The Rev. Mike McKinney, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Willow Cemetery directed by Holden-McCauley Funeral Home.

Pierson served in various positions at Haskell National Bank for 47 years. In 1947, he was named president, a position he retained until 1967.

A lifelong Haskell resident, he also was very active in the First Baptist Church, where he was a member of the deacon board for many years and taught the Ready Sunday School class. Pierson also was a former executive member of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Pierson also was a former president of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce, and a charter member of the Haskell Lions Club where he held the position of president twice. He was also a member of the Haskell Masonic Lodge.

He was a leader in farm organizations, working toward the improvements in farm and ranch methods which have paid off so handsomely in recent years for Haskell County.

He worked with the local fair association, in Scout efforts, for the Polio Foundation, the March of Dimes and the Red Cross. He helped underwrite sports programs and other efforts in behalf of Haskell youth.

He assisted on various Haskell efforts to solve its water problems. He also served on the city council.

He was active in professional circles, serving as chairman of the 7th District Texas Bankers Association, an area that stretches from Fort Worth to El Paso.

He served as a trustee for Hendrick Medical Center for many years.

Pierson was born Sept. 18, 1895, in Haskell, and married Cora Killingsworth April 22, 1917, in Dallas. She preceded him in death April 15, 1981.

A son, Alfred C. Pierson Jr., also preceded him in death in 1945 at the age of 17.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. James A. (Louise) Isbell of Haskell; a grandson, James C. Isbell of Keller; a sister, Mrs. Oliver (Ruth) Cunningham; and two great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Buster Gholson, Milton Christian, Felton Everett, Gentry Middleton, Charles Gibson, and Bud Herren.

Honorary pallbearers were the board of deacons for the First Baptist Church and members of the Ready Sunday School class.

1981 Comparison Reports Show Largest Increase In School Property Taxes

The largest increase in school property taxes in history was adopted by school trustees last year, according to the report Bench Marks for 1981-82 School District Budgets in Texas published by the Texas Research League.

Tax bills mailed by the 1,070 school districts in Texas totaled almost $2½ billion—a whopping $393 million increase over the previous year. Statewide the increase was 18.8 percent.

The increase for Haskell ISD was 36.2 percent.

Last fall school districts adopted budgets for 1980-81 calling for spending averaging $1,928.95 per student for current operations. Haskell's budget called for $1,552.85 per student based on the 716 students in average daily attendance in 1979-80.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by Haskell ISD in 1979-80 was $13,230 which was 3.5 percent above the minimum salary prescribed by the state. The average among all school districts in Texas was $14,101 per classroom teacher, or 13.7 percent over the minimum.

There was an average of one teacher for each 15.4 students in Haskell ISD, as compared to a statewide pupil-teacher ratio of one to 16.5.

School districts are permitted to levy local property taxes above the local share of the Foundation

School Program and to use the proceeds to "enrich" the program prescribed by the legislature. In 1980-81 the average school district levied property taxes five times the amount required for the Foundation Program and used the funds to enrich the program by an additional $695 per student. Enrichment from local taxes in Haskell ISD was $606 per student.

School districts must adopt new budgets for the 1981-82 fiscal year which begins September 1st. The tax assessor must calculate a tax rate that would produce the same revenue that was levied last year. If trustees anticipate adopting a rate that is more than three percent greater, a quarter-page notice must be published and a series of public hearings on the tax rate must be held.

Farmers Union County Convention Set July 23

The annual County convention of Haskell County Farmers Union will be held at the Haskell Steak House Thursday night, July 23. The meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m. Officers for the coming year will be elected, and committees will be formed to carry on the functions of the County organization. Retiring officers are: President, Kenneth Sanders; Vice-president, Hollis Callaway; and Secretary-Treasurer, Jack Dunnam.

The meeting will be a dutch treat supper, and all County Farmers Union members are urged to attend. Several invited guests are expected to attend, including Mark Moran West Texas Field Representative of Lubbock, Steve Carriker, Dist. 3 Director of Roby, and others.

National Farmers Union is a family farmer organization, dedicated to and backing the family farm concept, dedicated to the preservation of democratic government and efficient agriculture. Farm families tilling their own soil are essential to these ends.

Sheets Attends Fire School

Howard Sheets, Sr. of Rochester, a volunteer fireman with the Rochester Volunteer Fire Department, is attending the 1981 Texas Firemen's Training School, July 19-24, at Texas A&M University.

Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies and the Haskell County Farm Bureau jointly sponsored the fireman to the school. There were several firemen sponsored by Farm Bureau statewide.

During the school, Howard studied modern firefighting techniques and disaster operations, along with fire prevention procedures.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

The home of Don Hagle, corner of Elm and 7th Streets in Rule, was a total loss from a fire that started around 1 a.m. Friday, July 17. A spokesman from the Rule Fire Department said that he figured that the house was a total loss, but no dollar value was mentioned. The Hagle family was not home at the time of the fire.

Burson, Ziebell Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

David Bruce Burson and Shelley Webb Ziebell were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony July 11, 1981 by the Rev. Sam Estes in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of Lubbock. The couple repeated their vows before an altar decorated with candelabras and greenery. Musical selections were by Dick Tolley, TTU Instructor, on the trumpet, which included his own "Trumpet Tunes" and "Meditations", along with the "Trumpet Voluntaire", accompanied on the organ by Julie Wyrick. As the couple knelt in prayer, the musicians played "The Lord's Prayer". The bride, given in marriage by her mother and Step-dad, wore a white gown of organdy and Alencon and Bristol laces designed by Priscilla of Boston. The highrise bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline and was adorned in re-embroidered Alencon lace with an oval design formed by the lace in the front of the bodice. The gown featured long tapered sleeves of re-embroidered lace. The empire waist fell to a sheer organdy skirt over a taffeta underskirt and featured Alencon and Bristol lace appliques down the front of the skirt with the lace forming Cameo designs throughout the appliques. The lace hem encircled the skirt and extended around the train. The fingertip veil was of the same sheer organdy and re-embroidered laces of Alencon and Bristol completely around. She carried a bouquet of silk mums, baby carnations, and sweet peas cascaded in her chosen colors of pinks and burgandy. Vicky Nustra, of Chicago, Illinois, sister of the bride, served as Matron of Honor. Sandra Ziebell, of Lubbock, also sister of the bride, and Karen Bray of Cameron were bridesmaids. Each wore identical long dresses of mauve silk Quina with sheer jackets with cap sleeves accented with re-embroidered lace of Alencon and Bristol around the high neckline. They carried bouquets of silk mums, baby carnations, and sweet peas, all arranged in the bride's chosen colors. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo of all white. The jacket featured the formal short cut with long tails and cummerbun, with white shirt. His boutonniere of a single burgandy rose with baby's breath accented his otherwise total white ensemble. Daryl Anderson, of Lubbock served as best man. Daniel Holmes and Steve McMahan, of Lubbock served as groomsmen and ushers. They wore identical tuxedos of silver grey with white shirts and burgandy carnation boutonniere. Joni Burson Speegle, of Dallas, and sister of the groom registered guests at the ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stroup of Lake Ransom Canyon, Slaton and Mr. and Mrs. Travis T. Burson of Lubbock. The bride is a graduate of Cornado High School and Texas Tech University. The groom is a graduate of Cornado High School and Lubbock Christian College School of Trades, in Lubbock. After a 2-week wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Lubbock. Out of town guests included the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S.W. Kelso and Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Tidwell, all of Haskell.

Norwood, Burba Vows Read In Wellington

The sanctuary of First Baptist Church in Wellington was the setting for the wedding of Miss Betty Lanette Burba and Lyndel Norwood, both of Amarillo, on Saturday, July 11, at two in the afternoon. The Reverend Stanley Hughes, pastor, officiated.

MRS. LYNDEL NORWOOD
...formerly Betty Lanette Burba

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Burba of Wellington, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Norwood of Rule.

An arch covered with foliage and candelabras decorated the altar. Candle trees were on each side. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Truman Estes, organist, and Mrs. Karen Norwood of Canyon, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was the vocalist.

Mr. Burba gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore a formal gown of white knit material, designed with a bodice which had a Queen Anne neckline and empire waist trimmed with lace. Long full sleeves were cuffed at the wrist, and fullness of the skirt. Her silk illusion veil was fingertip length and enhanced with lace edging attached to a lace cap. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and yellow roses.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Gary Wischkaemper, matron of honor. Her yellow sheer dress featured a bodice with a scoop neck, and a gathered skirt that was floor length. Her flowers were an arrangement of white daisies.

Carl Norwood of Rule was his son's best man. Ushers were Ricky Norwood of Canyon, brother of the bridegroom, Robert Burba and Richard Burba of Wellington, brothers of the bride.

Debbie Norwood of Rule, also a sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Burba entertained with a reception in the fellowship hall to honor the couple.

A silver candelabra and an arrangement of white and yellow daisies centered the lace-covered bride's table. Mrs. Rita Tarr and Miss Linda Whipple, both of Amarillo, presided at the table.

The bride, a graduate of Wellington High School, received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from West Texas State University at Canyon and is a certified professional secretary. She is employed by the law firm of Fallwell & Associates in Amarillo.

The bridegroom, who graduated from Rule High School, received a Bachelor of Science from WTSU, and is employed as coach by River Road Independent School District of Amarillo.

Upon returning from their wedding trip to Colorado Springs, the couple will live in Amarillo.

BRUSH and PALETTE

There are many schools of thought on the subject of art; to study with a teacher, or 'just do my own thing', to copy or not to copy, to sell or not to sell. There is no pat answer to any of these questions. Some time in this column, I would like to discuss opinions on these subjects. This week—to study?

Study, by all means, if not for the learning, for becoming proficient with a brush, knife, needle or whatever your tools might be. You will learn something from each teacher. Each has new methods, shortcuts and techniques that you might never discover yourself. There are not enough years in a lifetime to experiment and learn all the things possible in the art field. Not only should we study but new ideas seem to germinate in a class where each student inspires the other. Your studies will help you become knowledgeable so you will be able to create and design your own compositions. The subject of copying is too lengthy for this week, but I promise later.

Questions to ask before starting to paint...

1. What is it I am painting? What areas are in it?

2. What is it made of? Mountains, buildings or people, etc.

3. In what space or area in the painting is the subject? 4. What conditions are acting upon it to alter it? Mist, cloudy shadows, season of the year, morning or evening light, etc.

SKIES:
1. There is usually a hint of blue in any sky. Not always, however.

2. Sunset skies have stronger yellows.

3. Sunrise skies have stronger pinks.

4. When there is a lot of color in the sky, the ground objects should be 'played down' or silhouetted.

TREE TRUNKS: Not Brown!!! but are warm gray-black with some brown in them. Branches are never "S" shaped. They are angular. Some branches in the sky appear in silhouette. SEE the tree, trunk, limbs, branches and forms of leaves.

SYMBOLS:
Oak and China Berry Trees—have "Y" branches. Mesquite and Aspen Trees—have elongated "Y" branches.

Popular Trees—have "L" formed branches. Willow Trees—skirmy "Y" upside-down branches. Reflected light on the tree trunk can be green. Use blue and white textured effect for reflected light on dark cool side of the tree. At the bottom of the tree, put earth reflected light, using dominate earth color.

ROCKS: Earth colors + shadow sunlight + local color + white. If sky is blue, put blue on top of rocks for reflection; place a cast shadow to anchor rocks (grass color + earth color + shadow color).

HINT: Robert Henri said, "An art student must be a master from the beginning. By being master now of such as he has, there is promise that he will be master in the future."

Write your questions and hints to me, Faye Schnuriger, P.O. Box 134, Haskell, Texas, 79521. I will not use your name but do want you to sign your letters.

Smaller Cars Cause Problems For Handicapped

Smaller cars make it increasingly difficult for people in wheelchairs to drive and ride in automobiles, says an engineer with the Texas Transportation Institute (TTI).

Some 100,000 to 200,000 disabled persons are capable of operating vehicles with adaptive equipment, but most are being held back because development of adequate equipment has been slow and devices are expensive, said Dr. Rodger J. Koppa, head of TTI's Human Factors Division.

Koppa said small cars make it much harder for a wheelchair user to get in the car and take the wheelchair along.

The TTI engineer says that development of a special purpose body on a front-wheel drive vehicle that incorporates a wheelchair and driver entry as integral parts of the design is needed. Development of a better driver restraint, which provides stability at the controls and crash protection, is also a necessity.

TTI is a part of the Texas A&M University System.

Booklet Available On Cancer

Sometimes it seems almost everything you eat, drink or breathe causes cancer. Actually, very few substances are cancer-causing. To help explain how the causes are identified, the Department of Health and Human Services has a booklet called "Everything Doesn't Cause Cancer". For your copy, write to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 580J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Human cancers don't usually appear until 5 to 40 years of exposure. Cancers of the liver, lung, or bladder, for example, may not show up until 30 years after a person is exposed to vinyl chloride, asbestos, or benzidine. This long latent period is one reason why it is so difficult to know what causes human cancer. There is no one cause of cancer. Cancer is actually many different diseases with many causes. Most human cancers probably are caused in part by the environment, from man-made and natural chemicals found in the air, water, food and the workplace. X-rays, sunlight, and certain viruses are also carcinogens, that is, "cancer-causing agents." Sometimes, you are exposed to cancer-causing agents from your own actions, such as by smoking or by eating habits. Not every chemical causes cancer, but it's hard to identify which agents are the culprits, since suspected chemicals are tested on laboratory animals, not people, and high doses are often used. But when direct human exposure to cancer-causing substances occurs, exposed populations are studied. For example, we know that people exposed to tobacco smoke or asbestos develop a higher frequency of lung cancer than others. Scientists have identified about 30 agents that cause cancer in humans. Many people ask whether high doses of any chemical would cause cancer. The answer is no. High doses of many chemicals are poisonous, but they do not generally cause tumors. There might be other effects of toxicity, such as loss of hair or weight, various organ malfunctions, or even death, but not cancer. When people are exposed to several carcinogens at the same time, the resulting cancer rate may be higher than the risk of one added to the other. For example, cigarette smoking and asbestos exposure, are both carcinogens. But, asbestos workers who smoke have a higher cancer risk than one might predict by adding the risk of smoking to the risk of asbestos. When you order "Everything Doesn't Cause Cancer," (free), you will also receive a free copy of the "Consumer Information Catalog". Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog lists over 200 selected free and low-cost federal consumer booklets.

Special Care Needed In Cooking Pork

Most people know that pork should be cooked until it is well done to prevent the chance of trichinosis. The U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends that pork reach a uniform internal temperature of 170 degrees Fahrenheit before serving. But, according to preliminary studies from USDA, pork cooked in microwave ovens may not reach that temperature unless you take special care. Microwave ovens cook by exciting water molecules in the food. But since water is not evenly distributed throughout pork, the meat may not cook evenly. In addition, the bone and fat in pork may block microwaves from reaching part of the meat. And, some microwave ovens have uneven energy distribution.

As a result, there could be cool spots in the center of the meat or near the bone where the micro-organisms that cause trichinosis and food poisoning could still be active. And that could mean you or your family might get sick. So if you use a microwave oven for cooking, follow this advice to make sure the pork is well done: First, follow the manufacturer's recommendations for cooking time. Second, rotate the dish containing the meat several times during cooking. Third, after the meat has cooked for the recommended time, let it sit for five to fifteen minutes to assure an even temperature. To help this process along, wrap the pork in aluminum foil. Finally, after the pork has

USDA Soil Conservation Service

Conservation Viewpoints

To promote the wise and judicious use of soil, water and related renewable natural resources in Haskell County, R.V. Earles, chairman of the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District announced the support and assistance of Texas born and raised singer-songwriter-actor, Mac Davis.

"Mac's concern for the conservation of this states renewable natural resources has recently caused him to lend his talents in narration and music through recorded radio public service spots to the need for conserving these resources," added Earles.

"Mac's interest in assisting Texas soil and water conservation districts promote a strong conservation ethic stems from the fact that he is personally acquainted with our problems. As a youngster growing up in Lubbock he saw what devastating high winds and hard driving rains can do to the land," said Mr. Earles. The entertainer has expressed his interest this way. "When I was growing up in Lubbock it seemed like we had a sandstorm everyday. My daddy had a little motel and it was my sister's job and mine to haul the sand out of the flower beds. We'd fill a wheelbarrow and dump it on a vacant lot across the street. The next day the sand would blow back and we'd have to do it all over again."

In response to a question relative to the economics of conservation and the fact that the costs of soil and water conservation measures are difficult to recover in the market place Mac said, "I don't care whether a person lives in a city or on a farm. People depend on the land. So we all ought to be willing to share in the cost of conserving it and still leave room for the farmer and cattleman to make a decent profit in the same way as anybody on the street has to do."

"Due to an expanding population our soil, water and other resources are becoming a shrinking resource base. It comes down to the old eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth concept. If we take from the land, we need to understand that we are going to have to give something back to what we took from," said Davis.

Mac is also supportive of conservation problems being solved at the local level. "I have always believed that local people should take care of their own problems. Of course if they need help from state or federal sources, then they ought to be able to get it. But I think people, no matter where they live, resent having state or federal bureaucracies dictate how to resolve a local concern."

Commenting on Mac's interest in assisting Texas SWCDs with a conservation public awareness program Earles said, "We appreciate what Mac is doing because he is expressing the point that it's time for us to become involved and take stock of our available soil, water and other renewable resources and start thinking about the future."

"Many conservation measures to protect the land have become cost prohibitive today. Farmers—like other people—produce to survive, but in the process they face a dilemma of conscience in deciding where and when to practice conservation. They have to pay their debts and they have to support their families. When existing economic conditions leave them with no choice but to tolerate a declining productivity of their land, then we all will inevitably suffer with them," concluded Mr. Earles.

Mikeanna Wilcox Attends Citizenship Shortcourse

Nearly 5,000 teenage 4-H members from 44 states will participate this summer in week-long sessions of the Citizenship-Washington Focus Program at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C. The program begins May 31 and continues through August 8.

These young people will study individual citizenship responsibilities, our national heritage and system of government, points out Lou Gilly, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Special emphasis will be placed on leadership skills related to economics, jobs and careers; international interdependence; health, food and agriculture; and conservation and use of natural resources and community citizenship.

Using the nation's capitol as a classroom, the program includes a day on Capitol Hill to meet with members of Congress and see government in action, visits to federal agencies and national organizations, and field trips to historical and cultural sites.

Intensive seminars focus on how skills and knowledge gained can be applied to 4-H programs in local communities.

Citizenship-Washington Focus is conducted by the National 4-H Council in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service of state land-grant universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In Texas, this program is conducted through the Texas Agricultural Extension service.

Texas 4-H'ers will depart by bus on July 28 and will return on August 11, seeing a large part of America along the way. This is called the 4-H Citizenship Shortcourse and Heritage Tour. Mikeanna Wilcox of Rule will be attending from Haskell County.

For more information on this and other 4-H programs, contact your county Extension office, adds Mrs. Gilly.

The word "balk" comes from the Anglo-Saxon balca, a wooden beam, referring to the huge timbers that were used to bar doors, thus balking an enemy's onslaught.

Changes Made In Fishing Licenses

The Texas Legislature in its recent session made several changes in sport fishing licenses, including a 50-cent price increase for the resident one-year fishing license.

The resident license increase raises the price from $4.50 to $5, effective for the 1981-82 license year. All annual fishing licenses expire at the end of each fiscal year, Aug. 31, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said.

The resident combination hunting and fishing license remained unchanged at $8.75, and no hunting license fees were altered.

The legislation also raised the fee for the annual nonresident fishing license from $10.50 to $15. It abolished the $1.25 three-day saltwater sport fishing license.

In its place is a temporary (14-day) resident sport fishing license costing $2.50; nonresidents may obtain a temporary (five-day) nonresident fishing license priced at $4.50. Both licenses are valid for salt and freshwater fishing.

Fishing and hunting licenses may be purchased at Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offices across the state and at tackle shops and sporting goods stores. The 1981-82 licenses are expected to be available at most outlets by mid-August, the department said.

Prospective purchasers of the new temporary 14-day resident sport fishing license are reminded that while they may be able to purchase the license before Sept. 1, the license will not be in effect until after that date.

WTCC Encourages Gasahol Production

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has requested Texas Governor Bill Clements to extend the call for the special session of the legislature to include consideration of legislation that would encourage the development of gasahol production facilities in West Texas.

Acting on recommendations from the High Plains area of Texas, the West Texas Chamber's Executive Committee Meeting in Abilene voted unanimously to request the governor to allow the state legislature to consider legislation to encourage gasahol production. WTCC State Affairs Chairman, John Skaggs, indicated that the proposed legislation would include exemption from the state gasoline sales tax for a limited time. "This is necessary," Skaggs said, "to encourage construction of facilities and to encourage investment."

Besides making available an alternative energy source, alcohol production would have a positive effect on the state's agricultural industry through the utilization of grain and other agri-products as feed stock.

Students Attend Citizenship Seminar

Monty Moeller, Haskell; Mikeanna Wilcox, Rule; and Randall Frierson, Haskell; are attending the Texas Farm Bureau High School Citizenship Seminar this week at Baylor University in Waco.

Students who attend the seminar and are members of Farm Bureau families will be eligible to enter the TFB Free Enterprise Speech Contest this year if they wish.

Two speech contestants from each of the 13 TFB districts will be selected to compete in the state finals at the TFB annual meeting November 29-December 2 in Corpus Christi. A state winner and three runnersup will be chosen to receive an expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C. and Williamsburg, Va., next April.

The purpose of the seminar is to convey to the students a better understanding of the American heritage and capitalistic private enterprise system, thereby developing "better informed citizens." Ultimate goal of the program is to cause the students to share this knowledge with others.

Welding Seminar Set July 27-28

A free seminar, entitled "An Introduction to Welding", will be held on the campus of Texas State Technical Institute July 27 and 28. The seminar is designed for persons interested in welding who have little or no welding experience; farmers, ranchers and mechanics who occasionally use welding in conjunction with their work and also for professional welders who would like to see and try out some of the latest in welding equipment or refresh themselves on various welding processes.

The first session will be held Monday evening, the 27th and will feature general presentations on electric welding and on safety in welding and cutting. The first session Tuesday morning will feature submerged arc, stick and innershield welding with the Lincoln DC-600 welder, and the afternoon session will cover MIG and TIG welding equipment demonstrations as well as a demonstration of the Pak 5 Plasma Cutting equipment.

Highlighted during the afternoon session will be the new SP200 MIG spot, stitch and seam welder. According to James Payne, chairman of TSTI-Sweetwater's welding programs, the SP200 should be a very usable piece of equipment to tradesmen and farmers and mechanics because it performs a variety of tasks but only requires single phase electricity, much like a household clothes dryer.

The sessions are free and are open to the general public. Persons may attend any of the three sessions or all of them if they so desire.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the TSTI Welding Department or by calling West Welding Supply.

NRA Warns Of Possible Gun Law Violations

National Rifle Association officials said today that the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms has been "negligent in its public duty" by failing to inform citizens about possible federal felony violations stemming from the purchase of "Auto Sear" -- small gun parts which can convert certain semi-automatic rifles into machineguns.

Neal Knox, executive director of the NRA Institute for Legislative Action, accused the BATF of allowing "the indiscriminate sale of 'Auto Sear,' while offering the public no warning about the parts' legality, in order to create an area of criminal activity."

The Bureau, which has jurisdiction over federal firearms statutes, has allowed "Auto Sear" to be sold through the mail for over two years with no federal restrictions.

The agency has maintained that the parts themselves are not illegal to own or possess, but that a federal violation occurs when someone actually converts a semi-automatic rifle into one which can fire automatically.

Hence, thousands of people may have legally purchased the "Auto Sear," not knowing that actually installing the parts on their rifles is a federal felony.

"BATF has allowed these parts to be sold and then agents can go out and arrest someone for possession of a machinegun. Seizure of machineguns always sounds good when the BATF is justifying its appropriations requests before Congress," Knox said.

Knox also said that it would not surprise him if the BATF reclassified the "Auto Sear," making them illegal merely to own or possess.

"BATF agents could then go out and confiscate them from private citizens just as they did the MAC-10 machinegun parts kits last year," Knox said. "It would be more make-work for BATF agents, creating crime to stop a crime."

In 1980 BATF was involved in a similar situation with parts for MAC-10 machineguns. BATF gave two Georgia firms permission to sell cut-up parts to the MAC-10 machinegun, but later rescinded the permission and reclassified the parts when it was discovered that they could be restored to automatic firing capability. The agency then proceeded to confiscate the parts from people who had bought them.

MAC-10 machineguns, which saw use in drug-related gang wars in Miami last year, were at the time cited by Treasury officials as evidence that more stringent gun laws were needed in the United States.

NRA's Knox disputed this, noting that "since 1935 machineguns have been so strictly regulated that they are almost outlawed for private ownership."

"The amazing thing," Knox said, "is that in 1980 BATF officials decried the availability of MAC-10 machineguns when many of the parts kits were initially made available because of the agency's own actions. If there's a crime problem with 'Auto Sear,' I can only wonder why the BATF didn't take steps to stop commerce in the parts two years ago."

At an April 17, 1980 Appropriations Subcommittee hearing, U.S. Senator James McClure (R-ID) questioned BATF officials about the sale of "Auto Sear" and the parts' legality.

BATF Director G.R. Dickerson, and his superior, then Assistant Treasury Secretary Richard Davis, refused to comment on whether or not the agency was conducting any criminal investigation into the sale of "Auto Sear."

At the hearing Senator McClure cautioned BATF officials that "as a federal agency BATF bore a certain responsibility to make sure that citizens didn't inadvertently place themselves in violation of the law."

Letters To The Editor

(EDITORS NOTE: The Haskell Free Press will publish letters to the Editor dealing with any subject. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld by request. All letters are subject to editing for length and liability.)

Dear Editor,

Several young couples in the Weinert community have realized the need for a child care facility in our town and have banded together to start one.

Because this will be a non-profit facility we will have to rely on as many donated items as possible. Among the items needed are a used refrigerator, small table and chairs, rocking chairs, couch and chair, baby beds, unbreakable dishes, toys and puzzles, toy box, chalkboard, dressers, cabinets, cash donations, first aid supplies, air conditioners, clean rags, blankets, baby items, a vacuum cleaner and carpet.

The child care center will be housed in the old agriculture building on the school grounds. We feel this facility will help foster the growth of our community and school.

Any and all donations will be greatly appreciated.

Persons wishing to donate items may contact us at 673-4191 or 673-2951.

Thank you,
Mary Murphy

Few Windfall Profit Tax Returns Received By IRS

The Internal Revenue Service said that very few Federal excise tax returns for crude oil windfall profit tax have been filed from persons who received income from producing oil wells in 1980.

District Director Richard Voskuil said that IRS had expected to receive several thousand Forms 720 from the northern Texas district. "They were due June 1, and we received less than a thousand," he said. "We suspect that many persons may not recognize the requirement for filing an annual excise tax return."

Essentially, taxpayers who did not have enough windfall profit tax withheld during 1980 should file Form 720, Quarterly Federal Excise Tax Return. He suggests that all royalty owners and oil companies, as well as estates, trusts, and other receiving income from producing wells, should review the requirements for filing the return.

To determine the under-withheld amount, subtract the total of the amounts entered on line 4, Part IV, from the total of the amounts entered on line 3, Part IV, of all Form(s) 6248. The amount should be reported on the line entitled Annual Return under Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax.

Taxpayers with questions about filing requirement may contact IRS. In Dallas call 742-2440; in Fort Worth 335-1370; elsewhere in Texas 1-800-492-4830.

Local Residents Take 10-Day Trip

The Nocona Fun Tours of Nocona sponsored another tour with Weldon Cowan, Chamber of Commerce Manager, as Tour Guide. There were forty-nine people making the 10-day tour including J.L. and Martha Toliver and Virgil and Margaret Wall of Haskell and Ruby Magee and Gladys Reed of Knox City.

The group reported a very interesting and enjoyable trip through twelve states and on into Manitoba Province in Canada. The tour started in Nocona and on through Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and through the International Peace Garden, across the Canadian Line and on to Winnipeg.

After spending two nights and one full day of sightseeing the group drove on through Teton National Park which was beautiful. On Sunday morning while the bus was traveling they had a religious service. The group sang several gospel songs, had special Harmonica music, testimonies and then the Bus Driver played a cassette tape of a good sermon. This was followed by a closing prayer.

Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bredthauer of Haskell had a hamburger supper for the following people at their cabin at Lake Stamford. They were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bredthauer of Rule, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bredthauer of Stamford, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bredthauer of Sagerton, Mr. and Mrs. Awald Bortz, Chris, Brenda of Houston. Historical Marker Erected

When the awful news of the fall of the Alamo on March 6, 1836, reached Texas, they knew the fearsome General Santa Anna would be marching east with plans to wipe out all remnants of Texan strength. General Sam Houston sent couriers to reassure the settlers, but the effort proved useless, especially with Houston and his tiny band of soldiers retreating, a delaying tactic to build and train a fighting force.

They came through South Dakota and visited Mount Rushmore and on through the Badlands of South Dakota. The tour took them through the corner of Nebraska, to Casper and Cheyenne, Wyoming. From there to Yellowstone National Park which covers a part of Wyoming and overlaps into Montana and Idaho.

That night they went to the Flying W Ranch for a Cowboy Bar-B-Que and Western Musical Program. They returned home by way of Amarillo, Wichita Falls and on to Nocona which completed the 4200 mile circle drive. The group said they rested each night and the beautiful sites and scenery were well worth the many miles they made.

Inspiration #5

Look at some unusual characteristics about the Bible's content.

1. It was written over 1680 years (1500 B.C.-100 A.D.)
2. It covers some 60 generations.
3. It was written by some 40+ authors from every walk of life. Kings, poets, statesmen, etc.
4. The authors wrote from different places. Moses in the wilderness, John on the isle of Patmos
5. It was written on three continents.
6. The authors wrote at different times. David in war, John in persecution.
7. They wrote in different moods. John in sorrow. David in joy.
8. The subject matter involves hundreds of controversial subjects. Yet, the authors wrote with complete agreement one with another.
