage increases were geared primarily to merit and seniority, and profit margins were predictable.

Today, our nation's staggering rate of inflation, hearty demands by some labor groups, excessive price escalation by some large corporations, and constantly fluctuating profit formulas challenge not only the expertise of corporate America as well as the small business-person, but also impact the average wage-earner in a very substantial way.

However, in 1978 a new "economic philosophy" has been offered—this time not by the politicians or so-called economic experts, but instead, by the people—a move 1, for one, applaud.

The excitement of the people of California in passing Proposition 13 has triggered additional interest in economics and in our systems of taxation and government spending. A subject area that would have bored much of America in more constant times is now a common dinner table topic.

The merits and demerits of Proposition 13 will be debated and may not be particularly obvious for years to come. Recently backers of the Kemp-Roth legislative action hailed it as the answer to the problems of Middle America. However, what Kemp-Roth failed to include with their cut in federal taxes was a limitation of government spending.

As any fiscal conservative knows, our long-term economic stability relies heavily upon a realistic balance between supply and demand. When supply exceeds demand, an economic slowdown is imminent (note the severe recessions in the early '70s). When demand greatly exceeds supply, a rapid rise in inflation normally occurs.

This leads me to my point. If we have an enormous cut in federal taxes without an also healthy cut in federal spending, it could cause the federal government to exceed greatly the already $800 billion national debt. If this should happen, then the demand on the federal government would far outweigh the available tax dollars to deliver the supply of services, thereby causing a new round of excessive inflation. In a real sense, the federal tax cut could be offset by inflation.

Therefore we need a tax cut coupled with a limit on government spending. A balanced federal budget would slow federal spending, shore up the American dollar and help put an end to the growth of the enormous national debt.

That is why this month I agreed to sponsor House Joint Resolution 130, which calls for a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget by 1983.

Earlier this year I attempted to pass through the House an amendment with similar goals, an amendment that would have contained federal spending at its current level (except in a few essential areas) and would have diminished the federal deficit by $7 billion.

A tax cut is essential—but also essential is a cut in government spending.

Fish Available From P&WD

Applications forms are available from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for three species of fish to be stocked in private waters in 1979.

These fish including the largemouth bass, channel catfish and sunfish are stocked at a recommended rate of 50 per acre. The bass cost $2 per surface acre, catfish $4 and sunfish $5. A $2 application charge is required for each order to cover cost of computer and paperwork.

The bass fingerling will be delivered in the spring and the channel catfish and sunfish the following August. Purchasers must pick fish up at 37 locations across the state.

For an application form, write to Hatchery Coordinator, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Rd. Austin, TX 78744. Applicants have until November 1 to apply for these P&WD fish.

Texas pond owners should consider whether their waters actually need to be stocked with fingerlings. If a lake has an established fish population now, it would be expensive and wasteful to restock fingerling fish because the larger fish would most likely eat the smaller ones.

New lakes or old ponds gone dry and refilled are the most ideal situation for fingerling fish such as the P&WD produces at its hatcheries.

An alternative for the pond owner whose lake already contains fish is to either drain the lake or chemically remove all the fish before stocking the fingerlings.

For pond owners who wish to stock larger-sized fish, or want fingerlings sooner than the P&WD production schedule permits, a list of commercial fish producers can be obtained by writing the department.

Management of ponds and lakes can be complicated, but a department publication discussing lake management techniques is available to the pond owner in Texas. The booklet entitled "Construction Hints and Preliminary Management Practices for New Ponds and Lakes" may be obtained by writing the Literature Distribution Office, P&WD, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744.

Gov. Briscoe Declares Sept. 23 Hunting and Fishing Day

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has signed a proclamation declaring Sept. 23, 1978, as "Hunting and Fishing Day" in Texas.

Briscoe joined with President Carter and sportsmen's groups, conservation agencies and individual sportsmen throughout the nation in observing the annual day which recognizes the role of the hunter and fisherman in the conservation of fish and wildlife.

President Carter, in a letter to the National Hunting and Fishing Day organization, pointed out that license fees and special taxes have provided some $5 billion to support land acquisitions, research and habitat management for fish and wildlife.

"It is largely because of these efforts that the conservation movement in America is succeeding and hunting and fishing remain worthwhile and acceptable activities in our modern society," Carter said in the letter. "Properly regulated by state and federal agencies, hunting and fishing are an integral part of the system of modern wildlife management that has proven so successful in America."

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department encourages hunters and fishermen to participate in NHFD activities Sept. 23. Further information about NHFD activities in Texas may be obtained from the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas (SCOT), 311 Vaughn Building, Austin, TX 78701.

New 21-inch self-propelled rotary mower with 2.5-bushel rear bagger

The new John Deere 21-inch self-propelled mower is for people who want to get the job done quickly and easily.

It's fast-starting, quiet-running, simple to operate and, like all John Deere products, built to last.

A powerful 4-hp engine zips through even the toughest grass. Yet because of its lightweight aluminum deck, it's easy to maneuver.

Rear-wheel drive gives solid traction on hilly terrain. Optional rear bagging attachment rests between the handlebars so you can trim close to trees, bushes, and walls.

In addition to the self-propelled model, John Deere also makes reliable 18- and 20-inch push-type mowers (far right). All have adjustable 1- to 3-inch cutting heights and conveniently located controls.

All have protective rear guards and thoughtfully designed discharge chutes deflect most thrown objects downward. Features that have earned these mowers a safety seal from the American National Standards Institute.

Electric Weed Eater* Trimmer

Trim quick and close without blades. This trimmer cuts in those hard-to-reach spots with rapidly-spinning nylon line. There's no rigid blade to break or get dull. And, there's less chance of operator injury, too. The trimmer has a 3/4-hp motor. It is UL and CSA approved.

Start Now Planning For Annual Deer Lease

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—If you're a deer hunter and haven't gotten your hunting lease yet, you have a major consumer decision to make before the season opens. That's because hunting lease agreements can involve hundreds of dollars depending on what kind you choose.

There are four kinds of hunting lease agreements, according to Parks & Wildlife Department experts: "year-round," which includes hunting privileges on all species; "limited duration," which may be for a whole season or just a single week in the season; "day hunting," in which privileges are purchased daily; and "guided hunts," which generally are limited to large commercial hunting ranches and often involve exotic game.

In many cases, a hunting lease is arranged by "gentleman's agreement" and a shake of the hand. Our Attorney General's Law Enforcement Division lawyers, who represent Parks & Wildlife Department in legal matters, say sometimes this works satisfactorily, but other times it results in misunderstanding and friction between the landowner and the hunter, since neither knows for sure what rights are included with the lease.

For example, a hunter may think he has purchased year-round hunting rights, when the landowner thinks the lease is only for the deer season.

Or a hunter may clear brush, bring a chain saw in and cut down mesquite and cedar trees, in order to have a clear view around his deer stand, thinking he has the right to do so. The landowner may think otherwise.

Some landowners complain that hunters drive through pasture land on the way to and from hunting stands. They say it doesn't take long before a road is cut and erosion and destruction of the pasture land begins.

Some callers to our Consumer Protection Division have stated that they paid their lease fees and didn't get a promised deer. Parks & Wildlife officials report such complaints are familiar ones to them, too. "There hasn't been a deer on this place in months," a hunter may state angrily. In most cases, though, no guarantee is given by the landowner that a hunter will get his limit. Guaranteed takes are usually confined to large commercial hunting ranches where a hunter may pay only a token fee if he fails to get a deer.

Our attorneys and Parks & Wildlife experts recommend that all hunting lease agreements be put in writing to avoid possible confusion about what is included. Such an agreement should contain the following: what is leased; names of parties; description of the tract, size, and boundaries; terms of lease; payment amount and when due; duration of lease; what hunters are authorized; what game, fish, birds, and varmints may be taken; what services or facilities are included by the landowner; and who is to provide blinds, cabins, utilities, and doe permits.

Law Enforcement Division attorneys say the agreement should then be notarized and filed with the county clerk of the county in which the land is located. A properly drawn lease will be binding on the two parties involved, or on their heirs or representatives of their estates if one should die. If the land is sold during the term of the lease, the lease rights on the land itself will be binding on the new owner; however, rights to special services may not be. If the lease agreement is lengthy, if a lot of money is involved, if uncommon goods or services are to be provided, or if the parties want all terms of the lease to be binding on future owners, it would be wise to have a private attorney look over the agreement or draw up one.

If you have a consumer complaint involving a hunting lease, contact our Consumer Protection Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Lubbock, El Paso, or McAllen. If you live outside these areas, call toll-free 1-800-252-9236.

PUBLIC NOTICE SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 7, 1978

"The Tax Relief Amendment" (H.J.R. 1)

H.J.R. 1 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution allowing the legislature to exempt intangible personal property, requiring the legislature to exempt certain household goods and personal effects, and allowing the legislature to exempt all or part of the personal property homestead from state and local property taxation.

The amendment requires the legislature to provide for the taxation of farm and ranch land on the basis of its productive capacity instead of its market value and allows the legislature to provide for the taxation of timber land on its productive capacity.

The amendment permits local governments to extend the present exemption of not less than $3,000 of the residence homestead of persons 65 and older to include certain disabled persons.

The amendment grants an exemption from public school property taxes of $5,000 of the market value of the residence homestead. It authorizes the legislature to grant an additional exemption from public school property taxes of an amount not to exceed $10,000 of the market value of the residence homesteads of persons 65 years of age or older and certain disabled persons. If a person 65 years of age or older qualifies for this exemption, the total amount of public school taxes imposed on that person's homestead may not be increased.

The amendment prevents local governments from increasing property taxes unless the governing body provides public notice and conducts a public hearing. The amendment requires the legislature to provide by law for each property owner to receive notice of the revaluation of his property and the amount taxes will be increased.

The amendment limits appropriations from state tax revenue to an amount not to exceed Texas' estimated economic growth rate, with the legislature authorized to make exceptions for emergencies.

The amendment prohibits the statewide appraisal of real property for property tax purposes. Enforcement of uniform standards and procedures for appraisal of property for property tax purposes is required to originate in the taxing authority where the property tax is imposed.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for tax relief for residential homesteads, elderly persons, disabled persons, and agricultural land; for personal property exemptions; for truth in taxation procedures, including citizen involvement; for a redefinition of the tax base; for limitations on state spending; and for property tax administration."

NUMBER ONE (S.J.R. 50)

S.J.R. 50 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to delete the archaic reference to the "Deaf and Dumb Asylum." The amendment would allow the State of Texas to purchase products and services done by handicapped individuals in nonprofit rehabilitation facilities without complying with bid requirements applicable to other state contracts. The amendment also would eliminate the formality of the approval of certain state contracts by the Governor, the Secretary of State and the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment deleting the archaic reference to the 'Deaf and Dumb Asylum,' allowing certain products and services of handicapped individuals to be used by agencies and departments of state government, requiring the procurement of other products and services required in the operation of state government to be made under bids awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, making all such procurement processes subject to laws enacted by the legislature, and eliminating the requirement that the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the Comptroller of Public Accounts of Texas be personally involved with such transactions."

NUMBER TWO (S.J.R. 55)

S.J.R. 55 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to permit local governments to issue bonds for the reconstruction or acquisition of facilities (land, equipment and improvements) designed to develop employment opportunities. These bonds would be payable solely from the revenue from the sale or lease of these facilities. The building or acquisition of such facilities must be determined by the local government to be necessary to develop employment opportunities.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide that the legislature may permit political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds to develop employment opportunities for its citizens."

NUMBER THREE (S.J.R. 44)

S.J.R. 44 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution which would allow the legislature to authorize cities and towns to issue tax increment bonds to finance the redevelopment of blighted areas. The bonds are to be paid solely from revenue from municipal tax increments. Payment cannot be made from the revenue of municipal taxes, utilities, or other services.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to give the legislature the power to authorize cities and towns to issue bonds to finance the redevelopment of blighted areas and prohibiting any city or town from granting its money or lending its credit for such purposes."

NUMBER FOUR (S.J.R. 53)

S.J.R. 53 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to allow the legislature to exempt from taxation solar or wind-powered energy devices.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from taxation solar and wind-powered energy devices."

NUMBER FIVE (H.J.R. 37)

H.J.R. 37 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to grant exclusive jurisdiction to justices of the peace in civil cases where the amount in controversy does not exceed $200, except where the legislature gives exclusive jurisdiction to another court.

The amendment grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with county courts where the amount in controversy is between $200 and $500, except where the legislature gives the county court exclusive jurisdiction.

The amendment also grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with both county and district courts where the amount in controversy is between $500 and $1,000, except where the legislature gives the county or district court exclusive jurisdiction.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to extend the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in civil cases."

NUMBER SIX (S.J.R. 45)

S.J.R. 45 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to allow the legislature to expand the number of judges on any court of civil appeals. Presently courts of civil appeals are limited to a chief justice and two associate justices. The amendment also would allow the courts to sit in sections, with the concurrence of a majority of the judges sitting in the section necessary to decide a case.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to increase the number of justices on a court of civil appeals, permitting a court of civil appeals to sit in sections, and requiring a concurrence of a majority of justices to decide a case."

NUMBER SEVEN (S.J.R. 48)

S.J.R. 48 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution eliminating the State Building Commission and the State Building Fund. The authority of the State Building Commission has been transferred by law to the State Board of Control.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to repeal the constitutional authority for the State Building Commission and the State Building Fund."

NUMBER EIGHT (H.J.R. 42)

H.J.R. 42 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution allowing certain political subdivisions or districts in the state that can presently issue bonds or otherwise indebtedness or otherwise lend its credit to engage in fire-fighting activities and to issue bonds or otherwise lend its credit to support such activities.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendments authorizing certain districts to engage in fire-fighting activities and to issue bonds or otherwise indebtedness or to issue bonds or otherwise lend their credit for fire-fighting purposes."

New Changes Scheduled For School Immunization

Parents should stay familiar with the revised immunization regulations adopted by the Texas Board of Health, even though school has already started.

Some new grace periods have been added for this year, and by next year at this time a history of mumps or measles must be verified by a physician. In addition, mandatory age limits for future generations will be expanded over the coming school years.

At present, children entering school in Texas must be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, measles and rubella. In September of 1979, mumps will be added to this list. All kindergartners and first graders will be required to have this vaccination.

One grade a year will be added until coverage is complete. A history of mumps in the child's medical history will exclude the child from the vaccine. This history must be verified by a physician.

As of September 1, 1978, all children between the ages of 18 months and 12 years were required to be immunized against measles. After this year, the maximum age of the child requiring immunization will be raised. Parental histories of measles will be acceptable until September 1, 1979, and after that must be verified by a physician's statement.

"Childhood diseases are an ever present danger to the health of our children even though they are not as prevalent as they were in the past," according to Euel Smith, Director of the Immunization Division of the Texas Department of Health. Smith cites the school law passed in 1971 as an important factor in disease reduction. Diphtheria cases are down from 234 in 1970 to four in 1977; measles down from 8,494 to 2,032; and rubella from 8,409 to 776.

Parents concerned about records need to keep a few things in mind. You need to have an up-to-date immunization record when your child enters school. It should be validated by a licensed physician or public health clinic.

Some new changes referring to grace periods have come about. A 45-day period is allowed for response to Form C-90 which is a note to parents concerning measles immunization. There will be a 30-day period allowed for the transfer of immunization records from one child-care facility or school to another. A polio or DTP/Td dose received during the month prior to, or of, the fourth birthday counts as a dose received on or after the fourth birthday. Last, but not least, a measles dose received during the month of the first birthday counts as a dose received on or after the first birthday.

Other immunizations those young scholars will be needing are as follows: three oral polio doses, one of which under the new regulations must be given on or after the fourth birthday. If inactivated (injectable) polio vaccine is received instead of oral polio, then four doses are required with boosters every three years.

The DTP/Td requirement will be the same as polio except that for children 12 years and older, a dose is required after the fourth birthday and within the past 10 years. Rubella, as in the past, is mandatory through age 11 years or the fifth grade.

If your child will be going to a child-care center, the requirements will be a bit more age specific. If a child is under two months of age, there is no requirement. At two to four months, a child needs to have one dose of DTP (diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis) and one dose of oral polio vaccine. At four to six months, a child needs two doses of oral polio and three shots of DTP. At six to 18 months, two doses of oral polio and three DTP's are needed. At 18 months to five years, a child should have at least three oral polio, three DTP, and one dose each of measles, rubella, and mumps vaccines. (Mumps required 9-1-79).

"It is imperative that all children be immunized. The childhood diseases have been dramatically reduced since immunizations have been enforced," emphasizes Director of Immunization Smith.

If you need further information concerning the new immunization regulations you should contact the Immunization Division of the Texas Department of Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756. Information concerning what shots your child will need to enter school may be referred to your school district office.

Texans Love Pinto Beans, But Grow Very Few

AUSTIN--Texans love their pinto beans—and eat over 40 million pounds a year—but so few are grown here that crop figures are not recorded.

Ernest Jaska of Texas Power and Light Co. (TPL) in Waco thinks that is a bad idea. He wants to see more pintos grown—perhaps as many as 25 million pounds from 50,000 acres—in the sandy soil running from Gainesville up North all along the west side of the Blacklands.

"Anywhere you've got sandy soil," he said, "Beans just grow better in sand." To promote the idea and the crop from a recently completed pilot project on four farms in Milam and Bell counties, Jaska has been sending half pounds of the light brown speckled beans to politicians, media people and others he thinks would be interested. The beans arrive in plastic sacks accompanied by a letter—ostensibly written by a pinto bean.

"I think this shows how a good idea can be promoted inexpensively," said Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. "We are all for the development of another fine agricultural product—especially one as popular as pinto beans."

Texas was the third largest producer of pecans in the nation last year, with a crop of 36 million pounds, observes Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

Texas produced 12.4 million pounds of grapefruit in 1977, making it the second ranking state in the nation, notes Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

Production Over 16 Million

The multi-billion dollar boost that oil and gas industry operations gave to the Texas economy in 1977 was shared by the citizens of Haskell County.

The marketed value of petroleum production in the county has been calculated at $16.3-million in an economic activity profile of the state's top producing counties prepared by the Dallas-based Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"Texas' oil and gas industry remains the cornerstone of the economy of the state and of many of its counties," said the Association's president, H.B. (Hank) Harkins, Alice, independent producer and drilling company executive. "It is imperative that the state maintain taxing and regulatory policies which will encourage the growth of this industry."

Haskell was one of 201 counties last year which produced petroleum with a marketed value of $100,000 or more. The county ranked 133rd in the estimated total value of petroleum produced. The Association has computed that some $15.8 million came from the production of 1.7 million barrels of crude oil, with approximately $476,000 attributed to an output of $26,600 MCF of natural gas. Payments last year to owners of royalty in the county were calculated at $2 million.

While paying local, county and state property taxes, producers in the county also helped support state government through production tax payments estimated at $762,400. This included $726,700 from crude oil output, $35,700 from natural gas.

School stress

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — A University of Texas educational psychologist thinks parents and teachers can do a better job of helping children cope with the stresses they encounter at school — from reciting in class to gaining approval of their classmates.

Dr. Beeman Phillips, author of "School Stress and Anxiety," says the stress of going to school for the first time can be relieved if parents educate their children about the new situations they will be exposed to. Teachers, too, need to recognize that children are not likely to talk about the anxiety they feel and may even mask their reactions to stress by becoming passive and, therefore, misidentified as the stereotype of "good students."

Hartsfield To Give S&H Green Stamps

The Hartsfield Agency in Haskell has been licensed by the Sperry & Hutchinson Co. to use the S & H Green Stamp program according to S & H area manager, Larry Rushing. "We selected the Hartsfield Agency as one of the top residential firms in the area to use our program," said Rushing. With the S & H Green Stamp program, the Hartsfield Agency will give 10,000 Green Stamps to the owner of any residential property who give them an exclusive listing. The Texas Real Estate Commission has reviewed the program of offering S & H Green Stamps as an incentive to sellers to list their homes and stated it was in compliance with the Texas Real Estate Laws and that nothing prohibited the use of the program for home sellers.

FFA Members Elect Officers

The Haskell Future Farmers of America had their first meeting of the new school year September 11. Officers for 1978-1979 were elected: President, Jeff Frierson; Vice-President, Vonnie Hise; Secretary, Joseph Browning; Treasurer, Mark Wallace; Reporter, Robert Browning; and Sentinel, Rufino Escobedo. The FFA Sweetheart was also chosen which is Lindy Collins.

There are sixty-eight students now enrolled in Vocational Agriculture. Twenty-five of those students are in VA I; nineteen students in VA II; fifteen in VA III; and nine Ag Mechanic students. Among projects discussed at the meeting were plans for the year, the first being the Haskell County Fair. Every student in Agriculture is expected to participate in the fair by entering exhibits and showing animals.

In 1728, potatoes were outlawed in Scotland because they were not mentioned in the Bible.

October Is Farm Demonstration

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has proclaimed October as "Cooperative Farm Demonstration Month" in Texas and called upon all citizens to join in the observance.

The first farmer-conducted demonstration of the use of scientific research in farming—as an educational tool for improving agriculture—was inaugurated near Terrell, in 1903. A 70-acre tract on the Walter C. Porter Farm was selected for the farm demonstration site by Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, a longtime educator and special agent for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This educational method employing the principle of "learning by doing" is an expression of the procedures of democracy, wherein the individual puts forth his efforts voluntarily to learn the practical use of new ideas for the benefit of himself, his family and neighbors, the proclamation indicates.

"From this beginning in 1903, when Dr. Seaman A. Knapp proved that farm demonstration educational programs are successful, the county agent system operated by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has grown. Extension work is now cooperatively supported by county, state and federal governments. Today, as in 1903, the chief teaching method for both adults and youth continues to be the demonstration technique," says Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, Extension Service Director.

Observances of the 75th anniversary of farm demonstration work are scheduled in each of the 14 Extension Service districts. These will follow the Oct. 12 kickoff meeting in Dallas at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center and a program that afternoon at the Porter Farm near Terrell. The Dallas meeting is set for 11 a.m. and the Porter Farm tour and program will start at 4 p.m.

Representatives of the families of the late Dr. Seaman A. Knapp and Walter C. Porter will participate in the Dallas program, along with state and national dignitaries.

"At the district and county observances, longtime farm demonstrators will be recognized and honored. The public is invited to participate in the programs," reminds Pfannstiel.

Some people believed that they could cure whooping cough or rheumatism by crawling under an arch formed by a bramble.

COMPLETION...Joseph Browning captured this 9 yard pass six plays after he had returned a punt 72 yards for a TD last Friday night. The Tribe trounced Anson 58-6 and will meet Hamlin this Friday at 8 p.m. at Pied Piper stadium. (Staff Photo)

Chamber Directors Plan Christmas Program

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met September 5th, with President John Rike, III, presiding for the business meeting.

After the Invocation by director Wayne Lehrer, the manager read the minutes of

IRS Workshop Set Nov. 30-December 1

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service in offering 31 Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state reports Max Stapleton, County Extension Agent.

The nearest workshop to our area will be held in Abilene on November 30th and December 1st. These two day workshops are specifically designed for tax practitioners who work extensively with farmers and ranchers. Topics to be covered include Schedule C & F, Employment and Social Security Taxes, IRA and Keough Plans are among other topics.

This year three advanced programs will be offered in Houston and San Antonio stressing tax preparation for small businesses also.

For additional information, please contact the County Extension Office for a brochure explaining more about the program and registration information.

Garden Produce, Crops To Be Fair Feature

All Haskell County residents are urged to bring crops and garden products to the Haskell County Fair.

There will be seven classes in both the youth and adult division this year.

No entry fee will be charged. Ribbons will be awarded. Entries will be accepted from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 20, 1978. Judging will be Sept. 21, 1978.

For more information on the type of crops or garden products to be entered, read pages 35-39 of this year's 13th annual Haskell County Fair book found at all local merchants or call this year's chairman, Gary Druessedow at 864-3757 after 8 p.m.

Druessedow urges all Haskell residents to make a gigantic effort to bring in as many entries as possible, so all attending this fair can view the beautiful crops and garden products produced in this fine agriculture county.

Judging this year's contest entries will be T.C. Blankenship, former Hamlin agricultural teacher.

The Alaskan brown bear is the largest meat-eating animal that lives on land, according to The World Book Encyclopedia. It grows up to 9 feet (2.7 meters) long and weighs over 1,500 pounds (680 kilograms).

the August meeting and presented the financial statement for the month. Charles Thornhill made motion, seconded by Tom Hairgrove, that minutes be approved as read. Thornhill made motion, seconded by Mike Jordan, that the financial be approved.

Charles Thornhill reported that the Christmas decoration fund had reached $7,900.63 and approximately $600 was needed to defray all expenditures of the program. He then called on Wallace Wooten, chairman of the general Christmas program, to present the committee's recommendations for the 1978 event. New decorations for the business district will be up and the lights turned on the night of November 24th with a planned ceremony to highlight the occasion. Three special drawings will be held on the court house square at 11 a.m., Saturdays Dec. 9th, 16th, and Thursday, Dec. 21st. Customers shopping in the Haskell stores will sign names and addresses and will not have to hold tickets stubs. $500 to be given each drawing with recipients or winners to receive $5 gift certificates redeemable in any participating store. For the first time persons whose names are called at the drawings and are not present, will receive one half of specified amount. The balance to be held until the last drawing when someone will win the jack pot by being present when name is called. All drawing tickets will remain in the container for the entire length of the Christmas program. Santa Claus to be present at each special drawing. Also, to increase interest in both local and out of town shoppers in taking their tickets, participating stores will be judged to determine which one has the better display advertising the drawings. First place winner will receive $30 and 2nd place $20.00. The outlined program was unanimously approved by the board of directors. Present for the meeting were John Rike, III, Francine Johnson, Jim Bynum, Tom Hairgrove, Larry Gilliam, Mike Jordan, Wayne Lehrer, Charles Thornhill, Wallace Wooten and manager Rex Felker.
