

A startling revelation occurred last week while watching a re-run of "Gunsmoke" on T.V.

What I decided during the show is that the American public would be much better off if we could keep politicians and bureaucrats from watching T.V.

It became obvious after that particular show that the damage has already been done for the present but in the interest of future generations, instigating the policy should certainly be beneficial.

Not only was it obvious that the Washington elite had been the same show, it was also apparent that they have enlarged and perfected the basic theory suggested in the show.

The American public is now the beneficiary of a multitude of 'simple government forms.' Many of the forms on single sheets requesting different types of information.

The problem comes in attempting to complete a one-page form when you can't decipher the six pages of instructions.

The theory defined during the

Rain Dance Sale To Aid Economy

BY JERRY JENNINGS

In Haskell, the economy and the weather are inseparable. When rain does not come, crops do not grow and financial resources are stretched thin.

In the midst of a drought, we watch the skies daily for signs of relief. Our hopes come and go with the clouds. By nightfall, we face the fact that prosperity is at least another day away.

The Haskell Chamber Retail Trade Committee has decided to give us relief from the drought and financial strain. On Friday and Saturday of this week, they will sponsor a RAINDANCE SALE.

Although the Haskell merchants are experts at having sales, they are pure novices in the art of rainedancing. They have asked for help from the nearest friendly tribe, the Haskell High School Indians.

The HHS Indians have agreed to a Pow Wow with the merchants at 7:30 p.m. Thursday night on the east side of the Haskell Courthouse Square. The combination pep rally/sale promotion will feature the Indian Cheerleaders, twirlers, band and varsity football players.

Instead of trading beads and buffalo hides, the merchants and Indians will be exchanging support. The Indians will do the rainedancing to promote the sale. The merchants will make heap big noise to help the Indian football team begin another successful season.

The public is invited to slap on the war paint, open the umbrellas and join the commotion on the square.

feature dry cleaning, shirt laundry, and in-house alterations.

Both Darrell and Kay (formerly Kay Campbell) are natives of Haskell and graduates of Haskell High School.

Memories Of An Old Flame

BY GINA JENNINGS

Watching the hungry blue-gold flames licking the transport leap higher and higher, I shuddered. A huge billow of dense black smoke swallowed a group of firemen whole. I felt a rush of gratitude for my reprieve. Except for the intervention of a grassfire earlier in the afternoon, that would have been me in the belly of that thick smoke.

I had arrived at Musick Field in Abilene a few minutes earlier, skulking about behind my camera, watching firemen of all shapes and sizes pulling on their gear. I harbored the hope that another fire had kept one man away from this training school. The one man that could make me trade my camera for a firehose, and join the blazing battle.

How could I have agreed to fight such a fire? Me, the girl who ate cold cuts for three weeks before mustering the courage to light the pilot on her gas stove...

Only one person could have "offered me this opportunity" with enough 'I dare you' in his voice to make me say yes. The one person who can make a reporter, no matter how timid, do that which is totally opposed to his or her nature--an editor.

And as I watched the first lighting of the transport fire, I rejoiced that he was not able to be there to make me follow through.

I was settling comfortably into the role of spectator when I saw him making his way toward me, his face already smeared with soot and his coat dripping. My heart sank...

Later, shuffling across the field dressed in fireman's boots, hat, coat and gloves, I felt obviously miscast. The oversized boots forced me into a peculiar scooting step and the coatsleeves flopped awkwardly several inches below my fingertips. I gave a sporting wave to my husband and my hat slipped backward, choking me with the chinstrap.

As I clunked and skooted my way toward the group of firemen assembling by the transport site, I fully expected some smirks at my ridiculous state. There were none. No one even remarked about the fact that I was shaking visibly.

Studying the varied faces appearing beneath the jutting brims of helmets, I found the question returning. That question was the real reason I had agreed to this terror.

Ever since photographing my first fire I had wondered why. Why do these men tear off to fight fires all hours of day or night? Volunteer firemen get no pay for the risks they take and the sleep they lose.

Certainly they have a sense of service to the community but the energy I felt when I watched them hinted at something more.

I hoped that by facing a fire with them, at close range, I would somehow find out what draws them. Perhaps to some degree, I could experience it myself. Yet, as the huge nozzle of the hose was placed in my hands, the only thing I could seem to experience was trembling cowardice.

I was still trying to think of some way to get out of the whole thing when the blaze was lit. A delicate ring of blue flame scampered quickly around the edges of the petroleum pool surrounding the transport. Then, with a breathtaking gust, the flames exploded in full force.

There were several very long seconds before we were told to turn on the hoses. The heat scorched my face and I ducked my head--hoping feverishly my helmet wouldn't fall off.

Slowly pushing the lever forward, the welcome coolness of the water shot ahead of us. Unprepared for the tremendous pressure of the water, I was suddenly aware that, except for the strong arm next to me, the hose would be tossing me in the air like a rag doll.

A surge of energy flooded me for

FOOTBALL

Haskell Indian fans will gather at Indian Stadium Friday night at 8 p.m. to see the first game of the 1980 season. Reserved seat tickets to home games are currently on sale at the high school principal's office. Persons who had reserved seat tickets last year had until 4 p.m. Wednesday to pick them up. Flame Burns Hot...

the first time. It fell through my feet, however, when the instruction came to move forward.

Move forward? Into the fire? My knees felt rubbery and I looked around me for a heartening glimpse of confident firemen.

None could be seen.

The steaming mists and the reflected glare blocked out the view of anyone except the one man next to me. And since that one man was the editor who had gotten me into this mess in the first place, he was not much consolation.

Resigned to my fate, I took a few shuffling steps toward the angry wall of flame. A roaring wind created by the blaze filled my ears. As we neared the transport, the fire leaped above us and tongues of fire from under the transport lapped near our legs.

Still, the misty wall in front of us kept the huge fire at bay. At some indistinguishable moment, the fear knotted inside me was transformed into trembling exhilaration.

Suddenly I knew why they did it. Perhaps it couldn't be put into words but I knew.

The power and beauty of the fire menacing around us was awe-inspiring. It challenged...dared. The adrenaline flowed in response to its raging. In a world at times too civilized, this is something to remember.

The energy flowed with the water and bit by bit the blaze was subdued.

As the last few flames faded and died, I felt triumphant for facing my own fear and a little sad that it was over.

The flush in my cheeks was not just from the heat. I had begun to understand a little about fighting fires.

Not only had I made it, despite the clomping boots and slipping helmet—I wanted to do it again.

That's something.

Stress Mgt. Seminar Set

The community is invited to attend a seminar addressing stress and anxiety and how to manage life with all its pressures.

Stress is something all people have in varying degrees from time to time. Different people manage stress and anxiety better or worse than others.

The Seminar, to be held at First Baptist Church, will help all who attend learn to identify stress and begin to know how to overcome its effects.

Beginning Sept. 7 at 6:00 p.m. and continuing each Sunday evening at that same time through Sept. 21, the seminar will be conducted at no cost. Please come to the Chapel of First Baptist Church of Haskell.

The seminar will conclude each Sunday evening before 7:00 p.m. in order that you will be able to attend the regular services of your own church.

Girl Athletes To Paint House Numbers

The Haskell Girl's Athletic Association (HGAA) will be painting house numbers on curbs this Saturday morning (6th) for donations.

The young ladies will be going from door to door around most of the residential areas. If you are going to be out of town and would like to make arrangements for your curb to be painted, you may do so by calling 864-2951.

The proceeds are going to help pay off a video machine which has been very beneficial in "seeing" one's mistakes.

Commissioners Hear Fire Dept. Request

Members of the Haskell County Commissioners Court heard a request to include $6,500.00 in the County budget for fire departments in the County.

The request stipulated that the funds be divided among the six organized departments in the County in the following manner: Sagerton, Weinert, and O'Brien, $500.00 each; Rule and Rochester, $1,250.00 each; and Haskell, $2,500.00.

The request also stated that the funds be budgeted on an annual basis and stated that the funds would be used to maintain existing equipment or purchase new equipment.

Commissioners agreed to study the proposal and make a decision during their September 8 meeting.

In other action, Commissioners set a public hearing on the 1981 budget for September 8 and discussed the new Experienced Citizens Center Building.

Renewed Interest could cause more to join Corps

This fall's Corps of Cadets at Texas A&M University should be larger than last year's if current interest continues.

Commandant of Cadets Col. James R. Woodall said more prospective students are considering entering the Corps than last year and attributed the renewed interest to reinstatement of draft registration.

"We understand that in the event of classification of registrants, students in an ROTC program will be given a deferred status as in the past," said Woodall, professor of military science.

Haskell Garden Club Sets First Meeting

As September arrives, the thoughts of the Haskell Garden Club turn toward their first meeting of the 1980-1981 club year and toward plans and entries in the Haskell County Fair Flower Show. For several years now, this has been one of the highlights of the local garden club. Not only members of the club are eligible to enter the Flower Show, but anyone who has a specimen or an arrangement which they think worthy to show.

As most of you know the fair this year will begin with entries on the 17th of September. Flower show entries will, as in the past, be accepted on the morning of September 18. Mrs. C.B. Rhea and Mrs. J.C. Dunman will again be in charge of the Flower show. Everyone is invited and urged to get their entries ready to take to the fair.

For members of the Garden Club the first meeting this fall will be on Wednesday, September 10, beginning at 10 a.m. with a Brunch at the Community Room of the Bank. Please note the day and time change for this first meeting. The Brunch will be hosted by the officers of the club.

A date change had to be made in order for some of the members to attend another meeting pertaining to the District VIII Spring Meeting to be held in Stamford in the month of March, 1981. We hope that all members will be present at this first, and important, meeting.

New yearbooks should be available.

Directing the program will be Mrs. R.C. Couch, Sr. as she and a group of the Charter members of the Haskell Garden Club reminisce over the past 23 years of garden club.

Mark these two dates on your calendar--Wednesday, September 10, 10 a.m.; September 17 through 20--Wednesday through Saturday, Haskell County Fair, Garden Club entries on Thursday, September 18.

4-H Projects Offer Wide Diversity of Choices

Texas 4-H members are involved in more than 60 different projects ranging from aerospace to wildlife science that vary in complexity as much as their names imply.

The 4-H project forms the basis for educational programs conducted through the Texas Agricultural Extension Service 4-H youth development programs, points out Lou Gilly, county Extension 4-H program coordinator. Members meet in small groups under the direction of a trained volunteer to study and experience various aspects related to the project of their choosing.

Some of the more popular 4-H projects among Texas 4-H'ers are foods and nutrition, clothing, horses, safety, gardening and livestock, notes Mrs. Gilly. These projects help 4-H members understand and appreciate the skills involved and to actually learn and practice many of them.

For example, in the foods and nutrition project members learn not only how to prepare certain foods but how to plan complete and nutritious meals. They also learn how foods affect their health and to develop good eating habits.

Clothing projects teach members skills in fabric selection, pattern adaptation and sewing skills. They also learn how to coordinate clothing and how to look their best for the least amount of money.

4-H'ers in the horse project learn about the physical makeup of the horse, riding skills, showmanship and a variety of related skills.

The safety project is popular in that it can be related to any other 4-H project and teaches members to practice safety in their everyday lives.

Gardening and livestock projects are among the more traditional 4-H projects and their popularity remains high. Both rural and urban youth raise vegetables and flowers, rabbits and sheep. Many of the larger animals requiring more space are most often found in rural or suburban areas.

Youth between the ages of 9 and 19 who would like more information on how to learn and grow in the 4-H program, should contact the county Extension office, adds Mrs. Gilly.

Beat-The-Heat With Cool Drinks

FROM LOU GILLY
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Summer refreshers help beat-the heat.

Here are three cooling summer refreshers.

Two are fresh-citrus beverages—a punch for four and a crowd-pleasing cooler.

Not forgetting the calorie conscious, the third refresher is a light, delicious fruit-flavored summer dessert.

Honey Citrus Cooler

1 cup boiling water
4 tea bags
1/2 cup honey
4 cups cold water
Juice of 5 fresh lemons (1 cup)
Juice of 3 fresh oranges (1 cup)
1 bottle (28 ounces) lemon-lime flavored soda, chilled
Ice cubes
Lemon cartwheels
Pour boiling water over tea bags, and steep five minutes. Remove tea bags. Stir in honey, cold water, lemon and orange juice, and chill. To serve, combine tea and fruit juice mixture, soda, ice and garnish. Makes about 11 cups.

Sparkling Fruit Punch

Juice of 3 fresh oranges (1 cup)
Juice of 1 fresh lemon
1 can (6 ounces) unsweetened pineapple juice
1 can (6 ounces) apple juice
1 can (12 ounces) lemon-lime flavored soda, chilled
Ice cubes
In pitcher, combine fruit juices and soda. Add ice and stir well. Makes about four cups.

Orange 'N' Pineapple Whip

1 envelope (1 1/4 ounces) low-calorie whipped topping
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) crushed pineapple in unsweetened pineapple juice, well-drained
2 oranges, peeled, cut in bite size pieces
1 carton (8 ounces) low-fat cottage cheese
1 envelope (1/2 of a 5/8 ounce package) low-calorie orange flavored gelatin
Grated peel of 1/2 fresh orange
Prepare whipped topping with water and vanilla, following package directions. In large bowl, combine pineapple, oranges, cottage cheese, gelatin (dry), orange peel and prepared topping. Chill. Makes eight servings (about five cups) at 110 calories per five-ounce serving.

Exhibit Displays Image of Old Age

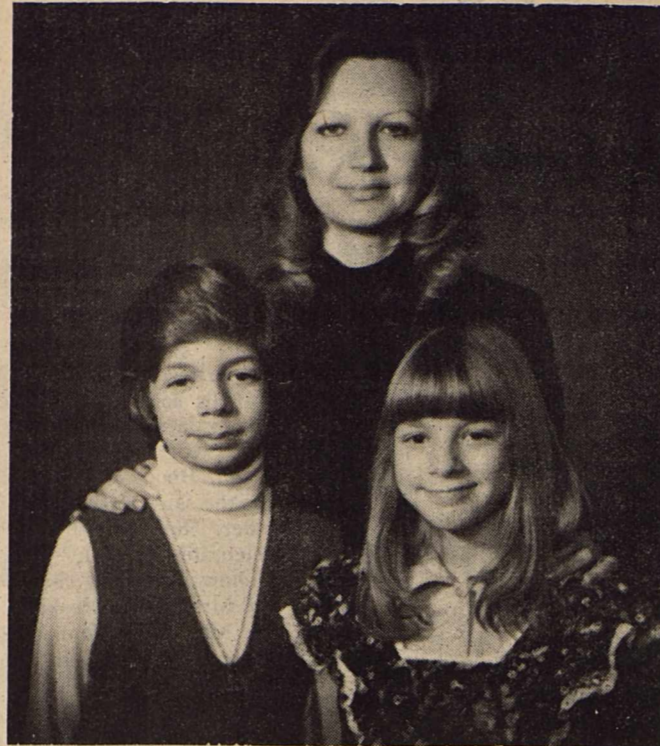

With the proportion of elderly persons in the population increasing dramatically, there is growing interest in issues related to aging. A special exhibition on the changing image of older Americans, "Images of Old Age in America, 1790-1977: Perceptions and Realities Through Prints and Photographs," will be on view at the Mall of Abilene from September 3, 1980 to September 26, 1980. This exhibit is sponsored by the West Central Texas Council of Governments Area Agency on Aging and researched by the University of Michigan's Institute of Gerontology. The exhibition is being circulated by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

The exhibition is divided into three broad historical periods: 1790-1864, between the founding of the Republic and the Civil War, when the elderly were revered and regarded as useful members of society; 1865-1934, when Americans increasingly devalued old people's worth, concluding that the aged were a "social problem"; and 1935-Present, following the enactment of Social Security, when public opinion began to question the presumed worthlessness of the elderly.

Your own perceptions of the elderly may be affected by "Images of Old Age in America." West Central Texas Council of Governments Area Agency on Aging invites you to visit the Mall of Abilene during business hours to see this exhibit.

Fair Rodeo To Begin Saturday

The West Texas Rodeo will be the first four nights of the West Texas Fair, Sept. 6-9, and it promises to be the best ever in its existence.

The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Assn. sponsored rodeo will have competition in bareback riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, team roping, barrel racing and bull riding. There are, though, more events that have been added to the rodeo schedule.

The first night of the rodeo, Sept. 6, after the grand entry, Miss West Texas Rodeo will be crowned and will reign over the entire rodeo. The newly-crowned winner will compete in the Miss Rodeo Texas pageant to be held in San Antonio in January. Applications deadline is August 20 and interested entrants, 18 to 24 years old, may pick up forms at KWKC Radio, Coors Distributing Co. (4290 S. Treadaway) or the West Texas Fair General Office. Also, applications are available through mail from Miss West Texas Rodeo, c/o KWKC Radio, Box 2201, Abilene, Texas 79601.

A new addition to the rodeo will be the Coors Chute-Out and will bring two world champions, Carol Goostree in barrel racing and Bobby Berger in the saddle bronc riding, to Abilene. The Chute-Out is a challenge by a world champion for anyone to defeat them at their particular event. Should the champion win, he or she receives $1300, or should the challenger defeat the champion, he will receive $1000. Goostree and Berger have chosen the West Texas Rodeo as one of their 25 rodeos throughout the nation they can designate as Chute-Out rodeos.

Another special event will be the Calf Scramble where young boys or girls scramble heifers each night of the rodeo, and winners receive money toward the purchase of a calf, ewe or swine. Throughout the year, the winners raise their animals, sending bi-monthly progress reports to the fair, and then exhibit them in the next year's fair at the Calf Scramble Beef Heifer Show.

The Pony Express event will be on the four nights of the rodeo, with two teams competing each night. The eight riders on each team individually race to the barrels in the arena and the last rider drops a mail pouch into a bucket in the center of the arena. The winning team of the first night will compete again against another team the following night. On the final night of the rodeo, the top two teams compete for the championship.

Three rodeo clowns will add fun and excitement to the PRCA Rodeo. Ted Kimzey is one of the nation's leading bullfighters and funny-men. Entering his first rodeo at age 10, Kimzey has been involved in rodeo ever since. In 1973, he turned to clowning and bullfighting as a full profession.

Quail Dobbs, being in the rodeo business for more than 18 years, is the barrel man, the clown who stands in a padded barrel—the padding is to protect the bull-and tries to attract the animal's attention. In 1978, Dobbs was the PRCA clown of the year.

The third clown will be Rick Young of Independence, Louisiana.

Those interested participants in Taylor County may enter the competition 10 a.m. Sunday, August 31, until 11 a.m. Monday, Sept. 1. Entrants must have a Taylor County drivers' license and may contact Ray Boeshart, 833 Byrd, Abilene, Texas 79601-673-6124.

The rodeo is included in the new single admission price of $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for children (under age 16) which also covers all fair activities within the gates and Coliseum. In past years, a separate admission ticket was required for the rodeo.

DPS Issues Caution To Motorists

The Texas Department of Public Safety wishes to warn the motorist that daylight hours will be getting shorter. It is difficult to see a person on foot during the twilight hours.

Major C.W. Bell, Regional Department of Public Safety Commander said, "Children will be attending school and this will cause an increase in pedestrian traffic. Human life is the most precious commodity we have, more especially our school children's lives."

Look for the pedestrian and the big yellow school bus. It's easier to see something when you are looking for it.

When you see a child in the street, expect him to do anything, and be ready to give him the right-of-way.

Back to school time is a good time of the year. Let's make sure all the children enjoy it all year long!

PCA Directors Meet Set September 5

Rolling Plains Production Credit Association directors join other agricultural leaders in Lubbock September 5 for the annual PCA Directors' Conference.

Rolling Plains PCA participants include Board Chairman John Perrin, Haskell; W. H. Williams, Spur; B. H. DeBusk, Anson; Dan Henard, Wellington; and Garon Tidwell, Munday. R. C. Cobb, PCA president of Stamford will accompany the group.

According to Perrin, the conference is designed to bring PCA directors up-to-date on services provided to PCAs by the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas, source of most PCA loan funds. Discussion leader is James Rogers, the Credit Bank's senior vice president. Also scheduled on the program is Melvin Sims, president of Growmark Ink Incorporated. His topic deals with effective directorship.

A special feature of this year's conference will be the Directors' Seminar scheduled September 4. Conducted by Louis A. Allen Associates, Inc., the seminar will feature director's roles as Association leaders and a systematic approach to leadership.

Rolling Plains PCA has farmer-rancher members in Briscoe, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dickens, Donley, Foard, Hall, Hardeman, Haskell, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Motley, Shackelford and Stonewall counties and has loans outstanding totaling more than $48 million.

USDA Soil Conservation Service

Conservation Viewpoints

Farmers in the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District who plow up and down the hill over terraces, or even across terraces still trying to stay somewhat on the contour, may be losing a lot more topsoil to erosion than they realize.

Research in the District area indicates that plowing over terraces can double the amount of erosion as compared to farming with the terraces on the contour.

The actual amount of gross erosion depends on several factors, including percent slope, length of slope, type of crop grown, amount of crop residue left on the surface, type of soil, and rainfall.

All things being equal, there will be more erosion on land where cotton follows cotton than on land where sorghum follows sorghum. That's because sorghum produces more residue which, if left on the surface, reduces erosion.

Our studies have been based on studies using the Universal Soil Loss Equation. Computing soil loss plowing up and down the hill over terraces as compared to farming on the contour with terraces using the Universal Soil Loss Equation gives some startling soil losses. The equation is also backed by many years of research by the USDA Science and Education

Administration-Agricultural Research.

On a tillman clay loam soil with a 3 percent slope growing cotton following cotton up and down the hill over terraces, we could expect about 15-16 tons of gross erosion per acre per year.

By simply farming on the contour with the terraces, erosion would be only 6-7 tons per acre.

That's still too much. But by rotating cotton with sorghum and leaving the sorghum residue on the surface with contour farming, you could reduce erosion to about 3-4 tons per acre.

One reason some farmers plow over terraces is because their land was terraced many years ago when two-row equipment was standard. These terraces were built as economically as possible and left a lot of point rows...rows that are difficult to farm with 8, 10 or 12-row equipment.

One solution to the problem is to replace these old terraces with modern terraces that are built an even number of rows apart. We call these parallel terraces and they're a lot easier to farm.

Parallel terraces cost more than standard terraces, partly because more cuts and fills are usually needed to make them work properly.

But they are a lifetime investment. And since they are so much easier to farm, few farmers ever plow over them.

The Board of Directors are quite concerned over the amount of farming over terraces that is taking place in the Haskell SWCD, and they are encouraging farmers to change over to the new parallel terraces. They believe that this is necessary to combat the seriousness of soil losses, improve water quality in our lakes, and to save the land for future generations.

Graham Barbecue To Highlight Republican Roundup In Area

Governor Bill Clements and Former Governor John Connally this week started a 23-city "Roundup for Reagan-Bush" tour that will cover most of the state by late September.

Clements and Connally were accompanied by their wives to Hereford, Amarillo and Pampa on the first day of the "Roundup." The entire 23-city tour will end with visits to Victoria, Alice, Uvalde and Brackettville on September 24.

The stop in this area will be Graham on Sept. 4, at 7 p.m. with a barbecue dinner and rally on the courthouse square.

The "Roundup" is designed to identify as many Reagan-Bush supporters as possible, make sure they are registered before the Oct. 3rd deadline and encourage them to go to the polls on Nov. 4th. It is part of an extensive effort to get out the vote being conducted by the Texas Victory Committee on behalf of the Reagan-Bush ticket.

John Armstrong of Kingsville, the Roundup chairman, said preliminary plans for the tour have received an enthusiastic reception from many Democrats and independents as well as Republicans. Armstrong is the immediate past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers. He also served as President of the Santa Gertrudis Breeders International and Chairman of the Beef Industry Council.

"More and more people are realizing every day, with the continuing disclosures of Carter administration failures, that the presidential election on Nov. 4th will be one of the most important in the history of the United States," said Armstrong. "We want to make certain these people are registered to vote and that they exercise that precious privilege on election day."

"We are confident that if a majority of the thinking people in this nation vote on Nov. 4th, we will not have to put up with four more years of runaway inflation, high unemployment, soaring interest rates and lack of leadership," he declared.

Between Wednesday's Panhandle visit and the final event at Brackettville on Sept. 24, the Roundup tour will include the following stops:

Saturday, Aug. 30-Lufkin, Mt. Pleasant and Corsicana; Tuesday, Sept. 2-Temple, Bryan and Chambers County; Thursday, Sept. 4-Sherman, Vernon, Wichita Falls and Graham; Wednesday, Sept. 10-Fort Stockton and Kerrville; Tuesday, Sept. 23-Big Spring, San Angelo, Brownwood and Abilene.

Hearing Test Set For Haskell

Free Electronic hearing tests will be given at the Fieldan Motel, 115 S. Avenue E, Haskell, Friday, Sept. 5, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at the Beltone office to perform the test.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using modern electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which may be helped. Some of the causes of hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out if they are one of the many a hearing aid can help.

The free hearing test will be given at the Fieldan Motel, 115 S. Avenue E, Haskell. If you can't come in on Friday, call 864-2251 for in-home test.

All hearing aid users are welcome to our service-batteries for all makes.

Watch for Grand Opening

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

Despite the heat, school kicked off to a roaring start with enrollment, schedule changes, football scrimmages, opening ceremonies, etc. We have been very impressed with the attitude of the students and faculty during the first week of school. Everyone is eager and willing to work. The halls of the Haskell Schools are filled with bright, shiny faces. We welcome them back to that great experience, education.

The enrollment figures total 748, which is down by a total of 12 students in comparison with this time last year. A breakdown by class is as follows: Kindergarten, 46; First, 43; Second, 52; Third, 53; Fourth, 58; Fifth, 57; Sixth, 48; Seventh, 73; Eighth, 58; Ninth, 80; Tenth, 56; Eleventh, 62; Twelfth, 62.

There have already been some changes in the football schedule. Both Hamlin and Anson were forced to cancel their freshmen schedules because of a lack of players. The Freshmen will open their season at Stamford on September 4th at 5:30 to replace their game with Anson. The Jayvees will travel to Cisco on the same date. Then, on Friday, September 5th, the 1980 version of the Haskell Indians will take the field at Indian Stadium against a new rival, Cisco. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

The football lights have been lost in route and found but missing holding brackets. They will be up soon. Mr. Hargrove of Stamford has the bid and is working diligently to get the lights in place as quickly as possible.

We would like to reaffirm our desire for an informed public. The only way to get information is to come to the source. We would invite anyone who has question to come to school. The Superintendent, Principals, Teachers and Staff will try our utmost to answer your questions.
