FIRST PERFORMANCE

A crowd of about 150 persons attended the first performance of the Haskell Community Chorus last Friday night in the Elementary School cafeteria. The chorus presented a patriotic program in observance of the Independence Day holiday.

School Board Meets With Civic Center Group

Members of the Board of Trustees of Haskell Independent School District met with a committee from the Haskell Memorial Civic Center Tuesday night to discuss possibilities of the location of a new Civic Center.

Members of the School Board had previously considered allowing the facility to be placed on school property with the school being responsible for maintenance. Tuesday's discussion centered around other possibilities including locating the facility elsewhere with the school contracting for and providing maintenance and utilities.

Board members took the matter under advisement and requested that Superintendent James Lanier research the law concerning the possibilities.

In other action Board members voted to reject a resolution on tax split payments and approved a resolution to grant tax discount options.

The tax split payments allowed individuals to pay one-half of their ad valorem taxes in one payment and the other one-half at a later time.

The discount options would reinstate an old practice of granting discounts for early payment of taxes.

All taxing entities in the County will vote on similar resolutions and following the votes, members of the Appraisal Board will make their final decision on the two matters.

School Board members also adopted several policy changes including: beginning with the graduating class of 1986 to qualify as an honor student, a graduate must have completed at least four years of high school English, three years of college bound science and three years of college bound math in addition to other requirements for graduation.

Board members also accepted the resignations of Rosie Arellano and James Bevel and scheduled a budget workshop for July 12.

Fish Fry To Benefit New Civic Center

A benefit fish fry will be held next Monday from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Corral Building and all proceeds will go to the Haskell Memorial Civic Center.

The fish fry is sponsored by the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies' Auxiliary.

Tickets are $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 and under and are available from Heidenheimers, Bill Wilson Motor Co., Lane Apparel and Haskell Free Press. Tickets are also available from any fireman or member of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Ambulance Board Considers Hiring Two New Paramedics

Three paramedics and four emergency medical technicians attended the regular meeting of the Haskell County Emergency Ambulance Board meeting Tuesday night to interview for two positions.

During a three hour session Board members interviewed the applicants and discussed their goals for upgrading the local ambulance service.

Prior to hiring two full time ambulance employees, Board members plan to discuss the applicants with local doctors and to check references. Board members hope to make their selections by the end of this week.

The ambulance service is currently being run with emergency medical technician volunteers and Charles Harvey is acting Administrator.

Board members and applicants discussed salary, hours, and coordination of the service between the ambulance, hospital and local doctors.

Paramedics interviewing were from San Angelo, Slidell and Rotan and EMT's were from Stamford, Mineral Wells and Throckmorton.

Members of the Ambulance

Board include: Bill Lane, Bud Comedy, J.R. Perry, Charles McCauley, Bud Turnbow, Jerry Stocks, Sam Watson, and Dr. Ed Harris.

1985 Farm Bill Is Meeting Topic

The public is invited to an open meeting with Senator Jack Hightower and Congressman Charles Stenholm to discuss the upcoming farm bill for 1985. The meeting will be held Thursday, July 7th in the Haskell National Bank Community Room, at 7:30 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the Haskell County Farm Bureau.

At present time the 1985 Farm

Bill is being formulated and Congressman Stenholm urges all farmers to take the time to attend this meeting and discuss their ideas.

In the past short term solutions were our guidelines. Now we are looking for a long term bill that would profit all. We as farmers can see problems that Congress fail to see. This is the reason your input is of great importance.

Chamber Directors Set Ice Cream Freeze-off

Members of the Board of Directors of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday evening in the back yard of Abe and Ruby Turner for an ice cream social.

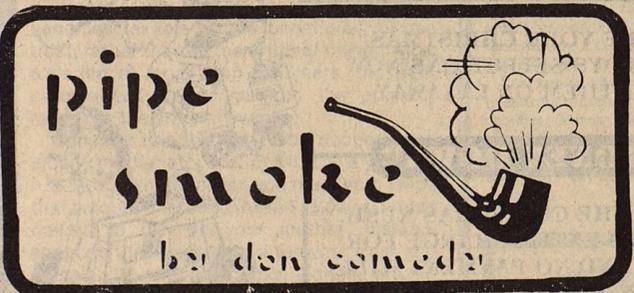

Prior to the homemade ice cream and cookies, Board members held a short business meeting.

Directors heard a report on the first performance of the Community Chorus and a report stating that the Welcome Committee is being expanded and will also expand their participation in community activities.

Directors also agreed for the Chamber to sponsor the Texas Ice Cream Freeze-off on July 30. Complete details and other information will be available soon.

Retail Trade Committee Chairman Doris Plemister announced plans for a general meeting of the Retail Trade Committee at 10 a.m. July 20, in the Community Building of the Haskell National Bank. She said that the major topics of discussion would center around the dollar days promotions, sidewalk sales and the beginning plans for the Christmas program and urged all retail merchants to be in attendance.

This week marks the beginning of what should be a new era in emergency medical treatment in the Haskell area.

Board members of the Haskell County Emergency Ambulance Service interviewed paramedics during their regular meeting Tuesday night. Following more discussion this week, Board members hope to hire two full-time paramedics.

The move to hire individuals trained in advanced life support will give the residents of this area the benefit of the same type service that is provided in larger cities.

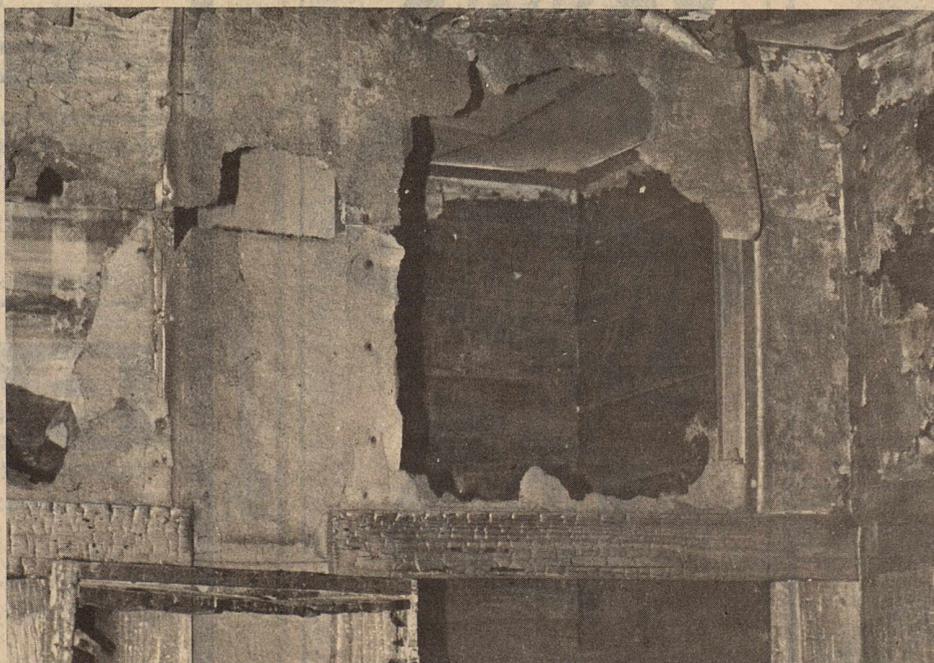

The change from the current system of basic life support will be slow. The new personnel will be required to prove their skills to our doctors and become familiar with the procedures of our doctors. Residents of the area should notice some changes from the very start of the system with more detailed patient assessment and more advanced care at the scene prior to transport.

During the past seven years the local service has continued to improve slowly and the change to advanced life support is the next step in the improvement of patient care.

Ambulance Board members, hospital staff and local doctors should be complimented for their continued support of the service and their dedication to provide the best possible service to the people of Haskell County.

Area residents should also keep in mind that as the move to advanced life support progresses and as local doctors gain confidence in the skills of the EMS personnel that more treatment will occur at the scene and that the service will center more and more around better patient care and less and less around providing a minimum of care and transporting as soon as possible.

Also to be complimented are Charles Harvey and a small group of other volunteers who are providing ambulance service during this time of transition.

Brush and Palette

Violet is the color of royalty. Although violet isn't as essential on your palette as red, yellow, blue and even green, it cannot be omitted because many of its variations can't be made by mixing blue and red. Violet is not easy to deal with. It is difficult to record the strong violet color seen in many flowers, pottery, glass, etc. Sometimes the best way to be successful with violet-colored objects is to consider carefully the tone and color of the background in the picture. Knowing principles of color helps an artist substitute Nature's colors with his paints. Violet is the darkest color in the spectrum, and is only intense when used in a dark value. When white is added to violet, only a pale and faded color is achieved.

I am devoting this column to violets and the classification of each. Hope this will help you all with your color.

CAD RED MEDIUM - a red violet of medium intensity and medium dark in tone. When mixed with white it becomes red violet. Add Thalo Green and white and you get a more blue violet.

THALO RED ROSE - a red violet and the only violet that stays brilliant in its tinted mixtures.

ALIZARIN CRIMSON - a red violet. Makes beautiful violets when mixed with gray (black and white).

ROSE MADDER - a red violet - same as Alizarin but not as strong a color. Its delicate red violet tints are more intense than Alizarin.

THIO VIOLET - a blue violet. Maintains intensity when mixed with white. Is indispensable to a floral painter. Strong covering power.

ULTRAMARINE RED - a blue violet. Tints out to a grey violet. It is not strong because it is transparent. Excellent for subtle violets.

COBALT VIOLET - a blue violet. Looks the same as Ultramarine Red in color but is more opaque.

INDIAN RED - a red red violet. Makes nice muted red violets when mixed with grey.

MARS VIOLET - a red violet. A very opaque, greyed down violet.

HINT: The tones and intensities of violet are altered by its mixture with grey. Nothing will brighten it more than its intensity out of the tube. To darken a violet, use a darker violet or with a touch of Ivory Black and its complementary color: green for red violets and Burnt Umber for blue violets.

Write your questions and hints to me, Faye Schnuriger, P.O. Box 134, Haskell, Texas 79521. I will not use your name but do want you to sign your letters.

Linda Jean Caddell and Johnny Ray (Corky) Wilson both of Rule were united in marriage July 2 at 6 p.m. in East Side Baptist Church in Haskell with Rev. Darrell Feemster, pastor, officiating. The church was decorated with an arch of greenery. Pews were marked with white bows. Two white candles and a tall white unity candle were ruffles. The circle skirt had embroidered lace motifs. The shoulder length veil was held by a beaded Camelot cap with double tiered lace edging. The veil was borrowed from Wanda Thompson of Paint Creek. The veil was also worn by the bride's sister in her wedding. She carried a cascade of pink and white roses.

Something blue was her garter. Something old and borrowed was a diamond necklace belonging to her aunt. Something new was her dress. She wore a sixpence in her shoe.

Marilyn Griffith of Abilene was Maid of Honor. Bridesmaids were Kathy Slayton, sister of the bride, of Weatherford and Sheila Swinney, cousin of the bride of Haskell. They wore pink dotted Swiss dresses that featured a fitted bodice, with a ruffle on the bottom round neckline with ruffle in neck, sleeveless with matching ruffle in sleeve. Yard Of The Month

July is the month of gorgeous, flashy cannas and lovely daylilies. But this year due to the stormy weather and hail the flowers took a beating and it was difficult to find a colorful yard.

The yard of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Leonard, 1104 N. 8th has been chosen as yard of the month because of its beautiful display of golden cosmos against a background of red cannas. The well groomed, velvety green lawn, evergreen shrubs across the front and the pink floribunda roses add charm and distinction. In back there is a flower bed of daylilies and geraniums and a vegetable garden of carrots, greens, squash, tomatoes and corn.

First runner-up yard goes to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pope 219, Addison Dr. Entrance porch has planter box of red caladiums, hanging baskets of fern and rattan chair swing. Miniature Boxwood across the front for year around color. Flower bed and rose garden on each side of walk adds seasonal color. The lush, green lawn, magnolia trees, Arizona ash and weeping willow makes this a most attractive yard.

Second runner-up goes to Mr. and Mrs. Danny Josselot Rt. 2, Paint Creek Road. They have used red lava rock instead of grass and have landscaped with native cactus. The contrast in color adds distinction. Four antique 1/2 barrels of marigolds, periwinkles, geraniums and petunias adds a touch of color. Ceramic deer and stepping stones completes the picture.

Food Sterilization By Nuclear Radiation Extends Shelf Life

COLLEGE STATION — A Texas A&M University food scientist says low-level nuclear radiation wastes could be safely used to sterilize and preserve foods.

Radiation could be used at food processing plants to keep potatoes from rotting and extend their shelf life up to a year and a half, said Dr. E. E. Burns. It might also be used to keep milk from spoiling, to preserve strawberries and other fruits and vegetables for longer periods of time, or to keep bread fresher longer.

The process would use radiation from atomic waste to kill microorganisms, such as bacteria, fungi and certain enzymes, that cause food to spoil, he said.

Body Shaping Devices Can Be Dangerous

The ads sound appealing—“3,000 sit-ups without moving an inch...10 miles of jogging lying flat on your back.”

These are claims made for electrical muscle stimulators, often promoted as “body shapers” and “passive exercise” devices.

The problem is that these claims have no known scientific basis, says the Texas Medical Association. In addition, the devices can be dangerous if misused.

Electrical muscle stimulators are used legitimately for physical therapy in treating medical problems. These uses include relaxing muscle spasms, increasing blood circulation to a part of the body, preventing muscle deterioration due to disuse, and preventing blood clots in leg muscles or bedridden patients after strokes or surgery.

When used for these purposes and under the supervision of a licensed practitioner, electrical muscle stimulators are considered safe and effective, according to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. The FDA warns that the devices should not be sold through the mail or used without a prescription.

Unapproved uses for the devices include facelifts without surgery, “slimming and trimming,” weight loss, “body shaping and contouring,” bust development, wrinkle removal, spot reducing, and cellulite removal, says the FDA, which regulates use of the devices.

Two of the devices advertised nationwide for uses not approved by the FDA are the Rejuvatron and the Figure-Tron, both sold by the same New York company. The Rejuvatron offers the purchaser a chance to look “up to 15 years younger.” According to the ad, all an aging person has to do to regain a youthful appearance is to use the Rejuvatron five or 10 minutes daily. The Figure-Tron provides “all the figure-toning of 3,000 sit-ups without moving an inch.” Each of the devices costs $19.95 plus postage and handling.

Potential hazards from electrical muscle stimulators include electrical shocks and burns. In addition, the devices should not be used by pregnant women; persons with heart problems, particularly those with pacemakers; and people who have cancer or epilepsy. Finally, the electrodes of the devices should not be placed where a strong current could pass through the heart, brain, or spinal column.

Around Town

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Tatum, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cockerell, and Joyce Hawkins visited the Johnny Hawkins at Lubbock over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Howard, David, Kathy, Becky and Greg of Wylie, and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Gardner of Wylie were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Wayne Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Howard. The group went to the river and met Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Wayne Howard, Holli and Chris, of Graham. Holli and Chris returned to Haskell for a weeks visit with their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Chief Escobedo.

Button Batteries Pose Hazard To Children

Progress is not without its hazards—especially to small children.

The so-called “button” batteries, which power everything from electronic wrist watches to hand calculators and toys, are being swallowed accidentally by an increasing number of small children says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

“Each year, between 500 and 800 batteries are swallowed because of improper handling. In the case of toddlers, sheer fascination with something so small makes it a candidate for a taste,” she adds.

Many batteries make it non-stop through the body's digestive system and little harm results. But those which aren't passed and remain in the body are a threat to health and even life, Shirer says.

Leakage to alkaline electrolytes from a battery can cause chemical burns and internal bleeding, she notes. Young children can become very ill and some deaths have been recorded.

Shirer recommends treating button batteries like you would old medicine when it comes to disposal. Wrap and discard them where they are not likely to be found by little hands.

TAX PLANNING
Written by Richard E. Rodgers CPA

TEN-YEAR (CLIFFORD) TRUSTS
Here's a tax saving technique that's good for those with large investment income from stocks, bonds, real estate, etc. Properly used, it can make a big dent in the tax bill of the investor's family.
By placing the investments in a ten-year (Clifford) trust, the income produced becomes taxable to the beneficiary of the trust, rather than to the original owner. After a period of more than ten years, the trust automatically dissolves and the property reverts to the original owner.
Consider this example: You support your elderly mother at a cost of $15,000 a year. As a 50% bracket taxpayer, you must earn twice that amount in order to have $15,000 after-tax dollars to give to your mother. Instead, suppose that you set up a ten-year trust and place in it enough stocks, bonds, etc. to produce $17,500 of income annually. The income will be taxed to your mother at a lower bracket; she'll pay about $2,500 in taxes and have $15,000 left for her support. You will have moved $17,500 of income from a high bracket taxpayer to a lower bracket, and instead of your paying $8,750 on that income, your mother will pay only $2,500, a savings to the family unit of $6,250.
Should your mother die during this period, the trust automatically ends and any accumulated income is taxed to her estate. If any assets are sold by the trustee, you must report the gain or loss on your tax return.
Be aware that a reportable gift occurs when you transfer the assets to the trust.
A ten-year trust is not to be entered into inadvisedly, so professional guidance is an absolute must. But structured properly, this device can produce significant tax savings.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Additionally, Docket No. 5113 will deal with the issues arising from the Federal Communications Commission's Final Order in Docket 78-72 (the Access Charge Docket) as they impact all telephone companies, including General Telephone Company Of The Southwest. It is anticipated that Docket No. 5113 will be evidentiary in nature. RATES FOR GENERAL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF THE SOUTHWEST MAY BE DETERMINED BY THE COMMISSION IN OR AS A RESULT OF THIS PROCEEDING. Sodium Water May Contribute To High Blood Pressure And Heart Disease

Sodium is one of a number of factors that may contribute to high blood pressure and heart disease. As a result, many people are cutting down on salt. However, there is one part of their daily diet that most people don't think of when they are counting milligrams of sodium. Their water.

The American Heart Association and the Environmental Protection Agency recommend no more than 20 milligrams of sodium per liter of water (about a quart) for people with heart conditions or high blood pressure. Yet there are some local water systems that have more than eight times that amount. That sodium level also carries over into soft drinks and beers that are made using the local water.

How can you find the sodium content of your water? Call your local health department or water company. They are required to test regularly for sodium levels in the water. If you have a well, you will have to get the water tested yourself. Your local health department can help with that, too.

However, even if the water from the reservoir or well is low in sodium, there still may be high salt levels in the water from your faucet if you use a water softener or conditioner. Some of them use salt to remove minerals, and that puts the salt into your water. If you do have a water softener that is charged with salt, you might want to consider using another source of water for cooking and drinking.

Bottled water is not necessarily the answer to high sodium levels, either. Some bottled water, particularly mineral waters, may have a lot of sodium as well. However, many bottled waters list the minerals on the label so that you can select one with low sodium.

If you want to lower your salt intake, check your water. Stop adding salt at the table and when you are cooking. You can do a lot to keep foods tasty without salt by adding various herbs and spices. Also, check the labels of canned and processed foods. They can have high sodium levels even if you don't add any salt during the cooking. To help keep sodium under control, send for a copy of the U.S. Department of Agriculture book, The Sodium Content of Your Food. It has a list of the sodium and condiments and their sodium content by portion, as well as a list of the sodium content of a number of common over-the-counter drugs. The Sodium Content of Your Food is $4.25 from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 138L, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

At the same time, you will also receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog listing more than 200 other free and moderately priced federal publications on nutrition, health, housing, and a variety of other subjects. The Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration.

MEDICAL JOURNAL

As summer road races become more and more popular throughout the country, there have been an increasing number of runners who are contracting heatstroke.

Dr. Peter Hanson of the University of Wisconsin Center for Health Sciences offered some preventive suggestions to runners in a recent broadcast sponsored by the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center and The Prudential Insurance Company.

"I believe running in temperatures in the 70 to 80 degree range is dangerous, and that runners should be warned about the potential health hazards," said Dr. Hanson.

Dr. Hanson advises runners to check the temperature and humidity before a race, and to lower their personal goals on hot, humid days. He said, "I tell running participants to cut at least a minute off their normal mile pace. Muscle cramps, fatigue, disorientation, dizziness and nausea are telling symptoms. If any of these symptoms appear, the runner should walk, rest, or ask for help."

Dr. Hanson's suggestion to warm weather runners is to wear light, comfortable clothing, drink plenty of fluids at aid stations, and be constantly aware of the symptoms of heat illness.

Scientists manipulate crop plants to produce own nitrogen

COLLEGE STATION — Soil and crop scientists at Texas A&M University are investigating methods of stimulating bacteria living among plant roots to supply extra nitrogen in soil and ultimately reduce the farmer's need for costly fertilizers.

Dr. David Zuberer of Texas A&M's College of Agriculture and other researchers here are exploring a biological process that may eventually allow food crops such as corn and wheat to produce more of their own nitrogen. Such research could one day save the natural gas needed to produce fertilizer, Zuberer said.

"Nitrogen is the plant nutrient required in greatest quantity and it is lacking in the soil of many Third World nations that can't afford fertilizer," he explained. "Developing a system in which soil bacteria could supply more nitrogen would be tremendous because nutrients could be supplied at lower costs."

Cowboys To Compete For Braggin' Rights

More than 200 real working cowboys will compete under the banners of 14 of Texas' largest spreads for braggin' rights as this year's best ranch in Texas during the third Texas Ranch Roundup to be held August 19-20.

Plans for the annual tussle were announced today at a press conference at the North Texas Rehabilitation Center, which is co-sponsoring the event with Budweiser. The two-day schedule of events is reminiscent of a late 1800's roundup competition, upon which today's rodeos are based. The event emphasized working ranch skills.

The Moorhouse Ranch, headquartered in Benjamin and Commandeered by J.C. "Togo" Moorhouse, will return to defend the title its ranch hands won last year. The Moorhouse team will face tough competition, not only from the 12 other ranches which competed last year, but also from new-comers-hands from the Four Sixes Ranch in Guthrie.

In addition to the Moorhouse and Four Sixes Ranches, other participation ranches include R.A. Brown Ranch, Cowan & Son Circle Bar Ranch, Double U Hereford Ranch, Lewis Ranches, Pitchfork Land & Cattle Co., Scharbauer Ranches, Renderbrook-Spade Ranch, Swen R. Swenson Cattle Co., Tongue River Ranch Corporation, U Lazy S Ranch, and the W.T. Waggoner Estate.

The "best ranch in Texas" battle isn't based solely on the grit and gumption of the cowboys in the arena. A ranch queen contest, a talent contest, and a ranch cookin' contest also figure into the final tally, since they mean additional points for ranches winning these events and additional colorful Texana for spectators.

The roundup opens Friday, August 19, with the performance at 7:30 p.m. Teams of cowboys from each ranch will compete in saddle bronc riding, team roping, team branding, wild cow milking, team penning and a wild horse race. The dance at 9 p.m. features Mountain Smoke.

On Saturday, jackpot roping and barrel racing, two events outside regular competition, will begin at 8 a.m. A ranch food cookoff, the talent contest, and the ranch queen contest are featured Saturday afternoon before the final roundup events that evening at 7:30 p.m. The Mountain Smoke band will again perform at a dance Saturday at 9 p.m.

Points will be awarded to ranch teams in each event and tallied to determine the best ranch, while team members from each ranch will cast top hand votes for individuals from competing ranches. The winning ranch will take home a traveling trophy, a bronze sculpture by Lex Graham. The top hand will receive a hand-tooled saddle.

Roundup tickets are as follows: reserved seats $7.50, general admission, $3.00. Tickets to the dances are $6.00 per person each evening, and tickets to the Saturday afternoon contests are $3.00 general admission.

Tickets will be available at Wichita Western World, The Cow Lot, Holts Sporting Goods, Cruse Western Wear and Cuttys, all in Wichita Falls; Hughes Western Wear in Vernon, and Frontier Western Wear in Bowie.

Proceeds from the 1983 Texas Ranch Roundup will benefit the North Texas Rehabilitation Center, Wichita Falls; the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, Abilene; and the West Texas Boys Ranch, San Angelo.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective August 1, 1983, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission (PUC) at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

As a result of the settlement of a lawsuit brought by the U.S. Department of Justice against AT&T, Southwestern Bell, on January 1, 1984, (or as otherwise ordered by the United States District Court) will no longer be a part of the Bell System, but will be owned by public shareholders. Under the terms of the settlement, Southwestern Bell has identified 15 areas in the state within which it may provide service, and the federal court with jurisdiction of the settlement has tentatively approved these areas, called LATAs (Local Access and Transport Area). On or about January 1, 1984, Southwestern Bell can not provide service between these LATAs, and in addition, must transfer to AT&T customer premises equipment that it leases to customers.

Southwestern Bell has filed a proposed revised rate schedule with the PUC reflecting these changes. These rates would become effective August 1, 1983, if they are not suspended by the PUC; however, it is expected that they will be suspended and that the rates ultimately set by the PUC will become effective on or about January 1, 1984. If the rates were to become effective as filed, they would produce a 48.2% increase in Southwestern Bell's unadjusted test year revenues (or a 76.36% increase in Southwestern Bell's test year revenues adjusted to reflect the effect of Southwestern Bell's divestiture from AT&T). Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in rates for intraLATA interexchange toll services, any change in those rates could also affect customers of other telephone companies. Southwestern Bell is proposing changes in the structure of the present private line and foreign exchange services. Changes in these rates may affect customers of other telephone companies. Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel de tarifas para servicio de teléfono en Texas, con vigencia a partir del 1o de agosto de 1983, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel de tarifas se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission (PUC, ó Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y que es servida por Southwestern Bell, y dicho arancel está disponible para inspección pública en todas las oficinas de Southwestern Bell en Texas. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios cada vez que Southwestern Bell solicite un cambio en dichas tarifas.

Como resultado del arreglo judicial al cual se llegó tras el proceso legal entablado en contra de AT&T por el U.S. Department of Justice (Departamento de Justicia), Southwestern Bell dejará de formar parte del Bell System (Sistema Bell) a partir del 1o de enero de 1984 (ó en la fecha que disponga el United States District Court — Tribunal Federal de Distrito), y llegará a ser posesión de accionistas públicos. Bajo las condiciones de dicho arreglo, Southwestern Bell ha identificado 15 regiones dentro del Estado de Texas en las cuales puede proporcionar servicio, y el tribunal federal con jurisdicción en el arreglo ha dado su aprobación provisoria a éstas regiones, que se denominan "LATAs" (Local Access and Transport Area, ó Regiones Locales de Acceso y Transporte). A partir de fecha 1o de enero de 1984 aproximadamente, Southwestern Bell no podrá proporcionar servicio entre dichas LATAs, y además deberá ceder a AT&T todo equipo ubicado en premisas de clientes y alquilado a los mismos.

Estos cambios se han incluido en el propuesto arancel de tarifas de servicio revisado que Southwestern Bell ha archivado con la PUC. Dichas tarifas tendrían vigencia a partir del 1o de agosto de 1983, a menos que fueran suspendidas por la PUC; sin embargo, se espera que si seran suspendidas, y que las tarifas que en último caso establezca la PUC entrarán en vigor a partir de fecha 1o de enero de 1984 aproximadamente. Si las tarifas entrarán en vigor tal y como se han archivadas, aumentarían en un 48.2% los ingresos no-ajustados de Southwestern Bell para año de prueba (unajusted test year revenues), ó sea un aumento de 76.36% en los ingresos de Southwestern Bell para año de prueba, ajustados para reflejar el efecto del despojo de Southwestern Bell y AT&T. Cualquier cambio en las tarifas para cualquier servicio tipo-interLATA que proporcione AT&T ó una compañía subsidiaria después del 1o de enero de 1984 podría afectar a los clientes de Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para servicios tipo "intraLATA interexchange toll", cualquier cambio en dichas tarifas también podría afectar a los clientes de otras compañías de servicio telefónico. Southwestern Bell está proponiendo cambios en la estructuración de los servicios actuales de línea privada (private line) y de intercambio extranjero (foreign exchange). Cambios en las tarifas para dichos servicios podrían afectar a los clientes de otras compañías de servicio telefónico. Cualquier cambio en las tarifas para cualquier servicio tipo-interLATA que proporcione AT&T ó una compañía subsidiaria después del 1o de enero de 1984 podría afectar a los clientes de otras compañías de servicio telefónico.

USDA Requests Comments On 1984 Feed Grain Program

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block today called for public comment on some specifics of the 1984 feed grain program.

Block said the deadline for comments is Aug. 23 which will allow the U.S. Department of Agriculture to study the public's recommendations along with current data on U.S. and world crop conditions and crop supply and demand, before announcing the 1984 program. He said his current intentions are to announce final program provisions by the end of September which would be well ahead of the Nov. 15 statutory deadline.

Specifically USDA would like to receive comments on:

- the loan and purchase level;
- the established (target) price;
- the national program acreage;
- whether there should be a voluntary reduction percentage and, if so, what percentage;
- whether there should be an acreage reduction program and, if so, what percentage and how will the acreage bases for the acreage reduction program be established;
- whether a set-aside requirement is necessary and, if so, what percentage;

—whether there should be a payment-in-kind (PIK) program and, if so, the PIK program provisions that should be applicable;

—whether there should be a land diversion program, and if so, the extent of such diversion and the level of payment;

—whether barley should be determined eligible for payment purposes under the feed grain program;

—whether malting barley

should be exempt from any acreage reduction program;

—if an acreage reduction, set-aside or payment-in-kind program is necessary, whether to allow haying and grazing of conservation use acreage;

—provisions of the farmer-owned reserve;

—whether to require off-setting compliance if an acreage reduction program is established; and

—whether to include popcorn and waxy corn as field corn for program purposes.

Details of program options USDA is considering are scheduled to appear in the June 24 Federal Register.

Comments will be accepted by Howard C. Williams, director, analysis division, USDA-ASCS, room 3741-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013. The comments will be available for public inspection in Williams' office during regular business hours.

Olney Savings Converts To Stock Association

The Board of Directors of Olney Savings Association, by unanimous vote, has elected to convert the Association from a mutual to a stock association, according to Alan D. Myers, Jr., president.

Alan D. Myers, Jr., commented, "Conversion to a stock association will provide Olney Savings and the communities we serve with several key benefits. We are so excited about the opportunity."

The conversion application was filed with the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington, D.C. on April 28, 1983. "Due to the number of conversion filings from all over the nation, the Bank Board has had some delay in staying current in their approval process. However, Olney Savings feels that its conversion should be approved and completed in the fall," noted Myers. The final determination of price per share and total shares issued are subject to approval by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Concerning operations in the future, Myers stated, "The conversion will have no effect whatsoever on the Association and its operations. No changes in personnel or present services will occur. All savings accounts will remain insured up to $100,000 by the F.S.L.I.C."

Conversion will allow Olney Savings' customers to become stockholders in Olney Savings. Under the adopted Plan of Conversion, existing customers will have the first opportunity to purchase stock.

Myers concluded, "Conversion will increase Olney Savings' capital position through the sale of stock. This additional strength will allow Olney Savings to meet the challenges of a changing financial industry and provide us with new investment capital, allowing us to serve more people in more ways."

Olney Savings is a $550 million plus savings and loan association with offices in Olney, Seymour, Jacksboro, Bridgeport, Nocona, Archer City, Graham, Bowie, Brownwood, Vernon, Anson, Coleman, Cisco, Albany, Holliday, Throckmorton, Weatherford, Azle, Decatur, Boyd and Wichita Falls. Also, Ranger Savings in Ranger, Eastland Savings in Eastland, and Electra Savings in Electra. All are divisions of Olney Savings.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mr. Comedy:

When "Who's Who" wrote and offered to send the news about my daughter, Ginny, to my hometown paper if I would supply the name of the paper and editor, I was pleased. I sent them the information, not knowing if you would use it. You did, and I believe I was just about as thrilled when I read the item in the paper as when I saw Ginny accept the honor. This letter is to say thank you very much. I do appreciate it.

Just a little side-light—Ginny was 38 when she received her degree in December. She married right out of high school—worked five years—had two sons who are now 15 and 13—but she never gave up wanting a college degree. She did it, and at the end of August she will be a para-legal.

Sincerely,
Freddie Johnson Potts

Acreage Reports Due By July 15

Friday, July 15th is the final date to certify your 1983 spring seeded acreage and Conservation Use Acres (set-aside and PIK). Certify all acreage seeded, as cotton, grain sorghum, corn, guar, etc. and CUA. Sorghum planted after July 15th must be certified by September 1st but if CUA ground is required for it, the CUA must be reported by July 15th.

Farms that have whole base bids or did not plant the crop for which they have a base must certify zero "0" acres to meet your PIK requirements and/or history preservation of your base acres.

Total farm acreage reports are needed for all farms; this includes crops such as hay, grazing, guar, soybeans, sunflowers, etc. Be prepared — do some planning.

The County Office records your acreage; we do not measure them for you at the counter.

Measurement Service is available but feed grains must be measured by September 1st and cotton by September 15th. The airplane will not fly until about August 15th or so, therefore, the number of measurement services we will be able to service is limited.

Do not forget — Friday — July 15th!

USDA Exercises PIK Option For 1983-Crop Upland Cotton

Farmers who do not have enough upland cotton under government loan to cover the amount they will receive under the payment-in-kind program will be required to obtain loans on their 1983 production, Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block said today.

Farmers who did not plant upland cotton in 1983 or who have not planted enough to cover the amount they are scheduled to receive under PIK will instead receive payment-in-kind cotton presently in government inventory, he said. Under PIK, the U.S. Department of Agriculture makes in-kind payments to upland cotton farmers who reduce their plantings to specified levels. Cotton farmers who agreed to reduce their 1983 planting will receive an amount of upland cotton up to 80 percent of the amount they would have produced on the PIK acreage.

Block said all producers who signed a contract to participate in the 1983 PIK program agreed to obtain a loan on their 1983 production for PIK purposes to satisfy program needs, if required by CCC. USDA decided to exercise this option after determining there is an insufficient quantity of upland cotton currently available to USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation to meet PIK needs, he said.

Under today's announcement, producers may place eligible 1983-crop upland cotton in an approved warehouse and receive a regular price support loan for the cotton and earn storage payments for up to five months beginning on their area's availability date for in-kind cotton, Block said.

At any time during the five months, the producer may redeem the loan collateral and sell it to CCC. The producer then will be eligible to immediately receive the payment-in-kind from CCC inventory.

Geraldine Hise, Judge, City of Haskell, Haskell County, Texas reports a total of 35 convictions for the month of June, 1983. Resulting in a total of $1839. in fines.

Persons Can Be Eligible For SSI With Limited Income

An individual or couple can have some income and still be eligible for supplemental security income (SSI) payments, Glyn Hammons, Social Security district manager in Abilene, said recently. An individual can have countable income up to $284.30 a month, while a couple can have up to $426.40 a month. In July, these amounts will rise to $304.30 and $456.40.

SSI provides a basic cash income to people 65 or over, or blind, or disabled who do not have much income and who do not own much real or personal property.

"If a couple has been living apart for more than 6 months," Hammons said, "each person is treated as an individual, however, if they are living together and only one member qualifies for SSI, a portion of the other person's income is treated as if it were the eligible individual's."

"Furthermore, an unmarried child under 18 who is living at home is considered to be receiving a portion of the parent's income. Allowance is made for the parents' work and living expenses, and for other children living in the home."

Additional information about the SSI program can be obtained at the Abilene Social Security office, located at 142 S. Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360.

EVEN WHEN YOU'RE AWAY...YOUR HOME KEEPS RUNNING

You may naturally expect your home to use less electricity while you're away for a week or more. The reduction may not be as great as you think, however. That's because there are many factors that can affect your usage: weather conditions, billing periods and even vacation preparation.

1. Very hot weather before you leave and after you return means increased use of air conditioning; this makes it difficult to compare your bill with a previous month of milder weather.
2. Hot weather causes your refrigerator/freezer to run longer, particularly if your home air conditioning is turned off while you are away.
3. If the time you're away falls within two billing periods, the reduction you expect will be split between two bills.
4. If you didn't turn off your electric hot water heater before you left, it continued to keep your water hot 24 hours a day, even though you weren't there.

5. And don't forget... when getting ready for a vacation, you often use more electricity than usual for cleaning, washing, drying, ironing, cooking and general preparations. The same is true about your return.

Check your meter.

If you learn to read your own meter, you can find out just how much electricity was used while you were gone. And, you'll see just how much energy you're using during the summer, the heaviest electricity consuming season, with your air conditioning operating most of the time.

Importance Of Oral History Being Recognized

Asking questions about a parent's military experience, a grandparent's childhood, or what the neighborhood used to be like—we've all acted as informal "oral" historians through talking or listening at some time in our lives. These conversations about the past are the basis of the worldwide oral history movement—a science of reconstructing history through recorded interviews with persons able to narrate their memories.

In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, little credence was given to orally transmitted recollections. Anything of value, it was believed, had been written down and preserved on paper. It was not until a Depression-era writers' project of the Works Progress Administration focused on gathering oral accounts of past decades that oral histories were valued for their insights into previous generations. The oral history method captured the imagination of Alan Nevins at Columbia University and other historians who were looking for ways to expand their historical sources. They realized that the broad scale collection of oral histories could make an invaluable contribution to the understanding and reconstruction of the past. At the close of World War II, oral history projects were started by numerous universities across the United States, and the movement has grown steadily ever since. The popularity of the Foxfire books and their theatrical adaptation on Broadway illustrates the wide appeal of oral history. Foxfire, a collection of oral histories focusing on Appalachian traditions and culture gathered by high school students in Georgia, also inspired a nationwide movement of oral history practice in classrooms, libraries, and museums. Literally thousands of students have had a hand in bringing history to life by using oral history techniques. Texas is a leading state in the development of oral history in the United States, with more than 20 oral history programs in colleges and universities and numerous oral history projects in schools and towns throughout the state. The Johnson Library and Museum in Austin, for example, is conducting an oral history project on the administration of Lyndon Baines Johnson. Baylor University in Waco, which began an oral history program in 1970, has ongoing projects focusing on religion and culture, economics in Texas, and the Texas judicial system. North Texas State University is conducting an oral history project on the governors of Texas.

In anticipation of the state's sesquicentennial celebration in 1986, Baylor University, the Texas Historical Commission, and the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission will sponsor workshops throughout the state to teach oral history techniques to local people. The sponsors hope the workshops scheduled during 1984 and 1985, will inspire citizens' groups to complete oral history projects in conjunction with the sesquicentennial celebration.

The Texas Historical Commission also encourages local oral histories by requiring the gathering of county oral histories as criteria for its Distinguished Service Awards, an annual presentation made to county historical commissions. The Commission also has published Oral History for Texans, a book designed to aid in the initiation and expansion of oral history projects. With expanded involvement in oral history by the academic community, standardized recording and questioning techniques and legal and archival procedures have evolved. The Oral History Association, an international membership formed in 1966, published guidelines in 1980 governing ethical and legal concerns; tape and transcript processing; and interview content and conduct. The association seeks to ensure that interviews have lasting historical value, and that the interviewee's privacy and legal rights are protected. The Texas Oral History Association, formed in 1982, promotes oral history activity in the state through conferences, workshops, and other means. Whether the methods are employed by historians compiling an academic history or by individuals seeking information about their heritage, oral history makes the richness of the past more accessible to everyone.

For more information on oral history, contact the Texas Historical Commission, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711, 512/475-3092, or the Texas Oral History Association, CSB Box 401, Waco, TX 76798.

Money Matters

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

When We Say No

One of the most difficult times in banking are those times when you have to say no to a customers request for a loan.

All of the loans that we make are examined by professional examiners who come into the bank periodically to see that we're doing a good job in protecting the deposits of our customers.

We are forced to look at loan requests purely on a basis of facts, figures, and the applicant's credit history.

There are times when we would like to give the benefit of the doubt but when there is some element of doubt we are forced to say no.

Sometimes a customer is so involved in a situation that he loses the objectivity necessary to see that his desire for more loans is not in his own best interest. We take the responsibility of providing financial services to our community very seriously. It's easy when we say "yes" but when it comes time to say "no" we hope that it is understood that we are doing so in an attempt to do what's best for everyone concerned.

We Think Money Matters!
