SIGNS OF SPRING

Recent rains and welcome warm temperatures seem to signal Spring's arrival to West Texas. The blossoming pear tree above at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kimbrough seems sure that winter is behind us for another year. Despite appearances, it might be best to keep at least one coat out of mothballs—West Texas weather is always full of surprises.

Special Entertainment Scheduled For Banquet

Two very talented entertainers will be performing at this year's Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Brent Scott of San Angelo and Bishop Powell of Ballinger will delight the audience with a program of jokes, songs, monologue and musical instrumentation.

Scott and Powell have been performing together since their college days at Angelo State University. Their talents have been enjoyed by audiences from New Orleans to Denver.

They performed before President Jimmy Carter in Washington, D.C.

in the original play by Rick Smith of San Angelo about "Cactus Jack" Garner. The play won the national award for the best original play of 1978.

Scott and Powell are well known in the San Angelo area for their performances at Chamber of Commerce functions, college activities, private parties, benefits for the West Texas Boys Ranch and fund-raisers for Crippled Children.

The Chamber banquet is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. on March 27 at the Haskell Elementary School Cafetorium. Tickets are available at the Free Press, Lane-Felker, Inc., the Chamber office or from any Chamber Director. Deadline for reservations is Wednesday, March 25th.

Two Injured In Oil Field Accident

Two persons were injured Sunday morning in a drilling accident one mile east of Rule.

The accident occurred on a rig owned by Shanafelt Drilling Co. in Jacksboro.

Injured were D. C. Thomas and Byron Harrison. Thomas was taken to Haskell Memorial Hospital by the Haskell County Emergency Ambulance Service and later transferred to Hendrick Medical Center to be treated for broken ribs and a broken leg. Harrison was treated and released at Haskell Memorial Hospital.

The accident occurred when the derrick over-scoped and fell leaving Thomas at the top of an eighty foot section of the rig.

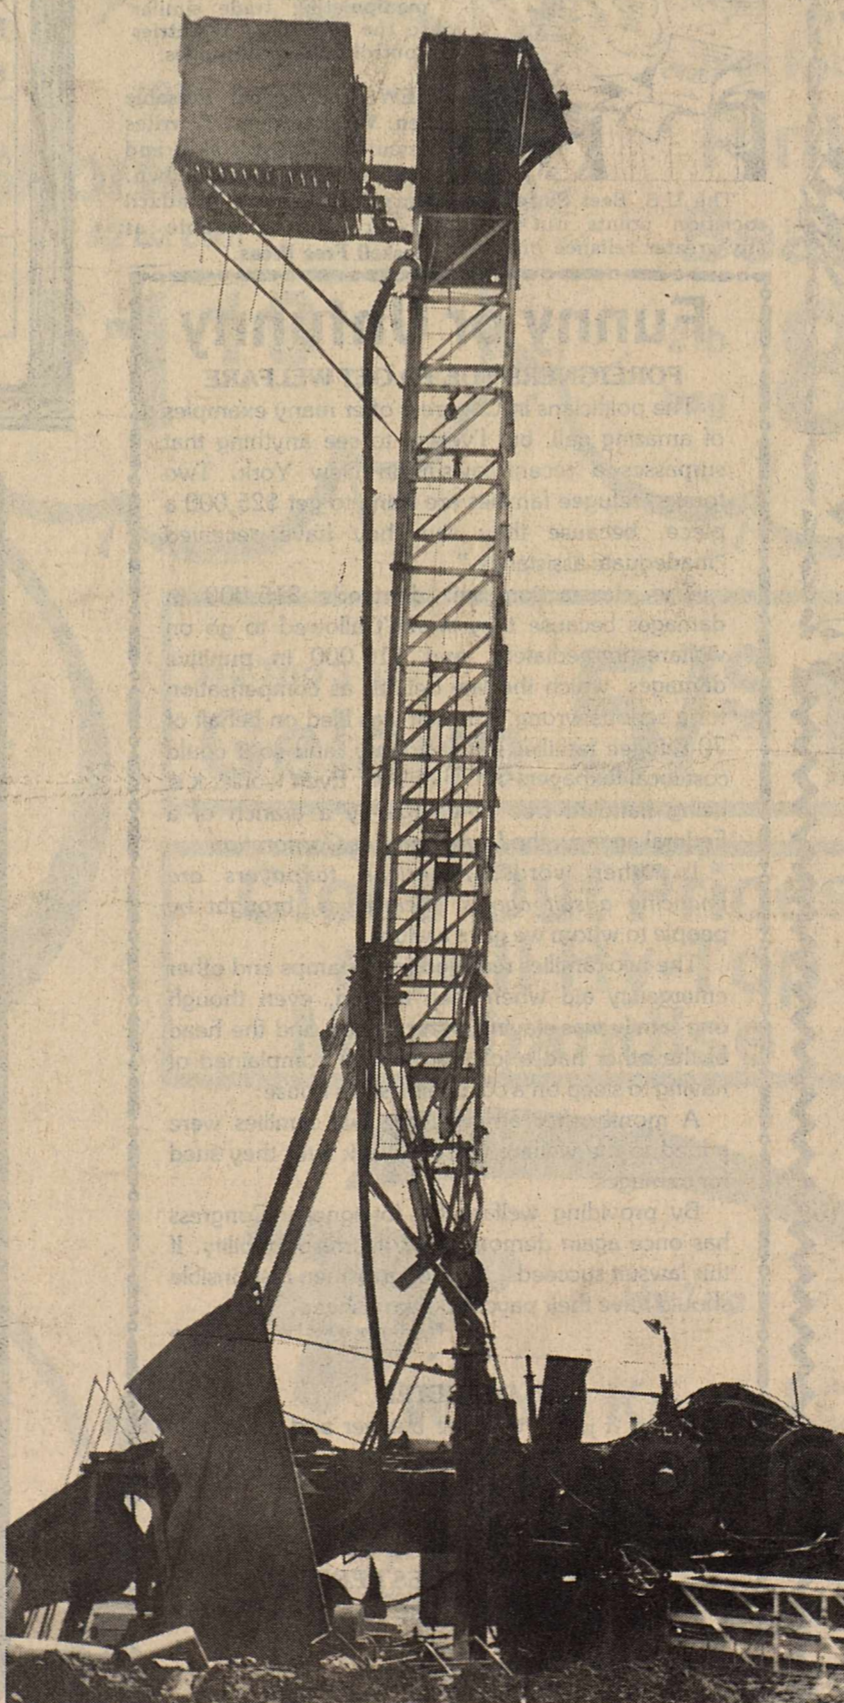

The ambulance crew requested assistance from the Haskell Fire Department and also requested a bucket truck from Stamford Electric Company.

Bo Owens and Don Comedy with the Haskell Fire Dept. and Aaron Bell, an employee of the drilling company lowered Thomas to the ground.

Sam Shanafelt told the Free Press Wednesday that damage to the rig was not known for sure but was estimated at about $100,000.00.

City Water To Be Off

City water will be turned off today, March 19 at 1:30 p.m. for repairs. Residents are asked to make plans for the temporary loss of service. In the event of inclement weather, the project will be postponed.

The Debut is scheduled for April 10th at 7:30 p.m. in the Haskell High School Auditorium. Children and youth of the Haskell area will be introduced and judged for appearance, poise and stage presence. Prizes will be awarded to girl and boy winners in all divisions.

Deadline for entries is Saturday, March 28th. Entry forms can be filled out at Kids Duds, The C & B Store, The Slipper Shoppe, The Hayloft, The Personality Shoppe, The Music Box, Lane-Felker, Inc., Heads or Tails Western Wear, Lane Apparel, Hassen's and Frazier's Appliance.

March 31 Is FCIC Deadline

A March 31 deadline has been set for area farmers planning to participate in the Federal Crop Insurance program sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

According to FCIC district director Ross Smith, the deadline will apply to cotton producers in Baylor, Foard, Hardeman, Haskell, Knox, Stonewall, Throckmorton, Wichita and Wilbarger counties. And to grain sorghum producers in Baylor, Haskell, Knox, Throckmorton and Wichita.

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is a voluntary participation program designed to protect a producer's annual crop investment. Coverage is provided against such risks as hail, drought, insects, wind and disease.

Information about the program can be obtained from any private insurance agent handling the program or the FCIC office in Lubbock.

Thunderbirds To Participate In Abilene Show

"Support from Abilene and the Big Country area is one of the reasons that I am able to announce that the Air Force Thunderbirds Aerial Demonstration Team will once again appear at Dyess' Open House on April 4th," announced Colonel David L. Wyse, 96th Bombardment Wing commander.

The Thunderbirds will be the featured event at the 1981 Silver Anniversary Open House and Air Show. This will be their third appearance in as many years.

In addition to the Thunderbirds, the Army's Golden Knights famed parachute team will be performing at this year's Open House. The 8-man team will lead off the day's events with some spectacular aerial aerobatics out of one of Dyess' own C-130 Hercules aircraft of the 463rd Tactical Airlift Wing.

And more than two dozen Air Force, Army and Navy aircraft will be on static display, including Dyess' own B-52D Stratofortress, KC-135A Stratotanker, C-130 Hercules, and T-37 "Tweet."

Also more than 30 aircraft from the West Texas Wing of the Confederate Air Force will be on hand to participate in an "American Heritage Flyover" and demonstration. Their aircraft includes restored World War II planes and they will also be on static display.

The Thunderbirds team will be flying the Northrop T-38A, Talon, which has been the group's performance aircraft since 1974. Since the team was organized in 1953, it has performed in some 45 countries in addition to appearances throughout the United States. The Air Force estimates that during a total of more than 2,200 performances the precision flyers have been seen by more than 140 million people.

Garden Series Offers Complete Tips

Root knot nematodes are the single most important home garden disease in Haskell county. I would estimate that at least 50 percent of the gardens in this area are damaged by root knot.

One problem with controlling this pest is that it's hard to detect the problem early enough for gardeners to take protective measures. Once nematodes are found on plant roots, little can be done to save that year's crop.

So, it's important to inspect the roots of plants for galls as you remove them from the garden in the fall. These galls or knots on roots indicate the presence of root knot nematodes and this is the time to take effective steps to control the pests. Another symptom of root knot is stunted, yellow plants. Examine the roots of such plants for galls.

As soon as root knot nematodes are found in the garden, immediately remove all diseased plants. Get as much of the root system as possible because it is in these roots that the nematode will carry over in the egg stage to the next crop. Root tissue around the eggs will protect them from chemical treatment and drying.

Once plant roots have been removed, till or spade the area as deep as possible. This breaks up remaining roots so they will decay faster and dries the soil to reduce the number of young nematodes (larvae) in the soil. If nematodes are detected in the spring garden, continue spading at 2-3 week intervals until fall planting time. This continual tilling of the garden will reduce the nematode population even further.

In that portion of the garden not being used for winter vegetables or for those of you who do not want to plant a fall or winter garden, plant the garden to rye (cereal) in mid-September. Water the garden regularly to get maximum fall growth for the small grain.

Rye will act as a control for nematodes. Many of those entering the roots will not be able to undergo complete development and will be killed. When the rye is spaded or tilled under at the end of the season, it decays and produces an organic acid toxic to nematodes.

In addition, rye serves as a source of organic material encouraging the growth of fungi which feed on nematodes. Rye should be turned under as soon as possible after Jan. 1. This will allow some time for plant decay before spring planting.

When soil temperature reaches 50 degrees F for seven days at a depth of 6 inches, treat the area with Vapam fungicide using 1 qt. per 100 sq. ft. Water the chemical into the soil using 1 inch of water at the time of treatment. Re-water in 24 hours, using an additional 1 inch of water and repeat in 48 hours.

Vapam is water soluble and will be leached down into the soil with irrigation. It is important that the chemical be moved as deep in the soil as possible to get maximum control. There may be some of you in the county whose soil is such that 1 inch of water cannot be applied before run-off occurs. In these areas, apply water until run-off begins and then repeat at 24 and 48 hours after treatment.

This method of treatment takes care of the entire area compared to row application where only a 12-inch band is treated. After treatment, leave the area undisturbed for seven days. Then till the soil to get the chemical out. Wait an additional two weeks before planting.

Additional steps can be taken at planting to further insure nematode control. In those areas where root knot is found to be most severe in summer or fall, plant onions, garlic or sweet corn. These crops are not susceptible to root knot, and their use will further reduce the nematode population.

Also, it should be standard practice to plant nematode resistant varieties when available. Following is a list of nematode resistant varieties that have done well in this county.

Tomatoes: Big Set, Better Boy, Terrific, Bonus, Small Fry (cherry type); Southern Peas: Mississippi Silver (cream); Sweet Potatoes: Jewell, Centennial.

Gardeners who find that they are able to follow only one or two of the above-mentioned practices because of planting or economic restrictions will have less success in controlling nematodes. Once nematodes are found in a garden, the control program as outlined above must be followed annually.

Based on current knowledge, it is impossible to completely eliminate nematodes from a garden. But a sound control program will keep the population at a manageable level.

Planting your garden is next. More on that later.

Facts and Figures

In 1980, domestic producers met 61 percent of our nation's crude oil needs and 59 percent of our sugar requirements. GEPLACEA, an organization of 22 Latin American and Caribbean sugar producing countries, supplied almost 75 percent of U.S. sugar imports.

The U.S. Beet Sugar Association points out that any greater reliance on foreign sugar would (1) reduce the dependability of supplies (2) invite greater market volatility (3) eliminate more than 100,000 jobs and (4) add about a billion dollars to this country's trade deficit.

Even more disturbing is the likelihood of a cartel of sugar-exporting nations manipulating trade similar to the way OPEC countries control crude oil supplies.

FOREIGNERS SUE TO GET WELFARE

The politicians in Congress offer many examples of amazing gall, but I've yet to see anything that surpasses a recent lawsuit in New York. Two foreign refugee families are suing to get $25,000 a piece, because they say they have received "inadequate assistance."

The class-action suit demands $15,000 in damages because they weren't allowed to go on welfare immediately, and $10,000 in punitive damages, which the law defines as compensation for a serious wrong. The suit was filed on behalf of 70 refugee families in the county, and so it could cost local taxpayers $1.75 million. Even worse, it is being handled free of charge by a branch of a Federal agency, the Legal Services Corporation.

In other words, American taxpayers are financing a suit against themselves, brought by people to whom we gave asylum.

The two families received food stamps and other emergency aid when they arrived, even though one family was staying with relatives and the head of the other had a job. On person complained of having to sleep on a cot in his sister's house.

A month after arriving, the two families were added to the welfare rolls. A week later they sued for damages.

By providing welfare for foreigners, Congress has once again demonstrated its irresponsibility. If this lawsuit succeeds, the Congressmen responsible should have their paychecks garnished.

Editorial...

The recent public rejoicing over the return of the hostages from Iran has opened, again the agonizing psychological wounds of the Vietnam War. Although this most unpopular conflict in American history has been over for more than seven years, many of the nine million who served in uniform still have an inner conflict raging.

Some 300,000 were wounded in Vietnam, 75,000 disabled, and over 57,000 died. With us today are the amputees, the blind, the burned, and the spiritually maimed...as from every war. But Vietnam produced a new kind of veteran, embittered, cynical or ashamed, and often feeling betrayed by his own country men.

Although most of them are proud that they served, they don't advertise it. Even now, unemployment among younger Vietnam-era veterans runs higher than among nonveterans of the same age. They are the forgotten Americans, hostages to a split in our nation's personality.

It is time to speed up the healing of that split, to open our hearts and welcome home the Vietnam veteran too. On March 16, The American Legion presented its Distinguished Service Medal to the dead and missing Americans of Vietnam at the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery. It is the highest award of the country's largest veterans organization, and the first national recognition of this sort for those who fought in Vietnam.

It's time for all of us to separate the war from the warrior, for Americans to begin to show openly that they do appreciate the service and sacrifices of those who represented them in Vietnam.

To the Editor:

The merits of a large city hospital over a small country hospital have received ample publicity. The wonders of these institutions have been extolled heavenward! Please allow a "city slicker" the opportunity to report her first hand findings.

My father, Frank Campbell, of Rule was recently a patient, until his death in the Haskell County Hospital. The physical facilities were excellent, from a lovely room to some of the newest in medical machinery. More important, he received, from the complete medical community, better and more loving care than he would have gotten elsewhere.

You are lucky to have your good hospital. I am so thankful my father was there, rather than be an I.B.M. number in some large metropolitan medical facility.

Dear Editor:

Mr. Comedy, I do think your paper has improved in many ways. I would enjoy your news "Around Town" more if it had more news about people in Haskell. Do you ask the churches and clubs to report on their social functions or just do you have an editor who could get more news? I was pleased that O.B. Ratliff sent in the letter he did. I hope he gets an answer.

I am enclosing the following news item if you care to print it in your About Town notes. Maye Bell Taylor visited with her sister, Mrs. Richard Sherrill in Abilene last week for several days. They were joined by Miss Onis Vineyard of Del Rio and she accompanied Miss Taylor to Haskell for a few days visit.

Deficit Spending Inflationary

President Ronald Reagan's proposed budget cuts, outlined to Congress in Washington Wednesday (February 19), are "a strong move in the right direction and represent an approach that I have advocated since first coming to Congress, Charles W. Stenholm said today.

"I certainly agree with the general direction the President's budget takes," Stenholm said, commenting on the Reagan speech, "even though I have some unanswered questions."

Stenholm singled out the projected $122.4 billion deficit outlined in the proposal. "It seems to me that if deficit spending has caused inflation for the past four years, then it stands to reason that it will continue to cause inflation," he said.

Stenholm said the President had presented a challenge to Congress for an alternative plan "which offers a greater chance of balancing the budget." The 17th District Congressman said he would respond to that challenge by looking at other areas in the federal budget "that could stand further cuts and at some of the President's proposed cuts."

"The budget that Congress finally passes must be as fair and equitable to all Americans as possible," he continued. "No single segment of the federal expenditure can be considered untouchable and there are several areas that I am closely examining at the present time that I think might possibly be eliminated altogether."

Stenholm said he thought the President's proposal would receive a fair, bi-partisan examination by the Congress. "There isn't a Congressman or Senator on the Hill who shouldn't know by now that the American people really meant what they said at the polls in November. We have to drastically cut federal spending and take whatever other steps necessary to curb runaway inflation and we have to do it now."

Dear Editor,

I would like to announce my candidacy for school board in the Weinert School Board election. I am Betty Raynes. I am married to Bobby Raynes, a farmer in Weinert. We have three children, a daughter, Michell, 17 a junior, and two sons, Wade, 16, a sophomore, and Robin, 11, a sixth grader, in Weinert school. I am active in many church, school, and community activities.

The public schools are one of the best institutions in our country and each of us needs to be concerned about our youth's education. Youth is our nation's greatest natural resource and they like other resources must be taken proper care of.

Naturally, I don't expect everyone in the district to vote for me, but I hope each voter will exercise his right to vote. America is the greatest nation in the world, we have better schools, better living conditions, and more opportunities than any other country. Along with these privileges comes obligations, one of the greatest being our right to vote. Even if you have no children in school, every eligible voter should vote in the school and city elections April 4. Many sacrifices were made and lives given that we might have this privilege.

Betty Raynes

Dear Editor:

It is fitting on March 19 to celebrate our first nationally recognized Agriculture Day. After seven years, Ag Day finally achieved nationwide status when the Congress and the President last year officially proclaimed this year's celebration a national day of recognition.

All Americans can take pride in these facts provided by the Agriculture Council of America that agriculture is America's number one industry, with assets of more than $900 billion...our number one employer, with over 15 million people involved in some phase of this industry...our number one inflation-fighter, with productivity growth five times greater than the non-farm industry over the past five years...and finally our number one exporter, with over $40 billion exported in 1980.

As more Americans learn about our industry today, we hope that they will remember that the real basis for America's leading industry is the tremendous productivity of the American farmer.

We also hope they recognize that if the farmer and those who support him--and her--are to meet the challenges of the 80's, it is fundamental that America find ways to preserve prime farm land; share in the burden of controlling erosion and preserving water supplies; give greater emphasis to agricultural research; reduce our dependence on fossil-fuel energy; and significantly expand agricultural exports to provide food for a growing world.

The real message for all Americans on this first National Agriculture Day is that if we are to keep America's leading industry strong and productive, then we must keep the American farmer strong and productive, too.

BILL SIGNING

Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls (left) and Representative Bill Healy of Paducah, sponsors of Senate Bill 151, look on as Governor Bill Clements signs their bill into law. The bill allows funds for county roads to be distributed to Texas counties once again. The funds, derived from the state motor fuels sales tax, were cut off in 1979 because the distribution agency was abolished under the Texas Sunset Act. S.B. 151, signed Wednesday, March 11, establishes the State Treasurer as the distribution agency for the funds. The fund receives $7.3 million annually and Haskell County will receive $82,830.69 in October for fiscal year 1981 and the two preceding years.

Tooley Heads TALU Office

E. Kenneth Tooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. O.W. Tooley of Haskell, is currently serving as overall administrator of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, Texas Leaders Round Table, and General Agents and Managers Association whose business and services are coordinated at the central state headquarters office in Austin.

Tooley's titles include executive vice president of TALU, executive secretary of TLRT, and executive director of GAMA.

He has been with TALU 15 years and is assisted by a staff of seven.

Tooley has the job of coordinating 20 standing committees and several special committees for TALU the parent organization. He works with the association's officers and directors as well as the leaders of the state's 42 local association affiliates.

As late as 1943, TALU members numbered only 1,132 with 22 local associations. Growth has been attributed to a parallel with the industry, the professionalism insurance men and women have attained through association membership, its high ethical standards, and the increasing number of persons attracted to life insurance as a career.

Local associations range in size from 20 members at Del Rio to more than 1,600 in Dallas and Houston.

Rice Springs News

On Monday night, March 2nd, a party was held to announce our "Resident of the Month" and "Employee of the Month" for the month of February. Our resident honored was John Earp and the employee honored was Janice Marquis. Providing entertainment for the party was a band composed of Donnie Green, Ken Wolsch, and Clarence Meier. Everyone attending the party enjoyed the music very much. Refreshments were also served.

A couple of the residents have had birthdays in the past two weeks. Those celebrating their birthdays were Edna Collins on the 11th and Ethel Rose on the 14th. We hope these had very enjoyable days.

We have welcomed another new resident to the home. She is Beulah Ratliff of Haskell. We all hope she likes being a part of the Rice Springs family.

We are happy to have Hoyt Gray back in the home after his having to spend several weeks in an Abilene hospital. Trudie Bush has also returned to the home from the Haskell hospital. We hope these two and several of our other residents who are not feeling too well are able to be up and about very soon and feeling in tip-top shape once again.

The home has been saddened by the death of three of our residents. Our sympathy goes to the families of Trudie Wheeler, Manley Branch, and Eunice Thornhill.

The residents have enjoyed having the Haskell First Baptist Church provide the Sunday morning service the last three Sundays and are looking forward to their coming the other two Sundays in March. Our other volunteer people were the Haskell Church of Christ, William Hodge, Martin Jacobsen, Jo Simpson, and the Sweet Home Singers. We thank all of these for giving of their time and of themselves.

Mental Health Outlook Is Promising In Haskell Area

More than one in ten Texans will be affected during his or her lifetime by either mental illness or mental retardation. These statistics, provided by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation (TDMHMR), mean that hardly a family is untouched. If these figures are accurate for Haskell County, it would mean that mental impairments would affect about 770 residents of the county. In the realm of outpatient services, Haskell County falls into a special category along with 13 other counties located in the Vernon Center Outreach service area. Seven mental health clinics, called Outreach Service Centers, provide community-oriented mental health services to residents of the 14-county area. The Outreach Center in Haskell serves Haskell, Knox and Stonewall counties.

The seven Outreach centers, including the one in Haskell, served 1,624 clients during 1980, reflecting a nationwide mental health trend toward outpatient treatment in place of hospitalization. By comparison the 1980 average daily hospital population of Vernon Center was 469. A trend toward shorter lengths of stay for clients who are hospitalized is also evident at Vernon Center. Many clients complete their courses of treatment in a few weeks.

Discharge Is Goal

No matter how long a client has been hospitalized or how serious his impairments, the ultimate goal of treatment for each client is discharge, at least in theory. Progress toward this goal, whether or not discharge is ever realized, means the client learns skills for daily living which enable him to live a more independent and more satisfying life, even in the hospital setting.

The mental health picture in Texas, Haskell County included, has changed dramatically over the years. The establishment of Outreach centers has brought quality mental health care to small towns and rural areas. The accompanying decline in hospital populations has meant more individual care and attention for clients who require hospitalization at Vernon Center or at any of the other seven State mental hospitals.

Forgotten, overlooked, "lost in the shuffle" are terms which might have applied to some state hospital residents many years ago. But today no client is ever overlooked or forgotten. Vernon Center's staff reviews each client's progress at least every six months, no matter how long he has resided at the Center or how severe his condition.

Men In Service

Air Force Sgt. Ollie D. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Johnson Sr. of 1517 N. Ave A, Haskell, has participated in Global Shield 81, the Strategic Air Command's (SAC) response to a simulated attack on the United States.

The service member is among the more than 100,000 U.S. Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps and Canada personnel taking part in SAC's largest, no-notice, 20-day training exercise.

During one portion of Global Shield, more than 500 B-52 and FB-111 bombers and KC-135 tankers took off from 70 different locations in the United States and Guam within minutes of notification. This exercise is not related in any way to real world situations, according to a SAC spokesman.

Global Shield 81 is designed to test the command's capability to carry out emergency war orders to support U.S. policy if deterrence fails. This exercise has been constructed to measure SAC's response to a set of preplanned events leading up to a simulated attack on the United States, the spokesman explained.

As part of Global Shield, some SAC aircraft deploy to civilian and military airfields selected specifically for the exercise. Additionally, B-52s and FB-111s fly low-level training routes approved by the Federal Aviation Administration. The routes were preselected to help measure the simulated bombing, navigation and electronic countermeasure skills of SAC aircrews.

HASSEN'S of Haskell

Richardson, Hays Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Debra Karen Hays and Alvia Clark Richardson III were united in marriage Sunday, March 14, at Cooper United Methodist Church during a double ring ceremony officiated by Rev. Fred Brown, pastor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Hays of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Richardson of Haskell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white bridal gown with re-embroidered French lace trimming the bodice and a pleated ruffle around the skirt. Both the dress and veil trailed a cathedral length train with the veil trimmed in lace applique. The bride carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of red Samantha roses, lily of the valley and hyacinth blossoms trailed by streamers of white satin peccoe ribbon. Music for the ceremony was provided by Johnny Ray Watson of Lorenzo and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Flournoy of Lubbock. Organist was Mrs. Harold Flournoy.

Mrs. Brad Hopper of Lubbock served as matron of honor with bridesmaids, Renee Flournoy, cousin of the bride, Theresa Williams and Debra Haynes, all of Lubbock. Attendants wore teal blue dresses featuring straight skirts with side slits and a fitted waistline with wide belt accented by decorative stitching. The neckline was fashioned in a pleated cowl collar dropping to a low back accented by a silk rose. Attendants carried lace fans with red Samantha and minuet roses. Gil Richardson of Haskell, brother of the groom, served as best man with groomsmen Brad Hays, brother of the bride, and Doug Saffle, both of Lubbock, and Doug Richardson, brother of the groom, of Haskell. Ushers were Jim Green of Littlefield and Glen Findley of Odessa.

Consumers Must Beware Of "Sales" Deceptions

Some advertised "sale prices" are actually the regular prices, says Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist. Items marked on sale for more than 30 days probably aren't sale items at all, she cautions.

Mrs. McCormack is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Beware of phrases such as "manufacturer's list price" and "suggested retail." These words may be deceptive since manufacturers cannot legally force retailers to sell products at set prices even though they often suggest a price, the specialist says.

On the other hand, use the "suggested" price as a comparison, since some retailers may sell below that price.

Beware of retailers who consistently advertise "specials" or "featured items" then the next day print disclaimer ads on a back page in the newspaper. This is legal, but it is a strategy often used to get you into the store, Mrs. McCormack explains.

Cow Herd Buildup Increasing

Buildup of the nation's cow herd is "picking up steam," and this could have some definite effects on the cattle industry in the next few years.

"Most cattlemen are continuing to expand their herds, and as a result 1980 was another buildup year in the new cattle cycle," points out Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "In other words, cattlemen are holding back cows and heifers to rebuild their breeding herds."

On January 1, 1981, there were 5 percent more beef cows than a year ago in the U.S. The buildup of the nation's cow herd could remain rather rapid for the next year or so, but some slowdown is likely as early as 1984, speculates Uvacek.

"In fact, expansion could be so rapid that over-production problems might again plague the cattle industry by 1985 or '86," he points out.

With the increase in breeding herds, the nation's calf crops will also increase.

Task Force Appointed To Review Laws

Secretary of Agriculture John Block today appointed U.S. Department of Agriculture task force to review current grain warehouse laws and regulations and to recommend possible changes to safeguard the interest of both farmer and government when a commercial grain elevator goes bankrupt.

This issue recently surfaced in New Madrid, Mo., where a group of farmers removed soybeans from a bankrupt elevator after delays were encountered in obtaining the crop through the judicial process.

Block said, "Farmers rely on the sale of crops from the previous year to pay for present operations. If farmers cannot obtain their crops from the warehouse where they placed them, they may incur losses due to their inability to continue operations. A way must be found to reduce or eliminate the loss potential."

The task force will be chaired by the acting administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. It will include the executive assistant to the secretary and representatives from agencies reporting to the under secretary for international affairs and commodity programs, the acting assistant secretary for marketing and transportation services and the director of economics policy analysis and budget.

The task force will seek the views of farm groups and the warehouse and grain trade industries to get comments from all interested parties, Block said. It will begin its work in early March.

A & M Sets Short Courses April 5-7

Many problems are facing today's ranchers, who must study options and plan management changes to cope with rising production costs.

An attempt will be made during the upcoming Range Section Program of the Beef Cattle Short Course, April 5-7 at Texas A&M University, to explore options which ranchers have available to deal with range management problems, says Dr. Bob J. Ragsdale, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"A major range problem has been a steady encroachment of noxious or harmful plants. With this increase in infestation have come more regulations for various herbicides available for plant control and inflation which has raised the cost of control, yet very little increase in price received by the rancher for his products," says Ragsdale.

More information, along with schedules and registration forms, may be obtained from local county Extension offices.

Energy Audit Program Available

Texas homeowners in many communities have discovered a new way to reduce their heating and cooling costs while they conserve energy. This is accomplished by evaluating every aspect of their home's energy conservation potential through a unique survey called the Lumbermen's Energy Audit.

Available through local lumber and building materials dealers, the audit allows the homeowner to gather energy conservation data concerning their own home and then have that information evaluated by a sophisticated computer program which will tell the homeowner exactly where or in which ways his home is wasting energy, what steps might be taken to correct the problems, and precisely what cost savings might be projected as a result of those improvements.

The Lumbermen's Energy Audit Program was developed for the local lumber and building materials dealers through the Lumbermen's Association of Texas. The sophisticated computer program was developed by Dr. Bill Stewart of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

The program allows homeowners to determine how much energy and energy costs might be saved by adding insulation to attics, walls for crawl space, etc. It evaluates the potential impact of other items ranging from window shades to storm windows.

Interested individuals should contact their local participating lumber and building material dealer for additional information or to pick-up the necessary audit forms.

The Lumbermen's Energy Audit Program is unique in that it utilizes information compiled by the homeowner about a specific home rather than using general formulae or estimations.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

I will continue the series of property tax by answering some commonly asked questions. Again, we will quote heavily from Ken Graebner of the state Property Board.

Q: Why do we have a property tax? Who does the money go to and for what purpose?

A: The property or ad valorem tax is the primary source of local government revenue in Texas. Cities, counties, school districts, and special taxing authorities such as municipal utility districts, junior college districts, etc., collect a property tax to pay for the operation of community services such as fire and police protection, street construction and repair, utilities, and public schools.

Q: Who controls the property tax?

A: The property tax is the only tax which is locally controlled, locally generated and locally collected. Locally elected and appointed officials, those most responsive to the needs of individual taxpayers, direct the property tax system in Texas.

Q: What steps or stages are involved in the property tax administration process?

A: There are four basic stages in the property tax process, which together take about 13 months to complete.

The first stage begins on Jan. 1 of each year. This is the development of tax values by the tax assessor for the taxing jurisdiction and it usually continues through July. This stage includes the rendition period—the period during which the taxpayer is responsible for asserting his rights.

The second stage in the tax process is the meeting of the board of equalization (BOE). The purpose of this board is to review the values which the tax assessor has listed for the property in the jurisdiction. Board members try to insure that values are accurate and that equal values have been set for the same kinds of property. The board of equalization process usually takes place in late July or August.

The third stage occurs when the jurisdiction's governing body (city council, school board, commissioners' court, etc.) meets to adopt a tax rate which will be applied to the values approved by the BOE, normally in late July or August.

The fourth stage in the tax process is tax collection, which usually begins in September or October and continues through the following January. Jan. 31 is the deadline for paying taxes, and on Feb. 1 taxes become delinquent. Property owners who have not paid their taxes before Feb. 1 will find that penalty and interest charges have been added to their tax bills.

Q: Why should I render the value of my property to the tax assessor?

A: By law, property owners must render the value of their taxable property to each jurisdiction's tax assessor during the rendition period (Jan. 1 to April 1). Apart from the legal requirement to render, there are three reasons why it is to the taxpayers' advantage to do so:

1. By filing a rendition, you will place into the record your opinion as to the value of your own property.

2. If you do not render your property, the tax assessor will do it for you, as the law states he must. He does this by making his own estimate as to the value.

3. Through rendering, you create a responsibility on the part of the tax assessor and board of equalization to notify you if they intend to increase the value of your property over the amount you have rendered.

Q: What if I disagree with value the tax assessor places on my property?

A: If you have rendered your property, and if the assessor has disagreed with you by raising the value you rendered, he must notify you of the time and place of the board of equalization (BOE) meetings for the taxing jurisdiction he represents. You then may appear before the board of equalization and explain why you believe the value assigned by the assessor is incorrect.

Q: Under what circumstances will the BOE make an adjustment in my taxable value?

A: First, if you can find and submit evidence to the BOE which indicates that the value assigned to your property exceeds local market values, then you would be entitled to a reduction in valuation. Second, if you can show that your property is being valued higher than similar properties in the jurisdiction, you should be entitled to a reduction in the value assigned even though the assessor's estimate did not exceed the actual market value.

We will continue questions and answers next week.

HOT ASPHALT

Members of the Haskell Fire Department responded to a fire at the yard of the State Highway Department last week. The fire occurred when hot asphalt boiled out of a tank and started to burn. The trailer and a truck were damaged in the blaze.

New Bill To Support Theory Of Creation

A bill requiring public schools to give the same exposure to the theory of creationism that is given to the theory of evolution was introduced into the Texas House of Representatives last Thursday by the Honorable Mike Martin (R) of Longview.

The creationism theory supports the notion that the earth and its inhabitants were created by a supreme being. Evolutionists contend that the earth and its inhabitants are the result of accidents and adaptive processes that have shaped them over the ages.

Martin's spokesman, Gregg County GOP Chairman Wayne House, said that the bill addresses all sides of the issue and should be satisfactory to both sides because it provides that the theories be taught without reference to any religion or religious writings.

House, an instructor of Biblical studies at LeTourneau College in Longview is credited with much of the research work and writing that went into drawing up the bill.

The two men feel that this legislation is necessary to provide an academic climate wherein students have an opportunity to examine available scientific data and make up their own minds about which to accept or reject. They agree that there is scientific data to support both sides but oppose the idea of teaching evolution theories only in the schools.

They also feel that the exclusion of factual material relating to creation theories is a serious threat to academic freedom.

Martin believes his bill has a good chance of passing because it calls for a non-religious and balanced presentation of factual evidence. He cites growing numbers of serious scientists supporting creation theories as an indication that he has the support necessary to push his bill through the legislative mill.

The bill is identified as H.B. 1901 and has not yet been assigned to a committee for study. Similar bills are pending in about 20 other states. Polls indicate that the public favors the teaching of both theories, and a lawsuit has been filed seeking to force the teaching of creationism alongside evolutionism in California schools.

Although freshman legislators generally have a tough time getting anyone to pay attention to their bills, Martin said he will push until he gets the support he needs to get his bill passed. The twenty-nine year old ex-carpenter has a reputation for winning and surprised old-line politicians by beating a well-entrenched three-time incumbent in the last election. He is the first Republican to represent Gregg County (District 13) since Reconstruction days.
