WHEAT HARVEST

Harvest of the 1981 wheat crop in Haskell County is in full swing and the potential for a record crop is good according to several local persons. Yields of over 40 bushels per acre have been reported. Pictured above is part of a custom combine crew belonging to Dean Jones of Lincoln, Nebraska cutting wheat on the Don Bowman farm in Northeast Haskell County. Jones has made the harvest trip for the past 23 years and said Tuesday this was some of the best wheat he could remember in this area.

Delayed By Rain

Wheat Harvest Holds Potential For Record

The potential for a record wheat harvest is becoming a reality in the Haskell area this year.

Current estimates of the 1981 crop in Haskell County indicate that approximately 65 to 70,000 acres of wheat was planted last fall.

Average yield in Haskell County is about 18 to 20 bushels per acre and yields this year of over 40 bushels per acre have been reported.

While the 40 bushel yields are not expected to be the average for the year, some persons expect to see isolated yields in the 50 to 60 bushel range.

Current estimates also indicate that the average yield for the County could be as much as 30 to 35 bushels per acre.

County Agent Max Stapleton estimated that the harvest is approximately 25% complete. He voiced a concern that with the early ripening of wheat to the north many custom combine crews would leave before the local harvest was complete.

Rains late last week completely halted the local harvest and it wasn't until early this week that most combines returned to the fields.

Dean Jones, owner of a custom company, stated Tuesday that if the rains had been delayed for about five days almost all wheat in the County could have been cut.

Jones is from Lincoln, NB and has made the annual harvest for the past 23 years beginning in Texas in mid May and continuing into Canada.

Harvey Croft, manager of Nine Point Grain in Haskell, stated that the price of wheat locally had dropped from $3.88 just before harvest began to $3.74 Tuesday.

In addition to the problems caused by rains delaying the wheat harvest, many area farmers had planted cotton and are now facing the prospect of replanting.

Weaver, Moeller To Attend Boys State

Two high school boys will represent Haskell at the 1981 session of Texas American Legion Boys State, Commander Fred Boon of Rogers-Cox Post No. 221 of The American Legion here announced today.

Named to participate in this annual American Legion workshop in the organization and operation of state and local governments are Aaron Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Weaver of Rt. 2, Haskell and Monty Allen Moeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Moeller of Rt. 2, Haskell.

The 1981 Texas American Legion Boys State will be in session from June 6 to June 12, 1981, at The University of Texas, Austin, Commander Fred Boon said.

Departments (state and territorial organizations) of The American Legion will sponsor 51 of these Boys States this summer. Two outstanding youths from each of The American Legion Boys States will go to American Legion Boys, Nation during July in Washington, D.C., where they will study federal government organization and operation in much the same manner as the Boys State delegates participate in training in state government.

During their Boys State sessions, the Haskell youths will participate in the organization of political parties, campaigns, elections, and the enactment and enforcement of their own laws within a mythical state. Elected State Officials will function "for a day" at the Capitol on June 12 and conclude with a Joint Session at the Boys State Legislature.

"As one of the Legion's outstanding youth-training programs, Boys State affords these youngsters an opportunity to learn the functions of Local and State Government," Commander Boon said. "Also, they will see the importance of the role a good citizen has in discharging his citizenship responsibilities. They soon discover how good government depends upon the active interest of every citizen."

On behalf of Post No. 221, Commander Boon expressed appreciation to the following clubs and organizations which are also sponsoring youths to American Legion Boys State this year: Haskell National Bank and Kiwanis Club.

Letters To The Editor

(EDITORS NOTE: The Haskell Free Press will publish letters to the Editor dealing with any subject. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld by request. All letters are subject to editing for length and liability.)

Dear Editor,

My name is Daniel L. Ozuna. I was born in Haskell, Texas, and my parents Silvestre and Amelia Ozuna are still living there.

It will be four years (4) this coming July that I have been in The Texas Department of Corrections.

At the moment I am up for parole, my third time, and I'm hoping that everybody in Haskell who reads this letter will understand that all this time that I have been here, has been utilized for a better life among society and my family.

In education; I've been able to complete my G.E.D. and am now enrolled in Henderson Jr. College.

In the Activities at Church, God has used me as an instrument to play guitar, sing, teach and preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ. My position at Church at the moment is one of three (3) deacons in the Spanish Segment of the Protestant Church.

At work; I am a key punch operator and have nearly 3 years experience as a key punch and verifier. (Inforex Dept. Records Conversion.)

While here God has been my main source to make it through both the bad and good times. There is much more that I'd like to share with all the people of Haskell, many in which taught me, raised me, doctored me and many who at the present time have been sending their letters of encouragement and have been of great help to my parents in many ways.

For all this I'm grateful and now I would like to return to all of you my gratitude and appreciation in all that you'll have done for me; by bringing home what I've learned here at Church, College, and at work.

To you the readers of this letter. "I am asking for letters from you that know me, and from you that know of me. Any letters to the Pardon and Parole Board in Austin, Texas will be of great appreciation."

Letters may be directed to Mrs. Gladys Sommers, c/o Board of Pardon and Paroles, 17th And Congress, Steven F. Austin Bldg. Room 711, Austin, TX 78711, Phone (512)475-4525.

I thank God for all of you, and I thank you all for your support.

Sincerely Yours
Daniel L. Ozuna

Dear Editor:

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post #9179 and the Ladies Auxiliary would like to thank everyone for their participation in the Poppy Sale for making it a great success. A special thanks to the Haskell Free Press and KVRP.

Dear Editor,

As a concerned taxpaying citizen, parent, and teacher, I would like to express my disappointment in the facilities and upkeep of our City Park. I fully realize that the flood and heavy rains have caused extensive damage to the park; but there has been adequate time for these repairs to be completed for summer use. Our City Park has the potential of being a very enjoyable recreational facility if the following improvements could be made:

1. Bathroom facilities
2. Adequate bridges to cross Rice Springs
3. Tall grass and weeds which contribute to our mosquito problem should be mowed.
4. Equipment and picnic areas painted and repaired

Many people would like to use the park for birthday parties, family reunions and other varied activities but do not because of these problems.

I hope the responsible person or persons will remedy this undesirable situation.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Tim (Paula) Everett

Dear Editor:

In regard to Coach Baldwin's comment in a previous paper, we would like to correct his misinformation. He stated that no previous Haskell athlete had achieved a Gold Medal at the State Track Meet.

We, the class of 1968, would like to inform the public that a member of our class was a State Winner. Dr. Derrel Davis, DDS, presently of Hamlin, won the 440 yard dash at the 1968 State Track Meet in Austin under the direction of C.T. "Sonny" Everett.

We are proud of his achievement and feel that this information should be recorded in H.H.S. history.

Class of 1968
Editor's Note: Coach Baldwin stated that no school records had been kept and that he had been unable to determine if there had been previous winners of State Track titles by HHS athletes.

Drug Abuse In Texas Is Very Real Problem

"When I was 13 years old I smoked my first joint. From then on I liked it. I was arrested in Dallas for aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon and I was using drugs at the time."

This statement from an 18-year-old drug abuser is not an unusual story. Drug arrests in Texas number around 60,000 a year, according to Texas Department of Community Affairs statistics. Young people are often involved.

An 18-year-old girl tells a similar story: "I got real involved in heavy drugs -- three or four times a day I used it. It cost me $75 to $100 a day. It was pretty bad. Where could I go? What could I do? I didn't have any money. I turned myself in."

Texas in general are not ignoring the drug abuse problem. Communities across the state have launched programs designed to prevent drug abuse among young people, or at least to stem the destructive tide. But for too many young people these efforts are too little, too late. For youngsters who are past the prevention stage, like these two 18-year-olds, the only hope is reform.

The Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation offers this hope to drug and alcohol abusers ages 13 through 21 through Vernon Center, a two-campus State mental hospital at Vernon. The Center's rural campus, located five miles south of Vernon, serves as a drug treatment center for young chemical abusers from the entire state. Opened in 1974, the Adolescent Drug Abuse and Addiction Service (ADAAS) maintains a resident population of about 135.

The young clients' problems can involve any chemical, including alcohol, inhalants, marijuana, prescription drugs and hard narcotics, such as heroin.

The ADAAS rehabilitation program is designed to treat drug abuse as a symptom of problems confronting the clients in their daily living experiences and not as the problem. The staff's goal is to help each client discover how to cope with life—socially, vocationally and recreationally—without the use of drugs.

Client's comments show that the multi-faceted program can change the direction of a young abuser's life. The young man who smoked his first joint at 13 says, "Before I didn't care about me or anybody; now I care about me and everybody."

Another 18-year-old tells how vocational training helped him. "I am improving in welding. I plan to go to advanced welding school, and I finished my vocational, which I wouldn't have done if I was out in the free world. I have got special skills. I can get high off life without using drugs."

Group therapy helps many. "It's helped me face reality and responsibility for what I have to do," says a 17-year-old girl. "Before I was very irresponsible. I wanted everybody else to do things for me, but that's different now."

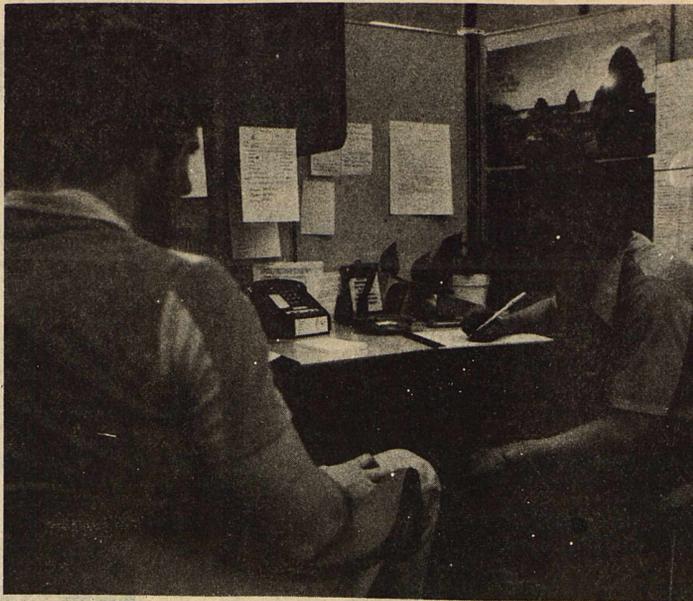

Some develop leadership abilities. "I was representative for recreation," says one client. "Next week I will be vice president of the dorm. I'm looking forward to that."

Clients' lengths of stay vary. Most require about six months to complete the ADAAS program. Schedules are structured. Most clients spend over 40 hours a week in therapy and educational activities. Many earn either

General Education Development (GED) diplomas or finish their high school education. Some earn vocational certificates in office skills, welding, automotive mechanics or other areas. Others earn college credits through an arrangement with Vernon Regional Junior College.

To meet religious needs, a staff chaplain conducts non-denominational, interfaith services each Sunday for clients who wish to attend. Some also participate in weekly Bible study groups. On request, the chaplain counsels clients individually.

Rules and guidelines govern ADAAS clients' lives. They are required to follow their schedules, to be punctual, to learn to get along with others on campus and in the dorms, and so on. "The rules here pertain to the rules on the outside," says one client. "You just have to think about why this rule is and how it pertains to the outside, the law outside. You learn a lot; I've learned a lot."

WRITING HOME

A caseworker at Vernon Center Adolescent Drug Abuse and Addiction Service helps a young client write a letter home to his mother. Clients are encouraged to maintain contact with their parents, and on request members of the staff help with the task of letter writing. Clients at the residential treatment center range in age from 13 to 21 and come from all over Texas. Drug problems treated include all types of chemical abuse.

Rice Springs News

I think most of us here at the home have just been coasting the last couple of weeks, trying to get rested up after all the activities during our National Nursing Home Week. Everyone enjoyed all that went on, but they were all tired, including their activity director. The last couple of weeks we've all done a quite a bit of resting and just taking it easy. We've enjoyed our regular programs that we've had, but we really haven't been doing anything extra.

We were saddened by the death of Joe Ray and he will certainly be missed by all his friends here. We extend our sympathy to his wife and family.

Mamie Angley has returned to the home after being in an Odessa hospital. We are glad she is back and seems to be doing so much better.

Three of our residents have celebrated their birthdays since I last reported. They were Maude Bowman on the 24th, Lillie Spitzer on the 28th, and Lillie Jones on the 29th. We hope all these had enjoyable days.

Our people have really enjoyed the Haskell First Christian Church coming out during the month of May to hold the Sunday morning services. We are looking forward to them coming again. We've also enjoyed and appreciated all our other volunteer people. They are Haskell Church of Christ for our Sunday afternoon services, Church of Christ ladies who held our monthly birthday party, Jo Simpson who does the Friday morning devotionals each week, William Hodge who does the Tuesday Bible Study, Martin Jacobsen who does the Wednesday Bible study, Haskell First Baptist WMU who come each third Tuesday of the month for a devotional and singing, Rule First United Methodist UMW and their pastor, David Hestand, who come each third Tuesday afternoon and present a program of singing and a short message, the Country Band, the Sweet Home Singers of Rule, and Maxine Grand who comes and plays the piano each Tuesday afternoon. We thank each of these for giving of their time to make our residents' lives a little brighter and more enjoyable. Anytime anyone would like to do any type of volunteer work or programs, just contact the activity director here at the home and I will schedule you on our monthly calendar.

We still have many of our residents' crafts for sale if any one would like to look at them, please come by. We have gotten a display case for our craft work and anyone who would like to contribute at least $10.00 to it, their name will be included on a plaque that will be put on the case when it is entirely paid for.

Anyone wishing to contribute any amount can contact Joan Meier here at Rice Springs.

Our thanks again go to all the visitors the past two weeks. Our out-of-county visitors were:

Visiting Willis Allison were Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Allison of Bowie.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox Middleton of Rising Star came to see her brother, John Earp. Mr. and Mrs. Max Brown of Abilene visited her mother, Beatrice Barnett.

HALF A LOAF IS BETTER THAN ONE-THIRD. Despite the overall 26-percent slash in U.S. foreign aid funds announced by the Reagan administration, Israel has been informed that its $2.2 billion aid package for the coming year will not be touched. U. S. aid to Israel in the past has totaled roughly one-third of all American foreign aid. But because of the budget cuts, this figure now rises to nearly 50 percent.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

I would like to feature the FFA (Future Farmers of America) and their activities in this column. The FFA consists of both boys and girls. Their program is a direct result of the classroom and shop program of the vocational agriculture department. The vocational ag and the FFA are ably led by Duane Gilly and Calvin Powers.

In the present series of columns, we have been dealing with the extracurricular activities. The FFA is a vital part of this program. One aspect of their extracurricular activities is stock shows. Each year these shows start with the Jones County Show in August. The Haskell County Fair is next in September followed by the West Texas Fair in October. Every other year, the FFA goes to the State Fair of Dallas. Some years a member will show an animal in the State Fair. This is the end of the Fall Season. The Spring season starts in January with the Haskell County Show. The Wichita San Antonio Show in February. Some years, a boy or girl will have stock with enough class to show at the Houston Show, also in February. The FFA'er who desires to participate in the show phase of livestock has a wide variety of choices. He can show lambs, swine, cattle, poultry, or rabbits. There are several classes and breeds to choose from in each of these areas. If one has never been to a stock show, one cannot appreciate the time and effort that goes into the training and grooming of a show animal or the level of intensity demonstrated by the youngsters in competition.

Another facet of the extracurricular program of the FFA is various skills contests. These start in the fall with the leadership contests. Among the contests included in this category are Junior and Senior Chapter Conducting, Junior and Senior skills teams, a quiz team, Farm Radio, and extemporaneous Public Speaking. In the Spring, the FFA has contests in Land Judging, Range and Pasture, Livestock Judging, Cotton Judging, Wool Grading, Dairy Cattle, Dairy Products, Plant I.D., Poultry, crops, meats, and Ag Mechanics. All these contests are directly connected to the curriculum taught in the classroom and shop. The winners in these Spring contests can advance from area to Regional to State. Unlike other competitive areas, there is no breakdown of schools according to size. We compete with Abilene Cooper and Midland Lee as well as Rule and Rochester. This makes the competition very rigorous. This past year every student in Vocational Ag participated in one of these contests with the exception of three who had other conflicts.

Another part of the extracurricular program is the degree program. The first degree a student may earn is the Greenhand Degree. He can then meet additional requirements and earn the Chapter Farmer Degree. A student vitally interested in agriculture can then meet some very stiff requirements and earn a State Farmer Degree. Incidentally, at this level, he or she can earn some very substantial scholarships. In our area where farming and agriculture related services are so important, many of our students are directing their training toward this area. These extracurricular activities serve as an excellent training grounds for these students.

WE HAVE pencil cups, stackable trays, book-ends, paper clip holders, stamp cubes and telephone files in matching colors. Haskell Free Press

Haskell County Happenings

Basic Sewing Classes Scheduled

A Basic Sewing Course will be taught by Lou Gilly, County Extension Agent-Home Economics beginning Tuesday, June 9 from 7:30 to 9:30. The meeting will be at the County Extension office on South Ave. D in Haskell. A fee of $2.00 will be charged to cover the cost of materials.

If you are interested in participating, contact the Extension office at 864-2546. The instructor needs an approximate number so she will have enough materials for those attending.

There will be 3 or 4 meetings following the first one to complete the course. The meeting days and times for the remainder of the sessions will be decided by the group at the first meeting.

This course is intended for those who have had little or no formal sewing training.

Guys & Dolls Partnership Scramble Set

A Guys and Dolls Partnership Scramble will be held Sunday, June 7th at Lake Creek Golf course, Munday. Tee off time is 1:30 p.m.

USDA Conservation Chief Calls for Commitment to Soil Protection

Farmers and ranchers have been called on by the nation's soil conservation chief to make a renewed commitment to the principles of resource conservation.

"The application of new and improved techniques of conservation in response to new farming methods is a never ending task," said Norman A. Berg, chief of USDA's Soil Conservation Service. "Continuously increasing demands are placed on our farmland today to produce food and fiber for expanding domestic and foreign markets."

Berg emphasizes the importance of producing the agricultural products the world needs without damaging the land through soil erosion. The answer, he said, is more conservation, including conservation tillage, terracing, and other soil and water management practices. He warned that soil losses in many areas today are critical.

Losses of 10 tons of soil per acre are not uncommon in the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District. And on some unprotected farms, as much as 20 tons of soil may be lost in a single season due to wind and water erosion. All-out production without regard to protecting the soil means excessive erosion. I am afraid we are, in effect, exporting our soil along with our wheat, grain sorghum, and cotton.

Berg feels that farmers should aim for the highest production consistent with the use of the soil on a sustained basis. "When our topsoil is gone, our capacity to produce goes with it," Berg said.

Farm Pond Safety Urged

With warm weather coming, a lot of people will be fishing and swimming in farm ponds.

Local landowners and operators should be careful to encourage people using their ponds to be careful to take care of themselves.

People using ponds should not swim alone and not get too near the water if they are unable to swim. The partner system with each swimmer keeping an eye on the other, is one proven safety device.

Some people think that if they are just using a pond for fishing, they can't get in trouble. But it's mighty easy to find yourself in the water if you get too close to the bank. This is particularly true for young people.

Youngsters should be accompanied by adults whenever they are near a pond.

Texas has several farm pond drownings each year, all of which are preventable.

About 800 ponds have been built in the local Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District with technical assistance from SCS.

Proper Lawn Care Saves Time, Energy, And Money

Energy-conscious homeowners can take steps to reduce the energy demands of lawn care without lowering lawn standards.

"While lawns offer many aesthetic and recreational benefits, these may be offset by energy requirements of lawn care," says Dr. Richard Doble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Mowing, watering, fertilizing, controlling pests and disposing of leaf clippings are all energy-consuming requirements of lawn care. During spring and summer months, watering the lawn and collecting and disposing of grass clippings place a heavy burden on cities for these services. Grass clippings account for more than 30 percent of total trash collections in some cities during spring and early summer," notes Doble.

He offers several lawn maintenance practices to help homeowners reduce these energy demands. Reducing fertilizer applications to maintenance levels—2 to 3 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn per year—will go a long way toward reducing energy demands. (That's 20 pounds of a fertilizer containing 10 percent nitrogen.) Applying only maintenance levels of nitrogen to lawns can reduce mowing requirements, water use, insect and disease problems, and grass clippings.

"Excessive fertilization is the single most important factor contributing to high energy demands for lawn care," contends Doble.

Other lawn care practices to reduce energy demands include returning or composting grass clippings. Using a mulching mower can be beneficial if grass clippings are not composted, says the specialist.

Also, adopting proper watering practices to reduce water use can save energy.

Reducing pesticide use to only essential applications to prevent loss of turf is another energy-saving practice.

Doble advises new homeowners to select and plant adapted, low-maintenance turf-grasses to reduce energy demands. Centipedegrass is ideally suited to East Texas while buffalograss is adapted to much of West and North Texas. Both of these grasses have low maintenance requirements, yet provide a satisfactory turf cover for lawns.

In some situations ground covers such as Asiatic jasmine, English ivy or Liriope can reduce maintenance requirements effectively without sacrificing the benefits of a plant cover. In heavily shaded areas and on steep slopes, use these ground covers in place of grasses, suggests the specialist.

"It is possible to enjoy the luxury of an attractive lawn and landscape," contends Doble, "without excessive energy requirements. In fact, the net energy balance for a lawn can be in favor of energy conservation."

Public Notice

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISCHARGE PERMIT RENEWAL City of Haskell, P. O. Box 783, Haskell, Texas 79521 has applied to the Texas Department of Water Resources for a renewal of Permit No. 10728-01 which authorizes a discharge of treated domestic sewage effluent at a volume not to exceed an average flow of 500,000 gallons per day from the treatment facilities which are located approximately one mile south of U.S. Highway 380 and 1,000 feet east of U.S. 277 in Haskell County, Texas. 23c

The treated domestic sewage effluent is discharged into Rice Spring Branch, thence to Mule Creek, thence to Lake Stamford in the Brazos River. The permit, if renewed by the Commission, will specify conditions and limitations generally the same as those currently enforced by the existing permit. The expiration date of the existing permit is September 24, 1981. It is proposed that the expiration date be specified as midnight, five years after date of Commission approval. 23c

LEGAL AUTHORITY: Section 26.028 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, and Chapter 25 of the Rules of the Texas Department of Water Resources. 23c

No public hearing will be held on this application unless an affected person who has received notice of the application has requested a public hearing. Any such request for a public hearing shall be in writing and contain (1) the name, mailing address, and phone number of the person making the request; and (2) a brief description of how the requester, or persons represented by the requester, would be adversely affected by the granting of the application. If the Commission determines that the request sets out an issue which is relevant to the waste discharge permit decision, or that a public hearing would serve the public interest, the Commission shall conduct a public hearing, after the issuance of proper and timely notice of the hearing. If no sufficient request for hearing is received within 45 days of the date of publication of the notice concerning the application, the permit will be submitted to the Commission for final decision on the application. 23c

Requests for a public hearing and/or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing to Larry R. Soward, Assistant Chief Hearings Examiner, Texas Water Commission, P. O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. Telephone (512) 475-1311. Issued this 19th day of May, 1981.
