Harris, Russell Wed

Mary Darice Russell became the bride of Paul V. Harris in a double ring ceremony Saturday, March 15, in the First Baptist Church Chapel in Brownfield. Rev. Hugh Harris, the father of the groom, officiated in the candlelight services.

The chapel was decorated with greenery and flowers of apricot and ivory. A heart shaped candelabra flanked by two smaller candelabras and two topiary trees decorated the front of the chapel. Greenery and gardenia scented votive candles highlighted the windows of the church and the aisles were marked by greenery and bows.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Russell of Brownfield and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Darnell and Mrs. H. Russell, all of Haskell, was escorted down the aisle by her father. She was wearing a traditional gown of white and all over Chantilly lace. It featured a Queen Anne neckline with seed pearls and a natural waistline. The sleeves were fitted at the wrists, sweeping into full Bishop sleeves. The six-tiered skirt swept into a full cathedral train. Her tiered finger-tip veil was also of Chantilly lace and was gathered to a headpiece featuring the lace and seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade of three gardenias mixed with white daisies, apricot teacup roses, baby's breath, and greenery.

Vanessa Russell served her sister as maid of honor with Gloria Darnell, aunt of the bride, and Betty Bartley of Lubbock as bridesmaids. Their apricot gowns featured a pleated skirt and chiffon capes. They carried nosegays of apricot roses and carnations with white daisies and baby's breath around a single gardenia.

Lisa Harris, niece of the groom, and Lena Wootton, cousin of the bride, served as flower girls. They wore apricot organza gowns trimmed in white and carried wicker baskets featuring yellow daisies and apricot flowers. Each wore a headpiece of apricot flowers.

The mother of the bride wore a solid apricot gown with a matching lace cape. The groom's mother wore an apricot print featuring a rounded neckline and ruffle at the neck and hem. Their corsages were gardenias. The bride presented each with a long stemmed silk apricot rose.

Sheree Forbes presented the wedding music with "You Light Up My Life," "The Wedding Song," and "The Twelfth of Never." Miss Darnell read "The Love Chapter" from Corinthians. Jackie Harris, brother of the groom, led in a dedication prayer at the end of the ceremony.

Jimmy Kennedy of Sundown served as best man with Lynn Tisdale of San Angelo and Danny Reid of Brownfield as groomsmen. The ushers were Burl Russell, brother of the bride, and Curtis Estill, both of Brownfield.

Reception

The reception was held in the church parlor and gym. The bride's table was covered with ivory lace and featured a three-tiered cake with apricot daisies and crystal serving pieces. The groom's cake was a large chocolate cake inscribed with "Get me to the church on time." His table was decorated with silver serving pieces.

Following a honeymoon trip to Ruidoso, N.M. the couple will reside in Brownfield. The bride is a senior at Brownfield High School, and the groom is a BHS graduate. He is presently employed by Ozark Mahoning.

Hobratschk, Dudensing Repeat Vows

Miss Carol Ann Dudensing of Olton and Larry David Hobratschk were united in marriage March 29 at the Faith Lutheran Church with Rev. Ralph Hobratschk, brother of the groom and pastor of the Epiphany Lutheran Church in Lake Worth, Fla., conducting the ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Wallace L. Dudensing and the late Wallace L. Dudensing and Mr. and Mrs. V.J. Hobratschk of Littlefield.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Michael Nauert of Denton singing "The Wedding Song," "Treasures," and "The Lord's Prayer." Organist was Phil Alford of Post, cousin of the groom.

Given in marriage by her brother, Lynn Dale Dudensing, the bride wore a white gown of organza and chantilly lace. The moulded bodice featured a high neckline with a chantilly lace collar. Schiffli embroidery, in a cameo design, embellished the sheer yoke, which was defined in chantilly lace and seed pearls. The remainder of the bodice was of chantilly lace. The sheer lace bishop sleeves were shirred to wide lace cuffs. The empire waistline fell to a natural waistline in the back with the A-line organza skirt sweeping to back fullness forming a chapel length train tapering to a point in center front and back in an inverted V-pattern. The organza was edged in chantilly lace with three lace medallions in front. A chantilly lace flounce repeated the inverted V-pattern in front and back with the back having a three-tiered flounce.

Her silk illusion veil was caught to a Camelot capillet covered in Alveon lace and sprinkled with seed pearls. The fingertip length veil was finished in two rows of petal edging and featured a row of Alveon lace motifs centered between the petal edging.

Carrying a bouquet of white and yellow roses with greenery and baby's breath, the bride wore her father's wedding ring for "something old" and "something borrowed." A blue garter served as "something blue" and her wedding dress was "something new." The bride also carried a lucky sixpence in her shoe.

Attending the bride was maid of honor Susan Lewis of Slayton with bridesmaids, Rhonda Askins of Andrews, Sandy Oliver of Tahoka and Traci Flemming of Plainview all wearing identical gowns of Tinasetta knit and chiffon. The criss-cross bodice featured double spaghetti straps and accordin pleated skirt swept to floor length from an empire waistline. Bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath accented their hair.

The groom, dressed in a white tux with ruffled shirt and white rose boutonniere, chose his brother, Allen Hobratschk to serve as best man with groomsmen John Snatschk of Spring Lake, Brent Barker of Lubbock, and Ben McKinnon of Littlefield. Ushers were Glenn Dudensing and Sammy Nauert, both of Stamford, and David White of Lubbock. Groomsmen and ushers were attired in tuxedos in shades of brown toast accented with white ruffled shirts and boutonnieres of white carnation.

Mary Wright, sister of the groom, registered wedding guests as they entered the church while Celeste Hobratschk gave out wedding programs.

The bride's mother wore a beige gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with sunburst pleated skirt and capelet. The bodice of the dress was fashioned with a low v-neck and was accented with a rose of the same material. She wore strings of pearls and a yellow orchid corsage at the neck.

The groom's mother chose a floor length gown of yellow chiffon, accented with a standup collar that tied to a bow in front. The long sheer chiffon sleeves closed at the wrist while the skirt gathered to a band at the waistline. The gown was complemented by a green orchid corsage.

A reception was held for the couple in the Fellowship Hall following the ceremony with Mrs. Wallace L. Dudensing hostess. The bride's table was covered with a floor length white organza cloth covered with lace. Silver and crystal appointments adorned the table centered with yellow and white daisies. The white cake was accented with yellow roses and topped with wedding bells. Serving at the bride's table were Renee Berry of Hillsboro, Jo Ann Rust of Cisco, Cynthia Burnam of Plainview and Susan Stegemoeller of Lubbock.

Following the reception a wedding dance was held at the Sons of Hermann Lodge in Old Glory.

The bride chose a light jade skirt and belted vest as her going away outfit. The long sleeved multi-colored blouse was accented with a yellow daisy corsage and white accessories.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at Fuqua's Cafeteria in Stamford.

Following a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the couple will reside in Littlefield. # Special Treats For Easter Breakfast

By County Extension Agent Lou Gilly

Make Easter breakfast a "spectacular start" for a very special day.

Add your own creativity to a sound nutritional basic plan, and make breakfast memories they'll remember a long time.

Breakfast should provide about one-fourth of the day's calorie and protein needs—that's easy when you rely on the basic four food groups.

Include something from the meat group, milk group, breads-cereals group and the fruits-vegetables group.

Festive Fruits, Vegetables
Start breakfast with a bowl of fresh fruits—top that with a scoop of sherbet, frozen ice milk or frozen yogurt.

Put a rabbit face on that with raisins, add toothpick ears, and you've got instant delight—for young and old alike.

Or, your family might like a broiled grapefruit half flavored with cranberry or orange juice.

A bowl of fresh dewberries or blackberries with cream and sugar is a sure hit, too. (Optional: If you're on a diet, then use artificial sweetener and skim milk.)

For a chilly Easter morning, serve a mug of hot tomato juice or soup flavored with basil.

Creative Cereals
Dress up your hot or cold cereals with a bunny face, too.

Banana coins and raisins make impressive eyes, a mandarin orange wedge makes a neat mouth, and a grape or cherry can be the nose.

Serve apple wedges on the plate underneath the bowl for an attractive collar.

Bunny Bread
Bunny bread will fascinate almost everyone.

Simply take yeast or biscuit dough, roll into long round "fingers" about 11 inches long. Tie two "fingers" into a loose knot, and pull the pointed ends upward to form ears.

Use raisins for the eyes and mouth.

Another favorite Easter tradition might be Hot Cross Buns, usually available at bakeries around Eastertime if time doesn't permit making them from scratch.

Also, you can cut toast into different festive shapes.

Eggs In A Nest
Serve poached eggs in rice nests for an exciting breakfast entree.

To serve six, you'll need three cups cooked rice, six slices cooked bacon (crumbled), one cup diced cheddar cheese, six eggs and salt and pepper to taste.

Simply mix the rice, bacon and cheese. Put the mixture into a greased flat baking dish (9 1/2 X 13 inches). Make six indentations in the rice, and drop and egg into each. Season to taste. Cover and bake in 350 degrees F. oven until the eggs reach a desired degree of doneness.

'Italian' Eggs

Another favorite might be pizza eggs. Just make scrambled eggs, and while they're cooking, add oregano, garlic powder, mushrooms or cooked sausage. Spread tomato sauce on toasted English muffins, top them with the eggs and sprinkle with parmesan cheese.

Morning Milk Marvels
Milk-group items round out the Easter breakfast menu.

Choose cottage cheese or plain yogurt in a melon wedge, or make cheese toast or a delicious cheese-and-bacon quiche.

Or try breakfast drinks or shakes made in the blender with milk and fresh fruits and spices, such as cinnamon or nutmeg—or if time is no problem, make Easter eggnog.

Remember, for a good start on Easter morning—or any morning, eat something! Be sure to include a protein source and a serving from each of the food groups.

Funny Bunny Faces Hail Springtime

Springtime often means a renewal of interest in children's parties, school dances, week-end get-togethers and teenage slumber parties. Wouldn't it be great to find a fun dessert for these special occasions that says "springtime" but isn't time consuming or expensive to make?

Funny Bunny Faces fit the bill perfectly. The idea, created by the Kraft Kitchens, requires just a few basic ingredients, most of which are found at your local supermarket. Assembling them is simple and fun—in fact, making the Bunny Faces can be an afternoon "let's cook" project for children. Start with plain cupcakes, either made from scratch or from a mix. Turn the cupcakes upside down and frost with a special fluffy frosting made with Kraft marshmallow creme and a few other easy ingredients. The frosting recipe can be used with other favorite cakes, too; its soft, light texture makes it a "classic".

paper baking cups, then serve on individual dessert plates. Or, arrange several in a big Easter basket to bring out as the surprise dessert for a children's party.

Funny Bunny Faces

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 egg whites
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 7-oz. jar Kraft marshmallow creme
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 24 cupcakes
- Paper doilies
- Coconut
- Kraft marshmallows
- Colored sugar
- Gumdrop halves
- Pipe cleaners

Combine sugar, egg whites and water in double boiler; beat with electric or rotary beater over boiling water until soft peaks form. Add marshmallow creme; continue beating until stiff peaks form. Remove from heat; beat in vanilla.

After frosting, shredded coconut is sprinkled over the cupcakes, making fuzzy "fur", and facial features are added with gumdrop halves and pipe cleaners. Slices of standard-size marshmallows are used as "ears". To make these, cut a marshmallow into four slices using scissors dipped in water, then dip the cut side of the slice into colored sugar and attach with toothpicks. For a different effect, toast the coconut a golden brown before sprinkling on the cakes, or tint the frosting a favorite color with food coloring.

Place cupcakes upside down on doilies or flattened paper baking cups. Frost sides and top of each cupcake; sprinkle with coconut. To form ears, dip cut side of marshmallow slices in colored sugar; attach to top of head with toothpicks. Create face features with gumdrop halves and pipe cleaners.

WTC Wins NJCAA Title

Western Texas of Snyder became only the third team in the 33-year history of the National Junior College tournament to win the championship with a perfect record when the Westerners defeated first-time entry Jefferson State of Birmingham, Ala., 85-72 in the title game Saturday night, March 22.

Coffeyville took the championship with a 33-0 mark in 1962 and Vincennes with a perfect 32-0 mark in 1972.

But Western did it better. The Texas team completed a perfect 37-0 season and gave Coach Nolan Richardson, a 101-13 record for his three years at the Snyder junior college.

Western won the championship game the same way it won the first three games of the tournament, coming from behind in the second half.

Before the tourney started, Richardson said his team was a "time bomb" and continually insisted it was a second half club.

He was right on both counts.

Saturday night, the bomb ticked a little longer before it went off, but it did go off.

"This has got to be the greatest moment of my life," Richardson said following the championship game. "I wasn't worried when we were behind. I believe in these young men and they believe in me. This season we climbed to the top of the mountain and tonight we went over the top to the other side."

"These guys have worked so hard," Richardson said. "They deserve to win. It's been a long year, but it's been great. I don't know if I'll ever know when tomorrow comes."

"We have a 13-hour bus ride back to Snyder Sunday and I'm going to try to sleep, but these guys will be yelling all the way."

The 1980 NJCAA champions from Western Texas proved they were No. 1 on the court. And they showed their class in another way, too.

When Tyler, the team the Westerners defeated in the semi-finals, went onto the court to receive the third-place trophy, the entire WTC team went out to congratulate the Apaches.

Awards won by individuals of the team: Coach Nolan Richardson was named Coach of the Tournament, Paul Pressey was named the tourney's Most Valuable Player, Phil Spradling was winner of the Sesher Sportsmanship Award, Greg Stewart and Paul Pressey made the all-tournament team.

Little did Coach Richardson realize Saturday night that the 13-hour bus ride ahead of them on Sunday would turn out to be a 32-hour ordeal. The team, the coach, his wife, Rose, and Andy Staglin, Coach Richardson's new assistant at Oklahoma University were on the bus. The cheerleaders Belva Marsh of Ralls, Tony Porter of Hobbs, Gina Willman of Roscoe, Renae McBroom of Haskell, and Lynda Cain of Coral Springs, Florida, their sponsor Mickey Baird and WTC's number one fan Virginia Whitson, were in the van following the team.

The two vehicles left Hutchinson, Kansas, in light rain, traveled 125 miles, ran into a snow blizzard and were stranded in Minola, Kansas, a small community of 47 students in high school. The town people rallied to their aid, gathering bedrolls and blankets for their night's stay in the Community Church.

The town's doctor with the aid of his jeep, got the grocery man out and they took Mickey and Rose to the grocery store. Supplies of luncheon meat were bought for supper and bacon and eggs for breakfast. Of course the task of feeding that many was not too big for Rose as she cooks for the basketball team every Sunday night.

Upon arrival in Snyder Monday night the team was met by a caravan of cars who followed them to the College Campus where a "Welcome Home" party was awaiting their National Men's Junior College Basketball Tournament winners.

Coach Nolan Richardson has already assumed his duties as head basketball coach at Oklahoma University. With his ability to coach a winning team at WTC we will be watching his O.U. team.

APRIL FOOL!

April Fool's Day brought with it some strange looks from visitors to the Haskell County Courthouse. Employees and elected officials chose the day to display some not so fashionable costumes.

Along the U.S. coasts, the mean surface level of the Pacific is about two feet higher than that of the Atlantic.

APRIL FOOL!

Courthouse visitors were met with a sign at each entrance Tuesday which said, "Remember Today Is April Fool's Day". Without that warning the sanity of most employees and elected officials might have been questioned. The day was chosen marked as a special occasion and the special dress of the group was enjoyed throughout the day.

New Loans Help Owners

COLLEGE STATION — Buying up is slowing down. Families who need more space are finding that moving to a larger home is too expensive. Instead, many are adding a room, putting in a swimming pool or converting the garage into a den. The Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University reports that money for long-term home improvement loans, which has been difficult to obtain from savings and loan associations and commercial banks, may be more available when the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (FHLMC) begins rebuying home improvement loans from local lenders later this year. This new practice is expected to increase the total number of loans and the dollars available at the local savings and loans and participating banks. The FHLMC announced that the maximum amount available will be $30,000 for single-family dwellings and $60,000 for multi-family units with terms from three to 20 years.

Farewell Dinner Honors Reynolds

The Haskell Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes gave a farewell dinner on March 27 at 7:30 p.m. honoring Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Reynolds and their two children, Amanda and Chad. The food was prepared by the Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes and was served buffet style with the guests of honor at the head of the line.

After a delicious meal, Charles Address and Cora Proctor represented the Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes and spoke of their appreciation and fondness of Ronnie and Liz. They have worked hard as Jaycee and Jaycee-ette on all projects and have been good friends. The couple was also presented with gifts. The Jaycees presented Ronnie with a pocketknife with HCJC engraved on a blade. The Jaycee-ettes presented Liz with a necklace with Jaycee-ette Pres. 1979 engraved on it. The couple will be leaving Haskell to reside in Houston. Ronnie will be receiving training from a company that will later transfer them back to their home town of Lamesa.

11,000 Iranians admitted to the United States since the U.S. Embassy was seized November 4th.

Senator Hayakawa, R. said the report is "terrifying and said the senate should pass a bill allowing President Carter to round up Iranian Nationals and hold or deport them.

INS Agents frustrated because they are unable to weed out any possible terrorists.

The orders, sent to all INS offices specify that Iranians "shall not be questioned about past or future participation in demonstrations unless related to the details of an arrest."

Liquefied Gas Vehicles Must Display New Decals

Owners of liquefied gas powered vehicles may be unknowingly violating the state's new motor fuel law if vehicles do not display a current Liquefied Gas (LG) decal, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Bullock said the state's new motor fuel law, which took effect January 1, 1980, require LG vehicles to display a decal issued by the Comptroller's office.

The decal is proof that the five cents a gallon LG tax has been pre-paid and allows LG purchases in Texas for use in the vehicle to made tax-free, Bullock said.

James Martin, manager of the Comptroller's Abilene office, estimates that only 1,400

LG decals have been issued in the 16-county area that his office serves.

"We've got every reason to believe that there are more than twice that number of LG vehicles in our area," Martin said.

The Abilene office serves Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Mills, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stone-wall and Taylor counties.

LG decals, based on registered gross weight, cost from $72 to $300 annually, Martin said.

Civil and/or criminal penalties, including fines up to $200, may be assessed persons operating LG vehicles that do not display a current liquefied gas tax decal, he said.

The Comptroller's Abilene Office is located at 1290 S. Willis, Suite 202, in the Commerce Plaza Office Building in Abilene. The telephone number is 915/698-1011.

As I'm writing this, I can hear the rain falling on the roof and boy does that ever sound good! Maybe it will clear the air and people's head of dust so that we can all start breathing much better and deeper. The dust has certainly affected a lot of the people here at the home. So many have complained of sinus trouble and also asthma. We hope the rain will make all these people start feeling better.

Two of our residents were entered in the Haskell hospital on Thursday, March 27. They are Hilda Kupatt and Beatrice Livengood. We hope by the time this is read, that both of these are well and back in the home.

We had only one resident to celebrate their birthday last week and that was J.C. Argrove, who celebrated his on Sunday, March 23. We hope he had a good day and is privileged to have many more happy birthdays.

We want to welcome another new resident this week. He is John Sparkman of Haskell. We hope he likes his new home.

Again we thank all our volunteer people for the past week. We were glad to have a new group to come on Tuesday night, March 25. They were some singers and musicians from the Gillespie Baptist Church which is located between Knox City and Munday. They were sure enjoyed by all who heard them and we invite them back any time that they can come. We were also glad to have the Sweet Home Singers back on Thursday night, March 27.

We also thank the ladies from the Haskell Church of Christ for coming to furnish and serve the cake and punch for our monthly birthday party. The out-of-county visitors for the past week were: Visiting Nannie McCaul and Ada Williamson were their children, J. and Mavis Williamson of Plainview. Mrs. Phil Place and three children had a short visit with Charity Bradley. Hazel Letz of Old Glory visited Luther and Mattie Hines, Sam and Ethel Bradford and many more of the residents, Allen Davis of Old Glory and Danny Wainscott, their grandson, of Tulia also visited the Hines. Visiting Eunice Stewart were her son, Floyd Stewart of Seymour, her daughter, Melba Stowe, and her sister, Mayme Burnett, both of Olney. Mr. and Mrs. James Winter of Bowie came to see his mother, Nannie Winter. Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Earp of Pampa visited his father, John Earp. Visiting May Cook were Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Raynes of Munday and Fred and Polly Kendrick of Brad. G.A., Sue, and Brenda Bradford, Charles and Faye Cox, all of Peacock, visited their parents, Sam and Ethel Bradford. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Turnbow and children of Abilene visited his mother May Belle Turnbow. Also visiting May Belle was Betty Sue Wolfe of Potosi. Visiting Texie Perdue and Ellie Cartwright were their cousins, Dasie Hughes of Knox City and Mrs. Lonnie Hicks of Camanche, their sister-in-law, Jewel Hicks of Lorenza, their niece, Betty Stevens of Lubbock, Texie's granddaughter, Sharon and James Brown of Abilene, and Ellie's son, Eugene and Francene Cartwright of San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Williamson of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma visited Ada Williamson. Vera and Britt Baker of Hamlin visited Beatrice Livengood. Visiting J.C. Hargrove were his grandson and family, Pat, Mary, Gerrie and Cathy Moore of Abilene. Irene Irwin of Lubbock and Richard Medley of Dallas visited in Rice Springs.

MEET OUR RESIDENTS

The resident that I would like you to meet this week is Bill Harrell. Willie Harvey Harrell was born on Nov. 23, 1895 in Erath County to William and Martha Ribinson Harrell. The family later moved to Haskell County in 1901, where they lived in a half dugout until they could build a home. Bill started attending the Foster School, which was located south of Rochester, when he was seven years old. He stated he only got to go to school about three months out of the year, but he attended the Roberts School for many years until he quit to enter the service during World War I. He was in the service approximately one and a half years, spending seven or eight months of that time in France. After returning from the war, he went back to farming in Haskell County.

In March of 1920, Bill married Irene Adkins in the home of Rev. Roberts, who was a Baptist preacher. They were the parents of three daughters, but one died in infancy. The other daughters are Nettie, now Mrs. Raleigh Brock, and Doris, now Mrs. Jack Slater, both of Fort Worth. His wife Irene passed away in 1942 and he later married Lucy Adams Adkins on March 28, 1944 in Haskell. He continued to devote his time to farming and living in Haskell County or in Haskell.

Bill has one brother and three sisters who are still alive. They are Jerry Harrell, who lives between Haskell and Rochester, Edella Goode of Rochester, Viola Tidwell and Minnie Holt, both of Haskell. Mr. Harrell is a member of the Haskell First Baptist Church. He states that he has read the Bible through four times and has started on the fifth.

Bill is the proud grandfather of four grandchildren and three great grandchildren. He also has some step-children, step-grandchildren, and step-great grandchildren who he feels are his own. The step children are Belle Merchant, Wayne Adkins, of Haskell, Billy and Al Adkins of Ft. Worth and Thelma Davis of Lubbock. He couldn't remember just how many step grandchildren and step-great grandchildren he has, but he loves them all anyway. Oh yes, he is even a step great-great grandfather. Bill entered Rice Springs on March 6, 1979, and has made this his home since. He enjoys all his family and friends coming to visit him, especially his wife, Lucy, who doesn't miss many days coming to see him.

We of the home were saddened by the news that Hilda Kupatt had passed away this morning at the Haskell hospital. We extend our deepest sympathy to all her family. She will greatly be missed by all her friends here at Rice Springs.

Before we go this week, we want to wish everyone a very happy Easter and urge everyone to just stop and think about the true meaning of it. Until next time, have a good week!

Letters To The Editor

(EDITORS NOTE: The Haskell Free Press will publish letters to the Editor dealing with any subject. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld by request. All letters are subject to editing for length and liability.)

Dear Editor;

I am in the process of compiling a family history of "The Sowel Cox Descendants." He was my great, great grandfather. One of his nephews and my great uncle George Washington Cox lived in Haskell County from 1899 to 1907. I believe his wife, Lurinda Jane, died and is buried there in Haskell County. His only daughter Louisa, married J.O. Bridges in Coryell County in 1891 and moved to Haskell County shortly thereafter. She had a son, George T. Bridges, late in 1891 and I think died of pneumonia shortly thereafter and also is buried in Haskell County.

I believe that they probably lived around Sagerton. George Washington Cox and his son, Sam, owned land on the J. Pointwent, Thomas D. Starkey and Julia Beard Surveys in Haskell County, where ever they are.

George T. Bridges was living around Sagerton at the time of his grandfather's death in 1916.

Is there a county historical society or genealogical society in Haskell that could help me? Are there cemetery records compiled for cemeteries in the county? Or is there someone that you could forward this letter to that would willing or able to help me? It is a pretty good trip from Waco to your fair county.

Incidentally I don't believe that my Cox family group has any connection with the Burwell Cox Family, pioneers of your county. My relatives came from Kentucky, thru Illinois and Missouri, to Texas. Burwell came originally from Arkansas, I believe.

I will certainly appreciate any help that you can get me. This project started out as family history but has developed into an early history of Coryell County, Texas. I only hope that I have the talent and ability to publish or compile all the information I am gathering for future generations to enjoy and study.

Again thank you for your help and consideration concerning this matter.

Sincerely,
Robert Cox Wise

HEIDENHEIMERS

A Victim Of Cats

By Jerry Jennings

Last Friday, I came home exhausted from work. After switching on the television, I flopped down on the sofa and propped a pillow under my head. The picture had barely materialized on the screen when my pillow began to squirm and make discontented noises.

Believing firmly that one's pillow should be in subjection to one's head, I glanced over my shoulder with a look of stern reprimand. My pillow promptly embedded its teeth in the tip of my nose. As my surprise catapulted me over the back of the couch, my pillow twitched its tail and stalked off in search of a less demanding resting place.

While sitting at the kitchen table a few moments later, I was filled with that special insight that comes only to a person who is soaking the end of his nose in a bowl of salt water. Amidst much snorting and bubbling, I announced loudly, "I have been emotionally and physically abused by cats!"

Although this statement made a great impression on the bowl of salt water and consequently my sinuses, it failed to evoke much sympathy from my wife. She muttered something about being reluctant to listen to a man who thinks he is Moby Dick and then resumed typing her latest newspaper article. With both my nose and my pride fatally harpooned, I bubbled dejectedly while I pondered cats' inhumanity to man.

I was first victimized by cats at the tender age of five when I awoke one morning to find a large grey feline (cat) meowing outside my bedroom window. This turned out to be a feline version of the trap one drives into when he pulls over to offer a ride to an attractive female hitchhiker and suddenly finds the remainder of her religious commune crammed into the back seat of his car. Immediately after I assured this distressed but furry damsel that she had found a home, she began to transport a bumper crop of kittens into the family garage.

Cat-a-Lou, as my mother named her, proved to be both popular and productive. There was seldom a night when a suitor did not appear at the garage door to whisker her away for a night of garbage can hopping. This left me and my family to babysit a steadily increasing inventory of kittens, some of whom would soon be old enough to follow in their mother's pawprints.

Visions of an army of kittens marching four abreast into the ocean and an inability to park his car in the garage without offending someone's tail finally forced my father to take action. He placed Cat-a-Lou and her brood with a kittenless farm couple and declared that any future family pets would be screened on the basis of moral conduct.

A year later came Tiger who suffered from an overdose of mothering instinct. Her over-protective parenting practices produced a generation of dependent and irresponsible daughters. After giving birth to kittens, these daughters disappeared and left Tiger to care for her grandchildren.

At one time, Tiger was singlehandedly (or single whateverly) nursing fifteen kittens. She accomplished this by climbing from box to box and feeding the infants in shifts. By the time the kittens were weaned, Tiger could have posed for National Geographic Magazine.

Tiger's descendants exploited me and my family for several years. For example, there was Thomas who was a juvenile delinquent and chronic runaway. His running away was due to the fact that each time he returned home from an odyssey, he was given a prodigal son type welcome. When the special attention and privileges began to wane, he would leave again and return only when he was certain he would be fully appreciated.

Unfortunately, the last time Thomas ran away, we children had grown old enough to develop other interests. When he returned home, no one ran joyously to greet him. Consequently, Thomas set up temporary quarters nearby and periodically limped dramatically across the street toward our house. Upon not getting the desired response, he would return to his post and try again at a later date.

After reaching adulthood, I decided to completely avoid cats but eventually found myself to be the adopted father of a fluffy grey kitten. I named him Martin, after Martin Van Buren, because large puffs of hair on each side of his head resembled the sideburns of the former president.

Martin proved to be a greater liability than any of his predecessors. One night while I was entertaining guests, Martin experienced an acute attack of gastrointestinal distress capable of stampeding a roomful of veteran garbage-men. This occurred in such a manner that suspicion fell not upon the cat but upon a friend of mine who was in the midst of discussing his plans to run for public office.

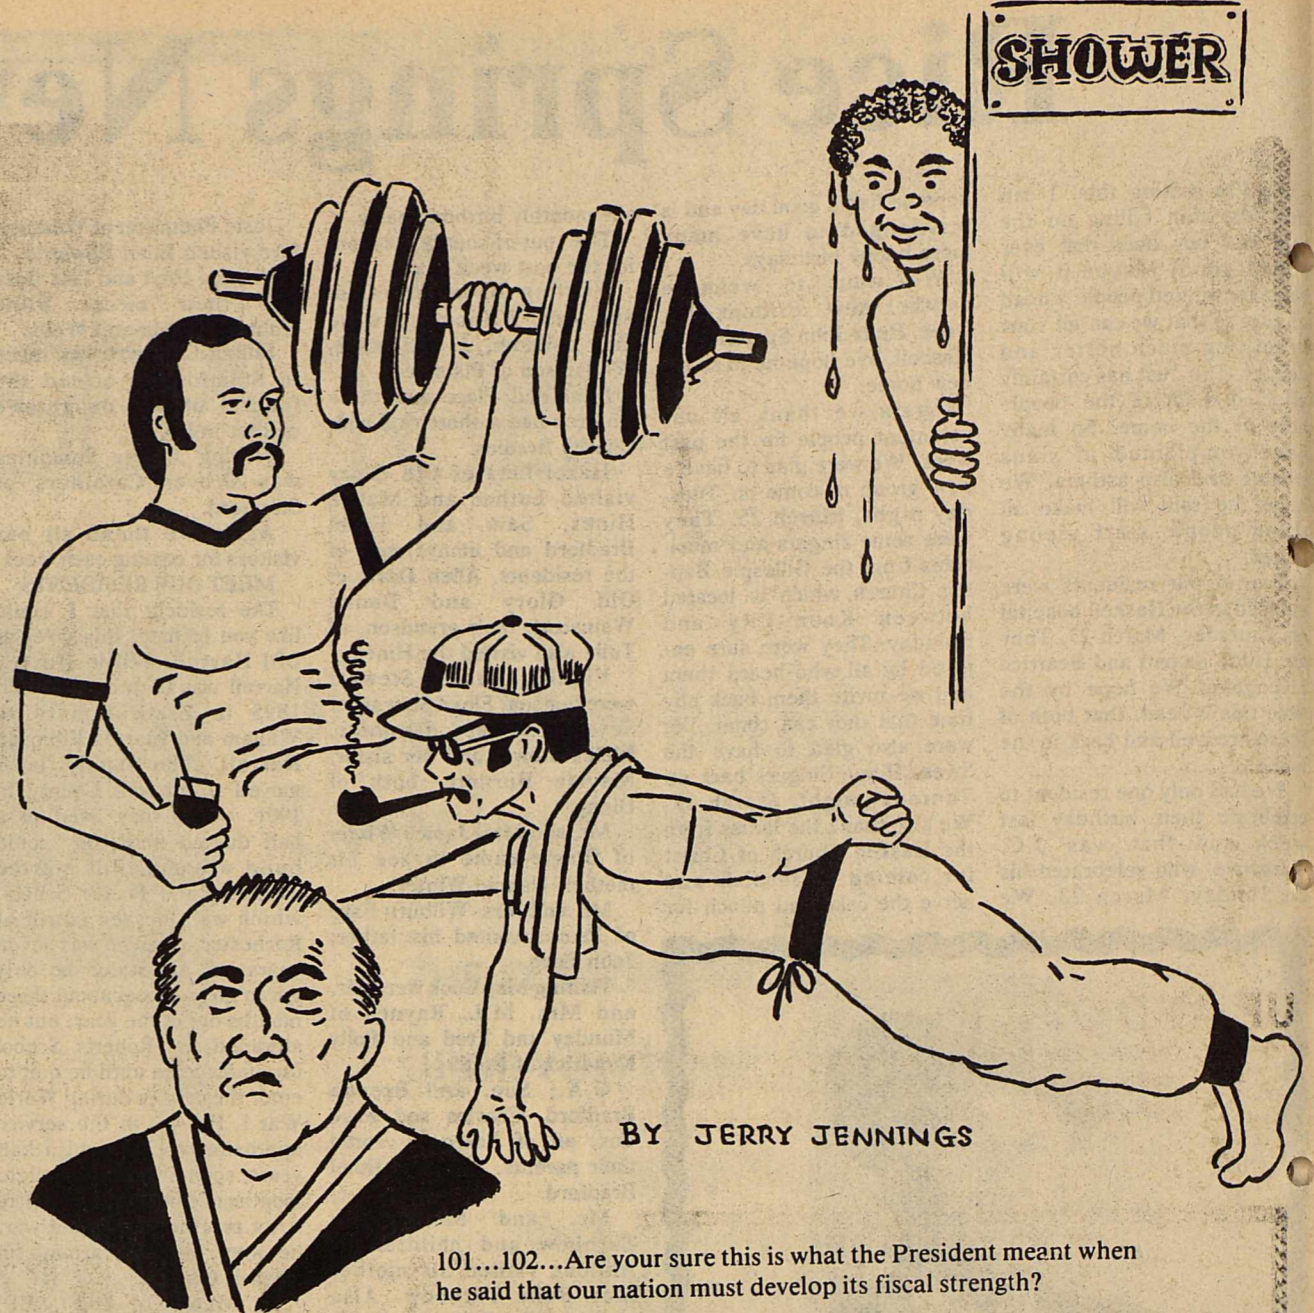

My friend later issued a statement denying responsibility in the matter, but it was to no avail. Rumors of the incident damaged not only his reputation but also his ability to raise campaign funds. He was forced to give up his political aspirations and become a fry cook. Even this proved unsuccessful after the Health Department accused him of leaving the fish out of his fried catfish chunks.

To my knowledge, Martin never showed the slightest remorse and in fact, continued to disrupt my social gatherings at will. I am certain that I would have died an embittered and friendless man had not the government impounded Martin as a possible solution to the energy crisis.

With experiences such as these, I am sometimes amazed that I still keep a cat. However, I have two very good reasons for doing so. The first is based upon the Cattle Theory which was developed by my younger brother. This theory states that man has an innate need to herd cattle and because of restrictions imposed by increased urbanization, this need must be sublimated. Although it is virtually impossible to maintain a herd of cattle within the confines of an apartment, a sizeable herd of cats can be easily kept within that same space.

The second reason is based upon the fact that although cats can be abusive, they are not half as bad as termites who have just eaten the floor out from under my chair.

101...102...Are you sure this is what the President meant when he said that our nation must develop its fiscal strength?

Camp Boothe Oaks Sets Brownie Day

Brownie Girl Scouts are all a-whirl about Brownie Day at Camp Boothe Oaks. Many troops are reading up on Suzy Safety in their Worlds to Explore Handbooks on how to be safe in the out of doors. They are practicing their eight basic skills so that they will perform perfectly in the Tajar Wide game.

Tajar is the imaginary mostly invisible mascot of Camp Boothe Oaks and every other accredited ACA camp in the country. According to the author of Tajar Tales, Janet Ward Shaw, Tajar is something like a tiger, something like a badger, and something like a jaguar. He loves campers and enjoys swinging from tree to tree keeping up with Girl Scout activities. So the Wide Game stations are designated by a picture of Tajar tied on a tree with "Tajar Says" instructions.

Hundreds of Brownies and their leaders will come from Area II, III, and IV of the West Texas Girl Scout Council on either of two dates, April 12 or May 10. Area I (Ablene) held two Brownie Days last fall with 522 Brownies in attendance. Abilene troops who did not attend then may choose one of these spring Saturdays to visit Camp Boothe Oaks.

Brownies will arrive at 10 a.m. with a sack lunch, drink, and snack, dressed in long pants, shoes, socks, and jackets. They can be guided on the Tajar Trails by Junior Girl Scouts; they picnic in troop groups and depart at 2 p.m.

Check Laws Before Erecting Signs

Candidates for political office may violate the law if they erect campaign signs on some private property.

Candidates or their campaign managers are urged to contact the nearest district office of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for further information if they are considering erecting campaign signs.

The Highway Beautification Act which became law in 1972 controls the erection of signs on property adjacent to Interstate and Primary highways. Anyone desiring to erect a new sign must have a state license to engage in outdoor advertising and a permit for each sign. The law does not apply to Farm to Market Roads.

Existing signs may be repainted or repapered; however, they may not be enlarged nor may lighting be added unless approved by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation or the city which issued the sign permit. Subject to city ordinances, signs may be erected in front of stores or homes used as campaign headquarters.

No signs, except official traffic control signs, are permitted within the right of way of state highways. Maintenance crews will remove any signs not conforming to state law.
