Also pictures are (l to r) Bud Turnbow, Precinct 4 Commissioner, County Judge John Wayne McDermott, and Ray Perry, Precinct 3 Commissioner.

County Jail Receives Certification

The Haskell County Jail was officially certified last Thursday by Joe Slater, Supervising Inspector of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

The certification marks the success of Haskell County Officials who have been working in close cooperation with Sheriff Garth Garrett to comply with recent Texas Jail Standards.

According to County Judge John Wayne McDermott, the Haskell Jail is the 18th to be certified in the district. He praised County Commissioners and Sheriff Garrett on the cooperative efforts that made certification possible.

Presenting the certificate to the Sheriff, Inspector Slater said, "The Haskell County officials, Judge McDermott, the four County Commissioners, Sheriff Garth Garrett and his staff are to be commended on this splendid accomplishment. This is not due to any one individual but to all working together to make this possible."

Slater also indicated that compliance with the standards will help protect the County from "frivolous complaints and lawsuits."

Adding his personal congratulations, he said, "The taxpayers should be proud to have elected officials who have been able to achieve this result at minimum costs."

About three months ago a couple of Haskell men decided to see about getting the Dallas Cowboys to play basketball in Haskell.

After securing information about costs, the two began talking to other individuals to solicit help in the project.

During the initial planning stages, Charles Thornhill and Dave Ramsey were met with repeated negative comments and speeches about how the project would never work and how much money would be lost.

After recruiting a handful of allies, work on the project began in earnest.

Last Friday the idea became a reality and while the project didn't make the profits which had been hoped for, it didn't lose anything.

Over 1,000 persons attended the games and had an opportunity to meet and visit with members of the Cowboy teams. Many of those attending the game were from the surrounding area and the intangible benefits in dollars spent and goodwill created can never be measured.

It's impossible to determine what would have happened if more people with a positive attitude had spent just a few minutes assisting instead of fighting.

SWEEPSTAKES

Members of the Haskell Indian Band received Division I ratings April 15 to earn a Sweepstakes Award for 1980-81. The contest was held at Cooper High School in Abilene. The band received a division I rating in marching contest last fall and completed sweepstakes requirements last week. Band director Barry Crudgington said, "Long hours and hard work achieved the goal we were after."

When Tornadoes Come...

With the coming of spring months in West Texas comes the threat of possible tornadoes.

The tornado warning system in Haskell is a cooperative effort of local law enforcement agencies and the Haskell Fire Department.

Officers from various law enforcement agencies are stationed around the city anytime there is threatening weather. In the event any officer spots a tornado, the fire department is notified and the siren at the station is blown for about two minutes. In addition, volunteer firemen drive designated routes throughout town with sirens.

This warning is activated only upon sighting a tornado and all residents are urged to take shelter immediately when hearing the siren.

The key word in taking cover is 'low'. The lowest floor in any building is the safest. Small rooms, such as the bathroom or a closet in the central part of the structure offer the best protection. If this hideout isn't available, taking cover under heavy furniture such as a tipped over couch is advised.

Excellent examples of the large, killer tornadoes are the Lubbock Tornado of May 1970 and the Wichita Falls Tornado of April 1979. It is estimated that some 18,000 persons were in the path of the Wichita Falls Tornado. The survival of 99.8 percent of them was due largely to their knowledge and use of safety rules.

In the open, the best shelter from a tornado is a ditch, ravine, or culvert. If none is available, move into a field alongside the road. Get down on you knees, as low to the ground as possible, and cover your head with your hands and arms. This is known as the defensive position. Do not remain in a vehicle or try to out-run a tornado. It is difficult to judge either its distance or speed.

In a building, the safest location would be a tornado shelter. Next best would be a basement. Hide under a heavy desk or stairwell. Otherwise, go to a central closet, bathroom, or small hallway on the lowest floor. These rooms are safer when away from chimneys and taller structures that may collapse on them. They have the advantages of greater reinforcement per unit volume and more walls between the occupants inside and flying debris outside. Flying debris causes most tornado deaths. When you reach the shelter, assume the defensive position.

Avoid areas with large span roofs such as cafeterias, auditoriums, and gymnasiums. They are subject to collapse. Also avoid areas with extensive glass. It is likely to be shattered by the extreme winds and flying debris. Do not waste time opening or closing windows to reduce inside pressure. The pressure change near a tornado (very low pressure) causes little, if any, structural damage. Simply make sure you and the people you are with are safe.

Fire Department officials urge all local residents to have a pre-planned place of cover, easily accessible, and to seek the shelter immediately when the local warning is issued.

Mop, Broom Sale Today

Members of the Haskell Lions Club will sponsor their annual mop and broom sale today, April 23, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on the courthouse lawn.

The project will not include door-to-door sales this year.

Approximately 50 items will be offered for sale. All items are built at the Texas Lighthouse for the Blind and profits are shared between the local Lions Club and the Lighthouse.

Funds raised by the Haskell group will be used to support the purchase of eyeglasses for underprivileged children in Haskell and Paint Creek and various other projects sponsored by the club.

All Haskell merchants are asked to visit the southeast corner of the square and support the sale.

Marty Jacobsen and Oscar Tooley are co-chairmen of the project.

Kindergarten Registration Set May 1

Kindergarten Pre-registration will be held at Haskell Elementary School on Friday, May 1, at 1:00 p.m. in the principal's office.

After registration, students will spend the time until 2:45 in one of the Kindergarten classes becoming acquainted with the program.

In order to be eligible for Kindergarten this coming fall, a child must be five years of age on or before September 1.

Parents will need to bring birth certificates and immunization records to registration. Children must have received immunization for polio, diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus, (D.P.T.) mumps, measles and rubella. Also they must have received a booster shot for polio and D.P.T. since their fourth birthday.

Dear Editor:

Since Little League baseball season is just around the corner, we would like for you to print the following article that we read in Ann Landers column on April 7, 1981. It is a poem written by Bob Fox, a former pitcher in the minor leagues. We think it says what most of us are thinking when we are watching all of our youngsters playing Little League baseball.

Just A Little Boy
By Bob Fox

He stands at the plate with heart pounding fast. The bases are loaded; the die has been cast.

Mom and Dad cannot help him, he stands alone.

A hit at this moment would send the team home.

The ball meets the plate; he swings and he misses.

There's a groan from the crowd, with some boos and some hisses.

A thoughtless voice cries: "Strike out the bum."

Tears fill his eyes; the game's no longer fun.

So open your heart and give him a break.

For it's moments like this, a man you can make.

Keep this in mind when you hear someone forget.

He's just a little boy and not a man yet.

Dear Editor:

At our District XIV, 1980 House of Delegates meeting, we voted to give our $500.00 Scholarship Award to a 1981-82 college senior education major. Previously we have given the scholarship to high school seniors who planned to enter the teaching profession. We felt that a senior college student would be in greater need of financial assistance at this time since there are very few scholarships offered at this level.

Requirements are that an applicant must have graduated from a District XIV High School and be a 1981-82 college senior majoring in education.

Applications must be returned by May 15, 1981, and the scholarship recipient will be notified before August 15, 1981. The award will be made public at the District XIV Convention, November 9, 1981.

Interested persons may request application forms by writing or calling Andy Cleveland, 1258 Ross, Abilene, Texas 79605, (915)672-7258 after 5.

Thank you for letting me use this means to tell the public about our scholarship.

Dear Editor:

Due to the illness of my father, I was out of town when Rex Felker passed away. The news made for a very sad homecoming. To all the Felker family I extend my deepest sympathy and please know, my prayers are with you.

Rex was a talented writer—and it was his faith in my writing ability—and help and encouragement, that my book was finished and published.

I was very proud that he took the time and trouble to write the forward for me. I believe he left all of us a message when he wrote, "The old time cowboys who trailed the herds of cattle and horses to this part of Texas have long since ridden over the ridge to their last Round up."

The glowing embers of their campfires along the trail turned to ashes long ago and the jingle of their spurs grew silent, yet they are commemorated in poetry, prose and song for posterity.

So, may your pathway of life be long and smooth with no quicksands to man the trail you must travel."

No one but Rex could have said it so well.

Sincerely,
Jean Damran Free

Rex Felker

Rex edited the book Haskell County and its pioneers in 1975. I spend many pleasant hours reading about the many families in Haskell and the entire County.

Rex did lots of nice things for Haskell and I always think of him as being one of several who helped organize the Sayles and Centerpoint Schools Homecoming in 1968. He was our 1st pres.

Altho he didn't always get to attend every year. He encouraged us to meet every year instead of every other year. Saying we didn't have to much time left. We have spent many happy hours at these meetings and his name will be added to our memorial list of ex students of Sayles who have gone on. Rex we miss you.

Haskell Native Rises In TSCRA Ranks

Don C. King, secretary-general manager of Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, has announced the promotion of Steven Munday and Jim Kelley, each to the position of administrative assistant.

Munday, 32, an eight-year veteran of the Association, previously served as editorial director of "The Cattleman" magazine and for the past three years as TSCRA news director. In his new position, Munday will have the responsibility of media and government relations.

King said that both Munday and Kelley have performed their respective duties in a highly proficient manner and have proved themselves able to assume these additional responsibilities. King further stated he felt that the Association was fortunate to have these two extremely capable young men on the staff.

A Haskell native, Munday was graduated from West Texas State University in Canyon, December 1970 with a B.A. degree in English. His coursework included classes in journalism and animal science. He was an active member and officer of Block and Bridle Club, national honorary animal science society, and the WTSU Rodeo Club. He also was appointed to Alpha Chi, national honorary Scholastic society. Commissioned a second lieutenant, he served a brief stint in the U.S. Army and was honorably discharged from the reserves in 1978 as a captain. Following active duty, he became farm and ranch editor of the Abilene Reporter News in Abilene. He left the newspaper in 1972 to join TSCRA and "The Cattleman."

Kelly, 28, who has worked for the Association for four years as livestock fieldman for "The Cattleman" magazine and most recently as TSCRA membership chairman, now has the increased responsibility of all membership services and convention/trade show coordinator.

Munday is a member of Who's Who in the Southwest, the Fort Worth Farm and Ranch Club, American Agricultural Editors Association, the Press Club of Fort Worth, the Ad Club of Fort Worth and Western Writers of America.

Munday is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carol O. Moody of Pearsall.

Mesquites May Provide Cheap Protein Source

For those who have battled the mesquite by chopping and rooting out one little tree only to find another springing up somewhere else, researchers at Texas Tech University are finding another solution. If you can't beat 'em—eat 'em.

While West Texans are pampering their vegetable gardens through the arid, scorching summer months—the hardy mesquite manages to produce quite well all by itself. The mesquite bean, a high protein legume, is found on approximately 70 million acres of land in the American Southwest, with each acre producing about 100 bushels of fruit per year. The bean is high in iron and the pod contains twice as much sucrose sugar as a sugar beet or sugar cane.

Although forgotten in modern times, the mesquite provided foods for native Americans and southwestern pioneers. Studies show for centuries the ground ripe pods were used for a meal called "pintole" which was made into a cake or mixed with water to make "atole" which would be fermented for a weak beer.

Southwestern American pioneers also used the extract for jelly and researchers have run across the mesquite as an ingredient in some "grandma's jelly" recipes.

Funded by the Texas Tech Department of Agriculture, the mesquite bean research is conducted in the Department of Food and Nutrition in the College of Home Economics.

"We are not trying to find a new food," said investigator Prof. Margarette Harden, "but to see if the mesquite bean is another good alternative protein source." She said the project is also an attempt to make good use of the abundant mesquite.

There is one big problem with the mesquite bean in that it is "very, very hard." The hardness not only makes the beans difficult to study but also hinders digestion of the beans. Beans fed mice for study are ground into soft powder.

According to Reza Zolfaghari, a food and nutrition doctoral student working on the project, "We have to find some way to break down its hardness if it is going to be very functional as food for humans."

Harden said if studies show the benefits cannot be obtained from the full bean, the bean may be useful as a food supplement in cereals or other products.

There have been a few studies on the human nutritional value of the mesquite bean, she said. At one time it was highly recognized as one of the most important grain feeds for all kinds of livestock and chickens.

Funny or Unfunny

BUT ARE THEY TRULY NEEDY? San Joaquin County (California) is fighting a state order to pay welfare to a family that admits to spending $83,000 on drugs, gambling, cars and gifts. The county supervisors voted to threaten legal action unless the state Department of Social Services backs down on payments to the family of three. The family was dropped from the "aid to families with dependent children" program when it received an $83,000 windfall in late 1978. County officials said they could not reveal the source of the money. "Nine months later, this family applied for public assistance, claiming that the $83,000 had been completely spent," said county Public Assistance Director Harry Brodie. He said that, by law, the county would have to put the family back on welfare "if its spending of the windfall could be accounted for. When the county asked for documentation that the $83,000 was gone, a state referee, who ordered payments, noted that "dope dealers and gamblers do not provide receipts."

Garden Series Offers Complete Tips

Weeds are a problem in backyard gardens just as they are in large fields of vegetables, grain sorghum or cotton. They compete with your desirable plants for water, soil nutrients, sunlight and air. In some cases, they may harbor many different kinds of insects as well as diseases.

What can you do about weeds in your garden? Believe it or not, hand hoeing is probably still the best answer. It is inexpensive, quite selective, accurate, effective and, for some, even enjoyable. Some local gardeners feel a great deal of emotional satisfaction from leaning on a hoe handle and viewing a clean row where weeds stood only minutes before. Remember, weeds should be relatively small when hoed or pulled from your garden since damage may occur to vegetables if weeds are allowed to get too big before being removed.

Another effective method of controlling garden weeds is to use a mulch. Mulching is one of the real keys to a successful garden in this part of Texas. A mulch is simply defined as "any material spread on garden soil to protect plant roots from heat, cold or drought, reduce problem weeds and keep fruit clean." A mulch controls weeds by keeping light away from seedlings and by providing a mechanical barrier to their emergence. Mulches work best against weeds and grass that come from seed each year. Any weeds that do come through the mulch can be spotted easily and removed from the garden.

Good mulching materials in this area are compost, straw, leaves, hay, sawdust, wood shavings, bark, newspaper and plastic sheeting. Organic mulches are, by far, the most common but remember that they should not be applied too early in the spring. If you mulch a cold garden soil, it warms up slower, delaying the maturity of most vegetables. One benefit when using organic mulches is that at the end of the season, they can be turned under to improve the physical condition of your garden soil.

Black plastic film has been used as a garden mulch for a long time. It is probably the most popular synthetic material available. It will result in a warmer soil early in the season and will greatly reduce the weed population. However, if weeds are not a problem, it is an excellent mulching material. Several sheets of newspapers laid flat over the top of the garden row will also help control most weeds. However, like organic mulches, newspaper can cause delayed maturity of many garden vegetables such as tomatoes, peppers and squash if applied too early.

A third method which I feel has limited value for garden weed control is herbicides. While such chemicals work well in single crop situations, it's difficult to use them in a garden where a wide assortment of vegetables may occupy a fairly small space. I personally feel that herbicides are difficult to use in most garden situations and should not be used by the average home gardener in Haskell County.

However, if you are determined to use chemicals for garden weed control, remember that some herbicides may work with some crops but may damage others. Be sure to follow the exact application rate and use only the correct amount. If you have a relatively large garden, it's possible to use herbicides satisfactorily by grouping vegetables for their tolerance to certain chemicals and diligently following all label precautions.

However, your best bet for satisfactory weed control is to sharpen your trusty hoe and to practice the age-old and time-tested art of mulching.

Ladies Classes Celebrate With Easter Breakfast

The Fidelis and Naomi classes of the First Baptist Church met April 16th at the Haskell Steak House for their Easter Breakfast. The tables were beautifully decorated with baskets of bluebonnets and basket of easter eggs and rabbits. The place cards were baskets of bluebonnets and on the inside was the program. These were made by Mrs. Ozelle Frierson.

Ora Childress, Outreach Leader for Adult IV, welcomed everyone and Billie Cadenhead gave the invocation. The class then enjoyed a bountiful breakfast of orange juice, eggs, ham, hash brown potatoes, toast, jelly and coffee.

Faye Woodson introduced the guest and speaker, David Bradshaw. He brought a very inspiring devotion on "Easter is an Everyday Event and not Seasonal." His scriptures were taken from Luke Chapter 24.

He brought out many good points on the walk to Emmaus and how the two who were walking with Jesus had their eyes spiritually closed and how their faith had crumbled, but Jesus broke the bread of life to them. They now had their eyes opened spiritually and their faith had been renewed and their hearts burned within them. He emphasized if we will walk with Jesus each day and pray we will have our eyes opened, our faith will not crumble and the bread of life will be broken unto us. Easter then will be a daily event and not seasonal. He closed with prayer.

Mrs. Opal Nanny presented David with a beautiful plaque for his desk. The base was genuine marble with black walnut and the plate was gold with his name engraved on it. Miss Maye Bell dismissed the group in prayer.

Josselet Reunion Held Recently

A family reunion was held April 18th and 19th at the Haskell Country Club. All present were direct descendants of the late Victor J. and Catherine Josselet.

The Saturday night activities began with a picnic meal and homemade ice cream for the one hundred and one people present. The prayer was given by M.C. Josselet, the oldest descendant carrying the Josselet name. Movies were shown of the reunion two years ago and of different members of the family in the early 1960's. Recalling the long-ago and forgotten events brought laughter and an occasional tear to the audience. The Sunday events began with a steak dinner for the one hundred sixty-eight present. Following the meal, president Adell Thomas of Haskell called the business meeting to order. A history of the family was read to the adults while the children enjoyed an Easter egg hunt.

A recent history indicated that during the past two years there were 23 births, 11 marriages, and one death. Estell Gilleland was recognized as the oldest in attendance, and Brent Toliver, son of Brian and Leesa Toliver, was the youngest present. Patsy Turnbow Milliman of Lafayette, Louisiana, traveled the greatest distance.

Nutritious Snacks Are Delicious Treats

By Lou Gilly
County Extension Agent
No doubt you probably have heard all your life and you are telling your children that snacks are bad.
Are they?
Well, yes and no. Yes, if you gobble up foods that are

'Eager' Club Meets Tuesday

Tuesday, April 14, at 7:00 p.m. the Extension Homemakers Club met in the Extension kitchen for their monthly meeting.

Florence Larned was the hostess. Kay Smith gave an interesting program on "Unit Pricing and Open Dating." Facts sheets were passed out to the eight ladies present.

Reports were given from the committee.
The next monthly meeting will be May 12, at 7:00 p.m. at the Extension Building, with Don Comedy giving the program on Aerosol Cans Do's and Don't's.

loaded with sugar, salt, and fat but low on protein, vitamins and minerals. But, if you use snacks to supply the body with nutritious foods that regular meals are lacking, then snacking is a great idea.

Snacking isn't just milk and cookies after school. It's also munching an apple while waiting for the bus, gobbling popcorn while watching TV, or eating hors d'oeuvres at a party. Some of us snack just a little, some of us snack around the clock.

Who you are and what you do has a lot to do with choosing snacks that are right for you.

Start with small children. Often they just can't consume the amount of food in regular meals that will add up to their daily nutritional needs. A slice of cheese, wheat cracker, or a banana eaten at mid morning or midafternoon could help supply the added energy to keep them from pooping out.

And teenagers—you know how much they eat! Growing, active bodies need extra helping of foods which provide protein, vitamins, and minerals as well as added energy. A nice big slice of pizza with cheese, meat, and vegetable toppings is a sure way to satisfy a huge appetite.

Senior citizens can benefit from snacking too. Problems with chewing or digestion sometimes interfere with regular eating habits. Snacks, which can be eaten anytime, let them choose their own personal eating schedule. And a dish of ice cream or a glass of juice makes such a refreshing break!

Whether you're 12 or whether you're 60, your body needs only so many calories, and if your diet provides more than you body needs—big fat pounds can be the result! Some people seem to be able to eat anything and everything they want without gaining a pound, but many of us—sad to say—really have to watch it.

Good snacking habits for children are the responsibility of the parents. Remember—when a person is hungry, they're likely to grab the first munchies in sight. The trick is to have the right snacking foods handy. You can't go wrong stocking up with foods like fresh fruits, juices, yogurt, milk, cheese, nuts, whole-grain or enriched crackers—just to mention a few. These foods make great snacks and contribute to the day's need for nutrients.

At the same time, don't buy a food if you want to discourage its use. All those tasty little tidbits spell temptation if they're around. They contribute calories to the diet, but little else.

A new and healthful snack that kids love is fruit leather. If you would be interested in learning how to make fruit leather and drying other fruits and vegetables make plans to attend the Food Preservation Seminar on April 24. The session on drying foods will begin at 10:00 a.m. in the Haskell National Bank Community Room.

Here is a recipe that kids love. It is good as a meal, a snack, or as a party food.

- Snack Pizzas
Makes 10 pizzas
Calories per pizza: About 105
9½ oz package refrigerator biscuits, flaky (10 biscuits)
¼ cup tomato paste
1 teaspoon Oregano
½ cup canned mushrooms, chopped
½ cup natural sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded
1. Preheat oven to 400 degrees (hot)
  2. Grease baking sheets
  3. Pat each biscuit round into a 4-inch circle on baking sheets.
  4. Mix tomato paste and oregano. Brush on each biscuit round.
  5. Mix onion and mushrooms. Sprinkle over tomato paste mixture. Top with shredded cheese.
  6. Bake until crust is lightly browned (about 8 minutes)

Note: Other ingredients such as cooked round sausage or ground beef, thin strips of salami, chopped green pepper, or chopped anchovies may be used in place of onion and mushrooms. Calories for a pizza will vary according to ingredients used.

This is how I make the recipe: I separate each biscuit into 2 pieces (sometimes 3) and make smaller, thinner pizzas. Next I put grated Mozarella on top of the biscuits. I brown ground beef and add a jar of pizza sauce to it, then spread over cheese. My family likes it topped with parmesan cheese and olives.

Human Milk Recommended

According to the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, pregnant women should plan to breastfeed their new babies unless there are special problems. Nutrients in human milk tend to be digested and absorbed more easily than those in cow's milk—and human milk serves as a transfer of disease immunity from mother to infant, reports Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

The co-curricular facet of the school program is the element that is most visible to the public; consequently, it is sometimes the most controversial. When we speak of the co-curricular, we are referring to UIL activities (such as athletics, band and literary events), FFA, FHA, journalism, drama, etc. All the co-curricular programs are designed to reflect some aspect of the basic curriculum. For example, the athletic program should be the byproduct of the physical development of young men and women.

However, many times, these co-curricular programs go beyond their role as a product of the curriculum and become the guiding force of that facet of the curriculum. Public pressure, student pressure, and teacher pressure can create this situation in any school program.

What is the role of the school in co-curricular programs and how can the school justify the expense of a co-curricular program?

First is the benefit to the youngsters who participate. Each of our students must compete in many ways if they are to succeed in society. The co-curricular program is developed around this concept of competition.

Social development is also a result of co-curricular activities. The ability to "play by rules" and to "get along" with your teammates and fellow competitors is paramount in participation in these activities.

Thirdly, is the development in pride within one's self and their school. A well-disciplined, smooth operating athletic team or band can and well should be a great source of pride for individuals, the school, and the community. Also, if one does not think that winning at an FFA contest or a UIL contest such as typing does not create this same pride, I wish they could have stood with me and watched these people receive their awards. Even the joy of participation shines through the face of the youngster.

It is easy to be scornful in these days when it is "cool" to be cynical. However, I would challenge someone to be a cynic if they participate in some aspect of the co-curricular program.

One could go on and on listing benefits of these programs, but those above are a few. One point that is important for students, teachers, administrators, and the public to remember is that this is a co-curricular program. As such, it should never become the most important aspect of the school program. I like to put it this way, "The tail can never wag the dog."

For the overall program to succeed, the roles of the curricular and co-curricular must be kept in proper perspective. I would like to add this personal note. I have been in school administration for 15 years now and I would hate to administer a program without a balanced curricular and co-curricular program.

In closing, congratulations are in order to Mr. Crudginton and his band for their Sweepstakes in UIL competition. They achieved an honor not bestowed on numerous high school bands and returned us to the heights of success we have enjoyed previously. We are proud of you!

BIO FEEDBACK THERAPY

Some physiological parameter is measured by appropriate electronic circuitry and the resulting signal translated into an auditory or visual display made available to the patient. This enables the patient to alter physiological responses with both voluntary and involuntary muscle control. Bio feedback electronic displays are in the form of flashing lights, modulated tones and visual meters. The patient, while being treated, may observe without difficulty, electronic measurements of ones self induced physiological control. This is a carefully controlled learning process while being constantly assisted and encouraged by a highly trained Bio Feedback Therapist.

Bio feedback therapy has been widely accepted by the American medical profession and most reputable insurance companies providing health care policies pay for this service provided by the primary care physician.

This service is now available at the Seymour Medical and Surgical Clinic
