The idea of attending a presidential press conference has always intrigued me and while visiting with Gina Jennings this week, I stole an idea she was working on concerning a mock press conference.

The idea finally became complete when digging through some twenty year old records. I located several in which questions are asked various candidates and the answers come in the form of the names of popular songs.

Considering the possibilities, it occurred that today's music just as easily applies as it did twenty years ago.

Gov. Reagan, what was President Ford's reply when you ask him to run as Vice President? "I'm Not Ready Yet". And what did you tell him? "If You Ever Change Your Mind". What did you do to get Mr. Bush to agree to run? "Knock Three Times On The Ceiling".

Mr. Clark, as a relatively unknown candidate of the Libertarian Party, how does it look? "Dark As A Dungeon".

President Carter, with only a week to go before the election, how are you sleeping? "On Pins and Needles".

Senator Kennedy, what are your intentions in 1984? I'm "In the Mood".

Mr. Anderson, how do you propose to solve the energy crisis? "16 Tons of #9 Coal".

Mr. President, how long will you continue your comments about Mr. Reagan? "Till I Get It Right".

Mr. Anderson, what are your plans for the last week before the election? "Six Days On The Road".

Gov. Reagan, how do you propose to get from California to the White House? "Waltz Across Texas".

Senator Kennedy, what do you propose to do to secure the release of the hostages in Iran? "Try A Little Kindness".

Gov. Connally, now that you've spent 12 million dollars and only received one delegate, what are your plans? "Going Back To Houston".

Gov. Reagan, what was your impression of the Camp David Summit? "Superstitious Mountain".

Looking back, how do you view the campaign, Gov. Brown? "Wasted Days and Wasted Nights".

Gov. Reagan, if you're not successful in your bid for the presidency, what next? "Hand Me Down My Walking Cane".

Mr. Anderson, what's your comment on not being included in the final debate? "Am I That Easy To Forget?".

President Carter, the Democrats of the country elected you president four years ago. Do you have anything to say to them today? "Stand By Your Man".

Mr. Anderson, how do you feel about the recent polls? Like a "Turkey In The Straw".

Mr. President, what's your response to the people who are saying you didn't live up to your campaign promises of 1976? "That's What You Get For Loving Me".

President Carter, what did you say to Teddy when you received the nomination? "I Wanna Hold Your Hand".

Mr. President, if defeated Nov. 4, what will you do to insure a smooth transition to the next president? "Take This Job And Shove It".

President Carter, why haven't the hostages in Iran been released? Because I've "Put It Off Til Tomorrow".

Gov. Reagan, what's your response to the President's attacks on your character and policies? "Kids Say The Darndest Things".

Gov. Brown, after your unsuccessful bid for the presidency, what's your impression of the candidates? "It Makes No Difference Now".

Mr. Anderson, during the past month you have dropped 7% in the polls, what's your explanation? "Time Changes Everything".

Mr. President, during the Campaign you have continually attacked Gov. Reagan's views on military affairs, would you comment? "I Won't Mention It Again".

Gov. Connally, it's been said that you have decided to retire from politics, would you comment? "Thanks For The Memories".

Mr. Anderson, in concluding this press conference do you have any final comments? "Let It Be Me".

New Director Named At MH-MR Center

David Smith has assumed duties as director of the Headstream Memorial Center in Haskell.

Smith, a native of New York, has lived in Texas much of his life. He is a graduate of Hirschi High School and Midwestern State University.

Prior to coming to Haskell, Smith was a social worker with Vernon Center.

Following his appointment as director, Smith said he hopes to expand the role of the center in the community.

"While we do deal with persons with mental problems, we also offer a wide range of services to the general public," said Smith.

Programs which might be beneficial to the general public include: family education, drug education, alcohol education and community education.

Smith said, "We offer counseling in a wide range of programs. Family Education programs might include such things as communicating with your spouse, coping with discipline problems. Drug Education programs range from helping persons with drug problems to helping parents prevent potential drug problems with their children. Other programs deal with stressful situations such as coping with divorce or the loss of a loved one."

"Many of our programs are aimed at assisting an individual in coping with everyday problems. Problems which they can probably cope with on their own but which we can help with," said Smith.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—This column last week asked seven questions which were designed as the first half of a test to measure your consumer skills. This week's column will conclude the test.

8. You have just had your eyes examined by an eye doctor. What can you do if you want to buy your glasses someplace else?

ANS: Ask the doctor for a copy of your prescription. A new rule promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) gives patients the right to obtain their prescriptions immediately after an eye examination, and doctors cannot charge extra for this service.

9. This morning a salesperson knocked on your door and sold you $200 worth of encyclopedias. Now you have decided that you do not want the books. Can you cancel the sales contract?

ANS: There is a three day cooling off period in Texas which gives consumers the right to cancel most door-to-door sales after they have "cooled off" from the sales presentation. To cancel, a consumer must notify the seller in writing by midnight of the third business day after the day of the sale.

10. Last night you signed a health spa contract at a local spa. Do you have three days to cancel this contract?

ANS: No—at least the law does not require it. When a sale is made or a contract is signed at the merchant's place of business, you generally can cancel the contract only if the contract gives you this right.

11. You have decided to purchase a new automobile but to do so you must borrow money from your bank. What is the most important question to ask when you meet with the loan officer?

ANS: Ask what the annual percentage rate (APR) is. The rates banks charge for loans vary greatly. The lowest APR is usually the best credit buy, although you should also take into account the amount borrowed and the time allowed for repayment. The APR, which is the unit price for credit, is the only rate which takes into account all of the finance costs of the loan.

12. You sent a mail order company $20 for a new pair of shoes. Delivery was promised in two weeks. Six weeks later you still have not heard from the company or received your shoes. Now you are tired of waiting and just want your money back. Can you get it?

ANS: Generally, if you do not get delivery in the time period promised, you can cancel your order and get a complete refund.

13. You recently were divorced. Now you realize that all your credit cards are in your ex-husband's name. Will it be difficult to establish your own credit rating?

ANS: A recently passed federal law gives you the right to contact all present and past creditors and tell them that you want the accounts reported in your own name (as well as your ex-husband's). Creditors must then carry accounts under which you were permitted to charge (or for which you were equally liable) in your name. These accounts can then be used as credit references for new charge accounts.

14. Your neighbor says his car gets 25% better gas mileage now that he started using a fuel-line and oil additives. Do these products actually save a significant amount of gas?

ANS: Of the fuel tank devices and oil and gas additives that have been tested so far by the Environmental Protection Agency, none has reduced fuel consumption significantly. You might ask your neighbor again.

15. You want to prepare for winter by insulating your home. When you ask around, everyone tells you to shop for R-value, not inches, when buying insulation. What is R-value?

ANS: The R-value of an insulation product measures that product's ability to resist ("R") the flow of heat from a warm room to a cold outside. The R-value you need depends on the climate, the type of heating fuel you use and the part of the house you insulate. You can get help with this decision from your utility company.

16. What do I do if I have a consumer complaint?

ANS: Contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection & Antitrust Division office nearest you.

Interest Rates Increase On Savings Bonds, and Savings Notes

Secretary of the Treasury G. William Miller today announced that President Carter approved a 1 percent increase in the interest rate paid on United States Savings Bonds and Savings Notes.

The President acted after signing legislation permitting the Secretary of the Treasury, with the President's approval, to raise Savings Bonds interest rates by up to 1 percent during any 6-month period. Previously the interest rate ceiling was fixed by statute.

The interest rate on Series EE Bonds purchased on and after November 1, 1980, is being increased from 7 percent to 8 percent, compounded semiannually, when the Bonds are held to original maturity. The term to maturity is being shortened from 11 to 9 years.

The interest rate on Series HH Savings Bonds purchased on and after November 1, 1980, is being increased from 6½ percent to 7½ percent to their original maturity, which remains at 10 years. Interest on these Bonds is paid semiannually by check.

All outstanding Series E, EE, H and HH Savings Bonds, as well as outstanding Savings Notes (Freedom Shares) will also benefit from a 1 percent increase to their next maturities. The redemption value of E and EE Bonds and Savings Notes and the interest on H and HH Bonds during periods before their maturity will be improved. In general, the increase will be effective with the first semi-annual interest period that begins on or after November 1, 1980. Maturity periods for these Bonds and Notes will not be changed.

Secretary Miller said: "This action and the phase-out of ceilings on deposit interest rates that was begun earlier are major steps toward the Administration's goals of assuring a fair rate of return to small savers and encouraging greater total savings."

"Giving small savers a fair return and encouraging increased savings in this country are integral parts of our efforts to reduce inflation and provide the enormous investment needed to revitalize our economy in the 1980's."

Depending on market conditions, a further rate increase of up to 1 percent may be made as early as May 1, 1981.

The new 8 percent rate for EE Bonds and 7½ percent rate for HH Bonds will be guaranteed minimum yields to their original maturities.

Continuing benefits of Series EE Bonds include their exemption from State and local income taxes, the option to defer Federal income taxes on accrued interest, the low minimum purchase price of $25, and the right to redeem the Bonds anytime after six months at issue price plus accrued interest.

Treasury hopes that the higher interest rates will increase purchase of Savings Bonds, particularly through payroll savings plans, as well as reduce redemptions. The unprecedented market interest rates during the past year have resulted in a heavy volume of redemptions and declining sales.

"THIRD-WORLD" PROBLEMS IN GERMANY. Amid cries of "racism" and "facism," the German people are protesting the massive influx of "Third-World" immigrants seeking to settle under the country's liberal political asylum law. There have been fire-bombings, smashed windows and demonstrations. Opinion polls show that there is growing concern that the dark-skinned, high-birth-rate immigrants from Afghanistan, Ethiopia, India, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka (Ceylon), Somalia and other lands will overwhelm the Germans.

'NO SPEAKA DA INGLISH.'

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has discovered there are some 28 million people in the U.S. whose primary language is not English. So it has proposed a new law that would prohibit employers from insisting that workers speak only English on the job.

A dear old lady inquired of a sailor: "What rank did you hold when you were in the navy?" Sailor: "Ship's optician, lady." Old lady: "I didn't know there was such a rank. What did you do?" Sailor: "I scraped the eyes out of the potatoes."

As Halloween Approaches—The Witches Call

BY JERRY JENNINGS
I have seen her only once in my life but I will remember her always.
It was October of 1967. A chilling North wind came early that year to strip the West Texas mesquites of their summer dress. Only twisted shapes remained clawing the evening sky and whispering that Halloween was near.
I was a senior in high school. Like most other boys my age, I was intent on having a good time. The deeper mysteries of life did not concern me.
That Saturday night began as usual. Two friends and I joined the bumper to bumper teenage mating ritual at a local drive-in restaurant.
With the hood of my aging

Rambler polished like a new Corvette and the tape deck screaming, "I can't get no satisfaction," we jerked and backfired around the block.
We whistled and honked at carloads of girls who withdrew like turtles into their boyfriends' letter jackets and pretended not to see us.
Normally, such rejection would have made us more frantic. That night, none of us seemed to care. After awhile, our noisy come-on lacked any real enthusiasm.
Something else was nagging us, something in the cold October wind. Something out there was beckoning us, something more alluring than sprayed hair, Shalimar perfume and Dentyne gum.
When I finally turned the car away from the chaos of the drive-in, neither of my friends objected. They did not ask where we were going. We all sensed we would know our destination when we got there.

Fifteen minutes later, we left the lights of Abilene behind us. We drove North on F.M. Road 600 toward Ft. Phantom Hill Lake.
Our compass was a growing sense of anticipation. Our landmarks were the tortured mesquites which appeared and vanished in the beam of the headlights.
A startling panic gripped us all. We had almost missed it. I stomped on the brake and the car skidded into a U-turn.
The violent deceleration stalled the overworked engine. My efforts to revive it soon exhausted the battery.
Our hopes flickered and died with the headlights. A heavy darkness invaded the car to devour the remnants of our courage.
At that instant, my friends and I realized we had reached our destination. We knew because we heard the sigh.
It was a sigh of relief but it made us tremble. The sigh came not from us but from something not quite human in the blackness outside.
The something was on the far side of the rusty gate which swung creaking in the wind less than ten yards from the car.

We recognized the gate from previous excursions to the lake. It was the entrance to the old Ft. Phantom Hill Cemetery.
The isolated cemetery was a barren rockstrewn patch of land near the North end of the lake. Few plants were able to survive the relentless beating of the wind on that desolate acre.
The scarce animals who endured there hid in burrows under the grave mounds. It was as if they preferred the company of the dead to what stalked the surface at night.
I still do not know why we got out of the car. Maybe it was because we felt we had been called to that lonely place.
The reason was not yet clear. We knew only that whatever summoned us was waiting among the graves.
I was the first to step through the gate. I advanced cautiously, peering ahead into the shadows and relying on my friends to guard the rear.
I had walked several feet when I realized the other boys had not followed. I turned and sprinted back to the gate.
The gate was secured with a rusty lock and chain I did not recall seeing when I entered. My companions had vanished completely.
My heart jumped up between my ears. For several seconds, I was paralyzed by a pounding terror.
Suddenly, I understood. I relaxed and began to chuckle. My feeling of mystery disappeared like a cartoon ghost.
I had been a victim of my own hyperactive imagination. This little adventure was nothing more than another of those adolescent pranks my friends were constantly devising.
My "good buddies" were probably crouching out there in the darkness ready to pounce on me at my first unguarded moment.

I decided to beat them at their own game. Blinded by excitement, I left the gate and ran quickly into the depths of the cemetery.

I ducked behind a tilting tombstone near the main path. When my cohorts began searching for me, they would be unable to avoid my ambush.
I never saw the movement behind me. Within seconds, the trap was sprung. It was already too late when I heard the frightened voices of my companions calling me from the direction of the car.

Don't miss the conclusion in next week's Free Press. Also,

Don't miss the Haunted Forest and Halloween Carnival (November 1) sponsored by the Haskell Jaycees, Jaycee-ettes, Chamber of Commerce, Young Homemakers, Owl Club and Girls' Athletic Association.

Pelt Tagging Program To Continue
Texas hunters and trappers will be required again this year to have their bobcat pelts tagged prior to sale, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.
The authorized tagging period is Nov. 15, 1980, through Feb. 15, 1981. Bobcats taken during this period are eligible for tagging and sale. This is the third year of the tagging program and the second year that the Parks and Wildlife Commission has authorized permitted dealers to affix tags to pelts.
Dealers must obtain a free bobcat pelt tagging permit from any department law enforcement field office prior to purchasing any bobcat pelt. They also are available at the department's Austin headquarters. Addresses of the offices are listed on the back of the 1980-81 Texas Hunting and Sport Fishing Regulations booklet, available where hunting and fishing licenses are sold.
A trapper license is not required of persons taking only bobcats in Texas. Dealers must report in person to be registered. The dealer permit may be obtained along with the tags beginning Nov. 5.
For further information on tagging procedures, call department law enforcement offices across the state or contact John T. Roberson, Wildlife Division, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas 78744, or call (512) 475-4871.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

We will continue this week with our brief explanation of the expenditure part of the 1980-81 school budget. The transportation category includes payroll costs for the drivers, including substitutes, workmen's comp. and unemployment (est. $10,655). The contracted services include physicals for all drivers (est. $250). These are for the safety of the passengers and required by the State. Contracted services also includes bus repairs ($900) based on previous years' experience. The total of transportation contracted services come to $1150.

The supplies and materials for transportation includes primarily gasoline. This item was increased this year because of the rise in gasoline prices. We estimate this item at $10,000. Insurance on buses is estimated at $1500. The district is planning on purchasing a new bus this year. A bus was not purchased last year; therefore, it is imperative to replace one at this time. We estimate this purchase will be $20,000. This brings the total estimated cost of transportation to $43,305. The State payment of this amount is estimated at $17,980 with the local taxes bearing the burden of the rest.

The co-curricular activities includes payroll costs for gate keepers, bus drivers, etc., $1300; cost of publishing student handbooks, $350; and UIL activities, $250. The other operating costs in travel-co-curricular $8000. (This is a required transfer of funds.) The athletic deficit is estimated at $10,000 with fees and dues estimated at $1400 and jackets and diplomas are estimated at $800, bringing the total co-curricular to $22,100. This is in addition to date receipts at athletic contests.

The category of food services is made up entirely of the deficit. The cost is estimated at $500. In addition to this amount, the students and teachers pay an amount for their lunches. The school is reimbursed a set amount for each Type A lunch and some commodities are furnished from the Department of Agriculture.

The general administration category includes all the salaries of the central office, (Superintendent, tax-assessor, clerks) estimated at $57,435.

The contracted services includes the audit ($2500), tax lawyer and county appraisal board ($42,000), data processing ($3,000) and equipment repair ($300) to bring this item to $47,800.

The supplies and materials includes magazines and periodicals ($50), administrative office supplies ($1,000) and tax office supplies ($500). Much of this expense is postage, stationery and forms. The total estimate here is $2550.

The other operating costs includes travel expense, conferences for personnel and board, bonds, election costs, membership fees, miscellan-ous expenses (ads, board expenses) and liability insurance for board members. The total operating expenses come to $5,980.

The capital outlay item in this category is estimated at $1000 for new desk and equipment for bookkeeper-tax assessor-collector. The total cost of general administration is estimated at $115,673.

Next week, we will endeavor to describe the debt service category of the budget.

Burleson Bells

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—A note of nostalgia will be struck in 1981 at The University of Texas.

Eleven bronze bells, which chimed atop the tower of the Old Main Building from 1930 to 1934, will be refurbished and reinstalled in a new setting on the east side of the campus. Supporting the bells, which weigh from 29 to 560 pounds, will be six pylons.

Cast in France, the bells were given to the University in 1929 by Albert Sidney Burleson, an 1884 UT law graduate who later became a U.S. Postmaster General.

Seed Varieties Are Dwindling, Scientist Warns

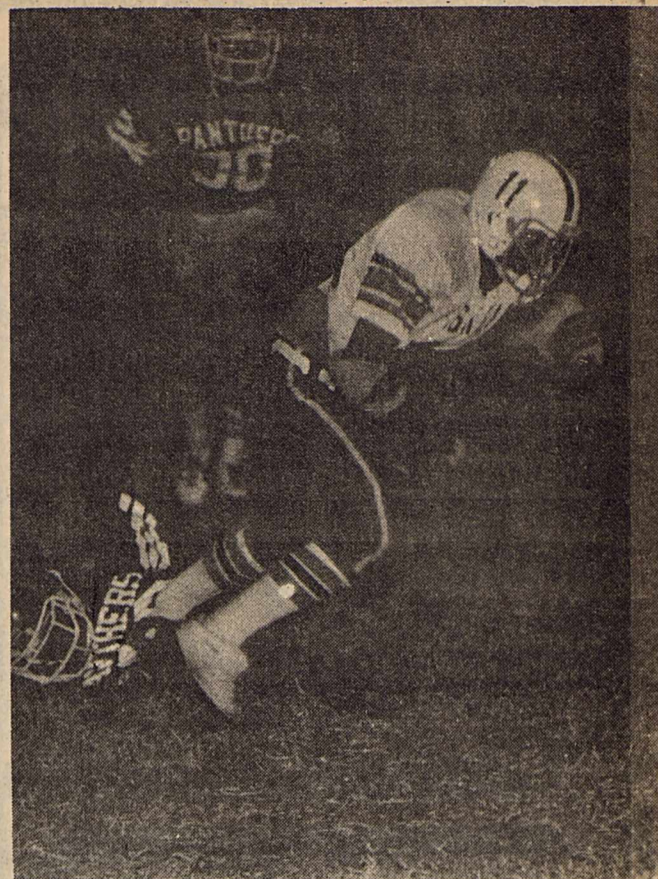

COLLEGE STATION — Some species of food crops are threatened with extinction as a result of a dwindling variety of plant seeds, says a genetic scientist at Texas A&M University.

"Scientists have been narrowing the gene pool through hybridization, making it difficult to find the old genetic varieties that could be used if the modern seed strains become diseased or are changed by the environment," said Dr. Homer Blackhurst, professor emeritus of horticulture.

Blackhurst explained the newer food crops have been developed to make mechanical harvesting easier to permit the highest possible output for large-scale production.

The horticulturist said it's not advantageous to narrow gene pools of plant species, because as time, the environment, the economy and people change, there may be future need for plants that are at present looked upon as weeds. Many crop plants were weeds a short time ago, he said.

Panthers Defeat Warrior Teams

Last Thursday the Haskell Warriors fell prey to the Seymour Panthers.

The seventh grade Warriors scored their first points of the season even though they suffered a 28-6 loss. Coach Jim Raughton said, "Our defense played well, but we kept giving up the big play. Our offensive line is still in development but has started to come along."

The Haskell score came on an exciting run by Kendall Larned. The run was good for 45 yards.

Key defensive performances were turned in by Felipe Arrendondo, Andy Griffith, Myron Marshall and Micheal Wallace.

The seventh grade season record now stands at 0-4.

The eighth grade also fell prey to the Panthers. The Panthers upset the Warriors 28-6.

The sole Warriors' score came on an 8-yard sweep by Robert Ivey. The eighth grade Warriors are 1-3 for the season.

Coach Jimmy Lisle said, "Our loss took a team effort. The defense gave up too many big plays. Our offense executed plays better than they have in the last two weeks."

Small Cotton Crop Brings High Prices

AUSTIN--Some Texas farmers will be in "high cotton" this year, at least those with harvestable acreage of good quality. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

Spot market prices for certain grades of Upland cotton have hit 92.29 cents a pound this month "the highest price anyone in the industry can remember," Brown said. Economists are predicting the futures market will soon be at $1.00 with further increases ahead.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service's September estimate for cotton production was for a harvest of 3.6 million bales. "That could mean a potential value of nearly $1 billion for cotton this year," Brown said. "Some of our cotton was forward contracted this year at specific rates below current levels, but many farmers will be in the position to receive these better prices," Brown said.

Drought reduced the 1980 crop significantly from the 5.5 million bales last year, and prices started rising in mid-summer.

Cottonseed prices have not risen at the same rate as those for lint. Seed for oil processing is in competition with other vegetable oils. Currently prices are at an average of $110 a ton, which is lower than the average price in 1979 of $117 per ton.

Texas is the leading exporter in the U. S. of cotton and accounts for 30 percent of all production in the nation.

"While it is great to see rising prices for cotton, we have to realize that if prices get too high, the mills will substitute synthetics," Brown said.

WINNER

Marcy Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Davis was presented with a new bicycle during the Tuesday meeting of the Haskell Lions Club. Marcy won first place in the Club sponsored bike-a-thon to benefit St. Jude's Childrens Hospital. Making the presentation was the Rev. Mike Struve.

Heat Increases Feedlot Numbers

AUSTIN--Cattle producers around the state continued culling herds and bringing cattle to feedlots as the punishing heat wave did not let up in August, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said.

In the August 1 inventory by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, cattle on feed totaled 1.7 million head, an 8 percent increase over 1979.

Placements stood at 470,000 head, a 38 percent increase over last year which is indicative of the fact that the dry pastures remained barren as no rains came in August, Brown explained.

"Although recent rains have come too late to provide relief for producers already culling their herds, the rains will greatly improve some pastures around the state," Brown said.

Brown also pointed out, that consumers will certainly welcome the increased supplies of choice beef as a result of more cattle on feed.

Pasture conditions are assessed at 37 percent of normal as of September 1, 2 percent better than on August 1. Last year conditions were rated as 85 percent of normal.

Pecan Crop Down 72%

AUSTIN--It's either feast or famine.

After last year's record 91-million-pound pecan crop, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service estimates that the 1980 crop will drop to around 25 million pounds.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown reports that the drought influenced production estimates, but a decline is not unusual. "Pecan production is cyclical," he said. "A heavy harvest is usually followed by a light one. It takes two or three years for the trees to bear another big crop."

In the past 10 years Texas pecan production has dipped twice to 20 million pounds and risen to 68 and 75 million. Though large harvests can be anticipated, it may be years before conditions match those which produced last year's bounty.

Landowners

Hunters from across the state have started calling the Haskell Chamber of Commerce office and the Free Press attempting to secure quail hunting leases.

Any area landowners who are considering leasing land to hunters are asked to contact the Chamber office.

Jerry Jennings, chamber manager, will attempt to match the hunters and land owners.

Smorgasbord

A Smorgasbord will be held by the Speech and Drama classes October 30, Thursday, from 6-8 p.m. in the lunchroom.

The tickets go on sale October 24 and may be purchased from any Speech or Drama student. Tickets will be sold for $3.25.

"The funds will be used to purchase U.I.L. materials for the department," said Mrs. Glenda Drinnon, sponsor.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the communications-electronics field.

Prairie View plans dairy goat program

PRAIRIE VIEW — A program designed to make Prairie View A&M University the national leader in dairy goat research will receive a substantial boost this fall when contractors bid on an 11-acre facility.

Officials say the program could start as early as mid-1982 with up to 400 head of goats and six professional researchers.

Texas is the leading state and a world center for the raising of Angora goats for mohair, an industry that brought in over $37 million to Texans in 1979.

However, the state ranks behind California in dairy goats, a gap the program is designed to close, say Prairie View A&M officials.

The research program will work in four main areas: nutrition, reproduction, veterinary health care and commercial habits, while devoting time to market and product development.

Halloween Safety Tips

To ensure Halloween is a safe, as well as fun, holiday for your children, parental vigilance and neighborhood cooperation are essential.

Experts at M&M/MARS, the leading confectionery company in the U.S., offer these precautionary tips for the occasion:

- Make sure your neighborhood is continuously supervised. Take turns with other parents keeping an eye on the block.
- Provide your children with a list of names and addresses where they can safely trick or treat and discourage visits to strangers' homes.
- Escort young children in particular from house to house. Encourage trick or treating during daylight hours.
- Allow your children to eat only the pre-packaged treats. Inspect even those to see that no one has tampered with the wrappers. Discard all fruit, cookies and anything else that is unwrapped or homemade.

Mrs. Buntyn Celebrates 80th Birthday

Rice Springs Care Home residents helped Mrs. E.E. (Bonnie) Buntyn celebrate her 80th Birthday on October 17th.

Born Bonnie Bell to Charles and Dora Thompson at Ginner's Gap in northeastern Alabama, October 17, 1900, Mrs. Buntyn entered a "railroad" family. With her family, she moved to Egypt, Mississippi, as a small child. There, in Egypt, she attended school, grew, and absorbed the traditions of a hard-working Christian home. Second oldest of five children and "sandwiched" between her two brothers, Bonnie grew to be somewhat of a tomboy.

A few remembered times of those years which she shared with her own family included: the miseries of having both mumps and whooping cough at the same time when about 10; a humorous incident when she, in preparation for a punishment from her father, donned her mother's long girdele to ward off the blows and its length so exceeded that of her own clothing, her father could not spank her for laughing; the kegs of fresh fruit and nuts which that same father always managed to have for 5 youngsters at Christmas time even during lean years; and sweating through Algebra with cheat notes on her white cuffs, only to be caught and receive zero for her effort. In the latter part of her 12th year she vividly retold of her baptism in a local stock tank (called "ponds" in Mississippi) near Egypt. "Mr. Charlie's" railroad work took the family to Okolona, Miss., during Bonnie's teen years. A big, roomy, new, two-tone grey railroad section-foreman home became the rural dwelling of the Thompson family.

World War I drew the elder brother, 17 year-old Van, to war during its first months. During the last days of that same war, Bonnie's boy friend, a pilot, crashed and died in France.

Busy days and passing years brought a fellow railroading gentleman to the Thompson home in the early 1920s. He was drawn to the lovely, vivacious young lady to whom "Mr. Charlie" introduced him. When Bonnie asked where he had his home, the gentleman replied, "Home is wherever I hang my hat!"

That gentleman, Eugene Everett Buntyn of Meridian, Miss., and Bonnie Bell Thompson were married in a large front room of her family home on June 6, 1923. Not until they applied for their marriage license did Bonnie realize the difference in ages. 22 years! He, 44; she, 22. She never considered backing out.

During the years while playing the "remember when" game, Gene acknowledged the fact that it was Bonnie, his wife, whom he had once bounced on his knees during a much earlier visit in the Thompson home. In relation to their age difference an embarrassing incident happened at a party during their first year of marriage. A casual acquaintance, knowing nothing of Mr. Buntyn's family or personal life, approached Mr. Buntyn and asked to be introduced to his daughter.

Meridian, Miss., became the Buntyn's home. There their first born, Eugenia Elizabeth, arrived. A second child, Billie Jayne, made her appearance back in that same "big front room" of the Thompson home beside the railroad tracks outside of Okolona.

Texas was home to four of Mr. Buntyn's brothers and sisters. Since visiting kin in Texas was a favorite family vacation through the years, it seemed best that Bonnie go there, to Del Rio, in 1944 to the dry climate for her asthma. For nine years she spent a great part of each year in Del Rio where she worked in the office and kept books for the Del Rio Laundry.

After Mr. Buntyn's railroad retirement, he and Bonnie bought a home in Okolona and moved back there in 1953. Because of his failing health, in April of 1956, they moved to Haskell to be near their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cadenhead. Mr. Buntyn died and was buried in Haskell in November 1956.

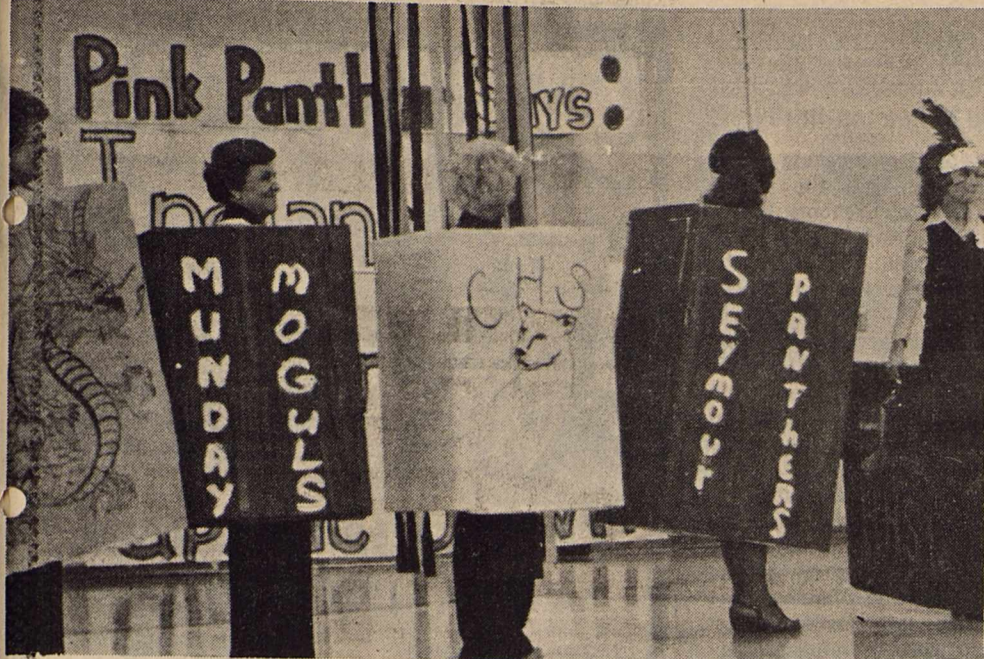

Bonnie filled her life with grandchildren, helping friends and shut-ins, her church activities and Eastern Star work. Even after she lost its sight and, in time, the right eye itself, she crocheted, sewed, made ceramics and painted them, and remained active in those activities she enjoyed.

She belonged to the First Methodist Church in Haskell for many years but in order to worship with her family of children and grandchildren, she was reinstated in the Baptist church and became active in Haskell First Baptist Church. Together, she and Mr. Buntyn shared many happy times in Eastern Star and Shriner activities.

Bonnie has lived at Rice Springs since February 22, 1978. Those who helped celebrate other than the home residents were out-of-town guests: Mrs. Gladys Johnston, Bonnie's sister from Starkville, Miss., Mrs. Jean and Suzanne Hancock, her daughter and granddaughter from Bossier City, La. Haskell celebrants were Helen Fouts, Trenie Miller, Inez Gholson, Maxine Miller, Yuvi, Jeremy, Christy, Wendy, and Billie Cadenhead.

Angel food cake and punch were served to about 120 residents and friends.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir,

May we take this means of saying thank you to all the people in Haskell who worked so hard to make our 40th reunion such a success. Especially do we thank Flossie Walker and Charles and Leatrice Swinson for having us in their homes; and to all of those who made the banquet so nice.

All in all it was a tremendous occasion.

I'm sure all the Seniors of 1940 join us in saying thank you again.

Sincerely
Helen and Bill Wiseman

Now in production.

DECADES OF GAS SUPPLY FROM TWO OF NATURE'S BEST-PROTECTED SOURCES.

Did your mother ever hide some of her spare cash in a cookie jar, out of easy reach until she needed it?

Well, that's what Mother Nature did when she placed enormous deposits of natural gas in hard-to-reach places.

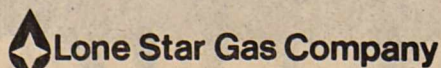

Places like the deep basins in Texas and Oklahoma, where the gas deposits were miles too deep for man to reach them.

Places like the tight basins in Texas, where formations were so tight-fisted the gas could barely flow to the wells.

Now, after spending years and millions of dollars, producers have the technology to explore five-mile depths and speed up the flow of gas through dense rock. And high-production gas wells are being completed in the deep and the tight basins.

Many industry experts believe that each of these sources can double the nation's current proven reserves. Exciting news, because Lone Star is well situated to buy your share of this new gas for the 1980's, the 1990's and beyond.

GAS. IT'S PLENTIFUL, EFFICIENT AND RIGHT FOR THE TIMES.

Rice Springs News

The feel of Autumn is certainly in the air now. Many of the residents are taking advantage of the nice cool mornings to take a stroll around the grounds and also to enjoy sitting on the porch in the afternoons to soak up the sun. One lady told me that sitting out on the porch, breathing the nice fresh air made her feel one hundred percent better.

With the feel of fall, our minds here at the home are beginning to turn to thoughts about Halloween. Plans are in the works to have a big Halloween party on the night of the 31st. At this time we would like to invite all the families of our residents to come out on that night to join in with the residents and staff in having a good time.

We've had four residents to celebrate their birthdays since I last reported the news. They were Beatrice Livengood who celebrated hers on the 8th, Hazel Branch on the 10th, Vena Ragsdale on the 11th, and Annie Jones on the 13th. We hope they all had enjoyable days.

We've also welcomed one new resident this week. He is Harvey Webb, formerly of Brownwood. We are glad that he is with us and hope that he will soon feel part of the family here.

Again our thanks go to all our volunteer people who have come out to help make our residents days go a lot better. First we'd like to thank the Trinity Baptist Church who will be conducting our Sunday morning services during the month of October, the Haskell Church of Christ, Rule First Baptist WMU, William Hodge, Martin Jacobsen, Eleanor Blohm, Haskell First United Methodist UMW, Sweet Home Singers, the Country Bank, and Jo Simpson. New volunteers are contacting us all the time now and we welcome all volunteers to our home at any time. Without our volunteer people, things would really get boring here at times.

Our thanks also go to all the visitors that have come to the home the past couple of weeks. Our out-of-county visitors were:

Visiting Alvena Holle were Dora Marie Curry of San Antonio and Patricia Spaw of Midland.

Hazel Letz of Old Glory visited Mattie Hines, Jonnye Pumphrey and many of the other Rice Springs residents.

Melba Stowe of Olney visited her mother, Eunice Stewart.

Coming to see Edna Collins were her daughter and family, Frankie Ophus, and Nita Posey of Knox City.

Ada Snyder and Agnes Bowman of Seymour visited Ada's sister, Maggie Martin, her sister-in-law, Trudie Bush, and also Charity Bradley. Also visiting Trudie were her grandson, Earl Ray Smith of Abilene, her son and daughter-in-law, J.A. and Dean Bush of Plainview, and Joy, Bobbye, and Deanna Spalding, all of Hamlin. The Spaldings also visited Charity Bradley and Ethel Rose.

Coming to see Mattie Sammons were her son, Howell Sammons of San Angelo and Virginia Stroud of Throckmorton.

Visiting A.T. and Mattie Cook were their grandchildren and great grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hill, Brian and Scott, of Kermit, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aycock, Angela and Jennifer, of Abilene.

G.A. Bradford and Faye and Charles Cox visited their parents, Sam and Ethel Bradford. Coming to visit Manley and Hazel Branch were Mr. and Mrs. Botch Burson of Wills Point.

College News

Some 987 students were awarded degrees Aug. 16 at the North Texas State University summer commencement ceremonies.

In addition to 509 bachelor's degrees, the university granted 410 master's and 68 doctorate degrees, during ceremonies in the NTSU Coliseum.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

Question: "Are all tumors found in the prostate cancerous?"

ANSWERline: No. The most common tumors found in the prostate gland are benign. For example, more than 50 percent of men in the U.S. over the age of 50 years have some degree of benign prostatic hypertrophy which causes enlargement, and can cause obstructions which can interfere with urination. This condition is not cancerous.

Question: "Do non-smokers get lung cancer and if so, why?"

ANSWERline: Although approximately 80 percent of the 112,000 cases of lung cancer that will be diagnosed this year will be related to cigarette-smoking, nonsmokers will develop this disease as well. Lung cancer cause has been associated with occupational hazards. For examples, miners exposed to radioactivity, and workers exposed to hot gases from tar, dust, and gas generators, and those exposed to asbestos, chromates and nickle, are at higher than normal risk of developing lung cancer. Also, if a person who faces this kind of occupational hazard is a cigarette smoker, the lung cancer risk increases above the lung cancer risk of a co-worker who does not smoke.

Question: "Can wearing dentures cause cancer?"

ANSWERline: Although scientists do not yet know what causes oral cancer, they have identified many factors that contribute to its development. Among them are poor oral hygiene and chronic irritation such as that caused by jagged teeth, projecting fillings and ill-fitting dentures. If you experience discomfort in wearing dentures, you should ask your dentist to determine the cause and to do a thorough examination of your mouth.

Question: "If a woman has breasts of different sizes — one larger than the other or differently shaped — is she likely to get breast cancer?"

ANSWERline: It is not unusual or dangerous for breasts to be of different sizes. If,

American Cancer Society

M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

however, something seems changed about the size or shape of one or both breasts, it is important to check with a physician because of the possibility of breast cancer. This is why a careful monthly look and personal examination of one's breast is so important: to detect something that may not have been present a short while earlier. Free information about breast self-examination is available from the local American Cancer Society Unit. Breast self-examination only requires a few minutes each month and can do a great deal towards safeguarding a woman's health.

Public Notice
PUBLIC NOTICE
At its meeting on Oct. 14, 1980, the City Council of the City of Haskell adopted a Fair Housing Ordinance and a Citizen Participation Plan.
The purpose of the Fair Housing Ordinance is to prevent discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, in the financing of housing, and in the provision of brokerage services. The ordinance also provides for referral to the Fair Housing/Equal Opportunity Division of the Fort Worth Regional Office of HUD, and directs low income individuals and families to available legal counsel when filing a private suit.
The Citizen Participation Plan identifies a process to be followed by the City in participating in the HUD Community Development Block Grant Program.
Both documents are available at City Hall.

CARD OF THANKS
We the Parents of Rodney Dale Lacey wish to express our heartfelt Thanks for the kind deeds done for us during the time of Rodney's accident. For being with us during the time when we really needed someone. For the calls, the food brought to our house, for the ones that donated blood, for the fund and also the special offerings. For the pastors who came to Abilene to be with us and all the Special Prayers that were said. It is wonderful to live in a town like Haskell and having so many kind people. God Bless You. Inflation - Fighting FOOD IDEAS
Here's a flexible recipe that can span the seasons and fill out a meal marvelously. It uses low-cost, high-quality American grown rice. It calls for juicy, fresh tomatoes, but the canned variety can do. You might substitute parboiled or brown rice, increasing beef broth to 1-1/2 cups and vary the rice-cooking time according to package directions.

RICE 'N' TOMATOES
1 cup uncooked rice
1/2 cup chopped onions
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup beef broth
1 can (14-1/2 to 16 ounces) tomatoes, cut up or 3 medium, fully ripe tomatoes, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon seasoned pepper
Cook rice and onions in butter until rice is golden, about 20 minutes. Add broth, tomatoes, and seasonings. Heat to boiling, stir once, reduce heat, cover, and simmer about 18 minutes, or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Fluff lightly with a fork. Makes 6 servings.
