

Enjoyed a visit with Ed Syers of Kerville last week and agreed to help with his latest project, a book dealing with ghost stories in Texas.

Ed is the author of, "Off The Beaten Trail", a popular and widely read series of articles which later developed into a best seller. Ed sketched what may be the most authentic collection ever assembled on the intriguing points of enchantment in the Lone Star State.

He is a walking encyclopedia of 'Texana' as he calls it. Material for his works was learned firsthand as he traversed this huge state and back again many times in persistent pursuit of the captivating charms of Texas.

His latest project is a compilation of ghost stories and he says he wants to weave a collection of classic phantom stories from the various regions and cultures of Texas.

The trip through Haskell last week was one of several large loops through the state during which Ed intends to gather information.

This particular trip featured stops to locate data on the Hawley "Big Foot", Haskell "Thang", and like characters in Aspermont, Lamesa and Hereford.

Maintenance includes up-keep on building and utility bills. The increase was about 40%, from about $110,000 to $153,000. A jump from $16,000 to $43,000 in transportation reflected the planned purchase of a new bus and the increased cost of gasoline.

Sales Tax Receipts Up 22%

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said continued improvements in the tax processing system in his office will result this month in a one-time, multi-million sales tax rebate bonus to cities and quicker tax reimbursements in the future.

Bullock said Texas cities who levy the optional one-percent city sales tax will receive two rebate checks for August.

He said this month's "extra" check will include a large amount of money from second quarter returns filed in the Comptroller's office on the July 31 deadline and normally would have been included in the September payment.

He said one check represents taxes being returned from last month's rebate cutoff through the end of July. The other check is the result of allowing an extra week of tax allocations for cities during the first week of August.

The City of Haskell received two checks totaling $23,442.55. The check for the regular payment period was $9,346.97 and the special one-time payment was $14,095.58. The regular payment through the end of July brings the total received by the City of Haskell for 1980 to $73,318.59. The total paid for the same period last year was $59,628.20. The 1980 total represents a 22% increase over the same period last year.

These totals do not include the one-time special payment. Statewide, Texas cities will share $39.8 million for the normal end-of-July allocation formula and an additional $61.1 million as a one-time bonus payment under the revised accounting system.

"That's well over $100 million that will be returned to cities as a result of improvements in our accounting system," he said. Bullock said city sales tax rebates will now be allowed to accrue through the first week of each month and be paid about the 15th of the month. The previous allocation period ran from the end of one month to the first of the following month and cities were reimbursed sometime after the middle of the month.

Bullock said improvements in the state's deposit and tax posting system will allow his office to keep the rebate pipeline open into the first week of each month and still get out city checks by mid-month.

He said a single-step remittance processing system adopted last spring has reduced tax deposit time from six days to about 72 hours.

Houston's rebate for August includes $8.5 million and $12.6 million, bringing that city's 1980 total to $82.3 million.

Dallas will receive checks for $4.3 million and $7.2 million, pushing the city's yearly total to $46.3 million.

Fort Worth payments include a $1.5 million rebate and a $2.4 million payment bringing the city's 1980 reimbursements to $15.4 million.

San Antonio will receive checks for $2.1 million and $3.4 million. The Alamo City's refunds this year now total $21.8 million.

The city sales tax is collected by merchants and businesses along with the state sales tax and is refunded each month to the cities where it is collected by the Comptroller's office.

Campaign Launched To Expand Membership

A campaign to expand the membership of the 77,300-member Order of the Sons of Hermann in the State of Texas will be conducted Aug. 1-Oct. 31 in all 159 lodges of the fraternal order, Louis B. Engelke, grand president, has announced.

The lodges are located in 138 cities and towns across the state. Earlier this month 880 lodge leaders from across Texas met in San Antonio home office site of the fraternal society, in a rally for the campaign. This rally followed a seminar attended by 116 local lodge membership representatives.

Hermann Sons in Texas dates back to 1860 when Harmonia Lodge No. 1 was being organized in San Antonio. The lodge was officially chartered in 1861. Originally part of a national society founded in New York in 1840, Hermann Sons in Texas became autonomous in 1921. Headquarters are located in San Antonio where the Grand Lodge was established in 1890.

The Hermann Sons order is listed in Fraternal Monitor magazine as 25th in size among 111 fraternal benefit societies in the nation reporting statistics and first among those operating in only one state.

The order in Texas operates a youth summer camp and a retirement home for aged members near Comfort and sponsors 19 dancing schools for junior members. Local lodges sponsor both social and benevolent activities. As required by law, the fraternal benefit society also provides life insurance for the benefit of adult and junior members.

Lodge membership representatives in the Haskell area are: Harry Koehler and Alton Middleton, Haskell Lodge No. 241.

your filter can get dirty, clogged, waste energy...

but a clean filter
saves energy, money.

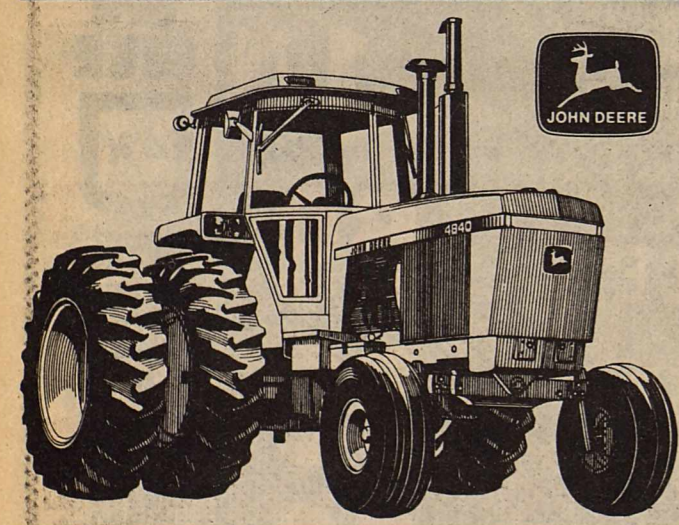

The purpose of a filter on your air conditioning or heating air blower is to help catch dust and dirt before it can enter your unit. In time, the filter will accumulate dust and dirt... if it gets clogged, it can't do the cleaning job it's supposed to and uses more electricity. To avoid damage to your unit and to save energy and money, be sure filters are clean. Permanent types can be cleaned according to the manufacturer's instruction. Non-permanent types should be replaced. It is wise to check filters every 30 days.

Save energy... save money... use clean filters.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Today tenants make up over half of the population of the State of Texas. Most of our Texas tenants are required to put down a security deposit on the apartment or house which they intend to lease before moving into the new residence. Unfortunately, many renters possess misconceptions concerning the purpose of the deposit and their rights regarding a security deposit refund.

A security deposit is not the price you pay for leasing a residence, rather it is a sum of money given to the landlord to protect him against damage you may purposely or accidentally cause to his property. If a tenant does not cause any damage to the leased property and fulfills his legal and contractual obligations, the landlord must return the tenant's security deposit.

Art. 5236e of the Texas Revised Civil Statutes sets out the legal rights and obligations of the landlord and tenant regarding security deposits. Before moving a tenant must take the following action:

- fulfill the lease agreement;
- return the key and cause no damage over "normal" wear and tear;
- give the landlord proper notice of termination in writing;
- give the landlord a forwarding address in writing; and
- leave the leased premises clean.

A landlord is obligated to return your security deposit and/or give you a written itemized list of the deductions for repairs and cleaning within 30 days after the day you move out. If you have provided a forwarding address, and the landlord fails to send you a written list of deductions within the required time, he must return the entire deposit without deducting anything and cannot collect for damages.

If the landlord refuses to give you your deposit back, or if you do not agree with the amount or reasons for his deductions, you can sue for your deposit. If the landlord keeps the deposit in "bad faith", you can sue for $100 plus three times the amount of the deposit wrongfully withheld and attorneys fees.

The best way to protect yourself is a check-in, check-out list, witnessed by someone not living on the property, or the landlord or manager. Let the manager or landlord know what damages there are to the property when you're ready to move out, and even take pictures if you want to have extra proof.

If you should have a landlord-tenant problem, contact the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division of the Attorney General's Office.

NOTICE

IF YOU SMELL NATURAL GAS, FOLLOW THESE 3 STEPS TO SAFETY.

The natural gas industry has an excellent safety record.

The fact that you can smell natural gas is because we add a harmless chemical to it as an extra safety feature. Otherwise, it would be completely odorless. If you detect faint whiffs of what you think may be gas, investigate. It may be something that is as easily and safely corrected as a pilot light that has gone out, or a burner valve that's partially open.

If your equipment seems to be working properly and the odor intensifies and seems to be everywhere, please follow these precautions:

1. Do not switch anything electrical on or off. Do not use the telephone in your own home. Do not strike a match. Do not do anything that might cause a spark.

2. Have everyone leave the house immediately, leaving doors open to help ventilate.

3. Go to a nearby telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the source of the odor to determine whether it's safe for you to return to the house.

You may never have a natural gas leak, but we want you to be informed in case one does occur. Please make sure your family is aware of these precautionary steps. And we suggest that you keep this message for future reference.

A Few Who Dared

BY JERRY JENNINGS

Note: The following account is true, but names have been withheld to protect the identities of the few who dared.

It was almost midnight when the late model sedan turned cautiously into the winding driveway of a darkened two story house on the outskirts of Haskell, Texas.

The July night was clear and calm. The only sounds were the distant churning of an oilwell and the crunching of gravel beneath the tires of the automobile.

The beam of the headlights glanced off a group of men huddled in the shadows of a large tree. The occupant of the car gripped the steering wheel more tightly. The others were here as they promised they would be. He just hoped they were prepared for what lay ahead.

As he switched off the ignition, the driver told himself that it was not too late to back out. His wife had begged him not to go. It could be dangerous, she had said, to his health and reputation.

He had given his word to those men. They needed him and his specialized skills. Without him, the unit would not be complete and the operation might fail. Besides, every man here faced the same risks as he.

He adjusted his hat to better disguise his features. Taking a deep breath, he stepped from the car. Since he was only going around once in life, he hoped he was headed in the right direction.

As he approached the other men, he saw that they were dressed in dark outfits like his own. That was good. The dark attire was perfect for this nocturnal venture. It would make the men less visible to their adversaries.

The newcomer was greeted in hushed tones and then left to himself. Like the other men, he was soon lost in his own thoughts about the impending ordeal. There was a strong feeling of unity among the men which did not need the aid of conversation.

The slam of a door jolted the men to their senses. It was their leader emerging from the house. He announced that others who had promised to participate had dropped out at the last moment.

"We've got no choice!" he said. "We'll have to go with what we've got!"

Within seconds, the men were speeding west toward Rule, Texas. Some of them tried to break the tension in the car by joking about the late hour and the absurdity of what they were about to do. They all admitted that their wives thought they were crazy for agreeing to the scheme.

No amount of joking could deny the reality of the dark green bag lying in the back of the car. Inside that bag were the articles necessary for the operation. They were old and would have to be handled with utmost skill if the men were to succeed.

Five miles out of town, the men saw a caravan of cars moving slowly toward Haskell. The men were silent. They knew that behind those headlights were other men who had dared and failed.

As soon as the caravan had passed, the men tried to push the sad spectacle from their minds. They could not afford to think about failure. Such thoughts might shatter their fragile hope and determination.

Suddenly they saw the lights which marked their destination. Rising just above the silhouette of Rule, the lights glared like the eyes of an immense monster peering out over the town in search of prey. These were mocking eyes which seemed to say, "Come and be destroyed!"

The men drove on. As they entered Rule, they saw that the streets were dark and deserted. It was as if the citizens of the town had secluded themselves behind locked doors and drawn curtains so they would not have to see what was about to happen.

The car slowed and rolled to a stop in the darkness just beyond the huge circle of light. The men climbed out and waited quietly as their leader carefully lifted the green bag from the car.

Each man reached into the bag and withdrew the piece of equipment he was to use. Each piece was examined quickly to ensure that it would function properly. Some articles were rejected and returned to the bag.

The men looked at each other. They all knew instinctively that it was too late to avoid the confrontation. They had dared to come this far; they dared not turn back now.

They had dared despite the pleadings of wives and the desertion of friends. They had dared despite the danger of physical injury. They had dared although most would say that only fools would gather in the dead of night for such an activity, that this was nothing for grown men of good reputation to be involved in.

Nevertheless, at the stroke of midnight, the men took the final dare. In the tradition of their ancestors over a century before at the Alamo, they stepped forth as one into the arena of light to meet the fate that awaited them in the Men's Slowpitch Softball Tournament.

PMC Field Day Set In Knox City August 27

Final preparations are underway for the seventh biennial Field Day to be held at the USDA-SCS Plant Materials Center August 27th. The public is invited to come and visit the Center which is located 2 miles north of Knox City on State Highway 6, and 2½ miles west on FM 1292.

Bill Carr, University of Texas Land Agent, Midland, will be the featured program speaker. Carr will speak at 12:30 p.m. Other participants on the program include George C. Marks, SCS State Conservationist, Temple, and Fred Fortney, SCS State Resource Conservationist, Stillwater, Oklahoma. Invocation will be given by Father Brendan McGuire, pastor of St. Joseph's Parish at Rhineland and Santa Rosa at Knox City.

Registration for Field Day will begin at 8:30 a.m. Guided tours of the Center will start at 9:00 a.m. and continue throughout the day. SCS personnel will be stationed at various locations, including the initial evaluation areas and the woody plant blocks. They will point out the different types of plants being evaluated and answer questions concerning the origin of these plants and their intended conservation use.

A catered barbecue meal will be served at noon. Tickets will be available on a prepaid basis at $4 per plate. Payment should be made to Doris Crowner at the Knox City Chamber of Commerce Office on or before August 25th.

Registration will be handled by the Knox City Chamber of Commerce and the Knox City FFA Chapter. The Knox City FFA Chapter will sell refreshments and snacks throughout the day.

The Plant Materials Center was established in 1965 to serve the states of Texas and Oklahoma in developing plants for conservation use.

The major objective of the Center is to assemble and evaluate plants having potential value for use in critical and special areas such as mine spoil revegetation, range and pasture improvement, wildlife development, shoreline stabilization, and for recreation and beautification plantings. Over 1100 different plants are in the initial stage of evaluation at the Center.

Once a promising plant is selected for advanced testing, the Center determines the cultural and management techniques required to establish and grow these plants. A limited seed production area is maintained at the Center to produce seed for field testing and also to provide seed growers with Foundation Seed to establish a commercial source of seed for the plant once it is officially released.

Some of the most recent releases from the Center are: 'Selection 75' kleingrass, 'Mason' sandhill lovegrass, 'Alamo' switchgrass, 'Aztec' Maximilian sunflower, 'Shoreline' common reed, 'Nueces' and 'Llano' buffelgrass.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "Do we really need it? Can we afford it? Can the need best be realized at the local level?" Those three questions have become as close to the "Stenholm philosophy" as anything I can devise. Those are the questions that I believe the people of the 17th District elected me to answer each and every time their money is to be spent through the federal budget. Sometimes the resulting answers aren't easy ones.

I recently proposed an amendment to the Department of Transportation (DOT) Authorization Bill which would have answered those questions in what has appeared to some to be opposition to the transportation needs of the handicapped. That amendment would have created a local option which would allow transit authorities, in consultation with members of the local handicapped community, to establish programs which effectively meet local transportation needs, rather than leaving those needs to the discretion of "Big Brother" in Washington.

At issue are DOT regulations that require that all public transportation systems receiving federal financial assistance become accessible to handicapped persons, including wheelchair users. For the most part, this requires lift-equipped buses and modified rail vehicles and stations. One-half of peak-hour bus service must be accessible by 1982, which could be extended to 1989 in the case of "extraordinarily expensive" compliance. However, beginning July 2, 1979, all new transit buses purchased must be lift-equipped. Rail systems must be made accessible over 30 years.

Do we really need it? There is no question about the need for adequate transportation for the handicapped. But we have to look at the results: The Congressional Budget Office has estimated that full-system accessibility would serve only about 7 percent of the handicapped population while special services (such as portal-to-portal van service) would benefit about 26 percent of the handicapped in this country.

Can we afford it? Cost estimates for complying with these regulations range from $6 billion to over $8 billion (current dollars, excluding inflation). Specialized services designated by the local community would cost an estimated $4.4 billion.

Can the need best be realized at the local level? My amendment (which was narrowly defeated) and a similar amendment, the Cleveland Amendment to the Surface Transportation Act which will be debated later this session, would allow communities to pursue alternative approaches for meeting the transportation needs of handicapped persons. Programs created as local options to full system accessibility must be developed in consultation with members of the local handicapped community.

This is a complex and often emotional issue, however, the bottom line remains: Do the benefits really justify the costs?

Back-To-School Roundup Set Aug. 25

It's that time of year again and the citizens of Weimert will prepare for the coming school year with their annual Back To School Round-up. Only this year the Round-up has taken a new twist and become the Round-up Game Night. It will also be held at the Bulldog football field instead of the Baptist Church.

Activities will begin with a hamburger supper prepared by local men. Families are asked to bring hamburger patties and fixings to the football field by 7:00 p.m. Supper will be served at 8:00 p.m.

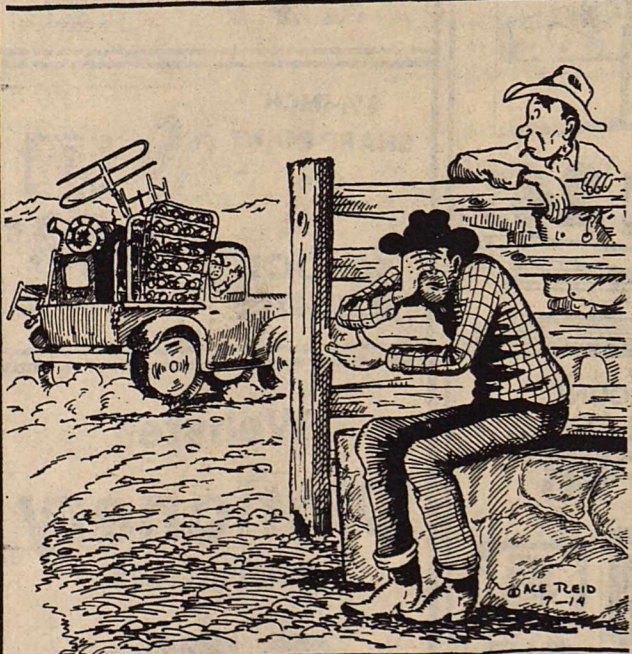

Following supper, all age groups will compete in the Weimert version of "Almost Anything Goes." This will be a team relay race consisting of such events as the Obstacle Course, Waterballoon Toss, Ma & Pa Go To Town, Coke Chug-a-lug, Football Sprint, Wheelbarrel Race, and more! Everyone is asked to wear comfortable clothes so they can join in the fun.

A community softball game will follow. Bring your softball equipment and join in the fun. Volleyball will also be set up. The night will wind up with homemade ice cream furnished by the women of the Baptist Church.

This is a game night for the entire community, young and old, whether you are connected with the school or not. Everyone is urged to attend and enjoy a fun-filled night of playing, eating, and visiting.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER

Superintendent, Haskell ISD

School days are with us. The teachers are in their inservice week; the students are registering for classes; the High School football teams are plowing through those infamous "2 a days"; the buildings are shiny and clean and bursting with life. To a professional educator with over twenty years of opening school, this is a thrilling time. We reflect back on other opening days and look forward to future days. Opening school in a new role always causes me to develop a new feeling of anticipation. We are enjoying the new staff members, reviewing summer memories with old staff members and looking forward to the classrooms and halls of Haskell ISD filled with bright, eager young faces. A school house holds no particular charm until it is filled with the quiet buzz of education in action and the shrill laughter of happy students.

The planning for the coming year is always a time of feverish action. Everyone is eager, their egos and energy levels recharged by a summer's lapse from the educational progress. The human mind is protected to remember mostly the good things and to tune out the drudgery or the less interesting parts of education. People are full of enthusiasm and new ideas garnered from further education, reading, association with other educators and simply having time for thought and reflection.

The majority of students are also recharged and eager. They, too, are looking forward to new goals and renewing old acquaintances.

Yes, regardless of the heat, summer is over and school bells are calling for the educational process to continue forward. We are enthralled with being a part of this thrilling event one more time.

Clothing Care ALERT!

CREASES ARE A CUE TO QUALITY

With costs rising, consumers are becoming very sensitive to quality. But what is it?

Quality is easy to detect in products. You know a good steak when you bite into it. You know a good lawn mower when you run it over your grass. You know a good suit when you put it on—its lines, its feel.

But in services, quality is an expectation. What should you expect from your drycleaner? The International Fabricare Institute (IFI), the world-wide association of drycleaners and laundriers, has established some guidelines for consumers to use when judging the services of their drycleaners, expectations that IFI-member cleaners are committed to fulfilling.

Use the IFI checklist when you bring in your clothing for cleaning.

A quality drycleaner will return garments to you with crisp, single creases; no wrinkles or puckers where the garment is contoured; no heavy seam, pocket or button impressions; no fabric shine, especially at zippers and pockets; flat, smooth pockets; even cuffs on trousers; evenly spaced pleats; buttons, hooks and trim intact; no puckers along seams, and finished linings.

In suit coats, jackets or outer coats, look for fine finishing of the collar and lapels. Done properly, the break of the lapel will be shaped and the collar will have been returned to its original contour so it lies flat around your neck.

When you have your clothing drycleaned, each item should be returned clean and restored as nearly as possible to its original shape and appearance—creases in proper places and wrinkles removed.

Fine finishing by your drycleaner will add seasons of wear to a wardrobe that represents a large investment. Quality care protects that investment.

Threat Of Wildfires Increased By Drought

Drouth and the extremely hot summer have greatly increased the threat of wildfires. Better managed ranges are especially vulnerable as there is an abundant supply of fuel.

"Everyone stands to lose from wildfires," points out Dr. B.J. Ragsdale, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Forage crops are lost, wildlife habitats are damaged, air and water quality is lowered, recreational value of the burned area is altered, and the burned area is an eyesore."

Prevention is the best cure for wildfires. Ragsdale urges extreme caution in using fire of any kind. Lightning can cause fire and little can be done to prevent it. But people who work outdoors as well as travelers should be careful to prevent fires.

"Should you discover a wildfire, report it immediately to the nearest authority," advises Ragsdale. "County rural fire fighting plans should be updated so wildfires can be controlled efficiently. Equipment should be in order and easily located."

Ragsdale recommends that ranchers defer burned areas from grazing until forage plants are reestablished. Seeding may be necessary to insure a ground cover.

"Fire is a natural phenomena that had a major influence in developing and maintaining grasslands and savannahs," points out Ragsdale. "It is being proven as a valuable range improvement tool and is a valuable asset when used under proper conditions. However, when it occurs as a wildfire, untold damage is done."

Funday To Honor Cong. Stenholm

Friends and supporters of Congressman Charles Stenholm are invited to the Second Annual Funday Festivities, Saturday, September 6, 1980, at the Ericksdahl Picnic Grounds near Stamford.

Stenholm and his wife Cindy, along with their children Chris, Cary, and Courtney Ann, will return to Texas for the September 6 festivities sponsored by Friends of Charlie and the Stenholm '80 Committee.

Congressman Stenholm will address the gathering of friends and supporters of the thirty-three county 17th Congressional District. A down-home fried chicken picnic will begin serving at 5 p.m. Live entertainment will also be planned.

Tickets for Funday are $10.00 each and can be purchased by contacting the Stenholm '80 Committee office, P.O. Box 1032, Stamford, Texas 79553, or by calling 915-773-5521 for more information. In case of inclement weather, activities will be held in the Ericksdahl Lutheran Church.

Western Texas College Sets Registration

Western Texas College will begin fall semester classes on Aug. 27 following registration on Aug. 25-26.

Sophomores are to register between 1-5 p.m. on Aug. 25, with a special registration period for evening students from 6:30-9 p.m. on that day. Freshmen will register from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Aug. 26, and registration for all students will continue through that afternoon.

Students beginning registration are to go first to the counseling office in the Student Center. Photos for the yearbook and for the counseling-registration file will be made at registration, so students are asked to come prepared for the picture session.

WTC offers day and evening classes for academic and vocational-technical students. Persons who need further information are invited to contact the office of the registrar at AC 915 573-8511.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
 We, at Colonial, would like to take this opportunity to thank Coach Busby, The Haskell Girls' Athletic Association, and everyone else who had a hand in helping with the Colonial Car Wash for Muscular Dystrophy. It was a huge success. There was also a group of boys who went out and collected over $100 in one afternoon for us. Anyone wanting to donate can also send us a check made out to Muscular Dystrophy Association. Thank you.

White Awarded Masters Degree

After completing scientific research which concentrated on fossils in and around Haskell County, Frankie Don White has been awarded a Masters of Science Degree from Midwestern State University at the close of the summer semester.
 White and his wife, Diana, formerly Diana Davis of Haskell, currently reside with their two boys, Frankie Joe and Nathan, in Windthorst.

A teacher for six years, Frankie is currently the head coach and science and biology teacher at Windthorst. His wife is also a business teacher at Windthorst High School. Frankie Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank White of Breckenridge.

Cowboy Country Museum To Display Art Work

The Cowboy Country Museum will sponsor a showing of 25 paintings of the Texas Cultural Alliance's International Children's Showcase, a display of art work done by children of the United States and some 17 other countries, during the month of September.

The display, part of a traveling display of 100 paintings, will be featured at the Museum, located at 113 S. Wetherbee on the east side of the square in Stamford, from September 2 through the 25th. The Museum is open Mondays through Fridays from 8:30 a.m. until noon and from 1:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Selected from 3000 paintings of the "Hands Around the World" program sponsored by the Texas Cultural Alliance, the 25 paintings to be shown represent the best of those submitted by grade school children reflecting the theme of each participating country's culture. Each piece of work bears a tag telling the name, age and location of the artist's home.

Each year Texas school children participate in the program, sending paintings of the them, "Texas Over Texas," to other participating countries for exchange by means of a courier-usually some one the school knows who will be traveling overseas-who will deliver the paintings and receive some in exchange. The courier, upon his return to the U.S., is commissioned as an Ambassador of Good Will.

Citizens of over 60 Texas communities have participated in the program since its inception in 1975 as a Bicentennial project.

Groups or school classes desiring to attend the display are asked to call the Chamber of Commerce, 773-2411, for an appointment in order that a hostess will be available to aid the tour group.

The art display comes to Stamford from Odessa and will go from Stamford to Abilene. Directors of the Cowboy Country Museum invite everyone who is interested in seeing the display to come in. If interest in the display is great enough, the Museum will make an effort to bring the remaining 75 paintings here next year.

DRIVELINE

Accidents are the fourth leading cause of death in America, exceeded only by heart disease, cancer, and stroke. And half of all accidents are motor vehicle-related. In 1979 over 51,000 Americans died in traffic accidents; over two million were injured. . . .

A Long Way To The Gas Pump . . . Some of that high-priced gas you're buying these days is made from oil that travelled down from the Arctic via the Trans Alaska pipeline. In case you wondered, the pipeline is 798 miles long, 48 inches in diameter, and crosses three mountain ranges and 600 rivers. The pipeline is heated in the Arctic winter, and over a million barrels a day pass through it at a speed of seven MPH. . . .

If you're going to drink before driving, stick to beer—right? Not really. A 12-ounce glass of beer contains as much alcohol as a 1½-ounce jigger of 86 proof whiskey or a six-ounce glass of wine.

Electrifying News! Giant General Motors is planning production of electric cars in 1985. GM is believed to be developing a small, 2-seat run-about intended as a second car for urban use. The key has been a recent breakthrough in battery design permitting a top speed of 50 MPH and a range of 100 miles between recharging.

The work done each minute by the human heart is equivalent to lifting a 70 pound weight a foot off the ground. . . .

At 55 MPH, the average car's cooling system handles enough heat to warm a seven-room house in zero degree weather. Remember that during the hot summer months. Check the coolant in the radiator, and check hoses for cracks, leaks and swelling.
