

Jaycees To Coordinate Creek Cleanup

Work began this week to clean Spring Branch Creek in Haskell when members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department and the Haskell County Jaycees held a controlled burning on two blocks of the creek.

The project, coordinated by the Jaycees, will ultimately include clearing all debris from the creek bottom left by the August flood.

Federal Disaster Funds are available to clean the creek, and the Jaycees have pledged all funds received from the project will be donated to the Fire Department to be used to build a new fire station.

The Jaycees have tentatively scheduled work days at the creek for March 3 and 4 and 10 and 11. Work days will be held Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The disaster funds allocated for the project amount to approximately $12,000.00. To receive the funds, accurate records listing names, hours, and equipment used, will be required.

The project must be completed by May 3, to receive the Federal Funds. A large portion of the work will involve removing the trash and brush from the creekbed. This work must be completed as soon as possible so that all phases of the project can be completed by the May 3 deadline.

The Jaycees are requesting the assistance of all clubs, organizations, and individuals in the community to make the project a success. Jaycee chairmen Charles Andress and Bo Owens are confident that the project can be successfully completed but are concerned that workers will not take time to register. The registration is a vital requirement for the Federal funds to be received. A complete schedule of the work days and needed equipment will be published in the Free Press next week.

THE PROBLEM... The August flood in Haskell left several tons of debris in the bed of Spring Branch Creek and the Haskell County Jaycees have taken responsibility to coordinate the removal of the debris. Community workdays have been scheduled for March 3, 4, 10, and 11. A complete schedule of the workdays will be included in the Free Press next week.

THE SOLUTION... Volunteer Firemen held a controlled burning earlier this week in the creek bed. Dead weeds and grass were so tall that it was impossible to effectively remove the debris. All groups and individuals in Haskell will be contacted during the next week to request assistance during the project. The project must be completed by May 3.

Bloodmobile Visit Set 1-6 P.M. Today

Today, February 22 is the date for the next visit of the Red River Regional Red Cross Bloodmobile to Haskell. The bloodmobile will be set up in the HNB Community Room from 1 to 6 p.m. The goal for this visit has been set at 80 units of blood to insure the blood and blood product needs of the county are met.

The Red River Regional Red Cross Blood Center is the processing site for 40 regional hospitals. Regular deliveries are made to these hospitals but when a special need arises at a hospital such as Haskell County Memorial Hospital, the Red Cross Center sends out the necessary units of blood.

Because blood can only be stored for 21 days, donors are always needed to replace the supply. A donor may give blood every 56 days if they are between the ages of 18 and 65, in good health and weigh at least 110 pounds. Seventeen-year-olds can give with written parental consent.

The actual process of giving blood only takes from seven to ten minutes but with time for registration, the medical history and refreshments, the donor should expect to spend about an hour at the bloodmobile. A brief medical examination including blood pressure, temperature, pulse and a hemoglobin blood test is given to every potential donor. These are some of the factors that determine if it is safe for the individual to be a blood donor and if the blood being donated is safe for a patient to receive.

One hour is not a lot of time when it could save someone's life. Blood cannot be made anywhere except in the human body and must be given voluntarily. It is truly the gift of life.

WTC Sets Sewing Workshops

Two sewing workshops are planned at Western Texas College on February 27. Both groups will meet in the Science Lecture Hall.

Altering and Fitting Patterns will be the subject of an afternoon session set for 1-5:30 p.m. Fees for this class will be $5 per person.

Sewing Shortcuts will be explained in an evening workshop from 6:30-9 p.m. Fees for this class are $3 per person.

Shirley Van Eschen, Home Economist for the Sew/fit Co. of LaGrange, Illinois, will direct both workshops. Persons wishing to attend one or both workshops are to call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE

All persons interested in playing in an adult softball league are asked to meet at the softball park on South 6th this Saturday at 8 a.m. for a workday. The league will organize and men and women teams will be selected the following Saturday. For more information, contact John Sam Rike or Sammy Decker.

Sales Tax Rebate Received

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said rebates to Texas cities of the local option one percent sales tax are up a whopping 36 percent this month over the same period last year.

Bullock said Texas cities will receive a rebate of some $25.5 million this month compared to a net payment of about $13.7 for February last year.

The 1979 year-to-date payments for city sales tax rebates have climbed to $43.7 million, compared to a two-month figure last year of $32.2 million, an increase of $11.5 million.

The City of Haskell received a rebate of $5,929.74

Houston will receive $5.4 million for this reporting period, compared to a payment of $2.8 million during February of 1978, or an increase of about 30 percent.

Fort Worth's check for February will be $954,490 compared to $542,741 by the city during February last year.

Dallas will get a check for $2.4 million, which is 25 percent more than the amount paid during the same period in 1978.

The rebate check for San Antonio will total $1.3 million or an increase of 35 percent over the 1978 allocation for February.

Over 909 Texas cities will receive rebates as their share of the city sales tax.

The sales tax is collected by merchants and other sales tax permit holders along with the state sales tax and is rebated monthly to cities in which it is collected by the Comptroller's Office.

Trail Drive Set Today

Haskell Livestock Auction has scheduled its eleventh annual Trail Drive for today, February 22. The special wheat field consignment sale will be held Saturday.

March 6, Is SBA Deadline

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) today reminded farmers and ranchers who suffered financial hardship due to drought losses on 1978 crops that applications for SBA's Physical Disaster Loan Program must be returned before the March 6, 1979 deadline.

"The Small Business Administration's 1978 drought disaster declaration now includes 125 Texas counties," said Alicia Chacon, SBA Regional Director. "Because producers in counties adjacent to these 125 declared counties are also eligible, our disaster loan program covers almost the entire state."

So far, 5159 Texas producers have been interviewed by SBA concerning 1978 crop losses caused by extreme drought conditions. Loan requests totalling nearly $42 million have been received.

"These disaster loans may be used to pay outstanding obligations and operating expenses and for production costs in the new crop year," said Chacon. "However, they may not be used to refinance a Farmers Home Administration or other USDA loan."

Interest rates on SBA Physical Disaster Loans are three percent on the first $250,000 and 6 5/8 percent on remaining amounts. Maximum maturity of the loans is thirty years with terms based on repayment ability. The loans normally are repaid in equal annual installments including principal and interest. A producer may borrow only the amount of his actual losses, and SBA loans cannot duplicate other disaster payments.

"Producers who are able to obtain credit from other sources are still eligible for an SBA disaster loan," Chacon said. "But we suggest that they check first with their local FmHA representative."

The Small Business Administration has ten offices which are serving Texas agricultural producers. Persons who suffered losses to 1978 crops because of drought conditions are encouraged to visit one of these offices and discuss SBA's disaster loan program with a loan officer. Completed applications must be returned to SBA by the March 6, 1979 deadline.

Unconsciousness because of injury or illness is usually a protective act of nature. Bystanders should not try to arouse the victim-no shaking, shouting, no splashing water, no smelling salts, no liquids to the mouth which might choke the unconscious person. He needs rest or he would not be unconscious. Let the victim lie flat if his face is pale-a pillow beneath head and shoulders if he is flushed. Summon medical help-meanwhile control any bleeding, and give mouth resuscitation if breathing has stopped. Avoid moving the patient if possible.

American Ag News

BY BETTYE MCBROOM

The following is taken from the AMERICAN AGRICULTURE NEWS February 13, 1979, and sent in from Morgantown, West Virginia.

The northern tractorcade route was hit by a blizzard just as they tried to cross the mountains at Morgantown in mid-afternoon on February 1.

The tractorcade had planned to park at Coopers Rock park just past Morgantown, but when the front of the line approached it, snow was already blowing and the roads were getting slick. Leaders decided the tractorcade must travel on to Cumberland, Maryland, another 50 miles, because they knew the tractors would not get out if they entered the park.

The front part of the tractorcade continued on toward Cumberland, but campers began to stall on the hillside conditions rapidly worsened, heavy snow was falling, and a bitter 40 mph wind blew snowdrifts across the highway so fiercely that drivers could not see. The road wound around and up and down the mountains, and each curve and hill became a potential death trap.

The last part of the line was forced to go back to Morgantown when several vehicles stalled on a hill and at least two tractors nearly went off the mountain.

There was no place for the front part of the line to pull over; side streets and pullouts were impassible either up or down hill.

Night fell, the snow continued to blow, and visibility approached zero. Groups traveling together became separated, and communication all but stopped. Drivers could see a few lights ahead and a few behind, but had no idea of their position in the line, or where their friends were.

On into the night and over the mountains in the blizzard the tractorcade inched. Tractors had to pull support vehicles several times up the mountains.

Several stopped off at Friendsville, Maryland, a small town that made them welcome, but highway patrolmen warned them that if it snowed again that night, they would be trapped for a week. School children in the Colorado school house were stranded; parents did not know where the school house was.

Finally, about 10 p. m., patrolmen led the tractorcade into the campus of Frostburg College at Frostburg, Maryland. The ice-covered driveways were like a roller coaster, and support vehicles again had to be dragged up the hills.

Parking lots were partially filled with stranded student cars, and other students were attending night classes. Tractors and campers parked sandwiched in whatever space they could find.

A bitter wind blew throughout the night, and camper heaters were inadequate to fight the cold.

Tractorcades had to be out of the parking lot at 6 a.m. because morning classes opened at 7. It was a short night after getting parked and finding something to eat, since the last break had been at noon.

The next morning, it was the same story, second verse. One tractor, pulling a pickup up a hill, slid on the ice downhill into the pickup, barely missing the pickup driver, who was standing outside, and bashing in the pickup front and headlight.

Tractors and campers struggled another 8 miles to Cumberland, Maryland, where the roads were completely dry. It seemed like the end of a nightmare.

The group which stayed at Morgantown, West Virginia, were led over the mountains the next day. Bits and pieces of the northern route straggled into Frederick, Maryland, near Washington, D. C.

After being snowed in for two days at Greenville, Illinois, this seemed like the clincher to a very hard trip for farmers coming into Washington, D. C. from the north.

Have you given that much to fight for the family farmer and rural America? If you haven't then it is your turn to carry your load and help.

Soil and Water Conservation Districts

Today's farmers are in a tough spot. Prices for many of their products are down, while costs for fuel, labor, and equipment are up. Equally upsetting is the fact that this price-cost squeeze is not likely to improve soon.

The farmer's best bet to improve profits is to cut overhead. Reduced tillage trials show that one way a farmer can do this is to change the way he plows his land. Conservationists with the USDA Soil Conservation Service call reduced tillage the system of the future.

The fact is, many farmers plow too much. A lot of this has to do with tradition. But, reduced tillage methods can be the out they're looking for. In some cases, seedbed preparation trips can be cut down. Many farmers are planting crops directly into the stubble of previous crops, without other preparation. Sometimes, this is the only way to successfully grow two crops in one year.

Reduced tillage can be a real money-saver when it comes to fuel and labor costs. Conventional land preparation and planting may take five to seven gallons of fuel per acre. But, when tillage trips are reduced, fuel use is cut substantially. Also, fewer tractor trips mean less labor. The time and money saved by shifting to reduced tillage systems can be used for other improvements.

Leaving the stalks of sorghum, wheat, and other crops on the soil is an effective conservation measure. Reduce tillage and you reduce erosion. It's that simple. And, residues on the soil help wildlife, too, by providing food and cover.

So, if you're looking for a way to beat the price-cost squeeze, here's a tip from the SCS. During the year, list all tractor trips across your land prior to harvest of your major crop. Estimate the cost of every operation. Decide whether each trip was made to increase production or if it was made because of tradition. By eliminating all the habit trips, you will develop a more efficient operation. And, you will find that it's better to switch than fight higher operating costs.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—As the cost of living continues to rise, so does the number of deceptive offers urging individuals to "make money at home in your spare time."

While such gimmicks are not new, they are especially unwelcome during a time when many consumers are searching for ways to earn enough to meet their obligations, and when they may be counting on earnings from the advertised "work at home" plan to succeed.

Lawyers in our Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division say that although there are many legitimate offers for persons to make money from work done in the home, it seems that at present the fraudulent plans are the ones that are proliferating.

Such work at home schemes are most often advertised in newspapers or magazines. They can generally be identified because they almost always promise high profits for little work, and because they require the respondent to pay money to get further information or to get the items that must be sold to make a profit.

The main thing to remember about deceptive work at home plans, according to our attorneys, is that they are selling something rather than offering employment.

For instance, the U.S. Postal Inspector, who is charged with enforcing mail fraud laws, frequently deals with operators who sell scraps of materials and instructions for turning them into salable items such as earrings, supposedly to be sold at high prices to persons on mailing lists which also are supplied to the consumer.

Almost all of the persons who respond to such ads not only have no profits to show, but they are also out the expenses of the materials, mailing lists, and postage.

One other typical aspect of the phony work at home scheme is that the consumer is led to believe the company will buy back the products "if they are up to our standards" in case they do not sell.

Typically, the goods don't sell, the company won't buy them back, and the consumer ends up with a gross or two of the product in his or her garage.

Other deceptive tactics include companies that offer for sale instruction booklets and other material to be resold for a profit. Sometimes the consumer doesn't receive shipment after sending payment. Other times the publications are ones that could have been obtained for free, usually from the U.S. Government Printing Office.

Our Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division attorneys urge persons who are tempted by work at home advertisements to be cautious about paying for information about plans, materials, or equipment. If you think you have been the object of mail fraud, contact the U.S. Postal Inspector.

If you have a consumer complaint about deception in work at home plans, call the Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Lubbock, El Paso, or McAllen, or contact your district or county attorney.

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q: Is it illegal to put a police radio monitor in my car? — S.S., San Marcos

A: A monitor no... a transmitter, yes. If you take a monitor along with you on a trip, be warned that it is illegal to have either transmitter or monitor in some states. Also, even in Texas, passing on information received over a police radio monitor is a violation of the Federal Communications Act of 1934.

Q: How many DWI convictions are allowed before the state suspends your driver's license? — G.G., Dallas

A: All you need is one conviction of driving while intoxicated (DWI) to have your license suspended for a year. It's not automatic, but at the discretion of the judge.

Q: Why should I keep anti-freeze in my car all year round? — R.S.T., Orange

A: Because anti-freeze does more than just protect the engine block in cold weather. These days it's called coolant, which describes more accurately what it does. A mixture of coolant and water not only protects the car in cold weather, but cools more effectively than plain water. In addition, modern coolants have anti-corrosion additives to protect the water pump and the water passages from deterioration and mineral buildup.

Q: Is a flashing red light at night the same as a 4-way stop on a regular stop sign? — N.B., Austin

A: Yes. A flashing red light, day or night, means that you must make a complete stop until it is safe to continue. Yield the right of way to vehicles on right.

Congressional Comment by Charles Stenholm

The main responsibility of a Congressman is to represent the best interests of the people who elected him. To do this requires the wearing of many hats and the performance of a myriad of services. So that you will have a better idea of just what kind of assistance we can offer you, we have prepared a list with the names of employees in my Washington, D.C. Office and have provided information as to the type of help they can provide.

Lois Auer is my legislative assistant. Her work involves drafting new legislation in the District's interest and keeping me informed of the status of pending legislation. She also researches and responds to incoming letters pertaining to governmental affairs. Previously, Lois worked for Mr. Burleson for 5 1/2 years as legislative aide.

Rochina Casale came to Washington in September 1977, to work on the staff of Omar Burleson, where she was employed until his retirement in January of this year. At that time, she began working for me. Her duties include basic secretarial and stenographic work, along with varied case work.

Judy Curtis, Administrative Assistant, served in the same capacity for Congressman Omar Burleson. Having worked for Mr. Burleson for the past 23 years, she has a wide acquaintance with the 33-county 17th Congressional District. Judy is responsible for the overall management of the office, workload and production, staff management coordination with the District offices, establishment of office objectives, and assignment of projects.

Robert Dyer recently moved to Washington from Cisco, where he previously worked as a farmer-rancher. He is a graduate of Hardin Simmons University with a degree in mathematics. He brings with him an extensive knowledge of two key industries of the 17th District—energy and agriculture. Bob is serving as my adviser for energy related matters.

John Haugen works on Social Security, Medicare, welfare, and related matters. He previously served on the staff of Omar Burleson for 2 1/2 years.

Sonny Lee of Snyder is my press assistant as well as adviser on foreign affairs and foreign agriculture. He is a graduate of Western Texas College and is presently attending American University School of International Service, where he is a Presidential Scholar.

James Morgan from De Leon, has worked as both a lawyer and a farmer. He has received a B. S. degree from Tarleton State in Agricultural Education, an M. S. degree from Texas A&M in Agricultural Economics, and a law degree from the University of Texas. He will use his extensive knowledge and experience as my agricultural adviser.

Madeline Schneider, Typist, works on typing projects, having worked for Congressman Burleson in the same capacity.

Carol Ann Sentena is a native of Abilene, where she graduated from Abilene High School in 1973 and received a B. A. in Political Science from Hardin Simmons University. She is involved in secretarial duties and responding to constituent requests.

Claudia Sipe, Executive Secretary, has worked on Capitol Hill for approximately 26 years; 22 of these years have been spent working for former Members of the Texas Delegation. Among the myriad of tasks which she performs are assisting constituents with military and veterans problems together with handling telephone requests.

Ken Walter, from Abilene, previously worked as an aide to Omar Burleson. He has a B. A. degree in accounting from Texas Tech University and is a Certified Public Accountant. Ken is an assistant legislative assistant. His duties include working on matters dealing with the Post Office and Civil Service Committee and also business-government relations.

A Congressional office is moving on a number of planes. At any given time, we (Congressman and his staff) can be involved in formulating a legislative idea and drafting a bill, responding to constituent requests, handling case-work, and attending committee meetings. I believe I have a staff that is capable and certainly willing to assist you whenever you need help dealing with your government.

If you feel that you need assistance please do not hesitate to contact one of my three Congressional offices:

SPECIAL OF THE WEEK!

Putnam, Dossey Wed In Dallas

A service of worship celebrating the marriage of Janet Rebecca Dossey and Jerry Glenn Putnam, was held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 6 at Tyler Street United Methodist Church in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Dossey of Weatherford, and Rev. and Mrs. James Wm. Putnam of Haskell, are the parents of the couple.

Prelude music, "Break Forth O Beauteous Light," "Lord, Redeemer of All Who Know Thee as Savior," and "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place" was played by Joseph Abston of Dallas.

As the candles were being lighted by Don and Ron Putnam, brothers of the groom, "What Wondrous Love," an arrangement by the groom, was sung by Billy, Jan, Wiley and Jerry Putnam. The mothers were seated as Mrs. Rebecca Harris on the harpsichord, accompanied by Tom McKnight on the cello, and Mrs. Mary Ann Montgomery on the flute, played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

Mrs. Brenda Fast, of Vancouver, Wash. served as matron-of-honor and was escorted to the altar by Charles Harris, best man, from Dallas. The bridal attendants were Mrs. Abbe Crowder of Fort Worth, escorted by groomsman, Billy Putnam of Dallas; Mrs. Roxanna Worley of Brownwood, escorted by Jan Putnam of Dallas; Miss Cindy Palmer, escorted by Byron Putnam of Abilene; and Miss Cheryl Dossey, sister of the bride, escorted by Wiley Putnam of Abilene.

The attendants formal dresses were of mint green polyester jersey, empire style with soft folds in the front falling to the floor, over which an elbow length, double cape of mint green chiffon was worn. Each attendant carried a round colonial-style nosegay bouquet of greenery, gypsophylla, and burgundy carnations. In the center of each bouquet was a lighted votive candle in a crystal holder.

The groom was attired in a candlelight tuxedo with candlelight shirt. His attendants were attired in black tuxedos with candlelight shirts.

The bride's niece, Tamarah Lea Fast, Vancouver, Wash. served as flower girl and scattered petals of burgundy carnations from a white wicker basket. Her empire style formal dress of mint green and white lace, had short, puffed sleeves and a three tiered skirt. A nephew of the groom, James Putnam, Lazbuddie, was ring bearer and wore a candlelight tuxedo and matching shirt.

As the bride approached the altar with her father, she carried a mother of pearl Bible from Jerusalem. The Bible was topped with a cattleya orchid corsage. Her gown was of candlelight organza accented with a cape sleeve and keyhole neckline, outlined with Venice lace. A bib of re-embroidered lace was featured at the neckline. The full flowing skirt extended into a chapel-length train. A Juliet headpiece of heavy Venice lace was attached to a long, silk illusion veil bordered with the same lace. Her "something new" was the Bible she carried. "Something borrowed" was her sister's wedding band; and she wore a blue garter. Her chapel-length train was straightened by Dawna Gwen and Janine Leah Putnam, sisters of the groom. The mother of the bride chose a mint green formal of polyester jersey with fitted bodice and an attached mint green chiffon cape that came to a point in the front and back. She wore a burgundy carnation corsage.

The mother of the groom wore a blue polyester crepe formal, princess style, with a blue chiffon cape. Her corsage was the same as the bride's mother's.

After the hymn of celebration, "All Creatures of Our God and King," Rev. Paul L. Morell, Senior Minister of Tyler Street United Methodist Church, gave the charge of marriage. The Holy Scriptures were read from the balcony by Rev. Don Allen. Brenda Fast sang, "Eternal Life;" and Rev. James W. Putnam, father of the groom, and pastor of First United Methodist Church, Haskell read the vows and pronouncement of marriage. As the bride and groom observed Holy Communion, Rev. J. Wesley Putnam of Lazbuddie, sang "The Lord's Prayer." The couple lighted a unity candle from two candles that had been lighted by the mothers before they were seated. They left the sanctuary as the hymn of praise, "Doxology," was sung.

Lary Fast of Vancouver, Wash. served as head usher, assisted by J. King and David Montgomery of Dallas, Rev. J. Wesley Putnam of Lazbuddie, and Lloyd Bowling of Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla. They wore black tuxedos with mint green shirts and burgundy carnations boutonniers.

The bride's chosen colors of burgundy and mint green were accented with white at a reception held in Anderson Hall immediately following the ceremony. As the guests greeted the bridal party in the receiving line, they passed white wicker screens, large white wrought iron bird cages with live doves and greenery trees.

At the end of the receiving line was the bride's table draped in burgundy with white satin rope accents. Traditional white wedding cake and chilled fruit punch were served from the bride's table. The centerpiece was a three tiered cake with fresh flowers and a fountain.

The groom's table was draped with a green cloth with an arrangement of burgundy and green carnations. Hot hors d'oeuvres and coffee were served from his table. White wicker screens behind each table and silver appointments completed the reception.

Mrs. Lynne Brown, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book. Mrs. Tonya Baker of Watauga, Mrs. Denise Putnam and Mrs. Kelly Putnam of Dallas, served at the bride's table. Mrs. Felicia Putnam of Lazbuddie, and Mrs. Mary Ann Montgomery and Mrs. Rebecca Harris of Dallas, served at the groom's table. Dawna and Janine Putnam passed out burgundy rice bags.

The couple left the church in a limousine, then flew to Colorado for their honeymoon. They will make their home in Dallas where the groom is a student at Perkins School of Theology. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom at Wyatt's Cafeteria in Wynnewood Village.

Ever see a 15-million dollar cattle truck? It looks as though that's where things are headed with the announcement by major air carriers that 747's are going to be converted to livestock haulers for international markets. Officials say live cattle transportation to countries outside North America is already 80 percent by air with both the volume and the percentage expected to increase during the coming years. For the animals themselves it's all first class. Interiors are redesigned and structured to resemble a barn with separate pens or stalls. Special temperature control and ventilation systems are being designed and separate studies are underway to determine other ways to increase animal comfort. No one has yet decided whether to include in-flight movies but it sounds as if they may not be far away.

Texas Tech Slates University Day

As many as 1,200 high school students, and maybe more, are expected at Texas Tech University March 2 to learn about college life, roam the campus and end the day with a free swimming and dance party at the Aquatic Center.

While most students will be coming for personal advice on college choices, there will be planned activities for fun as well as ongoing university events open to the visitors.

Students from throughout Texas and as far away as Connecticut and New Jersey have indicated they will attend the fourth annual University Day at Texas Tech, beginning with registration at 8:45 a.m. and a general assembly from 9:30 to 10 a.m. in the University Center Theater.

Capacity of the theatre is 1,000, but Admissions Officer John Edwards said that response from high school counselors indicates there could be an overflow crowd "if the weather is good for travel."

Lubbock merchants, working through the Lubbock Visitor and Convention Center are assisting with party food for the swimming and dance event beginning at 8 p.m. There will be live music there. For the price of admission students can choose to watch mime Keith Berger performing at the University Center Theatre or hear Don Sanders playing the guitar and singing at the University Center coffeehouse in the "Storm Cellar."

As with the swim and dance party there is no charge for the daylong continuous running videotape, "Henry David Thoreau: The Captain of Huckleberry Party," or campus bus tours.

Throughout the day students can roam and browse in the University Center Ballroom where there will be booths representing organizations and student services on campus. In addition, in recognition of Engineers' Week, the Engineering Student Council will have special exhibits in the University Center.

Other plans will help high school students learn more about higher education, whether they intend to enroll in Texas Tech University or some other institution.

Dr. Robert H. Ewalt, vice president for Student Affairs, will welcome guests. Honors Program students will participate in the welcome also.

From 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. each of the university's six colleges will provide advisement programs to acquaint the high school students with possible majors in agricultural sciences, arts and sciences, business administration, education, engineering or home economics.

"Students who take advantage of these sessions," Edwards said, "should be able to make better career choices when they enter college. Because this is an important part of the day's programs, advisers will assist students on an individual basis during the day. Some colleges will repeat the formal advisement programs."

For more information contact John Edwards, Office of Admissions and Records, Room 101 West Hall, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, area code 806: 742-3661.

Meat should be frozen at 10°F. or less, and as quickly as possible.

NO MATTER HOW YOUNG YOU MAY BE, IT'S NOT TOO SOON TO PLAN Your Future... Enrich It - With An IRA Account AT THE FRIENDLY HASKELL NATIONAL BANK

The I.R.A. (Individual Retirement Account) is an important part of your planning for the future (or should be) if you are not covered by a company retirement program where you work. There are many advantages to this type of plan, now offered at Haskell National. Here are a few:

1. You can deposit $1,500 or 15 percent of your annual income (whichever is lower) in your I.R.A. each year.
2. The money you deposit in your I.R.A. is tax-deductable. It's taxed only when you draw it out, and by then you will probably be in a lower tax bracket.
3. You can begin to withdraw funds from your I.R.A. if needed when you are 59 1/2—and you must begin to withdraw them by age 70 1/2.
4. One of the nicest things about your I.R.A. is the way it will grow...if you put $1,500 per year, you will have $9,571.60 after five years, $23,794.50 after 10 years, and in 20 years, your balance will be a whopping $76,333.70. If you're 40 or younger, you can save 30 years in an I.R.A. and reach $192,342.33! (Based on our current rate of 8% compounded quarterly).

The I.R.A. Account must be opened prior to April 16 or the filing of your 1978 income tax return, to qualify for tax deduction in 1978. ACT NOW—IT'S IMPORTANT!
