Fire Station Fund Over $18,600.00

Donations this week to the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department building fund were $3,185, bringing the total pledged and donated to date to $18,624.00.

Department members are pleased to note that business donations are continuing and that individual donations are beginning to be received at a faster rate.

Funds are now available for the purchase of the building and department members expect to place the order within the next few days. With the purchase of the building, the first goal of the project is about half completed. Doors, foundation, erection of the building, and insulation, all comprise the first goal of the project. Estimated cost of the first portion of the project is $38,000.00.

Estimated cost of the building is $16,000.00; doors, $6,000.00; foundation, $9,000.00; erection, $5,000.00; and insulation, $3,000.00. These prices are estimates to the nearest $1,000.00.

Following the erection of the building, department members intend to complete all inside work which will include offices, training facilities and restrooms.

Department members wish to express their thanks to all who have pledged or donated funds to the project. With each new day the facility comes closer to being a reality.

Persons who would like to make donations to the fund may do so to any member of the department, at Haskell National Bank, or at the Fire Station.

Rodeo Anagram Continues

Last week's winner in the rodeo anagram contest was Roberta High of Haskell who compiled two hundred and sixty seven correct English words from Bronco riders.

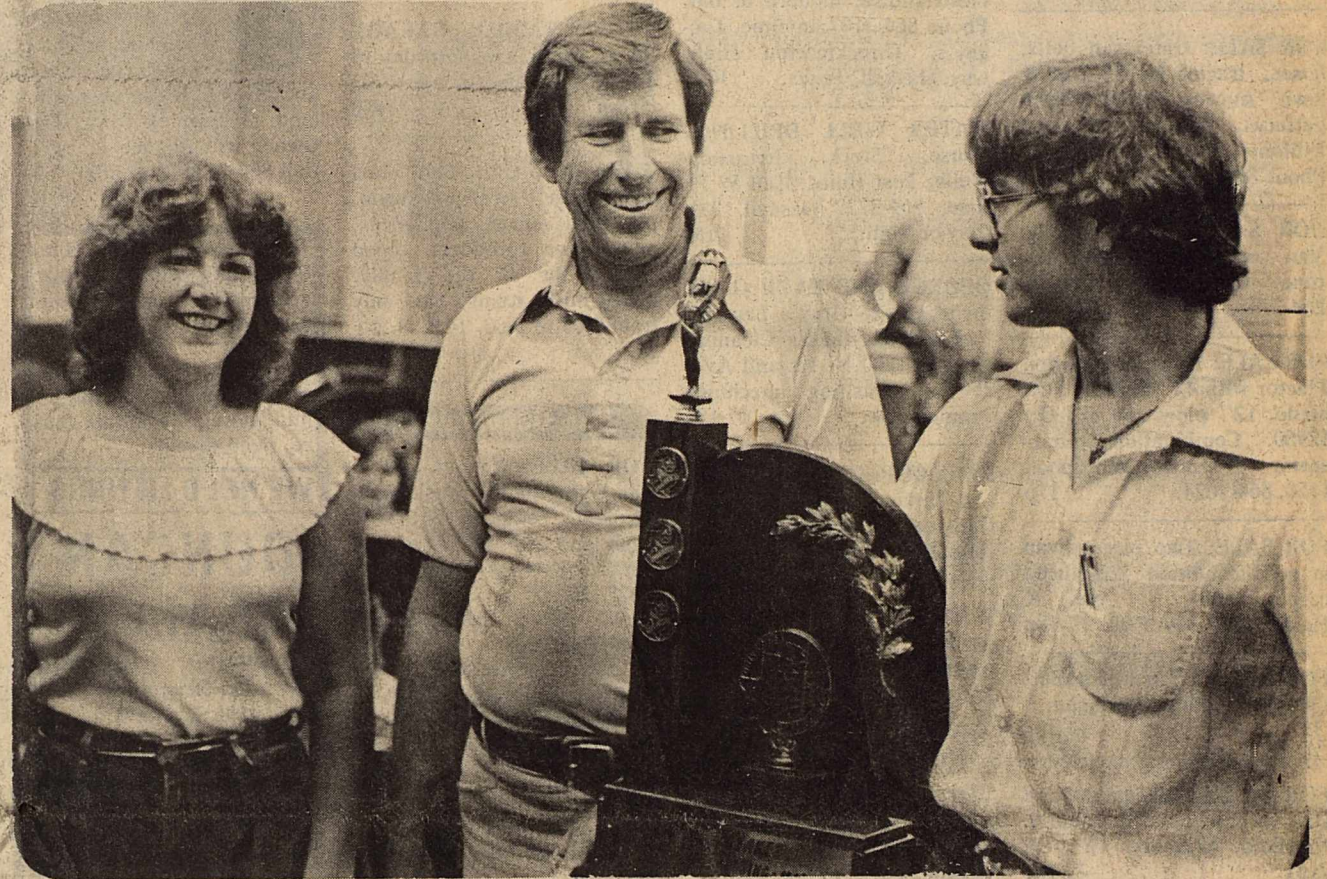

Other contestants who came up with over two hundred correct words were: Robert Geilhausen, Mrs. Walter Kretschmer and W. O. Lewis, all of Haskell.

This week's subject for the rodeo anagram is Barrel Racers.

Two free passes to the Jaycee Rodeo to be staged in Haskell on the dates of May 24th, 25th and 26th, will be presented to each week's winner.

Watch the Haskell Free Press for each week's subject in the novel contest.

Entries were received from the towns of Haskell, Rule, Throckmorton, and Aspermont for the first weekly contest.

HHS INDIAN BAND members attended the annual UIL sight reading and concert contest last week in Vernon and received two Superior ratings. The band had previously earned a Superior rating in the fall UIL marching contest qualifying them for the coveted Sweepstakes Award for the fourth straight year. Shown with the Sweepstakes trophy are: Drum Major Peggy Harris, Band Director Wendell Gideon and Band President Phillip Stocks.

Indian Band Wins Fourth Sweepstakes

The Haskell Indian Band earned its fourth consecutive U.I.L. sweepstakes award in competition at Vernon last week. In order to receive the beautiful sweepstakes trophy, a band must receive a composite "I" or superior rating from three judges in each of three events: marching (held in fall), concert playing, and sight-reading.

To earn a U.I.L. sweepstakes award is quite an accomplishment in itself and a musical group which puts together four in succession has indeed joined a very select list.

The Indian band's reputation as an outstanding musical organization reaches to many areas of the state as evident by the large numbers of band directors who ask to borrow tapes and films of their performances.

The band members put in a great deal of extra time throughout the year in order to have the type of organization the community should be proud of, but band members agree it all seems worth it when the ratings are announced.

The 1978-79 band is composed of 81 members.

Golf Tourney

The annual partnership golf tournament at Haskell Country Club will be held this weekend.

A special feature of the tournament will be a steak supper and calcutta Saturday night.

Both the supper and calcutta will be open to the public. Tickets for the steak supper are available from Frank Markey, The Drug Store, Johnson Pharmacy, and Haskell National Bank.

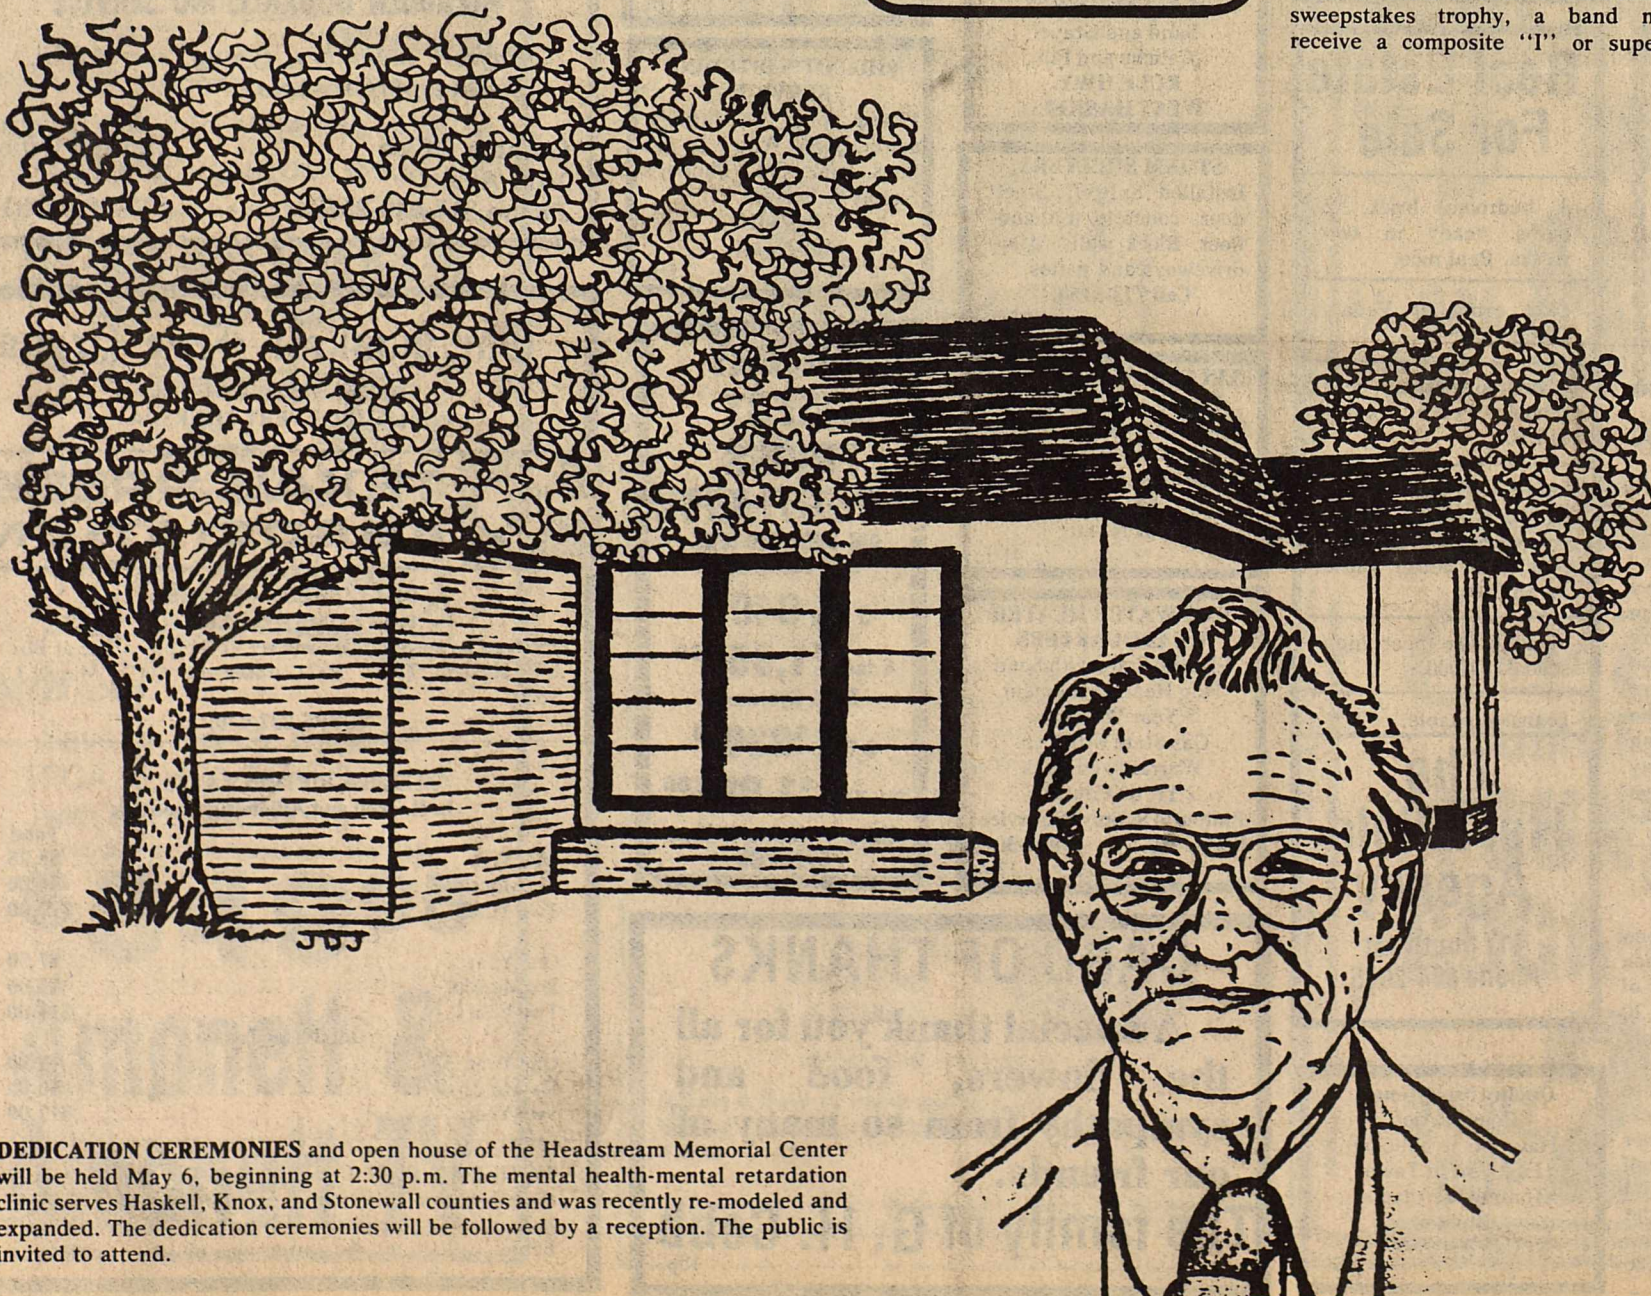

Parents are needed to help Saturday morning and if you are able, please call Jennifer Burgess 864-3834. We ask that if you drive on these streets Saturday that you watch for the children.

For their generous contributions project leaders wish to thank Ben Franklin, The Dairy Queen, The Drug Store, M-System and Perry Brothers.

Children should come with their sponsor sheets listing their sponsors, amount per mile they pledge and their parents signatures.

Modernization Program
Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announces the approval of a $195,000.00 contract to the Haskell Housing Authority by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

This is additional funds to complete a modernization program on 50 units of public housing in Haskell.

DEDICATION CEREMONIES and open house of the Headstream Memorial Center will be held May 6, beginning at 2:30 p.m. The mental health-mental retardation clinic serves Haskell, Knox, and Stonewall counties and was recently re-modeled and expanded. The dedication ceremonies will be followed by a reception. The public is invited to attend.

Coronary Club Helps ...

Heart Patients Recover Health

Kathy Ryan, Coronary Club Project Manager, checks her "Bulletin" and "Famphlet" ready-file at Club headquarters. More than 95,000 pieces of helpful literature are mailed yearly.

The old saw "Misery Loves Company" is helping many a heart-attack victim to hasten recovery and return to a normal life style. Heart veterans need more than medical assistance to effect a solid recovery. They need therapy of the mind as well as the body. It is as important to the healing process as are present-day drugs and medical procedures, say the doctors.

Lift the spirits. Eliminate uncertainties. Let heart patients know that they are not alone in their recovery-period doubts and concerns.

It is this philosophy that has enabled the young Coronary Club, Inc. to grow "like Topsy". With modest headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, the non-profit Club, organized in 1968, now has a national enrollment of nearly 10,000 contributing members and numerous local chapters, coast to coast.

Eleven years ago, Dr. Irvine H. Page, a modern giant in medicine who was Director of Research of the Cleveland Clinic and a heart-attack veteran himself, joined forces with the late V.A. Whitaker of Harrisburg, Pa. to launch today's Coronary Club, Inc. Whitaker, brilliant engineer, inventor and a national leader in the design of electrical components, met Dr. Page as he prescribed for Mrs. Whitaker, a Clinic coronary patient.

Both men felt that more could be done to educate heart disease veterans, enabling them to live more comfortably, and to help others from becoming victims of heart disease — the nation's number 1 killer.

Local Economist Discusses Inflation

BY GINA JENNINGS

The first moment the lanky figure of economist John Kenneth Galbraith entered the ballroom was a moment Raja Hassen will not soon forget. Hassen has been studying Galbraith since he was an economics student at the University of Texas. And after more than twenty years of distant admiration for the internationally famous economist, Raja Hassen had the rare opportunity to hear him personally at the 57th annual meeting of the Southwestern Social Science Association held at Ft. Worth. Hassen, a member of the Association, attended the March conference on economics, politics and social change which attracts scholars from all over the nation.

A Haskell businessman, Hassen holds a master's degree in economics and describes the field as a "passion" with him. To students of economy like Raja Hassen, Galbraith has long been a respected and influential character. However, Galbraith became a familiar figure to the general public when at the 1972 Democratic convention, he debated with William F. Buckley, Jr. Calling Galbraith "an intellectual among the liberals," Hassen notes that the Harvard professor has served as advisor to such powerful politicians as John F. Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson.

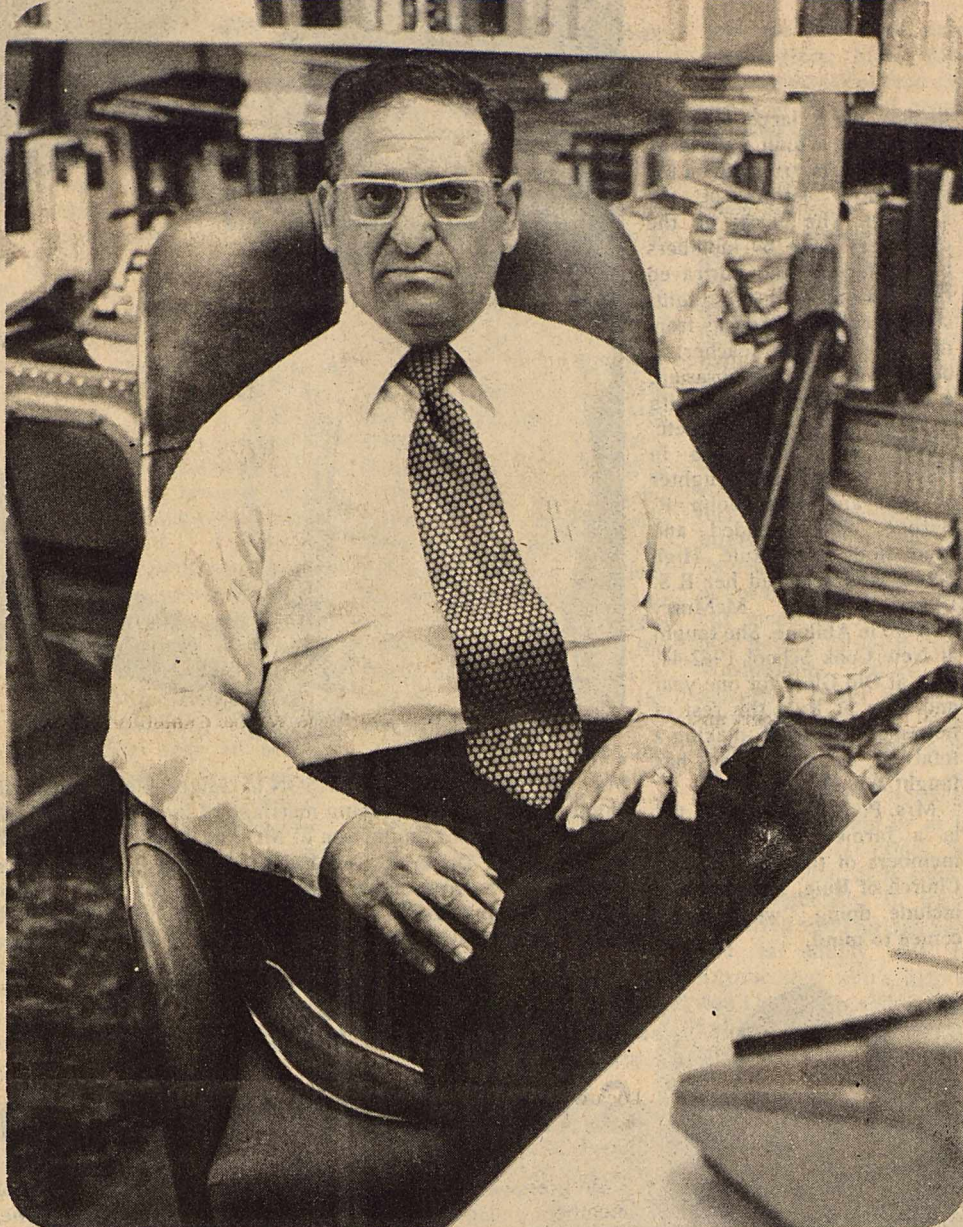

To the layman with little understanding of the economic system as a whole (the category into which this writer falls), Galbraith's genius on the subject may seem as bewildering as it is brilliant. Yet, with his rich understanding of the field, Hassen is able to clearly explain the points Galbraith made at the conference. He emphasizes that his interpretation of Galbraith may not be entirely precise, but for the person who rarely understands anything beyond the balance in his own checkbook, it is accurate enough. By sharing his own knowledge and the information gained from men like Galbraith, he sheds a welcome light on what appears to be a faltering economic system.

Since inflation is our major economic problem, Hassen explains Galbraith's view of its causes. He lists low productivity as the number one factor. Hassen states that as an economy matures, there is a natural decline in labor productivity, and as the unit of productivity declines, prices rise. Affluent people just don't work as hard. Smiling, he recalls Galbraith's wry description of university students as "refugees" from manual labor. Commenting on his typically dry humor, Hassen chuckles over the economist's quip that he regarded his own life as a "successful escape from the work of an Ontario farm."

Another inflationary factor found in a maturing economy such as ours is homogeneity. Hassen explains the term as the lessening of the sharp differences between the classes. Although at one time the standard of living for professionals like doctors and lawyers was far above that of the blue collar worker, now the difference has diminished. As living standards are upgraded and the purchasing power of the blue collar worker is increased, pressure is placed on markets to supply beyond their capacity and prices go up.

However, Hassen points out that the most important change in our economy is what Galbraith calls "the decay of the impersonal market." Quoting surprising statistics, Hassen states that only 3,000 companies in the U.S. produce about half of the Gross National Product. Hassen feels that the free enterprise system has been crippled by the market control of heavy industry. He explains that, because of the concentration of economic power in large corporations and the control of labor unions, the individual has little economic significance. This is a completely different situation than the one in which free enterprise was established in 1776. At that time, businesses were individually owned and operated and competition was strong. But, according to Hassen, the competition which originally kept prices down is not operating today.

Reflecting Galbraith's view, Hassen said that since much of the economy is no longer working on the principal of supply and demand, "the old methods no longer stop the competitive upward thrust of income." The result is a steadily inflating economy.

It is difficult for economists to keep up with constantly changing economic situations. Hassen admits that because of this we are often faced with trying to solve current problems with the solutions of the past. By the time economists can fully understand the current economic problems, there is a new set of problems occurring. Again quoting Galbraith, he stated, "It is evident that policies that have worked before haven't worked in the last 20 years. There have been changes that are more penetrating and deep-seated than we are inclined to think."

Galbraith's proposed remedy for inflation, says Hassen, favors a "stronger tax policy, reduced budget and a limit on spending of borrowed money by consumers." Hassen explained that the Federal Reserve bank could restrict consumer borrowing by either raising the amount of cash reserve each bank must maintain, or raising its own rate of interest. Both would result in reducing the funds available for loans. Although this would curb inflation, Hassen points out that it could also cause recession, citing Galbraith's conclusion that in this case "it is entirely possible the remedy is as serious as the disease."

Another approach to the problem of inflation was presented at the conference by conservative economist Arthur B. Laffer of the University of Southern California. According to Hassen, Laffer advocated the lowering of taxes. He takes the position that taxation increased to a certain level causes the individual wage earner to lose his incentive to produce. When asked at what point this occurs, Hassen responded that Laffer believes we are already at the point of diminished incentive. Whether or not Laffer's solution will work, Hassen agrees that it will naturally be the most popular among middle-income Americans hard hit by taxes and inflation.

No matter how little control we as consumers have over economic policy, Hassen stresses that we are all caught up in the system. With a slight smile, he offers his favorite quote by economist John Maynard Keynes. "The ideas of economists and political philosophers, both when they are right and when they are wrong, are more powerful than is commonly understood. Indeed the world is ruled by little else. Practical men, who believe themselves to be quite exempt from any intellectual influences are usually the slaves of some defunct economist..."

With this great amount of economic information at his fingertips, one would hope Raja Hassen could offer some helpful hints to us consumers who are floundering in the sea of finance. He simply shakes his head. He admits that despite his study of the nature of economics, as an individual consumer, the principles are of little help. We are all fairly helpless victims of the system. Even so, as prices soar and talk of monetary and fiscal policy goes round and round, it's comforting to know at least one person in Haskell who understands what's going on.

All-Breed Horse Show May 12

An Open All-Breed Horse Show has been scheduled for Saturday, May 12, at the Knox City Arena on Highway 6.

Activities will begin at 9 a.m. with halter classes for mares, geldings and stallions, which will be followed by performance events, which will include showmanship, western pleasure, western horsemanship, barrels and poles in two youth and one adult division. Also scheduled are open reining, a walk-trot class for youngsters 8 and under, and an open ride-a-buck class.

In the ride-a-buck class, contestants ride bareback sitting on a one dollar bill. The last rider with his dollar still under him/her wins the class...and all the money everyone else dropped.

Judging the show will be Larry Graham of Altus, Oklahoma. Mr. Graham is an experienced judge who also shows horses himself.

Trophies will be awarded to first place in each class, with trophies and garlands also to grand and reserve champion stallion, gelding, and mare and to high point individual in each age group. Ribbons from second through sixth will be awarded in all classes. All participants in the 8 and under walk-trot class will receive ribbons. Also featured will be a stallion parade which will be held during the noon break. Anyone who is standing a stud may bring him into the arena individually either in halter or under saddle, and an announcer will give a resume of his performance and bloodlines. It is hoped that through the stallion parade the public will have an opportunity to see some of the excellent stallions being stood in this area.

Entries will be taken at the show with entries closing at the beginning of the preceding class.

Rule Teacher Honored With Reception

Mrs. Geraline Pool, retiring third grade teacher of Rule Elementary School, was honored with a reception on Sunday, April 29th, in the Rule Philadelphian Clubhouse between the hours of 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Over 100 former students, friends and guests from Rule, Sagerton, Old Glory, Arlington and Haskell called.

Receiving guests with Mrs. Pool was her husband, R. C., Mr. and Mrs. Lavon Beakley, Rule School superintendent, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lusk, principal of Rule

Elementary School. Elementary school teachers and co-workers of Mrs. Pool registered guests and served refreshments. Guests registered in a tablet notebook lying on a school desk that also held a school bell.

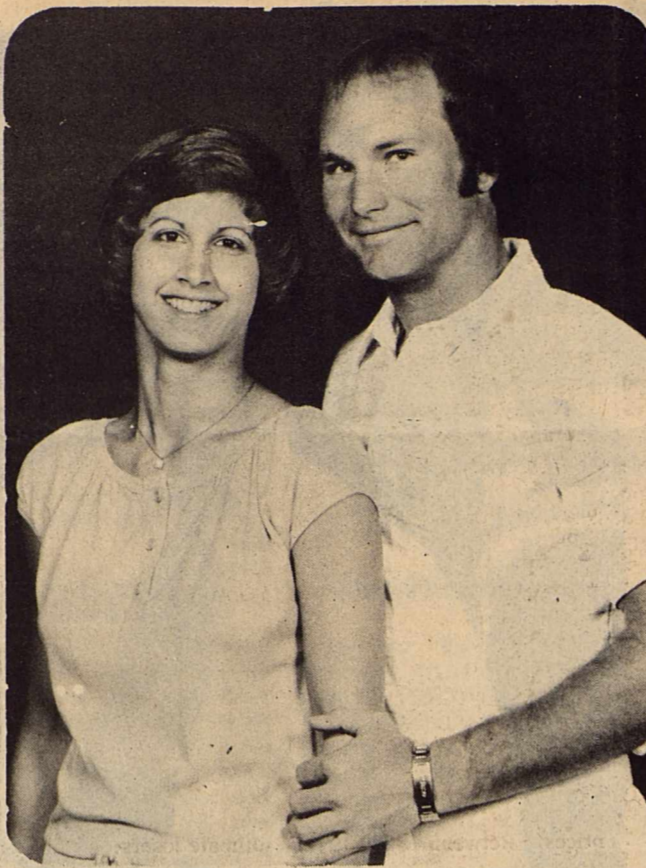

The serving table was laid with a mint green cloth with a white lace overlay trimmed in lace. A large bouquet of spring flowers in a crystal vase was centered on the table. An assortment of cookies, mints and punch were served to those attending.

A large plaque was presented to Mrs. Pool by the school board and was displayed on a table along with the gift of a crystal bowl and crystal candleholders. Also on display on a large standing screen was a quilt with large picture blocks, trimmed on the sides with letters of the alphabet. The blocks on the quilt were done by members of the faculty and portrayed their various subjects taught, such as children's blocks from the kindergarten teacher, a book cover from the librarian, a basket holding apples with each teacher's initials and etc.

Mrs. Pool was born in Haskell County, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Barbee. She attended and graduated from Rule High School and received her B.S. Degree from McMurry College in Abilene. She taught at New Cook School 1942-44, then at Old Glory for one year and then at Rule the rest of her teaching career, making a total of 37 years she has taught school.

Mrs. Pool's husband, R. C., is a farmer and they are members of the First Baptist Church of Rule. Future plans include doing "what ever" comes to mind.

MR. AND MRS. JIM THOMASON of Gainesville announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jean Thomason, to Jack Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Smith, Jr. of Haskell. The bride-elect has a B.S. from East Texas State University. The prospective bridegroom has a B.S. from Tarleton State University. Both are employed by Bonham I.S.D. The couple plans a July 14 wedding at 6:00 p.m. in Northside Church of Christ in Bonham. Gene Wolf will officiate.

TV Series Scheduled May 5

"We're #1" is a four-part television series presented by The American Lutheran Church. The series is an attempt to take a look at the contemporary American scene from the vantage point of the Christian Gospel. It asks the question: Can the last (servants of the LORD) be first (as typical Americans are) and still last (still be servants and endure as people and as a society)?

The second part of the series will be presented this Saturday, May 5, at 12:30 p.m. on KRBC television, Channel 9. It includes Gary Burghoff ("Radar" of the television series, M*A*S*H) and several writers and theologians. The program will investigate the question of self-identity, that is, who am I as a person. Often television offers us little of value for our lives as Christians but you may find this a very worthwhile time for you and your family.

Family Roots Wins History Contest

Lori Hardaway, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bowers, won first place in Denton County in the Texas History Award-Winning Essays for 1979, sponsored by the Peters Colony chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. The historical essay went on to state competition where it was awarded third place. Junior historians from across the state met at the meeting in Ft. Worth.

Lori researched her "Polish Roots", which have their beginning in 1855 when the first Gawlik family came to the United States. She wrote about the immigration of her Great-great-great-grandfather, Jan Gawlik, from the Silesia region of Poland to Panna Marie, a settlement founded just south of San Antonio. Research revealed that Jan Gawlik was a builder by profession, and in this small community the original Gawlik stone house still exists as well as a church and school which he helped to build. The family history continued from this man to the present day descendants.

DRIVELINE

Are you speaking English or American? If you've watched enough old Alec Guinness movies on TV, you no doubt are aware that the British have an odd command of the language, especially concerning cars. We put our suitcases in the trunk, our transatlantic cousins put theirs in the boot. Other comparisons? Hood versus bonnet; truck versus lorry. It gets stranger. A shock absorber is a damper. A station wagon is called an estate car, or if you prefer, a shooting brake. The British call a fender a wing. And if a Londoner offers you a ride in a saloon, he probably means a sedan. If you're offered a ride in a Pub, that's something else.

See the Motorcycle? A Los Angeles study showed that over half of all motorcycle accidents are caused by motorists who said they either didn't see the cyclist at all or didn't see him until it was too late. Street intersections are the worst danger zones. Both bikers and drivers should be looking out for each other here. The most frequent cause of a motorcycle accident was a motorist turning directly into an oncoming cycle's path. This helps explain why a Texas study found "the most likely area of the body to be injured (in a typical frontal impact motorcycle accident) is the head. When the head is left unprotected, the possibility of serious injury or death is significantly increased."

Who invented the motorcycle? A German engineer named Gottlieb Daimler. In 1885 he was looking for a way to test a lightweight engine. So he built a bicycle, installed the 3/4 horsepower engine, and rattled off on an 18 mile road test.

Fastest motorcycle ever made? The Silver Bird Streamliner, 21 feet long and powered by two 750 cc engines. Donald Vesco pushed The Silver Bird to 307.692 MPH at the Bonneville Salt Flats in 1975.

The Marathon Award, however, goes to a trio of Australians who rode one cycle 8,432 miles for 21 days in 1977 to establish 500 hours as the longest time one motorcycle was kept in continuous motion.

But no matter how long you're on your motorcycle, statistics prove that your chances of being killed in an accident are 150% greater if you're not wearing a helmet.

The following article is taken from the American Agriculture News, May 1, 1979. It was written by Harvey C. Gardner, State Coordinator, AAM of Oklahoma.

AMERICAN WILL BE THE LOSER
One of the often stated goals of the AAM is to preserve and protect the family farmer and when we ask people to help us in this struggle we are really asking them to help themselves. When labor, business or any other group vows to help the AAM they are not doing us any favor but rather themselves and the people they

Judge Geraldine Hise, Justice Court, Precinct 1, Haskell County, reports a total of 206 convictions for the month of April, 1979. Traffic and criminal cases were filed by the following law enforcement agencies: Highway Patrol, 186; Game Warden, 16; Sheriff's Dept., 0; resulting in a total of $4,409.55 in fines.

American Agriculture News

represent. Certainly the rising cost of living has hit the consumer, but it has also hurt the farmer who produces the food and fiber for this nation. In spite of this major problem the family farmer has continued to become more efficient and productive.

Twenty five years ago the average farmer fed approximately 61 people, which is a record unmatched anywhere in the world. With this thought in mind we can truthfully tell people that we enjoy a high standard of living in the U. S. because of the family farmer and not in spite of him.

We all know the farmer gets the blame when food prices go up and one major goal of AAM is to educate the consumer as to who is really getting the benefit of increased food prices. Between 1970-1977, food prices rose 50 percent faster than those items we consider to be non-essentials. Thanks to the monopolistic power of food processors, multi-national corporations, and other corporate middlemen the food inflation for 1978 was over 18 percent. Yet the farmers share of the food dollar has continued to decrease, while from 1967-1977 after tax profits in food marketing rose 150 percent. While the prices farmers receive for their products are going down or stayed essentially the same, the costs of the things he must buy has skyrocketed. When we compare our present situation with 1967 we should be startled to find the following facts:

Fertilizer..... UP 80%
Feeds..... UP 104%
Seed..... UP 150%
Gasoline..... UP 125%
Gas & Electricity... UP 134%
Mchery. & Equipt... UP 120%
Pesticides..... UP 250%
Farm Drugs..... UP 85%

This list could go on and on; however, the facts clearly show that while the rest of our economy is inflating the prices farmers receive have remained essentially static. Under these kinds of conditions the family farmer will not survive and all Americans will be the ultimate losers.

We are already to the point that less than 500,000 farmers are producing over 78 percent of the food in this country and this dangerous trend continues to accelerate. Most economists agree that once we go past a certain point in farm numbers that the trend will be impossible to reverse. In my opinion we are very near that numerical point and we must strive for immediate action from our state and national governments. Many farmers are running out of time and we owe it to them and ourselves to address the immediate problem.

Over the last several weeks much discussion has centered around organizing AAM on a national level and there are views on both ends of the spectrum. Likely most people believe we need some kind of national structure. It is good that we address this issue; however, we must remember that we have a national effort now and the problem is now. If AAM spends all its time discussing organization and forgets to continue our efforts thousands of farmers will go out of business while we plan our mode of operation. We now have a national office, a Washington office, and numerous states and we can accomplish things now if people will just help a little.

Our national office needs financial help and every state can do something or at least make an honest effort. Some have said that their state will help financially if we get organized and I for one believe that is simply not true. Anyone that won't help now won't help later and we just as well face that fact. When we really look at the situation I am reminded of the words of Patrick Henry when he said "Our brethren are already in the field. Why stand we here idle?" Certainly our AAM brethren are already in the field and if we stand idly by and watch them fall our children will pay for apathy.

I personally believe we should organize AAM; however, I also believe that we must continue the struggle today as well as tomorrow. Let's all work together and support our state and national efforts while developing a basic sense of guidance and direction. Planning and knowledge are fine but unapplied ideas are a total waste.

We can make all manner of excuses as to why we won't help; however, ultimately we will have to face ourselves and realize that by failing to do our part we helped bring about the extinction of the family farmer. If through our current efforts we can save just a few farmers we have been a big success and the world will be a better place because of our united efforts. The AAM and its goals are probably the last chance we are going to have to save the family farmer and we must not let it fail because of petty differences. The paths of history are covered with the bones of philosophers, planners, and critics; however, without people of action nothing has ever been accomplished. In AAM we have planners and people of action so let's all work together now to achieve those honorable goals on which our movement was founded.

Ken Lane, Cliff Dunnam and Donald Griffis attended a state meeting in Irving this past weekend in which Texas voted to organize. More later.

A Touch Of Mystery

Perfume isn't simply dabbed at pulse-spots anymore. Parfums Rochas—creators of Mystere de Rochas—suggest wearing the sophisticated, slightly naughty new fragrance as an invisible fashion accessory, letting it emphasize each aspect of your total look.

For instance, the perfume will add romantic contrast to a streamlined linen jacket when misted on a square of silk tucked rakishly in the pocket. To scent a little straw hat delightfully, flirt a bit of fragrance over the brim. At night, whooshed on the hem of your dancing dress and bare, sandalled ankles, you'll leave clouds of romance in your wake.

After the first beguiling whiff, Mystere de Rochas will invent daring new ways to add a touch of mystery to your life.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Millions of credit cards are lost or stolen every year, and millions of dollars of unauthorized purchases are made on those cards. Best available estimates indicate that the majority of all unauthorized credit card charges and the resulting financial loss to cardholders involve cards that were lost by cardholders or were stolen from them.

Our Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division attorneys note, though, that consumers have partial protection under the federal Truth in Lending Act when credit cards are lost or stolen. It provides that the maximum liability of a cardholder is $50 for unauthorized charges made on a card.

Credit card issuers must tell you of this limited liability and supply you with a self-addressed, stamped notice to use if a card is lost or stolen. If the issuer fails to observe these requirements, the cardholder is protected from all liability. The law also requires that all cards bear your signature, photo, or some other means of identification.

Even though consumers have some protection, it can still be a blow to lose a wallet containing several credit cards, because you can lose $50 on each card. So it's best to avoid the problems of credit card loss in the first place. One way is to cut up and dispose of any cards you don't use regularly. You should also sign new cards right away, and make sure cards are returned to you after each use. Never loan a credit card to someone who isn't an authorized user, as this violates your contract with the issuing company.

Our attorneys also suggest that you keep a list at home of all credit cards, with account number, name of issuer, and addresses. Check occasionally to be sure you have all your cards and telephone the issuer if any card is missing. Follow up the call with a registered letter or telegram of notification.

You should also be aware of signs of credit card theft or abuse. If a monthly bill doesn't arrive, someone may have stolen your card and sent in an address change. Or perhaps your monthly bill on a charge account is larger than the individual charge slips would indicate.

If you suspect credit card theft or abuse, contact your district or county attorney. Under the Texas Penal Code, this may be a third degree felony punishable by 2 to 10 years in the penitentiary and a possible fine of up to $5,000.

For help with a consumer complaint, get in touch with the Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso, Lubbock, or McAllen.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

from DOYLE HIGH
The air inside most houses is probably as polluted as the air outside, says a report in Modern Medicine. Outside air gets inside the home. To it is added the smoke and fumes of cooking and heating appliances, chlorine escapes from boiling water, and now we have the added host of chemicals from spray cans—cleaners, deodorants, hair sprays, lacquers, bleaches, pesticides, and air 'fresheners'. The lacquers and waxes can coat the lungs just as they coat other surfaces. It poses the question—do the many convenience sprays improve the quality of living more than they endanger health?

Certified Seed Pays

In side-by-side field tests, cotton researchers have proven that certified seed produces higher yields than farmer-saved or select seed of the same varieties. And the extra production — as high as 18% more lint — is more than enough to pay for the cost of planting the certified varieties.†

Before you plant another row of non-certified seed, consider the advantages you get from Pioneer® brand certified cotton planting seed:

- Certified cotton planting seed from Pioneer has not undergone genetic deterioration in the field. Volunteer plants and undesirable cross-pollinations have been eliminated.
- Certified cotton planting seed from Pioneer is free from pests and weeds which often accompany non-certified varieties. You can be sure of the purity and uniformity in the seed and the crop it produces.
- Certified cotton planting seed from Pioneer is carefully handled and stored to avoid contamination by other varieties. Then, if it doesn't meet high standards for germination and purity, it's not used.

We would like to publicly thank the Haskell Sheriff's Posse for the donation of their flagpoles to the Stamford Jr. Sheriff's Posse.

We appreciate this donation very much. We think they will improve the appearance of the Stamford Jr. Sheriff's Posse in the area parades we attend. We feel this will benefit the youth of the surrounding communities and we hope to be able to keep with the winning tradition that comes with them.

Many of our residents became a year younger this month. Those having birthdays this month were: Mary Schoenstedt, Mattie Hines, Eunice Honea, C. L. (Dutch) Cross, Mary Bradley, and Elmer Ragsdale. Isn't it great we can take off a year now instead of adding it on. We celebrated everyone's birthdays Thursday with the Church of Christ ladies from Haskell bringing all the goodies. Everyone really enjoyed the cake and punch as many returned for seconds!

Our morning exercise is really doing great not only many of our residents are beginning to join in the fun, but we even have a few guests sitting in with us now and then. One of our guests was four year old Angela Hisey from Rule. She even helped to lead our exercises and really showed us up. We really enjoyed her happy face and hope she will join us again.

We decided to have a little sing-a-long Friday with Mrs. Klose playing the organ. Well we sang and played our rhythm band for a little more than an hour. When we finally finished many were asking to do this at least once a week. So if anyone has any songs that we might use to copy off we would certainly appreciate them and put them to good use.

Our morning and evening services Sunday were brought by the Church of God and the Church of Christ. We really appreciate all of our churches who bring our worship services to us. This is a great thrill to many of us who can not attend services elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Brock of Ft. Worth and Mrs. Cathy Poe of El Paso visited Bill Harrell.

Visitors with Fannie McQuinn were Mr. and Mrs. George McQuinn of Sabina, Mrs. Talbert Chisum of Leakey and Edwin McQuinn of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Meta Kupatt from Sagerton, Mr. Dwayne Hendrix of Costa Mesa, California, and Mrs. Fran Hendrix of Austin all visited with Hilda Kupatt during the week.

Maggie Martin's visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Snyder of Seymour, Lavern Lee of Rule, Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Martin of Ft. Worth.

Visitors with Lemma Lammert were Becky and Leland Naurett from Stamford, Alice Bredthauer, Etta Leach and Mrs. M. Y. Benton all of Sagerton.

Cleo Mondy's visitors were Mrs. Marvin Ray Mondy of Odessa, Cheryl Robins of Houston, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Mondy of Oklahoma.

Ada Williamson visited with Zinita Mayberry from Plainview.

Visitors with Nannie McCaul were Lynn Matysiak, Ruth Eaton, Hazell Lewis all of Rule and Nicky Hunt of Lubbock.

Visitors from Old Glory with Johnny Pumphrey were Hazel Letz and Chris Vargas, from Rule Mrs. Lillian Cole.

Alvena Holle's visitors were Etta Leach and Lillie Lehrmann both of Sagerton.

Rule visitors with Trudie Bush were Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Flora Smith, and Mrs. Hollis Rucker also, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Snyder of Seymour.

Charity Bradley visited with Geraldine Pool, Mary Place, Lynn Matysiak, and Hazel Almond, all of Rule, also, Lee Ray Leflar and son Bill of Munday, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Snyder of Seymour.

Visitors with Ora McCollough and Alma Cole were Lillian Cole, Hazel Lewis, Rev. Wayne Dowden, Lynn Matysiak, Ed and Lucille Verner, all of Rule, also, Mrs. M. Y. Benton of Sagerton, Mr. and Mrs. Lee May of Abilene, and Velma Wallace of Snyder.

BRUSH MANAGEMENT

The Haskell County ASCS Committee informed me last Monday that the 1979 sign-up period for brush or shrub control was still set for May 3 through May 9. Applications for mechanical control methods will be limited to three types: tree-dozing, root-plowing, and root raking. There will also be three chemical methods available: low/volume - low pressure one gallon mixes of 2,4,ST, a 1 to 1 mixture of picloram and 2,4,ST (commonly known as Tordon 225 or 225E); and the regular 2,4,ST and Dicamba mixture.

The target date for aerial spraying is still May 17, and spraying can continue through about July 7 - cotton and other susceptible crops in the vicinity permitting.

Soil temperatures should be at 70 degrees or above to a depth of 12 to 18 inches, and air temperatures should not exceed 90 degrees. The mesquite leaves should have turned to a waxy green. No aerial spraying should be done when the wind velocity exceeds 10 miles per hour.

A ninety (90) day deferral following aerial spraying will be carried out to prevent contamination of livestock and water facilities. No waivers can be or will be granted this year. If you cannot, and I repeat, cannot defer grazing for 90 days immediately following aerial spraying, no cost share assistance can be furnished.

Another practice has been added to the County list of available conservation measures, practice SL-6d, livestock water ponds. In the past this practice was only available as an erosion control practice.

CHRISTIAN RE-APPOINTED
Milton Christian has been re-appointed as an assistant Soil Conservation Technician on the Haskell Field Office Staff of the Soil Conservation Service.

The SCS staff at Haskell furnishing technical assistance to landowners and operators in the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District consists of J. C. Yeary, District Conservationist; Jim Hudson and Leslie Pressler, Soil Conservationists; Harry Koehler, Soil Conservation Technician; and Bob Aycock and Milton Christian as part-time assistant Conservation Technicians. The staff is assisted on a call basis by John Adams, Engineer; Norman Bade, Agronomist; Dan Caudle, Range Conservationist; Clyde Lowther, Soil Scientist, and Ms. Mildred Clough, Administrative Assistant. All of these specialists are located in Abilene, except Bade, who is located at Vernon. Joe McEntire of Abilene, is the Area Conservationist, and assists the Haskell staff in overall management and operations of the Field Office.

Controlled traffic farming is a concept getting a lot of attention lately . . . and probably even more in the future. Idea of the operation is to keep tractors moving only on surfaces not used for crops. Basically that seems quite unreasonable since the crops are in the field and it is usually necessary to get the tractor out there to do any good. None of that has changed. With controlled traffic farming the tractor would be driven on paths between the rows. Paths used only for the machinery. In most concepts of this type operation the paths would be the only points of compaction in the field. Therein lies the reason for concern. If compaction can be reduced, root systems can be more completely developed and higher yields would result. At Auburn University in Alabama a controlled traffic farm experiment resulted in a yield 43 percent higher than crops grown with conventional tillage.

OUT WITH THE OLD IN WITH THE NEW

The Jaycee year 1978-79 is history, and this week marks the beginning of a new year, a year destined to become the greatest ever for the Haskell County Jaycees. The slate of officers elected this year are already hard at work on projects and programs for the coming year.

How great it is to have the opportunity to be a Jaycee!! Today we have 140 young men in Haskell who have that chance to get involved, get to run projects, get to meet other young people in the community, go to conventions, clean out creeks, sell donuts, run Super Kids, and hundreds more things Jaycee and Jaycee-ettes do to help their communities and themselves.

Busy times again for Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes for the coming month. This weekend 5 or 6 Jaycees will go to Lake Jackson for record book judging, May 10-11-12 State Convention in El Paso; May 17, Haskell Installation and Awards Banquet; May 19, Anson Charter Night; May 22, Downtown street dance and bar-b-q; May 24, Rodeo parade and rodeo dance; May 25, Rodeo and dance; June 1-2-3, Lots in Temple and 11 more busy months with many more projects to be announced later. All we need to make these many projects a success is each of YOU! Become really involved, dedicated, and committed to the success of this organization this year and it will truly be the greatest ever.

As we look back at the past year and see the realization of part of our dreams that have come true, to see the growth of our chapter, the projects we have run, the friends we have made, the people we have helped, we should truly be grateful for the opportunity offered us by Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes. To have shared these dreams, goals and accomplishments with other people in other towns is really what we are all about, and we must never stop doing what we have been doing. We must reach out and touch other people wherever and whenever we can, and say to them "We want you to become a part of this organization." Be a Jaycee!!

Odd Bale Weight Penalty Violation

The Texas Farm Bureau has been officially notified that the state attorney general's office has decided that the Texas Cotton Association is violating anti-trust laws in requiring its members to charge producers for cotton bales which fail to meet a specified weight requirement, according to Don Petty, assistant commodity director for Texas Farm Bureau.

Texas Farm Bureau has been working with the attorney general's office in an effort to eliminate these cotton bale weight penalties which are presently required under the Texas Cotton Association's trade rules. The TCA is an association of cotton merchants organized to establish trade rules for the cotton industry in Texas.

The board of TCA meets on April 30 to decide whether to comply with the attorney general's decision. If TCA decides to comply, a letter will be sent to all its buyer members stating that the buyers are released from the presently required bale weight penalties.

"We think it's clear that the Texas Cotton Association has been violating the law," said Ridge Pate, staff attorney for Texas Farm Bureau.

Linda Aaker, assistant chief of the state anti-trust division, says that, "the attorney general's office is prepared to sue for court judgement if the TCA board does not comply with the decision."

The controversial penalty schedule was devised and put into effect by the merchants' trade group five years ago, and the odd-weight bale penalty is believed to be costing farmers up to $1 million annually.

Service Academy Nominations Requested

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm reminds young persons who are interested in competing for nominations to service academies, for the class entering July 1980, that he will use a competitive method of selection so that all young persons who meet the necessary requirements may be considered.

The service academies are the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; the Military Academy at West Point, New York; the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colorado; and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York. These institutions offer a fine education and a great opportunity for service to their country by young persons who wish to follow a military career.

In order for Congressman Stenholm to consider applicants, a candidate must meet these requirements: (1) Must be a U. S. citizen; (2) Must be over 17, and a legal resident of the 17th Congressional District; (3) Must be under 22 years of age on July 1, 1980; (4) Must never have been married; (5) Must be physically fit including excellent eyesight; (6) Must have a good high school record.

Stenholm stresses that political influence is not a factor in his nominations to the Academies. The important thing is not who you know but what you are.

Interested young persons who meet the above requirements should write to Congressman Charles W. Stenholm, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515, no later than July 16. ACT or SAT examinations will then be necessary as a rating device to set up slates for nomination. The competition is keen but Congressman Stenholm wants to assure that all young persons who are interested in a military career may have an opportunity to compete for nomination.

Cox To Show At National

Gary Cox, Rule, has entered a Durac barrow in the 1979 National Barrow Show, scheduled for Monday through Wednesday, September 10-11-12, in Austin, Minnesota.

John C. Phillips, Show superintendent, reported that 1,175 entries were submitted for this year's event which will again be held at the Mower County Fairgrounds in Austin. Often referred to as the "World Series of Swine Shows," the National Barrow Show is in its 33rd year.

The National Barrow Show is an all-breed event which attracts hogs from throughout the United States and visitors from many foreign countries. In addition to championship barrows, the N.B.S. also features judging of the nation's finest breeding stock which represent the major purebred breeds of hogs in the United States.

By submitting his entry, Gary Cox a producer of purebred breeding stock, has indicated his intentions to place his hogs in competition in the 1979 Show.

The National Barrow Show is sponsored by Geo. A. Hormel & Company, the National Association of Swine Records, Iowa State University, and the University of Minnesota.

VA Aid For Grave Markers Available

Under Federal laws, the U. S. Veterans Administration can provide a headstone for the grave of most veterans whose military service was under honorable conditions. According to C. H. Herren, Service Officer for Haskell County, the families of some veterans do not want the government grave marker, preferring to install a private marker of their own choice.

Public Law 95-476, enacted during the 1978 Session of the U. S. Congress, now permits the Veterans Administration to pay a cash allowance toward the purchase of a non-government grave marker for the graves of eligible veterans. The payment of the cash allowance applies only in cases where the burial of the eligible veteran has occurred on or after October 18, 1978, the date the above mentioned law was approved.

When a veteran is buried in a private or public cemetery, other than a National Cemetery, and the family or next of kin has purchased a private grave marker, a claim can be made for the cash payment from the VA. VA Form 21-8834 can be used for this purpose, and must be supported by written proof of the purchase of the private grave marker. The VA, following receipt of the application and proof of purchase, will pay a maximum of $50 to the claimant. This amount will be subject to periodic change, since the enabling legislation provided that the payment would be the same as what the VA must pay for the government headstones under the annual contracts. If the cost of the government grave markers increase, then the VA will also increase the amount paid toward the purchase of the private headstone.

Persons who feel they might be eligible for the VA reimbursement for the purchase of a private headstone for a veteran should contact their local Veterans Service Officer for assistance in making application for the lump-sum payments.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Will Rogers once commented that the United States has never lost a war or won a conference. American generosity at the diplomatic table has caused us to rely on unrealistic idealism in the international arena instead of thoughtful pragmatism.

During the 1920's and 30's it was thought that if we could get Japan to sign enough treaties they would not dare resort to war. In 1921 Japan signed a treaty with the U.S. limiting the amount of battleships. In 1922 several nations, including Japan, signed the Nine-Power Treaty which affirmed the Open Door Policy in China. In 1928 both Germany and Japan signed the Kellogg-Briand Pact which outlawed war as "an instrument of national policy." In 1931 Japan repudiated all of these treaties and then promptly invaded China. The lesson of history is clear: that treaties are made at the convenience of nations and broken at the convenience of nations.

Before long the Senate will be asked to approve a Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT II) with the Soviet Union. This treaty limits launchers, not ballistic missiles; allows high Soviet force levels; and permits the Soviets to amass many multiple independent reentry (MIRV's) which can hit several targets with a single missile. It also includes inactive U.S. aircraft, but excludes Soviet Backfire bombers; and above all it does not adequately address the problem of verification.

The Soviets continue to adequately fund a vigorous defense program and to date have not allowed any treaty to adversely affect their military and production programs. In technology, they lead us in high energy lasers and high yield nuclear weapons. In conventional fighting capability, the Soviets have seven times as many tanks, over six times the number of artillery pieces, and fifty times the number of trained and active chemical warfare personnel. By 1980-82 they will have a commanding lead in strategic nuclear capability. During this period the number of their warheads will increase to between 6,500 and 9,200 and the number of SLBM's will probably increase to 950. In the meantime the U.S. has closed the Minuteman III production line; delayed development of the new MX missile and cancelled the production of the B-1 bomber.

We have come from a position of U.S. nuclear monopoly in the 1950's to one of strategic superiority in the 1960's to rough equivalence in the early 1970's and the forecast is that we will shortly be a clear second to the Soviets in strategic capability.

I am of the firm belief that the world would benefit from a treaty that would reduce the number of nuclear weapons. But we must always remember that armaments are an instrument of national policy, and any attempt to regulate them without regard for the factors that bring them into existence is doomed to failure. The Soviet Union is determined to pursue world domination. Until this policy is dealt with, arms control will only limit — U.S. arms.

(Editors Note: The following article about a former Haskell resident is reprinted from the Marlow (Okla.) Review.)

Pearl Gayle who has served as an educator for 41 years has been named Marlow Teacher of the Year. She will compete for the 1979 Teacher of the Year sponsored by the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, State Fair of Oklahoma and the Oklahoma City Lodging Association in cooperation with Oklahoma Education Assn.

Mrs. Gayle and her husband, Dwight, a former Marlow junior high teacher, now retired, live on Marlow Rt. 1. They have one daughter, Mrs. Gail Waller of Lawton.

Although many people casually remark, "I could write a book about..." this is more than just a glib statement with the personable first grade teacher. She is presently writing a book entitled, "Through the Keyhole," giving a glimpse of the hundreds of children who have passed through her classes and their sayings. She hopes to publish the book in the near future.

Being a teacher is something Mrs. Gayle dreamed of as a child when school was played and she was always the teacher. This dream came true in the fall of 1936 when she became a real teacher of grades one through four in a two room school at Burns Flat. She taught at this Comanche County school for four years before assuming duties as first grade teacher at Central School in Stephens County. She remained at Central for 11 years before coming to the Marlow School System as a first grade teacher 26 years ago.

Mrs. Gayle received her bachelor of science degree from Oklahoma State University and has done graduate work at OSU and the University of Oklahoma. The Marlow educator has attended a workshop or taken college studies almost every summer since she began teaching working toward a higher degree and trying to keep abreast with the changing world of education.

The Marlow Teacher of the Year recalls that no task was too great to attempt in her early years of teaching and although she is better prepared now, she's still trying to move the mountain that blocks children's minds and causes them to tune out before they realize their learning potential.

Mrs. Gayle regards teaching as great a challenge today as it was yesterday, but now teachers have more and better equipment with which to work and more comfortable and convenient school plants.

Her in-service training ranges from local, to state and regional. She is a charter member of the Stephens County Reading Council and has served as chairman of many committees. She is currently on the council's board of directors.

This dedicated teacher used a recorder to help children with speech defects long before the days of speech therapists. She created her own class learning center by preparing lessons on tape and using earphones for communication. Her innovative teaching methods have gone as far as the White House. One of her students wrote to President Jimmy Carter telling him of voting in the 1976 presidential election in a Weekly Reader Project. The child received an invitation from the then president-elect to attend the presidential inauguration.

She is a member of the Marlow Association of Classroom Teachers and has served on committees to assist in achieving goals for the betterment of the Marlow Public School System.

Mrs. Gayle is a charter member of Delta Sigma Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, has served as a counter for the Stephens County Election Board and been active in the Girl Scouts organization. Her hobbies include sewing, needlepoint, playing the piano, traveling, gardening and sports.

Mrs. Gayle, a charter member of the Central Baptist Church, has held the position of church clerk since 1959. She has 22 years of perfect Sunday school attendance and serves each summer either as sponsor or counselor at Falls Creek Baptist Assembly. Her church activities could fill a book. She now serves as director of the Younger Children's Department in Sunday school and as director of Younger Preschool Children in the church training program. Mrs. Gayle states with sincerity that "teaching is a way of life," for her. She also states that all the modern equipment and buildings in the world would not produce a good school if you have poor teachers.

This devoted educator is truly a credit to her profession. Her statement, "If I can instill in my students the desire to learn, their future is unlimited. If I can teach one child each day to do his best, he will know he hasn't failed. I can teach him to honor God, country, and his fellowman, then he will succeed," describes what teaching is to her.

She is the former Pearl Lee daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lee of Haskell and the sister of Mrs. John (Thelma) Bowers of Haskell.

Pearl graduated from Haskell High School with the class of 1934. She played girls basketball and was forward on County Championship team. Also played on tennis team with the former Sue Couch.

Pearl would like to hear from friends at Haskell. Her mailing address is Pearl Gayle, Rt. 1, Marlow, OK 73055.
