Bloodmobile To Visit Haskell Today

The Red Cross Regional Bloodmobile will be in Haskell, today, January 13 from 1 to 6 p.m. at First Baptist Church. Goal for the drive is 80 units and all area residents are asked to make plans to attend.

The Bloodmobile supplies the blood needs of Haskell Memorial Hospital and many other hospitals throughout this area. Blood needs are met only by volunteer donors who supply needed blood through the constant travels of the Bloodmobile.

Through a recent agreement with officials of the Blood Bank in Abilene, local donors can now donate replacement blood used in Abilene hospitals.

Haskell Blood Chairman Brian Burgess has issued a plea for local citizens to support the Bloodmobile. According to Burgess, Haskell has been short of the 80 unit goal during the past several visits of the Bloodmobile and concentrated effort is being made to reach or surpass the goal.

NEW PENS

The combined FFA classes of Haskell County schools spent much of Monday putting finishing touches on a complete set of portable pens for use during the Junior Livestock show and stock show during the County Fair. The classes built various parts of the pens at their respective schools and spent Monday assembling the pieces. The project was funded by donations.

"It's time when I do something unrelated to housework and farm work," a friend said to me the other day. One afternoon a week she lets her vacuuming and other chores wait and goes to a painting class she really enjoys. "It keeps me emotionally healthy," she said. Set aside some "me" time - every man, woman and child need this kind of time. I know you are juggling home and farm schedules, working as wife, mother, farm partner and church-goer - but set aside some time for "me". Unless you make a point to set this time aside, it is quickly eaten up by something else, right? Make a New Year's resolution to set aside some time to do something you'd really enjoy 'just for yourself'.

Q. Before you start a painting, do you have the image in mind?

A. Yes, and a thumb-nail sketch. This insures freshness and spontaneity on the canvas. I have a total conception or image of the landscape or still life that I plan to paint, including the basic colors I will use.

Q. What is a safe way to store paintings that have been removed from the stretchers?

The only safe way to transport or store paintings that have been removed from the stretchers is to place them between two sheets of pressed wood, masonite or fiberboard, making a sandwich, tie with a cord. When an old canvas is rolled it will possibly crack because of age, it has lost its elasticity.

Q. One art gallery told me that gouache was a French word for a certain kind of paint. Another said it was a kind of watercolor painting in which white paint was mixed with each color. Please clarify this definition.

A. An opaque water paint is used on pure rag paper and is called gouache (pronounced gwahsh). Some colors are imported yet others are domestic. You can use other water paints such as designer's colors, Chinese White watercolor and watercolors mixed with white. A gouache does not have the sparkle of transparent watercolor but does reflect some brilliance in a different way. A gouache painting is one done with opaque watercolor, or paints that have the same similar gum binders as watercolor.

Children Respond Differently To New Events In Their Lives

Young children respond to new events in their lives in ways that can't always be predicted, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

One city child may eagerly explore everything in sight on a visit to a farm. Another will find the animals strange and frightening, the sounds and smells unpleasant.

Much of this has to do with the feeling of security a child has in a particular situation. This in turn depends a great deal on how the new situation differs from what he knows and is used to.

If we could always see the world the way a child sees it, it would be easier to understand his behavior. Failing that, an understanding of how a great many children behave at a given age helps provide clues to a child's feelings and needs.

Children seem to do best with a certain combination of sameness and variety. First of all, there are some activities where a child demands a highly structured routine. He wants to do things the same way each time and he gets upset if the routine is changed even a little bit. This is most evident in bedtime and mealtime rituals.

Eating and sleeping satisfy a child's most basic physical needs. Adults have long since taken these for granted, but a child does not. He feels very keenly that they have to do with his well-being. As a result, they arouse strong emotional feelings for the child.

In eating and sleeping, predictability means security to a child. If his basic needs are always met the same way, he is able to face the world with much more confidence.

It's the same with ideas. After discovering that a toy car has wheels and can roll, a child spends some time making sure of this by rolling the car back and forth under his hand and giving it short pushes. Only later does he begin the variations, like rolling it on all kinds of new surfaces or letting it roll down an incline.

Once the basic idea is down pat, variations are interesting and a challenge for him. For best results, remember: not too much change, and not too fast!

For more information on the physical and social development of children up to the age of six, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95. Free samples available on request.

Varsity Boys Win District Opener

BY SHANE WELCH
The Haskell Indians coasted to a victory over the Seymour Panthers, 65-53 in the opening game of district play before a packed house here Friday night.

The Tribe's scoring attack was led by Jamey Davis with 17 followed by Patrick McCoy with 11. The Tribe jumped out to a 19-14 first quarter lead and never trailed during the game. Though they didn't play as well as they had in previous contests, they still dominated the game.

Earlier last week the Indians defeated a fiery Roby squad 66-60. The scoring attack was again led by Davis and McCoy with 23 and 14 points, respectively. Though Indians led throughout the game, they couldn't manage to put the Lions away.

During the Christmas holidays, the Indians racked up wins against Stamford and Knox City. Against the Stamford Bulldogs the Tribe appeared a little sluggish after the Christmas break but still dominated the game, 51-45.

The Indians bounced back and put on a scoring show in the Indian gym by defeating Knox City, 74-59. In this scoring drive the Indians had four players in double figures. Davis again led the Indians with 22 points followed by McCoy with 14 and Doug Lanier and Shane Hadaway with 12 apiece. The Indians are now 15-3, and 1-0 in district play, with their sights set on a district championship.

The Tribe hosted Rotan Tuesday, but scores were unavailable at press time. Friday's game will be in Munday against the Moguls who also won their district opener.

Jr. High Teams Play In O'Brien Tourney

BY ALBERT SHERMAN
The four junior high teams traveled to the O'Brien Tournament and brought home a first and two seconds.

The eighth grade boys defeated Munday 25-23 in the championship game to take first place. In the opening round they received a bye. Their season record is now 8-2.

The eighth grade girls came back to Haskell with the second place trophy. In the first round Guthrie forfeited which allowed Haskell to advance to the finals. They then lost to Knox City in a close battle 33-28. "The girls played well defensively" said Coach W.L. Holt.

The seventh grade boys opened the tourney with a convincing win over Guthrie 21-9. They came up just short in the championship game, losing to O'Brien 22-24. They therefore received the second place trophy.

"The team played hard and was very aggressive. They have continued to improve in

Freshman Girls Enjoy Winning Streak

BY GENA WHITAKER
The freshman girls basketball team is enjoying a winning season this year. Their single loss was given to them by Merkel.

The freshman girls played Stamford and won with ease 27-10. Denice Young and Tori McGee led in scoring with 14 and 7 points, respectively.

The freshman team will face Stamford in a rematch Jan. 17 seeking to improve their record.

8th Grade Girls Win Over Stamford

The eighth grade girls beat Stamford at home late Monday night 44-8.

Mindy Smith was high scorer with 10 points followed by Janie Villa with 8 points.

The Haskell team started the game with a hard full court press which kept Stamford from crossing midcourt until late in the first quarter.

each week of play," Coach Jim Dan Raughton said.

Though the seventh grade girls lost both of their games in the tournament, they probably were the two most exciting games. They lost the two games by a total of three points. The first game they defeated by Guthrie in overtime 16-14. In the second game they lost another close one to O'Brien, 22-21.

"The girls played good defense and good overall team play. Their shooting, however, needs work," Coach Jim Bob Mickler said.

Freshman Boys Defeat Stamford

The freshman Tribe defeated the Stamford Bulldogs convincingly 44-24. Leading the scoring barrage was Sammy Baker with 10, followed by Lance Hanson with eight.

The victory raised the team's record to 2-4. They will travel to Stamford next Monday to take on the Bulldogs again.

"We hope this win will turn things around and we will have a winning season," said freshman starter Tim Johnson.

TALKING ABOUT IRA's

A lot of people are making a lot of talk about Individual Retirement Accounts these days. They tell you how, if you are now age 30, you could be a millionaire by the time you retire. They talk about tax deductions and tax deferrals. And they're right.

But there's one question some financial houses don't say too much about—what happens when you retire, at age 60 or 65, and withdraw all that money from your IRA?

The answer is simple—you could get taxed on the whole amount, all at once, in the year it is received. And unless you take some quick action then to avoid it, that tax could chew a big chunk out of your retirement savings.

But you don't have to wait until you retire to solve that problem.

You can solve it today by establishing your IRA with a Travelers Individual Retirement Annuity. It can start paying you an income for life when you retire—automatically, by contract. No hassle of having to make investment decisions just when you should be sitting back and enjoying life. It's a plus many other IRA plans can't offer.

That's The Travelers IRA advantage. Give us a call. We'll be happy to give you all the details.

Excise Tax To Increase On Phone Bills

The federal excise tax on monthly telephone bills will increase during 1983 from 1 percent to 3 percent as the result of legislation passed by Congress in August 1982 to obtain new tax revenues.

The tax applies to local and long-distance service.

The tax legislation states the 3 percent tax will be collected for three years with elimination in 1986.

An excise tax on telephone service was first imposed by Congress during World War I as a "temporary" measure, according to the U.S. Independent Telephone Association. Although repealed briefly after the war, the tax was reinstated during the Depression. Rates have ranged as high as 25 percent on long-distance calls and 15 percent on local service.

The tax stood at 10 percent for almost 20 years. However in 1970, Congress voted to begin eliminating the tax by reducing it 1 percent per year beginning in 1973 and continuing through 1981. However, the Fiscal Year 1981 Budget Reconciliation Bill signed by former President Jimmy Carter in December 1980 contained a provision maintaining the excise tax at 2 percent during 1981.

The 1982 tax bill further postponed the phaseout by keeping the tax at 1 percent until Jan. 1, 1985. However, the August 1982 legislation raised the tax to 3 percent for the years 1983-85. The 3 percent tax is shown separately on the bill.

The tax revenues collected by telephone companies are forwarded to the federal government.

Governor-elect Mark White and Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby will be honored with "A Texas Celebration" marking their inauguration Tuesday, January 18, 1983.

White and Hobby will be sworn into office at high noon at the south entrance to the Capitol. Immediately following the swearing-in, White will go to the Governor's Mansion where he will cut locks from the door, symbolically opening the governor's mansion to the people of Texas. The public will then be invited inside the mansion.

A luncheon at the Capitol will also follow the ceremony. Highlighting the celebration will be two formal inaugural balls as well as an informal gala Tuesday night. Two formal celebrations are planned to allow the fullest access to all Texans participating in the inaugural ceremony.

The two formal balls will begin at 8 p.m.: the northern region of the state (including Austin, Dallas, Ft. Worth, East and West Texas will celebrate at Palmer Auditorium and the southern region (including Houston, San Antonio, the Gulf Coast and the Rio Grande Valley) will celebrate at the Frank Erwin Center.

The Bluebonnet Ball, an informal gala at the Austin Opera House, will begin the evening's festivities at 7 p.m.

Gov. and Mrs. White and Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Hobby will lead the Grand March of state officials to each of three celebrations over the course of the evening.

Also participating in the festivities will be more than a dozen college and high school bands and precision military units marching in the inaugural parade on Congress Avenue Tuesday afternoon.

Prior to the swearing in, Governor-elect and Mrs. White and Lt. Gov. and Mrs.

Hobby will host a breakfast at the Hyatt Regency hotel to honor campaign volunteers.

Following the volunteers' breakfast, ministers and laymen of all faiths will conduct a nondenominational service at the Hyde Park Baptist Church. To recognize the achievements of the Democratic party in Texas and to honor all elected state officials, the State Executive Committee is sponsoring a victory dinner Monday, January 17. Charley Pride will provide the entertainment for the evening. Tickets for the various events, except the Bluebonnet Ball, may be purchased no later than Wednesday, January 12. Tickets for the Bluebonnet Ball may be purchased at the door. The Inaugural Committee at 512/476-4000 can answer any questions regarding tickets.

TAX PLANNING

Written by James E. Rodgers, CPA

BAD DEBTS (What Tax Benefits?)

Sometimes business people are surprised when the IRS disallows their ordinary deduction for a bad debt. While a business bad debt is fully deductible as an ordinary deduction, a non-business debt is treated as a short-term capital loss and has only limited deductibility.

So, how can you tell the difference? First, try answering the two-part question below.

A) A stockholder lends money to his corporation, then the company goes bankrupt. Which kind of bad debt? Business? _____ or Non-Business? _____

B) Dad makes a loan to son so a new business can be set up. The new business fails and Junior can't repay dad. Business bad debt? _____ or Non-Business? _____

Each of these losses is a non-business bad debt and is accordingly deductible only as a short-term capital loss. As such, they are combined with other capital gains and losses for special treatment. If this is the only capital gain or loss transaction for the year, only $3,000 can be deducted. The excess, if any, is carried forward to later years for similar treatment.

A business bad debt is one that arises in connection with activities that are considered part of your trade or business, like unpaid charges for goods or services.

Since the stockholder in Case A was not in the business of making loans, his loss resulted from a bad investment and is therefore non-business in nature.

While the son, in Case B, may have had business bad losses from not being able to collect from his customers or clients in the new business, the one that dad suffered was non-business and therefore treated as a short-term capital loss.

You may want to know the tax consequences before you make a loan in the event you are not repaid.

The free trees, which are part of the Foundation's effort to promote tree planting throughout America, will be shipped at the appropriate time for planting this spring. trees, growing to 80-100 feet. Walnut hardwood is very valuable for making furniture and cabinets. The National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit organization, is working to improve the quality of life throughout the country by encouraging tree planting. The Foundation will give three free Walnut trees to new members contributing $10.00 or more during January. The trees will be three to four feet tall and will be sent postage paid with enclose planting instructions. They are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free by the Foundation. To become a member of the Foundation, and to receive the free trees, a $10.00 membership contribution should be sent to FREE WALNUT TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, Arbor Lodge 100, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by January 31, 1983. Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

Basketball is the dominant co-curricular activity at this time of year for public schools. The varsities began their district play last Friday. Haskell is cranking up a very successful basketball season. The varsity boys are leading the charge going into district play with a record of 14 wins and 3 losses. This is the best record of any Haskell boys varsity in several years. The varsity girls are 8-8 going into district. The JV boys are undefeated at this stage while the JV girls have won 2 and lost 4. Our freshmen, 8th and 7th grade teams all have good records and play exciting basketball. We are reaping the benefits of our outstanding Little Dribblers program. Our kids are coming into the school program with some knowledge of the basics of basketball. They are able to pass and catch a ball. They can dribble and know the rules of the game. They have some concepts of floor balance. I hope each of you can turn out and watch our teams in action this season. They are fun to watch. They hustle extremely hard and play with great intensity. Our junior high tournament is this weekend. This is the eighth season for this tournament. Down through the years, there have been many exciting games in this tournament. This will give you an opportunity to see the future Indians and Maidens in action.

Hightower Takes Office Planning To Fight

With a renewed commitment to fight for Texas farmers and ranchers, Jim Hightower has begun his job as State Agriculture Commissioner. To demonstrate that commitment, a Happy farmer was asked to administer the constitutional oath of office to Hightower. "Family farmers are hurting," Hightower said, "and I ran for this office so we can begin putting up a fight on their behalf. Every Texas-rural or urban, producer or consumer—has a stake in that fight. To symbolize my administration's commitment to the survival of our family farm system, I've asked a Panhandle farmer to swear me in today."

Last February, Levon and Cathy Jo Harman travelled to Austin from their wheat farm near Happy to pay Hightower's filing fee for the office. They gathered the 1,500 one-dollar bills from farmers across the state. Appropriately, the couple returned to Austin on New Year's Day where Ms. Harman, who also is a Notary Public, administered the oath of office to Hightower at high noon in the Commissioner's office. "Things are even worse for farmers now than they were 10 months ago, which means that we need Jim now more than ever," Ms. Harman said following the brief ceremony. "Jim is the most effective fighter the family farmers of Texas could have, and Levon and I are excited to be a part of this kick-off ceremony." Even before taking his oath of office, Hightower had travelled to Washington in December for a round of meetings with members of the Texas congressional delegation and with key agriculture leaders in Congress. "The Reagan Administration can invent all the rosy economic indicators it wants, but there is no New Year prosperity to be found out in the rural areas of Texas. I'm going to speak up for our farmers, whether the Reagan Administration likes it or not. I've been working with Governor-elect Mark White on plans to upgrade our Federal-State Relation Office in Washington so we can have a more effective voice on national agricultural policy," Hightower said after Ms. Harman administered him the oath of office. The ceremony took place at noon on New Year's Day in the Commissioner's office in the Stephen F. Austin State Office Building near the State Capitol. On hand were the Commissioner's parents, W.F. and Lillie Hightower of Denison, and a small group of staff member and close friends, including former Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, former land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and new State treasurer Ann Richards.

Worth Quoting

BY JAMES ROBERTS
Andrews County News
To us Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill represents everything that is wrong with this country. Leader of the liberal element of the national Democratic party, his white-thatched head has concocted, connived, and conceded to more hair-brained schemes to spend taxpayer's money on vote-getting programs than the late Hubert Humphrey. Tip O'Neill is typical of the old-line, ward-healing politician that for 35 years has believed that federal money can solve any problem, gloss over any errors of judgment, and re-elect any Democrat at the next election. His kind is responsible for this nation staggering under a federal debt that has already exceeded one trillion dollars and takes 12 cents out of every federal tax dollar just to keep even on the interest owed. The action by the leadership of the Democrat majority in the House of Representatives in kicking Congressman Phil Gramm of College Station off the House Budget Committee is a slap in the face not only to Gramm's Texas constituents, but to every voter in the nation. What Tip O'Neill, Majority Leader Jim Wright of Texas, and other Democratic leaders are saying to voters everywhere is that unless a district sends a "Monkey see, monkey do" congressman to Washington, there will be no choice committee assignments for that representative. It matters not to the leaders of the majority party in the House that Gramm represented his district ably and intelligently. It matters not that he voted in accord to the wishes of the majority of the people in his district. It matters not that he voted in what he thought was the best interest of the nation rather than the Democratic leadership. And because he exercised independent judgement, and voted more with President Reagan's program that he did with the Democrat leadership, he was stripped of his committee assignment. Now he has returned to Texas to resign as a Democrat and seek re-election as a Republican. Evidently, the Democratic leadership in the House is telling American voters everywhere to either elect a liberal that wants to keep on spending and taxing—or forget it. The Tip O'Neill's of Washington are trying to tell us that they know best what we want and need here in Texas. They're saying that there's no room in the Democratic party in Washington for new ideas, new approaches to federal problems, new economic thinking, new and different ways of removing the federal tax burden from the shoulders of disenchanted wage earners. The message is clear to those congressmen who dare to be different: "Come to Washington and forget what's best for your constituents, forget what's best for the national interest, forget the President's program. Follow our lead in simply passing out the goodies to those who'll re-elect us!" The attitude of the Tip O'Neill's and Jim Wright's of our Congress is similar to that of some of our major union labor leaders. Their thinking is fixed in concrete and dwells only on a pay increase for the next contract—an attitude that has priced their membership out of the marketplace—and out of jobs. We would hope that the bright stars of the last Congress—the Phil Gramm's, our congressman Kent Hance, the Stenholms, the Tom Leoffler's, and others—would not be intimidated by the action of the House Leadership. For the majority in this district and in Gramm's district, we need the Tip O'Neill's of this country about like we need federal judge Wayne Justice of Tyler. It ain't the kissing of the rear that's called for but the jamming of the hot poker.

"THERE'S ONE NEAR YOU"

New Year Is Good Time To Take Stock Of Health

With a new year at hand, this is a good time for families to "take stock" of health habits for all member. Good health habits are easy to establish and should be practiced all year long, reminds Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The most important reason for establishing healthy habits is to improve the quality of life, as well as its length," Shirer adds. Health experts suggest the following practices as a way to stay healthy:
1. Learn to manage stress and enjoy life more. Emotional and physical stresses should be handled daily. Outside interests and an exercise program help relieve stress.

2. Practice good nutrition--eat three balanced meals a day and try to reduce salt, saturated fat and sugar intake. The average adult consumes up to 100 pounds of sugar a year and high intakes can cause obesity, diabetes, heart disease and tooth decay.

Normal weight should also be maintained.
3. Get regular exercise and proper rest. Consistently walk, jog or do other exercises suitable to your individual needs. Get plenty of sleep in the winter because the body's defenses need to be a their peak, particularly during this season.
4. Avoid substance abuse like smoking and drinking excessive amounts of alcohol--neither is a safe or healthy habit.
5. Be sure immunizations are up-to-date, including booster shots.
6. Use seat belts when traveling--auto accidents are among the leading causes of death in Texas.

"Develop a sense of health awareness--learn basic first aid procedures and cardiopulmonary resuscitation. Practice good health habits every day for a happier and more fulfilled life for all family members," Shirer suggests.

Vet Medical Info Needed

According to C.H. Herren, Veterans Service Office for Haskell County, some persons in receipt of disability and death benefits from the Veterans Administration are failing to get additional payments which may be due. The reason they are not receiving these benefits is their failure to notify the VA of their medical costs and expenses which were paid during 1982.

Under current laws, the VA is authorized to use the medical expenses which were paid to reduce the countable income for the calendar year, thus making a person due a retroactive benefit for the entire year. This rule applies to all veterans, widows and children receiving VA pension under the new law which went into effect January 1, 1979, and to dependent parents of veterans whose deaths occurred during active duty or from a service-connected cause. Veterans, widows and children receiving benefits under one of the old pension laws in effect prior to January 1, 1979, will find the medical expenses have no effect on their benefits other than to possibly reduce countable income so as to remain under the income limitation. Those under the older laws receive monthly rates which will remain constant unless their countable annual income exceeds the limit set by law.

Many claimants age 72 years and older did not receive income cards this year. If their income changed during the year, or if they had medical expenses during the year, they should contact their Service Officer and complete VA Form 21-8416a. This form will show annual income and medical expenses, and may be used to re-evaluate pension eligibility for 1982. Anyone who has already returned their income card to the VA without medical expenses shown, may also use VA Form 21-8416a, to amend their income report.

Burglary occurs every two minutes in Texas, leaving behind losses that cannot be replaced. In Texas, burglary rings account for 245 million dollars worth of stolen goods annually, an average loss of 966 dollars per home.

Crime prevention is one answer to this growing problem. The simple act of locking one's home before leaving, reduces the chances of burglary by 20 percent. Asking your neighbor to pick up your newspaper when you are away from home and turning household lights on at intervals, can deter a prospective burglar. The Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is doing its part to see that those criminals who make their living by stealing from others are put where they belong -- behind bars.

For the month of January, 1983, Texas Crime Stoppers is focusing its statewide "Crime of the Month" program on burglary. Any citizen having information about burglary is asked to call the anti-crime hotline at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash reward are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of these criminals.

Our efforts to combat crime cannot succeed without active citizen involvement. Your support and participation in this program will be a formidable obstacle to any criminal.

Call 1-800-252-TIPS today to help shut down burglary rings in Texas.

Remains May Date Back To 7000 B.C.

The remains of the oldest known man in Texas and possibly North America have been discovered by archeologists at a burial site north of Austin.

Dr. Frank Weir, head of the archeology section of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT), is certain the skeletal remains are older than 7,000 B.C. Exact dating for the burial remains will have to await radio-carbon testing which will take about a month.

What is possibly more significant about the site is the abundance of artifacts that have been found to depths of 12 feet or more. Typical sites in Texas yield 3 to 7 artifacts such as dart points and scrapers but this site, in continuous use for at least 7,000 years, has already yielded over 100.

Dr. Dave Dibble, director of the Texas Archeological Survey based at the University of Texas at Austin, has termed it "the best Plainview site in the Western Hemisphere." Plainview is the term archeologists give to prehistoric artifacts of a certain type, generally the oldest in North America.

Another significant finding which the unusual quantity of artifacts yielded is that certain cultural groups thought previously to have existed in separate historic periods were found to have inhabited the site at the same time.

Dart points of the Gower and Angostura types were found mixed during an historic period tentatively estimated at 3,000-6,000 B.C. This finding leads Weir to conclude the site was cohabitated by the two groups. There also appears to be some cultural "borrowing" between the two groups of inhabitants as evidenced by certain dart point that exhibit a combination of techniques.

DHT archeologists are continuing to work at removing the skeletal remains. Since previous North American finds of this period have been of cremated bodies, the fact that the skeletal remains are intact means new data concerning physiological features of early North American man may be found.

Because the burial site is at the bottom of a very large excavation site, DHT's archeological team is working rapidly to remove the skeletal material before new rains flood the site.

It is said that we should expect a bad winter if birds begin eating up all the berries early.

Turtles live longer than any other backboned animal—about 120 to 150 years.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

With the beginning of the 98th Congress and the New Year it would be useful for our national leaders to consider resolutions to tackle the hard decisions facing our nation, our nation.

We should resolve to gain control of federal spending. This will require us to deal with so-called "uncontrollable" spending which calls for dispensing money to anyone who meets eligibility requirements without regard for total budgetary consideration. It is growth in this type of spending which has brought us to a fiscal crisis, and only action to control its growth will solve our problems.

We also should resolve to face the Social Security issue, to ensure the system remains sound and will continue to provide retirement income for those who have contributed during their working careers. This is the purpose for which Social Security was designed, and is its first responsibility.

As we begin our work for this Congress, we must resolve to maintain our program to rebuild our national defense capability, and not to be stampeded by short-term political considerations into failing to fulfill this obligation.

We must address our nation's economic problems. This will entail stimulating real economic growth in ways which will encourage the creation of new, long-term jobs in the private sector. At the same time, we must resolve to avoid yielding to the temptation to accept quick-fix temporary solutions which in the long run will only make our problems worse.

Finally, we must resolve to discipline ourselves to act in timely fashion on the legislation which faces us. Last month, we were forced to pass a continuing resolution to pay for most of the government's activities during the rest of the year because we failed to pass appropriations legislation by the end of the Congress.

But delaying passage of important spending bills until the 11th hour as did the last Congress is not a responsible way to govern. Certainly, it does not allow for the full consideration and deliberation we owe our constituents. In recent years, Congress more and more often has delayed, missed its self-imposed deadlines, and failed to pass the most basic of legislation until the last moment.

There is no reason for this delay. For example, last year, the Senate Armed Services Committee, which I chair, sent the full Senate the defense authorization bill April 13. The Senate took up the legislation May 13 and passed it within a few days. However, it was August 17 before the House had acted and House and Senate conferees worked out differences in the two versions of the bill so that it could be passed in final form.

This delay inevitably put off the defense appropriations bill, which also had to be passed before money could be spent. Indeed, this legislation was finally thrown into the continuing resolution, which was enacted in the closing moments of the 97th Congress and signed by the President on December 23.

I hope my colleagues will resolve that this year such delay will not be tolerated. Only if we do will we be able to meet our responsibilities to you, the people whom we represent.

March of Dimes Helps Reduce Premature Births, A Major Cause of Infant Death

by Robert K. Creasy, M.D.
Department of Obstetrics, Gynecology
and Reproductive Sciences
University of California
San Francisco

Babies born prematurely probably have a better chance of surviving in the U.S. than anywhere else in the world, thanks to the enormous medical strides of the past decade. Yet in spite of this, our nation stands embarrassingly behind 16 others in reducing infant mortality.

In part, this is because too many American babies are born prematurely. Six to eight percent of births are preterm, and they account for nearly 75 percent of all newborn deaths not due to other birth defects. And prematurity in the U.S. is three times more frequent than in Scandinavian countries, which have the lowest newborn death rates.

At our clinic at the University of California, San Francisco, we believe the biggest potential advance to reduce death and crippling of babies is to prevent preterm delivery. With the help of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, over the past few years we have been developing a promising way to do that.

The critical facts are these: infants born before the 37th week of pregnancy are usually in peril because their organs have not matured enough. They often have serious problems with breathing, heart function, body chemistry, and eye and brain damage.

For many preterm babies, just a few days' extra time in the womb can make the difference between life and death, or between health and crippling illness. Periodic regular, painless contractions are another early sign.

In addition, we intensively trained our nursing and obstetric staff in how to respond quickly when patients in the program call or come into the hospital reporting that they have detected the signs of early labor.

We hope that our program can be adopted with equal success at other medical centers. The question is whether there were special circumstances in our hospital or patient population that led to the promising results.

To find out, the March of Dimes is supporting an expanded trial of the program in five other university medical centers around the country. The program will last for three years and cost an estimated $1.3 million.

The other centers are the University of Alabama in Birmingham, Ohio State University, Vanderbilt University, Northwestern University, and the University of California, San Diego.

The money put into this program will be well invested, for if it works as well as it has in San Francisco it will mean not only lives saved, but money as well. A recent study shows that the average medical bill for each baby weighing less than 2.2 pounds at birth is more than $40,000. The intensive care required by five percent of newborns in the U.S. now cost an estimated $1.5 billion each year.

The contributions of millions of Americans make the work of the March of Dimes possible. In the spirit of its fight against birth defects, we think preventing preterm deliveries will give babies the best chance for a healthy start in life.

Taxpayers Advised Of Exemptions

Homeowners are not required to file a homestead exemption for school tax purposes annually. If you filed for and received the $5,000 or the additional $10,000 over sixty-five exemption in 1982 you need not reapply for the taxing year of 1983. However those persons who became sixty-five after January 1, 1982, and before January 1, 1983 need to apply for the additional $10,000 over 65 exemption. If you have traded homes or if you are a new homeowner, you need to apply for this exemption before May 1, 1983. All applications must be made with Chief Appraiser Charlene Brothers. Exemption forms are available at the Haskell County Appraisal District office at 604 North 1st Street.

Chief Appraiser Charlene Brothers wishes to inform landowners that annual applications for qualifying land for agriculture use is not required. If you filed application for and received ag-use values in 1982 it automatically will be placed on the roll at ag-use value in 1983. However, if land has changed use (from crop land or rangeland to a commercial or residential use) you need to notify the chief appraiser also, if you have purchased land recently the chief appraiser will need to be notified.

The disabled veteran's exemption must be applied for each year. The proper forms are available at the Appraisal District Office.

Voters passed the amendment exempting implements of husbandry from all property taxation by a two-thirds margin. Approval of proposition 3 adds Sec 19A to Art VIII of the constitution: "Implements of husbandry that are used in the production of farm and ranch products are exempt from Ad Valorem taxation." Farmers will need not apply for an exemption. Farm equipment is automatically exempt.

Taxpayers are reminded that it is still responsibility of the taxpayer to render their taxes. The chief appraiser advises that if you have any questions on exemptions or any other ad valorem tax related question, please feel free to come by the appraisal office or call 817-864-3805 or write Box 411, Haskell, Tx. If the appraisal district employees can be of assistance in any way, please let us help.

Comptroller Cuts State Surplus Estimate

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday that he is cutting his estimate of state income by $1.5 billion over the next three years.

The cut includes about $470 million in 1983 and just under $1.1 billion in the 1984-85 budget period. Despite the cuts from Bullock's earlier estimate, which was made last September, legislators convening in Austin on Tuesday will still have $4.1 billion more to work with in developing the 1984-85 state budget that was available two years ago.

Income in 1984-85 is expected to be $3.1 billion more than in 1982-83, an increase of 16.3 percent. The state is also expected to have almost a billion dollar surplus left over at the end of 1983.

Together, the $3.1 billion in additional 1984-85 income and the billion dollar 1983 surplus produce the $4.1 billion in new money. Last September, Bullock had put the figure at $5.1 billion.

(The $1.5 billion cut in revenues to the so-called major funds does not subtract directly dollar-for-dollar from the $5.1 billion figure because of other adjustments in the estimate, such as highway money dedications.)

In total, the state will receive about $14.3 billion in 1983 and $32.4 billion in the two-year 1984-85 budget period. However, about a third of this total is dedicated to special uses and isn't available for general spending. An example is income to the state's public school endowment fund.

Counting the 1983 surplus, there will be about $23.7 billion available to finance the heart of the state's 1984-85 budget, 5.7 percent less than earlier estimated.

Bullock blamed the drop on the impact of the continuing national recession and the depression in the state oil and gas industry, which have driven up unemployment and shrunk sales.

Bullock emphasized, however, that "Texas is still head and shoulders above the rest of the nation."

"It's hard to pick up a newspaper today without reading about the terrible problems confronting other states," Bullock said.

He said a recent national survey showed that 41 states will face year-end deficits in 1983 if they don't raise taxes or cut spending. "Our income projections are down from last fall," Bullock said, "but I wouldn't trade places with any other state."

"No other state even comes close to having the current cash surplus we have—even though our surplus has dwindled some since we figured it in September," Bullock said. "No other state comes close to having the growth rate we expect—even though our growth has slowed down dramatically."

Bullock pointed out that his revised figures were based on tax collection trends since his last estimate was made. He said collections from the sales tax, the state's most important tax, are running 2.6 percent behind the same time a year ago.

"In a normal year, we would expect collections to be ahead of the year before by 10-20 percent by now," he said.

Bullock said his latest projections foresee a slow rebound in the state economy in the coming year. He said, however, there were still uncertainties on the state's economic horizon. Especially uncertain is the energy industry.

"It's an unfortunate fact that the price of Texas oil today has as much to do with what happens in Saudi Arabia as it does Odessa," Bullock said.

He said a few forecasters were predicting oil prices to drop as much as $6 a barrel later this year because of the continuing world oil glut.

"That would be good news to Texas consumers, but it would put a big dent in state revenues," Bullock said. A one dollar drop in the price of a barrel of oil costs the state about $40 million in oil production taxes," Bullock said.

In comparing his revenue figures with spending recommendations the Legislature will be considering, Bullock said "it would be tough to make the shoe fit the foot."

In writing the 1984-85 budget, the Legislature has these options: keep spending within Bullock's income estimate, raise taxes to pay for additional spending or risk deficit spending by overriding

Bullock on a four-fifths vote.

"Our estimate isn't made to fit anyone's preconceived spending plans," Bullock said. "Under pay-as-you-go, it is supposed to be the other way around, but the options now are up to the Legislature."

Medicare Deductible Increase Jan. 1

The Medicare hospital-insurance deductible—the amount a person with Medicare is responsible for in a benefit period—increases to $304 for benefit periods starting in 1983, Glyn Hammons, Social Security district manager in Abilene, said recently. The 1982 deductible was $260.

Under the law, the deductible must be increased to reflect the rising costs of health care. A benefit period—the measure of use of services under Medicare—starts the first time a person enters a hospital after hospital insurance protection begins. A new benefit period begins when the person has been out of a hospital or other facility primarily providing skilled nursing or rehabilitation services for 60 days in a row.

There is no limit on the number of benefit periods a person may have. Also increased are certain per-day amounts the person is responsible for under hospital insurance. For the 61st through the 90th day of inpatient hospital care, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $76 a day in 1983. The 1982 figure was $65. For each of 60 reserve days of hospital inpatient care, hospital insurance pays all covered services except for $152 a day. The 1982 figure was $130.

Other than the inpatient deductible, there is no charge for covered services for the first 60 days of inpatient hospital care and for the first 20 days of skilled nursing care in each benefit period.

More information about Medicare, including covered services and patient costs, can be obtained at the Abilene Social Security office, located at 142 S. Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360.

Make Wise Choice For Tax Preparer

If you choose to have someone do your federal tax return for you, the Internal Revenue Service advises that you take the same pains in making a wise choice as you would in choosing a doctor, lawyer, or any other professional, since the only person who is ultimately responsible for your tax return is you.

The IRS offers these suggestions on how to select and what to expect from a preparer.

- Taxpayers should not sign a blank return, nor one which is partially completed, nor one prepared in pencil.

- Preparers should be asked to sign the return in the taxpayer's presence and to give his or her identification number, as required by law.

- The taxpayer must be given a copy of the completed return.

- Preparers who promise a refund, claim a special relationship with the IRS, or boast of ways to beat the tax system should be avoided.

Sales Tax Help Now Available

Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Abilene Office to Stamford on January 19, 1983 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Vanessa Zientek will meet with local taxpayers at the Stamford City Hall Conference Room from 9:00 a.m. until 10:00 a.m.

"If Haskell and Stamford area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Vanessa Zientek will be there to assist them", Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe that these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that", Bullock added. Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative on January 19th that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his toll-free information number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Abilene office headed by James Martin, serves, Taylor, Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Mitchell, Mills, Nolan, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, McCulloch, and San Saba counties.

Large Supplies-Low Prices Create Crossroad

Agriculture is at a crossroads due to large supplies and low prices, and farmers have few options to improve their situations in 1983.

"Just how long farmers can hang on financially is the big question," says Dr. Carl Anderson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Right now many are scraping the bottom of the barrel as far as their financial resources are concerned—thanks to three consecutive years of poor prices. And they can't last much longer. Only those who are virtually debt-free will be able to make it."

Returns to assets of debt-free farmers will average in the range of minus 3 to minus 7 in 1982, says Anderson, while returns to farmers with a heavy debt load will be a negative 14 to 18 percent. "With that kind of figures, it's easy to see that farmers must depend less on debt financing," he adds.

Farmers generally are victims of overproduction in recent years coupled with a major slowdown in farm exports and domestic demand. This has led to growing stockpiles of most crops. Present farm programs designed to reduce these stockpiles have been a flop, points out Anderson. So farmers and farm policymakers must soon decide whether or not to do something about the increasingly critical farm dilemma.

"Among options are mandatory production control and possible marketing quotas to bring supplies in line with effective demand," notes the economist. "Strong supply management likely will improve current low farm income in a couple of years. With voluntary programs, it will take much longer."

Regarding the dilemma of farmers, Anderson offers a number of observations:

1. For 1982 net U.S. farm income is projected at $19 billion, down from $25 billion in 1981. Cash receipts will be about equal to farm expenditures this year, so virtually all net income will come from government payments and non-money income. Income could improve some in 1983 depending on what direction farm programs take.

2. Farmland markets are expected to remain sluggish. In some areas of the U.S. and Texas, land prices likely will decline.

3. Farm exports are facing major setbacks. No noticeable progress has been made in trade negotiations with major U.S. foreign market countries such as the European Common Market, Japan, Mainland China or Russia. When economic conditions are bad, countries want to export more and import less. A big setback to Texas cotton growers is that China intends to grow more cotton and import less from the U.S.

4. Although credit is available, farmers have difficulty in qualifying unless they still have adequate collateral. Debt restructuring will continue. Loan delinquencies, foreclosures and bankruptcies will be up although lenders seldom benefit from liquidating a borrower.

Conservation Viewpoints

USDA Soil Conservation Service
Assisting
Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

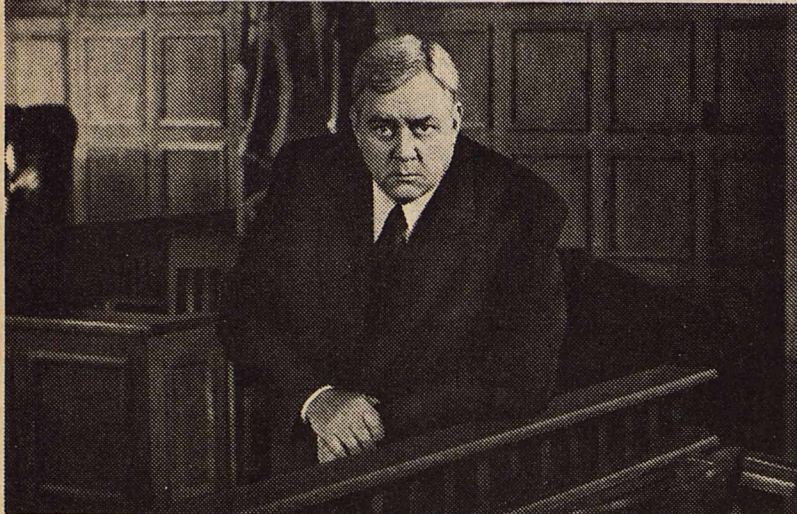

Trees are nature's outdoor air conditioners. If hot summer winds, raw wintry blasts, wind erosion or crop damage due to wind are problems, trees as windbreaks can help. Where natural protection is lacking, windbreaks of trees and shrubs protect your home or farmstead against frigid storms or soil-blowing winds. Add to this the beauty, permanence, and homelike setting which trees bring to a home and community and your personal satisfaction of accomplishing a beneficial goal. The returns in comfort and economy far outweigh the costs.

In most parts of the country, cold winds cause more discomfort to man and animals than any other climatic factor. Because of wind reduction, your home will be more comfortable. Home fuel needs can be reduced 15% and more. Windbreak protection decreases the amount of dust to clean and makes the establishment of shrubbery, lawns, flowers, and gardens easier.

The Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District is offering several varieties of trees and shrubs to be used as windbreaks. Those available include Deciduous Shrubs of Lilac and Plum, Deciduous Trees of Siberian Elm, Cottonwood, Russian Olive and Honey Locust to name a few. Also available are Evergreens, Mondell Pine, Blue Eldarica, and Arizona Cypress. Information and assistance on planting and ordering trees and shrubs for windbreak protection is available by contacting the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District and the Soil Conservation District.

Senator Tower Requests Prompt Action From FHA

U.S. Senator John Tower (R-Texas) has asked for a prompt conclusion to the Farmers Home Administration's review of High Plains and West Texas counties' for disaster loans.

The low interest disaster loans would be made available from the Farmers Home Administration in counties which demonstrate a 30 percent total crop loss to qualify for the low interest loan.

"I would appreciate any effort that could be made by USDA to expedite the review process so that farmers of the High Plains and Western Texas can proceed with their planning for the 1983 crop year," Tower said in a letter to Agriculture Secretary John Block.

Heavy rain and hail storms last June and July destroyed a significant percentage of farm crops in the area. Following the damage, Tower worked with federal and state officials to obtain a disaster declaration from the Department of Agriculture so that farmers could receive direct compensation for a portion of their crop loss. Additionally, in response to Senator Tower and other Texas officials, loans were made available from the Small Business Administration for local businesses in communities which suffered severe economic losses as a result of the disaster.

"Farmers are now faced with the task of securing capital in order to make management decisions for the coming crop year," Tower noted. "I am confident that the Farmers Home Administration investigation will find many counties eligible for disaster assistance."
